Potato Conference

Drivers Journal-Stockman: The United States has been signally honored by an invitation to participate in an international potato conference to be held in London, England, November 16, 17 and 18. At this conference, two of our best known potato men will be on the program; William Stuart and W. A. Orton, both of the United States department of agriculture. The subject of Mr. Stuart's address will be "Breeding, Selection and Development Work in the United States." Mr. Orton will speak on a subject to which he has for some time been giving careful investigation, "New Work on Potato Diseases in America."

Few people stop to consider the fact that the potato, next to cereals, is probably the most important crop to the human race. Although complete statistics are not available, it seems probable that the potato crop of the world in 1920 approximated 30,000,000 acres. One-fifth of this area, or 6,000,000 acres was planted by the German farmers. France has an area of 3,500,000; the United States about 3,250,000 and Great Britain and Ireland about 1,250,000 acres.

But the potato is not simply a food crop alone. There is abundant evidence to show that there are great possibilities for the potato in the industries. In some countries, an alcohol made from potatoes is being used instead of foreign petrol and acetone. The manufacture of potato starch can doubtless be largely increased and this is also true in the case of potato flour.

Many problems confront the potato grower, the most important of which is disease. It has been estimated that potato diseases take a total annually from 10 to 15 per cent of the world's potato crop. This is not surprising when we consider that the potato is an excellent medium in which diseases now develop. In laboratories where cultures are made to grow various diseases, the potato is often used.

The combating of these diseases is a real problem. There is plenty of evidence that the yield per acre of the potato crop is influenced by various weather conditions, so that in some years there is a surplus and in other years a deficiency. The increasing interest in the potato, in various regions, the question of fertilization, the problem of potato improvement, all these are of vital concern to the potato grower.

It is to be hoped that this international conference will be a clearing house of such questions as the above. The governments of every country in the world where potatoes are grown have been invited to send delegates to this conference. One of the Holland delegates will give a report on his work with the leaf curl of potatoes. Three of Great Britain's leading potato men will speak on the breeding, selection and development work in Britain. The belief in the importance of the use of the potato in a commercial way is indicated by the fact that H. V. Taylor of England will discuss "The Industrial and Commercial Uses of the Potato."

In order that the fullest possible discussion of potato problems may be secured, the National Potato society has arranged to hold their annual potato show at the time of the conference. It may be of interest to know that tubers from the states of Minnesota and Wisconsin will be on display and that other exhibits are solicited from this country.

The International Potato conference at London should be productive of much good to the potato industry of every participating country. Out of it should come plans for investigating more thoroughly the problems of the potato-grower and making plans for utilizing the potato more thoroughly in the industries.

Mrs. Emil Weber entertained at six o'clock dinner, the ladies who had at one time lived at Tekamah.

The high school clubs of Wayne and Webster played ball, the latter team winning by a score of 9-6.

Miss Zelta Rayburn is having a large addition added to her residence property in the east part of the city.

F. G. Philles, E. Weber, Horace Theobald and Frank Mould have gone to Pierce and Antelope counties to hunt.

William Lessman purchased a cow and heifer calf for $150 and a cow for $105 at the pure bred sale of the University of Nebraska.

Robert Smith of Leslie township recently went to Crystal Lake, where he captured about 200 pounds of honey and some bees.

W. Ziegler has purchased of Fred Philles the twenty-three acre tract of land just west of the city, upon which he expects to erect a house.

Billy Anderson came over from Sioux City to make arrangements for moving here. He will run a cafe in the O. D. Franks building which is under construction.

Miss Elizabeth Kingsbury writes from Germany where she is teaching English and studying the German language and literature at the university of Goettingen.

Mrs. Will Weber was hostess at six o'clock tea. During the evening the guests enjoyed musical selections by Otto Voegel on the piano and by Walter Weber on the violin.

Marshall and Albert Anderson, D. H. Sarber, Ole Grandquist, Peter Larsen, Aug. Anderson, J. V. Stingley and Peter Paulson are in Minnesota looking for land to buy.

The old Methodist church building has been purchased by P. C. Crockett who has cut it in two and is moving it to his lots in the east part of the city to be rebuilt into two dwellings.

Omaha market reports show that hogs are selling around $6.00, with the prospect of a lower market in a few days. Receipts of cattle amounted to 21,000 for three days, averaging about $9.00.

From Ponca Journal, October 11, 1877:

Corn gathering is beginning to engage the attention of our farmers. Farmers should not neglect their fire brakes, as they have dangerous ends."

