WAYNE HERALD WILL AWARD DODGE TOURING CAR IN SALESMANSHIP CLUB

Prizes and Commissions to go to Workers in Automobile Building Campaign.

WILL LAST SEVEN WEEKS
Eminent Fairness and Exact Impartiality Will Govern Affairs of Salemanship Club.

If you are devoid of enthusiasm and that quality called "pep" in the language of the day, you will not be one of those who will go further. But if you are actually open to a call from opportunity and have a fair ambition, then we know you will be tremendously interested in this offer.

Some wise man said, "Important openings occur during the Blue Moon season." We do not prepare to state whether or not this is the Blue Moon season, but we do know that one of these important happenings is going to be realized in Wayne and surrounding territory in the next seven weeks.

We do not wonder why you are beating around the bush. We are merely trying you out. If you are a live wire you will have the patience to read the great Salemanship Club which will extend over a period of seven weeks ending Saturday, August 13.

The first capital award will be a $1,280 Dodge Brothers touring car. The automobile is on display at Burritt Wright's sales room. It is needless to go into a lengthy discussion regarding Dodge Brothers products as they have a reputation of the world that is beyond reproach. This $1,280 Dodge touring car is absolutely new, is on display at Burritt Wright's sales room, and will not be driven during the campaign.

The second capital prize will be a beautiful $295 Edison phonograph. The Edison is one of the most popular machines on the market today, with the appearance of which you will be scouring this prize, and is on display at the Jones Book-Music Store.

The third capital prize is a beautiful $180 Hudson's furniture store. This is one of the best furniture stores in town, and is on display at the Hudson's furniture store.

The fourth capital prize is a $72.50 Hoover Battery kitchen cabinet, and you can purchase it on display at Gaertner's furniture store.

In addition to the prizes as listed above, all members in the campaign will receive each a $10.00 cash prize if they turn in eight or more subscriptions on or before August 13. These prizes will not interfere with the awarding of the grand prizes or the commissions. Start early, secure eight subscriptions or more, and receive one of the "Baby Lamb" emblems.

In addition to this large list of awards, each and every member of the Salemanship Club will receive a prize and making a cash report each week of the campaign will receive a cash commission of 20 per cent. Every member who brings in a report will be bound to be a winner, and will be paid for the time that is invested with an award or a cash commission.

Honestly can you afford not to try for these prizes as these especially when all that is required from you is a few spare hours for a few weeks? If you are at all desirous of possessing a real automobile or getting good service, this is your opportunity.

The fact that you are not an experienced salesman, need not prevent you from entering the campaign and sharing in the valuable awards. When the matter is affixed down, every member will receive a commission to a greater or less degree. The Salemanship Club offers you the opportunity to test your ability, and you will receive more than you ever dreamed possible in the period of seven or eight weeks.

This "Salemanship Club" is not a typical "get-rich-quick" business, but a pure test of salesmanship ability. There is no catch to this offer. The awards will be made in the form of cash. The "Salemanship Club" campaign the opportunity of a lifetime. Credits will be issued in the form of cash. The "Salemanship Club" will appear in the Wayne Herald. The member collecting the largest number of subscriptions will receive a automobile, and cash better than $200 per week. The campaign will be friendly—more friendly and far-reaching than any similar campaign ever conducted in this part of the country.

The Herald-Republicans good faith and fairness to all members in the campaign. The company in charge of the campaign cannot recommend a better business for the business for years. Its representation is now at the Herald office and glad to assist every interested party.

Small Drops in Economy.

New York Herald: "The country's indignant demands upon the national capital that it practice economy as well as frugality are beginning to bear fruit. By July 1 there will be 4,000 fewer bureau clerks in Washington than there were at the close of the year. And the cold truth about such a petty saving is that it is only a drop in the bucket. At an average of $2,000, 4,000 clerks of the payrolls will represent in cold cash $8,000,000 a year out of total government expenditures of $5,000,000,000.

Tip for Philippine Highways.

Chicago Tribune: "We should like to see the islands granted complete independence. But if the Filipino intellectuals think this means merely freedom to fill all the jobs and exploit the islands while the United States stands behind them to protect them from external aggression at the expense of American lives and American money for unnecessary wars, they should be told promptly that we have not yet parted with our senses."

Thoroughly Qualified.

Jay House in the Philadelphia Public Ledger: "For the sum of $3,500 a year," runs a new item, "Miss Stewart will try to do for the youth of the country of both sexes between legal working age and 21 what their mothers and fathers really ought to do for them." Having no children of our own, we readily can believe that Miss Stewart, who, assuredly, also is childless, can be trusted better to look after the children than their fathers and mothers.

Filling Station Service

Service is a word which is overworked, but we find no other which will serve so well. When we give honest service and courteous attention we have established plumb-lines as square as truth itself.

Service comes only when all parties concerned profit thereby, and it is the foundation upon which this institution is built and is the main reason for our rapidly increasing business. It means the par excellence in all things connected with an oil station—best grades of gasoline, kerosene, lubricating oils and greases. In addition we are pleased to render any little courtesy that tends to make motoring a pleasure. Free air for your tires and water for your radiator placed in the most accessible locations for your convenience.

We want you to get the habit of making our filling station your headquarters for service. In every department we offer inducements not found elsewhere.

Los Angeles Times: "There will be no more robber heroes in history. The days of Claude Duval and Jack Sheppard on the highways of Europe have been exploited in books, but everything they ever did has been duplicated repeatedly in American history. They wore period costumes and used horses with fancy names and used clumsy pistols." The highway robbery of today were evening clothes, and the robbers were modernly equipped with automatics. Homecoming Day At Wayne State Normal

Homecoming day for the men of the Wayne State Normal was held Friday, June 17. About two hundred graduates attended the festivities of the day, including a band program at 11 o'clock, luncheon at Pres. and Mrs. U. S. Conn's home, a presentation of "The Triumph of Pauline," swimming, and the banquet in the evening.

