The Price of Pre-War Prices.
 There's a price to be paid for pre-war prices. Are you willing to pay it? You people who talk about forcing things down to pre-war price levels—Are you willing to pay the price?

Pre-war prices now would mean the closing of every factory in Omaha.

Pre-war prices would mean the failure of scores of business houses in Omaha.

Would that effect you and yours in any way?

If you chafe at the slowness of business adjustments if you are not satisfied with the losses which business men are taking—if you are one of those who think "something ought to be done" to bring things back through these results are not agreeable, but they certainly are inevitable.

Over-cumbersome high prices is a ticklish job. Big unexpensive forces have been at work creating these conditions. For instance, under-supply is responsible for some top high prices. Over-supply is back of some too low prices. Certain elements of cost have fallen, others have not, and prices cannot favor these high states.

Now big forces are also at work readjusting the whole structure of the business world, gradually bringing it back to normal, but they are working sanely and slowly. The cyclone makes changes—but they are changes that wreck and destroy. The change which we must have are those constructive changes which build up.

And of these building-up forces, perhaps the greatest is in your own hands. Industry must be kept at work. This can only be when trade and the demand for products go on uninterrupted.

Cessation of buying can lay industry on its back in a month. On the other hand, generous volume of buying can open every closed factory.

You personally can help this temporary situation. Buy in normal quantities, and keep unbroke by the change of commodities, work wages.

The "Price of Pre-War Prices" is too high.—The World-Herald, article from the Aurora, (Ill.) Beacon-News.

Colony of Garage Homes.
 Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 7.—Pioneering to the average American today associates a memory of Indians, buffaloes, sod houses, schooner trains and prairie fires.

But the families of housekeepers have built up a community of comfortable garages in the suburbs of Lincoln, their "motor quarters"; pioneer is a modern word.

A community of garages is being built in a new section of Lincoln. Wayne married folk, particularly, chartered in the movement. Lots are purchased and then a garage is constructed. The high cost of rents and the absence of "homes" that come within the garage young man's financial purview started the garage community. The garages are built as a temporary lodging place on the site they hope to build a permanent dwelling. Some are so constructed as to serve as the first unit of the contemplated home—the additions will be built about.

These garage houses are modern with the exception—in a few instances, of heat. Small heating plants have been recently installed, or one large plant serves for four or five homes. The garages consist mostly of two and three room units.

"We can't lose, as a garage is an investment today anyway," says one tenant. "I was paying $100 per month for my present home. I've built my garage home, and it wasn't much better than my present home, which cost me $740. I would have paid more for it had I not known that the garage cost me. Others build cheaper, doing much of the work themselves."

Four families lived in tents for nearly a month while their garages were being built.

The Coming of Lloyd George.
 New York Times: Doubtly welcome is the news that the British prime minister hopes now to be able to fulfill his desire to present at the Washington conference, if only for a short time. If he sails next Saturday, it will be taken as a strong indication that the Irish negotiation is not as hopeless a state as it has recently been asserted. And if Lloyd George adds his personal and official sanction to the great work now being begun at Washington, the result cannot fail to be to brighten confidence in the successful outcome of the whole undertaking.

Congress Out of Luck.

Russia Gives Good Lesson.
 Sioux Falls Press: The people of other countries who have been depending so generously to Russia's need should realize that while they are expending in practical socialism has been terribly hard on that unfortunate land, it has provided an object lesson which should serve as a danger signal to warn others from such a perilous course. It should be a long time before any other country makes such a colossal mistake as that which has ruined Russia.

 Kansas City Star: Delegates to the Washington conference from Europe are anxious to get home before Christmas and consequently are pulling hard to have the major agreements settled in time for them to sail. EDITORIAL COMMENT

Butter has everything to do with controlling economic affairs, fuel restless and dissatisfied within the ranks of the old party. Many people will think party will take care of all discontent, besides encouraging the ambition of leaders who thirst for official preferment. It is inconceivable that this new party, if given power, or any other party could do more than is being done in the way of reconstruction. But thinking so, it will be given the talking point, "about which they can quarrel with all the benefits usually accruing to business actively and enthusiastically employed."

