Rhapsodies on Girls.

A "Rhapsody on Girls" column of the Norfolk News, a spring rhapsody on girls. The author was inspired to write the foregoing when in Wayne recently.

Norfolk, Neb., Dear A. T. A.: I suspect that when a fellow gets beyond the half century mark he oughtn't to look but say "I see they not fearfully and wonderfully made up?" Our girls, I mean. Over at Wayne the other evening there were about twenty-five of them buying tickets for home. Didn't know there were so many different styles. Did you ever count 'em? Bobbed hair ala Cressian lady of color, "chops" and brow covered, like an Esquimaux at 40 below. Transparent and opaque; rolled and unrolled; short, medium and shorter. Oh, boy! But then, no doubt!

Were I a girl, I'd bob my hair. Or cover up my ears with care. Transparent, silver ones I'd wear: Were I a girl,

Were I a girl, I'd hang my skirt Two feet or more above the dirt; And wear my shoes so small they'd hurt: Were I a girl,

Were I a girl, I'd almost freeze Before I'd hide my dimpled knees. To shield them from a chilling breeze: Were I a girl,

Were I a girl, (which I am not) I'd follow fashion 'til a dot, And wear my furs when it is hot. That's 'till I'm burned much.

Nebraska Indebtedness.

Lincoln, Neb., April 18.—The total mortgage debt on over 400,000 homes in the state of Nebraska in 1920 was $223,395,270, or 26.5 per cent of their total value of $846,168,943, according to a preliminary report issued by the department of commerce through the census bureau. Of this total mortgage, $168,307,859 was against 23,000 farms, representing 2.9 per cent of their total value of $705,561,409, while mortgages against owned homes not on farms totaled $56,087,411, or 6.6 per cent of a total value of $140,607,534.

Rented homes, tenant farms and farms that were partly owned and partly rented, were not included in the report.

The figures show that of 177,752 Nebraska homes not on the farms, 103,353, or 58 per cent, or 471 were owned by the occupants and of these owned homes, 38,680, or 37.5 per cent were mortgaged.

Information regarding the value of the home and the amount of mortgage debt was obtained from 23,111, or 68.8 per cent of the mortgaged homes, according to the report.

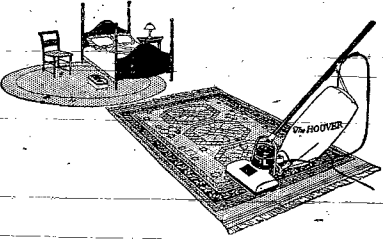

The average mortgage debt of the homes for which the mortgage reports were obtained was $1,846, and the average value, $4,174, the report stated. On the basis of these averages, the total mortgage debt on the mortgaged homes and on farms was estimated at $55,427,688, while the total value of such homes was $140,607,534. The ratio of mortgage debt to value was 39.4 per cent.

May Contest Election.

Randolph, Neb., April 18.—The rumor current here that the recent city election in the south ward where the election fight occurred, will be contested. In that ward George Egan, the caucus nominee, was selected as the incumbent over Charles Howell by a ten vote majority. Dissatisfied voters claim that the election was illegal, due to the fact that the polls were closed at 7 p. m. and then reopened until 8 at the request of the late voters who said that the polls must be kept open until that time. Seventeen votes were cast after the polls were closed. As yet no legal steps have been taken.

Rhaphodizes on Girls.

A Norfolk man contributes to the "Along the Avenue" column of the Norfolk News, a spring thapsody on girls. The author was inspired to write the foregoing when in Wayne recently.

Norfolk, Neb., Dear A. T. A.: I suspect that when a fellow gets beyond the half century marks he oughtn't to look, but say, are they not fearfully and wonderfully made—up? Our girls, I mean. Over at Wayne the other evening there were about twenty-five of them, buying tickets for home. Didn't know there were so many different styles. Did you ever count 'em? Bobbed hair ala Circassian lady, or ears, chops and brows covered, like an Egyptian on girls. The author was inspired to write the foregoing when in Wayne recently.

Were I a girl, I'd bob my hair, Or cover up my ears with curls.

Were I a girl, I'd hang my skirt Two feet or more above the dirt; And wear my shoes so small

Week's Report From Bureau of Markets

APRIL 17, 1922.—Cattle.—The rate of cattle at Omaha last week was lighter than the previous week and still below the corresponding week of last year. The offerings consisted largely of medium to good grades of beef steers with strictly choice to prime grades very light. Shipping demand was mainly below average. Heavier grades of beefs carrying weight. Well finished yearlings and good light heaves were wanted at prices 13 cents above the previous week. Choice heavy beefs sold the middle of the week at $8 with a top of $9.40. Good yearlings were reported at $7.75 to $10.75 cents. Fat calves were 25 cents to $2.00 higher, top, $12.00.

Hogs.—Receipts of hogs were lighter at Omaha and elsewhere. Demand was strong from both shippers and packers. Compared with the previous week, prices were strong to 10c higher. The bulk of sales ranged from $10.00 to $10.50. Packing grades, $8.00 to $9.50.

Sheep.—Receipts of sheep were much lighter. The offerings consisted largely of clipped lambs. For the week, lambs were 50 to 75 cents lower. The bulk of woolled lambs sold at Omaha the middle of the week at $13.00 to $14.75. Clipped at $12.50 to $13.10. The week's top on spring lambs was $19.00. Wethers, $12.00. Ewes, $10.00.

Wheat.—Prices kept within narrow range during the week and closed slightly higher. The only weakness was on the 11th and 12th on liquidation and lack of support. Factors in fluctuating advances were bad weather and unfavorable crop news over the wheat belt. Higher foreign markets and advance in exchange rates. For the week, lambs were 50 to 75 cents lower. The bulk of woolled lambs sold at Omaha the middle of the week at $13.00 to $14.75. Clipped at $12.50 to $13.10. The week's top on spring lambs was $19.00. Wethers, $12.00. Ewes, $10.00.

