Dr. Erskine Gets Appointment. The Mirror-Sun of Lyons has this to say of the appointment of Dr. E. B. Erskine, formerly of Wayne, to a position in an ex-service men's hospital. Dr. E. B. Erskine, who for the past two years has been associated with Dr. M. L. Hildreth, has received an appointment from the government as first assistant surgeon at the ex-service men's hospital, Lafayette, Ind., and will leave the latter part of this week to report for duty. By this appointment Dr. Erskine has been recognized as a specialist. The hospital is one of the largest soldiers' health institutions in the United States, nearly 5,000 ex-service men are stationed there for treatment.

With Dr. Erskine's departure from Lyons, this community loses a good citizen and a man of ability in medical science. While in Lyons he has been especially active in the American Legion and the boy scout movement and will be greatly missed by these organizations.

Mrs. Erskine will remain in Lyons for the present. Mr. and Mrs. Erskine have been guests at a number of dinner parties given in their honor this week.

The Early Days in Two Counties

From Wayne Herald for December 26, 1901:

The twelve-year-old daughter of R. H. Johnson died after a short illness.

Miss Maude Bressler is home from Chicago, where she had been attending school.

Edgar, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan, died as a result of rheumatism.

August Samuelson and daughter, Mary, have returned from an extended visit to relatives in Illinois.

Paul Harrington, is home from Lexington, Mo., to spend the holidays at the home of his parents.

At the St. Paul school, school social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Terwilliger.

Fred and James Pile, Jr. have returned from their long visit in Ohio in excellent physical condition and with increased vigor.

Married on Christmas day by Rev. C. R. Weldon, Henry L. McMillen and Miss Margaret M. Sala. They will make their home for the present in Pender.

Miss Leona Hunter has received her appointment as a teacher in the Philippines. The salary is $900 per year, and begins when she starts from here.

Judge Hunter issued licenses to two to Wm. B. Lewis and Miss Eva Shirts of Winnside and to Harrison B. Gray of Seward, City and John B. Jones of Winnside.

Quite a party of Wayne people, including the families of R. C. Osborne, H. Griggs, Mark Jeffrey and Henry Warner of Laurelton, and Clelan, Wash., to join the Wayne people already there. Letters from the five Wayne settlements had recently a party of them went out to their claims only nine miles from Creola and passed several nights in tents. One Stranper is said to claim there.

Monday evening the electric lights along the First National Bank, Dan Harrington's, the postoffice and the Democrat office burned out owing to a short circuit having been made by S. D. DeLaney who had been putting in some new lights in the bank. It looked as though there might be a fire for a few minutes but the wires melted and dropped.

Mr. Rockwell, our poet laureate, has written the music again and wrangled out another poem for this paper. It is entitled, "Hard Times Made Easy," and is really first rate.

P. Marzen Esq., who located in 1863 between this place and Martinsburg, on one of the best farms in South Creek valley, has just completed his new home. His motto is to allow the young folks to celebrate its completion by having a dance there. Mr. M. is a good dancer himself.

The city band has been reorganized and we may expect soon to be again favored with Faterpan music from the brazen throats of 20 flats and sax-tubes, big horns and little horns, and diers other horns of every conceivable size, shape and name, the prime object of each being to make a louder noise than its neighbor.

The express agent, Mr. Weston, on Monday discovered a mouse gnawing and covorting around his office, and, instead of calling in the carrier, he went to work to tame and catch the little beast. Hence he stooped him with choice bits of crackers, bribed him with sugar, and kindly invited him to get acquainted and be sociable. The mouse, appreciating all these favors, did finally come and nibble and make himself at home, so that when we were alone he was eating out of Mr. Weston's hand, thoroughly tamed and well behaved.

