A fishing excursion is talked of, to a lake near the Winnebago reservation. When the water becomes a little more agreeable as regards wind, and the nights get somewhat warmer, so a party can camp out to go and fish, and thus, for a few days in such pleasant recreation, banish from one's thoughts the usual treadmill of life.

Ed. T. Healey, who arrived in town last week from Custer City, has now been in the hills about eight months, and during that time has followed many pursuits in his search after fortune and fame. A portion of his business was lived in Dadesee. During his absence he has been a carpenter, a newspaper carrier, a discoverer, a mule driver, a speculator in real estate, a place holder, a shoveler of dirt and a hewer of wood, a patent medicine inventor, a teamster, a doctor, a pedler, a farmer, a preacher, and finally a lawyer.

Thus at the latter end, going back to the business he was in when he left this practicing law at Custer City, where we understand, he proposes to remain permanently.

A letter from Wm. Parke of Parke Hill, in the western part of this county, gives the details of a prairie fire which swept over that section on Wednesday morning of last week. The fire was kindled by a perfect gale of wind from the south. A part of Mr. Parke's grove, containing some fine fruit trees, was burned, as was all of the grove around the school house. T. B. Hicks was the biggest loser by the fire. He has a number of trees and some of them destroyed by the devouring element, and saving nothing but the house and wagon. A. F. Hines has quite a number of forest trees. Mr. Packer had a herd of cattle corralled on the prairie when overtaken by the fire, and only succeeded in saving them by the utmost exertion.

LOCAL MANAGER WANTED

Unusual Opportunity For Right Man.
A large Winnebago firm doing a successful business with well established concerns throughout the country is now requiring a man to design and handle their local business. The opportunity is an unusual one because of the possibilities offered for industrial economies in a highly respectable business which will stand up to the most severe examination.

The position requires a man possessing executive and sales ability, with business experience and having command of the English language, although no investment is necessary. He may devote only a portion of his time to the business at first, if desired, though we prefer a man who is able and willing to give the business his entire time and best efforts.

Salary will be made up from $2,500 to $3,000 per year, according to population and the ability of the manager, as the commodity we handle is in a steady, always in demand, and which our large buying facilities permit us to sell at less than average market prices.

Going to the demand, we must fill this position at once. Send your application to Guarantee Food-Making Co., 416 Com. Bldg., Chicago, Ill. We will not write unless you can satisfy us as to honesty, reputation and business ability.

Cost of Short Sighted Policy.
Norfolk Daily News: Talking about blighting the job, there's Hopkins for instance. The townspeople there prayed the other night because a fire threatened to wipe them out, all the cause they couldn't get together and buy a few fire hydrants and some water mains. Everything else including the high water storage tank, the engine and other equipment had been installed some years before. They held a long session to finish the job and enough people voted against it to keep the job from being finished. Then a fire came along and burned the depot. Then another fire came along and burned the lumber yards and caused $35,000 damage. When the citizens built what they have of the water works the job cost them about $9,000. The same work and material would cost $25,000 today. If they had finished the job when the far-sighted citizens asked it, the expenditure would have been less than the damage done by one fire and the people who live in the town would not have to go to bed with the thought that perhaps tomorrow there would be no town. All of which goes to show what a little delay means in this age of fires everywhere.

Why We Are Strong for Willard

We've seen a lot of batteries, but never another like the Willard Threaded Rubber Battery.

Threaded Rubber insulates the plates instead of separating them the way wood separators do.

No carbonizing, puncturing, checking or cracking, because Threaded Rubber Insulation retains all the valuable insulating qualities of rubber and is not affected by acid.

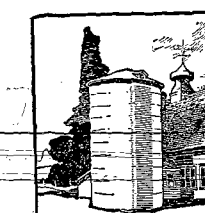

That's one reason why we're strong for Willard Threaded Rubber Batteries.

Government Dollars Cheap.
National Republican—The New York American says that in the last year of government ownership twice as much was spent for maintenance of equipment of the railways of the country as was spent under private ownership in 1917. But then it must be remembered that a government dollar usually buys about 30 cents worth of anything.

Your Factory on the Farm

Modern factories are laid out so as to get the most work done with the least lost motion. The barn ought to be planned in the same way.

Back hauls and other faults in planning are expensive. They make the work more difficult and waste your time in the bargain.

The farm factory, also, should be large enough to take care of the produce from your fields. Many real estate men estimate the fertility of a farm by the size and appearance of the barn. They set the proper valuation accordingly.

Command our services when planning your new barn. We'll go the limit in helping you.

It is reported that brick and cement prices are tobogganing. This fact encourages the belief that falling prices will be materially reduced.

"Clear up!" It could be worse. The drooping spirits who feel that the world is all awry and that the future holds out no hope, ought to make comparisons with other periods of desolation, and not devote leisure time to magnifying the facts.

We have not fine enough some of the pictures to see any more out in a good moving picture Sunday afternoon than in golf or automobile riding. We can't see that orderly procession, whether it be the driving of a car or a white pill over the golf course or watching a kaleidoscope of healthful moving picture scenes, is a desecration of Sabbath as does violence to one's spiritual welfare. If there is any difference we would be glad if some one would point it out to us.

