Darling, Known Here, Talks at Randolph

Randolph Times: Last Thursday night Darling of Chicago City, lecturer, business man and community builder, gave his second lecture in Randolph. He had a fairly good success, but not so large as it should be, had reads no doubt having a bearing on the matter. Yet there were a number of the live ones in from the country and loved the address.

The lecturer stated that he had no set speech - he just talked and might repeat some of the things he had said in his previous visit. This proved to be the case, but it was worth the repetition, and was new to many of those present.

Mr. Darling called attention to the spiritual, educational, social life of a community, and declared that the content of sentiment, or community spirit, was what the leaders in each community made it. In places where the schools were supported strongly by the people, and a lively interest in student activities, then there was a good school and the educational spirit. They placed their feet on a virtuous circle, or the other way was law enforcement and loose morals; either of these might make a community happy and well behaved.

He said towns were made for the primary purpose of merchandise. The towns to furnish a market, for the people, and a lively interest in the country. Take away the town and its markets and merchandise and the land is useless. Take away the land and the town would die, and die each has a place. The town is essential to the trade of its territory. The town people pay taxes for W. Blecke, Wayne, to build homes, libraries, public buildings, boost for better highways and reach the same ends for the public good. While the mail order concern is relieved of this expense yet asks cash for goods the buyer can't see. The need for technical home merchant was to some extent to blame for the trade enjoyed by the mail order concern, and gave illustrations to prove his point. By adopting the same methods the home man can meet mail order concern prices, quality of goods considered. The home buyer allows his money to remain in the community where it was created.

Mr. Darling made a strong plea for those things that will make this community a place where better boys and girls may be reared to become better and more useful citizens of the U. S. A.

Mr. Darling was liberal and broad in his views on amusements, but said that the supervised recreations was the approved way in which to handle many amusements and recreations to lift them from the questionable class.

He was strong for a rest room, for club of 700 members, for children's play ground, for a gymnasium, all conducted by the public and for the public. He advocated the community nurse, the medical examination of school children and other things calculated to improve health and civic cleanliness.

Income Tax Facts.
Salaries paid to state employees including also employees of a town, county, or hamlet, are exempt from taxation. Thousands of persons engaged in business for themselves as employees in private business receive such additional compensation. A state employee may be elected mayor of the town.

Such service should be entered on his income tax return, but it is not taxable.

State employees, however, must file.

consider carefully their income from all other sources. If, excluding the amounts paid them by the state, it equals or exceeds $1,000 or $2,000, according to their marital status, a return of income must be filed and the tax paid on net income in excess of those amounts.

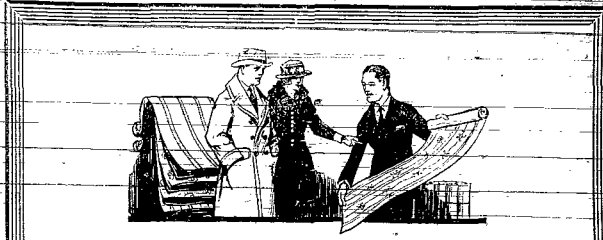

The return must be sworn to before a notary or other person authorized to administer an oath. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return or in four equal installments, due on or before March 15, June 15, September 15, and December 15, 1921. vice is attached to the grain delivery spout, and tests indicate that it removes approximately one-third of what ordinarily is classed as dockage. The use of this device will enable farmers to keep for feed a part of the seeds an inferior foreign material ordinarily hauled to the elevator and lost to the producer; it also improves the quality of grain by removing from it a large part of the smut dust and objectionable foreign material. A recleaner, for attachment to the deck of thrashing machines, also designed, gives promise of being efficient, it is said.

Plan to Exhibit Stock.
Two purchased livestock associations were organized last year in Steuben county, Ind., according to a report received from County Agent T. A. Parker by the United States department of agriculture. The associations plan to make exhibits at the county fair to stimulate interest in well bred animals, and then conduct cooperative public sales. One association is composed of Duroe and the other of Hampshire breeders. One breeder of Chester White hogs, in order to establish some of the boys, has given five excellent gilts to as many boys, with the understanding that they will return to him any gilts he may choose from the first litter.

Agriculture Notes

To Eradicate Cholera.
A county free from hog cholera this year is the goal to which swine breeders in Steuben county, Ind., are working under the guidance of the local county agent and the district veterinarian of the United States department of agriculture. As a result of a persistent campaign for the control of cholera and strict organized effort to eradicate it, there has been a remarkable decrease in the disease in the county during the past few years. In 1917 the loss from cholera in the county, according to the county agent, was about $10,000. In 1918 it was a little less than $5,000, and in 1919 it was about the same. In 1920, however, only three cases occurred in the county, which leads the swine breeders to believe that if their efforts to control the disease are continued cholera can be practically eradicated.

Runts in Live Stock.
More than 800 replies have been received from practicing stock breeders and owners in response to a questionnaire sent out by United States department of agriculture in an effort to determine the cause and possible means of preventing runts in live stock. The large number of replies, department specialists say, indicates the interest which stock raising has in this subject. Some of the questions asked in the questionnaire are: "From your experience, in what classes of live stock do the most runts appear (cattle, hogs, sheep, etc.)?" "In what stage of an animal's development does runtiness appear chiefly?" "In your experience, what are the most practical methods of preventing runts?" "Does it pay to raise runts, and under what conditions to what extent would your financial returns from live stock be increased if you had no runts?" The replies thus far received show that inferior breeding and poor feeding are jointly responsible for nearly two-thirds of the runts among live stock, and indicate that at least 7 per cent of farm, live stock is commonly in the runt class. Detailed data concerning causes, runtimes, losses, financial losses caused by runt stock, methods of prevention, when it pays and when it does not pay to raise runts are being prepared by the department for distribution to the public.