As proof of this town's cordial adaptability, by which to encourage prospective settlers, we invite attention to the society department of this paper. No matter how much one may criticize other people, no matter how many faults he may find in them, he likes to have them call, to shake shoulders occasionally and talk things over. Sometimes they secretly say, "as soon as opportunity presents, sometimes they are somewhat accentuated. In any event, people like to get together in friendly or unfriendly social intercourse. It is the natural thing to do, and in orderly sequence to creation and natural laws of development. We once knew a woman of culturo, with the new-fangled ideas of a husband who was almost as human as the average. The family lived in a valley near Anna Creek canyon, not far from the wonderful Crater lake, in sight of eternal snowcaps. Stalwart pines studied the landscape. But the pines never ceased sighing. No matter what was said, they would not quit nor move on. The magnificent scenery was always the same. It never talked back. The more stomach had her reason, and the last he heard of her she was taken over the mountains to the state asylum. She had everything but society. She invited no other people to talk to, to like or dislike, to praise or criticize. The everlasting monotony killed her spirit and drove her mad. Whether we always approve of the way people wear their clothes or arrange their hair, we must not forget that communion with them is a supreme essential. Reverting to our introductory suggestion, Wayne offers a social bill-of-fare of rare excellence, and if any one's reason is ever threatened here, it will be due to other causes than lack of social relationships. If you are looking for a home where every social yearning will be satisfied, come to Wayne.

Hired Girl Beats Hired Man.
Lincoln Star: The unemployment situation is the cause of some strange wage ratios. On a farm near Lincoln, a young woman is employed to help the farmer's wife. She receives $10 a week. The hired man gets $35 a month, or more than $3 a month less than the young woman. It's a fair cry to the $2.50 a week hired girl.

Officers of other armies did not behave it could be done, but when they see their doublets resolve into amazed conviction. Our army officers appreciate the girls highly. "From the general commanding down to the lowest private," says Dr. Crane, "they are looked upon with affectionate esteem." They are doing their part in making the world a better place in the Rhine the first soldier in the world. All of which is gratifying and supports conviction that the American girl is the world's best friend. We have been wondering why it remained for us to develop in Europe the best type of the American soldier—never hear in America. The secret is now out. The American girl is responsible.

Bloomfield Man Is Acquitted of Murder

Pierce, Neb., Dec. 7.—Gustav Bahr, a near Bloomfield, square man, on trial for the murder of Percy Steifel of Niobrara, at Pierce on August 17, was found to be insane and the jury brought in a verdict not guilty at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The case was given to the jury at 12:15 p. m.

A tense moment occurred in the crowded court room when Bahr, in a frenzy, screamed, cried and moaned, when the verdict was read, "O God, O God," he wailed as he went his hair.

Judge A. A. Welch announced that he would order Bahr committed to a hospital for the insane.

Mrs. Bahr and her daughter, Mabel, whose relations with Steifel are supposed to have been the cause of the shooting of Steifel, were not in the courtroom when the verdict was brought in.

Additional information was filed by the prosecution yesterday afternoon charging Francis Muecke, a bread Indian, being one of the principals in the alleged murder. Muecke came to Pierce with Bahr from Knox county when the shooting was done and has been held in jail here charged with being an accessory before the fact. The case was continued until Monday.

Stull was in the front seat and Mrs. Stull and two small children were in the back seat.

They had a dish of fruit salad on the front seat. In going down the steep grade the salad upset and the driver let go of the wheel to pick up the salad. The front wheels turned sideways and the car slid off the grade about ten feet, turning over twice. The top and windshield were completely demolished but outside of a few bruises and scratches, none of the occupants were hurt.

The top being up and the side curtains fastened tight, probably saved the lives of the family as they would have been hurled out had it not been for these. Help was called from the nearby farms, the car righted and they resumed their journey.

for the working men to organize a counter organization to combat the American Legion.

