

Who said Kellogg's Corn Flakes? Oh, everybody. Kellogg's is the war against the war world.

Leave it to the kiddies to pick Kellogg's Corn Flakes—they are never tough or leathery!

Put a bowl of KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes and a bowl of imitations in front of any youngster. Then see KELLOGG'S disappear! Try the experiment yourself!

It's great to know the difference in corn flakes—the difference between the genuine and the "just-as-goods"! Kellogg's have a wonderful flavor that you will win your favor by itself—but when you know that Kellogg all-the-time is never tough! Well—they just make you glad! Kellogg's are crisp, tough or leathery or hard to eat!

Kellogg's will snap-up kiddie appetite something wonderful! And our word for it—the littles have their fill—just like Daddy must have his! You'll never know how delicious corn-flakes can be until you eat KELLOGG'S! You will know the KELLOGG package because it is RED and GREEN! Look for it!

Tests for Dryness

There are several ways in which to prove that the air in a Herrick is always dry. Salt, matches, postage stamps, wet cloths and many other articles may be used.

Put salt in any iced Herrick. It will remain perfectly dry indefinitely, and everyone knows that the slightest dampness will pack salt and leave it moist. Matches left in a damp place will not ignite. But you can leave them in your Herrick as long as you like and they will light as readily as if they had been kept in a dry pantry.

Another test is to hang a wet cloth in the food chamber. In a very short time you will find it perfectly dry, which is absolute proof of our point.

Or, place bricks, butter, berries and other foods in an iced Herrick. They will keep perfectly and will never mold or decay as long as there is enough ice in the refrigerator to keep the air in circulation.

Albert J. Beveridge has shown that he can "come back," as witness his nomination for United States senator on Tuesday in Indiana.

It is announced by a New Jersey health officer that gossiping on the part of the common people has spread of contagious diseases. He notes that many cases of measles, diphtheria and scarlet fever are being reported.

A Sioux Indian is suing for a divorce on the ground that his wife deserted him four or five times and visited him twice. The Indian explains that she has been married to a white man.

It is only fair to say that J. S. Breyer, retiring city clerk, has saved the public well. The clerk is an important place in the administration of municipal affairs.

W. J. Bryan is neglecting politics to discuss evolution. He has accepted an invitation to speak at Kansas City, Mo., and will soon show that man cannot trace his lineage back to the ape.

The third party movement appears to be a hopeless failure. It has tried to stress the same issues proposed by both old parties—reduction of taxes. It offers nothing invidious or worthy, and therefore is doomed to an early end.

NOT A PARTISAN QUESTION.
The Lincoln Journal points out that the tariff is no longer a partisan issue, but that it now costs dollars and cents.

It is alleged by Mr. Caviness that Mr. Gregg was brought to Peru as a faculty member by a former president, who the president of the state normal board informed me was later released because of inefficiency.

An article that isn't a partisan question, New England will fight the tariff and go right on voting for the same party year after year. Which is the practical thing to do? Have not the Louisiana sugar folks been making the same mistake?

TOUCHING THE PERU NORMAL

What promised to be a lively and interesting discussion over the Peru normal was frustrated by an explanation that a communication purporting to have been sent by the president of the normal to the Lincoln Journal in answer to Prof. E. M. Gregg of University Place, formerly of Wayne, had been branded as a forgery.

Prof. Gregg's communication, in reply to the one supposed to have come from the president of the Peru normal, will be of interest to people here, and is reproduced as follows: University Place, April 25, 1922.

"In the communication to the editor of the Lincoln Journal, which was inserted with a change in the gubernatorial policy from the appointment of local members on the part of the normal, I had no desire to see it, and has none now, to convert an academic discussion into a personal one.

"It is the human situation that interests the writer. He makes no reference in detail to the president's alleged charges against the faculty of a great state teachers' college, into a six-year state high school, nor to the fact that while in Indiana there is one president who administers two state normals, while in Peru there are two administrators.

"On April 27, this paper published its 'Public Mind' column a letter purporting to come from President A. L. Caviness of Peru.

"This being the case, it would not be necessary to recall all of the comment written on this supposed letter by President Caviness. The discussion, however, goes back to the declaration made by Professor Gregg, supported by former President Huse, that the best interests of education here would be best served by appointing members of the state board of education from communities with no normals to call for the special support of the local representative. On this point, President Caviness has nothing to say, finding that it is a question of state policy that he is not called upon to decide.

"The Herald wishes to add in passing that the Wayne State Normal is running along harmoniously with a minimum of expense and a maximum of efficiency.

A Stand for the Flag.

Washington Post: American opinion will assuredly be behind the shipping board the rate war in which, through no fault of its own, it is now engaged in the South American passenger trade. It is four weeks past the day of the American flag on this coast and everything was going on serenely until Sunday, like a bolt from the blue, without warning or counterblast from the competing British line, announced a heavy cut in passenger rates. Taken back at first by this sudden and unprovoked move, it was nevertheless not long in arriving at a decision in the emergency thus precipitated, and it has now directed a rate lower by from $10 to $50 than its rivals' lowest cut. The shipping board in a statement makes it clear that cutthroat competition is not of its seeking, but it takes good care that the present may be a test light on all the oceans as to whether the United States is to continue the maintenance and expansion of its merchant marine, and it declares its determination to meet the issue at every point for any length of time.

Society

The Helping Hand society is meeting today with Mrs. B. Buetow. There will be a special meeting of the O. E. S. on Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Art Ahern will entertain the Kead-Klub this evening.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet this afternoon with Mrs. James Renick. The women's work will be reported at this meeting. A covered dish luncheon will be served.

"Guest and Mothers' Day" was observed by A. C. Chester of P. E. O. Tuesday afternoon at a Kensington held by the members at the home of Mrs. D. E. Brainerd. The hostesses were Mrs. A. B. Breda, Mrs. O. B. Boven and Mrs. D. C. Main.

Announcement

Our buying the Orr & Orr Co. stock in Wayne is an event of importance to us. We want to put our "best foot forward" in introducing ourselves to the people of Wayne and the territory tributary to it.

The first reason we give us explain why we have chosen Wayne for our future home. The first reason is the business possibilities. Wayne we believe to be the best business town of its size in the state.

Our second reason: It seems to us that those desiring to find a real home where they may mingle with citizens who "give for their city" and are "real citizens" and at the same time have the best of church and educational facilities, can find no better place to live anywhere than in Wayne.

