Eradication Work in Dodge

Daily Drivers Journal-Stockman: Fremont, Aug. 11.—Four more counties are ready being lined up in readiness for the tuberculin test, namely Everett, Logan, Beble and Ridgeley," says County Agent Houser. "Leaders and surveyors have already been selected in the latter two, and await only a final meeting to work out the necessary plans and instructions for the test. That four more government veterinarians will be available to Dodge county beginning September 1, and rapidly expediting the work, such a plan so successfully worked out in our neighboring county, Washington, has the advantage of saving time and funds to a short period of time, getting the job done at once rather than extending it out over a period of several years, which would necessitate by one man working alone."

Old Near Neigh.

Neigh, Neb., Aug. 15.—The executive committee of the chamber of commerce met during the luncheon hour at the Nehoa hotel yesterday and acted on several important matters. Unless rain interferes the committee to mark the road to Pierce will start out today. This was attempted on two previous occasions, but had roads prevented. Those who will make the trip are: C. L. Watters, J. W. Sprick, A. J. Scholz and A. J. Selley. The river-to-river road will also be marked within a week, according to President A. H. Jensen.

The most important part of the noon program was the joining of the committee by J. H. White and James Nash who urged that an open meeting of the entire membership of the Melich chamber of commerce be held in its near future in order that the oil proposition these men are interested in, may be brought up. Mr. Nash is confident that there is an abundance of oil less than a mile west of the city limits, and only needs the proper drilling outfit to demonstrate the fact.

A state geologist was here in recent years and gave several persons assurance of oil in this vicinity. Mr. Nash in company with S. M. Hoff, was drilling for an artisan well and when at a depth of less than 600 feet, located a large quantity of oil. However, their machinery was too small to proceed further, and on account of finances, they were forced to abandon the work at that time.

After much discussion it was voted that the secretary, J. K. Friedback, communicate with Dr. Conrad, one of the leading geologists of the state, and issue him an invitation to come to Neigh, go over the proposed oil region, and with the information at hand by Mr. Nash, address the membership of the chamber of commerce. It is expected that the meeting will be called within a week or ten days.

Mrs. Erick Anderson and daughter arrived home from their Minnesota visit. Ralph Claybaugh went to Albion where he accepted a position in a hardware store.

George Foster of Carroll, expects to attend school at St. Louis, Mo., the coming year. Mr. Will Belford and Miss Dora McKay of Carroll, were married on August 19, 1922.

Miss Etta Lewis and Miss Clara Whitney attended the teachers' institute at Hartington. Wayne will have a carnival in September which will eclipse all shows held in this part of the state.

John Elming sold 173 acres of land three miles northwest of Wayne to L. A. Keller for $63 an acre. C. J. Savidge who is working for a railway company in Sioux City, came to Wayne to visit his family.

W. J. Mestlen, assistant chief of way mail clerk, came up from Omaha to visit Wayne relatives and friends. Mrs. John Nellor and children of Beemer and Mrs. Maud GoldenSmith of Dawson, Alaska, visited Mrs. L. G. Hunter.

Lighting struck the farm home of J. Chicott in Leslie precinct and damaged it badly. None of the family were hurt. Peter Bak, G. W. Lush, C. W. Hanson, H. E. Mason and E. Cunningham went to Hard county, S. D., to look at land.

The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bolding of Carroll, accidentally fell head first into a keg half full of water and was drowned. Mrs. G. L. Miner sent her small son to buy some bread at Wayne and dropped the money he had on the sidewalk. A crippled beggar got hold of it and refused to give it back to the child. The child and marshal took the man before Judge Hunter who fined him $5 and costs.

From Ponca Journal August 17, 1921: The advertisement of L. E. Bailey's saw mills will be seen in this issue. As will be noticed, his price on best cottonwood lumber is $10 per thousand, which is quite a reduction from former prices.

The new bank of E. E. Halstead commenced business Tuesday. His safe is a burglar and fire proof, with a time lock and all the modern accompaniments, so that a burglar, with his saws, wedges and blasting apparatus, will be unable to get into it. Mr. Stough yesterday showed us another letter received from Mr. Cameron, the Sioux Falls banker, in relation to asking a check for the coal company. From the letter it appears that the offer made by Mr. Stough will probably be accepted and that Mr. Cameron will soon come and commence operations. C. W. Sherman of Daily Branch, and T. J. Postelwitz of Logan prairie, both of them among the leading citizens of the county, were in town Monday and called at this office. They reported prosperity and plenty in their respective neighborhoods, big crops of corn, grass, vegetables and everything else except wheat.

