UNCLE WALT
The Post-Philosopher.

Week-End.

Oh, the week-end in my cottage makes me feel so fine as silk; here I eat my luscious potato, swimming in denaturated milk; now I feel that I'm in clover, and I sing joyous songs, or the week of toil is over and I've drawn my eighteen bones. Here the week-end's always found me singing—lullabies—Bacchus—wases around me, and my grandma pounding sand. Once when I had drawn my wages to the gin basket, and went, and progressed, by fluid stages, till I didn't have a cent. And my gentle aunts were weeping, and my grandma's heart was sore, as their virgils they were keeping, waiting at the cottage door. Ah, the sorrow and the grieving, as they waited there at home, as they watched me homeward journey, with my whiskers full of foam. Still they say the liquor traffic by some skates is carried on; but my feelings are searful, for the old folks, I reckon, won't be swinging doors. I reckon, won't be swinging for a while, and the barkeep doesn't peck, with his wide and winning smile. Happiness, at his house, I'm, basking in my Sunday suit, while my seven aunts sit around me, and my grandma plays the flute.

The Cheery Guests.

I have uncles, I have cousins, I have nieces, by the score, and in couples they in dozens they come gadding to my door; just to visit for a season, just to make themselves at home; and you here behind the reason for the "Brethren" come done. Yet with gaudy smiles I greet them, as they come in rinks and rows, when I'd really like to beat them with a length of garden hose! For they bore me with their chatter, and they talk in voices strong, of the things that don't belong, if there is a theme or topic that's a weariness to me, they'll discuss it, loud and yapping, till I wring my hands and flee. But I lack the nerve to can them when they journey to my gate, with a cordial smile I scan them, crying, "Welcome to my place. Oh, I like to have my nieces come and drink a dish of tea, but they shouldn't bring valises and big wardrobe trunks to me. I can stand a number, and my welcome will not fail, if they eat and drink and slumber and depart before they're stale.

The Wife's Husband.

Among the toilers in the mart he wrought till he was old; he labored with a broken heart, that he might gain some gold. And gold he won, for he was wise in commerce and in trade, but in his darkly brooding eyes no sunshin' ever played. He was the husband of his wife, and she, a social queen, pursued a vain and fiddly life, that called for much long green. She "entertained" three times a week, bridge-whistled once or twice, and her sad husband, worn and meek, went forth to raise the price. She moved in pomp and circumstance, her hats and gowns were fine; and James, with patches on his pants, would in a chophouse dine. She saved a nickel now and then, and placed it in a can; "Some day," he sighed, "when I've a yen, I'll carry out my plan. I'll buy twelve feet of hempen rope, a broadax and a knife, a pint or so of daddy-dope—and thus escape my wife. I'll pack with bombs my old valise, and jump into a pond; for I must have the rest and peace of this life for the beyond." The foolish woman had no thought of vows her husband swore, until one evening he was brought to her upon a door. And then at last her conscience struck, remorse within her burned; "I might have let him keep a buck," she moaned, "from what he earned."

Generous Men.

Few of us are so-called misers when good counsel should be giving, and as welter-weight advisers we all wield a fluent tongue. When a man comes up and his me for a loan of fifty cents, oftentimes my conscience twists me, for I'm prone, like other gents, to indulge in long discourses on the folly of his way. Still my largesse, however, I give, and my hair is turning gray. And I mark the victim listen to his words of golden worth, and I see his tears, those glistening jewels, that fall to the earth. Always I feel ashamed and spiteful, when I've rounded out my bill, and dismissed the wayworn critter with a quid or a wheel. If another needy caller at my wigwam door appears, I will give him half a dollar and not lecture him to tears. For I know that woe-stricken wretches when a hungry man comes by, they are stale and flat and juiceless, and won't take the place of life. But the love of delectable vittles me when he arrives, and I hand him an oration 'stead of honey from the pines. And my ardor's not diminished by the thought that I'm a bore, and the bo, when I have finished, will receive two bits or more.

