He had got as far as Omaha at last accounts. Running a wheelbarrow for fun may look to be a rather foolish waste of time, yet many in Dixon and Dakota counties trundled a barrow with as little profit as this.

During the past few days the Missouri river has been waging a relentless and destructive war on Sioux City. The current has changed so that its full force is now directed against that side. For the distance of over half a mile along the bank the real estate has been washing away with great rapidity—the river in some instances eating into the bank at the rate of fifteen feet per hour. It has during the past week been a general time of moving in that part of town exposed to danger. The Illinois Central and the Sioux City & Pacific depots and many dwellings, business houses, shops, etc., have been removed. It is the opinion that the Dakota Southern depot will also have to be removed. The Journal of Sunday stated that after that day, the only building left in great danger would be the large grain elevator of Hedger Bros., which would not be removed as the cost would be so great. The Journal says should the elevator go into the river, all the buildings on both sides of Second street would in all probability have to be torn down or removed. This fearful inroad on the thriving young city is a great calamity to it. The pecuniary loss will necessarily be immense.

A Job for American Radicals.

New York World: Appeals come to us from Russians, often socialists, claiming that the soviet government is holding Russians in jail for seditious opinions, in defiance of the principles of free speech. There seems little doubt of the truth of these claims. It occurs us, therefore, that a general amnesty movement in Russia is now in order and that the agitation most appropriate to be led by Mr. Eugene V. Debs for Russia's civil wars are over, and what ever excuse the dangers and hysteria of war supply for the policy of repression, the excuse no longer exists in Russia. A determined effort by communists sympathizers in this country to have communist Russia practice tolerance would certainly not delay the amnesty movement in this country.

Personal Property Valuations for 1922.

The following named individuals, firms, corporations or co-partnerships have been assessed in the precincts as herein shown and the amounts so ascertained their names are the valuations fixed by the assessors and are as they appear from the assessment record and also are the rates upon which the tax for the year 1922 will be computed unless changed by either the county or state boards of equalization. Bear in mind that these are the actual valuations as at times are now based on actual instead of assessed values:

There should be moderation in all things. The wife of the governor of Illinois is said to have died from overjoy. People should be temperate in feeling as well as eating and drinking.

All roads will lead to Wayne on the Fourth. The American Legion boys are leaving nothing undone to make the day one of rare entertainment and unalloyed pleasure. Citizens will cooperate in giving every facility for a successful celebration.

Since the general use of automobiles, Saturday night in the average Nebraska town brings together people from within a radius of twenty or more miles, and it is made a happy commingling of business and pleasure. It is a veritable gala occasion. Streets are thronged with cars and people, and it is the one night of the week devoted to winning friendship, exchanging experiences and relaxing nerves keyed up by the week's work.

If the weather is hot for a few days, some people express the fear that crops will burn up. If it is rainy and cool for a brief time, they figure that the corn won't be able to mature. The rule here is for about the right kind of weather to develop and mature crops, and the rule has been violated but slightly only a few times in all the years since the virgin prairies were converted into luxuriant fields.

It is not how much one makes in dollars and cents, but how well one employs and conserves what he does make that really counts in building success and establishing a permanent competence. One is sometimes tempted to put a sure thing, but lies of business and friendship and fly to distant fields that seem inviting only to find that new and strange surroundings are unprofitable and disappointing. It is better to stick to worked moorings and be satisfied with a reasonable income than jump for an imaginary El Dorado that may wreck one's savings and cause grinding poverty.

As the coal strike is prolonged, as surplus fuel decreases and the needs of winter approach, the importance of renewed production becomes more apparent and urgent. The government-is-seeking-negotiations between miners and operators in the hope of a settlement. Pending such settlement, however, the government would be eminently justified in taking over the mines and operating them in the interest of the millions of American consumers, employing all who want to work, paying a just wage--no more, no less--and seeing that they are protected against possible interference. Permitting the fuel supply of the country to be tied-up by reason of the obstinacy of contending elements, causing fuel shortage, increased prices, retarded industry and much suffering, is unwarranted and unnecessary. The people want coal and are willing to pay a reasonable price for it. They would applaud summary action on the part of the government in meeting the emergency, and doing it without advantage to either side of the present dispute and guaranteeing a fair price to the consuming public.

crackers were the main attractions of the afternoon. At night, wearied and churched by the homeward journey over rough roads, people breathed sighs of relief and accepted accustomed routines with renewed courage and content. Though fatiguing, the experience interrupted dull monotony and gave some zest to lonely lives. Then a celebration cost a few hundred dollars. Now it costs several thousand. People travel swiftly and pleasantly over fine roads. They find something them comfort and luxury and a wealth of entertainment. As celebrated forty years ago and now, the contrast is very great, as all surviving old settlers will testify.

