Meeting Low Farm Prices.
C. H. Morrill, a wealthy banker and land owner of Nebraska writes in the Lincoln Star Journal that prices of commodities must come down to meet the low prices of farm stuff. The Journal wants to do its share in the "Come-down" and is offering to mail the daily from now until Jan. 1, 1922, for only $25.00, including the big Sunday Journal with its magazine and colored comic sections for only $3.00. This is really a way below the present cost of production, but there's only one way to come down and that's to come down. The Journal is the best buy in the newspaper field and I hope you will prove your interest in lower prices by sending in your subscription for the remainder of this year at this cut-price. J. C. Senecot, publisher.

Crooked Labor Agent Profits.
Chicago Tribune: A special committee of union carpenters now tells the grand jury that a certain business agent forced a contractor to pay him $500 for putting the union label on ponion millwork. The practice of this stamping nonunion materials is said to be common because of the inability of Chicago mills to supply the normal demand. That means the union workmen are being bunked, the contractors are being shaken down, building is restricted and jobs reduced in number, and only the crooked agent is profiting.

—QUALITY COUNTS

Monogram Oils
—Sold with Confidence—
—Used with Pleasure.

How many times when you were out on an auto trip have you been confronted with the question: What's the matter with the car; it seems to heat up? You were sure that it had plenty of oil at the start, and you wonder where it has disappeared. Nine chances out of ten the last time you filled up you asked the gasman for "a quart of oil." You got it. But there is just as much difference in oils as there is between daylight and dark.

The next time you are figuring on a trip drive to our station, let us drain out your old oil, and fill with clean, fresh, heat-resisting Monogram oil of the correct body for your motor. You may then go on your way assured that your car will give you the service for which it was intended.

Chancellor Recalls Annual Publication

Lincoln, May 28.—Fair co-eds don't deny they wear "teddy-bears" and silk pajamas. But they objected to being pictured as attired in the Cornhusker, University of Nebraska, annual...

Neither do the thin sisters care to be cartooned with toothpick limbs. So they got together Thursday night, rounded up all the newly issued copies they could lay hands on, and built a bonfire on the college campus.

The rest of the copies were yesterday regarded by Chancellor Avery to be beyond the "alleged scandal" matter left out. Responsible or "guilty" members of the student publication management will have to bear the extra expense.

Shows a Dimpled Knee. A flashlight picture of a popular sorority "brommy" leaning against a door, clad only in a pajama-top, designed to expose one bare leg and dimpled knee, was said to be the most objectionable photo in the banned book, according to the indignant maiden.

Other photos of girls in sleeping garments and lingerie of a personal sort were also pictured in the "student life" section.

No names of individual girls, but their sorority affiliation was given. Names of, however, accompany the cartoon section, in which the biggest hue-and-cry was raised on behalf of a prominent girl-of-modest-demeanor, rather thin, who was pictured in a ballet skirt above her knees.

"Who got those pictures?" is the terse, even if ungrammatical question the offended sorority girls are asking each other today.

A suspicion that the pictures were stolen by male members of the Cornhusker staff while on visit to the different sorority houses, is hourly gaining ground.

Did Grubb Do It? The name of Gaylord Grubb, who was appointed editor of the "student life" section early in the school year, but since suspended for delinquency, according to word from the Administration building, has been mentioned. Grubb is now managing a Lincoln business.

was appointed editor of the "student life" section early in the school year, but since suspended for delinquency, according to word from the Administration building, has been mentioned. Grubb is now managing a Lincoln business. Jack Lundale is editor of the Cornhusker. At the office of Dr. J. T. Lees of the faculty, who is censor for the Cornhusker, it was stated that Dr. Lees had not seen the offending pictures before they went in.

Copies are Recalled. Chancellor Avery issued a signed statement in the Daily Nebraskan, the university paper yesterday.

"I am more than pleased that the students show a disposition to rebuke those responsible for improper matter in the 'student life' section of the Cornhusker," he wrote. "He expressed that Dr. Lees' design turning the winter interloper with his duty as censor and continues: 'I have directed that all copies intended for circulation of the student life section of the high schools shall be rebound with all jokes and improper matter cut out.' "The expense must be borne by the student management," he declares.

"Barbs" Think Its Funny. "All sympathy is not with the sorority girls of the outraged feelings, however. The fair "barbs" affiliated with no sororities, are having a good laugh at the pictures.

"They posed for pictures in those costumes, even if they didn't know they would appear in print and evidently enjoyed doing that sort of thing. I think it's a good lesson for them," spoke one, in a matter-of-fact way.

Weight of New Capitol.

Lincoln, May 27.—There is no longer any question that the 50-foot stratum of Dakota sandstone, which underlies the city of Lincoln is strong enough to bear up the weight of the new capitol.

Tests made at the bottom of the pit, recently excavated on Capitol square show that the formation has a weight resisting power eight to ten times as great as will be needed to carry the tower of the new capitol, rising 400 feet above the surface of the ground.

The first test, made on a surface two inches square at the base of the 40-foot pit resisted 1,000 pounds of weight in the square inch before yielding slightly to its pressure. When 1,100 pounds per square inch was piled on, the sandstone collapsed and heaved up around the supporting column.

Another area, three inches square was taken up to 1,200 pounds. At that point the gravel bed held firm. The pressure was left on all night and the sandstone still held. It was expected to add 100 pounds or so more, but the men in charge of the experiment thought that the load-bearing platform would probably break down before the sand stratum could be further estimated. The weight of the new capitol tower at 140 pounds per square inch.

Bloomfield Has No Telephone Service

Norfolk Daily News: Bloomfield, Neb., continues after several weeks laid off from the outside world as far as telephone communication is concerned. An effort is being made to get from Norfolk over the long distance telephone Wednesday morning. The telephone service is now being restored from the telephone company.

The Bloomfield telephone station is closed and has been closed for some time. Bloomfield has no telephone service.

The only means of rapid communication to or from that town now is the telegraph, but the telephone office is closed at night and in case of emergency, the town would have to depend on the motorcycle or the automobile to convey the message to the nearest point of communication.

Great interest is shown here over the "strike" which the Bloomfield telephone users have inaugurated as a protest against the increase in telephone rates. Telephone men in this locality declare it is resolved to enter into a fight to the finish. The owners of the telephone lines, an independent company which has connections with the Bell organization, are determined that their rates are just and should be paid. The Bloomfield strikers are determined to fight back unless they are paid the "first move" was to stop local service. This inconvenience both the merchants and the business men, who have to do without the use of the telephone.