Looks for Narrower Feeding.

Daily Drivers Journal-Stockman: Getting feeding cattle bought right will be one of the important factors in making feeding operations successful this coming season...

The wide spread in prices between live stock and corn, together with the low cost of feeding cattle, just fall was what made feeding so profitable the past season, declared Mr. Axtell.

"Next winter I look to see a closer relation between corn prices and the prices for cattle and hogs. Either the corn must go up, or live stock come down, and in either case it will be necessary to buy feeders carefully if they are to pay out.

"It is going to be another heavy feeding season in my section if the cattle can be bought at all reasonably. Feeders are not putting in many cattle yet, however, as the flux have been too bad. The last three weeks, my cattle have not been doing a bit of good. I still have a few cattle and hogs to ship, and in September I will start in filling up again."

In addition to feeding cattle, and serving as a member of the state legislature Mr. Axtell has been a breeder of pure bred Shorthorn cattle, but he has about decided to let them go, as he finds it hard to get men who will give them the proper care, and he hasn't the time to do it himself.

"I think the pure bred business is about to get back onto a paying basis," he declared, "and as my cattle are all young I rather hate to let them go, but situated as I am I think I can do better by feeding. My political opponents relieved me of my legislative responsibilities in the primaries, so this season I will be able to concentrate on the feeding business, and I hope to handle a big string of cattle."

Looks for Narrower Feeding.

Daily Drovers Journal-Stockman: Getting feeding cattle bought right will be one of the important factors in making feeding operations successful this coming season, in the opinion of J. A. Axtell, Fairbury stockman who had three loads of short cut cattle on today's market.

"The wide spread in prices between live stock and corn, together with the low cost of feeding cattle, has led to the feeding of more profitable the past season," declared Mr. Axtell. "Next winter I look to see a closer relation between corn prices and the markets for cattle and hogs. Either the corn must go up, or live stock come down, and in either case it will be necessary to feeders carefully if they are to pay out."

"It is going to be another heavy feeding season in my section if the cattle can be bought at all reasonably. Feeders are not getting in many cattle yet, however, as the flies have been too bad. The last three weeks my cattle have not been doing so well as I still have a few cattle and hogs to ship, and in September I will start in filling up my feed lots again."

In addition to feeding cattle, and serving as a member of the state legislature Mr. Axtell has been a breeder of pure bred Shorthorn cattle but he has about decided to let them go, as he finds it hard to get men who will give them the proper care, and he hasn't the time to do it himself. "I think the purebred business is about to get back onto a paying basis," he declared, "and as my cattle are all young I rather hate to let them go, but situated as I am I think I can do better by feeding. My political opponents relieved me of my legislative responsibilities in the primaries, so this season I will be able to concentrate on the feeding business, and I hope to handle a big string of cattle."

Another Vicious Circle. Chicago Daily News: It looks like putting a premium on violence by railroad strikers when their acts of lawlessness lead other railroad workers to go out on strike because troops are required to restrain the strikers from acts of violence. Thus the circle rotates rapidly in the wrong direction.

UNCLE WALT
The Poet Philosopher

No Pedigree.
While chugging down a country track, I killed a farmer's razorback, an ancient and a battered swine, with long legs, nose and humped pizzle. The farmer, sitting beneath a tree, behold the grim catastrophe, "Fair husbandman!" I cried, "alack, I own I've killed your razorback; and I'm prepared to hear you tell how that 'P's pedigree is swell; I shan't doubt you if you swear; I took the premium at the fair; I'm willing to believe this hog is named in royal catalogue, and that its sire was called the best of all the bench sows, east and west. But still I ask you man to man, to treat me softly as you can, for I am poor and have no roll to pay a great, oppressive toll." "I'm glad the measty beast is dead," with smiling face the farmer said, "now that his head I'll have some peace; he killed my chickens and my geese; come to the house and have a square of sizer, since you've croaked that pig." I took my blusher when I saw I slumped right round and swooned away. Man learns to meet Fate's fiercest snarl with lofty and undaunted front; but when he's all round up to face the foulest snarl that Fate can place, and gets instead a large bouquet, it is Too Much—he falls away.

