Opportunity is Knocking at Your Door

We believe this is an opportunity to buy dependable merchandise at prices which are the lowest that have been offered anywhere for years. Yes, lower too, than the regular prices for the coming spring.

Prices which you will find here may seem to be unreasonably—even impossibly—low, yet we have no intention of being either sensational or extravagant in our presentation of our merchandise bargains.

Dress Shoes
 Good serviceable shoes in this lot all sizes and several different styles.

The truth of the matter, as we see it, is that we have all enjoyed such an unparalleled prosperity the last few years, that we are mistaking the return to normal conditions for something more serious. Let us shake the webs from our eyes, and see clearly. All of us, the producer, the manufacturer, the wholesaler, the retailer, and the wage-earner—must pay for our "prosperity joy-ride." The sooner we pay, the better for us all.

drawn the fire of criticism from Governor Allen. In the course of a recent statement, the governor made these concluding remarks: "The former service men are opposing Towney with ardent propaganda and so long as they express their opposition to Towneyisms with the brave self-restraint which they now exhibit, the state will have every reason to be grateful. "This effort of Towney's comes at a time when he might expect to gain some headway in Kansas. There is no doubt over the unfortunate conditions which have come to the farmer in the period of reconstruction. "I am in sympathy with every honest effort to aid the farmer, believe the legislative session should give the most constructive attention to his problems which involve direct, co-operative marketing and protection against damaging conditions, but I share with the legion the bewilderment that Towneyism means toward the effort to work upon the prejudices for the purpose of creating a class warfare which will benefit no one except the pockets of Towney and his crowd to the extent of the membership fees. "It is merely another effort on the part of those who do not farm, to 'farm the farmer'."

Socialists Disappointed. This story from Europe will tend to discourage Russian methods in America: "The expression of disappointment over conditions in Russia, together with assertions that American workmen would never pursue soviet methods, was made by a socialist American socialist and resident of San Francisco, who has been responsible for his four months' imprisonment in a Berlin jail in Moscow, Schwartz and his associates. Schwartz returned to Moscow last June and attended the second communist congress in Moscow. He said here yesterday efforts were made to disguise the real situation in Russia, but that he had detected the conditions which prevailed. "Distillations of such conditions. "I was broken hearted by what I saw," he continued "and realized what a terrible misconception my wife and I had of the conditions before we arrived in Russia. We were told and could not conceal our disappointment. The bolsheviks were not the kind of men we had visited many sections of the country and that I spoke Russian. As a result they asked me an opinion of the situation. I spoke readily telling them it was unnecessary for me to discuss miseries which were apparent to even a casual observer. "My frank statements probably led to our troubles. Later Boris Reinstein of Buffalo, N. Y., and a prominent socialist leader asked me to write an article on the conditions in America and how the communist party was progressing there. I told him frankly I did not think American conditions were as bad as the Russian methods and that there was no communist party in America. He repeated my remarks to John Reed, the author, who died last fall, who came to me and asked me to repeat my statements. I explained to him that I did not say there were no communists in America, but that I had asserted the communist party had no party organization. "Arrested by Armed Guards. "On the night of Aug. 6, at 11 o'clock, armed guards came to my hotel and arrested my wife and me, throwing us into separate jails. For two months we received no suggestions, no food, no news, no books, no paper against us. My wife could not speak Russian and suffered from solitary imprisonment. At the end of two months she was called before M. Feldman, chairman of the committee in charge, who asked me if I would report to American workers that I was a state-changes-hoaxer, imprisoned, hinting that I would be released if I should give this promise. I told him I might forgive the wrong I had done, but I would never say never would, and I asked to see her. "Wife Couldn't Recognize Him. "After a long delay she entered. She was a state-changes-hoaxer and did not recognize me, as I formerly wore no beard, and now I appeared before her with my face covered with long grey whiskers. She asked her not to cry and worry and she indignantly protested, declaring she had no tears left and could not possibly cry. She said she had seen justice which had been done us by the very persons for whom we had worked for many years. "M. Feldman said there was no reason immediately but there was another long, weary wait before orders were received for us to prepare immediately to go to the station."

Men's 4-Buckle All Rubber Arctics, $2.50. You know $5.00 has been the price of this sort of arctics. At the clearing sales you have seen them priced as low as $3.95. Here they are at $2.50 and they are good. They were made for government use we think as the cases come stamped "Government use." They are certainly the biggest snap we ever bought and we would be glad to get a lot more of them if we could. We had several cases of them early in December and men who bought them tell us they are first class. It will pay you fine to buy an extra pair now and lay them away for spring use.

Outing Flannel 19c yd. The regular heavy 27-inch outing that was 50c last fall. We cleared out all our outing flannels last month and now we are in shape to buy the bargains offered by the overstocked wholesalers. Take all you want at 19c as long as we can get them for you at this bargain price.

Ladies Crepe De Chine Waists $2.50 They come in all silk crepe de chine in pink and white and the fronts are neatly embroidered. They sold at $5.00. Because there are only small sizes left we are going to close them out half price, $2.50.

Ladies' Fleece Union Suits $1.25 A fine white fleeced suit which we are selling so cheap because they are overstocked in long-sleeve suits. Many have bought these suits and plan on cutting off the sleeves. They are regular $2.50 values.