President Harding's message to the new congress Tuesday rejected the Wilsonian tract and supported an international policy that suggests peace without entangling alliances. Much attention in the message was devoted to domestic problems, with "less government in business and more business in government." It is the expectation of the administration to help producers and consumers restore normal times and end depression and unemployment. The message was received with the enthusiasm it deserved.

In commenting on the fact that Wayne is drawing trade from more extended territory than ever, one local merchant said that at one time last Saturday he was waiting on three shoe customers who had come from three widely separated points. A little notice in the business traveled by people in coming to Wayne to market produce and trade brings a surprising and most gratifying revelation. Local business development, involving a determination to serve and please, makes a powerful magnet when combined with automobiles, good roads and paved streets.

With the passing of the former freedom with which dollars were wont to be hoarded, the consumers are looking for bargains. They are taking advantage of the best buying opportunities. They will buy where they can secure advantage in price, quality and service. Inducements must be urged by advertising. The dealer makes sacrifice in price to attract customers. One attracted, the buyer must find things exactly as represented and be made to go away satisfied. Never was there greater need of thoughtful advertising than now, and never did the naming of prices mean more to a constructive business policy. The non-advertising dealer belongs to a dead past.

A merchant suggests that parkings should not be used for any considerable time by Wayne business people with their cars during busy periods. Most automobiles are here from large numbers from other towns and the surrounding country. He says he has indirectly left his own car in front of his place of business on Main street at times of congestion, but that he will do it no more. He thinks local business cars and trucks ought to pay the toll. This suggestion of automobiles from the outside. It has been apparent of late that former parking spaces on Main and adjacent streets in the business district are inadequate to the demand, and that an extension to the use of other streets will become necessary.

THE BOLSHEVİK TYRANNY
Radicalism in the United States is a serious attack by the least of those who have been touched by the bolshevik tyranny in Russia. Radicals going to Russia for schooling in bolshevism have experienced a great change of heart, and are ready to advise Americans to resist the soviet terror. Here is the story of some radical experiences as explained in an editorial in the Sioux City Journal:

"The value of testimony coming from a man who was sentenced to six years imprisonment in a United States court for sedition may be more or less negligible, but what Dr. Morehead told us in the bolshevik regime in Russia is of interest. He has just arrived at Revel, Esthonia, after being in Russian prisons for some months, and it cannot be considered that his treatment by the reds softened what he had to say about them. To explain just who Dr. Zucker is, it should be said that he was known as a leader and one of the organizers of the communist party in the United States and was tried and convicted in this country in 1919 on four counts charging seditious utterances. He was sentenced to fifteen years in prison on each count, but was allowed to escape serving the sentence when he requested that he be deported instead. So America got rid of him.

"Dr. Zucker, like another radical who went to Russia to study conditions at first hand, has had his eyes opened to the tyranny of the reds and is now loudly voicing a protest against Lenin and Trotsky. He says they are tyrants of the worst kind, that the proletarian dictatorship was a myth and that it was 'a dictatorship of a handful.' He insists that the desecrating destruction of soviet Russia is the worst tyranny in the world and that the red rulers hold their scepters of power because they terrorize the people into submission. He says the 'victims of tyranny go about in a hopeless attitude because of the great and constant red terror.' Speaking of the return to the United States 'to discuss those who think there is anything like freedom under the soviet.'"

"Conditions were quiet, according to Dr. Zucker, but he found while at Moscow that, under the surface, everywhere, there was a 'His Majesty' in the regime of the bolshevik leaders will last a long time, as they are prepared to make epochal changes in order to hold their empire—the throats of the peasants. He says the power of terror that bolshevism wields is too great for it to be overthrown now. Speaking of the tyranny of the reds, Dr. Zucker said: 'Their opponents are imprisoned immediately. The bolsheviks are finding peace more dangerous than war to a national spirit.'"

"Thus it is that even the eyes of a communist may be opened. Dr. Zucker is not the man to go to Russia and to leave hating the bolsheviks."

Saw Both Sides.
Boston Transcript: Little Roy doesn't care for dancing and at the party the other night he held aloof from the dancing. His friends said, "Roy, don't you realize that every time you don't dance there is some little girl not having a good time?"

Theory Sounds Plausible.
Kansas City Star: The federal reserve bank notes a hesitancy in business in the middle west and attributes it to high retail prices of necessities, curtailed building operations, the attitude of wage earners toward reduction of wages, delayed liquidation of farm holdings, the heavy demand for money, and high interest rates. While somewhat sketchy and indefinite it sounds like a plausible theory.

Idealism Played Out.
Lowell Courier-Citizen: "Let us be an example of disinterestedness, abstinence and hardy labor; let us assume the moral leadership of the world," pleaded Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, at the Harvard union. Old stuff, old hat! Us for ourselves, nix on idealism, is the watchword of today.

Need for Certainty.
Pittsburgh Dispatch: There is one feature of the statement by Senator Penrose regarding tariff and revenue legislation that will meet with universal approval in the business world. This is the need for the promptest possible action so that business and industry may know what it stands and can make plans accordingly.

Has Big Battle on Hand.
New York World: "France Lloyd George is playing for big stakes. It is not a miners' strike, but the general suspension of national industry and great masses of means of transportation that threaten in the defiant tactics of the triple alliance."