You can well be proud of the splendid progress made in educational facilities, and opportunities offered to the young people of northeast Nebraska.

The reasons which led us to adopt this policy are set forth below and we know will appeal to you strongly.

By paying for cash, we can obtain better prices from our manufacturers. On a cash basis we have no bookkeeping expense—no expense of making out statements and mailing them. Operating on a cash basis, we have immediate control of all our capital.

With our store on such a basis it will enable us to give you prices on strictly QUALITY PRODUCTS which will please you. We desire to make only a small, reasonable margin on our goods and this will continue to be our policy in the future.

Every saving we are able to make in buying and selling for cash will be passed on to you.

Quite often we shall publish a CASH PRICE LIST, which we will distribute to all our customers. Read it carefully, please, it will be proof positive it pays to buy for cash.

Please bear in mind that our selling policy is not made for any other reason than to give you better service and better prices.

We hope to be favored with your patronage in the future and assure you that we shall try, by every means in our power, to deserve it. We want your business.

Respectfully,

A Drive for More Grocery Patrons

Our volume is very large; we are pleased to know that concerted effort of economic buying and distribution has received the cooperation of scores of satisfied patrons. Our turnover is rapid, which insures good, fresh merchandise. The cash system works out advantages to customers which are impossible under the credit plan. Our one-price policy is one appreciated by all. The fact we are carload buyers on many items creates an economic selling price. If you are a patron of this store you will have access to numerous money-saving advantages at all months of the year. This store needs you—you need the store. An increase in business means lesser overhead and lower prices follow. Our interests are mutual. May we be your servants?

Early Ohio Seed Potatoes

Sales are still active on this item. We have good, reliable stocks and weights are guaranteed.

Eagle Condensed Milk

For Baby Food
This item in demand; may buy it by the dozen at $9.00. It's the popular baby food. Ask your physician about it.

The Coffee Peddler—an Imitator.

He has been working in this community under the disguise of selling groceries at wholesale. As he drives from house to house he finds scores of families are using Basket Store Blend coffee and will accept of no other kind. Now Mr. Peddler goes about soliciting orders representing he sells Basket Store Blend coffee. That's a lie and he is an impostor. This store originated Basket Store Blend coffee and the genuine can be secured from no other source. Don't be deceived by peddlers offering to supply this coffee. They seem to be willing to sell at a low price to any unfair means to secure business. Basket Store Blend is always uniform, never peddled; sells for three pounds for $1.00; ten pounds for $3.15.

Rolled Oats, in Bags, $3.60

Every week this store sells ten to fifteen bags of rolled oats. It's a popular food for chicks and sloop feed for young pigs and their mothers. Hogs promise to be profits of the farm this year. The purchase of a few bags of oats may be a good investment.

Burn's Wheat-Tone Bread

Something new. The J. Burns Bakeries have installed a small mill with old-fashioned stone burrs for the purpose of grinding daily, wheat (the entire wheat) into flour and promptly coming out in the new loaf, Wheat Tone Bread. There is no other bread like it. Try a loaf. Arrives fresh every day; 15 cents.

Over 100 Barrels Semi-Solid Butter-Milk

Now in the hands of actual users in this community. There is no question as to the item having increased profits for the farmer. It's just as good to make little chicks grow and thrive and hens to lay as it is to make good thrifty hogs ready for market thirty to sixty days ahead of the usual manner of feeding. This store makes it convenient to secure Semi-Solid Butter Milk at an economic price.

100 lb. Sacks Chick Food $2.35

Our present supply will last about ten days. Buy it by the 100 pound sack and save the difference. Mix this food with Semi-Solid Butter-Milk, you will mature your chicks thirty days in advance.

Gold Dust Flour, $2.00

The sale on this flour is remarkable. Every ounce is guaranteed and the price much less than many standard brands. We now have 200 regular patrons on Gold Dust. It makes baking day a pleasure.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher.

Man Wanted.

Sometimes wish that I could find a patient man and strong, a fellow of receptive mind, would listen all day long while I relate how tough it felt, describe the aches and pains that torture me from foot to heel, and how my ancient lungs are now fitful gone or wise to tell such tales as these to neighbor boys, who, despite all stories of disease, the cops at once impale, when I get on their best, and spring my rags with grief of woe, of aching head and feet, I tried it on a crippled gang who could not get away, and on my head his staff was bent; it spoiled for both a day. And strangers, when they hear me talk, remark, "You are a bore; you'd better take a good long walk and come this way to mine." And yet I feel the pressing need of some one who will hear my tales of trials gone to seed, of toothache in my ear, of all the divers aches and pains my system can disclose, of fever in my setting veins and chills in my marrow. Had my nearest dearest wife if he would calmly sit and listen to me while I ramble about my ills? But no man sigh and turn it down; I've offered it to every snail who bangs around the town. The poorest fellow shakes his head, and says, "With respect, your life's shorter, or I'd be dead before you'd talked an hour."

Faces.

The face you wear is Nature's gift; and it may be, perhaps, that people who before you drift may have more handsome faces. But let this not disturb your peace, nor cause you to rub your face with drugs, for Nature knows just what is best when she distributes mugs. My frontpiece I thought too fierce; inspired by foolish hope I sent away and got a piece of Johnson's Beauty Dope. I spread the mixture on my brow, and on my cheeks and chin; "It will be tarry and dazzling now," I said, and rubbed it in. I spread the ointment on my ears, and put some on my nose, and dreamed of going down the years as gracefully as a rose. But all my dreams were doomed to smash; they died upon a day; the Beauty Dope brought out a rash that will not go away. And old friends view my face with grief; their gibes I've long endured; "You're looking like a side of beef that wasn't rightly cured." My skin has an unwelcome shine, and seal is my crown; my nose is slightly out of line, my mouth is upside down. Could I but have the "useful" race? Had not this bright day before me? I tried to chase its bimboes away; I would not touch it up with grease, or paint it pink or white, but let it be, and live in peace, and have sweet dreams at night.

Fappers.

