It doesn't seem to me that they are receiving exorbitant wage. But my neighbor has no children. To him school is just a building that costs too much in the first place, is costing him, not stable for the market, but doesn't give back a profit to the town.

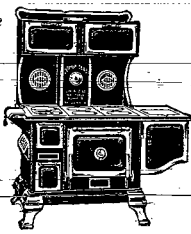

I believe my neighbor is wrong. My children have a monetary value to the town. For their needs my earnings are spent. I buy from him such things that he has to sell, there by adding to his riches. I do not raise pigs for profit, but more for the market, but raw material for the nation of tomorrow. They are not mine alone. They belong to my neighbor as well as to his interest as well as mine that they become fit and useful citizens. As they are trained, as they are educated, they will develop. My neighbor has a part in that development. My neighbor has no more right to spread propaganda for cheap schools, a niggardly system, that will dwarf the future of my children, than I have to throw trash in his front yard.

Has your Range Started to Rust Out

If It Has, Guard Against Rust in the Future By Buying a Copper-Clad.

Moisture is the great enemy of iron and steel. Unless protected from dampness, any kind of sheet-iron and every kind of steel will rust.

Range bodies—with one exception—rust out from the inside because the "sweaty" asbestos lining is laid flat against the outer wall. With one exception, the walls of all ranges are of three-ply construction. They have an inner wall, a layer of asbestos, then the outer wall.

Every time a fire is built in the range, the asbestos sweats and the moisture is forced against the outer wall. It is only a matter of a few years before the wall is rusted through. Then the range must be scrapped.

In the Copper-Clad range the outside wall is protected by pure sheet copper. This copper is placed between all asbestos and the range cannot rust. When the moisture sweats in a Copper-Clad the moisture gathers on the Copper—and copper cannot rust. The Copper-Clad will never rust out. Come in. We will show you that asbestos sweats.

The One Exception Is the Copper-Clad

Editorial That Won First Place in the Omaha Bee's state-wide contest for signatures.

My Children's Worth by Mrs. Charles L. Kelly, Nebraska City. My neighbor has prospered. His home is the last word in modern architecture and equipment. It is his hobby. He loves every board and block and nail in it. He surrounds it with grassy plots and shrubs and flowers and trees, and looks at it according to his sense of artistic grace and beauty. Not only is his home a source of pride and satisfaction to my neighbor, but by its beauty and grace and general attractiveness it sheds distinction and adds to the value of property round about it.

Now, my home is a modest affair. It needs paint and the roof does not cover it as well as the mortgage. What the mortgage has a great show shows bare patches like the exposed portions of a little boy's trousers. And, instead of graceful, flowering vines, my house is covered by little rose ramblers who clamber about, scolding off the paint and leaving mending streaks in their wake. There are five of them, and they do hard work, sacrifice and care they mean to me is as nothing compared to the pride I have in their clear, eyes, clean minds and sturdy bodies. To the hope I hold in their future the present struggle to keep them clothed, housed and fed is a small affair. They represent my family estate. To them I hope to leave an inheritance of character and courage. And to the world I shall bequeath not large sums for charity, schools or hospitals, but a family of men and women equipped to take up the problems of life.

But when my neighbors begin to talk about taxes, and have me feeling that, according to his way of looking at it, I should have drowned these dimpled babies before their eyes were open. He has it figured out to a penny how much it is costing him to educate one of my children. Now I am paying taxes too, but for nine months of the year my children are under the supervision of trained teachers, men and women of unquestioned character and high ideals.

Modern Home For Sale

On account of the death of my wife, I have decided to offer my residence—better known as the Wm. Rennick home—for sale for a short time, and I have priced it much lower than it is worth—low enough to sell without delay.

People who know this residence need no explanation as to its elegance and completeness. To those who don't know, I would say it is located in one of the best residence districts of the city and is considered one of the most modern, convenient and attractive residences in northeast Nebraska.

It is five blocks from the State Normal school and seven blocks from the high school. It has everything the ingenuity of a home builder could suggest.

I would like to show it to any one wanting a fine home, priced far less than it could be built for.

UNCLE WALT
The Poet Philosopher.

The Fatal Crossing.

The fatal railway crossing! Grim death still functions a threat, with locomotives tossing their victims in the air, in vain the signboards glimmer with warnings, while the high, for men won't look and listen, and consequently die. Each day we are reminded of people killed by the cars and engines, with hands picked up the strewn remains. Along the highway's edges, and from the ramps and stones, and from the trees and hedges, they pick the carbonates. It ought to be a warning, aid yet, alas, alack! The prudent signboards scolding, we cross the railway tracks, and now an engine bus comes whooping up the rails, and his car priceless Lizzie, and through the air it sails. A sparkling and a piston is all that's left of Lizzie, we'll not look or listen as merely we whiz. The coroner is keeping his tab on our remains; our stricken aunts are weeping and cursing railway trains. Some gent will read these verses. I have no doubt, today; and, thinking not of hearts, he'll scout along his way; he'll strike a gulf that's dizzy, that's neither safe nor sane, and presently his Lizzie will hit a railway train. We'll gather up the pieces, and as we roll we'll wail, "The death list still increases! No warnings will avail."

The Downfall.