Slackless May Get Station. St. Paul Pioneer Press: The American Legion may get out of the next, secretary of war in the matter of slackers, but it can hardly make N. D. Baker's fondness for them any more evident or force him to amend his views.

This Ad Looks Tame, But---

Compared with the broadsides of big black type and bigger blacker figures that fairly shout at you from every newspaper and circular you receive nowadays, this is indeed a "tame looking ad."

But take a few minutes and read the offers it contains. You will find that from a dollar and cents standpoint it means more to you than the biggest, boldest ad that reaches you.

You can depend on this—when you come to the store you will find the goods and prices exactly as here advertised. We will gladly make you a present of anything that is not fully up to the description.

These are no catch penny or trick offers made to bring you to the store in the hopes of selling you other goods. Every bargain is a worth while money saving offer on goods that amount to something—goods really needed just at this time. Come any hour—any day—as long as the goods last they are yours at these prices.

Men's 4-Buckle All Rubber Arctics, $2.50.

Last week we had a chance to buy a case of blankets so cheap that we took them, even if winter is half over. Just consider these prices and you will be as ready to buy them as we were. $2.00 for a big size grey cotton blanket, not heavy but just the kind you want for sheets. $2.50 for a full size 62x80 inch plaid cotton blanket in pretty pink and blue plaids. This is less than half what such blankets were worth in September. $4.85 for an extra size extra heavy northern woolnap blanket, in good looking blue and pink plaids. Another less than half price value. If you still need blankets don't miss these bargains.

PERCALES 19c yd. These are the good ones, full 36-inches wide, good weight and nice patterns, in either dark or light styles. You have been paying 40c for them. We got a great bargain in these percales from a wholesaler's clearing sale. It has been a long time since you could buy good percales at any such low price.

Boys' Fleece Shirts and Drawers, 29 Cents The extra heavy fleece kind for cold weather wear. This is a fine bargain for the family who have boys to fit out.

Ladies' House Dresses at Half Price, $1.25 to $6.00 We have made this great reduction because the dresses are a little ruffled from hanging on the racks. They are all perfectly washable and at such a saving price you can well afford to launder them. The styles are neat and pretty; the materials are nice check and plaid gingham and light percales. Don't make spring house dresses until you have seen these bargains.

MEN'S BARGAINS Best chambray and chevot work shirts, 75 cents each. Glover's best overalls, $1.50. Best extra heavy fleeced union suits, $2.00 and $2.25. Medium weight fleece suits, in sizes 36 and 46 only, at $1.00. Heaviest fleece shirts and drawers, 75c. Canvas gauntlet gloves two pairs 25 cents. Men's 4-buckle all rubber arctics $2.50.

Ladies' Dress Shoes, $7.50

They are all displayed on a special rack where you can select your size and style from 100 pairs. Nice dress shoes will sell at $10.00 this spring so there is a good saving for you here. There are also some good shoes at $3.00, but they are all small sizes, 2½ to 4, and old styles. They are of the very best leather and will make excellent every day shoes for growing girls or for the woman who can wear a small size. Several pair of women's felt shoes are priced $2.00 and $2.50. Girls' felt shoes are $1.25. There are two pair of good felt shoes with leather covering and leather heels and soles in men's size 12. We'll take $1.00 a pair for them.

Furs at Half Price. Not high priced furs either but just nice big animal scarfs and good muffs that should sell fairly at $15.00 to $40.00; take your choice at $7.50 to $20.00 and you'll get the best fur values we have seen in years.

Sweaters at Half Price. Girls' sweaters, new pull over style, fine wool yarns, pretty colors, the $5 ones, on sale now at $2.50. Ladies' wool sweaters, new textured styles, nice colors, all new goods, $3.75 now for the $7.50 grade and $6.25 for $12.50 styles. Boys' sweaters, regular Bradley make, open front styles, now $2.50

We do not advertise grocery "bait" to get your grocery trade. We carry a clean fresh high grade line of groceries and coffees and price it reasonably all the way through. The system of selling one article at a loss and the next one at a high profit to make up for it has never looked like good business to us. On your regular grocery business week in and week out we will match prices and give better quality than any cut rate store.

President-elect Harding shows good judgment in firmly protesting against the proposed amendments with the forthcoming inaugural ceremonies. The president-elect chief thoughtfully takes affairs of government in hand and lend the entire force of his administration to the task of wholesome reconstruction.

Rapid City, S. D., has adopted the city manager plan. Norfolk will vote on it January 22, and Sioux City contemplates a similar step as a way to solve its municipal troubles. Wayne has been talking the same things for several years, but has not of definite action so long that it is probably too late to accomplish it this year. People would heartily endorse a law to protect against a freezing agent the state and selling stock in manufacturing or other concerns about whose responsibility or possibilities the public do not know. The amount of intangible assets tied up in stocks would, if now realizable, materially help the money market. A sharp teeth would have a beneficial effect. From a man's viewpoint, seeing deeply man's high consideration for the welfare of the state to never smoke cigarettes. Don't do it just once. Don't smoke one "just for fun." It is a dangerous sport. Girls like to be well thought of. We believe it is a fact that a boy who smokes will have less respect for a girl who does the same thing. Spurn such a temptation. It will only bring you the regard of the very one who tempts you.