My aunt was once a fapper, and flapped scabbish wings but now she is a scavenger for old, time-honored things. I've heard some ghastly rumors that when she was eighteen she wore a pair of bloomers upon the village green. And there were protests, priestly, and every righteous dame denounced her course as beastly, and said it was a shame. The more I read in paper gave auntie half a page, and said her shameful caper discredited the age. Revolt was auntie's pride, when she was young and handsome she rode a horse man fashion, and bobbed her bobby hair. Who dares buy a round? Imagine they're unimpure, determined to confound us by some unseemly freak. But it's old stuff, my masters; I've seen the necks were worn and shook their pistons and were worn and stand aghast. We see the pullets mouling as hens have always done, and the chickens are all changed to buck in '81. My aunt? was busy flapping in bygone sunny springs, and now we hear her yapping for old and changed things. And maidens now rebelling against the wretched young, when older will be yelling that young girls have no sense.

Ancient Philosophers.

I sense not much for these wise birds, those famed and mighty sages who handed out such weighty words they've thundered down the ages. In hot Greek gardens once they sat, and lectured their disciples on this philosophy or that, as proper for the masses. And while they jawed the eager hicks who paid their hard-earned nickels, the farmers plowed with crooked sticks, and reaped their hay with sickles. Oh, any old bewhiskered gent much logic could deliver, but there was no time to invent a shot-gun or a fiver. No screens were on the windows then, to make life calm and bright, and at night long the wise old men would sweat the bug and skeeter. Those wise old fellows never thought of any sense invention, and although this thing they taught, long as all they deemed to mention. While they were spouting of the gods and of Olympian scandals, they have gained recent wide inventing tallow candles. Oh, all their faculties they put on tales of gods and dragons, and men were drilling and gassing, they had no wigwags. The first motor car was invented long ago. The first motor car, they don't sit around in gardens, and talk to little Willie Greys and little Della Vanders; they wear light white shirt of tin, some bolts of steel or copper, and make an auto that will spin when gas is in the hop-pew.

After the Fair.

After the fair, my teacher, I was benighted, and was denoting yarb teas made of cedar, bassnet and willow and glue; now I am slowly improving. I can see out of my gums, wearily, moving on my old string-tied limbs; coughing around in the kitchen, coughing in various tongues, busting my hambs and presenting a long, thick, shiny pipe and lungs. Leaning against the piano, banking all over the place, coughing a screechy soprano, coughing and wheezing, and in the most timid manner, straining my tendons, and chewing, coughing. "The Star Spangled Banner," coughing "The Star Spangled Banner." The darkness is creeping over the sea and the world; people disturbed in their sleeping; my mouth with "drinks" and scold. Coughing who deighs; my coughing when the night shadows up-roll; people, indignantly walking past with stovecoal and coal. Coughing out of my ill; coughing from my precinct and ward, coughing in Low Dutch and Spanish, coughing the famous "Las Chords." Yet I am slowly improving, and all the things, cough, wearily, painfully moving, drinking my sassafras tea.

Nothing New.

I saw a girl, a social pet, light up a costly cigarette; she blew the smoke around her head, and murmured, "I sighed and said, 'Great Caesar! Whither do we drift? These modern women are too swift. I guess I am behind the times. I'm always seeing scold crimes and vicious customs, all day long, where other notice nothing wrong. But in the old days one need, no women used to flitly weed; I make such statements off the reel; I always like to make a spiel of dear dead—love beyond recall—north with me, north with me, north. But when I sit me down to think, I find my spiel was on the blink. The women of the bygone years were famous 'Las Chords. I'm like my grandpa had an old clay pipe, and smoked a weed that smelled like tripe. The housewives used to binthle with me, north with me, north with me. I see them smoking in a row, and singing gossip to and fro. An old clay pipe is worse, you bet, than an exploded dynamite stick. The feet are always cold, such sinfulness, yes, ever when I look behind, and all cold customs back to mind. I see that gray pig on grass just like the giddy modern lass.

Rows Not Always Ruinous.

Frank Litch, United States grain growers' convention, held in Chicago recently, was not altogether harmonious. In fact, it broke up in a row. But you need not be too harrassedly conclude that the whole co-operative movement has gone to smash. Men are rather likely to quarrel over the control of several national organizations. The party that expects to win the election never has to tent the woods to find a candidate. We are never surprised to see log rolling, machine rule, and highly indignant and protesting minorities in a political convention; and even church meetings have been known to fall under the steam roller. Therefore no one need be surprised if the same human traits crop out in co-operative gatherings. It may be as the ousted minority declares, but President Gustafson secured that many in the Grain Growers' association by using a big stick. We can not undertake to say who is right in this dispute. We can only stand by and lend support to the movement whenever possible, and hope that the sober second thought of the co-operative leaders will restore harmony.

Curtain for Tumulty.

Minneapolis Journal: It is impossible for the public to judge between Wilson and Mr. Tumulty, for no disinterested or correct knowledge of the antecedent circumstances. But the incident recalls the wrecks of other past friendships with which the co-operation of Mr. Wilson has been beset since he was first nominated to the presidency—George Horner, Henry Watterson, Robert Lansing, Edward M. House and others. Can it be that in all of these cases a friend was wrong, and Mr. Wilson right? Woodrow Wilson lives in an austere atmosphere. He admits but few to his rarefied air. Fewer still are able long to breathe it. Some, after they are cast down from the heights. It was supposed that Tumulty had become acclimated, after nearly 12 years on the mountain top. But now he joins the long caravan that winds its way downward in dignified and amazed silence.

War Figures Monumental.

Lincoln Journal: Counting the wealth produced by American farmers last year at $12,365,000,000, the department of agriculture estimates, it took about three years' product of the farms to pay the immediate cost of the war. If Senator Borah is correct in his estimate, the nation has lost the cost of the war in interest, bonuses, pensions and the like will be $70,000,000,000, that would take the products of the farms for six years more. Modern machinery production is so efficient that a generation of 40 years can undoubtedly produce nine years' of agricultural wealth production and still survive in reasonable comfort. There is no escaping the fact, though that the war has been an expensive game, making the difference between want and plenty to millions of people for the rest of their lives.