Insomnia.
I called on old Doc Graft today, and said, "I'm doomed, I think, I spend the long nights in the hay, and cannot sleep a wink. I've tried the many ancient schemes for bringing slumber near, but from the most of the land of dreams I'm barred for good, I fear. I counted forty million sheep last night, but all in vain; I must get next to gentle sleep. I shall go to bed, obeying the cheery dog's harangue, who boosted exercise, I walked some twenty paragraphs which failed to close my eyes. And so at last I come to you, my help—I have implore; they say you've methods strange and new, no does 'er used before. 'I knew you'd come," said Old Doc Graft, when weakness made me pause; "I saw you sick, and so I tried, with zeal, to learn the cause. I find your stand off is no good in any part of town; you owe for hay and coal and wood, and for your wife's best gown. In debts you've always been immersed since you were in your teens;—notice the butcher's door—his wife's the grocer for his beans. It would be vain to feed you pills, they would not set you right; go like a nut and pay your bills, and you will sleep at night." This was the rede of Old Doc Graft, too good a rede to waste; he dropped me, in his haste.

One Virtue.
One little virtue I possess—I'm prompt in all my dealing; and oh, it fills me with distress, and makes me kick the ceiling, when some one who has made a date forgets or fails to meet it; and then I sing my hymn of hate; if I've a hat I eat it. This fellow doesn't come on time, a measly trick of his'n. I cry, "he's guilty of a crime, and should be held in prison." I'll tell him what I think, gee whiz, as sure as I'm a Yankee; the worst of any virtue is it makes its owner cranky. I have no patience with the men who turn their eyes to heaven and swear they'll come at half past ten, and don't show up till eleven. From virtues they are even; I can't see anything meritorious and looks upon me with contempt because I do not share it. Though Johnson seldom keeps a date, he's famous as a giver; and to the poor he sends a freight of spuds and beans and liver. Though Perkins leaves me in the lurch, nor does he the words I'm breathin', he does a lot to help the church, and coughs up for the heathen. They doubtless think I'm a fraud, my virtue notwithstanding, for I'm cemented to my bed, no helpful coins outhanding.

Hope On.
Hope on, hope ever say the seers, who're packed with wisdom to their ears, and have good sense to burn; "though things look dark," the seers say, "and crises and all every day, the good times will return." The women raise a frightful noise; but through it all the wise old boys keep saying, "Don't lose faith; 'ere true conditions are a scream, but shortly all these things will seem a pipe dream and a wraith." There is a carnival of crime, and undertakers spend their time embalming murdered men; but still the wise old sages cry, "These crazy times will soon pass by, and sense will come again." "And crises and all every day, the workingmen throw down their tools at every passing whim; and still the sages make their cracks; they write time bombalining murder-tacks, 'we'll be in the swim." When I wade through the daily news I'm treated with a case of blues, so many things are wrong; delirium tremens—heat, and the 'er 'er 'er 'er

Darktown jazz, that should be one sweet song. But while I'm sighing I can hear the cheery message of the seer, who does a great diddlin; "These ragtime things will pass away, and there will dawn a better day, when we will all be sane."

The Happy Lad.
My car is made of zinc, my car is painted pink; but I'm as gay when on my way as any wealthy gent. My home is but a shack, a woodshed at the back; but when I'm there 'twould make you stare to see how high I stack. My watch is built of tin, and has punk works within; it is a crime, but keeps the time, while I toil and spin. My duds are made of wool, and my socks are faded; but still I spring a smile and sing—the clothier has been paid. On liver-wurst I dine, and I am feeling fine; the goods you see belong to me, and they are truly mine. No creditor appears with caustic taunts and sneers, to get his plunk or have my junk sold by the auctioneers. No sheriff comes with writs to scare me into fits; no balliffs wait around my gate to bone me for six bits. I'll have a limousine some day, and a mansion green; some day I'll have the finest suit, a silk hat on my beam. Some day I'll have a clock that none will dare to mock; some day I'll eat such costly meat that I'll scare the neighbors talk. But I won't cut this ice until I have the price; and so in brine these coins of mine I pickle once or twice.

Homestead.
Some day, to soothe my homestead soul, I'll have the Holy, the Town where I was born; by night I dream of Punktown friends, and when I'm happy in vision, I'll have a house in Forlor. I yearn "Once more to walk around the Punktown square and see the pound, the courthouse and the jail; to see the chains of long ago, when my head was covered with snow, and I grew bent and frail. Stern Reason says, "twice make you sad to visit now your native ground, where change has come of yore, the girls you knew when you were young are faded dames, their withers wrung, life's burdens made them so. The boys you knew were toothless boys who tell old tales and swat the flies, and they've fegotten you; the town is worn by wind and rain, and you will look around in vain for landmarks that you knew." I know that Reason speaks the truth, I know the village of my youth would surely break my heart; but every morning when I wake I say, "That trip, I'll have to take—when had I better start?" And some fine day I'll load my car and journey to that town afar, and among the tombs, and see the courthouses and the jail, the withered cronies and gazfers folk who once were brides and groom.

