NEW PERFECTION Oil Cook Stoves and Ovens

Perfection Kerosene Stoves

were the first and only successful kerosene stoves on the market twenty-years ago. Today they are without doubt the most satisfactory kerosene stove made. They are positively the only kerosene stove that will not smoke or smell—all of which is due to their long chimney and the patented features of their burner. Some people will tell you they do not make as hot a fire with their long chimney as other stoves having a short one—this is not true. The old Perfection stove makes just as hot and quick a fire as any stove on the market. We have tried them out many times. If you don't believe it, come in and we will prove it to you by putting a quart of water on each type of stove. Seeing is believing—and they don't smoke or smell—others do.

Campaign Progresses To Diminish Disease

Dr. E. H. Swin is inspecting stock in Wayne county for the purpose of finding and advising a cure for those infected with tuberculosis. The same kind of testing is being carried on in Madison county. Daily Drovers' Journal-Stockman account the Madison county campaign as follows:

"R. A. Stewart, county agent for Madison county, and a delegation of ten more prominent stockmen from Norfolk and Green Garden precinct were at the yards today to watch the slaughter and post mortem examination at the Armour packing plant of sixteen reactor cattle found during the cleanup that has just been completed in Green Garden precinct.

"At least two of the men present were owners of cattle that had been found tuberculous, while among the others there were two or three herd owners who were avowedly skeptical as to the value of the tuberculin test and had up to this time refused to have their herds tested. All of them, however, went away firmly convinced that not only of the feasibility of the test but of the necessity of making a statewide cleanup of tuberculous in live stock, as every one of the reactors used in the demonstration showed lesions, and in at least six or seven cases the whole carcass went to the tank.

"The most interesting incident of the day was in connection with a reactor cow brought in by Herman Blank. This cow, which had been receiving milk for human consumption up to the time of the test, proved to have a generalized case of tuberculosis, the udder being badly infected. Three calves which had been fed milk from this cow were slaughtered and proved to have contracted the disease.

"Demonstrations like this are the most valuable method of teaching stockmen the necessity of supporting the campaign for tuberculosis eradication," declared G. O. Schmitt, who has been one of the leaders of the clean-up in Green Garden precinct and came in with the delegation. "After seeing what we saw this morning, no one here, I think, could doubt the feasibility of the test. It is added, and this same view was expressed by practically all the other men who made the trip.

"Specimens of some of the infected parts found in the cows slaughtered today were taken by Drs. Busman and Spencer and will be preserved so they can be exhibited at the Madison county farm bureau meeting which is to be held late this month. It is thought that this will help materially in forwarding the movement to have all cattle in Madison county tested before the year is out.

"According to County Agent Stewart the campaign in Madison county has been very well supported by stockmen there, considering that it is such a busy season. In the two townships where work has been done about 70 per cent of the cattle have been subjected to the test, and it is thought by the men who are here today that since they have seen this demonstration many of those who refused to have their cattle tested will fall into line. In Green Garden township where the work has just been completed, a total of 600 cattle were tested, fifteen of which reacted. Not as much infection was found there as in some other localities.

"Besides County Agent Stewart, the delegation here today included August Boyesen, Adolph Gross, Herman Blank, Fritz Buettner, Philip Sawyer, John Sawyer, John Sawyer and G. O. Schmitt of Green Garden township, and E. C. Warner and George Tannehill of Norfolk. P. D. Conley of the Star-Mail Publishing company, Madison, accompanied the party as a representative of the press."

Invite People To Write Editorials

The editorial writing contest announced by the Wayne Herald is attracting wide interest all over Nebraska.

Twenty-three other newspapers are cooperating in the plan. Each is offering prizes for the best editorials written by its readers and the winners in these contests will compete for the grand prizes of $100, $50 and $25 offered by The Omaha Bee in the all-Nebraska contest.

As already announced, the Wayne Herald is offering a first prize of $10 for the best editorial submitted by one of its readers, $6 second prize and $4 third prize.

Here is an opportunity for readers of The Herald to contribute to publication what they would publish if they were editors of this newspaper. The Herald wants to find out what its readers are thinking about.

