Wages and Profits. U. S. Directly Concerned. New York Times: In his address at Harvard Mr. Gompers was severe regarding the "parasites of finance," the "drivers of the hard bargains," who "make strikes per se unlawful," the "drivers of the workers' agitators into involuntary servitude," and much more of the tenor. It is easy to think that troubles are treated in that temper by any leader of thought. The case calls for less parsimony on the part of both labor and capital, and more patriotism on the part of both: There is no doubt who are the enemies of labor, for Mr. Gompers specifies them. They are aggressors by the enactment of the transportation act, the lawmakers of Kansas for the industrial court law, the vice president of the Boston police, the governor of Massachusetts. Among employers the steel corporation represented by Judge Sawyer, was long ago named as the greatest enemy of labor. Mr. Gompers has come pretty close to indicting all of them and is doing so to the dismay of his countrymen, even those several millions whose spokesmen he is. The difference between him and most of the chief actors was and is: the employer side is that he sees labor's side alone, and does not admit that there is any other side. If Mr. Gompers had to find the funds from which to pay an ever increasing total to labor, he would speak more soberly and with a sense of responsibility more than that of makers of laws and payers of wages. At no similar crisis was there ever greater appreciation by wage payers of their moral responsibility toward wage workers, and toward the general public by employers of public utilities. But they must work within their economic limitations. They can pay out only what they can collect. It is at this point that labor and capital diverge, on the part of both public and private large scale employers, mostly corporations. It is not possible to explain even to Mr. Gompers why war profits and war wages have both ceased to be possible.

Explanation Offered. Detroit News: An item in the agricultural appropriation bill provides $20,000 for "study of the behavior of fruit in transportation." For chappones, maybe, for the peaches.

Ex-Service Men.
Our great State of Nebraska has or will go to a great expense in order to get a roster of all men who have served in the wars of our country, and I would like a complete list for Wayne county, no on and after April 1 of this year. See the assessor for your precinct, and have your name listed. It is important that the state have the names and addresses of all ex-servicemen who have been in the service of our country during the Civil, Mexican, Spanish-American and World Wars.

Nebraska Fruit Damaged
Lincoln, Neb., March 21.—Apricots were seriously damaged and possibly cherry and peach trees were frost bitten to some extent by the 60 degrees drop in temperature during the last forty-eight hours, according to Prof. R. F. Howard, of the department of horticulture of the University of Nebraska. Saturday afternoon the temperature registered 81 degrees and at 7 o'clock this morning it was down to 21.
Both Prof. Howard and United States Weather Meteorologist C. A. Loveland said "Veneration in general would suffer a setback by the sudden drop in temperature. They are of the opinion, however, that apricot trees suffered the only material damage."

O. E. Mendenhall left Tuesday morning for Humeston, Ia., in response to a telegram announcing the critical illness of his mother.

Former Wayne Woman Dies at Advanced Age

Mrs. Sarah A. Mick, formerly a resident of Wayne, died at her home in South Sioux City, March 21, aged over 83 years. Monday the body was brought to Wayne where funeral services were held from the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the pastor, Rev. William Kilburn, followed by burial in Greenwood cemetery. The following obituary was prepared by the grand daughter:

Mrs. Sarah A. Mick was born in Mansfield, W. Va., July 4, 1837, and died at her home in South Sioux City on March 21, 1921, at the age of 83 years, 8 months and 7 days. Mrs. Mick was the daughter of Jonathan and Mary Mick, of Virginia, and in her early girlhood moved with her parents to Illinois. In 1857 at Vermont, Ill., she married Robert R. Mick and moved with him to Jasper county, Iowa. It was shortly after moving to Iowa that Mrs. Mick was converted to the saving faith of Jesus Christ and joined the Christian church. A few years later the little family moved to Cass county, Iowa, and there joined the Methodist Episcopal church, Marine. From Cass county the next move was to Wayne county in 1881, when both the husband and wife joined the Wayne Methodist church. Here for many years the happy family lived under the beautiful blessings of God until in 1906 the family circle was broken by the death of Mr. Mick. The beloved husband and father was laid to rest at Wayne and the children and her two children went to live in South Sioux City.