Stories of how serious was the handicap of having no telephone for the transaction of business are being spread through to Norfolk. Farmers couldn't get the market prices of their products without rushing a river into town. Merchants could telephone to their customers, six people had trouble reaching their doctors, but life went along under old-fashioned methods and the telephone and the long distance telephone were available. Suddenly the long distance service was cut out and that played havoc with some business, but both sides remain stubborn, and it is just a question of how long the strikers can withstand the early suspension of service, to which some men close to the situation refer as the "spanking" which is now being administered.

What America Escaped.

Kansas City Star: The Silesian struggle and the danger to European peace involved furnish a timely illustration of the sort of difficulty the United States would have been confronted with had it accepted the Versailles treaty and the league of nations. This is not the first boundary dispute that has arisen under the application of treaty provisions, nor is it the reason to suppose it will be the last.

The carving up of Central Europe into small states, to the unsettling of all economic and political conditions has resulted in conflicts of interest of which no end can be seen. Mr. Lloyd George's figure of children hankering for the crackling of dynamite is a responsible group of nations that is dissatisfied with a settlement throws a brick into the crucible. Even the most conservative cannot prevent them doing it.

Poland's request for the interposition of America in the Silesian difficulty is one that Secretary Hughes can now meet with the statement that it is a matter of purely European concern, and that in such concerns it is the traditional policy of this government not to interfere. He can make that reply only by reason of our complete isolation of action, which we preserved by remaining out of the settlement made at Paris. Had we gone in, this government would now be jointly responsible with France and Britain for the enforcing of whatever decision the allies may make with regard to Silesia.

This is an excellent example of the trouble we have kept out of by keeping out of Europe's racial and boundary quarrels.

By Fred S. Berry, his attorney. Prompt Punishment Needed. Chicago Tribune: What is needed is some prompt punishment of malfactors. If we are to have any respect for law, by rich or poor, the law must be made effective. If we have regions of city life where there is virtually no law except jungle law, the whole community eventually feels the effect. The law should be obeyed by all, and it will not be unless it is enforced without mercy or favoritism. The Rising Generation. It is weak and cowardly to escape burdens, and shift responsibility by means of self destruction.

We notice that a meat club has been organized among farmers in this vicinity. This is a laudable movement to overcome the large cost that develops from the time the animal leaves the farm until it is ready to serve as beef or pork.

Reduction of railroad wages twelve per cent is declared by railway executives to be insufficient to meet existing conditions and justify reduction in freight and passenger rates. And while the problem of wages is being considered, railway traffic has been reduced, and lack of normal volume, in a large measure due to high rates, is materially cutting down necessary earnings.

An educator suggests that the public has reason to look with disfavor upon appropriating money to keep up the state university if such honorable conduct as that reflected in the management of the late disgraced Cornhusker is not promptly and effectually banned. Boys and girls are sent to the university to gather valuable knowledge and to develop character and good manners. Elements of wholesome recreation and amusement are afforded without resort to objectionable behavior. Students who are not in school to improve themselves should be fired and sent home. While wishing to contribute liberally to education, taxpayers do not wish maintenance of an institution whose discipline is so indifferently regarded that coarse and disgusting sense of humor may find expression in the annual publication.

The Cornhusker, university annual, which appeared recently with some matter so objectionable that the chancellor called in the entire edition to have the offending pages removed, emphasized the need of more strict editorial censorship and deeper sense of personal responsibility. It also drove home a lesson to the sorority girls who were justly defended, to never pose for pictures that could be construed without causing humiliation. Any one with good judgment will be so guarded in both photographing and letter writing that no embarrassment can follow in the possible event of publication. This is probably now patent to the sorority girls who were victims of the late insubling publication.

Now, the boys who exercised so little sense in publishing the pictures, may also have learned something worth while by the experience.

We understand some of the main highways between towns in Iowa are being paved this year. The expense required to pave a town would seem far from so great as that needed to pave long stretches of country road. With Wayne paved, it will be in shape to profitably connect up with paved highways to Carroll, Winfield, Waterloo and Laurel, which will eventually follow in accordance with the demands of farming communities. With Wayne county's main highways paved, towns would be made easily accessible to the farmer who could market produce and purchase supplies without consulting the weather. Where re-employment of world conditions remove normally to the farming industry, the extension of paving into the country, thus more closely knitting together farming communities, will be in order. This has been done farther east, and can be done here.

Republicans and the Non-Partisan.
Omaha, Dec. 7.—Warning is served on the republicans of Nebraska that the Nonpartisan League plans to capture the organization. Any who have watched the progress of Townleyism will appreciate what this means. The burning process by which the organization was taken over in North Dakota has been in progress here for some time. As the last primaries the Townleyites did their level best to slip over candidates under the guise of republicans, and succeeded in a number of cases. No thought of the unfitness of such action seems to have troubled them. Deceitful and established parties as being corrupt and dishonest, and deserving of annihilation, the new movement hopes to secure power by concealing its candidates under another party label, thus practicing the very form of deception it most affects to detest.

Whatever question may be raised as to the purpose of the Townley group, none will deny it a right to exist, to organize, and to carry on its business after its own fashion so long as it does so in the open. But voters should be plainly apprised of the political character of the candidates who present themselves. If a democrat or republican sought election wearing the Nonpartisan label, intending to act and vote with another group after election, he would be soundly abused and certainly discarded on detection, and it would be difficult for him to get very far in such an attempt. Yet this is no worse than for a republican or a democrat who has recanted his faith and espoused that of Townley to seek re-employment in a long campaign to grab a nomination and election from the party he has abandoned.

If Townleyism deserves to succeed, it can succeed only if the republicans do not honest movement need hide behind another, which it seeks to destroy. Thirty-two years ago the Farmers' Alliance came boldly into the open, fought its fight without cover, and won for the greater part of its program. Should a similar agrarian movement be sought now, it would do far better to make its battle courageous, and not by the suggested process of secretly homecoming a party that is not behind its back, and which is honestly and sincerely endeavoring to give the state a good, honest and efficient administration.