For many years Tobias Tarr looked like a plutocrat; he drove a large and costly car, and wore a stovepipe hat. As he was married to his niece, I felt impelled to say, "This money business is a racket. You can't get anything for nothing. The coin you earn from week to week is all you have in view, and you let the bill collectors seek to spring accounts long due. Oh, prices rise, this rede of mine, for I am old and sane, and put some doubtless down in brine, against the day of rain. And falling this some day you'll come a humbler, begging right, to ask me a goodly sum, that you may pay your rent." His laughter rambled through his beard, with merriment he roared, and bathose fruit that day appeared upon his grooming board. There came a strike, and weary men lined up in all of us not yet nearly one or twelve or ten had money in the banks. Tobias in a week was broke, and started pawning things; oh, it was so to see him, and his car and wedding rings. His shirts of silk, that cost eight bucks, brought fifty cents a throw; his phonograph, of the same value, sold for ten dollars. Tobias strutted around no more, he is a shrunken man; and now and then he seeks my door, to borrow what he can. Some quarters in his account, but, as he remarks, "Oh, chee, if ever I get back to work, the precious plunks won't flee!"

Gems of Song.

To Jerome the blind-meat I repeat to have him about my old blind mare since she is going lame; and when his useful toil is done, and I'm handling out the man, he says, "I'm glad you came! I have an ode I wrote last year; I wish you'd read it while you're here, and tell me what you think; is it a grand and soaring ode, or is it too short?" The tinsmith, ere he mends my boat, pulls out a handle from his wood-hole of manuscript: "Set down," he says, "and read this lay, while I repair your ancient dray, that is so badly hipped." The tailor, as he piles his notes, remarks, "I wish I could escape from this depressing trade; the odes and madrigals I write would be acknowledged out of sight, if by good critics weighed." The butcher, as he dices my board, quotes passages from poems well-known, that he composed some time, with all my being, I aspire, he sadly says, "To punch a lyre, but the lyre is too mournful." The waiter brings me champagne and eggs, and I wate he mildly here five minutes of my time; he'd have me read a little of the love he wrote to the cook, and which he thinks sublime. Oh, poets sell me oil and gas, and poets know my stretch of grass, and poets shine me shoes, and each one thinks his noble dope would rank with that of Burns or Pope; if he but had his dues.

Wanting a Job.

"I want employment," said a skate, attired in seedy garments, who met me at my garden gate, where I was trapping varmints. "All right," I said, "you're strictly on; I need assistance daily; so wash the steps and mow the lawn, and play on the sack saw gayly. I'm tired of toiling here alone, so labor like a winner, and I'll give you a silver hound, and fill you up with dinner." "I do not like the wage you name," explained the weary Willie; "when up against a tightwad's game, my exanlike feet grow chilly. It's worth two bucks to mow the lawn, and two to saw the cedar; one plunk for all that waste of hours. I'll read me, gentle reader." And every day they come in droves, to earn an honest dollar; but when I'd have them polish shoes or make a wooden snaffle, they don't do a cent's worth of my work. Modestly I state them, they do not like my lordly way, my whickers aggravate them. I'm waiting, waiting for the gent who means it when imploring a chance to earn an honest cent by useful, helpful choring. I'm watching, waiting for the lad whose griefs have made him humble, who gives full value for a scold, and that without a grumble.

Permit.

A salesman journeyed to my door, he hoped to sell a choo-choo cart;

he came until he was a bore, he talked until he broke my heart. I said, "If an motor-car you'd buy, I built this shack, and an just getting out of debt—I haven't got the needed cash. But if you'll cease to chase me round, nor dog my footsteps near and far, some morning fair I will be found in mood to buy a motor car." "I'd rather sell an auto now," I heard the bes-same man rant; "why don't you mortgage yonder cow, or borrow money from your aunt?" Oh, nothing could his ardent douse, at every turn he'd appear; I often hid beneath the house when I beheld him drawing near. At last arrived the golden morn for which I long had saved and stretched, "said man," I said, "I'll buy a horn that has a motor car attached." "I had a package in my belt, and in my hat I had a roll, and as I went toward the lot for autos in my goal. And did I seek that anxious gent who talked until his throat was sore? Ah, no, I dodged his advance, for he'd never been before. I always shun those busy guys who hand me yards of smoking breath; I do not think that scolden wise who talk their customers to death."

The Old Way.

My Aunt Samantha's making pickle, each day she puts up more and more; and this will save me many nickels when I go shopping at the store. "It may be I shall miss a party, a tea fight or a dance, what game?" says aunt, "but while I'm well and hearty I'll put up pickles just the same. And you might try it around here, with your tomatoes from the overgrown vine; for I will put up jars of lettuce here, live taken in my sign. And there are about the garden, and onions, good for medicinal purposes, that they should waste and be decayed." My neighbors call up Jones the grocer for everything they wish to eat; but Aunt Samantha thunders, "No, sir!" when I suggest a canned goods treat. "It would be sin beyond all pardon," she says, "to buy things at the store, when there are turns in the garden, and pumpkins by the kitchen door." And to the cellar she is packing all sorts of bottles, jars and jugs, while through the garden I go tracking for greens that have escaped the bugs. Her friends are frolicking and fooling, they're hobnobbing in the deep blue sea, their dark green hosierys they're treading at country clubs they're drinking tea. My aunt looks smiling from the cement on the piazza, under and sedan; she does not care for her effacement while there's a cucumber to eat.