Los Geos De Le.
Los Angeles Times: The appointment of G. H. Harvey as ambassador to England may add to the embarrassment of the Britishers in official life. When somebody yells "Gee, they won't be sure whether it means the king, Lloyd George or George Harvey."

How a Child Measures Heat.
KANSAS CITY STAR: It was one of the first spring days and little Elizabeth, her mother was playing with some neighbor children, rushed into the house and throwing herself across her mother's lap exclaimed: "O, mamma, take off some of my clothes. I'm a whole petticoat too warm!"

Sure Signs.
Syracuse Post-Standard: There is nothing surer in the future than that Lloyd George's promises of 'lively trade with Russia will not be fulfilled and that Lloyd George will have a ready explanation.

Athlon Globe. Farm hands applying for jobs this year will have to know more than just enough to say "Whan."

Elegant Garments--The Latest Styles

We are still buying coats, and we are buying nothing but the very newest and latest styles. We could get bargains from the factories now if we would buy their styles that did not sell, or take their returned goods and stickers, but Wayne people won't consider such goods even at bargain prices. They want the new and correct styles and good quality. So we are buying this kind of garments for you. These new coats are beauties and the prices are moderate. They start at $15.00 and run up to $57.50 for the finest of the silk lined coats in the season's richest models.

This fine suede slipper in brown or black is very popular for nice dress wear. And this is first class suede that will give good wear and stand repeated brushing.

If you buy suede you should take care to know what you are getting as there is a great deal of shoeplein leather made up with a suede finish and such leather gives but little wear and loses its shape quickly.

These suede slippers we offer you are the best of material and exactly what many city stores are pricing at $11.00 and $12.50.

Dark-colored voiles are as popular as ever for summer dresses—the styles are much changed from last season. If you would have the newest and latest and have your summer dresses look different from last season, choose your voiles from our carefully new selection of Lu Forte patterns.

Business. There is nothing in the business activities of the past week to show actual results in the quickening of trade on a large scale, but confidence has been found in the trend toward general resumption on a sound basis. The movement is gradual and there are many indications that it precludes the possibility of greater risk due to errors in adjustments. It is no time for hurried decisions, because the real and careful deliberation has impressed itself upon dealers large and small throughout the country, all of whom had the opportunity to learn from error made in the past that mistakes are expensive. This is shown by the method of reconstruction in American business enterprises. There is no ground for suspecting, however, that it will be anything but sure. One of the most important movements having a direct bearing on improvement in business conditions is that which has brought the transportation problem directly to the attention of the government. The newspapers of the country, offering various opinions as to the solution of the problem, have had the effect of stabilizing both the attention of the public and the government. It is obvious that the thing cannot be undertaken until it has been proved that investigation must follow aroused interest. Little can be offered as to how immediate the solution will be, but there are many indications in the fact that the railroads, the workers and the government are now united in attack upon the knotty question. Dun's review of the week says business revival is vital, that the situation is one of sharp contrasts, that there has been a general improvement in conditions. The review admits that gains have been made in some instances, but says they have been spasmodic. The review is representative, but the finding is due to what was said at the outset—that the movement is gradual. Hence the possibility of month-to-month improvement. Local conditions, depending on sectional adjustments, are not yet ready to be governed by national influences. That will come in time. The pulse of industry is stronger than it was a few weeks ago. A building boom is forecast in survey by the United States Mortgage and Trust company. Fifty cities were included in the report, which says conditions are favorable for general, conservative building movement. Statistics offered by David E. Houston, former secretary of the treasury, prove that the building boom is not a general increase in New England and in the Rocky mountain states. That healthy condition is bound to spread, especially where the rate of interest is adjusted and, through lower freight rates made possible by reducing operating expenses, is permitted to provide easier transportation of materials. Detroit, center of the motor car industry, has moved forward rapidly in that line, having rehired upward of 100,000 men in the three months' period just closed. That may be taken as a barometer that recovery in the important industry has commenced. The purchasing power of the dollar has increased appreciably. It now will buy three times as much sugar as it bought a year ago; three times as much rice, butter and clothing; nearly twice as much flour, lard, fruits and some meats; in some instances six or seven times as many vegetables. High grade shoes that sold one year ago for $18 to $20 now may be purchased for one-half as much or less. As the dollar increases in value, business will improve, because the desire to purchase will be increasing. The Journal would emphasize the following as the dominant note in the process of a general business recovery. Right operating costs, at the minimum cost is the need. That does not mean at once the reduction of wages, but does mean reduced operating costs, and some conservative. The change might be effected with wages in many lines staying where they are, but it would be necessary for workers to incur their efforts. The proposition is automatic in that it will demand one thing or another, reduced pay or more efficiency. Right operating costs, regardless of the cause, may be blamed for whatever lethargic condition business suffers today.

Basket Store Wayne, Nebraska. Sunday school began last Sunday in the Kimball schoolhouse. Quick Action Needed. Particularly needed just now is the application of economic principles upon both labor and other groups. The necessity for quick action is obvious on the face of things when viewed in the light of the railroad situation. I am hopeful the light will be seen by labor leaders before it is too late. ### Reports Boiled Down From Our Exchanges

L. Newman, a wealthy stockman of Emerson, Neb., disappeared from home on March 23 and has not been seen since. At the time of his sudden disappearance, he had marketed a load of hops, and it is thought that he had a large amount of money on his person. Sioux City police are on the lookout for the missing man.