It is easy to drift with the current but it is not so easy to row up stream. The latter is what we are now doing.

The number of marriages in America will now be reduced, because a Missouriian who had a record of eleven wives, but out of the market having just died at the age of 79. Seven of his wives died, and four were divorced. In his matrimonial specialty, he considered himself his seventh wife his greatest mistake, because she was only 19 while he was 68.

Four of the six weeks during which the groundhog is supposed to remain in its subterranean abode after its shadow, have passed, and thus far there would seem no good reason why the animal should not have staid out enjoying warm weather. It is not more than being banked up in an underground chamber in anticipation of snow and cold.

The selection of Charles E. Hughes to the post of premier in the Harding cabinet—the first cabinet appointment to be officially announced—meets universal approval. No stronger aid to the incoming administration could have been named. Mr. Hughes is familiar with both national and international affairs, and he has high and practical ideas of statesmanship. President-elect Harding has reflected judgment that augurs well for the future.

Blizzards seem to have transferred headquarters from the middle west to the far east. The storm there Saturday and Sunday was not only the worst of the season in that region in many years. While Nebraska was blizzarding in almost never sunning Monday, New York inhabitants were digging their noses under the ten feet high. A sixty-eight mile gale distributed the snow. Time was when spectators looked with a good deal of pity on Nebraska on account of the blizzards which raged here at frequent intervals. If Nebraska ever had a patron on the blizzard business, the patent has apparently expired.

The churches are working hard to regain ground "lost" during the four-year war period and they are making good headway. More than ever they are employing social functions to arouse interest, and are urging the interest which might renewed spirit and energy. Last year saw large growth. Like every thing else, the church is growing.

CHAMP CORN GROWER OF KENTUCKY

the need of reconstruction and religious dogmas have largely given way to practical truths and practical christianity. Reconstructed, the church promises to be a greater power for civilization and correct living than ever before.

Bixby of the Lincoln Journal thinks we should cancel war loans because of high-handed profligating, and that we "harvested in excess profits more than the total amount now due from the allies." But comparatively few engaged in this profligating business. Should the majority be punished for the sins of the few? Why not force the profiteers to "fork over" from their gains enough to relieve the rest of mankind? Why not distribute war obligations fairly among planters, profiteers and materially relieve the majority who fought and toiled and skimped during the long struggle?

A citizen writing his local paper in a Nebraska town advises people of the community to spend their money at home rather than donate it to the "starving children of China." It is almost inconceivable that in Nebraska may be found an individual whose sympathies are so dead that he would begrudge contributions to starving children anywhere. If people in any Nebraska community are starving or freezing, the fact should be made known and aid immediately extended. If not, such community can do something to help assuage the hunger of little ones in other less fortunate parts of the world. Whether a child is white or yellow, black or red, whether he lives in America or the jungles of Borneo, he should not be allowed to starve if any human agency can prevent it.

Identifies Car. Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 22.—Jennie Shaver, student nurse, tonight identified the car in which she was kidnaped. No arrests have been made as yet. The owner of the car stated the machine was not out of the garage. The car was used on a taxi-bab today for the conviction of the men who assaulted the girl.

NORTHWEST WAKEFIELD

Carl Nelson visited friends in this community last week. Several from this way were shopping in Sioux City Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy spent Wednesday at Ernest Packery's. Sanford Bartlett of Omaha visited a few days at the Will Mathieson home. Gus M. Johnson went to Laurel on Wednesday last to attend a Masonic banquet. Joel Dahlgren shipped cattle to Omaha the first of the week. He accompanied the shipment. Misses Nelye and Mamie Oak went to Oakland on Thursday to visit at the Philip Johnson home. Mrs. Emil Miller went to Lyons on Tuesday last for a visit with home folks. Mr. Miller was done on Saturday to spend the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dawes of Springfield, S. D., visited at the home of the former's cousin, Mrs. W. C. Ring, the first of the week. They are on their honeymoon trip and en route home from a visit with Iowa relatives. About thirty young people gathered at the home of Albert and Marie Fredericksen Tuesday evening last and gave them a real surprise. The evening was spent in music and games, after which all enjoyed cake, coffee, and rusks. Those present report a splendid time.

Farmers' Union Entertains. The Park Hill Farmers' union entertained at the Chelevine home on Wednesday evening of last week where a reception was held for the new members who joined recently. The evening was spent in music and visiting. A luncheon was served. About seventy were present and a splendid time is the report.

Spring Suits

of coveted distinction that are within the range of every woman's purse

Within the range of $28.00 to $75.00 will be found women's and misses' suits which are revelations today in the evolution of values. Though we looked for some price drops we scarcely hoped for these bottom levels this spring.

You will find tremendous price-contrasts with recent seasons and you will find, at prices comparable with the easy times preceding the great war, a return to really fine fabrics and to unstinted latitude in designing.

We are very proud of our selections, which represent the best products of the most dependable makers—among them such modest great houses as The Landseman-Hirschheimer Co., who have never labeled their garments.

You will find more—more genuinely stylish, nor exhibiting better workmanship, anywhere in the land. What you buy here may be worn anywhere with every assurance of one's being correct to a detail.

Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac

G. W. Logan, Peabody, Kansas

"Tanlac has completely restored my health and I feel finer than any year," was the straightforward statement made recently by Mr. George W. Logan of Peabody, Kan., one of the most prominent stockdealers in the middle west. "Has not only made a new man of me but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am telling all of my friends about Tanlac but they can see for themselves what it has done in my case. "When I began taking Tanlac I was in an awfully run-down condition. I was away off in weight, felt weak and nervous all of the time and couldn't take any interest in my work or anything else. My main trouble was indigestion. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. It took just six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite—everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect. My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if anyone doubts it, just tell them to write me one.

Tanlac is sold in Wayne by H. J. Felber, in Carroll by B. C. McIntyre—in Winslow by B. C. McIntyre.—adv

when burdened down by care; the smile may be a ghostly thing, but still you'll find it there. I've smiled when joints seemed all a-fire, with fierce rheumatic pain; I've smiled when I must change a tire in darkness, mud and rain. I've smiled when sales sold me stock in mines that didn't pay, and when I slid around a block, upon a slippery day. I've smiled beneath mistreatment's whistles and raised no distrustful eyebrow when I pay my income tax. I don't attempt a grin. There is a time to preach and dance; it's when angels cry—when there's a time to whoop and prance, and exult and be gay; but he is in discretion, or else he's full of spite, who smokes up his pipe, and wears a cheer-up smile. His smile may reach from ear to ear, it even may be twins, but none can feel he is sincere, that he means it, he grins. "There's some fell purpose in his mirth," beholders will agree; "for no white man upon the earth can pay this tax with glee. The man who would so hard to get, in pain defying words, our Uncle Samuel will get—and show it—on the black." And so no man of purpose, right or wrong, who earns the bones, can pay that tax without a sigh, without a brace of groans."

The Prison.
We have to punish those who fail to walk the narrow way, for law and order must prevail, or there's the devil to pay; and so we put leeches in jail, for stealing babies of men. And we've been jailing our people through all the years, since Adam braved the pesky flies from off his brimmed steers—and often times, debts must rise when here appears. We've jailed such multitudes of men, for long or shorter spells, we've sent so many to the pen and locked them in their cells; if jail improved the world, why, then, it should be wearing bells. And every time we jail a skunk for swiping babies of hark, we let some greater scoundrel unshackled go his way to bear his plunder in a crate, or haul it in a drag. The prison is a beastly place that reeks of nameless crime, and he is far from heaven's grace, who's put it, doing time, and bitter lines are on his face, and in his heart is crime. Revenge on those who put him there, is what he thinks of most, the jurist in his padded chair, the stalled legal host; his soul is cankerous in despair, and he'll never get a dose. Some day the old world must invent a better kind of pen that will not make the erring pet go forth to rot; for if there is a punishment for beasts, and not for men.

Marriage.
I had a little while and nice and happy there, and my wife and niece and auntie, and grandpa in her chair. I did not owe a thing upon that small abode, no creditors came drilling to do me, up the road. And I was always saving against the day of rain, and all the time behaving like some one safe and sane. My aunt, whose name was Alice, was dippy as could be; she said a costly palace was none too good for me. And grandpa, in his sweater, backed Aunt—and said, "Tut, tut! You should have something better—why live in this punk hut?" My niece, indeed, their kicking, and nagged all day and back, for she was tired of sticking in such a tawdry shack. With women these emphatic what can a poor man do? At last they got me rattled, and all my coin I drew; I mortgaged and I borrowed and gave a costly home, and ever since the sorrow and care has creased my brow.

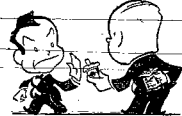

Now the village plumber who plied his art with skill; and at my house each corner is really cut with a bill. I owe the gifted painter, whose language freely flows, and smokier and quainter, that language daily grows. I owe the piece of furniture no joiner for his beams, and I can hear their clangor at midnight, in my dreams. They all are run and rattle, and I dissolve in tears when thinking of the shanty that knew my younger years.

Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of that pain and momentary misery with Pills. Mary Wayne—people have used them and know how effective they are. Ask your neighbor! Here's a Wayne case:
Mrs. H. Kellogg, says: "I haven't needed Doan's Kidney Pills for several years. I was subject to frequent attacks of kidney disorder and I found Doan's Kidney Pills to be just what I needed. When troubled that way I suffered with a nagging ache in my back and found it difficult to move around, get up or down or lift anything because of the sharp twinges it caused. I was feeling depressed and nervous. Doan's Kidney Pills always gave me fine relief and I am glad to endorse them." (Statement given July 17, 1916).

On May 29, Mrs. N. Kellogg added: "Since using and recommending Doan's Kidney Pills several years ago, I haven't had a kidney trouble, my cure being a lasting one. I will keep a box of Doan's in my house and take a few at different times as a preventative against any return of the old trouble."

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher.

Days of Stress.
Through weary years of war we fought, our hearts oppressed by doubt and care, for every dismal morning brought some tale of bloodshed and despair, while blood-drenched armies toiled and fought the endless battles "over there." All through the war we saved and pinched, tried self-denial till it hurt that Kaiser Wilhelm might be cinched and dumped, defeated, in the dirt; we thought that fellow should be lynched who bought himself a Sunday shirt. And when the guns at last were still and peace on earth were sword and lance, and warriors no longer smiled across the sodden fields of France, the bosoms of the boys were filled with thoughts of pomp and circumstance. For we had lived like hermits gray, and hermits have a beastly time; they live on turnips, peas and hay, and think a squirrel tail a thing, and so we rose and threw away the franc, the kopeck and the dime. And now this later phase is spent, and anxiety resumes her throne, and every wise and thoughtful gent reverses the doubloon and the bone, and to the bank he takes a cent, to start a bonnie of his own. Released from wartime's doubt and dread and having lived reaction down, oh, there are better days ahead for every delinquent in town; so let us walk with sprightly tread, and spring the smile and dump the frown.