The alleged statements, the petition charges, were meant and intended to convey to the audience the idea that the American Legion and its members were responsible for the killing of laboring men on strike and that the American Legion had as its object the interference with the objects of labor unions.

Snoemaker was plaintiff in an action against eight citizens of Hartington, Neb., in which he alleged they mistreated him following a Nonpartisan league speech.

successful use of the "big hitches" has caused many farmers to go back to the horse for his power, states the professor.

Legion Institutes Suit For $100,000

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 5.—For false and slanderous statements uttered at a meeting on the South Side Sunday night, the American Legion, a nonpartisan league adherent, is named defendant in a $100,000 damage suit filed late Saturday in district court by William Ritchie, jr., on behalf of himself, as state commander of the American Legion, department of Nebraska.

Approval of Sanford MacKiden, national commander, who is in San Francisco, and Marshall Bach, was obtained by telephone. Mr. Ritchie said he also consulted as many members of the state executive committee as possible.

"I'm ready to go to bat, and they've grabbed a hot poker," Mr. Snoemaker said. He said he had a "hot poker" at the Legion temple but declined to discuss it.

Horses and Mules Regain Popularity

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 4.—The cheapness of horses and feed has caused many farmers to give up their tractors while the continued high prices of the "motor horse" and the high price of fuel and upkeep costs has opened the farmers' eyes to the economic position of the horse in crop production, declares Prof. W. Derrick, an instructor in the animal husbandry department of the University of Nebraska, who adds it would be conservative to state that approximately 75 per cent of the tractors on Nebraska farms have been idle this year.

Dish of Salad Is Cause of Accident

Allon, Neb., Dec. 8.—The Alvin Stull family while enroute to Dixon Sunday afternoon had an accident on the grade near the railroad crossing two miles west of here. Mr.

The petition carries that Snoemaker made the following statement at the headquarters of the butcher workers' union to a gathering of members of the union: "The American Legion, as an organization, has taken part in distributing picket lines in which disturbance there was shooting and men killed. The American Legion is subsidized by the big business interests of the country. The packers have contributed to the American Legion. The American Legion is opposed to organized labor, and it is necessary

The initial cost of the tractor, unless operating expenses and the low price of farm products have caused the farmer to leave well enough alone and look to old friends to do his work," Prof. Derrick states. "He finds in the horse and mule a more economical source of power and a source of power that is not so troublesome. In comparing the census figures of 1920 and 1921, I find that approximately 24,000 more work horses were used this year than last."

For one to travel over Nebraska and see the number of tractors that have never turned a wheel in helping make the 1921 crop, it can easily be seen why horses and mules are becoming more popular, Prof. Derrick says. The cheapness of feed has caused many farmers to give up their tractors and with horses and mule population showing an increase this year, he believes there is no reason why it should not show a greater increase next year. Rights of the Child Discussed in Pulpit

"The Rights of the Child in the Home" was the subject discussed by Rev. Fenton C. Jones at the evening service at the Presbyterian church on Sunday. This was the third and last of his sermons on the topic.

In opening his address he considered the ideal man and the ideal woman with their purposes united to make a home. He dwelt on the ideal home saying, "If I can guarantee your home I can determine your heaven." In the first place, Rev. Jones said that a child had the right to be well-born. "The child is not an accident, he is a product, a result of the lines and members of his parents. The child has the right to be the product of parents, who are sound in mind, body and morals." The speaker expressed his desire for the law which the laws of science should be applied to man, when it should be determined unequivocally that people seeking marriage are physically, mentally, spiritually and mentally able to be fathers and mothers.