Edgar Howard of the Columbus Times, sees no hope for remedial and helpful legislation from the legislature. Edgar Howard seldom sings a very encouraging note. In discussing the dark and uncanny and mysterious business of the evil. He is too prone to rant out and present the somber side, and smother the fires of hope and courage. This and the business during and following the war cannot be cured by a wave of the hand or by shunting administration of some fancied remedy. It will take a little time to restore normal conditions, and those charged with responsibility for helpful legislation in state and nation should have their entire credit accredited before they get started. It will be up to the people, as well as to constructive governmental policies, to enlighten the public eye on abnormal affairs incident to the world struggle, and this may be aided by breathing the spirit of hope rather than the dark shadowing of despair. It is disappointing that Edgar Howard does not use his influence to quiet disturbed nerves and in behalf of wholesome cooperation.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the memorable blizzard that swept the state last winter. It was a grip many school teachers and children of whom perished. It happened January 12, 1888. Usually mild weather, the forecasters gave no hint of an impending storm. Early in the afternoon the wind whipped around to the northwest with a blinding snow that made even short distances almost impossible. Some teachers managed by tying their children together to keep them from wandering and freezing. Others remained in their school houses over night, often compelled to resort to burning desks and other furniture to keep warm. The blizzard was not the worst known, but it came so unexpectedly that it caused unprecedented suffering and death. Old settlers remember a particularly ugly three-day blizzard that started Nov. 14, 1886, and another three-day engagement that introduced a long, hard winter of 1897-1898. But no storm since Jan. 12, 1888, has approached the severity of that blizzard. Buildings and trees have often suffered from the effects of blizzard business for which we should all be grateful.

TOWNEYSISM IN KANSAS. The Nonpartisan League workers, under the leadership of Towney, have moved from Nebraska into Kansas. They evidently believe Kansas furnishes a more fertile field for their propaganda. It is also thought that other farm organizations, having for their objects constructive, but not designed, like the League, to combine with the discordant labor union elements, have discouraged the ambitions of the League in trying to capture this state. In Kansas Towneyism has already

WIRELESS IN THE POCKET

Small, Cheap Apparatus That is Ready for a Marvel of Invention.

It is now possible to carry a wireless message from any of the business towns within reasonable distance from this country with the aid of an apparatus which, in a pocketbook and a telephone.

The apparatus will act as the sender or the receiver of messages in a telephone booth, and a message in the telephone must be a high-resistance in strength.

It has even been possible to receive the message received on any set as an ordinary broadcast as an aerial.

You must not expect with this simple installation to go in wireless touch with Paris, Berlin or Moscow, but if you want the mild excitement of picking up messages from a long station within reasonable distance you must follow these directions:

First, get a "pocket" book and a pocketbook, select a nice lady position, and having carried one corner of the pocketbook, say, in a woman's or a woman's hand, hold your umbrella out as long as you can. There should also be a telephone handy, and it would be more desirable if you had a telephone operator.

Having figured yourself out as a woman wireless station all you have to do is to get a message in the telephone in a wireless way with visible waves of understanding running down the stick of your umbrella.

It is claimed for this pocketbook that it is the most reliable in sensitivity with the most expensive and elaborate tuner on the market.

The cost of the pocketbook is about $5—London News.

Tliffish Again Caught in Vast Numbers, Though They Were Believed to Have Been Wiped Out

Tliffish are a fish with a short but remarkable history, writes a correspondent. In May, 1879, Captain Kirby of the schooner Hittelings, out of Gloucester, Mass., was traveling down the Nantucket banks. No cod was found, but a large fish, unknown to science, was present in great numbers in a very short time 5,000 pounds of the new species were caught. The fish proved to be of high food value and good keeping qualities. There was a big popular demand for them, and quantities were caught for three years. Then the supply failed as suddenly as it had appeared. In the spring of 1882 the boats came back with a single Tliffish. A few days later numerous boats reported having passed through waters of dead or dying Tliffish. They covered an area of 5,000 square miles and were estimated to number 2,000,000,000.

From 1882 to 1915 no trace of the fish was found in the waters of the world, adds our correspondent. Scientific men were convinced that the fish had been suddenly and mysteriously exterminated. It was only in 1915 a government boat, in almost the identical spot off the Nantucket banks as that in which Tliffish were first taken, caught some specimens of the same. Again there proved to be vast numbers of them, and new grounds were also discovered along the New Jersey coast. Since then the Tliffish has been caught without interruption. But the riddle of its strange disappearance for 33 years has not yet been solved.—Manchester Guardian.

Government Assumes All Risk?

New York World: The house has followed the action of the senate in passing the bill for the revival of the war finance corporation over the veto of the president. It is the theory of congress that all the financial risks in the export trade should now be assumed by the United States government and that all the profits should be divided among the beneficiaries of special legislation.

Kansas City Times: It seems that operating expenses, taxes and equipment absorbed 87 per cent of all railroad income in 1920, which shows that the railroads took only 3 per cent of being an ultimate consumer.