Overcome by Heat While Playing.

St. Louis, Neb., Sept. 8.—Final play in the tennis tourney held here Monday and Tuesday has been delayed by the illness of Vic Henry of Laurel, who is matched against Arthur Stageman of this place in the single championship sets, and who is partner with Howard of Laurel in the double championship semi-finals, playing Browne and Gillespie of this place. Arthur Stageman and Harry Townsend will meet the winners of this match in the double finals, having won all games in their section. Henry was taken sick while playing Tuesday afternoon, probably affected by the heat. The score at the time of his illness gave Stageman one set on the single match and Browne and Gillespie and Howard and Henry each one set in the double semi-finals. Play will be completed upon Henry's recovery.

If people choked to death when they repeated things that are not true, there would be an appalling number of fatalities.

Frank Harrison, long conspicuous in Nebraska politics, has moved to California where he will establish a home. We will guarantee that California will soon know he is there.

We notice the city council has granted permission to a citizen to "enter a manhole." We don't know the purpose of the authorized excursion, nor are we sure the manhole will be anxious to know that he comes back all right.

Dr. A. L. Bixby of the Lincoln Journal sees signs of returning normalcy in the fact that a motorist, stranded in the mud, was charged only two bits for being pulled out. The Journal's post also remarked that the angels in heaven sang a new song.

Reports from the Maine election are interpreted favorably by both republicans and democrats. Each party is able to extract ground for comfort and hope. Each is therefore satisfied. We like such happy optimism—it is better than sobbing melancholy.

What's the matter with the world? A struggle to satisfy extravagant desires at the expense of the other fellow is better for being blind than for seeing that too many things are needed for health and comfort; too many things to render the least possible service for the greatest possible gain.

A young woman, the daughter of a railroad shopman, writes the Omaha Bee in effect that if railroads are not good enough to be loyal to, they are not good enough to work for. It is reported that an engineer who had to be hauled in on this line recently, caused an employe to express high satisfaction over such an opportunity of the strike. Indifference to property and to public service does much to alienate public sympathy.

The rigors of the middle-west climate are sometimes unpleasant, but

Men Who Will Run Grain Growers, Inc.

The complete reorganization of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc. has been made. E. H. Cunningham of Cresco, Neb., secretary of the Iowa Farm Bureau, was elected president of the Board of Directors and chairman of the Executive Committee. The Board of St. Paul, president of Minnesota Farm Bureau, and R. A. Jones of Bloomington, Ill. are the other members of the executive committee.

They have been large and important contributors to the citizenship developed here. They put steel into people's blood, courage into their souls, food upon their lips and strength into their hearts for kindly helpful sympathies. In the middle-west will be found the sturdiest and the best type of men and women, and the often criticized climate is the main cause.

A citizen who returned from a vacation recently, says he never learned how to play until this summer. Formerly he had taken his recreation with him in the field of leisure and recreation, and as a result he did not realize much benefit. This summer he tore loose from all cares and responsibilities and gave himself over unreservedly to recreation and play. He came out of the experience refreshed and strengthened by his accustomed task.

Chas. H. Randall, candidate for governor, says he believes in the budget system because it applies business methods to state affairs. It is not in favor of going back to the old haphazard system of having the legislators appropriate money without any knowledge as to the purpose for which it is used. He says he is convinced that the budget system has already saved the taxpayers of the state over $2,000,000. He is in favor of amending the law as experience suggests, but he is not in favor of abolishing it.

It is hoped the railroads and their employees will soon be able to get together in a settlement of their differences and thus bend their energies toward a restoration of old-time railroad efficiency. The conflicting forces are the transportation industry and employment and retarding the country's prosperity. If they can't agree, let the government take over the whole thing. The wages and transportation rates at a level that will not be considered a snafu, and run the railroads in the interest of the public until agreement has been reached and the industrial storm has passed.

WORTHY PASTOR UNFROCKED.

The Methodist conference at Omaha has resisted liberal interpretation of the bible by voting to unfrock one of its members, Rev. J. D. M. Bunker. Fifteen years pastor of the Aurora church. The action grew out of a recent sermon which a committee of the conference believed unorthodox. Rev. Bunker asks for a hearing, and members of his church are up in arms against his dismissal. Those who know the pastor distinguish between his preaching and his defense. He had one nothing worse than vary from the old-time conception of the church.

Thus we have strict adherence to orthodox belief, while society looms in amazement and pearl-necklace parades are a barrier to understanding and acceptance of important and practical spiritual truths. The church should be less interested in scriptures so much as it does application of Christian principles to daily thought and conduct. It is not so essential to believe in a whole swarted Jonah as to believe and practice the Golden Rule.

PASSING OF CLARK PERKINS.