According to dispatches, there's trouble everywhere, and anguish comes in batches, and statesmen rant and blather, and blather and rant, fighting to gain the diamond belt; the Russian rule is blighting, its evils now are felt. The monarchists are plotting with a vengeance, and, according to dispatches, are rotting in every foreign land. Greece, Greece! See Ireland grab it, she now has freedom, but she lacks the necessary habit, and cannot drop it soon. Poor France is badly busted, by Prussian armies wrecked; her statesmen are disgraced because over-carb collected. And ever stalwart Britain; that never er quailed before, by grievous ill is smitten, and smiles and sings no more. Ah! that I had the nerve to groaning nations sent! The reader sighs and scratches his head in wonderment. How can one read such things, such talk, and not see the foam and fill the air with childings and banter around at home? Our sickly little troubles, o'er which the bookish brags, are excellent but lack a breath will blow away. Why roar of income taxes, and laws we do not like, and arm ourselves with force, some men may strive to strike? Let's cease to tear our thatches and read the grim dispatches from lands where trouble kills.

Signs of Age.

I know I'm in the yellow leaf, soon like the leaves I'll fall; that my remaining time is brief I have no doubt at all. For I can watch a baseball game as calmly as I'd view some women at a quilting frame kick up their heels. At baseball parks I spend some time, and yawn and slumber there, and when the umpire pulls a crime do-not-seem to care. I do not long to see him bann'd as in the long ago; though bricks and bottles are at hand, no missiles do I throw. And when a player nuffs the ball, which cuts out boys the game, I feel no spasm, large or small, go sizzling through my frame. The southpaw pitcher makes a hit, but I see only yawns. I've seen so many come and fit they shine and then they're gone. There is chorus now of yells, throughout the baseball lot; the shortstop, who is wearing bells, has stamped a grounder lot. But I have seen so many signs of players in showy trim, who long since sailed, in ghostly punts, across the dark Sixty tide. And still I would not be a frost, from life remain aloof, and so my ancient life is tossed against the grand stand roof.

The Early Days in Two Counties

Prof the Wayne Herald for June 26, 1902:
The little Chace girls of Stanton, visited here the first of the week.
George Fortner is building an addition 14x28 to his residence in the north part of town.
John and James Shannon have bought the Manning farm near Carroll. The consideration was about $50 per acre.
Miss Clara and Miss Mamie Moran were visiting in Randolph with their mother, Mrs. C. C. They were accompanied home by their young son Jim.
Chas. E. Neeman of Winside and Miss Laura Fish were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, in Straban precinct June 28. They are now on a wedding trip in the west.
The Wayne base ball team went to Wakefield Sunday afternoon and engaged the aggregation at that place in a game of baseball, the final score of which was 20 to 6 in favor of Wayne. The star players were all made by "Mack," the colored porter at the Boyd hotel.

Hoskins News.

The Hoskins baseball aggregation left Wakefield at Winside, last Sunday, the score being 20-6.
George Weatherholt and Joe Dobbin were delegates to the demo-pon convention at Grand Island this week.
Miss Maude Love who had been teaching in the August Deek district, left for her home at Benson.
During the storm Tuesday night, C. W. Anderson's new barn was blown off the foundation and so badly wrecked that it will have to be almost entirely rebuilt.
F. C. Oldenberg and wife and Miss Pearl Green were Norfolk visitors yesterday.

From Ponca Journal June 20, 1922:
A severe storm took place Tuesday night, and the next morning the sun was hotter than ever.

Mr. Gamble says that somebody will have fresh pork on hand if they don't keep their hogs out of his barn.

The farmers throughout the county are doing an immense amount of breaking this season. More than ever before.

Quite a large number of prairie schooners have passed through town during the past week. This would indicate that the country is filling up. From the appearances of the newcomers, their numerous horses, fine cattle, etc., they are a desirable class of people, and will greatly add to the wealth of the locality in which they settle.