Corn.—Corn was firm with wheat. Country offerings were light. Average price to farmers in central low, 46 cents.

Potatoes.—The tone of the market was weak at leading potato shipping points. Middlewestern market advanced from $1.50 to $1.85, including carlot sales. The Kansas City market was very weak. With sales of partly graded stock as low as $1.25. Potato shipments continue heavy at about 600 cars daily; more than half of them from Maine and Minnesota. The movement is about one-third heavier than at the corresponding time a year ago. Season's production reached exactly that for last Octo-total—$6 about—30,000 cars ahead of last season to date. New potatoes declined about $1.00 per barrel at Florida shipping points, ruling $6.00 per barrel. E. o. o. with No. 2 at $4.00.—The movement of new potatoes is increasing and thus far is about 50 per cent ahead of last season. The official forecast of April 7 indicates production of 6,552 cars in Florida compared with 2,988, the estimated production last year.

Poultry.—Demand for poultry continued strong. Local prices: Springs, 20 to 26 cents; hens, (light) 23 to 26 cents; (heavy) 22 to 25 cents; geese, 17 to 18 cents; ducks, 20 to 23 cents; geese, 10 to 17 cents.

Eggs.—The movement of eggs was heavy and consumptive demand good. Local prices per case, $3.25 to $3.75. Per dozen, 20 cents.

Dairy.—Butter markets have recovered from recent dullness and at the close were firm with price tendency upward. Offerings of all grades fairly well cleaned up. 92 score selling on the Chicago markets at 32 cents.—Lard—prime country butter (best) 22 to 24 cents; common, 17 to 19 cents.

Culled From Herald's Exchanges For Week

The month-end sales conducted the first of April by Tekamah business houses met with so much success that plans are being made for a similar period this month.

The debate the Modern Woodmen were having at Tekamah—whether to use the old walls of their partially burned building in rebuilding was settled last Monday when the strong wind toppled over the walls, making all entire new building necessary.

Miss Nellie Staple who taught in the Wayne public schools three years ago has been selected to a position in the grade schools of Ne-high.

Warren Tewksbury who recently was fined $30 and costs by the Wayne county court on a plea of guilty to passing a worthless check, and who was turned over to the Burt county sheriff to answer for a similar charge, made a getaway from the Tekamah jail. He escaped while at the court house telephoning a friend who was having his arrested County Attorney Rhodes' hat and coat. Sheriff Stanfield traced him back to Burt county and brought him back to Burt county.

Prof. W. L. Black who was recently selected superintendent of the Pierce city schools, has resigned, and will leave for the state university the coming year.

Oakland plans to celebrate a park clean-up today. All men who wish to help make the grounds and shape the driveways of the city park were to report early this morning. The women were invited to bring dinners at noon.

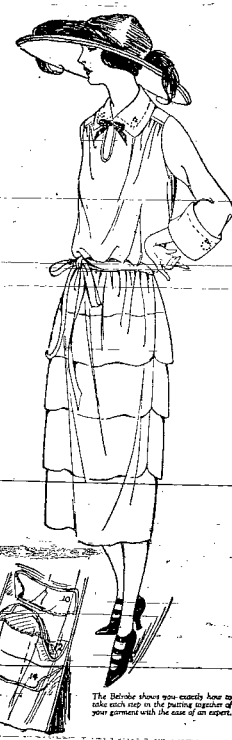

The following item in the Oakland Independent refers to a former teacher at the Wayne city schools: "Miss Mildred Wescott who had been home a week to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Wescott, returned Sunday to Hastings where she teaches."

her, $285,000,000 which is the highest record for sales of American goods abroad since December, 1920. The trade balance in favor of the United States was the greatest since last November. All this is very comforting, for it means that commerce overseas is picking up, that American producers of goods are finding markets, that the business trend is upward. The first effect of the increased export total is the creation in America of a stronger confidence, the final recovery. New York interests are enthusiastic and are moving forward rapidly to take advantage of the upturn. For nearly two weeks daily transactions in Wall street have been in excess of 1,000,000 shares. Nothing like that had been witnessed since the war boom days. American financiers have picked up their ears at the Bank of England's announcement that its discount rate had been lowered to 4 per cent. That will release enormous amounts of money for trade purposes, which, of course, will contribute to the readjustments needed in the United Kingdom. Thus England also resumes its journey toward normal conditions, but undeniably has a longer way to go than the United States.

Buyers of all kinds of securities are in the American markets looking for investments. Federal bonds have reached par with strong demand. Capital is beginning to loosen, to search for opportunities. That reflects the strong return of confidence. Meanwhile, it should be remembered that Wall street activity can be used as a business barometer for the rest of the country. The financial interests are ever watchful, and the stock and bond markets are in ascertaining exactly what it would cost. Higher prices for steel and iron may be reflected in goods, but stiff increases are not expected, for, eventually, as the world's markets are made easier, the profits sought will be in quantity production rather than higher prices. Some of the leading manufacturers of motor cars really are jubilant over the showing they are making. Record breaking orders, greatly increased shipments and large additions to working forces are featuring automobile advertising throughout the country. Although the motor car is admittedly a necessity, the millions of used cars now in service could be taken an-disproving the statement in 'this report. The present demand is not so much one of necessity as of luxury. This could be translated as having more greater "impulse," for it could not be a tight market that would demand and pay for luxuries at this time.