Republicans do not fear an open enemy; the party has survived many attacks from secret foes. Leaders of the party in Nebraska do not so securely entrenched that they may relax vigilance. No better security exists could be given than the fact that continuance in power depends on faithful discharge of the trust so assigned. The Bee does not believe that Nebraska will follow the lead of North Dakota, but realizes the danger of the secret efforts at undermining the party now being carried on by its enemies.

Reduction in Railway Wages is Announced

Chicago, June 1. Approximately two-thirds of the wage increase granted employees last July by the railroad labor board is being withdrawn, beginning July 1 in the board's decision announced today. From the wage increase last year of 80.00 per cent for railway men, only 25 per cent will be left, it is estimated.

In the case of the general class of maintenance men, the board's order for the increase of $ 1.42 cents an hour was withdrawn.

2,000,000 Men Affected.
The decrease, it is estimated, would affect about two million men. The general average decrease is about 15 per cent, and is accompanied with an average of 21 per cent for U. S. Railway president of the Carcase, Baltimore and Ohio, and the Chesapeake and Ohio.

Gov. Weston, declared that the reductions granted were "not sufficient to meet the demands of the situation."

The decision of the board is accompanied with the issuance of a new card indicating for some of the practical details of the employment of Agree on Working Rules.

Omaha, Neb., June 1.—An agreement on rules and working conditions for signal men employed on the Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line, and the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company was reached yesterday by officials of the company and representatives of the men, according to an announcement last night by J. E. Hanchett, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America. The national working agreement ordered abrogated July 1 by the railroad labor board was used as a basis for the new agreement and was altered to meet local condition on the various lines affected. Mr. Hanchett said adding that there was no change in the eight hour day for the men.

Want Lower Freight Rates.
Omaha, Neb., June 1.—Omaha railroads operating between this point and the Pacific northwest, backed by Omaha dealers and builders, held a hearing before an examiner of the interstate commerce commission in an endeavor to obtain a reduction in lumber rates from the northwest to Omaha. Some time ago rates between the Northwest and Omaha were reduced from 43 cents to 40 cents per 100 feet, but this, it is claimed, still left the rates to Omaha higher than those to Minneapolis and St. Paul. It is this alleged discrepancy the local men are endeavoring to correct.

Jury's Act Astonishes.
Baltimore Sun: Kissing is an obscenity which should be based on intimacy or some well established custom, and not a Philadelphia juror has refused to convict a man who kissed a young girl after she had merely spoken to him with directions as to how to find a certain street. Philadelphia's streets are far more simple than Boston's and no stranger in the City of Brotherly Love need exhibit emotion when they are explained to him. Nor is brotherly love an excuse for kissing an adolescent girl. That no punishment was meted out to the violator of good taste and public decorum seems especially strange, in that the jury which passed on the case included three women.

Administration is Lucky.
New York Times: The luck of the Harding administration is almost uncanny. How could fortune have shown its greater favor than in putting forward Robert M. La Follette to gain the assault upon the president for naming representatives of the American government to sit in the councils and commissions of the allied governments of Europe?

THE CHICAGO LIGHT OPERA COMPANY IN "THE PARADE OF PENZANCE"

The Chicago Light Opera Company, under the personal direction of Reinhold Brändt, will present in full costume the popular comedy of Reinhold Brändt, "The Parade of Penzance" at the Chautauqua Theatre, beginning July 12. The production is a masterpiece of scenic art and singing, and the company will also give a full concert in the afternoon. The music is by Gilbert and Sullivan, and the story is a comedy of the highest order. The Early Days in Two Counties

From Wayne Herald June 1, 1897:

The railway company has put in a new windmill tower at the water tank.

C. A. Watson of Wayne, and Miss Anna Louise Riley of Pierce, were married June 6, 1897.

Agent Maran and Dispatcher Coyle have donned their new uniforms according to the new railway regulations.

The school board re-elected the following teachers: Mr. Howard, Miss Brown, Miss Dierker, Miss Schultz and Mrs. H.

The little son of G. Harrison was badly bitten by a monkey belonging to Peery & Matthews. The father brought suit against the company for $2,050.

People here to be humbugged, and the country was in a famous opera light season; of Dr. Alex Hume and Miss Kate Fox at the opera house Thursday.

While crossing a ditch on their way to town Mr. and Mrs. True Peery and baby met with a severe accident. The latter two were thrown from the buggy and were badly hurt.

A. A. Welch, W. J. McCoy, W. C. McClelland, E. W. Ashley and W. W. Bontrig are composing the committee who have presided over the school of Wayne. Seventy-two young men and women have graduated from the school.

Sheriff Reynolds issued an execution against the Peery & Matthews' assets which are in the hands of a trustee. Many bills were unpaid and laborers struck. It was not until Sunday noon that they adjusted matters.

The tenth annual commencement exercises of the Wayne high school were held this week. The class was composed of Frank W. H. Schoenwald, Arthur L. Tucker, John L. Juhn, Byron J. Hoyle, Louise A. Sullivan, E. Gravel, Lucette Carrie V. Kortright and E. Maude Bontrig.

From Ponca Journal June 1, 1892: From those who reside near town it appears that that place is rapidly becoming a place that is a feeble memento of what it was a few years ago.

Editor Fry of the Niobrara Pioneer has been appointed an Indian trader on one of the up-river reservations. This is unostentatious but rewarded.

The Wayne County Review seems to attack our Wakefield correspondent. Our Wakefield correspondent is a pond man and we regret that the Review pounces onto him.

A Wakefield correspondent June 1, 1892: This Sunday, May 21, 1892, of consumption, Mr. Charles Wilson, nephew of Ira Wilson of Wayne county.

Our enterprising citizens, Marriot Lowler and Graves have been ornamenting their lots with trees. A fine example for others to follow who feel interested in the future of the town.

Rev. Mr. Fowler of Ponca delivered a very interesting discussion at the school house last Sunday evening. All who felt interested in a Sunday school should meet at the school house next Sunday at 11 o'clock when efforts will be made to organize such an institution.

Community Fairs.

Drovers' Journal-Stockman-Drovers at the livestock meeting at Ames the other day, H. C. Devar of Cherokee, has collected an audience about a local livestock show held in his neighborhood last fall. It was a show in which about 200 cattle, hogs and horses were exhibited.