New Meaning of "Intrigue"

The latest verbal importation from France that I have had occasion to remark is no more than the centering of a new meaning upon an old word. In English "to intrigue" has always meant to plot seditiously, and in French it was always used (by extension) to indicate the state of perplexity in which we may find ourselves when we have reason to suspect a surreptitious plot, and this secondary French meaning is now passing over into English, so that we may read in the light of the new meaning of "to intrigue" the "intrigued me" meaning that she puzzled me, and not meaning that she involved me in an intrigue. This latter secondary meaning will probably force itself into our fielding Anglo-Saxon, and we shall have hereafter the privilege of employing "to intrigue" in the sense of "to tempt." I doubt if this will be to the profit of the language; but protest is idle, since the fate of a novel word is not in our hands.

No fire-dressed party of men and women ever assembled together in this city than those who took part in the ball given by the bachelors of Sheridan this morning. Friends. Many of the costumes deserve mention, but the Postman is not capable of describing them properly.

The supper and refreshments were of the kind that all appreciated, and were served as just the right time by obliging waiters. The music was of the best. The spirit of the times and make everyone feel satisfied. Only one deplorable thing transpired at the dance, and it was nobody's fault but the unfortunate who fell forward when bowing to a lady and tore his hairs across the nose. He had differed with her and had beautiful partner for each number, but he had to back off and sit down.—Sheffield (Wyo.) Post.

To Amend "Blue Sky" Law.
Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 11.—State Senator Anderson of Lincoln, has introduced a bill in the senate amending the present "blue sky" law of the state. It is intended to change what is declared to be "fictitious" provisions in the present law whereby stock promotion schemes of questionable merit have flourished and losses have resulted to investors.
Its two chief features are withdrawal of state license or approval from all corporate enterprises, but retaining regulation and prohibition and requiring salesmen to give surety bonds to protect purchasers.
The amendments aim to remove three objections to the present law, which, it is asserted permits stock promoters to present and the public to accept a license as an approval by the state; allows fraud by misrepresentation and fails to provide protection from bad management of new companies.

Bogus Farm Relief.
St. Paul Pioneer Press: If the Kansas Liberty League resents the attitude of the lawmaker who frankly will do nothing for him, what must be his feeling when he discovers that he is "supposed" champion in Congress in the present law whereby stock promotion schemes of questionable merit have flourished and losses have resulted to investors.
Such, it is now well demonstrated, were the measures of the Townley political machine in the promotion of state-owned mills, elevators and banks. Such must be any tariff on farm products while we have a surplus to export and prices are depressed in the world market. And such is the proposal, embodied in a congressional resolution, to revive the operation of the war finance corporation. There is the smell of politics in the fact that the conservative senate, where all members have more or less of an agricultural constituency, voted for the measure more "liberal" than the more liberal house where a godly number of members represent only urban populations.

The victim of the dry nipple scandal if the farmer will forget and argue if no extraneous circumstances arise to conceal the meritlessness of the dry nipple farm measures.
Did He Pick Wrong Field?
Kansas City Times: Mr. Townley must sometimes wish that before acting on his information that Kansas was a good state to start a non-partisan league organization in he had asked one or two more questions of those who furnished the information.

WAKEFIELD NEWS.
Nehardt, the poet, visited Wakefield a wave of—shall I call it "poetry" has broken out in high school. The following—a bit of original verse no doubt fluttered from certain student's note-book and fell face upward on the floor:
A promise—fire was issuing and the flames were leaping
The sky was blue above us and no lake or stream was nigh.
The cattle loam with terror huddled trembling in the lane
"Pray," my love implored me, choking—if you love me pray for rain.
I could see the heat waves shimmer as my wet eyes searched the sky. But a fierce joy seemed to shake me, knowing that my love was nigh.
When we thought no power could save us, we who knew no cares since birth,
A black cloud engirded the heavens and the thunder shook the earth.
And my love was smiling gaily as he used in days of yore

Saying, "You have saved me darling, you are mine forever more."
Great isn't he? Some of us have evidently been a long time discovering ourselves.

Special mention should be made of Miss Gayle Phillips, who so well played the part of the minister, representing Rev. F. M. Drulliner.

Cost of Education.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 11.—Approximately $40,000,000 was spent during the school year of 1920 to educate the 311,021 children enrolled in the elementary and secondary schools of the state, according to statistics prepared by John M. Matzen, superintendent of public instruction. These figures include expenditures for all opportunities for constructive accomplishment. Mr. Harding's job is to rebuild, and he should have constructive men at his control table.

WOOL GROWERS ORGANIZING TO MANUFACTURE BLANKETS

AN IOWA FLOCK OF HAMPSHIRE SWINE

LOADING WOOL FOR MARKET IN COLORADO

GRADING WOOL IN CHICAGO CONCENTRATION PLANT

A. E. BOOG & SCOTT, INC. COLEMAN, W. VA. FARM BUREAU FEDERATION

American wool growers are bowing to a depressed selling market without a struggle. Their first step is for a direct cooperative marketing plan which includes manufacturing blankets from the virgin wool and selling to consumers at a least 25 per cent.

Through the National Wool Growers' Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation the plan is to manufacture woolen blankets, made from three-throw wool grown in Iowa, Michigan, Wyoming, Texas and other western states and sell direct from designated mills to the consumer. The wool growers are desperate, as there is absolutely no market for wool and all warehouses are loaded to the roofs.

The pictures show wool interests from various territories backing this plan.

HARDING MAY NAME WOMAN TO CABINET

It is thought that President-elect Harding will ask Congress to create a Department of Education. If so, it is rumored that Mrs. Harriet T. Union of Warren, O. will be asked to head the new department. If appointed, she will be the first woman in the United States ever named to a cabinet position.