The death of Clark Perkins, editor of the Daily Express at Beatrice, will be a source of much regret. He was a native of Nebraska, born in 1875 on a farm west of Grand Island. He started to learn the printer's trade at the age of 15. He purchased the St. Paul Republican when he was 17. During the Sheldon administration in 1904, he was secretary of the republican state central committee. Mr. Perkins was made secretary of the state railway commission. In 1907 he sold the St. Paul Republican, and in 1912 bought the Aurora Republican. He was president of the Nebraska Press association for two years. Three years ago he moved to Beatrice where he had bought a controlling interest in the Daily Express. Clark Perkins drove across the state to Wayne a number of years ago to attend a meeting of newspaper men held here and was one of the speakers at a social function given in honor of the editorial guests. He was remembered by many here. The lack of money for the Daily Express prospered institution in accordance with high ambition drove heavily on Mr. Perkins' nerve force. But through his energy and resolution, large improvement was made in the newspaper.

Perkins was a man of fine character, and newspaper men of the state will remember him with esteem. A Grader is Implicated. Omaha Bee, Sept. 13: Although William Cline, grader, is held innocent of the death of Cyclopedia Miller, but lunching on a dark night on the West Dodge road, by a coroner's jury yesterday, testimony at the inquest indicated that the fatal shot may have been fired by some other person yet unarrested. By George Meetin, who says she was Miller's betrothed, testified that she heard Cline say to Miller after the first two shots, "You won't let them kill me will you?" and Miller replied, "No, dad, I won't let them shoot you."

Miller was shot and died almost instantly. Cline was implicated. Funeral services for Miller will be held Thursday at the Grana mortuary, under the auspices of the Omaha Odd Fellows, and the body will be taken for burial to Clayton, N. M., the home of his two brothers, Everett and Perry, who were slain yesterday. His sister, Mrs. Ella Orr, also arrived yesterday from Pueblo, Colo.

Prairie Fires Burn Hay.

Newport, Neb., Sept. 13—A prairie fire, starting yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, burned a half mile east of Newport, burning over an area three miles long and one mile wide and destroyed many tons of hay. The blaze started close to the Northwestern railroad tracks and is believed to have been started by sparks from a passing locomotive. On account of a high wind and the dryness of the grass, the flames quickly spread northward.

Charles Turpin lost seven stacks of hay and a meadow that had not been cut was burned over on the Robert McKewen place. It is difficult to ascertain the exact loss, but it is believed that forty tons of hay were destroyed, including that which had not been harvested.

Cars and trucks took fire fighters to the scene of the blaze when the alarm was spread. It is planned to perfect an organization to protect property during the dry weather. Fire guards will be placed at several places if the plans are carried out.

Opening of Game Season.

Norfolk Daily News: A score of deputy game wardens are scattered over the sand hills to protect wild ducks and chickens before the season opens, according to State Game Warden George Koster, who was Monday with the state fish and game car.

The duck hunting season opens on Saturday, Sept. 16, and the chief game warden says that the season will be surrounded by duck hunters, who will find hunting good. The chicken season opens on Oct. 1, and hunters have spotted many coveys of chickens which will become targets as soon as the season opens. The game wardens are determined to hold back the anxious shooters until the season opens but many cases of law violation have been reported and for that reason he has employed additional deputies.

A Statesman Rewarded.

Syvacous Post-Standard: Hiram Johnson's appeal for support was simple and single. He asked for lemons, prunes and nuts the highest value of duty ever imposed. California declares its gratitude.

Paul Should Fear Well.

Chicago News: That high tariff is not robbing Peter to pay Paul—it is robbing all the other eleven apostles.

New Methodist Superintendent. Norfolk Daily News: The Rev. A. O. Hinson, who has been pastor of the Methodist church, has been reassigned to Norfolk, by the state convention, but the Rev. E. M. Furman, who has been district superintendent, goes to Fairbury and will be succeeded by the Rev. E. D. Hull. Mr. Hull comes here from Fremont, where he is said to have been one of the "most successful" pastors ever in charge of the First Methodist church of that place. He served there five years, and the congregation requested his return.

Punchettes

It may be trite to say that farming is the most necessary and one of the most honorable occupations in the world. The world will always be indebted to the farmer. Without him it would be impossible to progress in any line. The farmer has not always considered his position in the dignified way he should. In fact, it is only in recent years that he has begun to realize the scientific side of his work. Prior to that time he was really a trespasser on the soil he was a robber; an intruder. He scratched the soil, he mutilated it; he robbed it of its productive power. Any farmer who does not give back to the soil a proportionate part of that which he takes from it is an embezzler, not only of God's produce, but also of Nature's bounty.

THE FARMER'S BOY

The farmer did not have the right attitude toward his own son. He worked him because he was his son. That was unfair and dishonest. He should have considered his son as partner and shareholder in the labor, responsibilities, liabilities, assets and profits of the farm. He should have rendered an account to his son, paid him a just compensation, and given him an honest and equitable share in the profits of the farm. The farmer has not always made the farm attractive to his son. You can't keep a boy at home if you give him a pine knot fire by which to read when the world offers him electric lights, a library, and a reading lamp. The farmer must bring the pleasures, amusements, books, magazines, and attractive things into his home and upon his own farm if he expects to keep his boy and make a great agriculturist out of him. The parcel post, the rural mail delivery, the automobile, the paved highway, and other conveniences, are for the purpose of enabling the farmer to bring the attractions of the world into his own little country home; into his own desolated farmhouse; and to his own fireside. If he will seize the opportunity, fill his table with magazines, papers, and good books, bring in the music box, and the wireless radio and thus make his home attractive, bright, cheerful magnetic and fascinating, he will keep his boys and girls around him.