Interested were people in this show that twenty-one acres of ground were required to back the sides of these in attendance. Farmers found out for the first time in many cases the quality of the stock kept by their near neighbors, stock which possessed an excellence of which they little realized. In Mr. Devar's opinion, this show marked a forward step in real interest in more and better livestock.

Up at Cuthbert, in Sarban county, S. D., this spring, a minister, Rev. Mr. Shorner, conceived the idea of having a community fair and festivities.

val. It took only a small amount of energy to get other folks interested and the thing was put across. In this case the exhibit did not include livestock, but forty men of the community brought in corn and there were many exhibits of wheat and oats and fruits and vegetables. The exhibit was on display in a church and were judged by a competent judge and ribbons placed. It was a get-together day and at noon a banquet was held in the basement of the church with about 200 in attendance. Men talked corn and potatoes and farm problems in general, while the women conferred on problems of the farm home. Lecturers were secured, who gave appropriate talks on farm topics. The expense of this show was very little and the interest was indeed keen.

A community fair is in reality a miniature county fair staged by the people of a community to promote its social and economic life. Where these fair have been held they have secured valuable aids and benefited community cooperation in worthwhile enterprises. Exhibits at such fairs may include livestock, farm, orchard and garden products, sewing and cooking exhibits, and school exhibits. Competent judges should be secured for placing ribbons and literary program should be arranged. It is not essential that money prizes be awarded. In fact, a small amount of money can be secured without the giving of money or merchandise, and the experiences of communities that this is true. Then, too, it has been found that the community fairs stimulated interest in the county fairs.

Live-stock and other exhibits, and county fairs, making their plans only can put on creditable community fairs that will be their respective communities. These fairs will give farmers a chance to see what their neighbors are doing, show them where they can secure valuable information, and give them a chance to get out of their own little world. Best of all, it gives a man the chance to rub elbows with his neighbors.

HAY MACHINERY

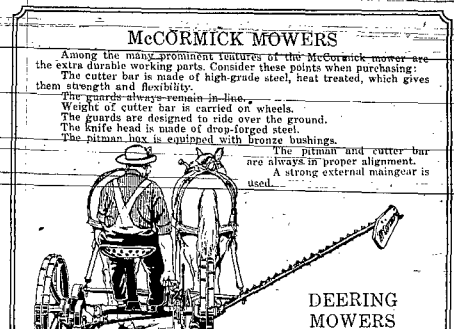

Don't delay—it is now time to think about hay tools, and we ask your earnest consideration of the standard lines we carry. When you go to the field you want implements that will stand up under the hardest kind of work, and in selecting our line we have stressed this particular point. Judge our line by its performance in the field. Our prices and service are absolutely right.

MCCORMICK SELF-DUMP HAY RAKE
The self-dump feature is permanent and never fails to work. All the operator has to do is to press a small foot lever and the horses do the rest. When the trip lever is pressed down, the pawls at the end of the trip rods engage the wheel, which causes the rake teeth to drop. The dump rods are reversible and the wearing surfaces are tempered. Adjustments can be made to raise the teeth to any desired height. If the rackets become worn, wheels may be reversed. The teeth are made of high-grade oil-tempered steel, and will positively spring back to their original shape.

DEERING SELF-DUMP RAKES
They are made of steel throughout. It is built so strongly that it will stand up successfully under the roughest usage and the hardest work to which it may be subjected. The best-angle steel is used in the construction of the frame and the different parts are put together in a substantial manner.

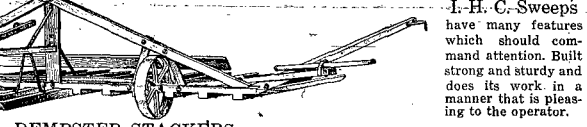

DEERING MOWERS
A STRONG, LIGHT RUNNING MOWER
Deering mowers have a world-wide reputation for light draft. This is because of the light but strong construction of the machine and the fact that ball-roller bearings are used wherever there is any great amount of friction. These features mean that the horses can do a longer day's work.

I. H. C. AND DEMPSTER SWEEPS AND STACKERS

Both of these well known lines have many features that will appeal to the man who wishes to put up his hay in the most efficient manner.

The Dempster No. 8 Sweep is a well known style and one quite generally used. The Dempster construction has increased its popularity by making it stronger and more serviceable.

I. H. C. Sweeps have many features which should command attention. Built strong and sturdy and does its work in a manner that is pleasing to the operator.

The Dempster stacker is exceptionally light draft because the load is always lifted close to the pivot point of the arms and for this reason the distance of the drive is cut down which means quicker delivery. It is not necessary to stink down the rear end of the Dempster stacker, neither is it necessary to stake the front, because in starting a stack the head does not lift high enough when delivering the load to tip the machine over. It is exceptionally easy to adjust to deliver hay at different points. It is entitled to a place on every farm where modern, efficient labor saving machinery is taking the place of the slow wearisome methods of the past.

Prof. M. M. Fogg Gives Commencement Talk

Commencement exercises for the mid-year class and the class of 1921 of the Wayne high school were held at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, June 2. Miss J. M. Mill played the processional march. Miss Iris Burgess, of Bloomfield, Ia., accompanied on the piano by her sister, Miss Jessie Burgess, played two violin selections. Miss Kathryn Bohner and Miss Lydia Griggs accompanied by Miss Burgess and John Huffard, sang "The Spring Song."

Prof. M. M. Fogg of the state university gave the address on "Democratic and Straight Thinking." He emphasized the need of the continual building of a democracy that it was not possible to build and then leave it satisfied that it would always remain so. He illustrated his point by the revolution in France and the recent war.

He does not long retain the facts he learned in America, Mr. Fogg declared, "but he does retain the development of the mind in learning the facts. The trouble with the majority of students today is that they do not read nor think enough. The fellow who commits everything to memory will never have a success. It is thinking that is needed as the present time."

Dr. C. T. Ingham on behalf of the board of education, presented the address. Prof. J. R. Armentrout announced the student having the highest average of the four years as Miss Leila Mitchell who was awarded a scholarship.

The First Coronation of a Poet Laureate

Lincoln Journal: The first coronation of a poet laureate this side of the Atlantic will take place Saturday, June 18, in Lincoln when John G. Nehardt will be coronated in vestments with the dignities and prerogatives of the title conferred on him by the legislature of 1921. President C. B. Nehardt will be coronated in vestments and will name a committee to arrange the details.