Senate and League.

Philadelphia Public Ledger. Three great problems—all a part of the one supreme problem of the world's peace— confront the incoming federal administration. These are the League or some other association of the nations to secure unity of action for the prevention of war, the question of co-operative disarmament, and the termination of the state of war still technically existing between the United States and Germany. In the solution of these complicated and vital problems the senate of the United States in view of its constitutional prerogatives as part of the treaty making machinery of the government, is bound to play a controlling part.

Sealing the Burden. New York Tribune: The appropriations which congress makes at this session will run until July 1, 1922, more than a quarter way through President Harding's term. He has therefore a direct personal interest in them and has properly conferred with the house and senate leaders about reductions. In his campaign speeches Senator Harding strongly advocated decreased expenditures as a first step toward decreased taxes. He has now strengthened the determination of the majority in congress to go on cutting deep into the administration's reckless estimates.

Square Deal Demanded. New York Times: What our people want as a basis for remedial legislation and for treaty agreements are trustworthy statistics about recesses and production and good information regarding the regulations and practices of Great Britain in producing and acquiring oil. All else is surplusage. The United States demands a square deal and must not be diverted by guile, rancor or misinformation from being reciprocally fair to Great Britain.

Free Canal in Sight. Washington Post: No great difficulty in securing toll exemption of American coastwise ships is now anticipated. The pledge of the republican party is given, and with the party strongly entrenched in congress and with a republican president sincerely desirous of carrying out this pledge, the way seems easy. It will not, too, to know that the exemption can be made and yet leave the canal self-supporting.

For a While at Least. Omaha World-Herald: Having relinquished a villa and ordered a large wardrobe of civilian clothes from Venice, it looks as though D'Annunzio expected henceforth to conduct himself as a gentleman.

remarks. Mr. Nelhardt briefly outlined his plan of writing the five cycles of epic poetry covering the history of the west. "Although I have completed only the first two, 'The Song of Three Friends' and 'The Song of Hugh Glass,' I am now writing the fifth and last of the cycles, 'The Song of the Indian Wars,'" said the speaker, "because many of the Indian heroes are still living and I have an opportunity to get the facts directly from them." Mr. Nelhardt then read the first six hundred lines of 'The Song of the Indian Wars.' "There will be five thousand lines when the epic is completed," said the poet. "It will probably be long years before the material in the part that the speaker read covered the period of immigration westward and the opening of a road through the Indian territory in the Platte valley. Although no great dramatic action had yet been produced, members of the audience felt that they had enjoyed a rare treat, and all agreed with the author in his belief that 'The Song of the Indian Wars' will probably be one of the greatest things his ever written.

The speaker's pleasing voice and natural manner added much to the enjoyment of the evening.

The Coming "Sizzerintium." The chapel program at the Wayne State Normal Monday morning was devoted to a discussion of this class's issue of the Spizzintium. Short speeches were made by Prof. O.-R. Bowen, Prof. E. J. Hunterman, Prof. J. G. W. Lewis, Miss Mabel Eberly, editor-in-chief, Miss Tillie Solfermoster, and Lyle Miller. A schedule for having pictures taken for the annual was arranged by classes. Meetings of all the classes were held in the various class rooms Tuesday morning to decide matters pertaining to the "Spizz."

Defeated in Basketball. The first team of basketball of the Wayne State Normal, accompanied by Coach O. T. Marsten, returned from Lincoln Sunday afternoon. A game, played with Cottler Friday evening resulted in a score of 49-9, in favor of Cottler. The game with Westvian Saturday was more even, 27-26, and the Wayne boys suffered defeat in a score of 26-20.

Members Show Retiring Commander Substantial Appreciation.

The 47th Sears post of the American Legion met at the club rooms over S. R. Theobald & Company's store Thursday evening Jan. 6. New officers elected for the year are: Carl Matison, commander; Fred Brunne, vice commander; Leslie Ellis, adjutant; Carroll Orr, officer in charge; Rev. J. W. Beard, post chaplain; Chas. R. Chinn, post historian; and Dr. J. C. Johnson, master-at-arms.

The following were chosen members of the executive committee: M. Ritze, H. E. Senft, Paul Mines, Clark Bannister and F. B. Rockwell. The legion extended a vote of thanks to Rev. Beard, the retiring commander and presented him with a watch charm appropriately engraved. Coffee and sandwiches were served at the close of the meeting. The club rooms are partly furnished and the legion members hope to raise money for further furnishings.

NONPARTISAN LEAGUE BILLS

Prepared by F. L. Bollen, Formerly of Wayne, Now of Capital City.

A Lincoln report states that F. L. Bollen, formerly of Wayne, now of the capital city, has been preparing bills covering the legislative program of the Nonpartisan League. The program includes the following: State ownership and development of districts of Nebraska's undeveloped water power.

State farm and city loan act. Co-operative bank law. Publicly owned and managed bonded terminal elevators and warehouses.

Annihilation of party designation on ballot.

Right of collective bargaining.

Building School House. West. Point, Neb. Jan. 10.—Work on the new high school building has been delayed on account of the Christmas snow storm, but has now been resumed and will be continued during the favorable weather. Brick laying and carpenter work is being carried on without serious interruption. The building, when completed, will present an imposing appearance. The estimated cost is nearly $200,000.