Our old friend, S. H. Coats, Esq., of this county, returned on Friday evening from the Black Hills. He went to that country nearly three months ago, and during that time must have had a great amount of experience in frontier life. When he went there the Black Hills country was mostly wild and unsettled, and the danger there and life there at that time was full of danger. During his stay he has seen the hither-to unsettled region filled in, overflowing with thousands of energetic men, in whose active hands the unknown wilderness has been filled with large and busy cities and towns. We have not heard whether Mr. Coats will return again to the Hills.

to the street. Engineer Fritts was summoned by telephone and in a few minutes had up the iron works and had the lights going. Christmas exercises were held in the evening. The piano collection by Misses Ellis, Warrack, Opnstad and Brown were followed by the play "A Christmas Carol," in which the most prominent part was taken by Eddie McVe, Frank Gitten, Carl Burdick, Georgie Terwilliger, Edna Brown, Arthur Erdmannson, Otto Ahlert, Fred and James Pile, Jr., Blanche Young and Margaret Esler. Following the play "Annie Laurie" was sung by Dady Gamble, Edna Bush and Edith Simson.

From Ponca Journal, December 26, 1928:

The meeting of the coal company which was held last Thursday evening was adjourned to Thursday evening of this week.

On the 21st of December, 1928, a crowd of about 100 people gathered from this place to Jackson to attend the dedication of the new Catholic church at that place.

Under Production of Live Stock.

Deavers Journal-Stockman: It seems to be the popular fashion to ascribe the present unfortunate plight of the farmer largely to excessive production of corn. This, of course, is partly right. There is an enormous surplus of corn in the country at present, after three big crops in succession, but this surplus of corn would not have been at all burdensome had it not been for the steady decrease in live stock production. Corn is primarily a feed crop, and with increased production of the grain and decreased production of live stock to use the grain, the present depression was inevitable.

In an address the other day, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace pointed out the disastrous effect on the country of the paralyzing of producers. When forty million farm people are compelled to cease buying necessities, to say nothing of luxuries, the effect on the business of the country is soon apparent. In other words, the cutting down, by deflation of agricultural product values, of the buying power of the country has been nothing short of a national calamity.

"Fortunately, however," says the secretary, "there is a brighter side to the picture. Prices for live stock are much higher relatively than prices for grain. In the case of corn, for example, which is our largest grain crop, the farmer is receiving very much more for his grain when fed to hogs and cattle and sheep and marketed in that form than he is receiving for his corn when marketed as corn. Speaking generally, about 80 per cent of our crop is fed to live stock, and those farmers who have maintained their live stock production are not suffering so severely as might be indicated by the price of grains. The prices of dairy products also are higher relatively than the price of grain and feed in these sections, where dairying is practiced there is a steady income and the farmers are getting along."

There is the remedy. More live stock. Cutting down the production of corn will prove a poor proceeding for the farmer unless he increases its production of live stock at the same time. The two go together.

When Watson Grows Violent. New York World-Sanjour: Watson of Georgia, is a highly belligerent statesman who retains a sense of caution. When he threatened to sleep the face of an armistice present at a meeting of a senate committee of investigation he invited a form of reprisals not permitted on the floor of the senate. He checked himself at just the right moment. If he had carried hostilities a little further he might have received a lesson that would have served a good purpose.

Other Fields Invited. Kansas City Times: The Washington conference is making such a fine kind of success that we almost wish it could do something about local income tax.

Neighborliness

Farm telephones make a neighborhood of the whole community and help greatly to dispel loneliness. Long before the rural free delivery of mail or the good roads movement, this Company began to link up farm houses with neighboring towns and cities.

NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

OUR GREETING

WHEN nations are conferring on the plan of universal disarmament; when steel magnates are offering to scrap their great war munition plants in an effort to make peace lasting; it is time for us to do our part toward dispelling universal gloom and discouragement.

We must enter the Yuletide season with the spirit of thankfulness for what we have, instead of lamenting the things which we have lost or the things which we have never possessed.