Smut on Wahoo Wheat.
Daily Drovers Journal-Stockman: Wahoo, Neb., Quite a number have reported considerable smut in wheat. The seed is being sown, and the wheat as well as cutting down on the yield. The following treatment has been suggested by the State agents and the farmer will practically eliminate the stinking smut in wheat next year:
Sowing method. Run the seed through a good fanning mill before treatment. This will remove many of the shriveled and light weight kernels, spore balls, many of the seeds are very light and will practically eliminate the stinking smut in wheat next year.
Formalin solution. Run the seed through a good fanning mill before treatment. This will remove many of the shriveled and light weight kernels, spore balls, many of the seeds are very light and will practically eliminate the stinking smut in wheat next year.

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A Real Cord Tire for Small Cars at a Popular Price

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib-Tread Cord in the 30 x 3 1/2 inch clincher type is a tire that the small car owner will warmly welcome.

It gives him, at a price lower than the net price he is asked to pay for many "long discount" tires, every advantage of quality cord tire performance, for it is a quality tire through and through.

It is made of high-grade long-staple cotton; it embodies the reliable Goodyear quality of materials; its clean-cut tread engages the road like a cogwheel.

The scientific distribution of rubber in this tread—the wide center rib and the semi-flat contour—gives a thick, broad surface that is exceedingly slow to wear.

The tough tread stock in this tire is carried down the side-walls clear to the bead, making it rut-proof to an extraordinary degree.

In every particular it is a representative Goodyear product, built to safeguard the world-wide Goodyear reputation.

Despite its high quality, and the expertness of its construction, it sells at a price as low or lower than that of tires which lack its important features.

The 30 x 3 1/2 inch Cross-Rib Cord clincher $12.50

This price includes manufacturer's excise tax.

Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord Tires are also made in 6, 7 and 8 inch sizes for trucks.

These songs of degrees from the low to the highest, rises a sweet recitative, Mayor Hylan's anthem, of his creator.

Last Saturday night, it would appear, the chieftain was blue, and all the more so when the music minister was hastily summoned from the city hall.

A sweep of his fingers across the harp strings, and he burst once more into the old game of Heard had saved Jim Reed. He had saved California. He had fought the devil of selfish privilege.

He had done more than any man of our time to improve the character of public officials. He had purified the ballot box. He had forced reforms on corrupt legislators. He had defeated the poor.

It is still a touching song, though a trifle stale from repetition. As for the minstrel, nobody can doubt that he pours his whole soul into it. He really believes that Mr. Hearst is the master mind of all time.

CONSOLIDATED WITH THE WAYNE REPUBLICAN

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 17, 1922

VOL. 36. NO. 7.

Week's Report From Bureau of Markets

August 14, 1922.

Cattle—The beef steer trade has been unevenly steady during the past week, choice grades being steady and others 25 to 40c lower than a week ago. Cows and heifers steady to 25c lower. A continued demand for feeder steers caused an increase of 25c. Veals generally steady.

Hogs—Lack of shipping demand and dullness in packer trade caused a sharp break in prices early in the week. Lights declined the most but heavy demand caused a slight reaction later. Prices of butcher hogs on the Omaha market are 35 to 75c lower than a week ago. Stock pigs 25c lower; packing sows steady to 10c higher.

Sheep—This week's market has been very dull. 50-lb week and lower weights are 25 to 50c lower than a week ago. Sheep and yearlings steady to 25c lower. Feeders steady with fair demand.

Wheat—The trend of the wheat market has been generally downward, but strengthened somewhat later in the week. Export trade has been dull and buying pressure light. Visible supply is 22,435,000 bushels, compared with 34,867,000 last year. The monthly government crop report released Tuesday places wheat at 806,255,000 bushels, a decrease of 11,069,000 bushels from July 1. Chicago cash No. 2 hard closed Friday at $1.09.

Corn—Corn has displayed a weaker tone in sympathy with the decline in wheat and on account of poorer crop reports but recovered somewhat later in the week. Visible supply is 13,653,000 bushels compared with 12,859,000 last year. The monthly government crop report placed corn at 8,016,950,000 bushels, compared with 2,826,000,000 on July 1. Chicago cash No. 2 hard closed Friday at 62.50.