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of an order of sale, to the district court of Wayne county, Nebraska, upon a decree rendered therein at the March, 1922 term, execution, Rev. Perry Sickler, Grant therefor, in an action pending in said court wherein Frank Seiderstrom was plaintiff and John H. Richard, Ed. A. Richardson, Lee E. Osaka, Ray Osaka, Ernest Norbeck and Herman F. Foley were defendants, I will, on the 22nd day of May, 1922, at 10 o'clock in a.m., at the door of the office of the clerk of said court, in the court house in Wayne, in said county, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate, to wit: Lots 13 and 14 in block 5, East Addition to Wayne, Nebraska, east of the 6th P. M., Wayne county, Nebraska, to satisfy the aforesaid decree, the amount due thereon being $7,199.01 with interest at 10 per cent from March 11, 1922, and costs and accruing costs.

up a business, and, compared with the operating men who are in charge of the roads today, they were children—babies in operation. But the roads paid. Today, with the Big East and plenty to millions of people for the rest of their lives.

Will Be No Stampede.

Springfield, Mass., Republic: By accepting a 65 per cent cut in his salary to help his country cut down expenses, Rev. Perry Sickler, Grant of the Church of the Ascension in New York City, sets an example which could be more widely followed if $100,000 salaries were more common among clergymen.

Don't Delay Painting

If your house or buildings need painting, it is economy to paint at once. Delay is costly, because lumber warps and decays unless it is protected from the elements and the longer you wait, the more paint will be required.

In telling you your paint, it will pay you to investigate B. P. S.; because in addition to telling you what we wish to show you that our claims are justified. B. P. S. Paint comes in slip-top cans, all sizes, so it can be examined and tested without trouble or waste. Let us show you how fine it is ground, how easily it works, how well it covers, smell it and note the pure linseed oil odor.

It is a very easy matter to lower the cost of paint, but thirty years ago when our paint was named Best Paint Sold, it was more than a name—it was a policy. That policy aims to make paint not best in name only, but in fact. To explain—no single feature has been developed at the sacrifice of some equally important quality. B. P. S. is the best, not because of any one trait, but because of its purity, formula, weight, grinding, working qualities, fitness—price, convenience or durability, but because of the most approved proportion and combination of all these qualities. It gives best all-around results.

If you will measure the value of your paint by the years of service it will give, plus the number of square feet it will cover to the gallon, and not by the cost per gallon, you will decide to use B. P. S.

Irwin Sears Post of the American Legion Has Secured the Omaha World-Herald Flying Circus For the Fourth of July Celebration

The features of this flying circus will be daredevil flying stunts, walking on the wings of the airplane, rope ladder acrobatics, five-mile race between automobile and airplane, looping the loop with performer on the top wing of the plane, parachute jump from airplane. All these stunts will be spectacular and thrilling and will be done with the ship flying so low that every motion of the performer is visible to the watchers below.

150 Subscriptions to the Omaha World-Herald Needed

On the morning of July 4, the Legion must give to the manager of the flying circus, $900. This amount is not included in the expense budget as outlined for the day. The Legion men are to secure this money by obtaining subscriptions to the Omaha World-Herald.

Express Your Interest

In the American Legion, and the aim of that organization to make Fourth of July, 1922, the biggest and best day Wayne has ever experienced. Don't wait for the Legion boys to look you up, as they will no doubt do before the end of the campaign, but subscribe as soon as possible, so as to insure the success of this venture. The members of the Legion committee are: Dr. J. C. Johnson, James Steele, Carl Madsen.

Your Subscription Will be Needed

"I don't care whether I get the paper or not," said a Wisconsin farmer after the appearance of this same flying circus in Clear Lake. "I figure I got my money's worth watching the circus." The local members of the post want to bring this satisfaction to every one in northeast Nebraska who will be the guest of Wayne, July 4.

Subscription Information

New subscriptions and renewals count the same. Two six-months subscriptions will count the same as one subscription for one year.

If you are taking the World-Herald, let the Legion boys know that you want them to secure your renewal.

If you are taking some other daily and the subscription is paid in advance, the World-Herald can be subscribed to and started at any date in the future.

If you are not taking a daily paper, the Omaha World-Herald will fill your need.

Your subscription must go through the hands of the American Legion to count.

Decreased Number of Deaths in Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., May 2.—An increase in the number of births and a lower death rate for Nebraska will be shown in the forthcoming report on vital statistics for 1921 which are about ready for compilation, according to Miss May F. Hyland, state registrar of the bureau of health.

Registered births in Nebraska in 1920 numbered 30,748, while the 1921 births will reach 32,000, it is indicated in an unofficial check. The extent of the decrease in the number of deaths cannot be determined at present, Miss Hyland stated, but the 1921 figures, she revealed an appreciable decline. Increased public health activities are considered by Miss Hyland as one of the reasons for the decrease in the lower death rate.

New mechanical computers now installed in the bureau will greatly simplify and expedite the process of compilation of statistics this year, and show the 1921 figures much sooner than heretofore was possible. Miss Hyland says that the new classifying machines will replace the old system of manual addition and classification. The new machines also will make possible a more exhaustive report.

In the case of deaths for instance, they will be classified by five-year groups, with 205 subdivisions. The latter also carry several classifications. Deaths by motor car accidents will be one feature, as well as itemized accounts of deaths caused by all medically known diseases.

Statistics on marriages and divorces are being prepared in a separate list. All counties in the state have reported on the number of marriages and the register has completed tabulation. There was but one county in the state last week that had not reported its divorces. Miss Hyland announces that the marriage and divorce records will show some interesting comparisons for last year's Nebraska situation.

Morality by Law.
Omaha Rec. Slowly the world is learning that people can not be made moral by passing laws. Human nature cannot be set aside by legislative action, and no more can the law economize be satisfied by political action. In the home, in the shop, the office, the school, the theatre and every field of human endeavor the influence of women may be a potent force for good. It is not solely through the ballot that life is to be made more fair, nor does the coming of equal suffrage diminish the importance of feminine influence. In these new political developments of life.

Need For Organized Rural Play Stressed

Lincoln, Neb., May 2.—With the tendency for the automobile to carry people to town, to the city, anywhere for entertainment and recreation outside their own community, there comes the need of organized recreation and entertainment within the rural community, the agricultural extension department of the University of Nebraska, and this need can be partly met by the rural school play day. In all communities where the summer play day and winter school gatherings have been carried on in an organized way, it is noticed that all lines of work are done more successfully after the people took the habit of coming together and learning the art of working together, according to the department.