Advance Fruit Dope

Are You Canning This Year

There will be full carloads of Blackberries, Red Raspberries, Loganberries, Apricots, Peaches and Pears on this market. Carload service means better condition of fruit at a less price.

Very few towns enjoy carload fruit service and this condition is largely due to the good cooperation received every year. If you are going to can—let us register your name and when the fruit arrives we will communicate with you. If for any reason you can't use it, that will be perfectly all right. If you can, you will secure prime fruit at car-service price and all has been benefited by a little co-operative effort. Apricots will arrive soon after July 4. The price will be $2.35. This will be followed by all kinds of berries except black raspberries, and about August 10 the first cars of Gilberta peaches will arrive; then Bartlett pears and later peaches. Peaches will maintain a price of about $1.55 per bush. Register your name, we will do the rest. This is a service that's sure to please.

Down Goes Grape Juice

The very best grade, in full quarts at 50 cents. This is a pre-war price and at a time the demand is good. Include a bottle in your next order.

Cantaloupes Are in Season

Big shipment to arrive Wednesday and Friday. Two sizes, 10c and two for 25c. Everybody should eat canteloupe, the quality is fine.

Tall Red Salmon

Another seasonable item that's on sale for 25 cents. This is a reduction of 10 cents per can. Get a supply while this sale is on. Don't know where we could duplicate this buy.

Carload Norfolk Flour

To arrive soon. You may buy off the car in five sack lots at $1.30 per sack. Gold Dust is the flour that's made second. The price and quality is right. It turns quick, that's why our price is always low. Wayne is the best spot to buy flour for miles around.

Carload Watermelons

The season is on and the melons are good; price 3 1/2c per pound. What's better than a nice ripe watermelon? We plug and guarantee every melon. Now on sale. Another carload to arrive for July 4. Don't fail to get one—will be thoroughly cooled.

Baked Bean Sale

A popular brand, in full No. 2 cans at one for 15 cents; three cans for 40 cents; twelve cans for $1.50. Raw beans are up to 15 cents per pound. Save fuel, work and worry and buy a dozen cans. This is another purchase we cannot duplicate.

Sugar

We are certain sugar is a good buy. The advance will not stop less than $9.00 per cwt. in receipt of full carloads. You will save a dollar by buying sugar now. Our price, $7.75 for beet sugar, subject to market advances.

Holsum and Betsy Ross Bread

So much home baking is spoiled by the hot weather that acres of housewives have sworn off baking. Save the fuel, work and worry and buy Betsy Ross or Holsum, the big 16c loaf, that's always perfect.

Don't Fail to See the Butter-Milk Fed Pigs July Fourth

They will be on display in a conspicuous place. You will admit you can add to your hog profits by using Semi-Solid Buttermilk. We will deliver Semi-Solid to your home at $8.85 per hundred in Wayne territory—Laurel, Randolph and Bloomfield, each are in receipt of full carloads. It may also be secured at Winsdale. 100,000 pigs are now eating Semi-Solid in northeast Nebraska. It's in popular demand because it's milk, a natural food. Feed one part Semi-Solid to fifty parts water. Just enough to get the sour tonic effect. Pigs drink more and eat more. You should shorten the feeding period five to eight weeks. For every dollar invested in Semi-Solid you will take down two in extra hog profits. 200 users in Wayne county, Semika come to stay—it's a god send to farmers who do not produce plenty of milk. Semi-Solid is the dairy in the yellow barrel, $8.60 per hundred at Wayne or $8.85 delivered.

"Molly O," at the Crystal.
"Molly O," Mack Sennett's production featuring Eileen Herge, the first National attraction which will be shown at the Crystal theatre tonight and tomorrow night, contains sufficient material for several tensely thrilling motion picture plays. There are no less than four strong dramatic situations, tense enough for the climax of unusual production, and through it all runs a love story as sweet and winsome as anything that has ever been done on the screen.