Although the first poet laureate to be designated in America, Mr. Nehardt has never been officially notified of his distinction. His admirers throughout the state have offered to help in this new and interesting post upon him with due ceremony, and it has been suggested that special invitations be issued to professors and teachers of English, and authors and artists of any distinction in this section. The city campus has been suggested as an appropriate place for the coronation. Mr. Nehardt having received an honorary degree from the university of Nebraska a few years ago.

Neighborhood clubs at Omaha and Wayne bear the distinction of being among the very few such organizations honoring a living author. Their members meet regularly for the study of his poetry, many of which deals with the early explorers of the Mississippi valley and the settlement of the western states.

Nebraska Banks Have No Cause For Worry

Lincoln, Neb., May 31.—The general consensus in banking circles in Nebraska is that there is nothing fundamentally different in the financial conditions in this state than in any other. Here and there a bank has broken under the strain, but in all but one or two instances the crash has come about through the speculation of the officers. Here, as elsewhere, the reserves have been pulled down from their old levels, but this does not indicate that any fundamentally unsound condition prevails among the banks of the state.

The First National at Sidney was closed because the withdrawal of deposits, made for the purpose of paying off debts by the owners, of the money, came at a time when the loans made by the bank to perfectly good wheat growers were uncollectible, due to the fact that the makers of the notes were making the making of a new crop while still holding onto the old crop for better prices. The First National at Bridgeport gave away under the strain. When a depositor presented a check for $10,000 he found the bank without the cash on hand to pay it, and under the law it had to close.

Others in Same Fix.

The same condition prevailed at Oshkosh, Long Pine and one or two other places where the banks' capital and a part of its deposits were tied up in frozen credits, loans of men financially good but in no condition to pay now. At Valparaiso, Cresco, Hader, Rockton, Blair and Beviders bank funds were used for speculation.

Bankers are agreed that all of the banks, both in this state and other states, are carrying a lot of paper that should have been liquidated months ago. During the easy money period many perfectly solvent men borrowed a lot of money to buy stocks in enterprises that have since failed or are in an unprosperous condition. Many of these were farmers who have not been able to pay off these notes because of the great slump in the prices of their products. Many of the loans were financed in modest amounts by the banks, and they cannot pay for the same reason. They hadn't enough to cover living expenses to liquidate.

During the same period, particularly in the manufacturing states, banks acquired high priced inventories and the security has shrunk as these prices have shrunk, a condition that does not necessarily injure the banks, but it means a lot longer time for the borrower to pay out. Their paper joined the list of other frozen credits, and only time will melt them.

Paying for Folly.

Some bankers that aided stock salesmen in unloading on their customers are paying for their folly in the blood they are now paying. They got part of the proceeds in the shape of a commission, and were able to make cash whereby the money was not taken from the banks, but left there as certificates of deposit that are now failing due, and pulling out money sadly needed to maintain reserves and enough cash on hand to do business.

The buying power of the farmers of the country is estimated to be 50 per cent of the total. The prices of the things they sell have been cut in two, but the goods they would normally buy are not large in volume, comparatively little. The result is that the farmers are not buying, and this plays havoc all along the line. They are buying less, and their orders are not large in volume, and the unemployment that results has still further decreased the buying power of the consuming class by going with a liding when they must.

That the situation is fundamentally sound is shown by the fact that the farmers will soon have a crop and a half to cash in on, and if the minimum price will give way by the time they get their money, the cashing-up process will come with a rush. Until then the situation, bank executives say, is likely to remain tense, but not actually menacing.

Bou. Aged 11, Drowned In Northfork River

Norfolk, Neb., May 28.—William Frye, 11, was drowned in the Northfork river this afternoon in sight of scores of his companions who were fishing on the banks and who thought the lad was joking when he went under the water several times. He was floating around in the swirling rapids under the apron of the mill dam on the inner tube of an automobile tire. A weak patch gave way and the lad went under the surface of the water for the third time. The body was taken from the rapids below the apron of the mill dam late this afternoon.

 Mrs. Ed. Gibson of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peterson of Monticello, spent Memorial day in Wayne, guests while here of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Porter.

Prof. I. H. Brittel went to Battle Creek Monday morning to give the Memorial day address, and from there went to Fullerton to talk before an eighth-grade graduating class.
 Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blackford and Mrs. R. G. Wright of Newcastle, motored to Wayne Monday to spend the day with J. H. Wright and family and attend the Memorial day program.

Frank Kloppe who returned from Omaha Monday morning reports that his brother Albert Kloppe, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kloppe, underwent an operation Saturday for mastoid trouble. The young man is reported recovering satisfactorily.
 Elmer Gatley, J. W. Morgan, Gus Hansen and P. G. Jones arrived home the first of the week from Granite Falls, Minn., where they spent ten days fishing. They caught an abundance of fish from the Mianasse river.
 Wilder Morgan who resides at Granite Falls, returned with the party for a visit here.
 After the usual initial engagement, Walter Svudige left with his carnival aggregation in a special train Sunday for Norfolk, his next stop. The performers here were liberal in their gifts and were much appreciated. The dramatic players are uniformly better than any group we have here appearing for the local showman. If the carnival is rewarded according to merit, it will enjoy largely increased revenues during the season just opening.

Crop Report for the State of Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., May 30.—A lowering condition of winter wheat, the leveling of corn practically completed and the cultivation of early corn begun, lower prospects for apples and other tree fruits are the important features of the weekly crop report of the bureau of crop estimator by A. E. Anderson, agricultural statistician for the state of Nebraska.
 While the prospects for the general winter wheat crop of Nebraska are lower than previously, general conditions of a half crop or more reduction in yield is premature, he says. The crop has been heading out unevenly for the past week but an average yield is still possible. Conditions are favorable until harvest time.
 Most of the wheat needs rain at this time to insure proper filling, the bureau states. A heavy rain is pronounced general but light and as the harvest will be earlier than usual the chances of damage from black shank and other diseases are reduced.
 Turning yellow of the lower leaves is said to be only natural and the other dead branches are the results of the freeze. Part of the wheat has had an unhealthy appearance. However, there is no cause for alarm at present.