Some of the leading newspapers of Nebraska are cooperating in this plan. The list follows: Albion News, Blair Pilot, Cedar Rapids News, Central City Republican, Columbus Telegram, Custer County Chief, Fremont Tribune, Geneva Signal, Grand Coulee, Greeley County Herald, Harvard Courier, Hastings Telegraph, Holdrege Progress, Holt County Independent, Madison Star Mail, Nebraska Daily Press, Nelson Gazette, Norfolk Press, Omaha Bee, Scotts Bluff News, Sidney Telegraph, Tekamah Herald, Wayne Herald, Weekly Wymorean, York Republican.

The Rules.
 The Herald will give a prize of $10.00 for the best editorial submitted by one of its readers who is not engaged in newspaper work; a second prize of $6.00; a third prize of $4.00. The prize winning editorials will be entered in the state wide contest conducted by The Omaha Bee for first prize $100.00, second prize of $50; third prize of $25.00.

Editorials may be submitted upon subjects within the following classes:
 (a) Current politics.
 (b) Current economic questions. (Examples: Taxation, marketing of farm products, freight rates.)
 (c) Current social problems. (Examples: Prohibition, public schools, crimes.)
 (d) Human interest. (Based upon some incident or principle which may be expected to touch the reader's heart.)

Editorials will be judged upon:
 (a) the interest which the subject has for Nebraska people; (b) the clearness and forcefulness and accuracy with which the subject is discussed; (c) the merit of the purpose to which the editorial is directed.

No editorial may exceed 500 words.
 Each editorial must bear the name, address and occupation of the author and must be written plainly on only one side of the sheet.
 Each contestant may submit one two- or three-editorials.

All contributions must be received not later than August 15th in case more than one is submitted, they may be sent in separately or together.

Judges for the grand prizes will be three in number, appointed from the Nebraska Press association.

Announcement of grand prize winners will be made at the meeting of the State Press association at Omaha, August 31 to September 2.

Randolph Man Tops Market.
 Daily Drovers Journal-Stockman: Harry P. Weyersich of Randolph marketed a load of 1,121 pound Angus steers at $10.25 here today, not only topping the day's market but equalling the highest price that has been paid so far this year as well. The twenty-two cattle were bought here in January at $6.85, and averaged 720 pounds that time, giving Mr. Weyersich a gain of 400 pounds in weight in addition to a feeding margin of $4.40 on a six months' feed.

According to Mr. Weyersich stockmen are all very well satisfied with present market conditions, and have been cleaning up their feed lots rapidly, there being very few cattle left in the Randolph district. Crop conditions are generally favorable. Oats is spotted, but the corn outlook is very good.

Northeast Nebraska Tournament.

The annual Northeast Nebraska Tennis tournament will be held at Norfolk on the Country club courts August 1-5. The meet is open to all tennis players of this section of the state. Leo P. Pasewalk is president and George Salter, secretary-treasurer of the tennis association. Single and doubles trophies will be played this year. Charles Durand of Norfolk, was last year's champion in the singles and Paul Langenburg and Charles Mathewson of Walhill, were champions in the doubles.

Volume Savings Permit Greater Value

There are hundreds of parts in a motor car. Many companies buy all, some makers build a few of the parts that go to make up a complete motor car. For every part they buy, a partsmaker's profit must be included in the final price.

Studebaker builds every vital part. Motors, bodies, axles, transmissions, frames, tops and other parts are designed and manufactured completely from raw material to finished product in Studebaker plants, under Studebaker control and inspection.

The savings, because of tremendous volume, give the buyer extraordinary value.

Complete manufacture also explains the uniform high quality that you get in a Studebaker car, whether it is a Light-Six, a Special-Six or a Big-Six.

And uniform high quality has made Studebaker cars known everywhere for their dependable performance in owners' use.

THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

The editorial contest in which the Herald is cooperating with the Omaha Star, invites the participation of everybody. The Wayne territory has an abundance of literary talent, clear thinkers and forceful stylists, and one who has an idea that is burning to be expressed, should take advantage of the present opportunity. It will not only afford mental pleasure, but the effort may win a worthwhile reward.