A fire on the evening of April 3, states the Winslow Tribune of April 7, which started in a drug store owned by Charles Long, a former resident of Winslow, completely wiped out the entire north side of the Main street at Virgil, S. D., resulting in a loss of $25,000. It is said that the property lost carries an insurance of $15,000. Other buildings which were destroyed were the Virgil garage, Taylor hardware store, Virgil Cream station, Telephone exchange and the Odd Fellows' building.

The State Journal of April 5 expresses the opinion that the citizens of Bloomfield who cut out telephone service recently rather than accede to what they considered an unreasonable assessment charged by the telephone company, were informed by the attorney general that their actions were likely to prove costly because of the fact that they acted in concert. Upon investigation, it was discovered that the telephone company at Bloomfield, Minn., had been engaged in rebuilding the exchange and making it thoroughly modern, and that up until recently they had been charging their rates as before the war, although the cost of operating the exchange had doubled. A committee representing the two competing telephone companies met to decide what is best to be done.

H. E. Larson, former manager of the Farmers' Union elevator at Dixon, was found guilty of embezzlement and sentenced to hard labor at the state penitentiary at Lincoln, says the Dixon Journal.

August Anderson of Wausau, recently severed his connections with the Farmers' elevator, with a view to going into the hog business for himself. He has leased the yards formerly used by L. Hanson in the east part of town. Mr. Anderson had had some experience in the hog raising and selling business, having been similarly employed at Magnet. Friends of Mr. Anderson predict success for him at the new venture.

The Woman's Civic Improvement club of Newman Grove last Friday met and decided that a cement sidewalk should be laid in the cemetery in the near future. Owners of property who were interviewed seemed almost without exception, to agree to lay a walk in front of the property leading to the cemetery. Donations which were solicited have so far proved so encouraging that the club voted almost unanimously to back the new enterprise.

It is reported that Madison's two newspapers, the Madison Star-Mail and the Madison Chronicle have consolidated and that the new publication is to be known as the Star-Mail and Chronicle Consolidated. Those who subscribed for either paper are receiving the new publication. The Chronicle has been published for forty-seven years in Newman Grove and is being used by the new firm as a job shop. The reason given for consolidation is that the Chronicle building was badly needed for a newspaper which would have cost a large sum of money. Then, too, the editors of the papers realized the fact that one good newspaper in a community would be better than two, the qualities of which were mediocre. Business men of Madison are of the opinion that the new arrangement will be a great impetus to advertising.

John O'Shea and Fred Ekstrom recently rented rooms above the Farmers' store in Newman Grove with a view to opening a real estate office. The latter is a graduate of the class of 1919 of the Newman Grove high school; the former is an experienced business man who will assist the young man greatly by reason of his superior knowledge of the business.

The second membership drive increased the membership of the Randolph Community club to 258.

Supt. A. M. Nelson for the past five years head of the Newman Grove public schools, last week signed a two-year contract with the Auburn school board at a substantial increase in salary to become superintendent of the schools at that place. Auburn has a population of 3,900, has many paved streets and has a high school enrollment of over 200.

The Bloomfield Masons held a big jubilee last week to celebrate the centennial of the independent church in the Masonic Temple. A banquet, served by the ladies of the Eastern Star, was held in the dining room of the Temple, after which an extensive dancing in dancing and a mock initiation. It is estimated that 250 people were present at the celebration.

Five people were recently granted naturalization in the Pierce county district court. Seventeen others who applied were forced to wait until the next sitting of the court. Five were denied citizenship papers.

R. J. Millard recently handed in his resignation as county attorney, stating that while he believed he could successfully combat the charges which had been preferred against him, it would be an expensive proceeding, such as he believed himself

An accident occurred last week when Mr. and Mrs. Shulkin, owners of the general store at Daily, struck an obstruction in the road which over an obstruction in the road which returned the truck which they were driving, thereby pinning Mrs. Shulkin underneath. Mr. Shulkin, after working frantically to extricate himself, succeeded in slipping a "jack"

President Delivers Message to Congress

Washington, April 12.—President Harding's declaration in his first message to congress today that the United States government has no part in the present League of Nations was received with a great demonstration.

Representatives members of the cabinet, crowded the house chamber to hear the president deliver his message in person, apparently the first time since the war that the president has cleared the republican members standing.

Callers Join Applause.
The galleries joined in the demonstration and it was some minutes before quiet was restored. The democratic members, many of whom had been absent from the session, joined in the demonstration. Senator Hitecock of Nebraska, who led the long fight in the senate in favor of the league, seemed notably moved.

The president's address contained about 6,500 words and fifty minutes were required for its perusal and concluding statements regarding peace and the league were delivered slowly with solemn emphasis. The message was read as follows:

Shakes Coolidge's Hand.
The president began his address simply at 10 o'clock. The distinguished company which gathered around the president and the speaker, however, immediately launched into the reading of his message. First applause was given his statement regarding taxation and then, after the reading was punctuated by frequent outbursts.

Mrs. Harding, Mrs. Coolidge and other members of the cabinet occupied the executive galleries. "As she took her seat, Mrs. Harding was recognized and applauded. She responded by rising and bowing. Soon after President Harding returned to the White House, Jules J. Rosenberg, secretary of the League of Nations, called at the executive offices in person and asked for a copy of the president's address, which was supplied him.