Miss Alvine Luers, class of 1911, presided at the chapel exercises, and introduced the following who represented their classes with brief talks: Mrs. R. W. Loy, the J. M. Pike school; Miss Edna Ruedig, class of 1912; W. J. Van Camp, class of 1914; Mrs. G. A. Berg of Oakland, class of 1915; F. B. Shively of Wauson, class of 1916; Louis Leick of W. S. school, class of 1917; Miss Frances Ogan, class of 1918; Julius Young of Craig, class of 1919; and Miss Virginia Bowen, class of 1920. Mr. Young then officially presented the gateway leading to the State Normal campus, which is a gift of his class. Preceding the talks members of the alumni association marched into the auditorium while the processional march, composed of "Prof. C. F. Fosses," was played. The two stanzas by Miss Dorothy Schreck, Miss Madeline Hubert, Miss Mary Thomas, and Miss Inez Hedden. Miss Mildred Sabon of Laurel, sang a vocal solo, Miss Mary Fitzmaurice of O'Neill sang a solo, Miss Genevieve Sanderberg read the scriptures and Miss Sarah Saunders led the group singing.

Pres. and Mrs. Conn entertained the alumni and faculty members at a luncheon at 1 o'clock in the evening. The usual hospitality and good times were enjoyed by the guests.

"The Triumph of Pauline," a one-act play, was staged in the auditorium. Miss Virginia Bowen directed the play. The part of Pauline, the bride, was taken by Miss Edna Ruedig. She had a great fear of thieves, and enthusiastically tells her husband, Miss Mary Mar-ah-an of her husband's scientific ability. When a friend of her husband appeared at the door, the bride, the maid played by Mrs. Maude Fin-nery, and the cook played by Mrs. G. A. Berg, became frightened, gathered rolling pins, pistol, swords, and other weapons to capture the intruder. When the scientific, Harold C'rogan, returns home, he finds his friend, Burdett Shively, in the tongue of the women.—When he explains what the supposed thief is the women are horrified. Prof. W. C. Hunter directed the orchestra which furnished music before the play.

After a quick the swimming pool was enjoyed by the alumni members. The banquet in the evening closed the events of the day. The three-course dinner was served in the cafeteria at 8 o'clock. Five long tables were arranged in the room, one across the east end and the other four at right angles to this one. Kewpie dolls, dressed in the college colors, orange and black, and red roses decorated the tables. Banquets of roses were placed about the room. Fifteen girls dressed in white acted as waitresses.

The menu included fruit cocktail for the first course, baked ham, scalloped salmon, creamed potatoes, rolls, pickles and combination salad for the second course, and ice cream, cake and coffee for the third course.

Miss Edith Beechel, in her usual capable manner, acted as toast-mistress and introduced those who responded to toasts as follows: "Then," Miss Mary Mason, class of 1887; "Now," W. J. Van Camp, class of 1914; "Soon," Charles Chinn, class of 1911; "Next," Miss Gladys Kline, class of 1914; "How?"—Mollie Miller, class of 1911; "Always?"—President Conn; "Why?"—Miss Dorothy Huse, class of 1918; "What?"—Miss Mildred Bacon, class of 1920. F. S. Berry, member state board of education, also spoke about the teacher and the school, and R. W. Loy gave the treasurer's report, showing that the Alumni association is "getting on its feet" financially.

A brief business session followed and the officers elected for the coming year are: President, Julius Young of Craig, class of 1919; vice president, Miss Ruth Ingham, class of 1919; secretary, Miss Louise Wenzel, class of 1917; treasurer, Rollie W. Loy, graduate of the Nebraska Normal college.

This year's officers were: President, Miss Margaret Schemel who could not be present for Homecoming; vice president, Miss Elizabeth; secretary, Miss Minnie Mar-quardt; treasurer, Rollie W. Loy. Much credit is due Miss Mar-quardt and Miss Beechel who made this Homecoming day one of the most successful reunions of the alumni.

To Catch Automobile Thieves. Lincoln, Neb., June 16.—All county highway commissioners in Nebraska were appointed deputy state sheriffs by a recent resolution of the Legislature, so that they might further aid in the apprehension of delinquent automobile license payers and automobile thieves. The proclamation sent to each commissioner is as follows:

I am appointing you herewith as commissioner, deputy state sheriff, of your county.—This appointment is made under provision 178 of the laws of Nebraska for 1919 and vests you with full powers and authority as sheriff, constable and police officer, as established by our inspired forefathers has made possible an individual independence of which not all of us have yet learned the true meaning.

Noah Webster can often set us aright when we become confused as to issues. He defines it thus:

Independence * * * * * Not subject to the control of others * * * * * Not relying or depending on others * * * * * acting and thinking for one's self * * * * * FREE * * * * * within the provisions of the chapter herein referred to.—The purpose in issuing this commission to you is that we may have your full assistance and cooperation in the enforcement of all laws relating to automobile stealing, automobile license and delinquent automobile licenses.

You are further informed that this commission gives you no authority aside from the enforcement of the laws herein referred to, except as the authority of the law may be changed by the board of convention upon your consent from time to time by the office or the state law enforcement division.

After the matter of automobile license change is admitted and experienced these you are especially urged to bring to the attention of State Sheriff Gus Hyers any information that you may have that will lead to the recovery of stolen cars and the apprehension of automobile thieves.

This commission is issued upon the confidence that I have in your ability and willingness to join with us in a full and impartial enforcement of the law, and you are respectfully urged, in accomplishing these results, to maintain the proper dignity and discipline in this responsible position.