Each candidate in the late primary election has been nominated if he could have realized an all-imperious promise. Few people are given to discriminating among candidates to reflect in advance how they will vote when they get to the polls. Many have no positive choice among several. They have no strong bias or dislike. They cannot see the fitness of one above another. They are unprejudiced. But they can vote for only one for an office, and the effort may be well made to be the determining influence.

A course in practical Christianity may, in time, work up the soured hard-bodded industrial disturbers and obdurate mine owners, and lead to reasonable concessions from both sides, resulting in much desired peace and harmony. In the meantime, we must have fuel, even if it is necessary to call out the entire military force of the country to get it. If policies to the disgust of miners are incapable of understanding the plight of the people or are indifferent to their needs, they will have to be persuaded, aided, or forced, at least, to supply the demand.

According to reports and indications, mining conditions in general have virtually surmounted the stress of hard times and are now coming back with old-time vigor and resolution. Live stock has been a successful negotiator. It has put thousands of dollars into circulation lately. It has been a source of infinite relief and satisfaction for everybody. Agriculture has been an acute sufferer. It was hit hard. But it is now recovering faster than any other branch, and is supplying substantial backbone to other branches of business and industry.

The head of a department in the state university, having in charge the teachers' bureau, impatiently remarked that it "seemed to him that he was conducting a beauty contest in trying to supply the demand for teachers. This remark was prompted by the experience of teaching heavily outweighed scholarship and teaching experience in determining the judgment of prospective employers. Whether creditable or not, it must be admitted that a comely face is a powerful argument in half of an applicant for any job, either in a school room or elsewhere. Fine features and winning smiles are important assets; cleanliness and neatness are often the only things lacking to compel favorable attention and - make success easy.

We wish to call attention to the small efficiency of Wayne county election boards, as demonstrated again in the late primary. If it had not been for such uniformly perfect cooperation, the county clerk would have been unable to announce returns within two hours after the polls closed. Within thirty minutes definite pertinent reports began coming in. In contrast, some counties, notwithstanding the telephone, were loafing along without complete reports for twenty-four hours. In the early days it sometimes took a week to find out how an election had gone. A few counties we know of are still following the hand method of pioneer election boards whose members had no telegraph or telephone and had to travel by slow stages, before reaching the county boards and are undoubtedly satisfied and complete in issuing reports, and for such excellent working organizations, much credit is due the county clerk.

Compromise and harmony and redemption of mining operations on a practical basis have been earnestly and actively sought by the president and his advisers. Failing to secure cooperation, the administration would be justified by American consumers everywhere in taking over the mines and seeing that they are made to yield fuel for which there will soon be a pressing need. If miners and operators are too dead or too inseparable to right to sense the fuel needs of 140,000,000 of people, they are not deserving prolonged immunity from governmental interference. And congress should not only authorize the president to provide coal, but should enact laws that will not be unreasonable and oppressive. Only fair wages to miners and only fair prices for coal would discourage the policy of an occasional tieup which furnishes a thin excuse to boost the tax on consumers. Lacking a rather heavy hand on all concerning this "mining industry" and giving them no "mining industry" they cannot torture the helpless multitude while trying to settle an industrial dispute, would be salutary.

The business men of the average town have their legs pulled so often so they would give up the ghost if they did not have wonderful courage - they would give up the ghost. Every cause which they are asked to support through donation or purchase of something at three or four times its real worth is pitched out as so laudable or so compelling in public interest that the victim does not have the heart to refuse.