The corn crop of the county is expected to average seventy-five bushels per acre.

The baseball season is almost over. We expect soon to see our boys sharpening up their skates.

Mr. Joseph Morton on Wednesday shipped from this place 2,720 pounds of wool to the eastern market. Wool growing and sheepshearing is one of the most profitable pursuits of any country and we should be glad to see more of our farmers turn their attention to it, as our country from its dry climate and superior pasturage is especially adapted to the business.

Let us advise those who locate in this county this fall, as well as those who are already here, to turn their attention mainly to stock raising. Large crops can be raised here, but at the best, the profit is not to be compared to that arising from the raising of stock. We will call to your attention Messrs. Roden, Curry, Benney, Hartley, Wilbur, and a host of others who are already here, and prosperity is mainly derived from stock.

A disastrous storm, the most violent that has occurred for years, prevailed in the east on Thursday night of last week. At Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and other places along the line of coast, which in many ways was fully equal to the cyclones on the coast of Texas, great damage was done and many lives lost.

The average Black Hills miner is a dangerous man to fool with. A guide lately led a party of miners into the Big Horn country, promising to show them rich mines. On their arrival there, he not being able to make good his promise, the miners proceeded at once to hang him with great nastiness and dispatch.

Sioux City Journal: Yesterday in this city there was a very important contract signed, sealed, and delivered, which has very satisfactory snook of business about it. The Covington, Columbus and Black Hills railroad has just concluded arrangements with A. Cunningham, S. Sigel and O. Oehl of Sioux City, for putting in all drains, culverts, cattle guards and pile and trestle bridging on the main line between the terminals at Ponca and the village of Niobrara, a distance of 79.17 miles. The contractors bind themselves to begin to commence work at two days' notice, but they think operations will commence next Wednesday. The material for the work has been largely provided for, and operations will be shoved along as rapidly as possible when they begin.

Is Wedlock Declining. Chicago News: Is it true that American sentiment and the American standard of living are proving themselves deadly to those elements of the population that unreservedly adhere to them? Is marriage coming to be regarded as no longer a solemn duty and a sacred obligation, but a mere means to at least moderate ambitions who in this land of opportunity have to make their way by their own exertions? Or have times and economy and the joy of overcoming difficulties by the practice of self denial and the cultivation of simple taste doubtless been taken out far too generally by the present day vice of making money for its own sake and pleasure, and evenness of satisfaction and contentment of mind is sacrificed to the conventional excuse of "increased economic pressure" - employed not only in justifiable ways, but also to cover a multitude of sins of heedlessness, selfishness and born of heedlessness, selfishness and pride.

Girls of this liberal day, fortunately do not have to marry against their heart's desire in order to win a home. They can make themselves independent - if they choose - by entering the ranks of the field - sports that has been open to them. Many hundreds of thousands of girls make their own way with notable success and with satisfaction in their own and freedom. Perhaps in so doing, however, they reduce seriously the economic opportunities of young men who, if fairly successful in the business world, would gladly marry. For marriage leading to married happiness still points the way to enduring contentment and abounding usefulness to society. Surely a true mate may be found by the worthy young man or young woman. When found, the spirit of comradeship, affection and self sacrifice will be cultivated instinctively by husband and wife.

If one asks, "Why do so many marriages go wrong?" the answer will have to be, in a vast majority of cases, "Because of applied selfishness."

New York World: Since the leading naval powers of the world will be represented at a conference in London in November, it is there in the opinion of the commission on armaments of the league of nations, that the problem of the limitation of naval armaments can best be dealt with. That is the practical view of the situation as it exists today.

The habit of saying one thing and meaning another is liable to prove costly. We know a fellow who did that recently, and it cost him $22.50 which he could not afford to lose.

A road hog is an individual of either sex who sticks to the center of the highway when passing cars, and charges along at high speed, indifferent to rules of motoring and indifferent to habits of safety.

It is to be regretted that there are no fewer large land holdings and more land owners in Wayne county. With more land owners, we would have more farm improvements and a more permanent farm population.

Much is written about the glorious Nebraska sunset, but we seldom see any reference to the splendor of the Nebraska sunrise—grandeur of the solar orb as it lifts its beaming head above the eastern horizon and spreads its soft rays over the landscape. For obvious reasons, we fear few people are accustomed to seeing it.