The remorseless and inastiate Missouri is said to be turning its wrathful fury against Covington, and biting huge chunks out of the bank at that place. Some fifteen or twenty feet of the bank are swallowed up every day, and if the high water continues much longer it will result in the destruction of a large portion of the town. The malignant stream has also been cutting in considerably on the Sioux City side, involving the necessity of removing the iron of the C. C. & B. H. R. R., which was piled on the bank, to the Nebraska side, to save it from tumbling in.

Mr. Green of the popular firm of Greer & Palen, has been absent for several weeks on business in the outstreampart of Iowa. From a conversation with him, we infer that times there are much harder than they are in this country. The long prolonged wet weather has greatly injured the crops in some places, indeed, almost destroying all hope of raising anything this year. Mr. Green returns with good reasons for the belief that Northern Nebraska is the best country in the west, and that it is to have ten-fold better and larger crops than any region he visited in Iowa.

Notice to Creditors. In the matter of the estate of Laura J. Bush, deceased.

The creditors of said estate: You are hereby notified, that I will sit at the county court room in Wayne, in said county, on the 14th day of July, and on the 14th day of October, 1922, at 10 o'clock a.m. each day, to receive and examine all claims against said estate, with a view to their adjustment, and allowance. The time limited for the presentation of claims against said estate is three months from the 14th day of July, A. D., 1922, and the time limited for payment of debts is one year from said 14th day of July, 1922.

Witness my hand and the seal of said county court, this 16th day of June, 1922.

Political contests in this county promise to be active but friendly.

Candidates here will invite support

on a high plane.

One feels better to specialize in finding the good things to think and say about people rather than picking out and magnifying faults.

It is believed Wayne's reputation for elaborately executed Fourth of July celebrations will be well maintained this year through the efforts of the local American Legion.

Up to date, labor unions have not been very successful in service to themselves or to the general public.

They and employing institutions ought to try a policy of amity and cooperation.

Wayne needs an active commercial organization to consider and answer the questions of public policy.

It is needed to cooperate with other societies of the city in handling understandings involving business interests and the public welfare.

A recent experience at Alliance beats anything we ever heard of in school exercises in Wayne. Two men got into a dispute over a piece of ling and one of them bit the other's ear nearly off. The man with his ear flapping about his head was driven down to have the member struck back on.

People can't loaf away time and expect to gain anything. All that those who wish to produce and should not kid themselves into think-

a questionnaire touching the manner and habits of young people against whom much criticism has been hurled in the past few years. The questionnaire asked if improvement had been noted during the last year. The replies were uniformly optimistic. Another set of answers, said to be more optimistic and encouraging, will appear in the next issue.

A man at Burwell, Neb., was recently attacked by a bug. It is believed he (the man) will recover after the insect is removed.

The report indicates that the bull came from a long time of royal blood, always amiable and well behaved always been a favorite.

The bull hit the man twice. The first hit was gentle and was accepted as an evidence of wanted familiarity and playfulness. The second hit showing a good degree of finish reported James McIntosh, Wayne feeder who was here Monday with two loads of steers that averaged 1,224 pounds and were found enough to bring $8.75. "A good many of these steers will move within the next two weeks," he added. "We have already been fed six months or more, and the owners want to market them before flies get bad. "Despite all the feeding that has been done this season, there is still a world of old corn left in Wayne county. Feeding grain to stock this year has made it feel that the only complaint most of us have to make is that we did not buy more feeders last fall. All of this year's crop look extremely well so far, there having been no lack of moisture in that part of the state."

Graduated from Smith College, Miss Helen E. Main, daughter of Mrs. Winifred Main, of Wayne, received the degree of A. B., this month from Smith college, Northampton, Mass. Help You Choose Tires

500 miles at 94.48 miles an hour—a relentless grind over a rough-finished, un-surfaced concrete and brick pavement at record-breaking speed—that is the grueling test Oldfield Cord Tires underwent successfully at Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. They were on the winner's car for the third successive year and on eight of the ten finishing in the money, upholding the confidence successful race drivers have in the trustworthiness and ability of these tires to meet the greatest demands of speed, endurance and safety. Their records in every other important race have been equally as good.

