Interest Grows in Nearby Oil Springs

Oklahomans and western oil men have shown a great deal of interest in the oil business, particularly in the vicinity of Wayne, and Mr. Robinson who is not experienced in the oil business, is waiting. He has received many letters and offers of some making highly and others promising to lease ground for oil production. Representatives of oil companies have called at the farm and investigated the springs from which oil oozes. But Mr. Robinson has not obligated himself in any way thus far, and does not propose to do so until he is satisfied he is making no mistake.

The springs lie at the foot of a bank and empty into a nearby creek. Hogs wallow in the springs, and when they come out they look and smell like a hog. This has been associated with the business of their lives.

Mr. Robinson has a bottle of crude oil which he has analyzed. It is not proved to be pure, but by the way it burns. Experienced oil men believe there is plenty of oil beneath an acre of ground. To locate it will be the undertaking.

Studebaker

The Light-Six

Now $975

So far this year Studebaker has built and sold more cars than during the entire year of 1921. And 1921, in spite of a general business depression, was the biggest year in Studebaker's 70-year history.

This steady volume of business, plus the savings resulting from Studebaker's methods of complete manufacture, reduces manufacturing and selling costs. And it is a Studebaker policy of long standing to share these savings with the customer. Hence, the new low prices.

That's why you can buy a Studebaker Light-Six today at its new low price of $975—the lowest price for which it has ever sold and the lowest at which a car of such quality was ever offered.

Only the price is reduced. Quality is better than ever.

Stop in and see the Light-Six. Let us demonstrate its easy handling, its lack of vibration, its great comfort. Let us prove its endurance. Then drive it yourself.

 In the Bryan-Hitchcock coalition, for convenience, we wonder if the country has, among other things, accepted W. J.'s position on evolution.

A farmer, largely engaged in the live stock business, said he had seen American farms had, in his opinion, prevented a serious financial panic during the past few years. He feels discouraged over the demand for all kinds of live stock, but he believes his production takes the lead as a means of paying off obligations and keeping money in circulation.

The self-injury inflicted by harboring hatred for others was emphasized in "Smiling Through" presented at the local movie house two nights this week. A good deal of the suffering comes from within. Hatred hurts its creator worse than its object. The one who is hated may not know it. Often, after one has gone to the trouble of hating another, he finds his victim entirely ignorant of what is going on, and therefore he is not in the least affected. The only result is self-punishment. Even though one suffers a serious injustice, he should not eternally torture himself by feeding the fires of hatred. He should forget it.

Everybody has heard about "carrying the message to Garcia." It was an impressive lesson in service that has been preached from time to time since it took place twenty-four years ago. Maj. Andrew Rowan, now retired from the U. S. A., and living in San Francisco, is the man who carried the message to Garcia, and he has just been decorated with a distinguished service cross. When Maj. Rowan was told by President McKinley to carry a message to Garcia, chief of the insurgent troops in Cuba, the American officer did not ask for any instructions. He did not want to know how it could be done, nor suggest that it could not be accomplished. He figured it out for himself, delivered the message and returned with the information sought. So many people try to find out how not to do a thing rather than how to do it that carrying the message to Garcia was heralded as a refreshing example of duty well-performed without question or hesitation.

from Detroit happened to go to the same school. The two children pursued studies in the same grade. The little girl took the lead in her class. The little boy struggled at the tail-end. The girl was bright and resolute in training at a five, up-to-date school. The boy did not show that his Detroit schooling had made a very deep impression of him. The teacher who had made a record of the schools from which the children had come, decided she had made a mistake. She thought the little girl must have come from the big school of Detroit, while the little boy must have come from the modest little town of Wayne. The teacher investigated and found that her original record was correct. To her amazement, the boy had come from Detroit; the girl from Wayne. The teacher did not know what many people know, that the keenest brains are developed in rural communities and that the school of a town like Wayne may contribute more to the education of a child than the more elaborate and pretentious system of a great city.