The president summoned the republicans of the foreign relations committee to the White House to discuss the League of Nations. One senator declared that it was "pre-eminently a matter of public interest which attended the conference.

League is Unacceptable.
The president's discussion of the peace question opened with a declaration against the existing league of nations. "In the existing League of Nations, world governing, with its present machinery," said the president, "the public will have no part."

"There can be no misinterpretation and there will be no exaggeration of the sincere expression of the American people in the recent election," said the president. "The world in general and to our associates in way in particular—that the league covenant has no sanction in the eyes of the American people."

More can be made for the future, nor, no helpful society of nations can be founded on peace and security. The peace which we have contracted with the nations which were at war, to such accomplishment as the contract of peace and security, the realization of our aspirations, for nations, associated for world leadership, without social agreement, will find ourselves, fully mindful of the high privilege and paramount duty of the United States in the critical period of the world.

Hoskins Lumber Yard Is Destroyed by Fire

Hoskins, Neb., April 8: Fire of an unknown origin shortly after midnight Friday morning, destroyed the Farmers Lumber company's property here, causing a loss estimated at $35,000 partly covered by insurance. Three freight cars, one filled with crossties, standing nearby, were also destroyed. The town has no fire department and no water system and the bucket brigade saved the city from destruction by keeping the post office building, soaked with water. The Norfolk fire department was called but the fire was under control by the time the Norfolk freemen arrived. The Norfolk men in charge of V. A. Novon, Norfolk fire chief, cooperated with the local fire fighters until after 5 o'clock Friday morning.

Dynamite Ready for Use.
A supply of dynamite was kept ready for instant use in case the fire got out of control. The plan was to blow up the surrounding building in order to save the town.

The lumber yard belonged to an incorporated company consisting of

C. W. Anderson, Charles Ohlund, Frank Pittman of Hoskins and F. C. Oldenburg of Sioux City.

The fire started in the west end of the lumber yards. Considerable part of the lumber was destroyed. Furniture in the building was carried out.

Norfolk Firemen Respond.

Daily News. The call for help from Hoskins came to the fire station at 1 o'clock Friday morning. It was answered by Assistant Chief of Police Pinkhouse. Fire Chief Novon and twenty-five local freemen hastily gathered round buckets, chains, picks and axes and made the trip to Hoskins in five automobiles in 1:30 time, although at places the road was rough. When they arrived they found that the citizens of the town had the fire checked at the postoffice. The lumber yards were already ready too far in power of flames to be saved.

Fire Chief Novon in praising the Hoskins citizens declares they saved their town by covering the north side of the postoffice with quilts and blankets and keeping these soaked with water carried by all kinds of buckets hastily collected. The bucket brigade worked like a veteran organization and earned the gratitude of those whose property they saved. That the postoffice burned—the entire town would probably have been swept away by the roaring flames which rushed against the sides of the little postoffice as the flames were fed by paint and lumber. After each attack by the fire the valiant bucket brigade rushed to the offensive and soaked up the bedding which dried up almost as rapidly as the water could be poured on it. The work, however, was successful and while the brigade won its fight, other workers kept watch of the sparks which threatened for some time to cause fires elsewhere about the town.

Second Object Lesson.

The fire Friday morning is the second object lesson the townspeople there have had in the past two years. When the depot burned the citizens declared that something must be done to complete the water system which was begun in 1916. At that time a one-half hour allowed for one year for water works were voted and everything with the exception of the mains and hydrants was constructed. "This is a lesson," said the fire chief, "and here fire protection for the town was placed before the people and it was voted down. Then the war came and the high prices and the completion of the water works was delayed leaving the town in the condition it found itself Friday morning when a mysterious fire threatened to wipe out the entire place.

Eighth Grade Examinations.

About 165 eighth grade students were taken to state examinations on Thursday and Friday of last week. The examinations were held in St. Paul, Minn. The students were from the following schools: Washburn, Wakarusa, Wayne. Those who failed will be given a second trial May 5 and 6. The examinations will be held in the same places as before.

Will Nissen arrived Tuesday afternoon from Sterling, Colo., near which place he has been farming during the past year.

Film Censorship Bill Defeated by Senate

Lincoln, Neb., April 12.—The senate killed the motion picture censorship bill yesterday afternoon by advancing the Beebe high license substitute by a vote of 18 to 15. The defeat of the censorship bill was brought about by change in the votes of Senator Louis Berk of Omaha and Senator Pickett of Wahoo, who voted against the Beebe amendment and for censorship Thursday when the vote was a tie. Senator Sturm who was absent Thursday voted for censorship.

Requires $1,000 Deposit.

The Beebe substitute provides for $1,000 deposit by film companies carrying on business in Nebraska. The governor shall grant these companies licenses under provisions of the amendment. In every case film companies show pictures of an "out color" variety, depicting a long list of penalized and social crimes and a court finds the company guilty, the license will be forfeited and the film company fined and forbidden to continue its business in Nebraska.

Condition of Winter Wheat.