Consider this achievement along with another test of Oldfield quality made at Wichita, Kansas, this past winter and early spring.

34,525 miles on rutted, icy Kansas roads, running day and night on a Studebaker stock car without a single tire change. This test was made by a group of Wichita automotive dealers in a tire, oil and gasoline economy run. Mayor Kemp of Wichita was official observer and made affidavit to the mileage and service given by Oldfield tires.

You may never subject your tires to the grueling experience of Indianapolis nor the steady grind of bad winter roads, but it is good to know you can get such safety and mileage economy by buying Oldfield tires. Ask your nearest dealer.

Roberts who has been occupying that building with his plumbing business, has moved into the building recently vacated some time ago by the Willard battery store.

J. H. Foster spent Sunday in Sioux City. He expected to motor back with Mrs. Foster, who had been there since the death of her mother, but on account of the rain, he returned on the train. His son, Curtis Foster, who has been working here for his father, went to Sioux City Monday to accompany home Mrs. J. H. Foster. Mrs. Curtis Foster accompanied him. He was a life-long resident in Wayne from Sioux City Tuesday evening. They are residing in the north part of the city.

Mrs. A. C. Bichel and children of Wakefield came yesterday to visit the former's sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Kay. The erection of a $7,000 bungalow for E. L. Neely on his lot north of the home of Mrs. Craven, has been begun. J. H. Foster is the contractor. Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Parker and daughter of Hartington, were in Wayne Tuesday on their way home from Omaha, visiting while here at the Henry Korff home. Mr. Parker is in the banking business at Hartington. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Butow and two daughters, Leola and Lovetta, motored to Beemer Saturday, returning Friday after a week's visit with friends. They were on their way to home the same day, from which place they will go to Sioux City for a visit. Later they will go to Colorado for a summer visit.

NO WAR TAX Effective May 8, 1922, the Excise Tax on United States Tires for passenger cars, both castings and tubes is absorbed by the makers and is not added to the selling price. United States Rubber Company.

Not even USCO ever touched this value before 30 x 3 1/2 - $10.90. When you look at a 30 x 3 1/2 USCO at $10.90 think back for a minute as far as you can remember USCO. The truth is that men have always found USCO an outstanding money's worth no matter what its price. Today at $10.90 USCO maintains its established standard of quality. And because of the new price, it sets a new index of tire value. Men who have used USCO have never been inclined to measure its value by the general run of tires. United States Tires are Good Tires. Copyright U.S. Tire Co. No War-Tax charged. United States Tires United States Rubber Company.

Tomorrow morning by all means try Kellogg's Corn Flakes

Tomorrow morning - set KELLOGG'S Corn Flakes before the family! A feast for the eye and a feast for your appetite! For Kellogg's are as extra-delicious as they look - all sunny brown and wonderfully crispy, crunchy! My, but how they delight everybody! Kellogg's Corn Flakes are not only distinctly superior to any imitation, but are the most fascinating cereal you ever ate! Kellogg's appeal to every age. Little folks and old folks find in them the same joyous pleasure! For Kellogg's have a wonderful flavor - and Kellogg's are never tough or leathery or hard to eat! Inset upon KELLOGG'S - the original Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package! It bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Kellogg's Corn Flakes. NONE ARE GENUINE WITHOUT IT! Kellogg's TOASTED CORN FLAKES. The makers of KELLOGG'S KRUMBLIES and KELLOGG'S BRAN, cooked and Krumbled.

Accident in Wakefield.

An accident which might easily have proved more serious, occurred in Wakefield Monday afternoon when a car driven by a traveling salesman was being parked in front of the "Parmer-National-Bank." It is thought the car was struck by the gas fad instead of the brake when he started to park the car which he was not accustomed to drive, and the car ran into the curb, striking three men. Gus Test, Will-iam Dorman and Herman Bridgman, who were sitting on a bench in front of the bank, were injured. Test in-jured left ankle and William Dorman received bruises. Mr. Bridgman escaped without injury.

Larson & Larson Wayne, Neb.