More favorable weather has given a decided impetus to building operations over widely distributed areas. It is the spring season and activity in all lines is increasing. With more money to spend and a renewed confidence in the value of this year's crops, the farmers are happier than they have been for a year and are making extensive plans accordingly. Higher prices for live stock set the pace for readjustments that came steadily once the start was made. Banks are not only willing to extend loans to farmers, but are seeking business. Altogether, the business situation is better now than a great many careful observers predicted.

Can't Return Salary. Lincoln, Neb.—April 12.—A candidate for public office in Nebraska who might be elected on a platform pledging the return of a portion of his salary to the county treasurer would be violating the law and could be prevented from taking office, according to an opinion by Assistant Attorney General Book.

The opinion was in reply to a query from P. J. Barrett, county attorney of Greeley county, who included part of an advertisement by a candidate for sheriff, promising to return $350 a year of his salary to the county if elected.

Why You Should Use a National Vacuum Washer? Because: It washes much quicker, does it much cleaner and with a great deal less work to the operator.

Why Does It Wash Quicker? Because: The rapid action of the dasher driving the hot water and suds through the soiled clothes forces the dirt out. The agitation of the hot water makes the dirt respond immediately. Two to six minutes will remove the dirt from any fabric that can be cleaned with soap and water.

President Wilson Knocks Senator Reed

St. Louis, April 18.—A letter from Woodrow Wilson, former president, denied a recent statement printed in the Globe-Democrat that he had thanked Senator James A. Reed, democratic candidate for re-election, for great services which the senator rendered him in perfecting and passing the federal reserve bill, which was issued by Lee Meriwether, attorney and supporter of Reed's bill.

Accompanying Wilson's letter, the Globe-Democrat prints another from Senator Reed, in which a purported copy of the letter from Wilson to Reed is given. The letters from the former president and senator follow:

The Wilson Letter. The following is the letter to the editor of the Globe-Democrat, under the date of April 15, 1922, at Washington says:

I note in your issue of April 12 that one Lee Meriwether is quoted as saying that he had seen a letter from me to Senator Reed, warmly thanking him for the great service the senator rendered in perfecting and passing the federal reserve bill. I have no recollection of ever having written any such letter. On the contrary, I clearly remember that Mr. Reed as a member of the committee on banking and currency, interposed every possible objection to the completion of the adoption of the bill at the hearings, indeed, were so many, so varied and so inconsistent with one another that I recall speaking to him about them in conversation. Having spoken of leaving a certain party on a well known novel. I told him that his course in the committee reminded me of the conduct of the negro in that party, who, after being elected by the majority, rushed from the house, mounted several horses and rode off in every direction.

"Statements such as the one quoted from Mr. Meriwether appear to be intended to create the impression that Mr. Reed and I have had some common principles and advocated the same policies, and that he is entitled to and may be assumed to have my endorsement and approval for his election to the senate. This is far from being the case. To those who have closely observed Mr. Reed's career in Washington, it has been himself incapable of sustained allegiance to any person or any cause. He has repeatedly forfeited any claim to my confidence, and any one who has been supposed to have, and I shall never willingly consent to any further association with him.

It is a lie that you will do me the courtesy to publish this statement. Very truly yours, Woodrow Wilson."

Senator Reed's Rejoinder. A letter and statement given to a Washington representative of the Globe-Democrat by Senator Reed is printed as follows:

I had have a difference with the president entirely good-natured over the federal reserve bank bill. The kernel of that controversy was that the president insisted that the bill, which had originated in and been passed by the house, should be reported out of the senate committee and passed very speedily without further opportunity for the senate to insist that hearings should be granted and they were granted. As a result of the hearings the bill was amended largely of times. It was after these hearings and with reference to them that the president wrote me the following letter. I hand you a facsimile of the letter.

Senator Reed here produced a printed circular ending with a photographic copy of the president's letter, which had originated in and been passed by the house, should be reported out of the senate committee and passed very speedily without further opportunity for the senate to insist that hearings should be granted and they were granted. As a result of the hearings the bill was amended largely of times. It was after these hearings and with reference to them that the president wrote me the following letter. I hand you a facsimile of the letter.

The White House, Washington, October 23, 1913. My dear Senator: I hesitate to ask you to break in on your busy schedule, but for the past few weeks you have had, by requesting you to come to the white house in order that I may say what is perfectly just and fair to me in any letter. I want to thank you very warmly and sincerely for your statement made through a New York newspaper. I have felt all along the sincere honest and independent judgment you were exercising in this whole matter and you may be sure that there has never been in my mind any criticism except an occasional difference of judgment. I think that things are now shaping themselves admirably, and I am quite willing to admit that the process upon which you have insisted have contributed to that result. I feel that I can count on you from this time out to play a leading part in bringing to a satisfactory issue, and I want you to know what satisfaction it gives me to feel that I can do this cordially and faithfully yours, Woodrow Wilson."

"P. S. Pray call upon me at any time that you would like to confer on any feature of the matter. W. W."

able to meet European competition on any basis that will enable them to pay present rates demanded," the document declared. It is understood the packers assert that the shipping board has considerable space available.

Modernized. Boston Transcript: First Writer—I want a newer expression for "between the devil and the deep sea." Second Ditto—Oh, just say "Between an empty furnace and an unpaid coal bill."

Old Law is Working. Omaha Bee: There is a shortage of hogs now, and prices are booming. That's the well known law of supply and demand. If, as is more than probable, there is a superabundance within two years, prices will slump. That will also be according to the law of supply and demand. However much anyone may hate to admit it.

Individual Rights Overemphasized. Chicago Tribune: Our legal system is extremely considerate of the rights of the individual and has multiplied safeguards for his benefit to such an extent that the commission of crime has become a hazard which almost anyone disposed to crime can afford to accept. The evasion of law is a most successful science in our country and the effect is everywhere apparent in the prevalence of law breaking.