Southern Representation.

Washington Post.—The apparent discrimination on the part of the republican national committee to let you that politics is dead in South Dakota for the time being. representation of southern states is not surprising. That there are some strong arguments in favor of a change is admitted and experienced has taught that a candidate can be nominated by the support of states which cannot contribute a single electoral vote at the election. But many of these states have virile republican organizations engaged in missionary work and there is an aversion to discouraging these activities by reduction of southern representation.

Dakota Politics Not Dead. Aberdeen News: And do not forget this: Townley & Co. are workers when they are working for the perpetuation of their own power at the expense of the farmer, and they are working on their campaign right now and will be working while some of the safe and sane leaders are trying to tell you that politics is dead in South Dakota for the time being.

Good Work Well Described. Kansas City Star: It is relieving to learn from Mr. Corbett's account of his visit to Mr. Carpenter's quarters that in boxing the Frenchman works like a Trojan. This is the standard for best effort and the approval figure for describing it. Public acknowledgment is due to George and Jim.

THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

The Omaha Bee is fifty years old and the accomplishment was observed last Sunday by a review of its founding and history. The history necessarily features the late Edward Ross, who started the paper and who largely shaped its policy until his death in 1914. The paper's history is a record of journalistic credit for having positive convictions and having the courage to fight to them.

Vice President Coolidge does not believe an accumulation of material wealth is the only thing worth while. He says that it is one of the only things to be relied upon. He said in the course of a commencement speech at Amherst college, "Old-time materialism has been swept away until the material things of life cannot stand. The spiritual things are sustained by the work of the world will not be done unless it is done from a motive of righteousness. There is no other principle that men of the present day all over the world need to keep so constantly in mind."

We notice that parties have come by airplane to Wayne county this week to visit a farm home. We remember that the first airplane to come to Wayne county was not many years ago. It was owned by a practicing physician, and it aroused quite a much curiosity as an airplane does now. It caused a great deal more alarm and fear. Horses became frightened, and so enraged were the people over the way these strange vehicles scooted over the roads that a public meeting was held to make organized protest and to pass resolutions proposing restrictive legislation. Now automobiles are so numerous and commonplace that horses pay no attention to them. They are wondering how long before airplanes will be a common means of conveyance. Not very long, we judge.

The Herald has decided to put on a short, snappy subscription-building campaign, and has employed for the purpose the Northwestern Circulation company of St. Paul. This company has an unblemished reputation, and one of its members, L. A. Graves, who will have personal charge, stands high in essential fairness and integrity. The Herald has made a personal canvass of the surrounding territory from year to year, and has a large circle of readers whose satisfaction is testified to by the fact that they continue to take the paper. The main purpose now is to extend the circulation into new fields, and we believe this can be more quickly accomplished by the special canvass just inaugurated. This special effort is costly, and it would not be warranted unless the paper's subscription list could be materially increased. Provision has been made toward a commission to each one who falls within a prize, but who makes a report that would result in a new subscription. It is worth noting that this commission would only reward those who, falling to win prizes, engage in securing new and renewal subscriptions for this paper. The Herald expects to see general interest aroused.

and cooperation in subscription building that will be worth while to all concerned.

Out of the middle west where a rigorous climate develops strength and sharpens will, often go men who rise above millions in the metropolitan centers of the east and who figure prominently in the affairs of such centers. Colonel William Hayward, formerly of Nebraska, is one who has gained conspicuous leadership in New York City. Touching his latest political success, the Lincoln Journal has this editorial observation: "The selection of Colonel William Hayward, formerly of Nebraska, for United States district attorney for the western district of New York is a figure. It is more than intimated by the leaders of the republican party in New York City that if Colonel Hayward takes full advantage of his position he may make himself available as a candidate for the immensely important office of mayor. It is rumored that he has wealth and a war record. If he proceeds now to prosecute law-breaking corporations and the profit-making, while making the cost of living unendurable, high in the metropolis there is no political altitude to which he may not aspire. So to respect the privilege of the only newspaper, but in the metropolitan newspapers."

Ill fortune sometimes begets a feeling of rebelliousness. Under stress of hardship, people are sometimes prompt to blame society or government, or even the deity. Obstacles cannot always be wholly overcome, and even self may not be deserving of censure. A combination of circumstances which cannot control often operates against realizing one's highest ambition. Such circumstances hinder ambition and grow out of the period of effort and anxiety. The spirit of discontent, hatred and resentment, following disappointment, may be due to lack of judgment or to over-zeal. Thus, the fires of radicalism may be fanned. The person thus inflamed may say or write or do things that would not be thought of as applicable if good fortune had smiled generously. The individuals feeling due to personal neglect or to ineffectual circumstances, causing some people to unwittingly follow the beckonings of selfish bolshevists. The person who is game and independent does not blame social conditions for his misfortunes, but buckles down to business, surmounting one obstacle after another until doubt is dispelled and success is assured.

Future of Hog Stocks.

(From Journal-Stockman.) "The 'meat' side of the business looks good to me," says Ed Rodekoeh of Battle Creek, one of the prominent Duroc Jersey hog men of Madison county. "If an act of the legislature discouraged, the price of feed is low and I feel that there will be a real demand for good stuff in the near future." "I am not a member of a herd of about 200 hogs. The head of herd is Big Bone Giant. He expects to begin using a Great Orion Sensation boar, the best I have seen. I have seen sows farrowed 130 topsey spring pigs. Mr. Rodekoeh has a modern hog house 28 by 76 feet, which can house 100 hogs, and has a heating device keeps the water from freezing during the winter months.