Business Tone Cheerful.

Sioux City Journal—Business entered the new year with a spirit of cheerfulness little short of conservative optimism. Invoites were extended over longer periods of time than usual because of the cuts in prices which went into most of them. But with these out of the way, every effort turned towards getting new business. Sometimes the optimism which has been urged is nothing except talk, but in other instances improved conditions justify the spirit that is shown.

The wholesale dry goods trade shows an improvement. This is especially noticeable in cottons, but extends to silks. The improvement is found only in a part of the primary markets, but it is sufficient to indicate the general trend towards more liberal buying on the part of the public. Retailers not only are replenishing depleted stocks, but in some instances are adding new lines and enlarging old ones. Most of the orders are small and for immediate delivery. But there is a growing conviction that the last cuts in prices in these lines have gone almost, if not entirely, to the bottom and that further reductions in the near future are not to be expected.

There is little change in the financial situation since the beginning of the new year. Money remains close and interest rates high. The usual increase in the volume of liquidation at the beginning of the year, when they come together is not in evidence. There was little change in the January volume from that of the beginning previous months.

The resumption of some industries after the inventory shutdowns is balanced by the volume scheduled in August by others and the possibility of an increased number of unemployed. Exports are at a low point because of the inability of foreign buyers to pay for American goods in acceptable collateral and within reasonable payment periods. This leaves the manufacturers little except the home market upon which to depend. In that market the hopes of lower prices still sit at a check upon liberal buying, except in certain lines.

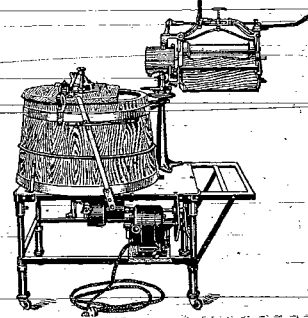

The building trades are dependent upon the return of supplies and the sentiment of labor. If there is a general resumption of building at the opening of the spring season, money will be more plentiful, buying, both in primary and retail markets, will be improved, and the country will experience an increased degree of prosperity.

Mrs. Merle Milton returned to her home at Long Pine Monday after a short visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Juhnlin.

The calling of a special election to decide on the location of the county seat of Dixon county is expected at the next session of the supervisors of that county. Thus, the contest between Ponca and Allen, the former to retain the seat of government and the latter to capture it, will be on in earnest.

Ponca has organized a Community club with three officers—H. H. Hart, president; C. A. Kingsbury, vice president; J. J. McCarthy, second vice president; Owen McQuillen, treasurer; Lloyd Lynde, secretary.

The American Legion at Warsaw is leading a movement to put up a community building.

Rev. Father F. Schnautz, pastor of Holy Trinity church, has secured a leave of absence from his local duties and is making arrangements to spend an extended vacation with his mother and other relatives in Germany, near the Cedar County News. He plans to visit other European countries while away.

Father Schnautz is the third priest in his territory to visit the war devastated districts within the past twelve months. Rev. Father Birmbach returned about two months ago. Rev. Joe Rosicki, of Crofton, is still traveling in Europe.

Father Schnautz's aged mother is still alive and he has many relatives whom he has not seen for a number of years and he is planning to remain for a considerable period. The good wishes of his local friends for a long and pleasant visit will accompany him.

The Early Days in Two Counties

From the Wayne Herald Jan. 14, 1897:

G. W. Welles of Pender, has purchased the city laundry in Wayne. Prof. Durkin has just completed a blue marble clock for Mrs. J. J. Williams.

The corn market is extremely dull and is expected to remain so for the next sixty days.

Editor E. Cunningham went to Grand Island to attend a meeting of the State Press association.

The installation of the newly elected officers of the Case post, G. A. R., was held Friday evening.

Miss Stewart of the College, with the help of her music students, will give a musical Saturday evening.

A committee of four Wayne people was appointed to establish a Christian Endeavor society in La Porte.

The Sons of Herman, a fraternal and insurance organization, was instituted at K. P. hall Wednesday evening.

Mr. Harry Tidrick and Miss Mae Prescott were married at the home of the bride in Breina precinct, Wednesday, Jan. 6, 1897. Rev. Hodgets of Norfolk officiating.

The Herald, Republican and Windsor Tribune have been designated for county commissioners as the official county papers.

From Ponca Journal Jan. 13, 1881:

Mr. Ayers does not think as favorably of the stock market as he did last summer. He bought several hundred head of cattle, and engaged Mr. Hines of Lagoon precinct to take care of them this winter. He also bought a fine tract of 320 acres near Mr. Hines' place, and proposed to build on it, in the spring, a large house, stables, etc., and locate there and look after his cattle and enjoy country life. But his cattle have commenced dying off and over a hundred of his herd have turned up their noses. So he has given notice of an auction of his stock, and they are to be sold today.

Under such adverse circumstances he could not be expected to locate on his farm, and country life, for him, is postponed indefinitely. His experience has probably cost him about $2,000 more than the profit of it at this time.

As will be noticed by the proceedings published in another column, the village trustees have passed an ordinance prohibiting, under a penalty of $25 fine, the people in Union county, D. T., from crossing here. This is done to prevent the spread of the small pox which is now raging with great violence in the vicinity of Jefferson, in that county.