This is the day of the farm if the farmer will only realize it. This is the hour when the farm ought to be the most attractive spot in the country; this is the moment when the farmhouse ought to ring with music, and the barnyard ought to be the convention hall of agricultural and political activity. The farmer should make his own leader in this convention and teach him how to mould public opinion and direct legislation.

Let the farmer learn how to generate and lead his children and to keep them in the atmosphere of agricultural purity, peace and prosperity.

Homegrown Watermelons and Canteloupes

These items are fresh from Norfolk and Pierce fields and you will find the quality first class. Many are buying canteloupes by the dozen. The condition is fine and they will keep until used. Canteloupes, $1.00 per dozen; watermelons 3 cents per pound.

Homegrown Grapes

We are buying and selling grapes and business is quite active. If you have a surplus of grapes it's best to get them on the market before fruit gets too ripe. One rainy "spell" will spoil the marketable condition of your grapes. The present buying price is 4 cents per pound.

Last Call on Block Salt

We are selling block salt 15 cents below market owing to having stock on hand bought before recent advances. The factory "salt fight" is over and wholesale prices are back to prices prevailing last spring. You can extend yourself a good turn by purchasing your fall salt supply now.

Semi-Solid Buttermilk

Everyday in a sound, substantial way we receive worthy words of praise for Semi-Solid Buttermilk—from actual constant users. Today its name stands high as a reliable service which adds more profit to the hog and poultry industry. A shortage of milk means the need of Semi-Solid which creates healthy condition, shorter feeding period, more pounds of gain at a lesser cost. Semi-Solid mixed with grains will increase egg production 50 per cent.

So extra delicious With fresh fruits

No other food has such a appeal on a hot day as Kellogg's Corn Flakes. They are fresh appetizing, they satisfy hungry folks! As an extra-summer taste thrill, eat Kellogg's with the luscious fresh fruit now in season. Such a diet is not only restful from a health standpoint, but it is refreshing!

You can eat Kellogg's Corn Flakes liberally at any meal because they digest easily. Let the children have all they want.

Insist upon Kellogg's Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN packages that bear the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Corn Flakes. None are genuine without it!

Also makers of KELLOGG'S KRUMBLES and KELLOGG'S BRAN, cooked and crumbled.

We cannot only heal your unsound teeth, remove the cause of disease and render them efficient again, but we keep your good teeth sound. People who are wise will bestow as much attention toward keeping their teeth sound, as toward healing them when they are unsound.

One should visit a dentist every six months and have any decayed teeth removed, if not, remedied. It hurts less, costs less, and the teeth will be very much stronger, than if there were large fillings.

CONCORD NEWS

Mrs. A. J. Wallin is editor of this department. Any news columns to these columns from town or country will be gladly received by her. She is also authorized to receive news or general subscription.

September 14, 1922.
Mrs. D. A. Paul was in Sioux City Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Sherman motored to Wayne Monday afternoon. Mrs. Della Tompson and daughter Laura left Tuesday for St. Paul, Minn.

A. H. Maskell, county sheriff of Pottawatomie, was here Saturday.

Earl Hoogener, F. A. Wallin and Wynne Wallin motored to Sioux City Tuesday.

Mrs. Ruth Pearson left Sunday for Hartington where she will teach the coming year.

Carl Pearson left Thursday for Hallowell, Neb., where he will teach another year in high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Clark and daughter and Isaac Brannan of Plattsmouth, were here Saturday for the fair.

Cass Brannaman left Monday for Hartington where he will enter his horses in the races at Cedar county fair.

Mrs. A. J. Wallin, Marino, Inez and Wynne were business callers in Wayne and Whitefield Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hoogener arrived home Monday evening from a two weeks' visit at Newman Grove and other points.

Mr. Anna Ericson and son, Harry, of Omaha, visited the past week at the Christ and Fred Peterson homes and other relatives.

Prof. Earl Barker and family of Bassett, Neb., arrived here Monday and moved into the C. E. Lisle home. Prof. Barker is the principal at Concord school.

Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Nelson returned Friday from a week's visit at Salina, Kas. They took Mrs. Nelson's sister, Mrs. Olson, home after a month's visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Coleson and Berice, Mrs. Raleigh Coleson and Mrs. Anna Ericson, of Plattsmouth, and San Larson of Wauson were Sunday dinner guest at the G. O. Johnson home.

Mrs. Earl Smith and daughter, Carol, returned home Monday after a week's visit in St. Paul, Minn., with the former's parents.

Miss Margaret Palmer of Foster, is back again to take up her duties as teacher in the intermediate room in the Concord school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Ames left Friday for Long Pine. From there Mrs. Ames goes on to Coyle, Wyo., where she will enter a position in a hardware store.

On Monday night, August 21, at Mr. and Mrs. Ivar H. Anderson, their two children and Paul Pearson were returning home about two miles south of Concord their car collided with a team and carriage whose occupants were Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Olson and their five children. Unfortunately the car lights had gone out about a half-mile north of the place where the accident took place.