Simplicity.
Our thoughtful president-elect has wisdom in him by the mile; he doesn't think it quite correct, in times like these, to put on stiffs to Washington he goes to cinch the presidential chair, he wants no costly furbelows, no bounding swishing in his train, a common, corn-fed man. At Marion where I abide, I do not travel on a float, or in a circus wagon ride to go forth to seek my goat. I am no Caesar, I'm no king, I do not head a captive train, and I won't ride around by line, upon a gaudy, gilded wain. I do not hail with snobish glee the plans that hint of pomp and state; my filver's good enough for me—three cylinders are hitting great. To Washington etsons I'll track, and march along the storied street, a grin upon my face, and my back, old-fashioned getters on my feet. I'll wear my long jimmie sweater coat, the same I wore when I was new; I will not ride upon a float, or have punk garlands on my head. And over all the smiling land the voters say, "He's safe and sane! His sentiments are fine and grand! There are no cinchings in his brain!" For what the country wants and needs is thrift in every form and guise; economy! the nation pleads for that with wet and woody eyes.

The Money Files.
The money goes in many ways, for things we really do not need, an eight-day clock, a pair of staves, a package of geranium seed. The girl next door has bought a hat that shuts out all the fairest views my daughter Julia weeps thereat and says she'll have to have one too. My son Augustus, comes from school and says that Boggs boy has a bike, and he wants one that he can tot in triumph up and down the pike. My aunt remarks that Mrs. Jones has bought a puddle just from Perth, and she must have a hundred bones to buy a pup of equal worth. We watch the neighbors eagle-eyed, miles away, with jealous pride, and if they walk in pomp and mife, we surely shall not lag behind. And so the money goes for fells and curleups and furbelows, and when I come to pay the bills, in riveting the droll flows. If I were living in a hole, with neighbors eagle-eyed, miles away, might be doing passing well. But then some other hermit scot might come and disturb my plan, and I'd go broke, I have no doubt, to make him seem an also ran.

The Hardest Test.

Cedar County Having Warm Legal Contest

Harrington, Neb., Feb. 22.—One of the hottest political wars which has existed in northeast Nebraska in many years is now holding the interest and attention of residents of Cedar county, where the board of county commissioners has instructed County Attorney Millard to start a mandamus action against County Treasurer F. O. Robinson, who has refused to honor a warrant, issued by the commissioners, instructing him to transfer $45,000, from a special bridge fund to the general fund of the county. It is charged the money is lying in banks drawing only 2 per cent interest, while the county has thousands of dollars of warrants outstanding, on which 7 per cent is being paid.

In 1918 the county bridges and roads suffered from heavy rains and storms and many thousands of dollars were drawn from the general fund for their repair. A special tax was levied and in 1919 over $45,000 was collected for this special bridge fund. The commissioners now seek to transfer this fund to the general fund which funds were taken to make the emergency repairs.

Money in People's, He Holds.
Treasurer Robinson contends that the money was raised by a levy over and above the levy permitted by law and that the money therefore belongs to the taxpayers. While this might technically be true the commissioners point out that the repairs had to be made and money had to be spent for that purpose and that good business required immediate action and that the taxpayers would have to pay the bill in some other way if this particular fund is not used. The fund was collected from all taxpayers and none filed a protest when payment was made.

Many Conferences Held.
Many conferences have been held in an effort to avoid an open rupture and to reach an agreement. Since the commissioners adopted a resolution ordering the county attorney to start mandamus action in the district court to compel Treasurer Robinson to make the transfer. So many warrants are outstanding that the various funds have been exhausted and the county is now unable to allow warrants, which bear interest, even though they cannot be cashed. Holders of these warrants and those who hold bills against the county hoping that action will be taken to secure the transfer of the fund in order that the county will be able to pay its bills.

District court sits here Feb. 28 and it is expected that some action will be taken at that time.

Work on New Capital To Start This Year

Lincoln, Feb. 21.—Final plans for the construction of Nebraska's new $5,000,000 capital will be completed towards the latter part of 1921. Gov. S. R. McKelvie informed members of the legislature today in a special report to that body. The governor is chairman of the capital commission.

By the time contracts have been awarded and work is ready to start, the commission is confident that building costs will have declined sufficiently to work a saving of $2,000,000 to the taxpayers of the state, the governor states, over the peak prices paid in 1921.

Contracts for the work will be let just as soon as the final plans have been prepared and sufficient money has accumulated from the capitol levy to sweep a start in the actual construction of the building. The governor estimates that this will be late in 1921, or at the opening of the building season in 1922. The commission chairman says that it was deemed wise to proceed slowly with the work of building a new state capitol and the results so far have justified the course followed by the commission.

The report goes into detail of the competition whereby Architect Goodhue of New York city finally was awarded the contract for furnishing the plans and supervising the building of the new capitol. Final arrangements of floor space have been agreed upon and the architect has started the work of drafting the final plans for the building, the governor states.

The News Culled From the Herald Exchanges

Station county people appear to have been so busy with the cause of the Near East Relief which fund was recently started in that county. Almost $145 in money has been collected and corn has been donated to the amount of 7,420 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Nelson of Wausau, who had visited in California and other western states since December 16, returned here last week after having visited various places of interest. Among other items, Mr. Nelson reports that California land is selling all the way from $75 to $1,500 an acre, that oranges command a price of 1 cent a dozen, that desirable rooms can be had for $1.50 a day in hotels and that a well-improved farm sold recently in California for $20,000 an acre.