It would be refreshing to the voting masses if those who make political a life were walled off in narrow partisanship. They seem to try to create the impression that one of an opposing party, rendering public service, is a mere self-seeker, with no consideration for the popular welfare. They would make it appear that the holder of a public office is entirely devoid of conscience and is working politics only for what he can get out of it. This is seldom true in any party. Good intentions and creditable service, which are often conceded in private, are disclaimed in public. It is the rule, as we believe, for a man to give his very best service in discharging public duty, and the stupid effect of designing politicians to ignore the fact and build up a tissue of camouflage makes people suspicious. Politicians should eliminate a liberal share of pretense. They could not cut it all out immediately, for the fall to a sound basis would be too great. But they could make long headway in that direction to the supreme relief of the voting and governing masses.

FASHIONS For Fall
At Ahern's

DURING the past week four of our buyers were in the Chicago wholesale and retail districts. We first made a tour of the best city retail stores to see what styles they were showing for Fall.

We then sought through the wholesale houses and factories until we found these same up-to-date goods for our own store.

You can depend on finding here the correct and latest styles in the things you will want for Fall. Already many of our purchases have arrived and are ready for sale.

The hundreds of Coats, Suits and Dresses which we have bought for our special sales in other towns are now being received at our store. In a short time we begin sending these garments out to sixty other towns where we hold special coat, suit and dress sales.

We would like to have you see them before they go and choose your dress, suit or coat from this assortment which is so many times greater and finer than we could handle in a regular way.

We have made preparation for an exceptional dress demand this fall so you will find a wonderful assortment of dresses here if you come now. Crepes, Satins, Poiré Twills, Serges and Fritonines are here at any price you have in mind to pay from $15.00 to $65.00. Handling dresses in this way enables us to make a lower price as well as have a far greater stock for you. Come this week or next.

Footwear of the Latest Style

Style in Ladies' Footwear has come to be an all important thing. To have the correct styles mean so much to us that we take great care to find out just what is going to be popular before we buy.

We observed the styles that are selling best in the city stores, and we have bought them for our own store. They are here for you now.

For dress wear patents are good—suedes are good—struts are good—combinations of satin brocade with patent and colored ocre trimming with patent are also good.

For street and general wear, brown and black oxfords are most popular again, but a little change in heel heights—new ideas in stitching and trimming and new lasts give them a different appearance from last season's styles. There is a tendency to higher heels on dress slippers.

We will be pleased to show you the many new things we have bought and would like to fit you now while the size assortment is most complete.

Here is the Most for Your Money in School Shoes and Stockings

The shoe and stocking bill of the average family is quite an item in a year's time.

Let us outfit your children this fall and show you what we can do to help you keep the expense down. We have one line of children's shoes and one line of stockings that we have sold for years with ever increasing success. They are the best we have been able to find and we have tried out a great many.

They really wear—they are good looking—the price is moderate. We guarantee you will get your money's worth when you buy them; You have every thing to gain by trying them. The styles for Fall are now ready.

How to Buy Good Clothes

You buy a car on the strength of its reputation—your confidence in the maker and in the man who sells it. Buy your clothes the same way.

"Oh, buddy! Look what Mother went and put into the lunch basket—a whole afternoon's big doses of Kellogg's Corn Flakes! Buddy, I believe I can eat just about twice as much as you do—my, how I love Kellogg's!"

Time to stop eating heavy food!

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

wonderful for the whole family

Nature rebels against heavy foods in warm weather. Much illness in summer is caused by overtaxing the stomach. Change your diet—and keep yourself pleased and amused!

Kellogg's Corn Flakes with cold milk and fresh fruit are wonderful for the hot days—for breakfast, for lunch, for supper or for snacks? Eat generously of Kellogg's because they digest without taxing the stomach and supply all the nourishment the body needs.

For children, for the workers and for the aged there is no more delicious, sustaining food than Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Realize what they mean to health!