Every town having sunbonnets for the Eskimos to buying frying pans for the Hottentots is put up to main street. If some soul conceives, during an idle moment, the idea of putting a new coat of paint on the flagstaff or buying a new clipper for the town bell, that handy group designated as "the boys" as they are, is quickly thought and worked on the plea of public enterprise. If some society wants to get out of a financial hole, relief is found in the business district. Main street is too proud and too generous to often say "no," though it is sometimes in doubt because of lack of proof of merit. Who are these easy business men? They are not occupying soft berths nor are they serving themselves from easily acquired funds. Each has a miscellaneous assortment of problems to solve. Sometimes the business man deserted an important and pressing obligation to get them busy and paid aside. Frequently a donation which is not half so urgent as represented, would help satisfy a yearning creditor. Main street should be generous, but it should not feel that it has to respond to every one who elects to pull its entangled extraneous strings. Main street may need liberal support. The trouble lies in lack of organized inquiry. There should be a body to review propositions, seeking help, recommending those that ought to be encouraged; also casting an eye of gloomy disfavor on those that ought to be put to rest. Main street is busy and street should be worked with some care, and discrimination and not made the victim of every caprice that a restless imagination happens to evolve.

Appreciation.
I wish to thank the host of friends who gave me their support in the primaries July 15. I come again November 7, and bring your neighbors. Gratefully yours,

Want to Make More Money on Hogs

Certainly you do, and the logical way is to add Semi-Solid Buttermilk to the hog's ration. Why feed corn and water alone and only get 20 per cent feeding value out of all the corn fed? Add Semi-Solid Buttermilk and this feeding value is raised 300 per cent. Why? Because the tonic value in Buttermilk is the factor that makes the farmer money. You are given an insurance policy that your hogs will be placed in healthy condition and therefore they obtain more food value from the feeds fed. Mr. Farmer, these losses in protein value are Hidden Losses and they raise your overhead expense and greatly diminish your profits. We want you to save these and Buttermilk will do the work.

If any animal is fed a balanced ration he will gain faster and be in better condition than the one fed the unbalanced ration. This stands to reason. Then why not give the hog a fair chance to make you money by giving him a balanced ration? He is the farmer's bank and the better security the hog is given to make more money the more money every farmer is going to make.

Can hogs be raised on corn and water alone? Yes, but with the feeding of Semi-Solid Buttermilk the same animal will make faster and bigger gains than the corn and water fed hog. We can guarantee that the feeding period will be shortened from 30 to 60 days. What is this saving in time, feed, and money worth? More than all the money that any farmer would have to invest in Semi-Solid Buttermilk in order to produce these results.

We Can Help You Make More Money and we are glad to do it.

| Carload Berries Are expected to arrive tomorrow. The quality is fine and the price will be $3.75 for blackberries and $4.25 for loganberries and red raspberries. Parties who have names on our fruit list will be notified on arrival of car. | Old Wheat Flour The trial of using new wheat flour will soon confront the housewife. We have a supply of good old wheat flour at a right price. Gold Dust at $1.90, singles; $1.80 in five-buck lots. Buy enough flour to last you over the sixty-day critical period. |
| Semi-Solid Buttermilk The demand is better than ever. Dilute fifty gallons water to one of Semi-Solid. This great food results at a very slight cost. Semi-Solid will keep your hogs healthy. If your pigs do not gain one pound per day from time of birth to market time you are not securing good efficiency from your feeding ration. Semi-Solid will sure increase your profits, $3.60 per hundred or delivered for 10c additional. | Iced Tea Blend 30 Cents Per Pound This is the season tea in demand. Try this blend for iced tea. No beverage that costs less than iced tea. One pound will make 200 to 300 cups. |
| Best Grades Plain Cookies, 20c Good, pure food products, cheaper than you can bother to bake them. Cookie business has doubled the last ten days. The reduction in price amounts to 20 per cent. Fresh shipments every week. | Pure Apple Cider Vinegar, three Years Old Few wholesale concerns have pure apple cider vinegar. It's not to be had. We have a good supply from last spring's purchase. The real, old-fashioned Seek No Further vinegar. This is the year to be aware of imitations. Some are bad, others are worse. Take no chances—buy Seek No Further brand and be safe, 60 cents per gallon. |
| Certo The new item that's selling like hot cakes. Its use makes perfect jellies and jam in an instant. Some add water and sugar and secures double the volume. No chance of failure. Sure to please—35 cents per bottle. | Bulk Peanut Butter 20 Cents Per Pound This is a pure food item that never fails to please; costs less, but just as good. The children like it and it takes the place of butter at about one-half the price. |

OVERSEAS MAN REGAINS HEALTH LOST IN FRANCE

System Shattered by War Strains He De- clares, But Tanlac Completely Over- came Trouble—Now Feels Fine.