Potatoes—While shipments have not been as heavy as last week, market continues well supplied and prices about much the same. Government estimate of potato production for the United States is 432,900,000 bushels as compared with 346,823,900 a year ago. Nebraska production is estimated at 10,306,000 bushels an increase of about 2,150,000 over the year's final estimate. Demand is moderate and prices have advanced somewhat.

New Jersey Canners No. 1 brought $1.25 to $1.30 per cwt. in leading markets. Kansas early Ohio, partly graded, sold at $1.00 to $1.15 in midwestern markets and Nebraska No. 2 eggs—Receipts at the four principal markets were somewhat less than last week. Stocks in storage are 4,312,000.

Receipts at the four principal markets—Receipts in the four principal markets about steady with week ago. Stocks in storage continue heavy. Prices steady with week ago. Local prices: Live poultry—hens, light, 18c; heavy, 18c; roosters, 10c; spring chickens, 15c.

Dairy—Light receipts of butter at four principal markets caused prices to strengthen early in the week, but higher stocks and heavier consignments caused a later decline. Extras sold Thursday in Chicago at 32c.

The Farm Lease Problem.
Daily Drivers Journal-Stockman: There has probably never been a period in the history of agriculture where more interest has been taken in farm leases than in the past two or three years. Landlords and tenants have met in joint meetings to discuss farm leasing problems, and economists have been called upon to study farms of Illinois which will be of mutual benefit to both parties and will tend to build up soil fertility.

According to statistics which have been carefully gathered, forty per cent of all the farm operators in the state of Iowa are renters. In Nebraska forty-three per cent of the farms are managed by renters. This large percentage in the case of two states which rank high in crop production is ample reason why both Nebraska and Iowa should consider farm leasing plans seriously. This tendency to make short-time leases and the altogether too common custom of tenants drifting from farm to farm have been very important factors in reducing the productivity of the farms. To overcome this leases must provide for the feeding of the stock and the manuring of the land, and the growing of legumes.

These are some of the reasons why the tenant farmer is being favored and the ordinary cash lease is passing out. Both Nebraska and Iowa report exceptional interest in farm leasing. The name implies five stock is grown and fed on the farm. The landlord furnishes the farm and has a half interest in the stock. It is a profitable one for both parties, and was keeping up soil fertility.
The days of the tenant who roams about the state, skimming the soil's fertility, must come to an end. We are thinking in these days more strongly than ever before of soil conservation. The renting of land here and there, the soil is being worn and soil robbing. It need not be if the lease is designed to give the tenant a real interest in the farm, and if the landlord is to receive a fair share of the stock and marketing the grain by this route instead of through the elevator.

Duroc Breeders Meet.
Norfolk Daily News: The Madison County Duroc Breeders' association held a meeting Wednesday evening in the offices of the Norfolk Packing company, John Evans, president of the association, presiding. Members voted to donate one pig each to be sold at the Madison county fair for the benefit of the association and for the purpose of promoting the breeding of Duroc Jersey hogs. Plans were also made to have the Duroc department of the district livestock show which is to be held on the Norfolk livestock sales grounds at Norfolk, Sept. 20 to Sept. 25, inclusive. Rome R. Benedict of the Norfolk News, discussed advertising and submitted sketches for a trade show. Plans for the Madison association. Following the meeting, a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. John Evans.

Among those present were: I. W. Steppely, secretary, Edgo Taylor, William Rasmussen, John Polger, John, Edward and Louis Rodemaker, J. G. Poljack, Arnold Wagner and Leo Taylor.

Crops in Good Shape.
Colome, S. D., Aug. 11.—After several days of favorable weather, the crops around here are in fine condition. All the early small grain is out and threshing well under way. Corn is in fine condition and some farmers report that in some places the stalks are ten feet high with large, well developed ears. Three weeks more warm weather will practically ripen the most of the corn.

Business.
Sioux City Journal: As has been maintained by competent observers throughout the country, business conditions are now so good a bottom that, even with industrial controversies of nationwide scope in progress, the movement has continued forward. This is especially borne out by the monthly analysis of business conditions made by the employment service of the labor department. Investigating industrial centers over a wide area, the government experts found that in sixty-five cities the increase in the number of employees in one month was 7,434. In forty-four of these fifty-five cities there were increases noted. The only unemployment of importance that has been seen since early summer has been voluntary, and, naturally, that cannot be regarded as indicating a lack of work for those who want it. The voluntary unemployment, however, is chiefly confined somewhat general business conditions, far with hundreds of thousands of wage earners idle, they are not unemployed in the sense that across the counters than is absolutely necessary. Still, even with that handicap, business has gone on steadily making for a complete recovery.