Mrs. Anderson was seriously injured internally and Paul Pearson received several deep facial wounds. Mr. Anderson received several bruises, but none of a serious nature. Miraculously, the Anderson children, as well as the Olson family, escaped injury.

Card of Thanks.
We wish to extend our most sincere and heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for the beautiful floral offerings and the kindness shown us during the time of the death of our dear husband, father and brother, Mrs. A. J. Wallin, Marino and Inez Wallin, Mr. and Mrs. Wynne Wallin and Frank A. Wallin.

Andrew J. Wallin.
Andrew J. Wallin died at Immanuel hospital, Omaha, Sunday morning, August 27, 1922, being 56 years, 10 months and 6 days of age at his departure. Mr. Wallin was born in Askaryd, Jonkoping, Sweden, October 21, 1866. In 1887 he came to Hallowell, Minn., where he was united in holy marriage to Ida Sophia Anderson who survives him. To them were given three children. For seventeen years he worked in the John Deere Plow factory at Moline, Ill., and later to New Windsor, Ill., where he engaged in farming in the spring of 1912. The family came to Concord, Neb. He was a progressive farmer, and in 1915 he purchased a farm two miles southwest of Concord. In 1916, he was overtaken by the sickness which compelled him to quit farming and in 1919 he moved with his family to town. Everything was being done to restore health, but with no avail. Mr. Wallin was a good Christian husband and father true to his beloved Lutheran church at Moline and Swedona, Ill., and later at Concord, Neb. He leaves behind to mourn his departure, his beloved wife and three children, Wynne, Marino and Inez; one daughter-in-law, Mrs. Wynne Wallin; and, one grandchild; an aged mother, one brother and one sister, and brother-in-law of Moline, Ill.; one sister and brother-in-law of Chicago, Ill.; one brother, Frank August of Concord, Neb.; four sisters-in-law, and four brothers-in-law in Illinois and one brother-in-law in New York and many other relatives and a host of friends.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday, August 29, at 2 p. m. from the house and at 2:30 p. m. from the Concordia Lutheran church. Rev. P. Pearson, the pastor, conducted the services, assisted by Rev. U. Ronquist of St. Edward, Neb. The former spoke from Rom. 8:18; and the latter from Hebrews 4:10. Music and singing were furnished by May and Ruth Pearson and Mrs. Vernon Johnson.

Interment took place in Concord cemetery.

Out-of-town relatives and friends were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson of Viola, Ill.; Mrs. O. Anderson, Viola, Ill.; Rev. and Mrs. Ronquist of St. Edward, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. John Wangstrom and two daughters, Hallowell, Wauson and Mrs. Fred Tumberg of Creighton.

Disgraceful Tipping

Lincoln Journal: A prominent Londoner left his hotel after a stay at a fashionable British resort without tipping the servants. He remembered the oversight and mailed the largest, but meaningless, his wife received from the head waiter on the hotel's stationery a note saying among other things: "Your husband left without leaving gratuities for any of the staff, which is a most disgraceful thing, disgraceful in my standing. I feel it my duty to forward your name to my club and association so that every hotel in England will know your name and also the ungenerous way you treated the above hotel staff." The incident is a disgraceful thing, disgraceful in England of the lengths to which, as this illustrates, the practice of tipping has gone. But on the whole isn't it a healthy sign? The tip is a degrading gratuity. But when it is exacted as in this case, it becomes a payment for service received, not a charity but a right. This leaves the servant his full respect besides this system a fixed charge for a definite service rather than a gratuity for an indefinite service would soon develop. That would not be a tip with all its degrading implications; but a fair and even business transaction.

Is Lloyd George a Politician? Springfield, Mass., Republican: Lloyd George disposes of any possible suspicion of a mercenary motive by letting it be avowed that the profits made on his forthcoming book will be given to war charities. Political capital is another matter, and not transferable.

Dempsey's Dander Is Up. Washington Post: Things have changed for Jack Dempsey. The authorities have to keep him from fighting now.

Bridge Mater. Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the county clerk's office at Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska, for the furnishing of all necessary materials and labor for the erection and completion of the following slabs:

One concrete slab bridge 16 foot span; 20 foot roadway with hand rail, abutments and wings, located on state highway No. 17, nine (9) miles south of Wayne, Nebraska.

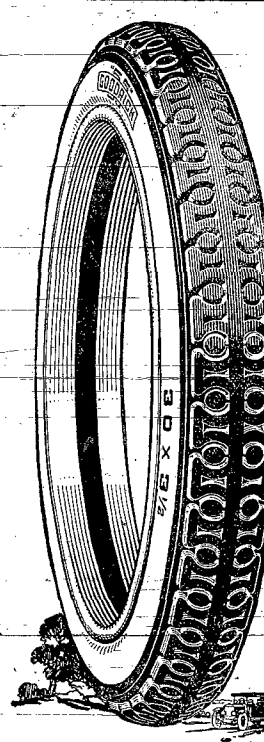

One concrete slab bridge 20 foot span; 20 foot roadway, with hand rail, abutments and wings, located on state highway No. 17, nine (9) miles south and 1 3/4 miles east of Wayne, Nebraska.

Both of said slab bridges to be built in accordance with plans and specifications furnished by the state engineer and known as the standard plans and adopted by the county board of Wayne county, Nebraska.