"I don't see how anybody could feel better than I do since taking Tanlac," declared Robert R. Ryan, executive, 1145 W. 17th St., Des Moines, Ia.

"Ever since I returned from France I have been in bad health. I could get nothing out of my stomach and the awful strain of war put my stomach all out of order. I didn't care to eat and when I did I felt down-pressed. My heart palpitated, I felt like choking. Dizzy faint spells came on and I had severe headaches. I felt as if all my strength had come home all jangled out every night."

"But Tanlac has simply made me over again. My appetite has come back in full force and I can eat anything and never have indigestion. Tanlac will always get a big recommendation from me."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. J2011

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Self Made.

I wish my friends, a self made man, and if my record will testify, you'll see how humble was my birth, and how I rose because I worked. I like to tell how, long ago, I buried joints and shaved money, to earn ten cents, which, when mine, I placed in the preserving brine. But when I would the tale begin—which shows how I got my start—I lose this—because the lips of men: "The blained old boss's wound up again!" Of my one tale I never tire, and it should teach youth to aspire; but children, when I would narrate the yarn of how I conquered fate, move off as though I were a pest, and rudely cry, "Give us a rest!" You always tell of triumphs now, when no one seems to have a gun? I asked my neighbor, Richard Roe, if he could tell why this is so. He said, emerging from his barn, "You are the hero of your year; and so one else that story spring, and it will cordial plaudits bring."

Now, old son, to gorgeous victories you've won, your audaces will wane and sigh, and reach for any brickbats night."

Poached Again.

The saddest words of tongue open are these, "We just been pinched!" and these, "I've been pinched!" every man must have some sort of box or van, when traffic laws are multiplied until we bust some open wide, no matter how we strive and strain to line up with the safe and sane, we hear the best and noblest man complaining, "We've been pinched again!" The reckless driver get away, to hop the road some other day—the speed fiends leave a trail of smoke, and justify the traffic law's joke; but fat old birds who cut a worst, are handed justice by the court; the village parson drives along, and haply make a signal work, this mind isn't on hymn and song, but on the safe and sane. Some woman parks her Lizzie fine perhaps two inches out of line, when she is to her bus-gate, and who anger in her own horns. For a degree confirming the title of said real estate in the plaintiff in and to the above described premises, and to exclude the above named defendants and each of them from any right, title, interest, claim or demand in or to said real estate, or any part thereof.

You are required to answer said petition on or before Monday, the 14th day of August, 1922.

Dated this 2nd day of July, 1922.

Changes of Cars.

I had a good old honest bus I used day in, day out, and with no foolish sort of funge it teetered on its way. There was no hill it wouldn't climb, no mudhole clogged its gate. It always got me there on time, when I would keep a date. But auto salesman laid for me, and jeered my ancient van; "It is a grievous sight to see you drive this also-ran!" I'll sell you then a better beast with every modern curve, and down the highway you will float, in state.

as you deserve. Be wise," they said "this bus reject, a modern one obtain; no man can keep his self respect, who drives so junk-a-wain." I have met one now, my friends, worth going miles to see; but every passing hour it lends some kind of grief to me. Oh, rinkinks odd and doodads, strange vocise my dreads and fears, and when to lower speed I'd change, I always strip the gears.

Whatever rinkink I may touch, it's always a mistake, and when I try to push the clutch I jam down on the brake. I see my old bus going by, and wail, "Alas! Alas! I'd give a manum in the sky to have that tumbrel back!" So my bright auto daily lends a pang, and sometimes two; old cars, old shoes, old books and friends art better than the new.

The Anvil Chorus.