A little nervousness is felt in some quarters regarding the fuel situation in the immediate future. The rationing method will guarantee that every section will be able to obtain its quota of coal, but there is some doubt that this amount will be sufficient to assure industry enough to justify capacity operation. Supplies of fuel have fallen low in some of the most important manufacturing districts, especially in the middle west and lake regions. The east is much better off, according to New York advices, some of the big manufacturers having large supplies of fuel than are to be found west of Pittsburgh. The same thing is true with reference to the eastern railroads, the reserve coal piles of the latter are much more plentiful for some time without the threat of embarrassment. An actual coal shortage in middle west and lake industrial centers would force a hardship on the laboring classes, whose best possible arrangement would be part time work if all those now on the pay roll continue to draw checks at the end-of-the-week. Even the settlement of the miners' strike could not be expected to operate as an unimpeded and peaceful remedy immediately to points of distribution. That would take time.

The outlook for foreign trade is little changed, except that European exports will probably be made in this country. That will mean that at least a part of the American surplus will be demanded for overseas shipment. The politico-economic situation abroad is no better than it was in fact it is probably not so good, and that does not promise much in the way of general trade reumption. The tied powers are still far from agreement, apparently, on the question of German reparations, and until some understanding of that which will tend to stabilize the European money market, American shippers cannot hope for a strong demand for goods in large volume and of varied character. New York, America's financial center, is watching the situation abroad, quietly and observing a prudent reserve in its own conditions here; and at best, it can be said that Wall Street is waiting for the better developments that will come sooner or later. Stocks are neither fast nor slow and Wall Street is seldom excited these days, although some lively trading features operations now and then.

It is interesting to see that building operations continue everywhere. The lumber trade and related businesses are active. Vast amounts of money are being put in circulation through building operations and they also have absorbed at a time of great need millions of unemployed. There is some talk of a runaway lumber market developing, but it has not yet come and probably will not, although mills in every producing area are already far behind on orders. The building activity is now far ahead of any previous period, but there is no indication of a letup as long as materials are available. Price cutting in motor car circles developed a thrill a few days ago, and a price war has been predicted, but this may not develop, as some of the popular vehicles concerned are already below the pre-war figure. It would not be surprising to see the motor car manufacturers undertake to re-establish the price basis at a little higher figure than that now obtained instead of forcing it sales in a price-cutting competition in the fields. Incidentally, it may be remarked that some of the leading motor car manufacturers are likely to be more or less embarrassed in operations if the coal shortage is as bad as is now threatened.

Owen Reports Biggest Feeding Margin Ever

Daily Drivers Journal Stockman: "This is the biggest feeding margin I have ever had on cattle," declared L. M. Owen, veteran Wayne feeder after the 100 steers he marketed here yesterday had been sold at a figure nearly $4.00 above their first net as feeders. The big end of his shipments, seventy-two steers to be exact, sold at $10.20, or within five cents of the day's top. They averaged 1,200 pounds, with the heaviest eight being over a good deal lighter, averaging 1,076 pounds and selling at $9.75.

"There were 140 head of these cattle when I took them last fall, and they cost $6.20, averaging $50 pounds in weight," Mr. Owen said. "We topped out forty of the steers earlier in the season, however, so a comparison of average weights does not show the full gain these have made. I estimate it $25 pounds or more that they were bought in October and December."

Mr. Owen is a firm believer in the power of feeding nothing but the best quality feed. "I tell them all before shipping them. They talk about the big profits made on the 'big' steers, but that kind never looked good to me," he declared. "When you buy a big bunch of feeders there are always a few poor ones in them and after watching the way the rest of the steers grow right away from these few poor steers when they are in the same feed lot and on the same ration, I have come to the conclusion that it is economy to feed the best you can buy."

The way Mr. Owen's cattle sold here yesterday convinced him that Omaha is the logical market for quality cattle, and making them fat a time when I thought it paid us to go to Chicago," he said. "But I believe these cattle netted me more here than they would have anywhere else."

Progress on Meridian Bridge

Hartington, Neb., Aug. 15.—Occasional spasms by the Missouri river, in which the water level rises as much as two feet in two days rather than to keep the workmen on the Meridian bridge guessing as to their labors on the tramway which is to be used in hauling material to the main structure.