Companionship Aids Efficiency.
"If every child in the community has formed a companionship with every other child in the community, he has increased his efficiency by just that large a percentage," the department states. "This is important since among the boys and girls of today will be found the business men, the professional men and the farmers and social and political leaders of tomorrow. Such a community gathering will lead encouragement to the bringing about of: "Better acquaintanceship and hence closer companionship among all children in adjoining districts. "Better ability in both competition and cooperation."

Helps Team Work.
"Better habits of team work. (One reason why farmers have found it almost impossible to hold together for their own interests against the other contending interests, is that they have never learned team work in their country life.) "Games and contests will teach this to children. "More planning in the home for the enjoyment and betterment of its surroundings. "More initiative in 'getting into the game' and an organized effort to get every child interested in games as well as in other activities. "Those who, as children stand on the side lines at play are the ones who will stand on the side lines through life.) "The teaching of initiative and leadership to the farmer of the future through games and contests taught to the child of today."

Slain Man Identified.
Omaha, May 2.—Identity of a man shot to death, found partially buried in a vineyard near Valentine, Neb., last Sunday, has been established, that of John Gellis, of Warren, O., according to a dispatch from Valentine today. Gellis was shot twelve times. He is said to have been lured to the spot where he was slain by a man whom he is supposed to have won a sum of money in a game of cards. Robbery is believed to have been the motive. A suspect has been traced to near Omaha—Valentine—advises say.

Digging into Bryan's Past.
Chicago Tribune.—William L. Bryan will be well advised to cancel lecture dates and hurry back to Nebraska. Dr. Henry P. Osborn of the American Museum of Natural History says that a small tooth found in the faunal deposits of Nebraska has established the existence in America of a new type of anthropoid. Some puny animal wandered over from Asia, or being in structure intermediate between man and the anthropoid ape. Mr. Bryan may be justly alarmed by this. They are digging in his tracks, seemingly with a malicious intent, and he may find them excavating around Salem and Jackson ville, Ill., with a purpose too manifest to be ignored.

Authorities Blamed for Crime.
Norfolk, Neb. News: Most waves of lawlessness are due to failure of the authorities to enforce the law. Detroit announced that a rigorous enforcement campaign in which police and courts co-operated could end the reign of the lawless element. Philadelphia checked its crime wave in the same manner. So could Omaha, Chicago, New York or any other city, if it had the right kind of law enforcement officials actuated by the right spirit. Tom Kelley, known as a wholesale bootlegger and criminal, operated almost openly in Omaha while the police were supposedly looking for him. He went to Canada, and within a few weeks he was in prison. That shows why some American cities are in the grip of "crime waves."

Life: A man in South Carolina hid rum in his wooden leg, and then somebody pulled it.

Lincoln Star: Many a man has seen his bankroll washed away in the flood of his wife's tears.

Business.
—St. Louis City Journal: Wall street since March more money than it ever had before in all its history. Financiers are not only taking advantage of every opportunity to put their money to work, but are seeking opportunities, trying to equal them. Last week a $100,000,000 issue of Canadian bonds was offered in Wall street and was taken so quickly that the Canadians were given the surprise of their lives. The bonds are bearing interest at 5 per cent. That is considered a good investment, for the return means yearly interest at the rate of $5,000,000, a considerable amount. An investment for these times when billions in cold cash are lying idle. Not only did Wall street take the Canadian bonds in a hurry, but on the same day oversubscribed a $40,000,000 commercial issue, that of the Empire Gas and Fuel company.

Everybody knows where and what the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad is. This line's stock has reached the highest quotation on the New York market it has enjoyed in five years, going to 23 1/4 a few days ago. In a week the advance was $9 a share. It recovered since the first of the year from the bottom of 12 1/2. This does not indicate that eastern railroad holdings are decreasing in value. Instead, it indicates that capital is very certain of what the future will be. Quite the most promising thing generally to indicate the forward march toward normal business conditions is the building activity everywhere. This is observed locally with structures usually being erected and other plans rapidly materializing, with lots purchased and announcements made. The building program has been continued all over the state. This will save the unemployment materials. Nowhere, however, are building operations commencing at these rates. New York is adding many millions every week to its building budget, the housing shortage felt for so long having at last forced action to relieve congestion.

In this time of continued, but lessened, business depression, when there are still thousands unemployed, the report of an industrial firm wanting help without being able to get it is unusual; but that is what is happening at Youngstown. There where semi-skilled labor cannot be obtained in the quantities desired. One of the normal mites has "help wanted" signs up for some time, but semi-skilled labor does not respond in sufficient numbers to permit expansion of operations contemplated. This may be an isolated case. Generally, unemployment is gradually decreasing over a wide area because of better conditions in the various industries.

Farm products are holding their own on the markets, the grains, according to nothing more serious than the ordinary fluctuations. Cattle have been very firm and hogs are still above the $10 mark, where it is believed they will stay.

French Ties Lloyd George.
St. Paul Pioneer Press: Lloyd George has been in fairly constant conflict with French policy for several months. He announced a few days ago that he is impatient of what he called quibbling over German relations and the Russian memorandum, which was nothing more than a bit of ill timed propaganda, and not official at all, and went further to declare that if the correspondence did not cease, he would publicly place the responsibility for them. It was plain from the referred to the French delegation. This all indicates that Anglo-French relations are none too good, but they are not hopeless, and need not be misinterpreted on one side or the other makes them so.

Will Take the Pig Census in Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb., May 1: Taking of the pig census in Nebraska, to be conducted cooperatively by the department of agriculture and the post office department through the medium of rural mail carriers, will begin early this month, according to announcement today by A. E. Anderson, federal survey statistician.

The purpose of the census is to enable farmers to adjust future production to the demand by knowledge of the swine supply, thereby by preventing marked price fluctuations which follow when supply and demand fail to balance, according to Mr. Anderson.

Fifteen States Taking Census.
Nebraska is one of fifteen states in which the census will be taken. Each rural carrier will collect the information from twelve or more farms on his route and turn the reports to the postmaster, who will forward them to Washington. Approximately 300,000 reports have been prepared for the fifteen states. Mr. Anderson directed that a representative of the swine industry of the entire country.

Benefits Farmer Most.
"The farmer will be benefited most from this survey as it will furnish a guide to his swine raising and production of pigs. If the survey indicates the supply is sufficient to meet the demand, further advance will be a guide to his production. On the other hand, if the survey indicates an insufficient supply, farmers can continue production to the point of demand, without an overproduction that might tend to lower prices below cost of production."