I detest the busy knockers who have won a punk renown; they are evermore the blockers of all progress in our town. They who repair the axle and with hammers in their hands, talking of the frightful taxes that town government demands. If we wish to work, they say, we repair the village pump, we behold the knockers rally, and their spokesmen file the stump, and their oratory waxes. If they wish to save a cent, and they yip about our taxes which have risen twelve per cent. Oh, they would fine-shine knockers as they haul out language sour, but the tax on the knocker's workshop has run the town an hour. Boosters do the heavy paying in the tax collector's lair, and we hear them blithely saying, "If they wish to save a cent to spare, 'Anything to boost Mud Hollow we will back," they cry, "By Jings, and leader we will follow who will march to town hall, we are the root for any hiker who above his fellows stacks, and that voter is a filker who will beef about his tax."

And the knockers, oh the knockers, they are beeping wildly well; they are sitting in their rockers just before the Stag hotel; and they ply their verbal axes, and their hammer, rattling, as they demand the taxes that they dodge whenever they can.

Bards and Farmers.

To the bard, serenely singing, I remarked, "You're loafing there, while the husbandman are bringing corn and clover to the fair. Oh, husbandman, you're the best; you build the barn and crib and stall while the poet only sighs in mournful music from his lyre. And the farmers feed the masses, and they make the world go round, but the poet, he passes, merely deals in empty sound." Said the bard, "The busy stranger, as the town from day to day, he fills the evening manger with the home-grown brands of hay, he queues the message of the singers, quotes 'the poets' cheer-up dope, thinking that his words are dingers, giving courage, pep and hope, 'Let us then be up and doing,' quotes the farmer, as he plows; 'still achieving, still pursuing,' teardrops hogs and milkens, and his old words inspire him as he labors all day long, and I fear you'd only tear him if you robbed him of his song. Oh, you bard, you bard, you bard, as the bright days come and go; some are born to carry banners, some are born to shovel snow; and no man should view his neighbors with a sneering sort of sniggering. 'Useless are your labors—why not rumble off the road?'"

Deeds, Not Words.

Wayne people have absolute proof of deeds at home.

It's not words but deeds that prove true merit.

The deeds of Doan's Kidney Pills, for Wayne kidney sufferers, have made their local reputation. Proof lies in the testimony of Wayne people.

Ask your neighbor, S. J. Ickler, proprietor blacksmith in Main St., Wayne, says: "My work as a blacksmith required a lot of bending and twisting, which is a strain on the back and kidneys. This caused my back to become lame and there was a continual dull ache across my hips and back. I had read so much about Doan's Kidney Pills curing others and was led to try them. Doan's corrected the trouble and gave me a cure that has lasted for a number of years." Price, 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Ickler had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hurrying On.

Time is slipping, time is hopping with a haste I can't explain; soon we'll do our Christmas shopping in the winter sweet and rain. Precious time is slipping by us, and they never will come back again. I know some language pious when we view the almanac. Half the year is now departed, half the year is spent and run, and I'm feeling brown hearted when I view the work undone. Vain and useless was my planning and I now take in my sign; Father Time is always coming, with his feet and dreams of mine. I have scarcely done a quarter of the things I planned, I see; for the days and weeks are shorter than the blasted things we are doing. Can't we be a little taller speeders, each the worst you ever saw; and I feel, oh, gentle reader, that there ought to be a law. For we can get nothing here, and our work of life's diminished every time we flap an ear; and the moments are slipping, slipping, slipping, slipping nearly through, and the time for Christmas shopping will be with us P. Crops in Cuming County.

Daily Drivers Journal-Stockman: "Winter wheat around West Point is in fine condition, compared to oats and spring wheat," reports Charles J. Knapp, who was on Wednesday's market with a load of mixed cattle.

"Reports are coming in that winter wheat will average around thirty bushels to the acre, while the other small grains are not as good as usual, nevertheless we are expecting a fair crop. Cattle market is bright and all prospects indicate that a bumper crop will be had this fall," Mr. Knapp added.

"As regards to the cattle around West Point, we still have a large number to be marketed, in fact there are more cattle this year than ever before. Spring pigs are doing fine in our neighborhood at least I know no reason to complain. I have 400

Did You Get the Bottom Price, After All?

The man who buys a "long discount" tire usually finds himself troubled by the above question. Did he pay less for the tire than his neighbor might have paid, or actually did he pay more?