Molly O's daughter in a family which ekes out a precarious existence through cleaning jobs done by the father, waiting about for the mother, starts the ball rolling by pasting her own photograph over a question mark used by a sensation newspaper to indicate the young woman rumored to be engaged to the very wealthy, handsome and likable Dr. John Spencer Bryant. She studies the photograph of the doctor to such extent that the latter, when she sees him making a call, feels almost as if she knows him, and tries to attract his attention. He smiles her amuseously. A neighbor's baby falls ill and Molly O calls Dr. Bryant. He gives her a lift in his automobile to her home, and the ride starts trouble for both of them. Molly O's father sees them and roundly upbraid her on the grounds that association with a swell like the doctor can bring no good to his daughter. He brings the matter of marriage to his assistant.

The doctor encounters his trouble when Molly O's mother selects the newspaper on which she has pasted her photograph to cover the wash which goes to the home of the doctor's fiancée. She has also seen the two of them riding together. Molly O delivers the wash, and the denouncement which the fiancée makes of her indicates to the doctor the kind of woman he is engaged to.

The doctor accompanies Molly O home from church and her father makes no secret of the fact that he wants him to stay away from his daughter. The antagonism only increases their attraction for each other and Molly resolves to attend a big charity ball at which she knows the doctor will be present.

There ensues a scene in which the doctor, after a very rough tussle, the doctor glidly accepts it.

Molly O seeks a barn for the purpose of changing into her ordinary apparel before going home. She is attacked there by her father's helper and the doctor comes to her rescue and takes her home. Her father, when he sees her fully dressed, wearing the doctor's overcoat, orders her from his house.

The next morning the father and his helper go to a mansion to give it its weekly cleaning. There they discover Molly O in negligee and the doctor in a dressing gown. The maid then discovers that the couple have been married the night before.

Marriage, however, only starts real troubles. The added prosperity which the wedding brings to Molly O's family proves too much for her brother, and in an effort to shield him, Molly O is forced into a position that is possible only one interpretation on the part of her husband that she is unfaithful to him despite the fact that he has never broken after marriage, he casts her off.

This gives Fred Manchester, who has secretly admired her, the chance of working through her brother, the notice her on board a ship and speeds away with her. The brother, horrified, runs to the doctor, who gives a clean bill of the events which the doctor has misinterpreted.

The doctor gives chase in an automobile, the fight and rescue that follow bring the picture to a dramatic and happy conclusion.

Wander Spectacle at Crystal.

"Way Down East" will open at the Crystal theatre where it is booked for an engagement of three days, July 5, 6 and 7.

"Way Down East" is the outstanding hit of the current season on the American stage. It is being seen here at the Crystal theatre simultaneously and playing to the greatest crowds that were ever drawn to see an American stage since the establishment of our stage. Over a quarter of a million theatre-goers in the different cities of the country are weekly witnessing its presentations.

This is a good average attendance for a season for an ordinary attraction and speaks plainer than any words of description as to the merits and the appeal of the Griffith masterpiece.

The screen version is based upon the simple tale of plain people revolving around the love of David Bartlett and Anna Moore in a New England rural community as originally played upon the stage in the dramatic tale by Lottie Blair Parker for a decade. Griffith has embellished it with those rare touches that he brings to everything he does for motion picture making. It is upon such a scale that he has literally evolved a new art form. It possesses scenes of such sweetness and charm that they are precious words to the artist and the art-palates of the land and he has added a thrilling climax showing the rescue of Anna by David over her captives on the night with their stork and the great ice jam and the foe on the river which is universally proclaimed the greatest scene ever shown within a theatre in the history of the world.

Business

St. Louis City Journal: A general re-construction in the business community now has been carried far into the strong movement forward early in the spring, and from all sections come enthusiastic reports of advancement. The progress made is not confined to one or a few lines, but all have registered distinct gains.

Manufacturing, particularly in the program of reconstruction farther than any others, but mainly because its plan was the first to be carried out. Industrial leaders in the big manufacturing districts demonstrated months ago that they were confident regarding the future. They knew they would find a market for their products, so they began to speed up production even before there was a general upturn in their goods.

The result is that they are now selling some of them faster than they can fill orders. Motor car manufacturers today are sending their orders in many instances, although they are operating their factories closer to capacity than any other big industry.

The middle-west is gratified and cheered by this general upturn. It is hoped that farm products, the one thing which was needed all along to restore its extensive buying power.

First Fifty Years the Hardest

Omaha Bee: The young lady reporter after "covering" her sixth divorce case involving well known people, has learned that many weeks, married; I've seen and heard enough. By way of rebuttal, we compared to this young woman—and all others of similar pessimistic thoughts—this remark by Mrs. J. W. Evers, Omaha woman, who celebrated her fortieth wedding anniversary last week. "We never had a bad day during the fifty years of our married life." Now, mind you, it would be risky business to guarantee a half century without a crisis in your life. The chances are there will be quarrels. But the marital life which one sees disclosed in the divorce court is not typical. Most married folk live happily.