"The lack of swine supply of swine and generally was against the best interests of the farmer. The survey will stabilize prices, prevent marked fluctuations and guiding future production lies in a continuous record of demand. It will show the market centers, so as to remove doubt and speculation and insure the maximum prices."

Wolves of 'Main Street.'
St. Louis City Journal: Women victims of murderers who first do not and then stay in prison. More numerous recently, this development being a part of the crime wave still sweeping the country. The wolves of "Main Street" are preying in the big city, in the little town and in the village. Some of these wolves run in packs like their predatory and ferocious animal kindred. Always they are hunting new victims, and everywhere they find them.

The stories of Main Street are especially revolting because of the extreme brutality with which the victims are treated. The picture of the accounts, however, should serve a good purpose. In every one is a warning to the parent of other girls, the "Red Ridinghoods" who may be lured for outrage and death. How like the story of older times is the case of the young woman who was seduced by a gentle manner, a suave smile—a persuasive voice—a deceptive demeanor. But the wolf is still ready to strike and he never overlooks his opportunity.

The "Red Ridinghoods" of today are trusting young women, who, like the original Red Ridinghood, are easily deceived and betrayed. Such young women, imprudent, inexperienced and unprotected, do not appear in their belated, but they are easily deceived and betrayed. Such young women, imprudent, inexperienced and unprotected, do not appear in their belated, but they are easily deceived and betrayed. Such young women, imprudent, inexperienced and unprotected, do not appear in their belated, but they are easily deceived and betrayed.

Society thus is faced with a problem that is not new, but which is becoming more serious now because there are more wolves on the hunt—and more "Red Ridinghoods" to be dragged down. The girl who cannot be so careful. She should not stray far, even in the city or the town, for a crowded "Main Street" is no protection. It is a trap, and she is there. It is dangerous to be unwary for a moment. It is safer, no doubt, for a girl to meet a real wolf than one which wears the grandmother's cap of disguise.

Alarm as to Renewed Inflation.
Lincoln, Neb., May 1: Before trading and industry in this country in all lines is hardly started on the road to real material improvement, there is a renewed concern as to the possibility of doing business, lower transportation charges and a recovery in the volume of business sufficient to permit operating at something near normal, the question is being raised by some in financial circles, as to the possibility of a renewal of inflation conditions. These possibilities are attributed to cheap money. It is set out, with the government now borrowing on certificates at a 3 1/2 per cent rate, with the prevailing rate in nearly all federal reserve banks at about 4 1/2 percent and with call money so high that there is apt to be an over-reaching due to too eager an anticipation of much better times as the months go on.

In a general sense, it is true that low interest rates make for inflation. To those that have watched the stock and bond markets the past few weeks they have noted activities such as prevailed in the boom times of 1919. In Wall Street, speculators largely have been so active as to pile up a million shares a day—one day after the other, with the report that Wall Street loans are the only double they were only three months ago.

If this speculative side, this angle of producing conditions, for twelve months ahead, were the only side to this question of low price money and inflation, these recent figures would be a good deal to be regarded as a warning. However, there are those who are already predicting that with all the general recovery in some lines already noted, that present stock values which have been climbing and for which great amounts of money have been tied up, there will have to be from now on a more or less awaiting the realization of this anticipation and that the great producers of the country in all lines will have to substantiate over the next few months to come, this expectation for the near future business.

Money in one sense may be abundant, but there still remain untold losses to be paid, debts to be paid down, let alone the heavy demand for money in legitimate business for the improvement of plants, the building of sales organizations, the meeting of needed capital by the utilities and as business develops, though the market values are much lower in most commodities, it will have to be a guide to the raising of the ordinary turn over of stocks from the manufacturer on through to the retailer.

As indicated in the number of important fundamental lines, such as the building industry, and the purchasing of railroad equipment, there is a number of time lines, indicating showing marked recovery, preparing for much larger production, the accumulation of at least necessary stocks for seasonal trade and there is little doubt but that business will itself, as time goes on, be a much stronger and more solidly based than it is. It will offset a considerable proportion of this alarm as to too much "idle money."

Intermediate Credit for Farmers.
Great Daily Journal: Stockman. All great reforms come gradually. They move slowly in response to general conditions. In the past few years there was no well defined demand for a form of credit particularly adapted to agriculture. In the time of depression following the war brought about a decided change of sentiment. The farmer indeed has never before and after the short-time commercial recovery, nor that long-time farm loans helped him in the emergency.

As a result of this experience the demand for an intermediate form of credit, suited to the needs of agriculture, safeguarded as carefully as possible, has long been protected as killy as the Federal Reserve banks protect the commercial and industrial interests of the country.

There is ground for hope in a dispatch from Washington announcing that the establishment of a rural credits system—entirely independent of either the federal reserve system or the federal land banks, a result from President Harding's recent recommendation to congress of legislation providing farm credit facilities favorable as those enjoyed by commerce and industry. A new chain of banks, which would be linked up with a central office in Washington to take the place of the war-finances corporation, is proposed. The system would be designed to furnish credits on agricultural products and live-stock over periods ranging from six months to three years, which are not provided through the agencies already established by federal legislation.

Ordinarily the business sense of the bankers might be depended on to formulate a plan for the relief of agriculture and to meet the particular requirements of their farmer customers, but federal and state laws are so explicit and so strict that this is practically impossible. The action now being taken by the government is encouraging to find that the president and congress realize the situation and are working on a measure to meet the situation.

She Brings a Change.
Pittsburgh Dispatch: The first woman to sit in the British house of commons, only to be an American who has come to pay us a short visit. Lady Astor, better known to Americans as Nancy Langhorne, still enough of a Yankee if a Virginian can suffer herself to be called a Yankee—to clear the atmosphere within the house after she has stepped down the ship's gang plank. She knows us well enough to say she has not come over to talk of the necessities of clearing relations with the Bull; she isn't going to tell anyone, private citizen or public statesman, his duty she has no mission; she came to see a man; she will insist upon everybody listening when she stands up.

POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK IS OBSERVED

May 1 Sees Inaugurated First General Campaign of Kind in Service.

Without the Postal Service, business would languish in a day; and be at a standstill in a week. Public opinion would be dry rot. Sectional hatred, narrow-mindedness, only would flourish, and narrow-mindedness would be the rule.