Last night "went over the top" when a sum of $1,000 was raised for the Hoover European relief fund by the auction of Feb. 22. A short program was given after which a condensed moving picture show concluded the drive.

John Rose, a farm-hand who has been employed in the vicinity of Newcastle and surrounding towns for the past several years, was arrested Wednesday noon by Sheriff Maskeil on a charge of assault on the person of Geo. Hibbe. The man fled toward Wynot, and after searches had been instituted at various railway stations on the Wynot branch, a telephone message located him at Newcastle, where Sheriff Maskeil was placed under arrest. Sheriff Maskeil went to Newcastle immediately, preparatory to taking him to Harrington, where it is said graver charges await him. Some doubt as to the sanity of the man has been expressed.

A new modern school building was dedicated on Wednesday, Feb. 2, in district 57 in the vicinity of Newcastle. A program was given with a dedicatory speech by Rev. Holman and a history of the school from its beginning until the present time were given. Features of the evening's entertainment. The building, a stucco structure 40 by 32 feet, is furnished throughout in oak, and, besides the regular classroom, there is a library and reading room, frost-proof closet for the children's lunch, basement, kitchenette with a serving window, score room and a play room which may be used for a community recreation room, if so desired. The building shows in a modern method of heating. Patrons of the school feel great pride in the improvements which have been made in their district the last few years.

The Father and Son banquet of the Lutheran church at the G. A. R. hall at Tekamah, February 10, boasted a large attendance, a large number having been present from the country. The banquet was served by the ladies of the Lutheran church. G. E. Erickson acted as master of ceremonies, and after a program of impromptu responses and musical numbers, Dr. E. E. Tauffer, president of Midland College, Fremont, delivered a speech, in which he told of the relation which should exist between father and son. Those who attended believe the meeting to have been one which will pave the way for united effort and interest in the welfare of the youth of the community.

The trophies of a wolf hunt held southwest of Pierce recently, netted the contestants three wolves and a number of jack rabbits. Another hunt has been planned to take place in the near future.

In the Thurston county district court which opened Monday of last week, the jury found Charles Kelsey guilty of assault with intent to inflict bodily injury upon Clyde Dwyer, who had his jaw broken in five places on Sept. 11, 1920. He had been in the St. Joseph's hospital at Sioux City until about two weeks ago. It was found necessary to wire the broken member together. The penalty for the act is from one to five years in the state penitentiary.

The "Watch-Times" resumed publication again Monday, February 11, after having been discontinued for a period of nine months. The former editor, Gleason A. Dudley, assisted by Delia I. Borden of Burdard, believe they can bring the Times up to its former standard. The Bloomfield Dramatic club successfully presented "And Home Came Ted" at the opera house on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of last week. The proceeds were turned over to the local high school to be used for various purposes of improvement in Missouri.

County Superintendent of Schools Emma Ekwmarin, of Harrington, left Wednesday, Feb. 23, on a business trip to the Cedar county Red Cross at the convention being held at Chicago, via New York, Philadelphia and Buffalo and witness the inauguration of President-elect Harding. Besides this, she will attend the National Educational association meeting at Atlantic City February 26 to March 3.

Legislature Settles Down to Earnest Work

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 21.—The galleries of the fortieth session of the Nebraska legislature are over. During the last week, the seventh of the session, has come the first realization that after all, legislation is a serious business in which is involved a good deal of sweat of the legislative brow and the work has begun.

Work is speeding up. The committee have out practically as many bills during the last week as they turned out during the six weeks before. In the last week in the house forty-eight bills were considered to legislative committees and ninety-three were turned out on the house floor. In the preceding six weeks fifty-one bills were killed, and 101 reported out. The total now out of committees are 259, of which ninety-nine were killed and 104 given a lease of life.

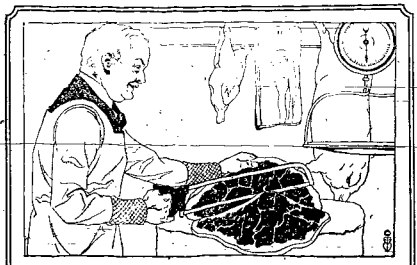

There are 617 bills on the house file, so that just about half of them are now out of committee. In the senate there are there only just about half as many bills, the general average is very nearly the same.

Time to Adjourn Nearing. But heavy days are coming. The legislature just during the last week began to realize that the time is drawing near when the call will come to go home. The general file of both house and senate is plugged with bills that must be thrashed out, renials and amendments in the committee of the whole. There were 116 bills on the house general file Saturday—over a week's work. The appropriation bills are coming. The finance committee expects to place them before the house this week. They lack precedence over everything and it is safe to say that it will require a good deal of compromising before they will be able to agree on the extent to which they shall delve into the tax payers' pockets for the next two years.

A stiff fight over the child welfare project is expected. There are fifty-two bills on this subject.

The "Crusad" Deadlock. Yankin, S. D. District Attorney. The house wants to restrict immigration by one formula and the senate by another, both of them good, but so there probably won't be any immigrant restriction this session.

Has a Cat's Longevity. Albany Journal: Latest death of jazz is reported from England. It has have six or seven lives left.

Man Instantly Killed By Passenger Train

West Point, Neb., Feb. 21.—Adolph Vossen, who lives on a farm near here, was killed by the 8:15 this morning, when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by Chicago and Northwestern passenger train No. 2 on the crossing four and one-half miles west of here.