Corn Planting Completed.
 The planting of corn is completed and the stand is unusually good, the report states. The cultivation of corn is in progress and the early condition of it is pronounced good, but somewhat affected by the early freezing. Barley is promising and the yield is expected to be good and promising in the western part of the state. Spring wheat is reported in good condition. Some of the potato crops in the state are better but their condition is generally good. The first crop of alfalfa is lighter than last year and will soon be ready for use.
 There has been a marked decrease in prospects for tree fruits and the prospects for apples are pronounced cut in two. The commercial apple crop in Nebraska is estimated not exceed 5 per cent of a crop. Nemaha county has 10 per cent, Cass and Otoe counties have 2 per cent. The chief cause for the generally failures, according to Mr. Anderson while most of the small fruits are promising.

Business.
 Sioux City Journal: Two most satisfactory developments that will have their bearing on business recuperation have come within the week. These were the prospective reduction in freight rates announced by the railroad lines west of Chicago to coastal points, and the White House conference between President Harding and representatives of the banking interests on the extension of loans and credits to foreign governments and individuals.
 The latter would recognize that steps forward have been taken and that business is to be greatly benefited by what has been done. The features mentioned are the most outstanding reported for some weeks. Coming as they do at the beginning of the summer season, they are the public's desire to purchase is below normal. They will help to form the foundation on which the solid structure of business integrity will be built in the quiet months preceding autumn activities. It is not extravagant to speculate on the possibility of September or October showing a most extensive and dependable recovery. It does not appear safe to predict complete rehabilitation against that time, but it is believed the process will have been carried far and that a greatly increased momentum will have been gained when the fall term opens its doors wide to more willing buyers.
 Neither the freight rate reduction nor the White House conference attended by the bankers is expected to accomplish everything desired; but that each will go far in this direction is very plain to the most casual looker-on. The increased freight rates show the first disintegration of the adamant attitude of the railroad managements that has tariffed the wheels could not be lowered. This surely was in error, for the impossible has been done by the railroads themselves. The reduction represents only a fraction of transportation handled, which does not present a material benefit except in its value of influence on other industries and its promise of subsequent constructive decisions. That other freight rate reductions will be announced in the near future is a foregone conclusion. What will come out of the White House conference may be summed up as follows: A better understanding of the needs of American business and a more thorough knowledge of how to provide that need. It is a question of money in the first place, with the manner in which that money must be cashed about so that foreign may buy American goods. If interest rates charged by the American financiers are interpreted as nervous, the final effect of this charitable financing of Europe will be a pleasant recognition of the business needs toward the United States, which country even might be looked upon as "worse" than the other. The latter is filled with gigantic possibilities for good.

 Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation says: "There is an abundance of new business with both ability and inclination to place it, waiting for further adjustments which will put costs of living, selling prices, wage rates and other general incomes on a relative parity. Patience, courage and a fair disposition will bring satisfactory conditions in due time." He also believes the people are not now buying enough to supply themselves with the ordinary comforts of life because of their opinion that "has not been complete and proper readjustments of prices." This latter statement of Judge Gary probably is exaggerated, for the public may be counted on to buy to the limit of its ability in order to obtain the "ordinary comforts of life." No one has doubted that the people have money. Lack of circulation does not prove non-possession of money. Buyers may be holding off in the hope of further price reduction, but they will not undergo hardships to protect that kind of a principle. Bradstreet's review agrees with Judge Gary only in part, consequently has excellent opportunities for observation. Yet his insists that immediate needs enter as a factor and that there are many examples of increased activity.

 Are Women Uncivilized?
 New York Herald: Women, according to Prof. Hamilton P. Cady, of the University of Kansas, are "far less civilized than they were in the so-called barbaric ages." Then men painted themselves and women did, as time went on men "came to realize the futility of such decoration," and painting the body was abandoned by them; but women have brought the art to a popularity it never had with men.
 If Prof. Cady is correctly quoted, it follows that in his opinion men have advanced in civilization while women have been slipping back. This is alarming if true. Men have just given equal political rights to women here, in England and in many other countries. If it turns out that women are retrograding, the males have blindly invited the destruction of everything humanity has won through their efforts.
 We may be permitted to hope Prof. Cady is usually agitated. He is a chemist in a vocational school and consequently has excellent opportunities for observation. Yet his conclusions should be checked up before they are finally accepted. Fortunately we may be able to corroborate them with the outcome of the studies of our young women now being made by another chemist.

 The colleague of Prof. Cady, whom we have in mind, may be known to him by reputation. We refer to Mrs. Curie.

Culled From Herald's Exchanges For Week

W. H. O'Gara of Laurel, received a lot of perch and channel cat from the state fish department which he put into the Logan creek. The department notified him that he would receive another consignment soon.

A poultry association for the poultry breeders of Stanton county was organized at Stanton Thursday, May 12. The object of the club is to develop more and better poultry. A committee was appointed to secure members.

The 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Shumaker of Stanton drank a solution of strychnine, sugar and water which he found while playing. The child went into convulsions and a doctor was immediately summoned. He succeeded in saving the child's life.

Ensign is equipping the city park on 18th Grandland highway for tourists. Groves, running water and light are at the disposal of the travelers. Other apparatus including swings, slides and teeter boards will be added. The city board will give contracts in the park twice a week. Meyer-Cunningham and Marcelus Hansman of Bloomfield disconnected a tank in full operation within the city last week and the owner, Peter Suby, under the influence of his manufacturer's liquor. Suby was arrested and fined one hundred dollars and costs. Being unable to pay he is serving time in jail. The apparatus and a quantity of mash were confiscated.

Nicholas Jacobs of Stanton recently invented a filling number plate for automobiles. The plate is designed for attachment to the fuel tank with the intention that each vehicle having an individual number. The material is intended so that it cannot be removed without ruining the tank and making it impossible to use it again. When the device is installed a thief could find it impossible to remove the number or to change it.

"The rumor persists," says the Randolph Times-Enterprise, "in railroad circles that the B. & O. road running through Randolph to Bloomfield is fighting on taking off one of its passenger trains, thus cutting down expenses and at the same time cutting off service and accommodation along the line and reducing mail service. Whether it will be done or not, or whether an attempt will be made to put it over with the railway commission is not definitely known. It is known, however, that the high cost of railway travel is not getting any business for the roads. One morning this week the till at the Omaha station wasn't even opened, the first time in years that such a thing as not taking in a penny for the early train has happened. People are not paying the high railway rates, but are using automobiles several saving in getting from place to place. Large business concerns find that their salesmen can cover more territory at less expense in a small car than by rail. Another thing is that the railroads are afraid of reducing the wage of their trainmen because of the threat of a strike and a tie-up of the roads. The question has settled down to this: Cheap or no business and the returned rates are really up against a hard proposition. With better highways automobile trucks will out the freight business. The last increase of 30 per cent in freight rates was a knock-out."