Lincoln, Neb., April 11.—A winter wheat condition of 93 per cent which is above the average for this date, a large condition of 92 per cent, an increased number of brood sows and a large labor supply, lower demand and lower wages for farm-labor are the leading features of the April crop report, just released by A. E. Anderson, federal agricultural statistician and Leo Stuhr, secretary of the Nebraska department of agriculture. The present condition of winter wheat in 92 per cent which forecasts a possible production of 58,329,000 bushels. The present condition is three points above the ten-year average and about nine points above the ten-year average condition for this date. Conditions have been unfavorable in a few northern and western counties due to dry weather during the autumn and winter months and further damaged somewhat by high winds. Some of the stands are quite thin and a small loss in acreage is expected. Conditions over the remainder of the state have been ideal from the time that ground was prepared and wheat made a heavy growth. High winds dried the surface soil somewhat this spring and a general spin is needed. An early start of the returned areas of wheat will be made next month.

Rededicate Church May 15.

The Evangelical Lutheran church which was damaged by fire some weeks ago, will be rebuilt and ready to rededicate on Sunday, May 15. An improved basement has been put under the church and an addition constructed. A steel ceiling has been put on. The total cost will be about $4,000.—The insurance amounted to about half the cost of repairs and improvements.

Tractor Runs Over Farmer.

Tilden, Neb., April 12.—John Arland, a farmer living fourteen miles southwest of Tilden, was run over by a tractor and died yesterday afternoon while operating them on the farm of Martin Jursen. The tractor was not working properly and was stopped in order to make some adjustment in the coils when it was running slowly on neutral. In some manner it went into gear, throwing Arland down and the tractor and a part of the disk struck his body, breaking his left leg in two places between the knee and the ankle, and his left arm in two places. The disk cut a large incision just above the left eye and the ear and side of the face are badly lacerated. He was brought to a Tilden hospital and the limb set and the wounds dressed. He is expected to make a good recovery, although he is very severely injured. Mr. Arland is unmarried and formerly lived with his mother, who died and was buried just one week ago. He is a veteran of the world war, having served with the Nebraska contingent overseas. His father has been dead for a number of years.

Bubble of Socialism Bursts.

Washington Post: "Although the bubble of state socialism in North Dakota has burst, the people of that state are going to pay dearly before they once more get their feet back on solid ground," remarked William Truxes of Yankton, S. D. "That the visionary scheme that Townley foisted upon the people through the Non-partisan League was doomed to failure was foreseen by those with wisdom and judgment enough to appreciate the evil of the thing, but they were in the minority."

"Recently North Dakota sought vainly to borrow $6,000,000 from a group of eastern bankers, the very 'interests' which the Townley system was organized to destroy. With the Bank of North Dakota virtually if not legally insolvent and a long string of wrecked banks throughout the state, the people have seen the light and have been ready to agree to abandon the socialistic program, if the bankers will undertake to float the bonds, but the bankers have refused to take the chance. Now they must find another way out, and this added difficulty should increase their expensive education along the line of state socialism. However, it is an ill wind that blows nobody any good, and the calamitous collapse of the entire idea in the state of its origin will have a salutary effect upon voters in other states where Townley has been carrying on his propaganda."

Law Will Fail.

Yankton Press and Dakotan: "If preachers were not failures as teachers, there would not be need for a law which will compel observance of the Sabbath; and further, if observance of the Sabbath must come through compulsion of law, right there and then the observance of the Sabbath becomes a huge farce."

Agriculture Notes

Cooperative Crop Reporting. Steps have been taken to establish a cooperative crop-reporting service for the Nebraska states, which will involve bringing each state and the United States department of agriculture into a joint agreement whereby the facilities and organization for gathering statistics in each state will be pooled with the facilities of the bureau of crop estimates under the direction of the agricultural statisticians of that bureau. It is expected, as a result of this cooperation, that crop reports devoting special attention to the crops of New England will be published, using the county as the geographical unit rather than the state, as at present. Cooperation of this character is in effect in twenty-three states at the present time.

Show Slight Decline. Farm prices that were relatively high on December 1, 1920, as compared to 5-year pro-averages 1909-10 to 1913-14, showed slight decline by March 1, 1921, and those which were relatively low showed a great decline in the previous year. Reports recently compiled by the bureau of crop estimates of the United States department of agriculture, in comparison to the 5-year average, the statisticians say that wheat, for example, was 168 on December 1, 1920, as compared to 167 on February 1, and 165 on March 1.

Corn, which was 119 on December 1, 1920, as compared to the comparative figure of 107 of the 5-year pro-averages, was 107 on March 1, 1921. Potatoes, which were relatively high, being 121 on December 1, 1920, were 125 on March 1, 1921. Cotton, which was relatively low, was 115 on January 1 and 83 on March 1. Flax, eggs, and chickens, flax, cotton, barley and corn were lowest compared to the 5-year average, the figures being 110 for flax, 115 for cotton, 117 for barley, and 119 for corn.

Lumber Schedule Revised. Black walnut and spruce lumber taken off the lumber schedule of the General Supply committee during the war because the government needed all that was obtainable for national defense purposes, have been restored to the schedule for the fiscal year 1922 by the advice of the forest service of the United States department of agriculture. This bureau cooperated annually with the general supply committee in the preparation and revision of specifications and the making of awards that cover lumber, wood, veneers, and building material. Similar assistance is also rendered to the purchasing office of the district government, and the schedule of that office for the fiscal year has been revised in the same manner as that of the general supply committee.