Panel 4: The woman replies, 'HE CERTAINLY IS, HE HASN'T HANDED ME A GIFT SINCE WE MARRIED TWENTY YEARS AGO!'

Common Sense Displayed—How?

Over fifty farmers have taken and delivered to their homes that many barrels Semi-Solid Butter Milk the last ten days.

Butter Milk is a natural food and every farmer knows its feeding value for pigs, chickens and calves. When assimilated with other foods makes strong, vigorous pigs or chicks, free from disease, body weakness and reduces mortality. Semi-Solid is pure butter milk soured, to produce lactic acid which goes into the stomach, as a helper to secure full efficiency from other foods, building up the general system, making it strong and thrifty and enabled to throw off disease germs which under less favorable conditions would cause sickness and death.

Carload Semi-Solid recently received is oversold. Another car due any day. For immediate wants we have a few barrels on hand. Price 3 1/2 c per pound. Can you afford to be without it? Could you mention an item that will prove a better investment? We offer the opportunity—will you profit with your friends? We offer convenient service—come in, let's talk it over.

Must Advertise Meat. Daily Drivers Journal, Stockman: In the production of live stock may be normal, pre-war basis there must be a decided increase in the consumption of meat and it is now very general.

In no way can this greater use of meat be brought about than by persistent and judicious advertising.

The big meat interests have recognized this necessity for years and to some extent the retail market men have shown some appreciation of the value of printed ink.

Stock growers as a rule have remained aloof from any advertising campaign, but they are beginning to realize that something along this line must be done if they are to prosper as they should.

"What the live stock industry of this country needs, more than it needs lower freight rates, is advertising," said Charles Dillon, assistant to the chairman of the Association of Railway Executives.

The difference between the developments going on right under their noses is largely responsible for most of the depression from which their business is suffering.

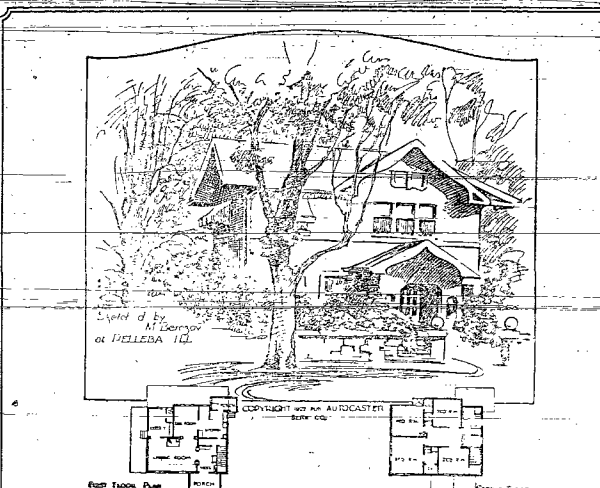

Not until very recently has anyone in that industry sensed the truth and even then the situation was accurately analyzed by the packers, and not by the live stock men.

"Consider the situation during the late war in Europe. Throughout the struggle the American government, through its own agencies and in every publication in the nation, applied the full force of its power. We had countless days, we had countless hours, we had countless minutes, we had countless seconds.

"The people have been misled away from meat, and a reduction in freight rates won't put them back on the old ration. In the absence of the patriotic appeal they can be trained in only one way to use it again, and that is by advertising, precisely as the dairy industry and the makers of prepared substitutes for meat have done.

"Advertising properly prepared is a new newspaper, farm journals and magazines are read by only one, these days, and they reach many millions who never could be induced to sit through a dreary lecture on 'The Value of Meat as a Food.'"

When cattlemen and live stock producers learn to grasp market demands according to the yards with stock that is not wanted; when they educate the people to use their products, perhaps

Compared with the crude shelters in which our ancestors lived, the modern home, as sketched above, is a palace. For them to have anticipated such a home would have seemed out of all reason—still it was their thrift habits and desires for better things of life that made possible the elegant and comfortable homes today.

As with them, so with us, it is our duty as citizens, not only to now accept the best that is to be had in living comforts, but to strive always to improve them; to make living even more of a joy for the generations to come.

There is a personal pleasure for us when we are permitted to help plan a modern home for our fellow townsmen. Let us show you and figure with you.

they will discover that railroads did not ruin their business. It wasn't ruined. They built it die."

The Building Boom. Lincoln Trade Review: The building industry is leading all others in gains for the last few months.

March reports from the larger cities in this country show an increase of over 100 per cent in building expenditures both when contrasted with February of this year and March a year ago.

Reflecting this great building boom over the country, the reports show that the demand for lumber at the present time is 100 per cent of normal.

The demand for lumber has come with a rush and mills and wholesalers are finding new orders coming in ahead of current production.

A Large Order. Washington Star: "Do you always speak the whole truth and nothing but the truth?"

"I don't claim to be as strong as all that," replied Senator Borah.

"A man who undertakes to ascertain truth in its entirety and then to sift out all the elements of non-veracity is likely to find that he has used up the better part of a lifetime in contemplative silence."

Columbia Record: The bill providing for 20-odd additional federal judges is another shining testimonial to the improvement in law observance that prohibition has brought us.

She went to Sioux City in 1913, where she was employed by the Sioux City Electric company. Her marriage to Harry Keagle took place at Laramie, Wyo., in 1915. The past few years they lived in Sioux City where Mr. Keagle is superintendent of the Hawkeye Truck company.