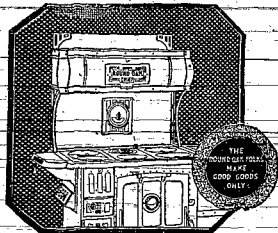

Mr. Vossen was a bout 42 years old and had recently moved here from Missouri. It is understood that he is married and an effort is being made to communicate with his family in Missouri.

It was the belief here that negligence on the part of Mr. Vossen caused the accident as there is no obstruction which would prevent him from seeing an approaching train.

The train was traveling about forty miles an hour when it hit the automobile. It stopped and brought the dead man to West Point.

HAS MADE PRESIDENTS SMILE FOR 26 YEARS

Plays the president has been one of the most joyful duties of the woman for the last 26 years. Her name is Katherine Shoa, an employe of the Treasury Department at Washington, who each month delivers in person at the White House a check of $250.00 the president's pay for 30 days. She is here shown with her last check for Woodrow Wilson. Next month it will be made out to Warren G. Harding. The yearly salary of the president is $75,000.

Overlooked. The retail price of sugar seems to have overlooked the reduction of the raw product to 4 cents a pound.

In which Old Glory not only triumphed on land but brought low many a Britain's flag on the high seas. Thus, through her courage and perseverance, she baffled the "Mistress of the Sea."

Following the War of 1812, was the sea with Alrich during which Old Glory was determined not to pay tribute to a band of pirates. Then, after an intermission of thirty years, she engaged, with Mexico on the Rio Grande. Again Old Glory waved serenely over the mountains and valleys of our great country.

After a long-enjoyed era of good feeling the conflict between kinsmen began, arising over the slave question. After many bloody and hard fought battles, the loss of the bravest in the land, and the expenditure of millions of dollars, the war ended in the spring of 1865.

The following years were spent in reorganization and the two brothers, the North and the South, worked side by side for the protection of the Stars and Stripes.

In 1896 the Spanish-American war broke out. This was a short but decisive war and again the Star Spangled Banner flouted its triumph with the Cubans ever faithful to the flag that established her freedom. Next came the period during which the wonderful resources of our country were discovered. Inventions, expeditions and discoveries were contemplated. These prepared us for our last and probably the most disastrous war—the World War.

During this last struggle, our flag unfurled beside the emblems of the allies against the iron forces of Germany.

And still Old Glory floats triumphantly o'er the "land of the free and the home of the brave."

Age No Hindrance to Plucky Lincoln Woman

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 22.—Mrs. Ada Carroll Wortman, at the age of 75, has accomplished what most women of her experience and years are willing to leave for their daughters to learn.

Most women after having reared seven or eight children and having performed all the duties of a farmer's wife for most of their lives are ready to settle down and take life easy, if possible. Not so with Mrs. Wortman. Mrs. Wortman moved to Lincoln from the farm a little more than a year ago. Since coming here she has become an expert swimmer, an enthusiastic gymnasium student, a folk dancer, a writer and editor, social worker and professional woman of no mean ability.

"I've all because I had the inclination and pep to get young again," says Mrs. Wortman, who boastfully admits she is also the grandmother to seven children.

After considerable persuasion, Mrs. Wortman willingly told her story "in the hopes that it will arouse from the content of our age some of the other grandmothers of the country who are prone to sit and let age take its course."

Mrs. Wortman married when 18 years of age. During the first year of her marriage to O. J. Wortman they moved to farm. As Mrs. Wortman never acquired wealth, Mrs. Wortman acquired added responsibilities. At the age of 34 she was the mother of seven children.

Saw Her Opportunity. When past 50 years Mrs. Wortman looked into the future and saw chance to realize her ambitions of coming to the city and trying her hand at writing. A year ago last June, after five or her children had married, a sixth child was born, she being but one son, Gifford, aged 17, left at home, she packed up and moved to Lincoln.

She began writing stories about country life for the agricultural magazine. Most of her stories related to the affairs of farm women. In her own words she has been through the mill herself and knew every problem the farmer's wife has to deal with.

Her first stories attracted the attention of the publisher of an Iowa journal, who appointed her editor of the "home department" of his agricultural magazine. She is trying her hand at writing fiction and has been successful in selling a few stories of this sort. Occasionally she has sold stories to the better known national publications.

Physical Culture Enthusiast. Shortly before coming to Lincoln Mrs. Wortman became interested in physical culture and dieting. She reduced her weight from 200 to 170 pounds, and once, just to see if she could, she trained down to 140 pounds. "Training down to 140 pounds," she says, "caused my children to say I was working too hard, so I quickly regained 30 pounds and they let me alone."

Instead of eating breakfast, Mrs. Wortman goes through a number of carefully prescribed exercises every morning. "Two meals a day are enough for any one," she says. "One meal is enough for most."

Mrs. Wortman is at the gymnasium at the local Y. M. C. A. With in the last year she has learned to "kick the ball," has successfully swung on trapeze bars and rings, and jump the "horse." After an hour of this she joins the class in a few minutes of folk dancing.

As regularly as Monday night comes she visits the swimming pool at the local high school. During the last year she has learned to swim and dive. She has mastered several good strokes and swims or floats on her back with

IS YOUR BUSINESS STATIONERY DISTINCTIVE?

Does your business stationery say to your customer, "I am substantial and reliable," or does it give him a negative, false impression of you? Golden opportunities to reinforce prices are often sacrificed for the saving of a few pennies in printing. Probably no money saving was effected.

Every letterhead, envelope and billhead does more than carry the message itself—it conveys an impression to the one who receives it. Don't dress your fairy in rags. Make it distinctive.