Packing house employees have voted on a proposition to strike, and a majority thus far polled have indicated a desire to quit. If packing house employees are not getting enough for their labor, if the owners are not resuming ample reward for their investment, if retailers are not adequately repaid, who is receiving the large difference between the cost of animals on the hoof and that of meat served over the buffet? We doubt if those engaged in the live stock industry would complain if the cost of products passed on to ultimate consumers, many of whom are the original producers, were not altogether out of proportion to live stock markets.

A contributor to the Beatrice Express deplors the experience of going back to the old home town after an absence of thirty-five years, and advises keeping in personal touch with it or staying away from it entirely. He found that the little children he had left had become gray-haired heads of families. They did not know him, and he did not know them. Most of those he had known had passed on, and the few who were left, reflecting the exactness of time and toil, had better have been preserved in pleasing recollection. It was a disheartening experience, as the Beatrice man testifies.

Wayne has distinguished itself among Nebraska towns in the area of paving accomplished within the past two years. The wisdom of using asphalt-filled brick on concrete base is supported without exception by those who are familiar with different paving materials. Two years ago this town was muddy when it rained and bumpy and dusty when it did not rain. The contrast between paved and unpaved towns is sharpened when one drives to a place that is still getting along without the improvement. We doubt if any one would now vote to forego wide paving and restore the town to its former condition of mud and ruts.

The Einstein theory of relativity will be considered by the Wayne Woman's club at the State Normal Saturday afternoon. This theory deals with a fourth dimension and other things that are beyond us at this writing. Exclusive of the Wayne women who were yet to be heard from, we understand only twelve people in the world have thus far worked out the Einstein problem. We presume the usual serving of refreshments will be dispensed with Saturday as anything so materialistic would not be consistent with the profound mental deductions necessary to such a successful attack on the Einstein proposition.

A review of Wayne county's delinquent tax list, published for the second time today, will show a surprisingly small number who have failed to pay their real estate taxes. It will also be observed that as between town lots and farm lands, the larger portion of the delinquency rests on the former. Wayne county's delinquent list is one of the smallest in the state, although few counties show large lists. Those that have many delinquents are exceptions to the rule. The showing for Wayne county, as well as that in many other counties which might be mentioned, does not reflect the loss of money which one might suspect.

Billy Sunday is quoted as saying that the world is getting worse. It is not exactly fair to Christianity to assume or permit the conclusion that society has been steadily lowering its standards of civilization and that the world should be considered in periods. While it may be worse now than it was twenty years ago, very likely it was better twenty years ago. During a crisis, conditions grow worse before becoming better, and then from the crucible is evolved a standard that is higher than any previous one. We think history will bear out the truth of this encouraging assumption. While the great evangelist is probably right in saying that the world's social standards have been on a higher state than they are, his hitherto peached, thanks to a moral, rational, consistent and conscientious application of Christian principles.

4,000 Newspapers Have Quit.
Birth—Herald: The "Wellstep" One. Maple Leaf has ceased publication. In its farewell notice, H. W. Kaufman, the publisher, said:

"After a struggle of over twenty-one years, the Maple Leaf goes the way of most small country papers during the past four years. During these four years the cost of production has increased from 200 per cent to 300 per cent, while the income is practically the same. This has caused the suspension or amputation of over 200 newspapers in Canada during the last few years."

"The reason the newspaper gravely is shown by an editor who has been investigating the cause of the high mortality. He figures out that in 1907 wages were at 100. In 1914 they had risen to 244, and in 1921, the figure was 393. Newsprint from 100 jumped to 177 in 1914, and to 623 in 1921. Newspaper postage, which cost the normal of 100 in 1907, was 147 in 1914, and 387 in 1921. Ink was 100 in 1907, 210 in 1914 and today stands at 323.

"Editorial expense advanced from 100 in 1907 to 120 in 1914 and 241 in 1921. Miscellaneous expenses went from 100 in 1907 to 125 in 1914, and to 244 in 1921. By taking the average of all newspaper costs, it was found that while the average or normal number of 1907 was 100, in 1914 it was 155, and in 1921 it reached the high mark of 411.

"More than 4,000 newspaper publications have thus gone out of existence in the United States and a corresponding number of them in Canada."

Over-Organized.
Philadelphia Public Ledger: Washington was never so crammed and jammed and filled with lobbyists as it is today. They step on each other's heels and get in each other's way.