We must feel encouraged to take up the duties of the new year with vim and vigor so that this section of the country, the great middle west which has always represented peaceful prosperity, will regain the position which has been weakened through disparity of values.

Can this institution be of service to you in your undertakings for the new year? If so, tell us.

Awaiting Price Readjustment.
Kansas City Times: Until there is an adjustment of prices that will revive the buying power of the American farmer as a whole and the further changes for the better in international economic conditions that will show improvement of foreign commerce, there is likely to be a surplus of labor in this country, particularly in the big cities. But the relentless decline that recently has been made in this surplus and the example of such a condition as exists in North Carolina mean encouragement of a very solid kind.

A. D. LEWIS

MRS. A. D. LEWIS

To Our Friends and Patients:

If there is any month in the year that people should feel good toward each other it is this one. This is the get-together season.

Let us offer the best of good wishes for your continued good health, prosperity and ability to carry the message of Chiropractic to suffering humanity, so that they too may receive the great blessings of health and happiness.

The best gift that one can receive is one that is most useful. God gave to us Niagara Falls, Yellowstone Park, Grand Canyon and giant trees. We are awed into silence when our eyes behold the beauties of the Yosemite and the Mammoth Cave, but the mind fails to grasp the wonder of wonders—the human body and its function.

Man, in turn, has endeavored to pay the debt he owes to the great designer. The Sphinx, Pyramids, Porcelain Tower of Nanking and the Great Chinese Wall are but the mute testimony of human genius and indebtedness.

Think of other gifts—the printing press, locomotive, telegraph and incandescent light. All very useful, but the greatest of the great, the most useful of the useful, is the gift of Chiropractic by the infinite to mankind.

What do all the marvelous discoveries, inventions and achievements mean to a suffering humanity if they cannot restore health?

Truth is simple, life is simple, Chiropractic is simple; simplicity is the basis of all greatness.

You have said that we helped you. Bless you, it was you who helped us. If it had not been for your co-operation and support our efforts would have been nil. Again we wish you the finest of God's blessing; not only for this Christmas and New Year's season, but always.

Leslie News

J. P. Claussen shipped two cars of cattle to Omaha last Wednesday. Ed McQuistan went to Bloomfield last week to visit his mother who was ill. Mrs. and Mrs. Henry Albers are touring evening eaters at DeWitt's. Clifford Heintze was on the sick list last week, as was also Mrs. Oscar Felt family who were on the sick list last week, are much-improved. Rolla McQuistan shipped cattle to Omaha last Tuesday and accompanied the shipment. A party was given at the Fred Johnson home Saturday evening, December 10. A large crowd was present. The hostess served a delicious luncheon and a good time was had by all.

While your child is growing and developing, do not neglect his eyes. Eye strain relieved now will allow the child to develop normally and then he will be able to dispense with glasses.

luncheon and a good time was had by all. The Bettie Kai young folks spent Tuesday evening at the John Gillister home in Pender.

Joe Elliott, upset his Ford last week and hurt his hand badly. He returned to Minnesota the next day.

Mrs. and Mrs. Jens Jensen attended church services at Wayne Sunday and were guests of Mrs. Jensen's relatives.

Mrs. and Mrs. Opal Sorenson, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kai motored to the Smith home near Thurston last Wednesday.

Congratulations are extended to Miss Clara Henschke and George who were married at the German church in Leslie last Wednesday.

A dancing party was held at the Edward Kai home Sunday evening, December 11. A delicious lunch was served from the baskets brought by the guests.

A very interesting meeting was held at the David Horner home December 7. The Ladies Aid. Much work was done on the quilt which they are making. The next meeting will be held at Rolla McQuistan's the first Wednesday in January, when all members and friends are requested to come early and the quilt will be completed. Dinner will be served by Mrs. McQuistan.