"God doesn't want more of us; he wants a better brand of us," said the pastor. He asserted that families in which there was one child, well born, well trained and welcomed by the parents was better than a family in which more children were raised in filth and squalor, without training, and without mental and moral health. The speaker's third point was that a child has the right to be educated and trained. "The time to begin to train a child," said Rev. Jones, "is when the child's grandparents are born." He said that one could secure more free advice on how to raise children than on any other subject. He quoted a Virginia student as saying that there was not a child ten years in this town, who doesn't run his own home. The speaker stressed the fact that this would not be so if obedience, the basis of training, was taught at an early age. He said the atmosphere and spirit of the home should be the guide for the child. "If this is a law breaking age, as many say," said the pastor, "the blame rests on the home, where obedience is the first requisite."

In conclusion, Rev. Jones said that the child had a right to its childhood. "If the parents recognize the value of the child they will observe the child's right to be well born, welcome and well trained."

War Made Jingoes of All.
Omaha Bee: It begins to appear that the world was instead of creating a new spirit of internationalism, only made jingoes of us all. How, for instance, could Italian mobs, by burning French flags, assist the movement to reduce the size of the French army? Those Balkan states, jealous of each other and willing to go down to ruin together rather than co-operate, are not altogether unlike the greater powers.

Law vs. Sense.
Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: It is probably good law to bring the Knights of Columbus and the Shriners to book for holding a good-fellowship raffle, but it isn't good sense.

Wayne Loses Chance At Football Title

After a most successful season of football, Wayne State failed to defeat Saturday afternoon before the Nebraska Wesleyan team, which they tied for state college championship. The Wayne team was accompanied to Lincoln by a number of students and Wayne people. The club of the University of Nebraska attended the game in a body. The following story of the game is taken from the Lincoln Journal for Saturday.

Wesleyan won undisputed right to the state college conference title by defeating Wayne Normal on Nebraska field Saturday afternoon by a score of 17 to 3. The battle was staged before a small crowd on account of the cold weather. The championship of college conference rested in the post season clash since both teams had been undefeated throughout the grid season in the conference.

The speedy Wayne aggregation held the Coyotes down to a scoreless first period. The swift attack of the normal team took the Coyotes off their feet at first, the light visitors striking the Methodist line for substantial gains. The Methodists braced up and held the Normals for the remainder of the opening frame.

In the second quarter Hare nabbed an on-side kick by Sowers and ran twenty yards for a touchdown, for the first score of the game. Later in the second period Hare, captain-elect of the Methodist aggregation, opened a forward pass and threw sixty-five yards down the field for the second Coyote tally. Kinnik kicked the goal.

In the third quarter the Wayne team opened up with a series of passes that bothered the Coyotes, the normal team traveled down the field to the Coyote thirty-yard line, but were unable to clear the Wesleyan 40-yard line and stopped forward only to boot a beautiful dropkick between the Coyote cross-bars.

This was the end of the Wayne scoring. The Coyotes front started clearing and halted further operations by the Wayne kickers. The Wesleyan team struggled through the light frame and again close to the goal but each time lost it on fumbles or were made to suffer penalties for off-side or holding. The Coyotes, unable to shove the piaskin across the goal line, were forced to try a drop kick. McCombs stepped back to the 30-yard line and put the piaskin between the cross-bars in the last few minutes of play.

Wayne made no speed when he lacked in weight. Remick, engineering the visitors, was able to pass or run as needed. Aomer at full back was excellent on his kicking and line-smashing work. Myers and P. Peterson, the Wayne wing men, were a pair of fast ends that kept the Coyote backfield pinned up time and again. The ends dashed in and spalled numerous Coyote plays in their infancy.

Peterson at guard aided Austin in holding out against Parkinson, the husky Coyote center and prevented the Methodists making any substantial gains through the Normal line. Richards broke through time and again and aided P. Peterson in dumping Wesleyan backs for losses."

stock, beginning at country points. The work is to be done mainly in a number of selected areas in important live stock sections of the country. The plan is to select areas, usually consisting of several counties, and to study carefully the costs and methods of raising and marketing agencies in each area so can furnish any satisfactory information. The study will include country buyers, local shipping associations, local elevators handling live stock, and independent shippers. In several instances the work is being done in cooperation with the states. A number of men from the department are now in the field collecting data on the subject.