There was never a time when so many organizations, formed for that purpose, were trying to influence legislation for their own selfish ends. We have become a nation of organization joiners and dues payers. We are supporting an army of secretaries, "fixers," lobbyists and professional reformers. Washington is their happy hunting ground, the national capital is their chosen arena. They fight each other all over the District of Columbia. Congress is battered, benumbed and dumfounded by their clamors and shakings and overwhelmed by class-conscious measures and organization-bred bills. Legislative hearings are packed by them.

Notice of Hearing.
To the heirs, creditors and all persons interested in the estate of Nicholas Nelsen, deceased:

You and each of you are hereby notified that Christiana Kay has filed her petition in the county court of Wayne county, Nebraska, alleging that said Nicholas Nelsen died intestate at his residence in Wayne county, Nebraska, in the month of December, 1891. At the time of his death he was seized of real estate in Wayne county, Nebraska, including an undivided interest in a strip of land 42 feet wide along the west side of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-eight (28), township twenty-six (26) north, range four (4), east of the 6th P. M., Wayne county, Nebraska, and left surviving him as his sole and only heir at law, his mother Mary Nelsen. That all claims, debts and demands against said real estate have been paid in full. That said estate has never been administered in Nebraska. That said Christiana Kay is the owner in fee simple of said strip of land 42 feet wide along the west side of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section twenty-eight (28), township twenty-six (26) north, range four (4), east of the 6th P. M., Wayne county, Nebraska, and prays for a finding and decree determining the date of the death of said Nicholas Nelsen, deceased. For a determination of the heirs, the degree of kinship, and the right of descent of said real estate, and for an order barring claims of creditors, and prays for such other relief as may be proper. Said petition will be heard at the county court room in Wayne county, Nebraska, on the 17th day of November, 1921, at 9 o'clock a. m., at which time and place, the heirs, creditors and all persons interested in said estate may appear and show cause why a decree should not be made and entered as prayed in said petition.

Dated this 12th day of October, 1921.

Northeast Nebraska Leads in Corn Crop

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 11.—A loss of 5,763,000 bushels in the Nebraska corn crop from the September estimate, largely due to storm damage and decrease in acreage in condition for this month, is shown in the monthly crop report for Nebraska, issued here today by the state and federal bureau of crop estimates and operations. A corn crop of 217,410,000 bushels, which is 38,118,000 bushels below last year and 16,474,000 bushels below the five-year average, is disclosed in the report.

"Storm damage to corn in three or four eastern counties and a drop of one-half bushel in the per cent of corn for October lowered the corn estimate 5,763,000 bushels below last month," the report states. Although the present estimate of 217,410,000 bushels is 38,118,000 bushels below last year's crop, it is 16,474,000 bushels above the last five-year average.

Northeast Corn Leads. Northeastern counties will lead in both yield and quantity of corn. The fourth central and northwestern counties have a very satisfactory crop, the report declares. West central and southwestern counties have severe injury from drought although some localities have fair yields. Central Nebraska counties, with the exception of Buffalo and the west part of Hall county, have fairly good yields, according to the report.

The damage to late corn in eastern counties from drought during the latter part of August is confined largely to the counties south of the Platte river, the report adds.

"The preliminary estimate of yield of spring wheat is 12.0 bushels, as compared with 9.5 bushels last year, for a production totaling 2,784,000 bushels last year, according to the report. "This places the preliminary estimate of production of all wheat at 55,514,000 bushels as compared to the final estimate last year of 60,480,000 bushels."

Oats Fall Off. A preliminary estimate on the yield of oats shows a decrease of 1.2 bushels below last year and 1.2 bushels below the ten-year average. The estimate of production is 67,872,000 bushels, as compared with 83,040,000 bushels last year, while the price is rated at 87 per cent compared with 95 per cent and 88 per cent, the ten-year average.

Light weight of grain due to heat and drought at the critical period as well as repeated rains after harvest is responsible for the low quality, says the report.

Potato Harvest Has Started. The potato crop is rated at 70 per cent, compared with 73 per cent a month ago, with an indicated production of 7,105,000 bushels as compared with 8,415,000 bushels last year," the report declares. The harvest of the farm crop has started and the harvest of the late commercial crop will start in a few days.

Barley will yield twenty-five bushels compared with twenty-nine bushels last year, according to the estimates. The production totals 6,656,000 bushels, against 8,000,000 bushels last year. The crop, the report says, is third in size on the record.