Mrs. Mick was always a great worker in the Ladies' Aid society, a faithful attendant at both church services and prayer meetings in spite of her advanced years.

During her last few weeks of earthly life, Mrs. Mick was a great sufferer with malignant tumor, but her end was peaceful.

She leaves to mourn her going two children, W. R. Mick, of Neosho, Mo., and Mrs. Mary E. Andrews, of South Sioux City. During their married life Mr. and Mrs. Mick lost four children in infancy so she will not be a stranger in heaven and the meeting will be one of great joy to her.

She will be greatly missed by the town and community, but who can tell how great the loss will be to her family? At home the void will be very great. God send her to rest in the hearts as the vacant chair is seen!

Ten grandchildren, Mrs. Ed Hondy, Mrs. Hannah Foster, and Mrs. Otto, Mrs. N. D. Swanson, Mrs. Pearl E. Swanson, of Springfield, Mo.; Mrs. Ralph Carter, Mrs. Jennie Fish, and John Andrews, of South Sioux City; Mrs. M. E. H. Smith, of Beth, N. D.; Mrs. Louis Surber of Wayne, and Mrs. Orin Garwood of Ladysmith. Wis., mourn her going, together with fourteen great grandchildren and a host of nieces, nephews and friends.

May all our sorrow be transformed into joy by the knowledge that saintly Grandma Mick is happy now in the home of her Father, her Savior, and is occupying a mansion with her beloved husband and children.
Servant of God, well done!

Thy glorious warfare's past,
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art conquering!

The following relatives, from out of town were present at funeral: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Perfect, Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. Edna H. Hines, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mick, Neosho, Mo.; Mrs. Mary E. Andrews, Mrs. Ralph Carter and John Andrews, South Sioux City; Mrs. Orrin Garwood, Lady Smith, Wis.

Thomas R. Forbes, Weds.

Mr. Thomas R. Forbes, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Forbes of Wayne, was married to Miss Blanche Marshall at Alhambra, Calif., Monday, March 14. The young couple will make their home in Minneapolis where the bridegroom is a publisher of the Northwestern Appeal which is devoted to the interests of the American Legion. They expect to visit Wayne before going to Minneapolis.

The bridegroom is a Wayne product, having been reared on a farm north of town and having graduated from the local high school. He met his bride while both were students in the Nebraska state university. The bride formerly lived at Arlington, Neb., and the last year had been teaching at Bakersfield, Calif.

Was his friend who wishes, will extend hearty good wishes.

boys and girls living in the eastern part of the nation are now ready to dispute the assertion that any other than the birds are "man's best friends." That is that were it not for the unceasing work of the birds in destroying insects, we would have very few crops. So build a bird house. Chiropractic Education

Freedom from disease

That is another important point to be insisted upon.

Disease—the enemy of the health, hope and happiness of humanity—has no place in the progress of civilization.

Disease is a relic of barbarism, ignorance and superstition. Its cause has been diligently sought for by man through every phase of human history.

Until twenty-five years ago the best that man was able to claim for his age-long search was a host of palliatives to relieve the effects, but nothing to remove the cause of disease.

The number of people in the United States who subscribe to some form of "high class" medicine more than doubled in ten years' time. Chiropractic is the foremost drugless system. What does this indicate in the general trend of thought?

For the cause could not be removed until it was known. It is characteristic of the stupidity of humanity that the cause of disease was sought from everywhere outside the human body. Witold doctors claimed it was due to evil spirits, astrologers blamed it on the solar system and physicians said disease was caused by germs. Since the body itself always has germs within it, if the germ theory was correct no one would be alive to believe it.

In 1895 the cause of disease was proclaimed to be due to the pressure of the bony segments of the spine upon nerves emitting between them. This revolutionary claim was made because it was found that when the vertebrae were out of alignment, disease was always present in one form or another. Similarly, when these bones of the spine were adjusted to normal position the disease disappeared and when the vertebrae were permanently realigned, health was a permanent result.