All slab bridges to be built within 10 days of the date of the award to construct the same and in case any slab bridge is to be constructed where an old bridge stands, contractor to tear down said old bridge and to remove and pile all old lumber in said bridge; this to mean also the removal of all the pile along with the timber in said bridge, and deposit the same safely near the side thereof; such lumber and piles to remain the property of the county.

Said bids to be filed with the county clerk of said Wayne county, Nebraska, on or before 12 o'clock noon of the 22nd day of September A. D. 1922.

Said bids for the erection of said concrete slab bridges will be opened at 12 o'clock noon of the 22nd day of September A. D. 1922, by the county clerk of said county in the presence of the county commissioners of said county at the office of county clerk of said county. No bids will be considered unless accompanied by cash or a certified check for $250.00, payable to Chas. W. Reynolds, county clerk of said county, to be forfeited to said county in case the bidder refuses to enter into construction with said county, if same is awarded to him. Also bids will be received for all of the above work at the same time and place and under all conditions as above set forth; the county to furnish all material delivered at nearest railroad station. The plans and specifications are adopted and also the bidding blanks will be found at the county clerk's office at Wayne, Neb. The board of county commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, this 22nd day of August A. D. 1922. Chas. W. Reynolds, County Clerk.

Studebaker

BIG-SIX TOURING $1650

THE dependability of the Studebaker Big-Six is due to correct design, the use of the best materials, money can buy and the highest standard of workmanship.

Studebaker stands in absolute control of the quality of the materials at all times, because Studebaker makes in its own plants such vital parts as motors, transmissions, axles, frames, bodies, tops, castings, forgings, stampings, etc. The parts-makers' profits on such items are, therefore, eliminated and only one manufacturing profit is included in Studebaker prices.

The Big-Six is distinctive in appearance with its handsome body and many refinements. It gives genuine comfort through its long semi-elliptic springs, restful 9-inch seat cushions, fine upholstery and shock absorbers. It is economical to buy and own, and enjoys a high resale value.

The new price of $1650 for the Big-Six Touring car is the lowest at which it has ever sold. Yet the quality is actually better than ever and this means a value that is duplicated nowhere else in the field of fine cars. You won't find greater satisfaction at any price.

The Big-Six Touring car provides ample room for seven. When not in use the auxiliary seats fold neatly out of sight—always ready for instant use when you need them.

The name Studebaker is our greatest asset and your best protection.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

DEVOS MOTOR CAR FINISH

Brush on the finish that takes off the years

On the road, the age of your car is a secret. It is judged by the look! Are you proud of it? Has it a dull, dingy appearance? Why not make it glow and glimmer again as though it never had a birthday? You can do the job yourself—and at a cost well within Devos Motor Car Finish.

This product is self-lubricating and "sets" so smooth that the car looks professionally finished. Exceedingly durable—rust-preventing—made in standard automobile colors.

Devos products are unexcelled and proven. As evidenced by the 168 years' experience of the oldest paint manufacturing concern in the U. S. Founded 1754.

A Real Home at a Sacrifice Price

In Wayne--a City of Beautiful Homes, Schools and Churches

This House Was Not Built to Sell--But Built for a Home--Finished in 1918--Up-to-Date, A No. 1 Construction Throughout

SO ideal is the location--so convenient the arrangement--so unusual all the details of finishing that I would not think of selling at any price, either to buy or to build, were we not leaving Wayne permanently.

LOCATED on a choice 75x83-foot lot on Douglas street, one-half block south of the high school, it has all of the advantages of a home farther out and yet is only a 3-minute walk from the business section.

Ideal Exposure to the East and South

DOWNSTAIRS

From an arched vestibule, fitted with built-in seat, you enter the 26-foot long room where neutral tinted walls lined beautifully with the quarter sawed oak floors and finishing. A built-in seat beneath the south windows flanked on either side by attractive bookcases, with louvered glass doors and side lights balance the attractive staircase at the north. At the east the sun parlor opens from the living room through a large French door.

The dining room, set off from the living room by colonnades, is paneled in oak and has a unique buffet and china cabinet with triple mirrors above the buffet.

The kitchen, with its large one-piece sink and Copper-Clad range, is a marvel in convenience and cheerfulness.

Other Extraordinary Features That take this Home from

- "Just-a-House" Class
- New 20x20 Double Garage, Cemented
- Wide Cement Driveway
- Spacious Sun Parlor on the East
- Large-Ceiled Sleeping Porch
- 300-barrel Cistern with Filter
- Full Cement Basement
- Hot Air Furnace, Used Two Years
- Electric Pump, Installed in 1921
- Attractive Built-In Furniture
- Large Attic, Mostly Finished
- Duplex Window Shades Throughout

UPSTAIRS

Going upstairs either from the living room or kitchen you find three large, airy sleeping rooms opening from a central hall. The walls are tinted, one room, a delicate pink; one, a warm yellow and the third, a soft blue with floors and wood-work of beautifully grained hard wood. As downstairs, the lighting is indirect and the fixtures tone in with the color scheme of each room. All rooms have cross-ventilation and with one exception the closets have outside light.

The bath, enameled in white, features modern plumbing devices and nickel-plated towel bars and other features. The lavatory is extra-large and just above is an ample medicine closet with nickel glass mirror and drop light especially arranged for shaving.