Did he get the bottom price, when all is said and done, or could he perhaps have driven a sharper bargain?

Was the net price really more than he might have had to pay for a tire of established reputation and value?

In the belief that the average motorist prefers a frank and open transaction, we built the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord and discounted the "discount" in advance.

Instead of listing it at a high price, to enable the dealer to attract you with a so-called "long discount," we list it as low as we profitably can.

We build it of high-grade long-staple cotton, using the patented Goodyear method of group-ply construction, and sell it at a lower price than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown worth.

If you want a quality tire, and a reliable value, call today on any of the Goodyear Service Station Dealers listed here.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

Find Some Causes of Tuberculosis Spread

Lincoln State Journal, in view of the campaign now being made in Nebraska to get rid of bovine tuberculosis, recent data secured by the federal department of agriculture is of great importance.

In North Dakota where tuberculosis is the common method of spreading the disease and was asked in the interest of establishing tuberculosis-free herds.

In parts where the pastures are fenced the complaint was that the disease is spread by cattle moving each other at fence lines.

A double line of fence to prevent this means of contact. In the case of the cattle noted generally tested before being sold by grade cattle are not such.

In Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and experience laid the greatest stress on feeding calves and pigs with from tuberculous animals.

From Oklahoma came fewer reasons for the same type. Common pasture, importation of untested animals from the states and the sale locally of untested animals, foul sties and contact with infected cattle in adjoining fields by brachy stock crawling through fences or stock nosing at fence lines.

Among the chief causes given in New England were the low price at which suspected animals are sold, the lack of testing hogs and grade cattle to be sure they, as well as purchased animals, are free from disease when sold, the breeding to a common bull, serving cows outside the herd, the common drabbing with milk from diseased animals, fens, calves and hogs, unsanitary barns, daves barns, underdrinking, the common pasture or pasturing, boarder animals, and the use of infected milk from fence lines by cattle of which may be diseased.

The twelve causes of the spread of the disease reported generally were:

1. Unrestricted drinking or pool or trough.
2. Common drinking or pool or trough.
3. Introduction of untested cattle.
4. Closing at fence lines.
5. Close foul housing.
6. Milk of infected animals fed to calves and hogs.
7. Sale of untested animals.
8. Dead animals eaten by dogs and hogs.
9. Breechy stock.
10. Breeding to a common bull.
11. Serving cows outside the herd.
12. Conditions unfavorable to health, as draft barns and underfeeding.

From Poser Journal July 24, 1922:

Some of our citizens have been amusing themselves lately by shooting wolves in the western end of town.

No news about the Ionia volcano lately. Has it suspended during the warm weather, and will it re-open its lava-slinging propensities when the cool days of autumn arrive?

It is supposed that those who started for Fort Peck a few weeks ago, have arrived there and have entered upon the duty of training and civilizing the rantankerous red men who reside in that vicinity.

There are several thousand Indians there, all of whom are said to be a civil-war party, and are most ferocious and ungovernable lot on the continent.

Notwithstanding the tears of some a few weeks ago, it is now a settled and fixed fact that Dixon county is to be at right this year for a crop as concerned.

A few localities the dry weather of the spring injured the wheat somewhat, but as a general thing there will be a good yield of corn and oats.

The crop will be enormous all over the county.

About 4 o'clock Tuesday morning a severe storm of wind and a deluge of rain visited the section.

The wind badly racked the building occupied by Massey, West & Orr. The old clerk's office was blown down.

Several chimneys were thrown down, as also were many shade trees, and some out-buildings. Much damage was done to corn and wheat throughout the county.

Good Stock from Stanton County.

Daily Drivers Journal, Stockman.

The top of Wednesday's yearling steer market was $10.10, that price being paid to Walter R. Raabe, breeder and feeder of Norfolk.

Eighty-one yearlings that averaged 881 pounds. All the cattle in the shipment were of Mr. Raabe's own raising, being a lot of heifers and typically pure bred.

They had been in the feed lot eight and a half months.

Emil Raabe of Stanton, a brother of the owner of the $10.10 yearling, also had two loads of yearlings on the market. They sold at $8.60 and $8.55.