The forest service plans to cooperate also with several of the large lumber associations with a view to including in both of these schedules a list of the commodities of the Pacific Coast in grades comparable with those listed for eastern supplies. This will result naturally in closer competition and should work toward greater economy in the purchase of the lumber needed to fill the requirements of the government departments in Washington.

Anxious for Adjustment. Lincoln, Neb., April 11.—With patriotism waning as pay checks cease to come, with scores growing in the field and with their political future in jeopardy because of Senate File No. 65, lower house members were clamoring today for early adjournment without passing the taxation bill.

The heaviest pressure of the session is being brought to bear on members to kill this bill. Corporations whose purses will be affected by the property tax are using every influence known to them to kill the bill.

The legislators admit the taxation system of Nebraska now in vogue is behind the times.

Representative H. L. Webster of Burt, is proposing that the legislature adjourn with an understanding that Gov. McKelvie will call a special session in the fall for the purpose of putting a new tax law into effect.

Another proposition is to kill Senate File No. 65 and adjourn without any understanding relative to a special session and leave the "huck" with Gov. McKelvie. If he wants to call a special session, all he has to do is call it. Nebraska fumble along without a new taxation law for another two years.

Other members, however, believe that when the house committee on revenue and taxation turns in its report on Senate File No. 65, a good bill will be presented for consideration and it is no more than right for the present legislature to stand by and face the music.

Reception Will Be Different. Omaha World-Herald: If Gov. Scott goes to Mexico as ambassador he will get a much more friendly reception than a certain other ambassador Scott received there in days long ago.

Charged With Burglary
Neligh, Neb., April 9.—Charged with burglary in connection with breaking and entering the school house in District 105, south of Neligh, W. C. Hanson of Outlookville, preliminary hearing and was bound over to the district court on a $500 bond. Preliminary hearing for Harry Moore of near Elgin, charged with the same offense, is scheduled to take place today.

The photograph which was taken from the school was said to have been destroyed and a few days later a new one appeared on the school steps. This, however, did not relieve Hanson of the charge. Two women are said to have been with the men at the time.

Automobile Owners Beware.
Pursuant to an opinion from the attorney general's office the county commissioners have passed a resolution providing that any person who does not renew his automobile or other vehicle number for the fiscal year 1921 shall lose his registration number. The commissioners have instructed the sheriff, constables and other peace officers of the county to promptly arrest and take before the proper magistrate any person found operating or using any automobile upon any highway, road or street who has not secured his license and number for the year 1921. The county treasurer has been instructed not to register any automobile after July 1 without requiring the person seeking a license to make affidavit that the automobile has not been used or operated upon any highway, road or street at any time during the year 1921 prior to July 1. The state department at Lincoln is cooperating with the various counties in the enforcement of the automobile law and state agents are expected to be working in Wayne county at any time.

Do It Now.
 "I plan to build a nifty shack," the thoughtful voter sighs, "when the time again comes. The back-sit costs don't hit the skies. I'll go about the business sharp, nor waste a gold on day when carpenters consent to carp for wages I can pay. When lumber, plaster, nails and lime are sold for what they're worth, I shall not lose a moment's time—I'll build with pep and mirth. The house I've dreamed of in the past will go on board by board, when plasterers consent to plaster for what I can afford." A million more are talking thus, and if they'd go and build, and cease to brood and fret and fuss, with dire misgivings filled, we'd soon get back to normalcy—you've heard of that, mayhap; the normalcy that Warren G. has placed upon the map. Alas, poor dreaming, hopeful men, what are you waiting for? You'll never see the price again you saw before the war. Far better that your coin were spent for lumber, bath and lime, than keep on digging up the rent until the end of time. So rock your doubts and fears to sleep, and buy some brick or stone, and build your self a denjon keep that you can call your own.

Lloyd George.
 He needs a crisis every morning, and knocks it, groggy, to the floor; the crisis come, with acidity warning, and find him clamoring for more; he views the day with lofty scorn that does not bring him three or four. It seems as times he will be shaken, when adversers loom up strong; "at last," they cry, "he'll lose his bacon; we'll show him where he got in wrong;" but when they're by their goals forsaken, Lloyd George puts up a grand sweet song. His foes are always advertising that they will fire him from his chair; they have him where his tricks surprising will

The Menace.
 The road is dark with reckless drivers whose chances are small that they have less than fifty cents when they have paid for gas. They rot their cars where junk is sold by some commercial man; they get a load of cars, to have and hold, on the installment plan. And if they smashed my automobile, destroyed its priceless hood, they could not raise a silver dime to make the damage good. And if perchance they ran me down, and broke my costly spine, they could not raise a single crown to pay a claim of mine. Along the road their boats are hurled, for wrecks they do not care; they have no assets in the world, the damage to repair. Oh, in the future of beyond, on some bright day afar, the man must give an ample hand who hopes to drive a car. He'll have to show he can advance the rounds from his leg to pay the bill if he should chance to break some fellow's leg. He'll have to show he has the cash, the kopeks in a cat, to pay me, if with maiden rush he speals my new sedan. The rappers scorch along the bill, and by the virgin sword, and if they wreck or maim or kill they can make nothing good.