We are specialists and qualified to supply the nucleus of favorable impressions—excellent and appropriate business stationery, properly printed. We quote fair prices—the same to everybody—from the Franklin Printing Price List which stands for highest quality in printing at a just price.

Attempt Robbery of Bank. Emerson, Neb., Feb. 23.—An attempt was made to rob the First National bank here at an early hour this morning, but City Marshal Stevens discovered the men as they were attempting to break into the basement of the building and sent a volley of shots after them as they ran east out of the city to where it is believed they had a waiting automobile.

There were three men in the party sighted by Marshal Stevens. It is believed they were from Sioux City but no trace of them was secured after they left here, though authorities in the towns between here and Sioux City were notified to be on the lookout for them.

Miss Thelma Sulfermoss of the Herald staff, is editor of this department, and will visit Wakefield every Tuesday.

Minor, shipped hogs to Sioux City last Tuesday. He returned Wednesday. Buy that rug you have been waiting to buy now at Judson's, Wayne.

Miss Florence Ekeroth left Tuesday afternoon for Lincoln, where she will take up the study of music.

Miss Ruth Sackerson who spent the past week with friends in Wayne returned to her home in Wakefield Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Francis Stafford and baby concluded their week's visit with the former's sister, Mrs. Harry Carl, and returned to their home in the Pendevicinity Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. C. J. A. Larson entertained twelve young ladies at her home last Thursday evening. The time was spent playing bachelorette. Refreshments served by the hostess concluded the evening.

Miss Mabel Hinds, a teacher in a rural school south of town, took advantage of a two weeks' vacation created by smallpox in her district, and visited school Tuesday afternoon.

The Chattahoochee campers held a slumber party last Friday night at the home of their leader, Mrs. Louis Leuck. Edibles were served at midnight. Breakfast was de of the last half, the teams kept ahead of their opponents, but the final blow of the whistle showed the ball once located on the side of the Randolph players.

After the hard-fought contest, a sensation was indicated among the players. The boys appreciated the hospitality of their opponents very much.

Hi-Y Organized.
O. H. Diehl, state Hi-Y secretary, was in Wakefield last Tuesday. During his presence in the city, a Hi-Y club was organized, with the result that every boy in the high school pledged himself to membership.

The following officers were elected: Harry Swanson, president; Peter Orr, vice president; Melvin Collins, secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the club is the creation, maintenance and extension of high Christian character for the best interests of the school and community. Regular meetings will be held, though the time has not yet been definitely decided.

Public Program Tuesday.
The entire school gave a program Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Wakefield auditorium before a large audience in connection with Washington's birthday. The program was given under the direction of Mrs. O. W. Crabtree of Wayne, and was triumphant success.

The following program was given:
"Flowers of the Field"—Fourth and Fifth Grades.
"The Lost Chord"—Girls' Glee Club.
"Ten Little Indians"—First Grade.
"Soldier Boy"—We are Marching—Second Grade.
"Farmer Song"—Fifth Grade.

American Legion Play.
The American Legion will present "Charlie's Aunt" at the city auditorium Friday evening, March 11. The ten characters, all members of the play and assume the following roles: Colonel Sir Francis Chesney—H. A. Bowman
Stephen Spangue—Luther Johnson
Jack Chesney—Harry Carl
Charles Wykeham Bert Scheffington Lord Fancourt Babberly—Carl Stulenberg
Brasset (butler)—Carl Stulenberg
Donna Lucia Dalvaider—Kitty Verdian
Alvin Fredrickson
Kitty Verdian—Milton Horn
Ella Spettigue—Albert Berg
Ellis Delahay
The play, a three-act, three scene, farce, will be coached by Miss Kathleen Walsh of Sioux City the week before final rehearsal. The scene of the play is laid at Oxford university. The members of the legion are having the scenery painted by one of the local artists, and they say the play—more elaborate than the one put on last year. Following is a short synopsis of each act.

Act I.—Scene is laid in Jack's room at college. A group of college men, all of them in love, but financially embarrassed are engaged in a conversation as to how best to insert letters to the objects of their adoration.

Act II.—Scene is laid in the garden outside Jack's room—Donna Lucia Dalvaider, Jack's aunt, from Brazil, is expected at any moment until the message telling of a sudden delay disappoints all, as Jack's father has been duped into making love to the wealthy Donna. An aunt, Donna No. 2, is improvised, is proposed to by the unsuspecting father, and accepted.

Act III.—Scene is laid in the drawing room of the Spettigue home. The plans of all end satisfactorily.

We have had several requests for another high school play instead of the minstrel as at first planned. Because of these special requests we have decided to put on the play "Believe Me, Xantippe," a most amusing farce comedy, in four acts. This was in New York with John Barrymore in the chief role. The books have been ordered and parts will be cast and practice begun as soon as possible.

Our basketball boys played an excellent game at Emerson last Thursday night. Though we were defeated, the Winside boys were able to throw a scare into their opponents in the first half, held throughout the game. At the end of the first eight minutes the score was Winside 4, Emerson 0. The Emerson team saw that they had to play real basketball in order to win and were able to make the final score 23 to 11. The boys certainly played excellent ball, considering their handicaps. The team will enter the district tournament at Wayne, March 4 and 5.

Sioux City Journal: The annual report of the federal reserve board just made public, shows unmistakable signs of business improvement, while conditions in general throughout the country point to distinct betterment in many directions after March 4. While the people of the United States have thought themselves rather badly off, the report points out that we have been far better off, economically and financially, than other countries. Our foreign trade has been relatively lower than other countries, and our exports declines less drastic.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Holt entertained about fifty friends at their home last evening of seven Thursday evening. The evening was spent in dancing. Mrs. Holt served lunch.