Mr. Linn E. Robertson, of Allendale, Mo. The ceremony was performed at the home of Miss Scott's sister, Mrs. F. E. Poellot, at Coleridge, Rev. J. C. Christie, officiating.

The announcement of the wedding came as quite a surprise to Miss Scott's many friends here. Both she and her husband are well known here. Mr. Robertson having made union at Wesleyan university, Hartford, Conn., and was one of the oldest graduates there, according to the following report from that city: "Three alumni of Wesleyan university, whose ages total 97 years, arrived in Middletown from the west, looking for the excitement of the bride's Misses Anna and Amy Scott, the bride's sisters; Clara Scott, brother of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Robertson, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom. The bride was charmingly attired in 1847, whose 100 years make him Wesleyan's oldest alumnus. He made the trip from California, accompanied by his grandson and by former Senator Watson C. Squire, of Seattle, Wash., 84 years old, a trustee of Wesleyan, from which he was graduated in 1853. He was governor of Washington when that territory was admitted to the union and became the first senator from that state.

Dr. Caldwell in East.
Dr. J. M. Caldwell of Valentine, formerly of Wakefield, has been in the east to attend the alumni reunion at Wesleyan university, Hartford, Conn., and was one of the oldest graduates there, according to the following report from that city: "Three alumni of Wesleyan university, whose ages total 97 years, arrived in Middletown from the west, looking for the excitement of the bride's Misses Anna and Amy Scott, the bride's sisters; Clara Scott, brother of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Robertson, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Not a Barntormer. Guseppe Sigard Charles H. Randall of Randolph, seems to be about the best gubernatorial timber the republicans are offering this year. Mr. Randall served with credit in the state senate and is frequently referred to as Senator Randall but he isn't the sort of man to be hooded by official titles. He has made his own way in the world and his success in all of his undertakings suggest fitness for larger responsibilities. There is nothing of the barntormer about Mr. Randall, but Insurance

The most noted of these spry young college lads is former Senator Cornelius Cole, who was graduated from the university in 1847, whose 100 years make him Wesleyan's oldest alumnus. He made the trip from California, accompanied by his grandson and by former Senator Watson C. Squire, of Seattle, Wash., 84 years old; a trustee of Wesleyan, from which he was graduated in 1859. He was a senator of Washington when that territory was admitted to the union and became the first senator from that state. "Rev. Dr. John Merrill Caldwell, of Valentine, Neb., who was graduated in 1892, and was Wesleyan's first alumnus to enlist in the civil war, is east to attend the sixtieth reunion of his class."

DON'T TAKE A CHANCE

Wayne People Should Act in Time.

If you suffer from backache; If you have headaches, dizzy spells; If the kidney secretions are irregular, Don't delay—likely your kidneys are sick.

Wayne people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here's a Wayne man's experience: E. W. Davis, farmer, says: "I had a lameness through my back just over my kidneys. I noticed the trouble mostly when I caught cold and it settled in my kidneys. This caused the secretions to pass too often. I read of Doan's Kidney Pills helping others and was led to try them. It didn't take Doan's long to relieve me. I have been bothered several times since but a few Doan's have always fixed me up again in a day or so."

Price 60c at all druggists. Get simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Davis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 1221ad taught school near Wausa, the young couple will make their home in Randolph where Mr. Townsend is in business. Shoes friends extend best wishes.

Kansas City Times: Mr. Ford is reported to be willing to run for the presidency but warns that he will not spend any of his money in the contest. This probably will sober the enthusiasm of many of those Ford boosters who had expected to contest for his candidate a thoroughly up-to-date and efficient organization.

Good Grease is Good Gear Insurance

Motorists should not put off any longer having the old winter grease drained from their transmissions and differentials. New grease is cheaper and more convenient than new gears.

Our special green gear compound is heavy bodied and will not thin down under heat and wear. The lubricating qualities have not been lowered in the making of this compound.
Monogram oil in your crankcase, the correct weight for your car, will insure proper lubrication at all times for your motor this summer.
Try our oil and grease service. It will pay.