Early in the stage of the river was 5.5, which is a trifle high for this time of the year, the rise being caused by heavy rains upstream. As a result workmen on the tramway devoted their time to keeping debris cleared away from the structure, so that no possible damage would result. The tramway has been completed across the main channel, and work is now being done on driving the piling across the Nebraska bar. Work on the pontoon bridge is also being rushed, and a trestle work has been built out from the Nebraska side. Because of the high water, this was hindered to a considerable extent. The bridge, that is not in much danger, as it is not in the main channel. Capt. Giesler had considerable difficulty in arranging for a road to the high bank from the bar on the Nebraska side, but finally accomplished this. He expects to complete his pontoon bridge soon in the 1922 season, the work of installing it having been delayed by inability to secure promptly the big timbers needed.

Former Wayne Young Man Duly Advanced

Glen E. Smith, formerly of Wayne in the employ of the Ohio Bell Telephone company for several years, with headquarters at Cleveland, has been made division safety instructor. He is a son of E. H. Smith of Wayne, and is well known at this place and vicinity. The Plant Review, published in the interest of the management of a Cleveland electric trolley, announced Mr. Smith's promotion: "Employees of the Northern Division will be glad to learn of the appointment of a Division Safety Instructor to conduct first aid classes and take an active part in safety work generally. Our old friend, Glen E. Smith, has been selected to take up this work and as he is well acquainted with all the employees, it is felt he will have a very interesting occupation in seeing that they in their first aid and accident prevention efforts."

"Smithy, as he is better known, has been with the division since December, 1916, and his experience has been varied, having worked in the subway, cable and line units of the construction department. He is very enthusiastic about the work and anxious to get started. His first duty will be to instruct the supervisors and foremen in first aid practice, so that they can in turn instruct the men under their supervision."

Smithy has been previously stated in these columns the first aid training is to be a permanent part of the telephone job and after all employees have had sufficient training, teams will be formed of five men each to enter into competition. After all elimination contests have been held a division contest will be arranged to decide the winner for the city. Mr. Smith has five men each to train. In other companies of the system these contests have proved to be very exciting and it is certain they will be equally interesting to all employees of this company once they have entered into them.

Can't Recall Attack
Spencer, Neb., Aug. 15.—Emanuel Hypse is suffering with a small fracture of the skull as a result of being knocked to the sidewalk, unconscious, Thursday after attending a dance at White House. He was assisted, P. L. Crowley, a salesman of Sioux City is under $1,000 bonds.

Mr. Hypse had returned to a hotel after attending the dance where he expected to meet Mr. and Mrs. Jones of Spencer, with whom he was to return to Spencer. As he came out of the hotel it is said he was struck and fell to the sidewalk and asked to apologize to the lady, according to witnesses. It is assumed the salesman's name, who was supposed to be standing near, was meant.

Mr. Hypse said, "What lady? I'm sick," and he was taken to a car and Carl Olson of Bristol who recognized him, took care of him.

Mr. Hypse of Wakefield was called and took his son to Spencer where an x-ray picture revealed the fracture.

Mr. Hypse does not remember the occurrence, but he has several witnesses. Mr. Hypse has a good reputation and friends can see no reason for the attack.

Successful Men

Really successful men — men who have never worked all their lives for the sake of getting rich, and yet are "well fixed" are invariably thrifty.

A fixed financial program is a great help to any man trying to save money. A plan of saving must be based on a knowledge of what constitutes true economy.

One of the first steps on the road to true success is the starting of a savings account, and adding to it regularly.

Economy in Buying

Get What You Pay For Plus

If you pledge yourself to economy in buying you will take into consideration the following basic principles of economy:

Quality It is an established fact that buying a product of good quality is always true economy in the end. We pride ourselves that this filling station dispenses petroleum products of unquestioned merit.

Price We have always tried to serve the public with the very best grades of gasoline, kerosene, oils, greases, etc., that can be obtained. At the same time our low overhead expense enables us to make the price as low as is often asked for products of a much inferior grade, and our constantly growing business is ample proof of the fact that our prices lead to true economy.

Service The most abused word in the English language. Service comprises so many separate and distinct efforts that one is sometimes led to think he is receiving service when he is not... You might ask for ten gallons of gas and only get 9 3/4—that's not service. You might ask for the correct grade of oil for your motor and get a cheap substitute—that's not service. You might wait impatiently to be filled with gas, your crank case drained, your supply tanks filled with gasoline or kerosene. But when we say SERVICE we mean all that the word implies—what you want, when you want it, and at the right price.

Plus If you are a patron of this filling station you get what you pay for, plus all the modern conveniences and courtesies possible. Free air for your tires, water for your radiator conveniently located. All these or any other accommodation within reason, without a grouch or question.