Mr. Rodekoeh, like most other pig raisers, has a special attention to the question of feed and proper care of animals is very essential to the best success in his work. Instead of a bit of corn and a few stalks of corn, he uses a complete feeding plan and his hogs reflect the care and attention given to them at every stage of their growth. He has a special attention to the brood sows and starts on a feeding ration consisting of bran, corn and alfalfa in proportion of 10 parts of bran, 10 parts of corn and twenty-five pounds of tankage. The sows are fed for two weeks on this ration and then shorts are substituted for bran in the ration. After several weeks the sows and young pigs have the shorts part of this ration cut out and only the shorts are fed. The corn is cut down until the ration is nearly all oats, with some corn and tankage.

When on pasture the brood sows receive one-half corn and one-half oats. In the winter they receive three parts of corn and one part of oats. Mr. Rodekoeh feeds a good quality of semi-solid buttermilk, feeding it to all animals except sows carrying hogs. He likes alfalfa and feeds a winter feed and prefers the fourth cutting for this purpose. A charcoal mixture is always available for the hogs. Mr. Rodekoeh says that when working care is taken that worms are cleaned out. There is little or no trouble with disease.

Tracy Kohl of Wayne Reports Tour Abroad

Tracy Kohl, who is a student in Oxford university, England, has just returned here from a several weeks' trip into southern Europe, and in letter-to-his-father, Philip H. Kohl of Wayne, makes interesting comments on the trip and of life in England. Excerpts from his letter of May 5 will be of interest to his many friends here. "This seven weeks' trip I have just returned from is, I think, almost equivalent to the rest of the year put together. After I got to Vienna and learned that the world had gone to the Balkans I decided to go on down and join this man Bowerman for a week or two.  and they provided me with an official envelope, and got the 'visa Diplomatique' for me in Rouman and Bulgaria.  I was two weeks in Germany.  The Bavarians 'out-sawed' anybody on the continent. The closest expression we have for 'sawed' is rather homey one of 'nutting on the log,' but it has a much better and refined meaning here. This was especially true in the case of the Bavarians, down in the Tirol district. Their wear plumes in their hats, beautiful silk stockings, short leather breeches trimmed with ermine, and so on, etc. I mean what we call the natives; of course the business man doesn't, but he will be sure to have a nice color sweater and hat.  We got our visa for Austria at Munich. Then we left for Salzburg, which is just over the line in Austria.  I went down the Danube to Vienna to Budapest on the boat.  At Heidelberg we met three Americans who are attending Cambridge University. "Besides the notion of political conditions I gained, I took the trip to get some kind of an idea of economic conditions.  I traveled in the did not travel first class in many places, generally second or third. In that way I was traveling with the people of the country and not with the foreigners who were going through the country. My pillow was my suit case several nights. There is not the danger nor the hardship in traveling now that there many would have you believe, however.

"In Vienna I got in touch with Hoover's American Relief-association and saw what they are doing. Also found out that they are laying off men, rather than taking any on for the summer. Vienna is the most normal spot I have ever seen. It must have been a very beautiful city when it was kept up.  With one realizes the suffering and then sees the lavish spending about the cafes and shops it is disgusting. The price of the market is very high. The crown which should be worth a quarter is now worth about a sixth of a dollar. A good room at the hotel is 600 kronas.

"At Constantinople I made inquiry about business through the Standard Oil people and American Foreign Trade and shipping companies. The place is overrun with soldiers.  The Hoover people are really efficiently looking after the starving children. "I took a boat back from there because the train was at an enormous price. A lot of people are traveling back that way and transportation is limited. We stopped most of a day at Athens, half a day at the Island of Crete, and then went on to Paris and on to London. I had a day in Rome and then on to Paris and on to London. I had a day in Rome and then on to Paris and on to London. I had a day in Rome and then on to Paris and on to London.

"The seven weeks' trip out there and back cost me about $2000. It is much cheaper traveling and living in Central Europe than in other countries. It is rather hard to get there until the commencement week which is about June. It is quite the social affair of the year. I really would like to see some of the industrial centers, a bit of Wales and Scotland, Ireland of course, is what I had hoped to see, but some of the Balkan spots are under martial law and the Balkans are a city park compared to some of the conditions over there. "I had one other thing for the summer and that is the 21st of July at Gotenhafen, Sweden. It is a holding of a Swedish party here to a Swedish girl and has been known to come up and be one of the ushers and general assistants. "While in Constantinople I developed an interest in the Russians. Everyone expects great things to happen when 'Russia opens up.'"

Back-Swing.

As the club head is carried back deliberately with a smooth roll of the wrist the left heel leaves the ground, the right elbow is kept close to the body and the left arm should be well extended, and nearly straight but never stiff. The right hip turns and the weight of the body in pivoting follows the club head back until to the top of the swing the hands are held above the shoulders and the club is in a horizontal position. The right knee is straightened by the pivoting and turning of the hip so the pressure is felt on the left knee which should be bent toward the ball to prevent a sway. One should also feel a slight pressure on the side of the left foot and great toe, as well as on the right heel. Pivoting on the left toe should be avoided as all turning should be at the waist. At the top of the swing the wrists are well under the shaft so one can see the back of the left hand. The shaft between the right shoulder and head is in an almost horizontal position. If the swing is made correctly the toe of the club will be pointing toward the ground. Never loosen the grip here as it is safe to say that ninety per cent of the poor shots are made at this step. If the back swing is poorly executed the downward swing will naturally suffer. On the contrary, if it is done correctly there is no reason why the rest of the stroke should not produce good results. Be very careful on the backward stroke, or up swing to start with the wrists and arms right as there is nothing one can do on the down stroke to remedy a mistake in the back swing. It is wrong to start the club back with a snap. On the back stroke, if the wrists are started right enough force will develop so that the body will be in a position to follow the club head. The ball has a tendency to strain the muscles in the forearm, stiffens the wrists and results in a sway which makes a poor shot.