Heroic Solution

Louisville Courier-Journal: One way to solve the domestic fuel problem in so far as nearly-half the population is concerned would be for 7,000,000 American farms to install permanent woodburners and create a demand for wood furnaces, becoming independent of coal strikes and freight rates.

Kansas City Star: England is a little sore because Americans are saving all their treasures. But not so enough, we are going to retaliate by buying American art.

Wants to save the country, and we want to save your eyes. Both objects are commendable, but your eyes are no doubt in greater danger at this moment than your country; at any rate, with two good eyes, you will be worth more to yourself, and also your country. The importance of not trusting the care of your eyes to incompetent hands is immeasurable.

For State Representative Grant S. Mears

Most of you voters know more about me than I could tell you in the few lines allowed in this space. However, for the benefit of those who do not, I will just say that I was born and raised on a farm. I came to Wayne county with my father's family forty-three years ago. We settled on what is now the Lou Owen farm. I have lived these forty-three years in Wayne county. I have served you ten years as sheriff and eight years as state representative; so I feel that I know the needs and wants of the people of this county as well as most any other man in the county. Prices on most things are coming down, and taxes must also come down. I am in favor of cutting all appropriations to the minimum. I have no interest in any other part of the state or any other class of people, and if elected I will put forth my best efforts to serve you in a way that will bring honor to you and to me.

Yours very truly,
GRANT S. MEARS.

Not the way we are betting on the game or fight the Fourth regardless of the idea that we have selected the winners. We have sized up the two ball teams from what they have been doing, their ability to play ball and their adoption of modern, practical methods. A real game is in store. As to the fight, we have had a better chance to pick the winner; dealing with an individual and his personal qualifications. She is going to be some fight.

The Five to One, or the preliminary for the November fight, is billed for July 18 when One is to lick Five on the republican ticket for an opportunity to fight one democrat in November.

Five must lose, one will win. The voters should be satisfied; there is field enough to select from.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT
—OF—

P. F. O'Gara

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS, THIRD DISTRICT

To the Electors of the Third Congressional District of Nebraska:

Having been filed by petition by the Democrats and by the Progressives of the Third Congressional District, and having accepted the filings, my name will appear on the Democratic and Progressive ballot as the candidate of those parties for congress from this district.

To those who know me, it is unnecessary to state that I have always been a progressive democrat, and since my majority, I have at all times fought for progressive principles and for remedial legislation in the interests of the masses. I was born to an invalid mother and a crippled father, in a sad shack on the prairies of Nebraska (in this congressional district), in the year 1874, and I know from personal experience and personal efforts the "short and simple annals of the poor" and the needs of him who "eats his bread in the sweat of his face."

Andrew Jackson most clearly and most succinctly stated the sphere of government activities when he said, "The province of government is to curb the vicious and the strong, to promote the interests of the weak and lowly and to be responsive to a healthy public opinion."

I shall, before the primary election, state my position on the public questions now before the people. Let me make myself clear in this, however, at this time, that I believe that there is too much partisan politics displayed at Washington and not enough of constructive statesmanship.

If nominated, and, if elected, as the representative in congress from this district, I shall go to the American Congress, not to represent the democratic party as such, not to represent the progressive party as such, not to represent the republican party as such; but I shall go as a representative of the best interests of my country and of all the people.

I shall appreciate the support of the electors of this district at the primary on July the 18th next.

Respectfully,
P. F. O'GARA.

After Taking Tanlac with Such Good Results Mrs. Crawford Says It Certainly Deserves All the Praise It Gets.

"I couldn't believe all they said about Tanlac until I tried it myself, and now I never doubt what I read about it," said Mrs. Anna E. Crawford, 2500 N. 23rd St., Lincoln, Neb., wife of a well-known retired business man.

"I got into a fairly run-down condition," she continued, "and suffered greatly from indigestion. I had headaches for days at a time, slept poorly and was up mornings so weak and dizzy I could hardly get up. Then rheumatism set in and some walking—difficult and I could scarcely use my arms for the pain. "But Tanlac" has made a clean sweep of my troubles, brought back my appetite and enabled me to gain much weight. It is a pleasure to make a statement in praise of this great medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.