Community Supper. The community supper for the benefit of the fund for a fly truck for the Wakefield fire department, will be held tomorrow evening at the auditorium. The enthusiasm of the residents of the town are showing in planning for the event foreraces that it will be the most successful community project in their history. The entire proceeds from the supper go to the truck fund. People are given the privilege of paying as much as they desire for their tickets and already Wakefield citizens have paid what might be called the highest prices ever paid for a meal. The fund is expected to clear over a thousand dollars from the supper and from the movie show, which will be put on from the proceeds at the Diamond theatre beginning at 7 p. m. Everything for the supper will be contributed by the ladies' societies of the churches and by individuals.

The choir is putting extra practice for the rendition of the cantata, "Faith and Praise," by West. This cantata will be rendered in May. The orchestra is preparing to give a concert sometime in the near future.

Was Solomon Wrong? Omaha World-Herald: While Solomon was inclined to the hard-boiled theory of child training, it must be remembered that the American child education must have had a great deal to do with forming his judgment. He was chosen by David to succeed to the throne at the age of 14 or 15 in preference to several older brothers. Naturally he must have thought that the wondrous counsel of instruction which he received from his father ought to be worth pretty well as between other fathers and sons.

What Ails This Jury? Kansas-City Star: What sort of "dicks" has that San Francisco jury that built the Alvin Karpis case. It is one thing to acquit the actor of crime. It is quite another thing to make him out a hero. "He acted in a manly manner," says the jury. If Arbuckle's conduct at that disreputable party in the San Francisco hotel is to be held up as an example of manliness the ordinary standards are upside down.

It Might Be Jazz. Some day the radio experts will call the apparatus Aurora Borealis and then there will be filled with music as if by a phenomenon sounds as lovely as it looks.

The April-Crop Report. Lincoln Trade Review: Forecasting a winter wheat crop of approximately 573,000,000 bushels for the entire United States compared with last year's final estimate of 587,000,000 bushels, the late report on the condition of winter wheat in the United States shows a slight improvement over the condition as reported last December, but considerably below the ten-year average and a year ago.

The winter wheat condition in the entire United States as this time is reported at 78.4 per cent, only a one per cent increase from last December. A year ago the winter wheat condition was given at 91 per cent, while the ten-year average is 81 and a fraction per cent. Last year's winter wheat crop and the ten-year average for Nebraska are both a little ahead of like reports for the United States. This state is given at 86 per cent, 38 per cent below a year ago, and 60 per cent below the ten-year average. The 30 per cent condition predicting a crop of a little over 60,000,000 bushels.

In the eastern section of this state, winter wheat is most promising. There has been considerable loss in the western section due to drought and of course what recovery that has been made within the last two months, with considerable snow and rainfall, is yet problematical. There will no doubt be considerable acreage abandoned in some sections, but with all, there has been a remarkable recovery in the last two months in this growing crop.

Crabtree Resents Attack on Record

Wayne, Neb., April 17, 1922.
Editor of Wayne Herald: Will you please give me a place in your paper for the following:
I am very sorry to say that there are a few persons in the city of Wayne, who, it seems, have been trying in various ways to discredit me in the eyes of my many friends and the public in general.
I have not been at first attracted to discredit my ability to coach and direct athletics. This was rather difficult because the people had seen the results of my efforts, and while I have not gone about the town boasting of what I have done in some other city, I have turned out teams in both basketball and football which have been hard-fighting teams and have had a fair measure of success if games won. Wayne is made up of people who love clean sportsmanship and are able to recognize it when they see it; so this attack went down in failure.
Feeling that it was impossible to start gossip against me concerning anything which the people here had witnessed, these persons decided to circulate rumors along a line which could not be disproved except by getting me personally to deny the charges. So rumors were started regarding my educational qualifications. It is needless for me to repeat here any of the remarks and insinuations that have been started by those most concerned, and their mouthpieces, but I do wish in justice to my many friends here, and the public who dislike to have something given them and have to take it whether they like it or not, to make a statement of my credentials under which I have taught school the past thirteen years, in cities up to 300,000 population and in three different states, without ever having them questioned.
Here are the facts which someone has seen fit to misstate:
I am a graduate from the Douglas, Neb., high school, year of 1905, under Supt. Chas. Speedie, who is now county superintendent of Otoe county. This school at that time was a two-year high school and accredited as such.

In 1912 I graduated and received my life diploma from the five-year English course at River Falls, Wis., Normal school.
Since that time I have attended one summer session at the university of Wisconsin, and two at Stout Institute—Polytechnic school, Menominee, Wis. I hold a Wisconsin State Life certificate, also a Wisconsin State Life Special Manual Training certificate. I hold a certificate in food in the city of Indianapolis, Ind., and a Nebraska Professional Superintendent's City certificate. The issuance of which was based on my normal school diploma and eleven years of successful teaching.
For my credentials and letter of recommendation which I have from each place where I have taught, I am sure I have no reason to offer an apology. My papers were all submitted to the board of education for inspection before I was hired two years ago.
I am under contract here to teach manual training and coach athletics; salary, $2,200. On account of shortage of teaching force, it was thought advisable at the beginning of the year to have one less manual training class, although there were enough pupils wishing to take manual training to make another class, and have me take those two extra periods to help out with the academic work. This I gladly did.
Another thing which I am proud of then I can tell is the loyalty of some of the friends I have made since coming to Wayne. And in leaving Wayne, the one regret I feel most, is that I must leave some of the truest friends a man ever had—the kind whose support is genuine and unflinching.

Signed, O. W. Crabtree.