In the small pox region in and near Jefferson, it is reported that the people have been careless in regard to that fearful disease, not only of the cities of others but of their own. Its introduction into the town was an act of utmost foolhardiness, and subsequent movements in handling the mauls have been conducted in the same reckless manner. It was taken to Jefferson by a citizen of that place who drove to the village with a load of wood when the disease was there late fall, and delivered it at the pest house. Being an individual whose dignity was more developed than that of common sense, he went in to see how small pox looked. Of course he carried the disease home with him, and in a short time was a corpse with the rest of his family. The doctor who attended the first cases took it into the family of his brother. From this the disease spread with frightful rapidity and fatality, so that at this time there are fifty cases and some hundred exposures. It is the worst, the most horrible type of this dread disease, and is what is known as the "black small pox." Those who are taken with it have not one chance in twenty of coming out alive.

About three miles below Skough's mill, on the other side of the river, there are two tiny dead with the disease with no one to bury them. One of the victims is Mr. Bates, proprietor of Patton's mill. Between there and Jefferson there are twenty dwelling houses in which there are counted to be twenty-seven cases of small pox.

It is absolutely necessary that all these people of Jefferson be kept there and not under any circumstances whatever be allowed to go to neighboring towns. The action of the trustees of Ponca is wise in prohibiting them from coming here, the same as has been done in both Sioux City and Elk Point, and if the ordinance are enforced to the strictest letter, it may be possible to keep the disease within its present bounds.

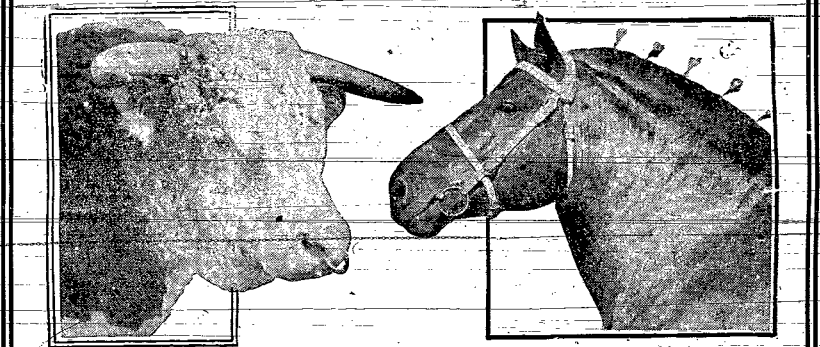

Naval Aviation.
 New York Tribune: There is no bureau of naval aviation at the navy department, and control office, and one directing head having authority and responsibility for the organization and development of an air force for the navy. Until such a bureau is established it will be obviously impossible for the director of navigation to make headway. His hands are tied.

UNCLE WALT The Paed. Philosopher

City and Country.

It seems a pity that all the girls and boys are flocking to the city, grown tired of village joys. The city bids them enter, gives them the central bank, and down in the Hay Center the county buildings stand. "Ay, chee," the kids are saying, "the old town is a frost; we'll go where the birds are playing regard of the coast." The country town is shrinking, it's known a dismal slump, with only graybeards thinking around the village pump. The favored merchant prices gave down the dusty street, and brushing shelf wares quince, invoke the name of Pete. The young folks all are leaving, they go on every train, to search for joys deceiving, and pleasures all in vain.

"Adventure is the mentor that counsels them to go; and down in old Hay Center the life is pretty slow. Hay Center's ways are quiet, she's calm, without, within; she has no midnight riot, or gash brands of sin. Her people all are sleeping when village clocks strike ten, and no cheap sports are keeping high season in den. They go to church on Sunday to hear the pastor shout and all the dames on Monday all hang the washing out. Hay Center has no pink air, no girly life; but from such towns our Lincolns and other great men came. It said to see her lying, abandoned, dusty gray; but all the kids are fighting to tread the Great White Way.

By Force of Law.

We all desire to make a bit better, and leave a little behind us; when you die, a fame that will amaze; and so we'd pass a law to fit the crimes of other days. As mortals we'll not want to be a valued limb; and so we'll jump on Neighbor Brown, and put a crimp in him, and eagerly will find him with oranges, grapes. For Brown is fond of crokinole, croquet, and kindred games; and sports like these corrupt the soul, degrade both boys and dames. They're sure to roll to everlasting flames. We might persuade Brown, if we would, to quit his course of rule; we might persuade him to be good, and do it with a smile, but statutes, he it understood, are better worth our while. There's more fun in forcing guys to walk the narrow road than there can be in annual meretriciousness. You can't win if you'd have man win the prize, you prod him with a goad. By law we'll make the nations free, our plans are fully made, we'll pass a law for bidding tea and rum and lemonade; and when we're dead our lusts will lie, in laurel wreaths arrayed. Oh, good salvation as a force is dead and in a crate, and legislation is the source of everything that's great; and though, perhaps, our work is coarse, we'll make sin pull its freight.

The Law's Delay.