Forward Stroke.

The forward swing which is the important part of the whole stroke begins by throwing and drawing the club head at the ball, letting the weight of the body follow. In starting down be certain the club is held firmly but the wrists and forearms are relaxed and the swing gathering speed until the club head almost meets the ball where a snap of the wrists which is properly executed, will bring the ball back as if it were never incident in the path of the club head.

Follow Through.

After the ball is hit the next step in the follow through is a good follow through should be cultivated as the rhythmic movement denotes perfect balance and poise. The weight of the club head will pull one into position without forcing at the top of the back swing. If the follow through is executed properly the player will and the right heel of the ground together with the right knee bent and the body facing toward the hole with most of the weight on the left foot. The club must be complete round and finishes in the same position on the left side of the body as it did at the top of the back swing.

TO 800 NORMAL STUDENTS—

Greeting

Owing to restrictions which have been placed by state law regulating the admission of chiropractors locating in Nebraska, many of you come from communities where you cannot conveniently take advantage of this method of treatment, and we wish to assure you that during the eight weeks of this summer term we will be pleased to give free examination and analysis to as many of you as have been unable at your homes to learn of and have the benefit of this method of learning and receiving the cause of your ailments, whether great or small; for many a small trouble neglected becomes serious as the years go by.

Patient in Position for Adjustment.

If you have eye trouble, headaches, stomach or bowel complaint—if you have symptoms of rheumatism or in fact any of the organs of the body do not function normally, there is a cause. It is the Chiropractic method to discover the cause of your ailments, whether great or small; for many a small trouble neglected becomes serious as the years go by.

TICKET TO HEALTH.

If the public were told that a certain train would convey all sick people to some city where only HEALTH abounded and disease was unknown, the train would surely be overcrowded. Yet those who do not enjoy health can by taking Chiropractic adjustments take a ticket to health and they will not be disappointed. Isn't it worth trying? Don't scoff at this assertion until you have actually investigated this science, until you have actually taken Chiropractic adjustments. If they do not help you we have nothing more to say, but they will help you. Constipation and spinal analysis free.

John G. Neihardt is Center of Ceremony

Lincoln Journal, June 19: John G. Neihardt, Nebraska's epic poet, delivered a scholarly address on "Poetry and Education" at the role of the (epitaphic) Saturday morning at the Temple Theater, marking the formal notification of his selection as poet laureate for the state. The audience of several hundred people, who filled the theater, were largely from the university faculty and students.

Prof. A. R. Reed introduced Dean L. Sherman, who represented the university as acting chancellor in the absence of Chancellor Avery. Dean Sherman said:

"We have no more grounds for congratulating ourselves on the occasion which calls us together on this 18th day of June. It is an auspicious day and date for Nebraska. No other state in this nation has had a poet laureate, a poet-laureate. No other state we may fairly say, has such a reason. Nature has not shaped for us in this prairie, the rolling hills, the mountains that might become by myth or fancy the home of gods or goddesses. There is, there can be, no Olympus here. But we have that which has given fame to all the sacred grove and mountains and fountains of spiritual history. We have the poet's informing vision, and shaping hand. We have the poet himself in presence with us now."

"The ceremonial that we assembled here to observe is, in its own right, one of the days when Perseus was, in the youth time of the artists, crowned with laurel, and the close of the middle age was Petrarch crowned at the capital in Rome. Were our own great new capital finished, it might have been given that first poet-laureate of Nebraska should have been honored at its portals. We of the university think ourselves fortunate to have the poet's informing vision, and shaping hand. We have the poet himself in presence with us now."

Mr. Brown read from an engrossed copy the following enactment of the legislature of Nebraska of April 21, 1921:

Whereas, There is the closest connection between the growth of civilization and the development of literature; and

Whereas, wise commonwealths in all ages, have recognized this relation by lifting the poet to the same plane as the statesman and military chieftain; and

Whereas, John G. Neihardt, a citizen of Nebraska, has written a national epic wherein he has developed the motif of courage with which our pioneers explored and subdued our plains; and has thus inspired in Americans that love of the land and its heroes whereby great national traditions are built and perpetuated; and

Whereas, our people wish to exalt such gifts of the human spirit, therefore be it

Resolved and enacted, by the house of representatives, the senate concurring, that John G. Neihardt be, and hereby is, declared poet laureate of Nebraska.

At the close Mr. Brown conveyed the governor's regret at his inability to be present to make the notification personally, and handed to Mr. Neihardt the copy of the resolution in the name of the governor and of the state. "Take with this," said Mr. Brown, "the assurance that with it goes from the people of Nebraska, respect, admiration and love."

In responding Mr. Neihardt said he preferred not to think of the honor as personal, but as recognition of the work he is trying to do. "I like to think that the state of Nebraska is becoming my collaborator," he said. His lecture on "Poetry and Education," was read from manuscript. He next extolled the education, according to his meaning, was fundamental by a spiritual process. He rather seemed to have a practical in connection with education. "With young people," he said, "practical education has come to mean that kind of education which will give the individual the maximum of income in the minimum of time."

"A man can be no other than he is," as distinguished from what he has, he asserted. He said that many of the individual must be extended to include the consciousness of the whole, according to Mr. Neihardt's scheme of education. Education is not a man, but a manner of becoming.

In discussing the essence of poetry Mr. Neihardt said that it may be suggested which supplements the inadequacy of language as a means of expression. He insisted on the economy in poetic expression, and the use of symbols and rhythm. He declared that rhythm-in-verse is not artificial device, but a natural phenomenon. Rhythm serves to emphasize values.