Agriculture Notes

Clover Pests Cause Loss. Decided increase in the destructive attacks by the lesser clover leaf weevil, a serious insect pest, in the states of Illinois, Indiana and Missouri is reported through the country-wide insect pest survey conducted by the bureau of entomology, United States department of agriculture. This pest, it is said, in conjunction with the clover leaf-miner and the clover root-curculion, sometimes accompanied by a fungus disease, is becoming so serious in parts of Ohio that clover and other clovers are being substituted by farmers for red clover, it being impossible to grow the latter crop successfully.

Below Par Average. The prices of six of the important crops on May 1 of this year were below the prewar average prices for the date, according to figures collected by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture. These crops are corn, wheat, barley, rye, potatoes and cotton. The report showed that the prices of the three grains—wheat, corn and barley—were above the prewar average prices. During April the average price of wheat declined from $1.50 to $1.23 per bushel. The report shows that in general the industrial crops, such as flax, cotton, and broom corn, are the most depressed in price, and that food crops, such as wheat, rye, potatoes, and apples, show relatively less decline. The prices in various parts of the country vary, with South Dakota being the center of the low-price district, the May 1 report shows. The average price of wheat in that state was 90 cents per bushel, and in some counties it was as low as 70 cents. Corn was selling at an average price of 42 cents per bushel in South Dakota, while the average price for the United States was nearly 60 cents. The price of oats was 33 cents per bushel in South Dakota, the average for the United States being 38.8 cents. The report showed a big decline in the price of old potatoes especially in Michigan, where the average was 22 cents a bushel, which was 20 cents below the average for the United States.

Maggot Attacks Potatoes.

A very severe outbreak of the seedcorn maggot, accompanied by a fusarium rot, in seed potatoes is prevalent in the Atlantic Coastal plain extending from North Carolina to the eastern shore of Maryland and practically covering the important potato producing states. According to reports to the bureau of entomology, United States department of agriculture, specialists of the bureau of entomology point out on the situation as a very complicated one, saying that it is evident that while part of the decay followed the damage done by the maggot, there was a good deal of the damage is traceable to other initial causes, including especially the unusual seasonal conditions that prevailed during the early part of March.

The relative amount of insect or fungus injury varied in different instances. In some the rot was predominant, while in others it was absent, and fungi seemed to be entirely responsible for the decay. Among the secondary factors that aggravated the conditions were the planting of seed pieces directly on the fertilizer, the fact that seed was sometimes cut and kept in bags for several days to two weeks before planting, and the use of home-stored northern seed as compared with cold-stored northern seed. Experts from New Jersey say that the maggot has appeared in large numbers over the southern third of the state and has done serious damage to corn and bean seed, to lettuce plants, and in some instances to potatoes. The rapid advance of the destruction from North Carolina, through Virginia and Maryland, is thought to indicate the possibility of damage in the early-trucking section of Long Island.

Injustice to Universities.

Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: We cannot believe that the modern university is a hotbed of bolshevism, communism and other cults as charged recently by a retiring college president. If this were true, we should have more bolshevism that we have. The universities are each year graduating thousands upon thousands of the brightest of our young men and women and if they were tainted with socialism and bolshevism as charged, these cults would be growing faster than they are. We very much fear that someone wanted to say something to put himself in the headlines.

Harvey Tells Truth.

Albany News: The anti-Harvey press is much agitated over the colonel's maiden speech as an ambassador. The chief thing they seem to have against it is that our diplomatically untrained minister—to the court of St. James told the truth.

New York World: What this country needs is an immigration policy that will judge immigrants not on their much-feared ability to read and write, but on their ability to earn a certain number of each race, most unfairly determined, has arrived.

Proquois, S. D. Chief: By the way, what has become of Woodrow Wilson? There is a splendid opportunity for some Washington correspondent to pull a seep by printing a story of what Woodrow is doing and how he is doing it.

Entertain Junior Farmers.

Lincoln, Neb., May 28.—More than 200 boys and girls will attend the annual boys and girls club week at the college of agriculture May 30 to June 4. There are seventy-eight girls and 130 boys enrolled. Of these eighty-four will have all expenses paid as a reward for their club activities while the remainder will pay fee of ten dollars to partially cover expenses.

The mornings will be spent in classroom work at the college, and the afternoons will be devoted to tours of state institutions, factories and commercial business houses. Lectures, music, moving pictures and games will constitute the night programs. The Nebraska Farmer will publish the Junior Farmers' Proceedings.

Commerce will give them a dinner Wednesday night.

On Thursday afternoon the boys and girls will go by automobile to Crete, where they will visit the mills, a creamery and Doane college and eat a picnic supper on the banks of the Blue River. The following day a special train will take them to Omaha, where the day will be spent visiting the packing plants, stock yards, smelters and factories. The Omaha chamber of commerce will entertain the visitors with a dinner at night.

About fifty counties of the state will be represented in the boys and girls club week program. Clay county will have forty-eight, the largest delegation. A number of local club leaders, county club agents, county agricultural club home agents will accompany the boys and girls.

Ephemeral Output.

Laying Off Employees.

Sioux City Journal, June 1: The recent report of intended decimation of the railway shops and yards forces to the extent of 30 per cent of the whole number is expected to become a verity today by the reduction that will affect all the large establishments throughout the United States.

Decision of the national labor board sitting at Chicago on the question of wage schedules will be announced today if the line of procedure adopted by the union and the labor board is not subjected to change.

At Missouri Valley 250 of the shopmen and other employees of the Chicago and Northwestern railway have been temporarily laid off from employment, according to reports coming to Sioux City officials.

All shops except two on the Great Northern have been closed for a period of time extending from May 27 to July 5 due to light and decreasing traffic and the inability of the lines to meet the prospective expenses of operation.

About 1,700 shopmen will be affected by the reduction of forces on the Chicago, St. Paul, Hudson and Omaha railway. Shop employees of the Omaha railway in Sioux City, St. Paul, Hudson, Minn., and Omaha will be affected. The railroad has shop rosters, said an Omaha official today.