Both of these enterprising breeders and feeders are sons of August Raabe, whose good cattle have had a high reputation on this market for years.

The New & Better "USCO"
$10.90

USCO set the high value mark for 30 x 3 1/2 tires when it originated the $10.90 price last fall.

USCO today better than any other because of its USCO improved in many important ways.

For instance, a thicker tread—with a surer hold on the road—thicker side walls, adding strength and life to the tire.

And the price is $10.90—with the tax absorbed by the manufacturer.

Men have always looked to USCO for the biggest tire money's worth on the market.

They always get a bigger tire money's worth than they expect.

Mexico and Illinois

Springfield, Mass., Republican: Noting that the Mexican government has defeated and scattered the bandit gangs in the Tampico district and that the recent elections "indicate that the Oregon government is in control in Mexico by a large political majority," the Chicago Tribune goes on to say that the Oregon government "desires the recognition of this country. It can best obtain recognition by suppressing outlawry and rebellion. It is something to break up bands of rebels, but we would be even better impressed if it would prevent their formation." This lecturing of Mexico by an Illinois newspaper does not do the Illinois people any good. It is a form of American humor too delicious for the Mexican palate to appreciate. But, to an American who can see the obvious superiority of President Oregon as a ruler to Gov. Len Small, of Illinois, it is rich indeed.

Notice. Charles Ferrine, upon investigation, find that there is no foundation for allegations heretofore made by what William Fischer removed certain articles of property from a self binder belonging to me, and I voluntarily make this statement in order that no blame of any kind should attach to the said William Fischer.

Dated this 18th day of July, 1922. Charles Ferrine.

Merely an Oversight. Kansas City Times. Secretary Hoover says some coal operators are selling coal in advance of the price agreed upon. We trust Mr. Hoover has no grounds for believing this is anything more than an oversight caused by the hurry and excitement of the moment.

Taxpayers Satisfied. Omaha Bee. The little saving of $700,000 effected in a year, when added to the billion dollar reduction in the funded debt, makes the average taxpayer feel good, no matter how the democrats regard it.

Let This Live City Serve You

WAYNE is a city of vigorous business activity at a time when other towns are still experiencing slumps. Wayne business and professional men held steady through the straightened financial siege with faith in the steady upward trend, which would certainly follow. The influx of nearly a thousand students into Wayne this summer further stimulated business and before leaving for their homes these young people are invited to fill their latest needs in this little city, where prices are comparatively low and selection wide, and where high class professional men offer high class service. The time is approaching when young people, who are going away to school, must have their wardrobes complete and Wayne merchants bid for the privilege of aiding them.

ROCKEFELLER TODAY Richest man in the world poses for this special picture at 83

John D. Rockefeller attended church at Ferrytown, N. Y., on Sunday following his 83d birthday. He is now the richest man in the world, but for humanity, even though it caused him to break a rule of long standing of not posing for pictures. He bargained with newspaper men, agreeing to pose for this special picture if they would attend church with him. It is health, not wealth, that now interests the retired oil king.

"When We were a Couple of Kids"

We like good things to eat and now we like to furnish you with good things to eat. We haven't forgotten, "The good old school days" and how hungry we were when school was out. We are ready to provide your kids with the most wholesome of bread and pastries, cookies and candies, soda fountain drinks and dishes. Try our Home-Run bread.

Appeal to the Public Because They Have the

PUNCH

And Are a Reminder of the Good Times in The Past.

The oil products sold by the Wayne Filling Station appeal to the public because they also have the PUNCH and are a constant reminder to all owners of motive power that this station serves nothing but the best.

Maximum Service Gasoline has the necessary PUNCH to take you over the hard pull. Monogram oils really lubricate and perfectly seal compression, enabling you to enjoy the full power of your motor.

The service rendered at this station is complete in every way, and has the "punch" that is essential to hold your continued patronage.

MR. FARMER

We are in position to supply your needs for the harvest time in harvestor oils, tractor oils, greases, kerosene, etc. Phone 99—our truck is at your service.