Following the discussion of the dynamics of poetry, Mr. Neihardt turned to the rest of interest in the singing voices of the poets, which came from materialism which dealt with the close of the war. He believed that respect for poetic standards and love for order will return, and poets again will get the objective view.

At the conclusion of the recognition exercises in the Temple Theater, a number of these in the audience returned to the chamber of commerce, where Neihardt was the center of that organization. A number of members of out of town Nebraska clubs were present, as well as the head of the Nebraska League of Education. The formal exercises in the dining room were brief, as the attendance was large and it was difficult to respect for poetic standards under such surroundings. E. P. Brown, the chairman and representative of Governor McKelvie told the members of the chamber of commerce that he held at the university, and said that he wished at present the newly acclaimed poet laureate of Nebraska, Mr. Neihardt responded with an address, thanking the chamber of commerce and the other organizations and officials of the city and state for their interest in his work. He said he felt a definite kindness and sympathy in Lincoln, and believed it to be more marked than in many communities where he had visited. He had just delivered an address fifty minutes long, he said, and did not believe that another sustained effort was desirable.

Attention Ford Owners

FORD LENS 50c PER PAIR

This is very important to every car owner. You are no doubt familiar with the new Nebraska Lens laws, specifying that all motor vehicles must be equipped with some form of approved lens, and realize that some action must be taken by automobile owners between now and when the laws go into effect.

We have been advised by the Ford Motor Co. that the Standard Ford Green Visor Head Lamp Lens meets the specifications of the new Nebraska laws and has been officially approved. You will be able to obtain these lenses for Ford Cars at the price of 50 cents per set.

I believe it would pay every Ford Car owner to take advantage of this STANDARD FORD GREEN VISOR HEAD LAMP LENS as it meets every requirement and we can furnish these at 50 cents per set.

Suicide by Hanging.
Bloomfield, Neb., June 20.—J. D. Darrow, a farmer living six miles northwest of here, committed suicide by hanging Sunday forenoon. The rest of the family were attending church in Bloomfield and on their return home found him hanging in the granary. He had placed the rope around a rafter and then kicked a box on which he was standing off a tree under him. He was about 60 years old, and is survived by a widow and thirteen children. Despondency is said to have been the cause for the act.

Hughes is Understandable.
Chicago News, Mr. Hughes has a way of putting an end to obscuring controversies by a few appropriate words. Thus he declared that the war efforts of the United States were inspired "by lofty ideals" as well as by due regard for national interests, and that as the exemplar of free institutions this nation found its fate linked with that of other free nations and "under the control" to aid humanity in the preservation of the essentials to freedom. "No intelligent person will venture to challenge this interpretation of America's motives."

Norfolk Defeated in Golf Team Match

The Wayne Country Club golf team defeated the Norfolk team in a contest on the Wayne course last Sunday. In spite of the hot weather the players all made a good showing.

The match was brought about through the efforts of Frank Morgan. It is planned to have one at Norfolk soon.

The lineup for the individual playing was as follows:

Wayne	Richard	vs.	Mick Brady
Wayne	McKinnon	vs.	F. S. Morgan
Wayne	Nelson	vs.	C. H. Fisher
Wayne	Beeler	vs.	C. M. Craven
Wayne	South	vs.	Prof. W. C. Hunter

Receiver Appointed.
Fargo, N. D., June 18.—A receiver has been appointed for the United States Sissal Trust, a Florida corporation, according to notice served today on J. W. Bentler, secretary of the concern, directing him to turn over the books of the company to the receiver.

C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League, owns a controlling interest in the one million dollar concern.

Will Handle Big Job

Lincoln, Neb., June 21.—Miss Katherine Wool, who for several years has had the distinction of being "the smallest woman in the state capital" building, will step into one of the most important positions there on July, when she automatically becomes chairman of the state board of control.

There are three members of this board, one being elected each two years for a period of six years and the senior member becomes chairman for the last two years of his term.

Weights 95 Pounds.
Miss Worley admits that she weighs but ninety-five pounds, but this has no effect upon the respect with which every state official holds her, for in her tenure of office has proved to them that she has nothing to do with efficiency or business judgment.

Probably the most important project to come under her control will be the erection of the proposed $300,000 reformatory for which a site is now being considered. Plans for the erection are practically completed and as it has been announced that the state will superintend the work and the responsibility will fall upon Miss Worley's shoulders.

Heads 16 Institutions.
In addition to carrying on this work she must supervise the administration of sixteen state institutions, with 823 employees and 5,557 inmates.

Some idea of the great responsibility entailed here may be seen when it is known that the average cost of such institutions average between 45,000 and 50,000 tons yearly, exclusive of the other expenses and supplies.

For the past two years the board of control has been appropriated $3,200,000 for use in upkeep of existing institutions, including repairs, purchasing supplies and paying employees. The chairman of the board must check this money very closely that it is used in the proper way.

Keeps Close Check.
Each month Miss Worley must check up her "household" and when this check is over she must report to the governor and the legislature supplies, repairs and administration in order that her "house" may be kept in order. In addition there will be held responsible for state proper-

Sheer, Dainty Cool Dresses

APPEAL to the well-dressed women and girls on hot summer days. We have an excellent selection of

Dainty Organdies, Voiles Tissues and Gingham

That Will Make Cool Dresses for You.

The organdies are plain or flowered in the delicate colors, pink, blue, green, yellow, and the new variations of these colors. Nothing can look more appropriate, neater or cooler than a dainty organdie dress trimmed in ruffles and laces. Organdies are sure to find a pleasing variety of shades and a variety of trimmings suitable for the new summer dress you are planning for the Fourth of July. Hot weather and the celebrations on the Fourth demand a dress that will be stylish, cool and serviceable. Let us help you select your new summer dress.