Other minor crops are rated in the report as follows: Sweet potatoes, 50 per cent; flax, 85 per cent; apples 8 per cent; clover seed, 85 per cent; alfalfa seed, 25 bushels per acre; grain sorghum, 85 per cent; field beans, 85 per cent; tomatoes, 90 per cent; cabbage yield, 3 tons per acre; corn silage, 80 tons per acre; grapes, 78 per cent; pears, 5 per cent; and sugar beets, 91 per cent.

Despondent Norfolk Man Drowns Himself. Norfolk Daily News, Oct. 10.—Edward A. Sprick, 37 years old, 509 South Ninth street, committed suicide Sunday night by throwing himself into the rapids of the Norfolk river just below the mill dam. The body was recovered by firemen, police and city workers Sunday morning and taken to the Johnson and Thenhaus undertaking parlors. Despondency over unsuccessful attempts to get a divorce and financial obligations were the authorities said.

Have been the cause of the suicide. Came Here from Stanton. Sprick who came to Norfolk from Stanton two years ago, had desk room in the real estate office of Benedict and Son in the Bishop block. He gave no intimation of despondency among tenants in this building.

He is survived by the widow and one daughter. Sprick left his home for a short time Sunday evening, stating he was going to the movies. He returned suddenly and left again, almost immediately. An all-night search was instituted for him.

RED TAG SALE

Beginning Saturday, Oct. 15, 1921

An Explanation

Beginning on the above date this store will have one of the few sales it has ever held.

"Why are we holding this sale when merchandise of the sort we are offering is most seasonable and the demand for it is greatest?"

The answer—

We are overloaded. We have too large a stock and must reduce to be better in line with present business conditions. Also, we need the capital which this stock represents to carry on our merchandising operations. The prices have been cut in practically all lines and because of the values offered we will depart from our usual custom and sell for Cash Only the lines which are covered by this sale.

Every article is of the same high quality we have always offered you, and you can purchase them at a tremendous saving.

The Hoover Ends the Semi-Annual Housecleaning Upheavals

The un-Hoovered home is "No Man's Land" when Spring or Fall housecleaning is under way. Everything torn up; wife tired and worn out from being a "furniture mover," a step-ladder "steeple-jack" and everything else; possessions misplaced; floors bare for a week—followed by an avalanche of bills, backaches and family fusses—makes housecleaning anything but a peaceful event. The Hoover, by its year-round cleaning, prevents the accumulation of dirt. You don't have to live in dirt ten out of twelve months when your home is Hoovered regularly.

The following is one of the hymns taken from Mr. Rader's new hymn book, "Tabernacle Praises," to be used in the Wayne Evangelical Lutheran Church, which opened in a new house, Sunday, October 16, at 3 p. m.:
Love Found A Way.
Wonderful love that lifted me.
Sunk deep in sin,
Guilty and vile as I could be;
No hope within;
What every ray of light had fled,
O glorious day,
Raising my soul from out the dead.
Love found a way.
Chorus—
Love found a way
To redeem my soul.
Love found a way
That made me free whole;
Love sent my Lord
To the cross of shame.
Love found a way,
O, praise His holy name!

Lincoln Journal: President Harding gets $25,000 a year for traveling expenses and not a complaint. Gov. McKelvie has a right to inquire why the discrimination. The president, by the way, has set an example of economy to his subordinates by keeping his traveling expenses down thus far to about two-thirds of his appropriation.

LISTENING IN ON THE WORLD!

Next to the automobile, the most amazing thing of this century, perhaps, is wireless radio. Its spread among amateurs in the U. S. Navy asserts that 500,000 young men have such radiophones, and that the most costly of them cost from $10 to $25. It is an average of 10,000 to each state—but of course, some states have several times 10,000.

Every night news in Morse code or lectures on wirelessness of concerts are sent out from central stations in cities for the benefit of these amateurs.

The United States Navy exercises a certain control over these amateurs through what is known as the "Navy Radio Amateur Bureau." This bureau sends the amateur copies of secret codes, arranges concerts and lectures for them and otherwise interests them. An amateur writing to Popular Science Monthly says the bureau even sent him a personal message soon after he joined.

The same writer says that when he first got his apparatus together, he took it out on the porch. The wire touched a standing on the porch, and instantly he heard music. Wireless sounds come through the air like ripples on a pond, and washed against the receiving wire. In this case they went against the metal manicule, and the minute the wire touched it, the concert that was in the air at the moment began to reproduce on the apparatus in his house.

If any of our community boys are interested in becoming amateur radiograph operators, they should write "United States Navy Radio Amateur Bureau, New York City."