Amusement

This is the amusement age. The craze for amusement controls the doom of present day civilization. If you are a critical reader of history you will see that the amusement mania is a new thing.

AMUSEMENT MANIA

The amusement mania or pleasure mania, which has afflicted the increased population of the world and the extra facilities afforded us make it possible for a quicker decline. The people seem to have forgotten all about life's more important work and are engaged in mad competition for pleasure. There are more people trying to outdo each other in the race for amusement than ever before, and for financial considerations they are furnishing more kinds of amusements.

Proprietors are being shattered, luxuries are being abandoned, and characters sacrificed in the mad rush to reach the beach of frivolity and pleasure.

Rev. W. A. Matthews
AUTOCASTER

The old people have become inactive on the subject—the middle-aged are interested, and the youth of the land are hopelessly enslaved. Babies are born in the mad house of Jazz and are being reared in the cradle of idleness.

The amusement mania or pleasure mania, which has afflicted eighty-five per cent of the population. They are today spending millions and millions of dollars for a day of folly or a tubidity of moral quality.

They do not seem to care with anyone who is trying to cure them thereof, in an action pending in said court where Edward Perry was plaintiff and L. E. Jones, D. A. Jones, Henry Kay, Ernest Bichel, co-defendants. It will on the first day of September, 1922, at 11 o'clock a. m., at the door of the office of the Clerk of said Court, in the court house at Lincoln, Nebraska, upon a decree rendered therein at the October, 1921 term, there-in an action pending and now pending wherein George Whippman was plaintiff and Charles Meyer, Jr., Leslie Meyer, George W. Haasman, Geo. W. Haasman, Consumers Lumber company, a corporation, and G. August Johnson were defendants, I will, on the fifth day of September, 1922, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the door of the office of the clerk of said court, in the court house in Wayne, Nebraska, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate, to wit: Southeast quarter and the east half of the northeast quarter of section 36, township 20 north, range 5 (5), east of the 6 P. of this awful malady. They are not willing to co-operate with anyone who is trying to reform the amusement mania now being used for the destruction of society.

The Honorable William H. Hays deserves the unstinted praise and approval of all Christian people in his efforts to clean the filthy streets and wash out the cesspools of moving picture studios.

Every virtuous-loving woman in the land ought to come to his support and demand the closing of every place in which exhibiting any picture with an immoral subject of false coloring.

If you are not willing to support men who are trying to cure the populace of their mad amusement insanity then you should prepare the funeral cortege for the wretched bodies of your sons and daughters.

Help us to treat your malady, reform your amusements, and direct the people in the road of sanity and moral development.

Studebaker
BIG SIX

was $1785 Now $1650

YOU can buy a Studebaker Big Six Touring Sedan today for $1650. This is the lowest price ever asked for a car of its sterling high quality.

Always a matchless value, the Big Six stands out today more strikingly than ever in the field of fine cars.

The seven-passenger Big Six is not a "volume" motor car, but you get it at a volume price because the Studebaker organization produces and sells three separate models with only one overhead.

Look over the field. Check the many points that will appeal to you in the selection of a car. See the Big Six, ride in it—we'll take you for a demonstration any time you say. Try it, ride yourself. Then compare it with any other car, even at two or three times its price, and you will appreciate how much more you get for your money in a Big Six than you can find anywhere else.

The price of the Big Six was reduced at a time when Studebaker had unfilled orders on hand for more than 15,000 cars. The first seven months of this year were the biggest in Studebaker's 70 years' history. Capacity production lowers costs and, Studebaker believes that its manufacturing savings should be shared with the customer. Hence the new low price of the Big Six.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

WELL-AFTER-ALL

by UNCLE JOHN

When you hear a feller grumble at the hill he has to climb, an' later, see him crumple in despair,—you wouldn't err in judgement, if you bet yer bottom dime, that he has built the cross he had to bear. This thing we call humanity, is full of human freaks, with fitful an' fickle moods. There's very few that's brave enough to scale the highest peaks,—that knows enough to come in, when it rains! With blessin' all around us, we embrace the things that curse. We wander to the vicious appetite. We undertake the very thing that sure to leave us worse—'n' shut our eyes to it.

Then—is it any wonder, that we founder in the sea, an' swallow bitter waters, tempest-tossed? Too often we imagine that our trouble has to be, when we only need the rudder that we lost! We'll find it smoother sailin' if we banish every dread, and cure the imperfections of our own. The trouble's nearly allers in our little ivory head,—an' trouble's hard to manage—in a bone!