County Convention of W. C. T. U. is Held

The Wayne Christian Temperance Union of Wayne and Carroll counties met for their annual convention Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Corning, county president, for the annual county convention. A varied program of which an address by Rev. Fenton C. Jones was the main feature, proved of interest to workers. Rev. Jones in his talk outlined the life and principles of the society of Frank E. Willard and stated that the same attributes which by his noted work should be used in the W. C. T. U. work. He predicted that during the next fifty years the work of the organization would prove of greater importance than in any preceding period because of the broader opportunities presented to women through the elective franchise.
Mrs. George Corning gave an inspiring talk to the members. Her topic was "Straight Thinking Leads to Action." She urged that temperance be taught in the home, school and church, and stated that it was within the power of the community to see that the Bible was used in the public schools and temperance taught. She emphasized that it was a community through cooperation could accomplish the aims of the W. C. T. U.

A social hour of visiting and a covered dish luncheon concluded the afternoon's meeting.
Members of the Carroll Union who were in Wayne for the convention were: Mrs. Evan Jenkins, Mrs. C. B. Belford, Mrs. Howard Porter, Mrs. Ben Cox, Mrs. Verne Dayton, Mrs. F. M. Droliner, Mrs. Matt Jones, Mrs. Charles Corning, Mrs. Will B. Dallow and Mrs. O. N. Davenport.

Washington News Letter.

April 14, 1922.
Senator Casper of Kansas, chairman of the farm-blo, gives the following as some of the most important demands of the farmers:
1. Liberal appropriations for the department of agriculture.
2. Restoration to state railway commission of power to take care of them by the interstate commerce commission.
3. Development of the Muscle Shoals project.
4. The truth-in-fabric bill, to compel clothiers to brand their goods.
5. Credit reform, making credit more available to farmers.
6. Extension of the war finance corporation until July 1, 1923.

Mr. Capper placed the most importance upon the credit reform, since to the farmer a credit plan which would provide more money for a longer time would mean cheaper food, more work, the reopening of factories and mills and generally improved financial conditions.
Republican leaders in the senate have about decided to give the soldier bonus right-of-way over the tariff bill.
A bill has been introduced in the house by Chairman Steierson of the postoffice committee, to encourage the development of commercial flying to expedite mail service between points designated by the postoffice department. Commercial aviation company representatives will appear before the committee on April 28, at a hearing on a bill authorizing the postmaster general to make contracts for carrying mail by air.

Former Teacher Held To District Court

Shanton, Neb., April 15.—Rue P. Green, former head of the Pilger school, when arraigned before Judge Louis Darn in county court here yesterday on a charge of depraving the minds of boys under 21 years, was bound over to the district court and the date for his trial will probably be next week.
Jack Cooper, Meridian Patterson, Herbert Laedoke, Wilbert Cornett and Oscar Pilger were the witnesses for the state, all of whom admitted they had been misled into Mr. Green's office, but refused to permit him to carry out his designs.
Gornett, during his testimony, testified that when Green learned that the actions had become public, he was told to say that he had become angry at Green and told the story for revenge.
A disagreement between Green and Oscar Pilger, it was brought out, resulted in the case being made public. Pilger and Green were said to have had trouble about athletic training and Green is alleged to have called Pilger a name. Afterwards Pilger told of Green's actions which resulted in an investigation.

A Political Strike.—Hard upon the strike of the unionized miners of the country, comes their official demand, through the president, John L. Lewis, for the nationalization of the coal industry in the United States. It thus becomes apparent that from its inception, the strike is a political rather than an economic one. It has not been called for the purpose of protecting the material interests of the mine, but as a means to a desired end, which is state socialism. Unscrupulous persons with ulterior motives are making use of the organization effected through the miners' union for the purpose of socialistic experiment. An investigation has been started by a congress committee for the purpose of determining whether the differences between the miners and the operators can be composed by legislation. But if the country is to wait until congress acts, if there is to be a truce to production until the two houses can agree upon something, the industries of the country will be forced to close and we shall have more unemployment than at any other time in the history of the country. Fuel is necessary to industry, and the fuel must come out of the earth. The union miners are said to be determined that they will neither mine coal themselves nor permit independent workers to mine it until the mines are taken over by the government. This is an appeal to force, not to overdoing it.

Labor unions of the state, it is said, had the assistance of the non-partisan league in procuring sufficient signatures to send the law to a referendum. An active fight is to be made by the law by the association.

The Farmer and Conservatism. Daily Drovers Journal—Stockman: The inbred conservatism of the farmer, though it has often stood in the path of his own interests, is one of the bulwarks of American public life. The farmer has been "tooled" so often by self-appointed leaders and demagogues, political and otherwise, that he has become exceedingly wary of new schemes.

To paraphrase Lincoln's famous aphorism "You can stampee a Gov. if the farmers some of the time but you can't stampee any great number of the farmers at any time."

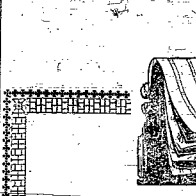

The rural population of America has stood as firm as a rock in the modern whirlpool of folly and extravagance. It has not lost its collective head, its power of nature and faith and it will not lose its bearings. The farmer will work out his own salvation and with it, the economic salvation of the entire country. The farmer is one producer who always meets the requirements of his occupation.

London Opinion. Adequate a conference of teachers, one of his majesty's inspectors was telling the audience in the path of his own interests, is one of the bulwarks of American public life. The farmer has been "tooled" so often by self-appointed leaders and demagogues, political and otherwise, that he has become exceedingly wary of new schemes.

American that the great problems of life are not to be solved by life or by carbonite discussions and that nine-tenths of the things best worth knowing can be learned only by living. Hence the farmer is the true conservative, the unerring balance wheel of modern life.