Business.
Sioux City Journal: The most interesting person in the process of business reconstruction is coming soon after the holidays are over. As usual, business generally is expecting a midwinter slump in activity, but the indications are that there will be employed to advantage in formulating plans for aggressive campaigns for trade as the situation naturally improves. No merchants make the claim that the holiday trade has been up to normal, but few complaints are heard. Some business activity has been accompanied by the spirit of the season, and traders have improved much on cash sales and increased collections. They are now busy with the windup of the holiday business, with an eye on January and February's possibilities and hoped for renewal of buying in the spring. Whether true or false as a prediction, it is a fact that business leaders all over the country are expecting a decided improvement within the next five or six months. They are taking this hope on the upward swing of business, but take gradually after passing through the acute period of depression. It can be seen that this kind of optimism is conducive to improvement. It is helpfully contagious, effecting as it does a general feeling that conditions are to be better and influencing the interest elsewhere in that much desired circumstance.

Gov. Harding of the Federal Reserve board in an address at Westinghouse before the chamber of commerce of that city, denied that "normalcy" was at hand. He did not inspire his auditors, however, by declaring that it soon would be reached if the business interests would get together and make the necessary readjustments—more uniformity. That sounds to the Journal very much like an echo of something it already has said. The Journal has complained before that a lack of uniformity in taking war losses in business was largely responsible for the continued, long drawn out business depression. Gov. Harding also complains who everybody knows with regard to the condition of the farmer, whose buying power, having been diminished, distaste the condition of the domestic market. It certainly does, and will continue to do so until a readjustment in fairness to the farmer is made. It is odd that various other businesses which are suffering because of the farmers' decreased buying power, get together to form a trust which is certain that interests entirely foreign to the farmer weakened that buying power most abruptly. It might logically be considered that outside influences now might be able to help the farmer.

Restoration of normal conditions in agriculture, commerce and industry depends to a very great extent upon the reduction of essential items of expense, as taxes, freight rates, rents and fuel.

This from Gov. Harding's address points to the cost of living as being somewhat detrimental to business reconstruction. Of course, the employer who pays heavy taxes, high freight rates in the purchase price of commodities, steep rents and exorbitant prices for fuel, cannot be reasonably expected to accept a lower wage and thus aid in the reduction of production costs. As to production costs, Gov. Harding says that the farmer who grows wheat, for instance, pays more for his fertilizer than other manufacturing costs. He criticizes manufacturers for not burning down in a decree the cost of their raw material and of doing business generally.

New York continues to be cheerful over the business outlook, and is trading in stocks and bonds so actively as to encourage the belief that "normalcy" is right around the corner. Victory bonds reached a new high point last week. New York city 4 1/2 per cent 10-year corporate stock worth $55,000,000 was bought the other day by a Morgan syndicate. The syndicate had been opened. Good prices above par were offered. It was a good investment, and indicated the strong desire of the financial interests to keep as much money at work as possible. Oil and steel stocks were favorites on Wall street, last week, with some heavy deals put through. The British pound sterling is climbing upward appreciably, reflecting an influence of the success of the arms conference.

Wishes to express to its friends and patrons the warmest greetings of the Yuletide season. This bank has done its utmost to faithfully serve the public, and appreciation of its efforts is manifestly reflected in the steady and gratifying growth it has made.

Thirty-six years as a National Bank! That is the life of the First National Bank of Wayne. Its history is that of a safe and progressive banking institution. Its tower of strength has been reared on a foundation of sound business judgment. Its policy of mutual helpfulness is firmly rooted in popular confidence. After thirty-six years of healthy growth, it reviews the past with satisfaction and looks to the future with assurance.

As we approach another year, we are ready to take a new hold, and feel confident that 1922 will not prove disappointing. Earnest co-operation will be given to realization of the universal wish for improved and stable times.

Suggesting a happy Christmas thought, what would be more gratifying to your particular loved one--whether it be father, mother, brother or sister--than to be presented with a savings pass book showing the start to independence? You could rest assured that it would be accepted as a token of your utmost esteem.