Insist upon Kellogg's Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN packages bearing the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Corn Flakes. None are genuine without it!

Boys and Girls' Club Work. Daily Droppers. Local Stockman. In 1921 the boys and girls enrolled in club work in the United States produced over $7,000,000 worth of products, as well as the club work completed with the cost of leadership being $4,500,000.

From a national standpoint the sound business basis upon which club work is operating, coupled with the great good it is accomplishing, portends a speedy permanent growth everywhere. These figures show the magnitude of the club work and the opportunities that still remain.

As conclusive evidence that the club exhibits which are put on at various fairs, as well as the club devoirs, are fully appreciated by organizations and by business men generally, it may be stated that nearly three-quarters of a million dollars' prize money is being offered to boys and girls in club work this year. This amount is exclusive of the Smith-Lever funds approved and authorized by congress.

This large amount of money is controlled by fair associations, manufacturers, bankers and bankers' associations, packers, chambers of commerce, farm bureaus, land companies, publishers, boys' and girls' clubs, granges, stock yards, companies, county commissioners, school boards, seed firms, railroads, retail stores and many other organizations.

Five stock exchanges, directors of extension, individuals and by the junior clubs themselves. The diversification of the source of the prizes offered is almost as astonishing as the amount which is offered. And yet, it is not to be wondered at, since boys' and girls' club work is generally coming to be recognized as the movement which is doing more than any one thing to further our agricultural progress.

Among the heaviest contributors are the fair associations which gave exclusive of the county fairs, some $300,000. This itself proves that boys' and girls' club work is a paying thing and that the public at large is interested for the reason that these fair associations are organized on a paying basis and offer to the people what they want to see when they go to an exposition.

The breed associations are second in their generosity, 35 more aptly in their sound business sense. Three of the large pure bred cattle associations are offering $150,000 each, and the sheep associations are giving in accordance with their size and ability. There is scarcely a live stock or breed association in the whole country, whether it be county, state or national, which does not devote a goodly portion of its funds to this kind of work which will do for the organization. The offerings at the state and interstate fairs and the national expositions from this source total $18,000.

The money offered in this work is not a contribution for charity, rather it may be thought of as a straight business proposition which is netting its participants good returns. Take for example the case of a retailer who provides for a certain number of his customers. Immediately he is blessed with the good will of the boys and girls and their parents. He naturally increases the number of his customers. The corn-cult progress and at least a junior corn show is held and the records of the boys are made public. It is the usual thing for the youngsters to produce yields higher than the average in the community. Adult farmers sharpen up their pencils and begin to figure what they might gain if they had the same good seed.

Because of the ready acceptance from the boys of the same kind of seed from reliable sources, they get to learn the best methods of culture, more time and attention to it. Many of them are working towards the goal of a county club leader in every county.

which comes to the farmer is passed down to the retailer, the wholesaler, the manufacturer and the banker in turn.

The above accounts for the keen interest and the giving of prize money for boys' and girls' club work. Wonderful support is given to local county contests. T. A. Erickson, state club leader of Minnesota, estimates that the average appropriation of the eighty county fairs in that state is $250, a total of $28,000. In New York state the premiums, prizes and incidentals provided by town and county fairs, banks, garages, schools and committees total $15,000. In Texas the total expenditure for the work this year runs over $20,000. F. C. Taft, assistant director of extension of Iowa reports that $20,000 is his estimate of the county prizes offered this year. The counties of Oregon put up with their county agents $250,000 each. Because of the ready acceptance from the boys of the same kind of seed from reliable sources, they get to learn the best methods of culture, more time and attention to it. Many of them are working towards the goal of a county club leader in every county.

Wooltex Knockabouts

You Should See These Coats

They are tailored exactly like men's coats. They are big, warm and snug. The soft, fleecy, winter weight fabrics (in solid colors and tweeds) certainly keep the cold out where it belongs.