This happened twenty-five years ago. It has happened every day of every year since that time. Today it happens weekly to over one million American citizens. Among this million is numbered the world's wealthiest man, who can afford every known thing at the command of science. The poorest of the poor by the legion are restored to health by Chiropractic and enabled to earn a comfortable living. Chiropractic appeals to those of an investigating turn of mind in every class and creed. The tremendous following it has among the eminently successful appearing in "Who's Who" is evidently due to this capacity for independent thinking.

Board to Govern. "The central sales association will be governed by a board of directors, the number of which will be determined by the constitution. These directors will hire a manager, department heads and other employees, and will direct the business policies of the association. Directors will be elected as follows:—Each local community will elect one delegate for each 100 members thereof. These delegates will represent the membership at an annual meeting to be held in each congressional district. The congressional district meeting will elect one delegate to the annual national meeting. This delegate will cast one or more votes at the national meeting, depending either upon the number of members represented or the amount of surplus grain produced, or both."

Allan Propagandists Wrong. National Republicans in the war carried the people of the United States some $28,000,000,000 directly, and as much more indirectly. We are told by alien propagandists that the war enriched the United States, but the enrichment was mostly on paper, and the cost was actual outlay and loss. The war experience was accomplished by a depletion of the actual volume of American production; the gain was speculative and unsubstantial.

War Not Good Business. Yankton Press and Dakotan: War may be necessary for righteous self-defense, but it is never good business. Only peace can breed true prosperity. Gappily the readjustments now being made are paving the way for a new era of peace hereafter. It remains for statesmanship to supply the necessary international guarantees of peace to make that progress possible.

An Important Invention.

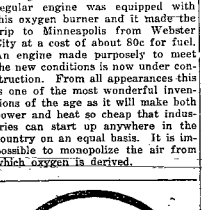

Coleridge Blade: We were conversing with a drummer who makes Northwest town and he says the attachment to an automobile engine which causes the engine to consume a few drops of oil highly charged with oxygen is undoubtedly a success. He knows the boy, a lad of seventeen, and his father. The big oil industries have offered $100,000 for the patent but it is feared that they wish to keep it off the market so the boy's father has refused all offers for the patent as he wishes the public to have the benefit of it. A government official is on guard all the time to protect this invention which will be turned to the government that it may thus become common public property. The invention produces a horse power of energy to each pound of its weight. Several cheap oils are mixed and burned by the oxygen. It is a very important heating purposes as far-power and the boy's father has his home heated through the appliance at an expense so small as to amount to practically nothing. An Overland car with its regular engine was equipped with this oxygen burner and it made the trip to Minneapolis from Webster City at a cost of about $50 for fuel. An engine made purposely to meet the new conditions is now under construction. From all appearances this is one of the most wonderful inventions of the age as it will make both power and heat so cheap that industries can start up anywhere in the country on an equal basis. It is impossible to monopolize the air from which oxygen is derived.

Supt. Fordson

More and more every day the demand for the Fordson Tractor increases because the Fordson has demonstrated so much usefulness, so much economy, so much labor saving, so much money saving, along so many lines of activity. The farmer has discovered that not only for plowing, harrowing, discing, seeding, mowing, reaping and threshing, but a multitude of other uses; cutting wood, feed grinding feed, churning, washing, furnishing water in the house; making electric light possible in the house and around the barns; so that, as a matter of fact, there is hardly an hour in the day when the Tractor cannot be made a profitable servant. There is ditching to do; there are roads to fix; and so on all down along the line of the numerous calls that constantly face the farmer. The Fordson steps in and does the work, shoulders the complete burden of the toil and the hard work, one might almost say "drudgery."

This is the Age of Machinery, the day when man plans the day's work, or the year's work, and then turns it over to the Tractor to execute. Get the book, "The Fordson at Work," because it is free. If you cannot call for it, write and we will mail it to you. The Tractor is not only a necessity to every farmer, but is an established utility along a great many commercial lines. Let's have your order now.