Near San Francisco, recently, three delegates were lynched; they were in jail, their words to die, for crimes revolting pinched. And marked men came, perhaps three scores, as grim as doom or fate, and drew them to a gallows, which groaned beneath their weight. And law abiding people then sent up an angry cry; it was a shame that untried men should thus untried die. And I forsook my divers tasks to rant around and rail, to say those brutal men in masks should all be locked in jail. No man should face the halter dead, except by court's decree." I sternly cried; "we have our law, and it should honor be." "No man should face the halter dead," I sternly cried, "we have our law, and it should honor be." "I stand at my right hand, remarked, "The people would not wait to see those monsters, carried, and so they were hanged. I saw a score of deaths; and woe; the people weary of the law, it is so heavily slow. A fiend is tried and tried again, and tried another time, until the weary sons of men forget his ancient crimes." "If at last some prison grim should hide his sullen form, some governor with pardon him before his bunk is warm. Or, through some writ that has a flaw, to fresh crimes he may go; the people weary of the law, it is so heavily slow." I look with scorn upon the gink who talked in such a way; I looked with scorn, but could not think of anything to say.

The Operation Fad.

When something hurt our well known duds, the doc prescribed his pills, or liniments, or liver pads, or compound juice of squills; but now he'd take his saw or adze, to cure us of our ills. There was some sense in being sick in brave old days like those, for then the tired and foot-sore hick in illness found repose.

what time the doctor, summoned quick, prescribed the proper dose. I often thought, the village doc, when I see a doctor or smart, and he would give me pills of drink that nearly broke my heart; but never did this halter talk of reading me apart. He gave me drops of melted wax, much virtue in it lies; and stuff that tastes like carnet tacks, and pills of giant size; but never did he shake an axe before my shrieking eyes. But now when to the doc I trot, because of ache or pain, he prods me in the tender spot, and says that pills are vain; he wants to lay me on a cot, and split my form in twain. He says, "Oh, thunder!" and "Oh, plagues!" when I old methods name; he says there ought to be a law against that ancient game, he wants to take his cross-cut saw and push it through my frame. I have about a hundred ills and cannot have them healed, because, while I will swallow pills, I won't be sliced or peed; I would be cured by pills, or shills, by trout the surgeon wield.

Hard to Figure.

I know not why I always think a new year will be fine, and feel it will not put a kink in glowing plans of mine; or why a year seems in the blink when 'tis in its decline. "I've muddled things this year," I say, when I regard the past; "I've let my kinks fly away like leaves upon the breeze, but doubtless after New Year's day management will be vast. The new year brings a change of look-to-new-year-human-kind; my bank account the old year struck, and made my coffers leak, but now I'll save a silver buck, and maybe two, each week." The new year has a sought remedy, of sins, methinks, if it seems, she is a veritable and as such she brings us hopehead dreams; and she dies we get in Dutch, with all our business schemes. I know I simply can't be wise, my deeds are all mistakes, I travel with the bunched-head guys whose high resolves are fakes; how then shall I to wisdom rise because a new year breaks? I fully I've grown old and gray, and in my Mottled Grance I count great chances thrown away, and it is passing strange that I exclaim on New Year's Day, "Now things will take a change!"

A True Story.

There was a man who owned some flats, out in a western town, fit dwellings for artists, all painted white and brown; and renters took their kids and cats to them and settled down. In time the greedy rent hogs rose, on petrick courses, rent; the hearts of many landlords froze, they grasped at every cent; and people soaked their furberlows, to pay the monthly rent. And landlady got an evil name throughout that region; they played a profiteering game that made the victims mad; said victims said it was a shame, they dug up the dead. While other landlords raised the price, the hero of this tale said old time prices would suffice, old contracts should prevail; he would not ask an extra slice of hard-pressed tenants' kale. These tenants, being safe and sane to gratitude, had a dead-end day came did not complain, or fear the landlord's tread; but they gave him a handsome case, that had a golden head. Oh, all the tenants stood in line, and then, with seemingly mirth, they sprung their tribute, high and fine, to one of sterling worth; and he was content to accept, by a trick, tricked to the earth. He gets more pleasure from this gift than do the pirates gay, the profiteers who strive to get the coin; and all the coin their evil brift has won and filed away.

HER FIVE YEARS OF TROUBLEND

Unlucky Woman Says She Can't Find Words for What

"Even before I had taken half a bottle of Tanlac I noticed a wonderful improvement in my condition," said Mrs. Elizabeth Finell, 1841 N. Lincoln, Sioux City, Iowa.

"For one year, everything I ate fattened and bloated and distressed me terribly. I had to be taken down and at times my feet would swell until I could hardly stand. My nerves were shattered, my condition sleep and awful headache, after I had no dizzy I had to sit down and was so weak I could scarcely do any of my housework."

"Well, I read a lot about Tanlac and decided to try it. My appetite was never better and I don't think anyone has any better digestion than I have. The headache, dizziness and weakness have left me and my nerves are calm and steady so that I sleep peacefully every night and get up feeling fine and my housework is not a bit of trouble."

Tanlac is sold in Wayne by H. J. Naber, in Carroll by L. R. King, and in Winslow by E. C. Molzaga—ads.

Sectional Taxation.—New York World.—Announcement is made from Washington that the sections of the United States which pay 81 per cent of the taxes will have a majority of the Sixty-seventh congress. Just what that implies we do not know, but it is a fair inference that in spite of the majority of the tax-scholarship states, 81 per cent of the taxes will continue to be paid by the states for the good reason that they have the wealth from which taxes are collected.