Voiles, too, are very good this season. We have a line of voiles that will please those who are looking for dress goods that will give long service. These pieces are figured or plain, in a variety of colors. You can have a light dress for special occasions, as the Fourth of July, or dark shades for street wear. Voiles are cool and easily cared for. They do not wrinkle easily and are not hard to launder.

Besides the voiles and organdies we have tissues and gingham that will make suitable dresses for the summer weather. A dainty gingham dress is suitable for most occasions. Gingham trimmed with organdies are also very popular this summer and combine to make pretty dresses. Especially for the girls, the gingham with organdie trimmings are very appropriate. They have the dainty touch of the organdie as well as the service of the gingham.

For Trimmings, dainty laces and ruffles are used most. We have fine patterns in laces that will combine well with the organdies and other dress materials. Not a great deal of trimming is necessary, but we have a selection of laces and other materials that will give the new summer dress the proper finish.

In all these dress materials and trimmings we will be glad to show you our new and complete lines.

Let us supply you in any of your needs for the Fourth of July.

METAL BAG IS LIGHT AS SILK

The fine golds of the ancients have been surpassed by the craftsmen of today, and the modern woman now totes an armor mesh bag, which is finer and lighter than silk. It is the newest idea in small hand bags, and a fashion which bids to stay awhile, day to day in its workmanlike plan.

Cult From Herald's Exchanges For Week

Fred Nelson of Wauson, was arrested last week at that place charged with robbing the People's Store. The proprietor went to the store on an errand Sunday morning and discovered the theft. Going in search of the marshal he met Nelson who said, "I suppose you want your money back," and handed it over. He also confessed to several other robberies. He is a peculiar type of criminal performing his thefts with the greatest cunning, yet makes no effort to escape. He has served one year at the industrial school for boys.

Ernest and Henry Jackson mysteriously escaped from the county jail at Pierce on Tuesday of last week. They had been sentenced to thirty days for stealing a saddle and some chickens from a man near Pierce and another charge was awaiting them on their release. When the jailer returned in the morning he found the door locked, but the prisoners gone. Fresh automobile tracks were discovered near the jail but how the boys made their escape is still a mystery.

R. A. Peterson of Wisner, proprietor of the city amusement parks, offered his grounds for a tourist camping ground free of charge. The grounds are supplied with water and lights.

John Werner, 18, was drowned in the river near Pierce Monday afternoon.

June 17. He and another boy had been working on the state road and after dinner had gone on swimming. It was necessary to drag the river before the bodies were recovered. Plans for a local telephone company in Bloomfield are now being made and definite steps will soon be taken. Who is handling the deal is not definitely made public but it is known that there is sufficient finance behind the movement. Bloomfield has been without telephone service since the first of April.

At the weekly luncheon of the Stanton business men's club, the advisability of fixing the road due south to the county line was considered. Such a road well graded would benefit the farmers and tourists as it connects with two highways.

Charles Randall of Randolph, was elected president of the Nebraska Bankers' association at the annual convention at Omaha last week.

Agriculture Notes

To Keep Soil From Washing.

One of the big problems that extension workers are giving their attention to this year is saving soil, according to extension specialists of the United States department of agriculture. In many sections of the central and western states every effort is being made by extension workers to prevent soil washing—erosion of soil by building dams or placing brush heaps in gullies. A representative of the department who returned recently from southwestern Nebraska described following as an example of what is being done.

In April, 1920, a county agent assisted in building nineteen small brush dams in a large ditch on a farm where large amounts of fertile soil were being washed away. By March of this year the ditch was filled with soil. Following this demonstration many farmers in the neighborhood, who had been treating the erosion of the soil-saving work, built brush dams in washouts on their farms.

The representative reports that in Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, and Indiana the extension workers are holding soil-service meetings and showing tractors and machinery are being brought to make use of soil surveys. Varieties of Spring Wheat. Varieties of wheat chosen in popularity in the spring wheat belt—Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Montana. The five leading varieties in these states have made interesting shifts in relative importance in the last seven years, according to data recently compiled by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture. Marquis was least important in 1914, but in 1916 it had jumped into first place.

It has been estimated that the yield of wheat of probably seasonal yield to have been reached in 1919, when it comprised 58.3 per cent of the total spring wheat in these four states, and in 1920, 57 per cent of the wheat grown in these states.

Durham wheat has been making steady gains in relative importance since the spring wheat season of 1914. It is the heaviest yielder in bushels per acre, specialists say. Velvet Chaff, Blue Stem, and Pife have each lost in relative importance each year since 1914. In 1920, 22 per cent of the spring wheat raised in the four states mentioned was of the Marquis variety, 26.4 Durham, 8.4 Velvet Chaff, 4.1 Blue Stem, 2.4 Pife, and 1.7 other varieties.

Appeal for Healthy Cattle.

Unless most other infectious diseases, tuberculosis has an insidious way of working under cover, and oftentimes animals of the most healthy appearance are found to react to the tuberculin test, say veterinarians of the United States department of agriculture. No cattle owner can afford to live in a state where his animals are affected, they add. This point is brought out clearly in a two-colored poster published by the department, which shows the symptoms of dairy cattle. From all appearances the animals of both herds are healthy, but as a matter of fact, those in one herd are afflicted with tuberculosis.

The poster also shows two children—one healthy, one diseased—and that the tuberculosis bacteria which the animals may transmit the milk produced to children who drink the milk produces the poster a strong appeal for healthy cattle, and it to be used extensively in the tuberculosis-eradication campaign being carried on by the department.