It is the largest distinctive business in the world and it comes nearer to the innermost interests of a greater number of men and women than any other institution on earth. No private business, however widespread, touches so many lives so often or sharply; no church reaches into so many souls, no fraternal organization has so many human beings dependent on its ministrations.

"Postal Improvement Week" has been set for May 1, for the Postmaster General. This is the first general campaign of its kind in the Postal Service for several decades. Business men and their organizations, large users of the mail, newspapers, motion picture advertisers, and the entire organization of 325,000 postal workers are to be enlisted in the country-wide campaign of interest in postal improvements. Your help is vital. Advance your letter, make suggestions, and give your views. Give street address. Spell out name of State, don't abbreviate. Put your return address in the upper left hand corner of envelope (not on the back) and always mark your letter before sending it. The mail is the lifeblood of the mails for your benefit and speeds up the dispatch and delivery of mail matter.

If you have any complaints of poor service make them to your postmaster. He has instructions to investigate them and report to the department.

COURTESY

It sticks in human relations like postage stamps on letters. The "POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT" respects it to be used by its postmasters and employees in dealing with the public.

Help them in its use beginning with POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK, May 1, 1922.

THANK YOU

WITHOUT STREET ADDRESS YOUR MAIL IS DELAYED AT OFFICE OF DELIVERY

The Dead Letter Office Ben Franklin started our postal mail. Even then, he addressed mail to Mr. Ebenel Smith, "Atlantic Coast" and expected Ben to know just where Zeko lived. Perhaps they had Zeko's address in letters up in the garret, maybe a chest full of 'em, but then it was easier to let Ben hunt Zeko. Today people are becoming better informed. Now, New York N. Y. or Chicago, Ill., thinking Uncle Sam can locate him, which is not an impossible as was Zeko's address in letters up in the garret. The Postoffice Department asks you to put the number and street in the address to help you.

Trinidad Co.

How do you expect the Postal Clerk to know whether you want Trinidad, California, or Trinidad, Colorado? ALWAYS PRINT OUT THE NAME OF THE STATE IN FULL IN THE ADDRESS.

MORE BUSINESS IN GOVERNMENT

This apt phrase was used in President Harding's first message to Congress. It was a call for the postal management, where postmaster is being impressed with the fact that they are managers of local branches of the biggest business in the world.

HERE COMES A STRANGER!

Let's make our post office look neat, Mr. Postmaster. Straighten up the neat letter boxes you want. Hire up some Mr. Rural Carrier. First impressions are lasting. Maybe Mr. Stranger, taking notice of these improvements, will come back with you benefits. Start these with "POSTAL IMPROVEMENT WEEK" May 1, 1922.

HUMANIZING THE POSTAL SERVICE

"There is no unimportant person or part of our service. It is a vital of the human unit and its cooperation is the key to its success. In its last analysis, postal duties are not conditions performed for our neighbors and friends and should be so regarded. Rather than as a neutral agency performed for an abstract customer, the Postmaster General Herbert Work.

B. P. S. China-Lac is a varnish and stain combined. It stains and finishes in one coat. It renews the surface, giving it a sparkling, lustrous finish that brings out the beauty of the grain in the wood.

B. P. S. Interior Floor Paint is a quick-drying paint which covers easily and wears like iron. For use on wood or cement floors. Made in the most serviceable colors.

B. P. S. China-Lac is wear-resisting and will withstand the hardest kind of usage that a varnish finish is subjected to. Not affected by water.

Famous American Fence

The famous American hinge joint has stood the test for twenty-one years. Five points are to be considered in a woven wire fence: First, size of wire; second, quality of wire; third, quality of galvanizing; fourth, method of fastening stay wires; fifth, spacing between line and stay wires. We have American fence in stock, and will be glad to demonstrate its superior points.

KANSAS FARMER SAYS CONDITION WAS ALARMING

Oakland Man Was So Weak He Could Hardly Get About the House—Believes Tanlac Has Added Years to His Life.

"I'm willing to vouch for Tanlac—it certainly does the work," said F. T. Peyton, well-to-do farmer of Oakland, Kans.

"When I began to take Tanlac I was in an alarming condition as a result of an attack of the flu, complicated by pneumonia. I was so weak I could hardly get about the house and it was out of the question for me to attempt to do any household work."

"I believe Tanlac has given me a new lease on life as I have more strength and energy than in a long time. My rheumatism is almost completely gone and I feel as good as a boy again."

"Note—Tanlac Vegetable Pills are an essential and vitally important part of the Tanlac treatment. You cannot hope to get the most satisfactory results from Tanlac without first establishing a free and regular movement of the bowels. Tanlac Vegetable Pills are absolutely free from calomel and are sold on a positive guarantee by the manufacturer."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Quicker Trials for Governors. Springfield, Mass., Republican Belates trials for the governor of his states indicted for crime are a serious blot on our national escutcheon.

The trial of Gov. Small of Illinois, who is charged with conspiracy to embezzle state funds while holding another office, began in Waukegan yesterday, but he was indicted by the grand jury last Monday.

Thus have passed nine months during which Mr. Small has continued to perform the duties of governor while serving on bail. If a governor must get into such a fix, he should be permitted to get out of it at the earliest possible moment for the sake of the dignity of his office.

The moral effect upon our youth of having governors under indictment for prolonged periods cannot be ignored.

Holding a Safe Leader. Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: Those people who were criticizing President Harding because he kept us out of the Genoa conference are just now maintaining a discreet silence.

Next to staying out of the league of nations is the best thing America has done lately was to stay out of the Genoa conference. President Harding makes no claims to being a success in anything but his staying out of a pretty safe leader for America.

Davidson's 3rd Annual Baby Health Week

That Sioux City is Conscious of the Importance of Protecting the Health of Its Babies is Attested by the Unanimous Co-operation of the Community in Celebrating Baby Health Week

Davidson Brothers Co.
THE BIG STORE
SIOUX CITY IOWA

The Baby Shop is Filled to Overflowing with all the Countless Treasures for the Little Ones

Of amazing number are the necessities of the little infant—and particularly if one is desirous of properly equipping the baby's wardrobe. But no matter how small or how large that article you wish might be—there is not the slightest doubt but what you will find it in Davidson's Baby Shop on the second floor—and at a very reasonable price.