The above coat is of fancy tweed material in a grey mixture; the very boyishness of this coat defines the slender girl for whom it was especially designed. The padding of the coat is a modified Kenton style—a wide box pleat in the center back, and stitched single pleats on the shoulder; a snug stand-up collar; graceful kimono sleeves and a narrow buckled belt are combined to make this coat irresistible.

Lovely enough for all occasions these manish coats have a long life of every day service.

Wooltex fabrics are all-wool—the choicest materials obtainable from American and foreign mills. Before these materials are manufactured into Wooltex garments they are carefully shrunk.

The linings, buttons, trimmings, braids and threads used in Wooltex garments are carefully selected so that they harmonize with the fabrics.

And you'll enjoy the choosing of your coats this season; the styles are so varied and interesting and we know our prices are interesting.

Resolution. The directors of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, speaking in behalf of the men and women of the Bell system on August 16, passed the following resolution in recognition of the death of the late Alexander Graham Bell by the hundreds of thousands of telephone workers of the world.

"It is the death of Alexander Graham Bell, the civilized world mourns for a man who thought fearlessly, worked tirelessly and served generously to relieve the unfortunate and to benefit humanity.

"He was the inventor of the telephone because his thoughts advanced into new and unexplored fields of science, because his enthusiasm for discovery was sufficient to overcome all difficulties, because his practical mind demanded a consummation of his theories in practical results, and because he was inspired to contribute greatly to the common good.

"As an investigator he was intelligent beyond the genius of his age. In the invention of the telephone he founded the art of transmitting speech electrically, a new and invaluable contribution to the humanizing of mankind.

"He was of the few in history who labored to see the child of his brain developed into a world-wide service. This was the only reward he sought and this reward was fully his.

"Whereas this company was founded upon and is devoted to the development of his invention for the service of humanity, it seems proper that we, the directors of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, for ourselves and in behalf of the men and women of the Bell system, should spread upon our records our recognition of the debt owed to Alexander Graham Bell by the hundreds of thousands of telephone workers of the world for the opportunity for service which his invention made possible."

Hoskins Man Tops Market. Daily Drivers Journal-Stockman, W. F. Langenberg of Hoskins, put a top of $10.50 on today's cattle market with a seven-year string of choice steers. The 141 head that brought the price averaged 1,157 pounds.

From Hoskins" Mr. Langenberg said, about half of these cattle were brought here last fall at a cost of $6.30, and the rest came from the west. They were all started on feed in January, and have been in the dry lot on full feed since March.

"There are still just a few scattering bunches of cattle left to come from Hoskins." Mr. Langenberg said "So far this summer no feeders have been put in there, it being a little earlier than stockmen in that section usually do their buying, but I believe that feeding will be as heavy as ever there next winter. Corn gives every promise of making just as big a yield as it did a year ago."

Former Bankers Seek Pardon. Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 27. Two former bankers now serving terms in the state penitentiary have applied to the state board of pardons and paroles for freedom. They are J. L. Barge, former cashier of the Farmers State Bank at Hoskins, convicted of embezzlement, and Charles Malxner, of Lincoln, officer of a bank at Cozette, convicted of robbery.

Friends of the two men have petitioned the board for some sort of clemency, but the district judges before whom they were tried have refused to endorse recommendations for their release.

Suicide Due to Death of Pet Dog. Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 28.—His one romance suddenly shattered many years ago, his faith in humanity then and with the years receding, and his comradeship with his pet dog, Frank, of Hoskins, was increasing. Harry Howell, 51, and single, committed suicide by shooting following the death, a few weeks ago, of "Frank."

Howe has been city mail carrier for many years. His father was once city postmaster and head of the Masons. But the mother died, the family drifted apart and Howell lived alone. The remains were so badly decomposed when the body was found that the funeral, the Rev. Mr. Zolner, of Episcopal church officiating, was held at once.