Careful experiments in practical work have shown that tuberculosis cannot be detected to any great extent in young animals by physical examinations. The most reliable method is the tuberculin test applied by a trained operator. Tuberculosis, which is regarded as the most accurate diagnostic agency known to science, is safe only in the hands of a trained and skillful operator who is acquainted with its limitations and with the symptoms it produces in the animals to which it is applied, the department veterinarians say.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: Little change in the condition of elements contributing to business recovery can be claimed by the most hopeful. The progress of reconstruction is admittedly slow, this fact having been accentuated by the late arrival of the summer season, and of period in buying. That industrial plans will be perfected, however, during the quiet summer season is the only logical conclusion. This would prepare the way for a quickened recovery of trade and production when the condition is entirely possible if industrial leaders and the labor organizations compose their differences now and become active together.

The summer season, while having its influence on the slowing up of trade in many districts, is contributing much to the economic betterment of the entire country by the development of crop situations that are good. For many years, the high degree of early growth and a generous supply of moisture have brought reports of good crops, especially corn and oats. Wheat has been given some sections, and this has played into the hands of the bulls on the Chicago board of trade, with prices advanced. As usual, the condition has been worked to the limit of its value, and wheat may not be in as poor condition as brokers' scouts have tried to make it appear. Indiana and Ohio wheat production, it is claimed, will be very close to the government crop forecast prediction for June.

Trade in the middle west has been livelier the past fortnight than might have been expected, which is a good indication of strengthened confidence. The John V. Farwell company, of Chicago, says "road sales are higher than corresponding week a year ago, and there is a noticeable gain in the number of 'in-voiced' and advance orders over corresponding period in June of last year." This statement would indicate that the retail trade not only has been disposing of its stocks but is confident that the future is safe. The buying movement by the retailers when they are still busy with inventories shows their nervousness is passing or gone. They can be expected to buy wisely to guard against overstocking, but that they will lay in supplies sufficient to carry their trade goes without saying.

Prices continue to decline, showing that the level was not reached some weeks ago as was claimed in some quarters. The cost of living has been appreciably reduced, the average of the retail decline in May being 4.8 per cent over April as announced from Washington. Wholesale prices averaged a drop of 5.4 per cent. The federal reserve board has announced a new rate of 6 per cent on certificates of indebtedness, which is a departure from the method of charging the same rate of discount as that borne by the certificates. Oil prices east and west have been cut the past week, heralding, it is believed, a reduction in the price of gasoline. Clothing is down lower, according to merchants, and rents in various sections of the country have been reduced because of the light demand. That movement is not general.

The railroad situation appears little nearer to a solution, although some freight rates have been cut into effect July 1, may affect a further cut in freight rates, but to date the managers of the various lines have not indicated any such action will be taken. Unemployment continues at about the same figure as a month ago.

Oniaha World-Herald: The call for a three-day general strike in Munich in protest against the killing of somebody was not responded to by the workmen and was a fizzle. The German workmen are too busy for that sort of thing now.

To give you some kind of an idea of the wonderful demand for the Ford Cars and Trucks during the month of May, Ford produced 101,424 Cars and Trucks for sale in the United States alone. The biggest month in the history of the company, and their factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4,000 daily schedule for June.

The Fordson Tractor is still being sold at less than the price to produce on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible therefore to make any cut in the price of Tractors.

If you care to purchase a Ford Car on a monthly payment plan we would be pleased to have you call on us and we will explain this monthly payment plan to you.

The Essentials of the Modern Bath

Your children as well as your wife will enjoy the convenience of the modern, sanitary bath room.

The daily bath will keep their bodies in a healthy condition and give them added vigor to face the days' school work and home duties.

Your own efficiencies will be increased by the morning bath.

What Constitutes Sanitary Plumbing

1. An efficient and safe water supply.
2. The installation of an adequate and durable drainage system for the complete sanitary disposal of all wastes.
3. An equipment that will pass the scientific inspection of any board of health and plumbing inspectors. Thus the owner or occupant will be protected against the indifferent or careless plumber's workmanship.

Plumbing and Its Relation to Health

1. Sanitary plumbing is of vital importance to every home, office and factory in the state of Nebraska.
2. The doctor cures—the plumber prevents.
3. Bad plumbing breeds disease and hastens death.
4. Plumbing and plumbers are an important factor in safeguarding the city and rural homes.

Suggestions to the Public

1. Do not let the so-called handy man do your plumbing. Call a competent plumber.
2. Avoid cheap work and cheap material and fixtures.

Good plumbing, like good clothes and good furniture, is more durable and satisfactory and costs less in the long run.

Let me estimate your work. Estimates cheerfully given. Licensed plumber with twenty-six years' experience.

FROM REMOTEST PARTS OF GLOBE

Tanlac Elements Come From Many Lands Far Away From Here.

The ingredients from which the celebrated medicine Tanlac is made, come from various sections of the earth, and are transported thousands of miles over land and sea to the great Tanlac Laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, and Walkersville, Canada.

The Aliso, Apennines, Pyrenees, Russian-Asia, Brazil, West Indian, Rocky Mountains, Asia Minor, Peru, Cuba, Mexico, California, and Peru are among the far-away points from which the principal properties of this remarkable preparation are obtained.

What is said to be the largest pharmaceutical laboratory in the United States has been completed at Dayton, Ohio, for the manufacture of Tanlac which, according to recent reports is now having the largest sale of any medicine of its kind in the world, over 20,000,000 bottles having been sold in six years.

The new plant occupies 60,000 square feet of floor space and has a daily capacity of 50,000 bottles. The form quality is guaranteed by a series of careful inspections by expert chemists from the time the roots, herbs, bark and flowers are received in their rough state from all parts of the globe until their medicinal properties have been extracted by the most approved processes. The finished medicine is then bottled, labeled and shipped out to tens of thousands of druggists throughout the United States and Canada. The demand never equalled by this or any other medicine.