America's Discovery. Chicago Tribune: Mr. Lloyd George, opening proceedings at Genoa, sends westward a lightly feathered shaft. A distinguished citizen of this city," he remarked, "once upon a time discovered America, and as Genoa in the past discovered America not because Americans need to discover Europe, but because we have discovered it. The United States has been discovering and rediscovering Europe very thoughtfully for a matter of seven or eight years. It is not America, but Europe that needs to rediscover Europe. When European governments and peoples have as clear and sound a conception of what Europe is today and what Europe needs as America has, they will be on the road to her salvation.

A Convincing Warning for Auto Speeders

At a railroad crossing in Texas has been erected a unique "Stop-Look-Listen" warning, as shown above. Perched high on its specially constructed pedestal, the wreck of an auto, with which some foolish driver once tried to beat a train to a crossing, presents a convincing argument for care and caution.

Wayne Interesting To a New Resident

Edith S. Robson who was born in England and remained in that country until grown, is now in attendance at the Wayne State Teachers college. She was recently asked to write her impressions of Wayne. The items of interest which she gathered, and the impressions she has obtained follow.

"Having recently become a resident of the pleasant little city of Wayne, it has been of great pleasure to me to learn certain incidents in the history of the community. At the suggestions of some friends, I am sending them to the Herald for publication.

"In the year 1880, the site where Wayne, now stands was part of a broad, treeless prairie. It was here that year that the right of way was surveyed for Wayne county, and there were prospects of the settlement of the western portion of the country. Six miles southeast of Wayne was a small town named La Porte. The railroad was not to be built through this prairie, so one day two men of keen business acumen started out from La Porte, and after due consideration, bought the land where Wayne is now at the site they planned to have the railroad station here, and to start a new town. These men were, James Brittain and Dr. Crawford, and it was they who built the town of Wayne.

"The railroad built the station here. He gave the company several lots as an incentive. This occurred during the summer of 1881. Houses and other buildings were brought here from La Porte, but the court house building, so it was called the county seat, and a new courthouse was built. The first load of lumber was hauled from Emerson, on July 4, 1881, and was used in building a house on the southeast corner of the present school house lots. As each new building was completed, the event was celebrated by a dance, to which everyone went, and had an enjoyable time, as people who remember those occasions will testify. It was during this time that the community spirit prevailed among the citizens at that time. The first tree was planted by Mr. Brittain, and his good example was followed by many others.

"Wayne has always been essentially a school town. Her pioneers started out by building a school house as early as 1885. This building was furnished with desks, and was used by the Presbyterians for their services.

"Edna Wayne Brittain was the first child born in Wayne. She grew up to be a teacher, and has taught many of the young men and women now reading here. She is at this time a resident of Mississippi.

Chauncey Childs was the first boy born here. His success is proved by the fact that he is a prominent railroad magnate in the east.

"Wayne is especially favored, in that it was the beyond home of John G. Neihardt, writer and poet laureate of Nebraska. He is, as the world knows, a man of genius, a wizard with words. His poetry lights all readers, and is all the more charming because he has transformed Nebraska's unwritten history into immortal stories. In doing this he has accomplished what no man before him has. As a boy, Neihardt worked in the Wayne Book Store for some time, and it was said of him that he read the books instead of selling them. When quite a young boy, Neihardt was sent by his mother to the garden to dig potatoes for the night and when he approached, but John did not appear with the potatoes. His mother sought him, and found him sitting under a tree writing poetry. His task had given him the inspiration to write, "The Song of the Hoe."

"It was sent to the Youth's Companion, and was accepted for publication that he was well remunerated for it. This little incident proves the old saying, "That the boy is father to the man."

"In 1891, Prof. Pile started an institution of learning in a small building situated close to the business part of the town. The following year he located on the hill where the State Normal college now has its buildings. This he presided over until it was sold to the state in 1910. Miss Charlotte White was one of the first pupils. She was superintendent of schools in Wayne county for a number of years.

"Some of the oldest citizens of Wayne who labored so faithfully in building up the new town, were: James Brittain, Dr. R. Crawford, J. T. Bressler, D. C. Patterson, Judge J. M. Cherry, B. E. Feather and O. W. Gamble; a few of these men live here now. As the town grew, the younger men carried on the work, and have shown the same fine spirit displayed by the pioneers. The progressive business men of Wayne have organized the Commercial club. Through the efforts of this club, Wayne now offers many of the advantages, minus the dangers of the city in Wayne. The good old fashioned virtues prevail among the people. The streets are paved, well lighted, and a good water system is installed. There are several churches, a park, many beautiful homes in evidence, and the town is good to look upon. Its citizens have worked indefatigably throughout each succeeding decade for progressive measures. An excellent public school proves this. It is equipped with all the facilities neced in the best schools of the present day. There is a library to serve the book-loving public.

"The college on the hill, is the equal of any similar institution in the state. It has every modern improvement, including a first-class wireless telegraph station, a beautiful campus and an artificial lake now under construction. The college brings good artistic talent to the town for the intellectual stimulation of its students and the citizens of Wayne.

"When compared with other towns of its size, Wayne proves to be the fairest and best.

Dixon County Farmer Takes His Own Life

Dixon, Neb., April 14.—William Kraemer, a prosperous farmer living in Clark township, about six miles northeast here, committed suicide early yesterday morning by shooting himself in the heart.

He got up about 1 o'clock and his 3 he had not returned to the house. His wife became uneasy and sent one of the boys out to see if he was found dead in the barn.

No cause is known for the act.

Besides the widow, there are two sons, one a farmer, and two daughters, Mrs. Anna Bostrum of Coleridge, Mrs. Emma Bowers of Dixon, and Miss Ida at home. One of the boys died of influenza while in the training camp at Camp Funston, Kas.

Mr. Kraemer was one of Dixon county's early settlers, and has always held in high esteem by all who knew him.

He was a member of the German Lutheran church near Concord, Neb.