Agriculture Notes

Preserving Eggs. Tests which involve the use of water and lime water for the preservation of eggs for home use have been carried on by the United States department of agriculture. They show that either water glass or lime water will preserve eggs successfully, and that while water glass is usually easier to use and requires less labor, lime water is a much cheaper preservative. It was found that lime water without salt gave slightly better results than lime water with salt. Air-slacked lime did not give as satisfactory results as where lump lime was used. Galvanized receptacles were used successfully for lime-water tests; the pails were thoroughly coated with melted paraffin previous to their use with the solution. Tests in which eggs were wrapped in tin foil and wax paper and kept in an open cellar or room were not at all satisfactory. Although the tin foil reduced evaporation to a negligible quantity, the eggs developed extreme mustiness within a short time.

To Assist Stockmen. The stock growers of the great range states of the West are vitally interested in cold waves, heavy snows, high winds, and the storms known as "blizzards." The weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture, in its endeavors to assist stockmen, issues warnings of these unfavorable conditions which are dangers to farm animals. These warnings are widely distributed by telegraph and telephone to large centers, but the further dissemination must devolve on the people interested. The problem has been largely solved in some states, particularly Missouri, by telegraphing the warning to one central point in each county, where arrangements are made to telephone information of the warnings to the community in its entirety. When a warning is received the farmers and stockmen on the great western ranges arrange to graze their stock near shelter, which is a direction from shelter, that in the stock will drift toward it when the anticipated severe weather comes. A modification of this service consists of shepherding and handling forecasts and warnings. In early shearing and lambing districts shearing is delayed or no storm sheep ewes and young lambs are not near suitable shelter, such as cooules, where they will receive protection when wind, snow, or cold rains are expected.

Traffic Census Taken. Thirty thousand motorists who were stopped last month on the Springfield-Hartford road at the Connecticut-Massachusetts state line have contributed valuable information to the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture. The census was designed to assist the department to determine more rational methods of road design to meet varying traffic needs. The motorists were counted in the first traffic census to give the most complete information ever undertaken by the bureau. The census was conducted in cooperation with state highway departments of Massachusetts and Connecticut and will be duplicated in the near future elsewhere. The census between Aug. 15 and 29 covered 140 day hours and 28 night hours and resulted in accurate records concerning 30,851 vehicles. The census included such information as car type, make, number of passengers, time direction, starting-point, and destination. The state authorities recorded, in addition, license numbers and engine identification. The work was handled so expeditiously that the average stop lasted only 15 seconds. Trucks were stopped for an average of longer—160 seconds for southbound and 37 seconds for northbound vehicles being the average. Truck drivers were asked to furnish information to the information obtained in the case of passenger cars, capacity, driver's estimate of length and frequency of trip, kinds of loads carried, location of consignor and consignee. Roadside signs, especially placed, took required weight data and were measured. The speeds of trucks, motorcycles and horse-drawn vehicles also were included in the census. The data thus obtained are being analyzed and will be used in connection with information obtained from experiments on impact of trucks and effect of impact on pavement, to design better roads.

Business. Sioux City Journal. Cause and effect have been operating to stimulate what business recoveries have been made, depleted stocks and increased demands for goods exerting an influence on the production sources all over the country. The condition is true with regard to textiles, building materials, shoes, coal, iron and steel, and, of course, apparel. The buyers' strike initiated a year ago would have retarded inventories and cutting down orders. If the public would not buy there would be no wisdom in carrying big lines that would not sell. The merchant began to sell off his shelves, taking what losses were necessary, but he did not lay in an overstock. Little by little the clearing up of the stock and warehouse storage was made, and the increased demand for goods came at a time when stock were sold lower than ever before. The result

Secretary of Commerce Hoover says national industry today is "in the early springtime of recovery." He also observes that bonds have fallen in price and that federal and other general interest rates have fallen. Experts are increasing, especially foodstuffs, and, as Secretary Hoover somewhat emphatically points out, without "any forced measures of foreign government credits." That would suggest that an international recovery has begun which, while it remains unconfirmed, will be reflected in marked manner in American business.

Burden on Poor Man.
Mitchell Republican: The very rich man, of course, spends but a small part of his income, putting the rest back into investments. If he is taxed only on his purchases of products of manufacture, he would pay only a baggale on his entire income, whereas the man of small income, compelled to pay out everything just to live, would be taxed on his entire income. So, instead of increasing the tax in accordance with ability to pay, it would be many times, in percentage of income, in the case of the man who has little ability to pay.