Sign. C. H. Buford stated that the labor force of the Chicago, St. Paul and St. Paul railway in Sioux City have not as yet suffered reduction. No information was offered as to the probable date of starting of Sioux City shops, which employ from 400 to 600 men.

A wage reduction generally of 10 per cent is made today by the labor board, said it is asserted.

Rescuer Perishes.

Alliance, Neb., May 31.—Plunging into a pool of cold water while overhauling a boat, the death of the life of a drowning child, is believed to have contributed to the death of John J. Vance, aged 63 years, who died here Monday morning at 10 o'clock after he had rescued the child. The 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Moxon, of this city, fell into four feet of water in a boat, started by Vance for a cellar. Mr. Vance was building a cement sidewalk nearby. Hearing the screams of the child, he jumped into the water and rescued the boy who had gone down for the second time. He returned to his work and in a few minutes dropped into a faint, was taken to the hospital and died there.

Perishing in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., May 31.—Gen. John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the United States Army, has arrived here on a visit to his son Warren, and two sisters, Miss May Pershing and Mrs. J. M. Bupp. The general will remain here a week and is scheduled to address a war-veterans' next Friday night and to speak at the commencement exercises of the university of Nebraska on June 7.

204 of said city shall be paved except all alley wings shall be paved the full width of the street. All grading, drainage, guttering, curbing and paving shall be done and performed in accordance with the engineer's plans and specifications of said paving district, which have been duly approved and accepted by said city and are now on file in the office of the clerk.

Section 3. Said city shall proceed as soon as practicable to advertise for bids for said improvements by publication for not less than three weeks. Bids shall be requested on the following materials for paving, to-wit: Brick, sheet asphalt, asphalt concrete and cement concrete for alley wings. After consideration of bids, the mayor and council shall determine and designate the material or materials to be used and shall award a contract or contracts for said improvements, but not at a price exceeding the estimate of the engineer, which has been adopted and approved as herein provided.

Section 4. Said city shall levy a special assessment on the lots and parcels of land in said paving district adjacent to or abutting on said streets therein, or specially benefited by said improvements, in proportion to such benefits, in the manner provided by law, to pay the expense of grading, draining, curbing, guttering and paving the streets and alleys in said district, except the expense of grading, curbing, guttering, and paving the intersections and areas formed by the crossing of streets and alleys and one-half of the streets adjacent to real estate owned by the United States or the State of Nebraska.

Section 5. The expense of grading, draining, curbing, guttering and paving the intersections and areas formed by the crossing of streets and alleys and one-half of the streets adjacent to real estate owned by the United States or the State of Nebraska, shall be paid by said city and said city shall, in the manner provided by law, assess the same upon all taxable property within said city.

Section 6. To pay the cost of paving the streets in said district, except the intersections and areas formed by the crossing of streets and alleys and one-half of the streets adjacent to real estate owned by the United States or the State of Nebraska, said city of Wayne, Nebraska, shall issue its bonds, called District No. 6, in such denominations, bearing such date, payable at such time, not exceeding twenty years, and bearing such rate of interest, not exceeding seven per cent per annum, as said city may determine and designate by resolution or ordinance; or said city may issue its warrants, called District Paving Warrants of District No. 6, numbered consecutively and payable in the order of their number, bearing such date, in such denominations, and bearing such rate of interest, not exceeding seven per cent per annum, as said city may determine and designate by resolution or ordinance. The special assessments and taxes provided to be levied in section 4 hereof shall constitute a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds, warrants and interest.

Section 7. To pay the cost of grading, draining, guttering, curbing and paving the intersections and areas formed by the crossing of streets and alleys and one-half of the streets adjacent to real estate owned by the United States or the State of Nebraska, said city shall issue its bonds, called District No. 6, in such denominations, bearing such date, payable at such time, not exceeding twenty years, and bearing such rate of interest, not exceeding seven per cent per annum, as said city may determine and designate by resolution or ordinance; or said city may issue its warrants, called District Paving Warrants of District No. 6, numbered consecutively and payable in the order of their number, bearing such date, in such denominations, and bearing such rate of interest, not exceeding seven per cent per annum, as said city may determine and designate by resolution or ordinance. The special assessments and taxes provided to be levied in section 4 hereof shall constitute a sinking fund for the payment of said bonds, warrants and interest.

Decorations Day Services. An exceptionally large crowd attended the services Monday morning. The Civil War and World's War veterans met at the park at 9 o'clock and a procession led by three veterans of the Civil War, thirty boys in khaki, and two in sailor uniforms, and two uniformed nurses, marched to the church.

High School Alumni Banquet. The Ladies Aid society served the banquet for the high school alumni in the church basement Friday evening. Places were laid for thirty members. Before the 21 class were allowed at the table, a form of initiation was given which caused much fun.

The Fix James of France. Baltimore American: Premier Briand of France, impressed evidently by the things which Lloyd George has been whispering in his ear, and impressed too, doubtless by what he knows Mr. Hughes would be whispering in his ear if Mr. Hughes would whisper, and having made himself known as a firm friend by the boldness of his stand on reparations, at last turns his guns on the nationalist extremists in his own country and directs them to shoot first.

Rain in Western Nebraska. Omaha, Neb., May 31.--Heavy rains in Colorado and western Nebraska delayed railroad traffic in Nebraska today. A washout at Wray, Colo., delayed Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train No. 6, Denver to Chicago for more than ten hours. Railroad tracks were also washed out near Oxford, Neb., where a cloud-burst was reported.

Yap Convoyance Invalid. New York Times: Japan stands now upon the decree of the council conveying to the island of Yap. That conveyance is invalid, as successive notes from Washington to Manila and the present administration have demonstrated. It is invalid because the United States, by the terms of the treaty a party in interest, was not consulted.

More Inviting Field Beckons. Washington Post: There are 298 lawyers in congress, but if the divorce business among people with money keeps on growing they won't be three long.

Mar. Ignores Admonition. Chicago News: President Harding's "It must not be again" is a fine sentiment, but war has never been noted for heeding admonitions that were not backed by some sort of force, physical or moral.

Hospital Notes. Dr. V. L. Siman was a professional visitor to Carroll Tuesday. Mrs. Oscar Ramsey is reported doing nicely after a major operation last week. Miss Lena Trouton of Sioux City came Friday to care for Wm. Rhudy.