A brother, Karl Kraemer, resides at Norfolk, Neb.

Many added conveniences and improvements are to be seen in the Ford enclosed cars now being displayed at the local authorized Ford dealers.

The interior of both the coupe and the sedan is now finished in a new material and the seats are upholstered with a similar material threaded with chafed ebony stripe.

Ford's floor rugs give an added touch of comfort. Lifts of a special design, minimize the effort of raising or lowering the windows. Door bumpers insure a tighter fit, and new floor grips, both inside and out, add to the rider's convenience.

The demand for Ford enclosed cars has been unusually high during the past two months. Although production has been stepped up in the Ford factory at Detroit, sales continue to exceed the output, making it necessary for purchasers in many parts of the country to wait for their cars. Local dealers say this is the reason they have been urging customers to place their orders as early as possible.

Russia Will be Inquisitive

Springfield, Mass., Republic: Paris hears that the first thing that Lloyd George is to propose to the Russian delegation at Geneva is a cut of 50 per cent in the red army with provision for further reduction. In return he is said to plan the offer of a pledge by all European nations that for 10 years they will not attack Russia. If such a proposal is made the first inquiry of the soviet delegates will be what military reduction the other European nations are planning on their side.

The Ponca ferry boat is doing a large business bringing over ties for the railroad.

R. B. Crawford of the firm of Crawford & Peckham, land dealers in LaPorte, Wayne county, came over to the metropolis of Northern Nebraska on Saturday.

The new town of Running Water, opposite Niobrara, is booming with great force. An immense rush of people is being made to that place, while the streets of our blindingly going up, and in a short time it will overshadow Niobrara and bring it to the same state of subordination and vassalage that Sioux City has reduced its neighbor Covington. Running Water within a year is expected to be larger than Yankton.

Counterfeit half dollars and quarters are getting to be quite numerous. Aid still we are safe. When some one takes to counterfeiting nickles and three-cent pieces, the printer will feel that it is time for him to be careful, as he will be in constant danger of having one or two of them pained off on him with the natural result—bankruptcy.

Agriculture and Socialism.

Drivers Daily Journal-Stockman: Balked in their plan of industrial socialism, the latidid and the new-clamoring for "the social agricultural republic." Just what this vague jargon means perhaps the socialists themselves do not know. One thing, however, the farmer knows, namely that there is no business in the world requiring so much starchy indignity as the human rearing. He also knows that every agricultural venture along socialistic lines has ended in disaster.

Socialism is founded upon two fundamental errors; first, that organized society as it now exists is the outcome of a deliberate conspiracy and second, that human nature is uniform and that all men will act from the same motives under given circumstances. Neither one of these assumptions is true.

RIDING MASTER WHO WON M'CORMICK GIRL

First picture to reach the United States of Max Oser, 42-year-old, horse riding master who is to marry 17-year-old Lorraine McCormick, heiress to International Harvester millions and granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller.

The present social order, with all of its imperfections is the result of a slow evolution. Society was not planned, but its laws have been compiled and received their sanction from the accumulated experiences of humanity.

Government itself is based upon the principle of the greatest attainable good for the greatest number, calculated upon the law of averages. Human interests are too complex to be subjected to such a governmental scheme as socialism proposes. Even if this were not the truth, the farm, where everything depends upon the initiative of the farmer, is the least promising field for any sort of socialistic enterprise.

Sentimentalism Blocks Justice.

Minnings Journal: There is real danger when sentimentalism is permitted to divert the course of justice. Whether or not such a diversion will be good for its individual beneficiary, may be a question. But there is also to be considered the effect on those who have entered or are about to enter criminal law. Judicial clamency which will inspire them with a confidence of escaping the consequences that will spell serious crimes thereafter.

Service.

Herbert Hoover in the World's Work: When we release our own individual memories of success, we find that none give us such comfort as memory of service given. Do we not refer to our veterans as service men? Do not merchants and business men pride themselves in something of service given beyond the price of their goods? When we traverse the glorious States and provinces, we today never enumerate those acts that were not rooted in the soil of service. Herein lies the uplift of the human heart, the uplift of the world.

Are Men So Fickle?

New York Herald: Many members of the republican committee were discussing Assemblyman Steinberg's bill providing that no marriages should be performed until 30 hours after the issue of the license. Miss Mary Wood, prominent in politics, opposed the measure. It gives a man too great a chance to change his mind," she said.

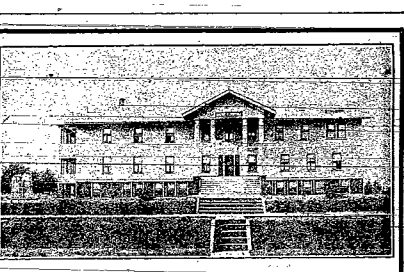

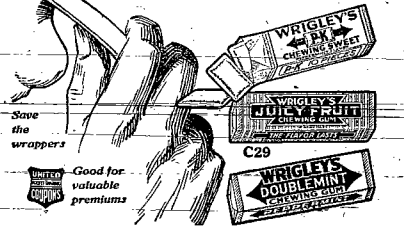

Dry and Wet.

Boston Herald: Dr. Glover, the English scholar now lecturing in the Lowell institute, says that when Americans tell him of all the woes that have befallen the United States in consequence of prohibition, he recalls how the very same woes are afflicting England.

New York Tribune: Europe is a quarreling family. But it is a family so closely united that the folly or waste or idleness of any one nation intimately affects the other nations. The excesses of nationalism have blighted Europe. At Genoa an effort will be made to bring all the participants to see that Europe's ills are largely of European creation and can be best cured by self treatment. For this reason American abstention was the part of wisdom.