Infants' Long and Short Dresses Half Price

In order to open this wonderful Baby Week in befitting style—we are offering a lot of dresses that will stimulate interest amongst mothers and expectant mothers, for at Half Price these dresses are more than extraordinary values.

In this assortment you will find hand made and machine made dresses—trimmed in the becoming styles for the little infant—dainty yokes and lace and embroidery—skirts with fine tucks—laces and embroidery—or with hand feather stitched edges.

Those formerly priced $7.50, now $3.75 Those formerly priced $4.00, now $2.00

Those formerly priced $5.00, now $2.50 Those formerly priced $6.00, now $3.00

Those formerly priced $8.00, now $4.00 Those formerly priced $10.00, now $5.00

Infants' Long and Short Dresses, Regular $1.98, $1.00

Dainty nainsook dresses, beautifully finished with lace and embroidery some with trimmed skirts—others with 4-inch hems. Make your selections as early in the day as possible, for these dresses will be in great demand at such a special price.

Infants' 98c Gowns and Kimonos, 65c

These are fashioned of an extra heavy flannel with button fronts and draw string bottoms. The kimonos are finished with a crochet edge down the front and at neck and sleeves. They come in delicate shades of pink and blue.

Dainty Bonnets and Hoods, moderately priced, 75c to $3.98

Delightful little organic and creative chic creations—in the delicate shades of pink, blue, white, maize—colors of distinctive becomingness to the little tot. These styles are especially attractive this season—with a differentness that provides an unusually pleasing variety.

Infants' $1.98 to $2.98 Cashmere Kimonos, $1.48

They're of all wool cashmere—and another lot at the same price is fashioned of all-wool crepeola cloth. Embroidered in dainty pink and blue designs—and very specially priced for this event.

In promoting this movement, Davidson Bros. Co. are endeavoring to render the highest type of service to mothers in giving them an opportunity to have their babies examined (both physically and mentally) by specialists according to the standard score card. This is conducted as a health contest—of invaluable benefit to mothers as it clearly points out all weaknesses in the little tots early enough that corrective measures may be taken in time to assure all-around normal growth of the body and mind. Examinations will take place from 9 to 5 o'clock on our Fourth Floor. All interested parties are invited to attend on Friday or Saturday, the two remaining days of Baby Week.

Visit These Exhibits

Mothers, especially, these are being held for your information—do not fail to visit them and ask questions. We want to make it as helpful to you as possible. Miss McKee (Child Welfare Nurse) and Miss Busse (head of household science department of Iowa State College, Ames), will demonstrate at any hour of the day on general bathing, feeding, dressing, and feeding milk. Books and charts on many kindred subject will be shown.

Mothers May Leave Their Babies in the Nursery

Miss Anderson of the Day Nursery, is in charge of this complete nursery; hence mothers may be assured their little ones will have the best of care while they are visiting the exhibits.

Friday Will be Parent-Teacher Association Day

At 2:30 in the afternoon an interesting program will be given by the school children, consisting of folk dances, music, health lessons, and a play. The program will be given in the auditorium of the Davidson Building, which is the headquarters of the Parent-Teacher Association secretary, will lecture.

Saturday Will be Catholic School Day

Another interesting program is being arranged for 2:30 in the afternoon. Details are given in the news columns of the Sioux City papers.

About 100 Club and Society Women From Various Organizations Will Act as Hostesses

These women have been good enough to volunteer their services to assure the success of this program. They will be stationed at the entrance and elevators to welcome mothers and direct them.

Standards in Newspapers.

Kansas City Times: Speaking of the high standards of the Associated Press, Lady Astor told the editors and publishers assembled in New York she had heard them in the highest positions in England say, "Well, if this is the Associated Press, let them in. We can tell them anything, as much as you could a cabinet minister."

Lincoln Journal: We shall have to brave ourselves for new federal taxes. Many officials at Washington believe that next year's deficit which Secretary Mellon fixes at $500,000,000 will actually grow to $600,000,000. The government will be issuing bonds to refund its war savings certificates and early maturing Liberty bonds, and may finally finance a soldier bonus in the same way. It should not be permitted to issue bonds to pay current operating expenses of the government. It is increased income taxes for us, or a return to excess profits taxes, or perhaps a plunge into the dark waters of sales taxes.

Let Socialists Fight It Out.

National Republican: Europe now hangs through full-fledged socialist "games." It is a desperate struggle of which the other more than it deserves capitalism itself. Why not propose a few thousand square miles in Russia, turn these three factions into the arena, and let them fight it out if it takes the last socialist to settle the matter? Meanwhile the rest of humanity would be at peace.

structive ability and laborious industry, leaves his tasks for a few moments and becomes vociferous enough to show his indignation in action looks like, and to demolish his political adversaries in one sweeping statement of his case. Such an exhibition was the speech by Senator Carter Glass in January, now available in printed form as the "Truth About the Federal Reserve System." Senator Glass had sat for months with certain members of congress and certain sections of the press filled the public mind with wild tales about the federal reserve board, charging evidence that the board had restricted banking credits during the period of falling prices, to the ruin of the agricultural region; that the board had discriminated against farmers in favor of manufacturers and business men; and even that members of the board had lent themselves public moneys to use in speculation.

Senator Glass finally lost patience and rose in the senate to answer the specimens of the "truth" summarized parts of two days was a crystal-clear presentation of the documentary evidence of the facts, as furnished at the available evidence that the earth is round and not flat. It is a delight to read it; and it conveys a wealth of accurate information about the purpose and practical operation of the federal reserve act which it is worth everyone's while to know.

The conclusion of the speech, however, is not without interest in our case. It not only demolishes a group of reckless critics, but it describes the truth in a way by which the specimens are identified: "Senator Glass said:

"Mr. President, I know perfectly well that, compared with the great honor of our country, the high positions in the service of the country, I do not rank as high as a figure in public life. But I feel that I must thank heaven that no man may truthfully say I ever misrepresented things to my constituents or practiced the arts of a deceiver. I have tried to render service in the 22 years I have been in congress. If I have failed, it is my fault; and never shall I undertake to excuse my delinquency by telling the people of Virginia things that are not true about measures upon which I have been called to pass. I try to inform myself and to act with intelligence and composure. I am not afraid of consequences, because I would rather retain my self respect than to occupy a seat in this or any other body for the balance of the limited time I have to live.

"In connection I may recall that in the comedy by Eupolis, called "The