Encouragement.
 The man who holds excited place sees grief around knee, deep, and tears would trickle down his face if he had time to weep. Because he is a shining mark the knockers seek his trail; from early morn till after dark they roar and kick and wail. And so the great man's heart is sore, and life seems gray and flat, and off at night he walks a weary mile. Wherefore I say, We choose a skipper for our ship, a skipper brave and strong; but see he's had a chance to try we show him where he's wrong. We saw his stocks and his stocks before he's under-way-and-criticans, sneers and knacks confound him day by day. Encouragement the skipper courts, and all he gets is blame; and yet we think we're dead game sports, who play a decent game. The man who has a station high is much like Richard Roe; if he is praised he'll strive and try to make the business go. He's just as human as he was when he was pounding sand; his nature doesn't change because he's foremost in the land. With honest pride, emotions high, he feels his bosom swell, when people rear on end and cry, "Good-bay! You're going well!"

The Wise Physician.
 I had a lot of nupties upon my princely mug, and I took yards and simples and bitters by the jug. My blood was out of order, my life was full of care, and I was near the edge of bottomless despair. And many learned physicians prescribed their capsules gray—alas, conditions grew punier every day. And then I sought a healer who just had come to town, and many a boasting spieker proclaimed his wide renown. No sinner, trifling, concerning my digestion, my liver or my lung. He said, "You're always fussing with jinks, who lives next door; you two are soundly connected each other, ever more. Unless you live serenely your life I cannot cure, so long you've acted meanly it's made your mind more sore. Give way to passion, give rise to many ills, and you, in angry fashion, keep kicking o'er the shills. Go home and quit expounding the doctrine to jinks, and health and peace abounding will soon remove your jinks." His counsel, wisely given, I took, and saved my life, and from my head were driven all thoughts of hate and strife; and now glad smiles and dimples are strung around my map, where once unseemly pimples were prone to overlap.

Crime on the Increase.
 Lincoln, Neb., April 8—Crime conditions in Nebraska are much worse now than before the war or before national prohibition went into effect, it is indicated by reports of sheriffs gathered here.

In several counties sheriffs report that the populations of their jails have increased several hundred percent in comparison to the number confined at the same time in 1917. The majority of the sheriffs report that the increase is between 50 and 75 per cent. Sheriff of the Nebraska counties only report that there has been no increase in their counties. Sheriff Michael Clark, of Douglas county, who has more prisoners in his jail than any other Nebraska sheriff, blames "the unsettled condition of after the war, and assistance of automobiles" for the increased crime in his county. A number of sheriffs report that the high cost of living and "widens" has tended to increase crime in their counties. Violation of prohibition laws, it is indicated by the sheriffs' reports, are the most serious crimes confronting Nebraska sheriffs. In this connection, Sheriff J. W. McDaniel of Cheyenne county, says "the manufacture of poison-ming, depraving the minds of drinkers" is to blame for the increased crime. Sheriff McDaniels of Cheyenne county, states that there are about three times as many prisoners in his jail now, as there were at the same time in 1917. "The stealing and destruction of baggage and property, supposed to contain liquor," is a frequent law violation in Cheyenne county, Sheriff McDaniel reports. Reports of sheriffs would indicate that prohibition law violations are about equally divided between American and foreign born residents. Practically all sheriffs reporting agree that the average age of present day violators is considerably younger than it was four years ago. Sheriff Clark of Omaha, says that most of his wards are young men between the ages of 18 and 21.

Holding for Higher Prices.

Drivers Journal-Stockman: "If other feeders who still have their cattle feel the same way about this market as I do, there will not be many cattle shipped until prices get better," said Herman Heise, of Bancroft, who was down Saturday looking over conditions in the trade. Mr. Heise has a bunch of cattle that cost him $2.25 last November, and are in marketable condition now. He figures that feed is cheap enough to pay him to hold them until the market recovers from this slump.

Many cattle ought to have been shipped around the first of March, as I could have sold them then at a small profit, but everyone thought when that price would keep right on going up and I was crazy enough to think the same thing," Mr. Heise said. "After this experience maybe I'll know enough to sell when prices do get back up again."

"Before we can expect to make much money again we will have to forget a lot of the things we have been thinking the last few years. Less than a year ago many people said a bushel of corn would never sell at $1.00 a bushel again, and on the basis of that belief they bought land at unheard-of prices. At present corn is around a dollar a bushel, and it is just getting it husked cost us nearly a third of that."

"Farmers, and other people too, will also have to get used to the prevalent habits they formed during the war. No more silk shirts at $15 each, and shoes at the same price per pair. I used to smoke a good many cigars, but one day last fall it occurred to me that a bushel of corn only bought two smokes, and I've been smoking a pipe steadily ever since. When we think that it takes a bushel of corn to buy a gallon of gasoline, it makes us a little more careful of how we run our cars."

Mr. Heise says that the cattle have been moving out of his section rapidly of late and that there are few bunches left on feed. "If light receipts this summer will help the market, we certainly ought to see high prices," he said, "but I'm just about given up hope. They made so much fuss about the hog shortage, and I guess there really was none, but hogs are still down, and there doesn't seem to be much demand for them either."

Louisville Courier-Journal: A truly cultivated person is one who always manages to say "It's all right" though his thought may be "It's the