We have had a general business depression, but there has been no panic. We have had a crisis, but there has been no floundering around without reason. We understand that we were in for from the first. There had to be readjustment and there was an effort to meet the situation to the fullest extent. As a result our depression in business has not been extreme. The volume of unemployment is singularly small in comparison with those still at work. In fact, the resumption of employment has come about already. The work market in other direction even if it still is moving very slowly.

That will gain momentum is indicated by reports of different industries. In the textile trades improvement is marked and re-employment has proceeded to a point where production is now made and will be running at full capacity by summer. The steel trade is furnishing some anxiety now, but this is regarded as a temporary period. Prices and wages have been cut by the independents, who succeeded in stimulating business somewhat, but not to the extent expected. The United States steel corporation meanwhile has held steadily to its policy and reduced neither prices nor wages. Most of its plants are operating 80 per cent of capacity, while many independents have closed down, some still retaining 25 per cent of their normal output.

If life is a snap for you, you aren't doing much worth while.

Young people don't think very seriously about marriage until after marriage.

Albert Armstrong: "It's hard to get 'em' work out of a boy when he reaches the age when he polishes the heels as well as the front parts of his shoes."

"You're as slow as a load in a tar barrel" says an employer to an employee today.

"Too many men take the stand that 'original sin' is a good excuse for raising hell."

Elder Burbank: "The simple life is what the people live after the company has gone."

"A good cook demands as many compliments for art as does a pretty woman for her appearance."

"A big man is one so busy with important matters that he doesn't pay any attention to your narrow-minded insults and criticisms."

Sit down, and think it over, and you will decide that you trespass on the rights of others as much as they intrude on your rights."

The man who starts out by saying, "I'm not a socialist," will pin a few flowers on the lapel of his coat before he finishes his statement."

In many communities in Alaska, the man who cut out the most is regarded as the most accomplished man, and there seems to be a disposition with some to force that rule on this country."

Value of Clarity.
Pittsburgh Dispatch: "There is one excellent point about Gen. Dawes' testimony; it is easy to understand what he means."

Death of Lillian Isaac.
 Lillian Estella Isaac was born Jan. 24, 1894, at Minden, Ia., and died Feb. 19, 1921, aged 27 years, 12 days. She was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Isaac. The family moved from Minden, Ia., to a farm south of Winslow last year ago. Lillian was operated on for appendicitis Friday and passed away at 3:30 Saturday. Herbert Hoover, greatest anxiety during her short illness was that she was making extra work for her mother and sisters, suffering heavily, but patient and cheerful to the last. The beautiful flowers sent by members of school distributed to her popularity among her schoolmates.

 She leaves to mourn her early decease, her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Isaac, and sisters, Laura and Melinda, and Grandpa and Grandma Krutzfeld. The funeral service, under the direction of Rev. H. A. Teichman, was held at the home Sunday at 2 p. m. The body, accompanied by father, mother and sisters, was taken to Minden, Ia., for burial.

Card of Thanks.
 We wish to express heartfelt thanks to the kind friends who extended assistance and sympathy, and also to those who sent floral offerings, during our recent bereavement. Mr. and Mrs. John Isaac, Laura and Melinda Isaac.

 Not What They Wanted.
 New Orleans—Emiss-Picayune: It is announced that the world's savings, if equally divided, would give every man, woman and child $13.50. But it isn't an equal division that the average advocate of equal division really wants.
 Former Crown Prince Is Bored.
 Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: The former Crown Prince Frederick of Germany has written a gloomy letter from Holland to one of his former staff officers now in Switzerland, in which he says he is much bored by his life at Wieringen, largely because of "the silly restrictions imposed by the allies." We would say that he is lucky "the silly restrictions" are all that he must endure. Most Americans had visioned a much more terrible life for him than the one he is now living at Wieringen.

 High Brain Power.
 Cleveland Plain Dealer: After looking at Prof. Einstein's figures about the measurements of the universe, one decides that a man like that can probably make out his own income tax return.

FARMERS PLAN PADLOCK FOR GRAIN EXCHANGE

Combining in grain, as practiced by speculators in grain exchange is one business that the American Farm Bureau Federation is going to try to stop. The Committee of Seventeen appointed by President James H. Howard with C. H. Gustafson of Lincoln, Neb., as chairman, is making exhaustive investigation of the whole subject of grain marketing for recommendations and action by the Farm Bureau Federation. Herbert Hoover, former food dictator, and Barney Baruch, former chairman of the War Board, were on the program of the committee meeting at Kansas City. Farm-owned elevators and direct marketing plans are being worked out.

National Repair Week

Don't Suppose your machines are in good running order

First Week in MARCH February 28 to March 5

Look them over now and Find Out!

Prepare now for National Repair Week—inspect, overhaul, clean and oil every farm machine you own, and put it in good running order. You can make money by placing one order now for all repair parts you need. This will save you the expense later on of long distance telephone or telegraph tolls, and of freight, express or parcel post charges on numerous shipments of repairs which you may be obliged to order. Do the repairing now—when you have time.

Make National Repair Week Mean Something

It is a movement backed by farm bureaus, county agents, manufacturers, and dealers. Its object is to assist you in getting your farm-operating equipment in working order before the busy season is upon you. As far as possible, we try to anticipate your needs, and to carry a full line of repairs at all times. The only way for you to be sure that your machines will be ready when you need them is to order your repairs now. This will enable us to replenish our stock, if necessary. Our service is yours when you need it.