Noted Duroc Jersey Dies. Concord, Neb., Aug. 28.—High Sensation, the noted Duroc Jersey herd boar owned by John Erwin, one of the most progressive Duroc breeders in this state, died at 4:30 Saturday afternoon, August 19.

High Sensation was not only a remarkable boar, but was regarded as one of the very best sires in the country. Sired by this great boar jumped into prominence when the breeders saw that they were developing into the most ideal type of Durocs. Now that High Sensation is dead his get should command premium prices, and those who were able to buy a sow bred to this boar or imported to be fortunate enough to have a boar pig sired by High Sensation are to be congratulated, for it will not be long until none of his get will be available.

Man Dropped Dead at Ball Game in Pilger

Pilger, Neb., Aug. 28.—William Reinhard, about 50 years old, dropped dead at the ball grounds here Sunday afternoon during the third inning of a game with the Florence Merchants. He apparently was prostrated by the heat.

The crowd around him saw him topple over and thought that he had fallen, as he had done several times at previous ball games. They dashed cold water in his face, but when he failed to regain consciousness a physician was called and Mr. Reinhard was found to be dead. His body was taken to his home here and the authorities at Stanton notified.

His relatives are few and no one in Pilger knows their whereabouts. Unless word is received from relatives he will be buried in the Pilger cemetery within the next few days. Reinhard came to Pilger about five years ago and ran a drug business for about two years.

He left a little money and a team of horses.

Man Dropped Dead at Ball Game in Pilger

Pilger, Neb., Aug. 28.—William Reinhard, about 50 years old, dropped dead at the ball grounds here Sunday afternoon during the third inning of a game with the Florence Merchants. He apparently was prostrated by the heat.

The crowd around him saw him topple over and thought that he had fallen, as he had done several times at previous ball games. They dashed cold water in his face, but when he failed to regain consciousness a physician was called and Mr. Reinhard was found to be dead. His body was taken to his home here and the authorities at Stanton notified.

His relatives are few and no one in Pilger knows their whereabouts. Unless word is received from relatives he will be buried in the Pilger cemetery within the next few days. Reinhard came to Pilger about five years ago and ran a drug business for about two years.

He left a little money and a team of horses.

Kansas City Times: There are always two ways of regarding public questions—the real way, and the political way. There will be address of both in the congressional committee on President Harding's address to congress. That is, hopeful people think there will be.

The Wayne Hospital

Desires to be of service to the children of the home community that they may not have to endure the lonesomeness of a strange atmosphere. When a child patient knows that home is just a short distance away and that at any time he may expect a visit from father or mother, sister or brother, or from a playmate, he is in that pleasant state of satisfaction which is conducive to speedy convalescence. It is advisable to bring a child to the home hospital for medical or surgical service.

Progress Made in Paving. Laying of the concrete base for the pavement is progressing at a good rate considering the unavoidable slowness of arrival of cement. The base will all be laid in a short time, but the bricks cannot be secured to finish the concrete. The factory meeting there was organized to retartul production due to the shortage of fuel. The concrete base will be used as it is until bricks in arrive and it is thought the work can be completed this fall, though not as early as was anticipated this spring.

A Triumph for Value

IN the past two months Firestone has built and marketed more tires than in any similar period in its history.

This steadily increasing public preference is proof of the recognition by car owners of the greater value offered by Firestone. It is a tribute to Firestone men—all stockholders in the company—all actuated by the operating principle of Most Miles per Dollar.

The high average performance of Firestone Cords is without equal in the annals of tire making and is reflected by the general tendency to specify Firestone for hard service. Taxicab and bus lines, buying tires by the mile, are universally equipping with Firestone Cords.

There are many reasons for the high quality of Firestone tires—but chief among the special manufacturing processes are double gum-dipping, thus eliminating internal friction by insulating each cord strand, and air-bag cure, insuring a well-balanced and perfectly shaped product.

Don't speculate in tires—you will find the right combination of price and quality in Firestone. Come in and let us tell you about the service these Cords are giving other car-owners whom you know.