Government Bridge Building

More than $8,325,000 has been expended by the Federal government, through the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture, toward the building of bridges on Federal aid roads and highways in thirty-five states during the four years and four months ending November 1 last. That period dates back to the inception of the Federal aid road work as at present supervised.

Placed end to end, these bridges, each of which has been constructed through the aid of the Federal government, would total forty-seven and four-tenths miles. Their estimated total cost is placed by the department at $2,235,290,854. It will thus be seen that approximately forty-two per cent of the total cost was contributed by the Federal government. The location of some of the chief projects and their total cost was as follows: Georgia, $2,054,174.50; New Jersey, $5,106,402.75; North Dakota, $1,000,000.00; Oklahoma, $2,250,709.75; South Carolina, $4,404,278.25; and Texas, $800,000.00.

Money Spent for Road Building

How the government has employed Federal aid in the building of roads through the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture, among the various types of roads is shown in a summary just prepared by the department. The tabulation covers the expenditure of $211,138,276.91 of Federal aid funds from the beginning of the work when it was authorized by congress up to November 1, 1921, a period of four years and four months. That sum is also the total amount of the total of 28,133 miles of roads. The total cost was $406,151,683.43. The average cost was $1,759 per mile.

Nearly thirty-six per cent of the Federal aid funds or $75,700,276.50, went into the construction of 4,653.6 miles of high grade concrete roads. The total cost of these roads at a total cost of $4,792,895.41 Federal aid funds applied to the building of 10,913.5 miles of gravel road at a total cost of $29,427,000.00. Federal aid funds to the extent of $24,721,420.92 were applied during the period to the construction of 6,864 miles of Federal aid gravel roads at a total cost of $55,770,423.78. High grade bituminous-macadam roads of which 1,232.2 miles were constructed at a total cost of $14,122,257.27, claimed Federal aid funds to the extent of $18,546,066.17. For another high type of road—bituminous concrete, $9,201,814.92 was made available through Federal aid. That sum went toward the construction of 772.5 miles of roadway, at a total cost of $24,483,874.68.

Toward the construction of brick roads, of which 444.6 miles were built, Federal aid was available to the extent of $6,225,482.32; and toward the cost of 2,695.5 miles of sand-clay roads the Federal government contributed $10,495,172.10. The total cost of sand-clay roads was $22,226,362.66.

tion, New York holds the money. That is a thing required in the doing of business, the promoters and the bankers, the promoters and the heads of the big business concerns think about business conditions usually his close to the mark. It is a general thing, this should be. These men are directing business affairs that represent fabulous amounts of money. Few concerns of any size anywhere in the country progress without some kind of influence being felt from New York. It is in New York is the center of things financial and no business can go on without finances and financing. It is noteworthy, as the progress of business reconstruction goes onward, that New York looks approvingly upon the progress and makes plans accordingly. Wall street is looking ahead right now to a renewed business activity. There have been slack everywhere and Wall street has patiently waited for the country to recover from its business depression. Today in New York bonds are selling as they have not sold for years. Securities of the right kind are taken without hesitancy or delay. Increased issues of stocks are turned over daily. A decidedly strong movement is under way. Wall street is not going to expand in activity like that unless it has good reason to expect the next few months to bring results.

Winter goods in the wholesale market are in demand, says Chicago. The wholesale business is much ahead of what it was last year. Retailers must be getting rid of goods on their shelves or they would be sending in orders for more goods to ship shipments as they are doing. Of course part of that is due to the demands of the holiday trade, but the fact that the orders are sufficient in size and importance to cause a quickening in manufacturing stands out significantly. Lumber is moving freely in the monthly markets. The people are continuing to build, the open weather encouraging their activity. Prices of lumber are firmer than they were some time ago and stocks are running low.

Money talks, as it always does, and in the middle west it is saying much right now, employing the collectors as interpreters. Collections are improving rapidly, and are now far ahead of what they were last year. In that is a hopeful sign, indicating that that large part of the buying public living on the farms is settling its accounts as it receives pay for its products. This has encouraged retailers to restock. Shelves are not to be empty this winter for the reason that the merchant is seeing the end of the buyers' strike. More business is in sight.

Exports have fallen off over a year ago, but it is not surprising when it is known that foreign currency is at the lowest figures possible for any kind of business to be transacted. That condition is expected to improve. The arms conference has increased the value of the pound sterling, the franc and the lire. Lenny toward Germany on the part of Great Britain has even improved the mark somewhat. Later on comes the fiscal conference of the European nations, attended by an American delegation as observer. There have been some things that can be expected to develop from that which will stabilize money values and strengthen foreign trade. The only thing in the country to do is to continue the same helpful influences it has been using to reconstruct. The process is still slow, but it is just sure and even business may have a long way to go yet, but the best opinion is sanguine as to its ultimate arrival at its destination.

WANTS EVERYBODY TO KNOW ABOUT IT

St. Louis Man Could Hardly Eat or Sleep, But Tanager Restores Him to Health.

G. H. Welp of 3524 Corning St., St. Louis, Mo., a well known employe of the Gray Manufacturing Co., has the honor to say to our Tanager: "Tanager has been such a great help to me that I am induced to give it my public endorsement. Before taking it I had suffered from indigestion for five years and had headaches and dizzy spells. I felt weak and worn out all the time, and my work was just a drag for me. My nerves were all upset, too, and my sleep was restless and broken. My brother in Illinois had taken Tanager with such splendid results that I started taking it, too, and I improved to be just what I needed. Four bottles have given me the best kind of an appetite, rid me completely of the indigestion, and built me up in weight. I sleep like a top at night, and am so full of life and energy that my work doesn't bother me now. Yes, Tanager has made me feel like a different person, and I am certainly grateful for the good health it has given me."

Next Saturday is Doll Day at the Variety Store

Girls the world over like dolls and they expect a new one when they wake up Christmas morning. In addition to the stock already on hand, which will be specially priced next Saturday, I have just received a belated shipment of imported German Dolls. These are the best doll values I have ever shown and the price is only possible on account of the recent drop in the exchange value of the German mark.

- One lot of dolls, 14 inches high, jointed bodies, beautiful bisque heads, sleeping eyes, long hair, hats, shoes and stockings, smart dresses at $1.75
Another lot, same dolls, only fully jointed and larger bodies, 16 inches high, at $1.25

If you intend to buy a doll for your girl this Christmas, next Saturday is the day and the Variety Store the place to do so.

Many Christmas goods and toys were purposely ordered very late this year. Conditions and all signs pointed to lower prices for the late buyer this year in the wholesale market. In this I was not disappointed. I received many new articles last week at considerably lower prices and a comparison will show that this saving is reflected in the prices I am asking.

Overcausalus Red Tape.

Philadelphia Bulletin.—Red tape has been a characteristic of the proceedings of the immigration authorities at Ellis island, but never has it been more open to criticism than in the detention, even for a day, on technical grounds, of the boy from the Canal zone who was being rushed to this city to undergo a difficult surgical operation in an attempt to save his life. A government steamer was held for twelve hours at Colon in order that the dying youth might be taken abroad, in view of the urgency of the case and the fact that the next boat would not sail for several days.

But the advantage which was thus gained in a race against death has been almost wholly dissipated by official insistence upon rigid formulas. Some of the "humanizing" influence which Postmaster General Hays is endeavoring to infuse into his department is badly needed in this branch of the government service.

Lincoln Star: If Senator Borah were suffering from an abnormally high temperature and someone should say the word "league," the senator would no doubt exclaim, "What Should Bring at Least $1- Lincoln Journal While wheat goes up and down under the pressure of varying forces, the tendency is on the whole upward. So far as the great winter wheat belt is concerned, it does not hold out any promise of a bumper crop for next season. There is a prospect for a fair yield, and nothing more. Nothing in the whole wheat situation, in fact justifies a price under $1 a bushel on Nebraska farms.