The 15x20-foot sleeping porch has eleven windows, all of them with adjustable shades. The walls are oiled and finished in green. Accommodating two full-sized beds the porch increases the capacity of the upstairs to four or five bedrooms as it is so well protected that it can be used practically all winter for sleeping.

Orr.

Surprised on Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lessman, living six miles northeast of Wayne, were most happily surprised by some hundred relatives and friends last Friday evening, the occasion being their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Lessman were invited away from home for a brief time, and while they were gone the guests gathered. Thirty automobiles parked around the house and an army of people assembled on the lawn and in the house, soon surrounded them of the pleasantly remembered event. Following a talk by Rev. E. Gehrke, Mr. and Mrs.

Lessman were presented with some valuable gifts of silverware. The evening was spent in general sociability, and at an appropriate hour the guests brought forth a rich feast which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The surprise was complete and most enjoyable.

Miss Frances Beckenhauer sang a solo and Mrs. Lena Mitchell played a piano solo. Mrs. Mitchell served refreshments. The W. C. T. U. members of Carroll and Wayne will hold a union meeting on Friday, Sept. 29, in the basement of the Methodist church in Wayne. Each organization will furnish half of the program and a covered-dish luncheon will be served.

Woman's Club Resumes.

The Wayne Woman's club met on Friday afternoon at the community house for the first session since the summer recess. A business meeting, a musical program and social hour were the order of the afternoon. Mrs. H. J. Miner was appointed chairman of the sale of "Kernels of Wheat" for which the club is to receive a per cent of the amount received from a canvass which the members will make. An almost unanimous vote favored more social meetings and the final decision was left to the program committee. It was the opinion of most of the women that more social times with more women in the club would be advisable. Mrs. J. J. Ahern was made chairman of the publicity committee, succeeding Mrs. J. G. W. Lewis by appointment of the board of directors. Mrs. S. A. Lutgen sang "Dear Little Mother of Mine" and "Sweet Mrs. Mary." The other number on the program was a song, "Irish Love Songs," by Mrs. Anna Gamble Johnson. Following a social hour the program committee, Mrs. J. J. Ahern, Mrs. E. E. Berry and Miss M. E. Galloway, were in charge. The next meeting of the club will be held a week from Friday, September 22.

Tracy Kohl Shows Corn is Decorative

Norfolk Daily News: Fedosia, July 10.—(By Mail)—Russia is learning from America the aesthetic as well as the nutritive value of maize. Indian corn is useful not only for the making of heavy pudding and Johnny cake, but it also possesses decorative value.

Tracy Kohl of Wayne, Neb., is the district supervisor for Crimea where the American Relief Administration has been issuing corn rations to upwards of 93,000 of the starving adult population. He and his assistants were assigned by the Soviet authorities to a magnificent villa overlooking the Black Sea. The former owner of the estate had spared no expense upon his gardens and conservatories, but unfortunately since his enforced exile following the revolution, green houses had been idle and there were no plants available to fill the elaborate flower beds and borders surrounding the villa.

Moreover, there were no seeds to be had, but there was plenty of corn, thanks to the shipments from America. Mr. Kohl directed his assistants to plant the borders and some of the beds with maize. The result is that there is a most ornamental growth of well-tended corn stalks about the villa and although the planting was done rather late, the American personnel will soon be enjoying corn on the cob.

There is a rumor current here that the former owner of the estate, who was a wealthy tobacco grower and a banker in Constantinople, was sailed into the harbor of Fedosia a few weeks ago on an Italian vessel, looked at his old home through a pair of opera glasses and then sailed away again without venturing to land. What he may have thought of the American attempt to beautify his garden, no one can say, but from the comments made by native Fedosians on the effectiveness of the Indian corn as a decorative plant it seems probable that maize will find a permanent place in their future garden schemes.

By virtue of an order of sale, to me directed, issued by the clerk of the district court of Wayne county, Nebraska, under a decree rendered therein at the October, 1921, term thereof, in an action pending in said court, wherein Carhart Lumber company, a corporation, was plaintiff, and John Nichols and Mary Nichols, were defendants, I will, on the 2nd day of October, 1922, at 1 o'clock p. m., at the door of the office of the clerk of said court, in the court house in Wayne, in said county, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate, to-wit: South half of lot 14 and the north sixteen (16) feet of lot 16, all in block 4, of original Wayne, east of the 6th P. M., Wayne county, Nebraska, to satisfy the aforesaid decree, the amount due thereon being $762.25, with interest at 7 per cent from November 19, 1921, and costs and accruing costs.

Dated at Wayne, Nebraska, this 30th day of August, 1922.

O. C. Lewis, Sheriff.

Parties at Yankton lately followed the example of the Ponca coal company, and bored a six inch hole into the ground. At a depth of between 400 and 500 feet they were rewarded by having a flowing well on their hands. The water gushes out at the rate of two barrels per minute, or 120 barrels per hour, or 2,280 barrels per day. This gives Yankton all the water it wants, and is a great thing for that place. The water said to be clear, cold and excellent.

Sheriff's Sale. By virtue of an order of sale, to me directed, issued by the clerk of the district court of Wayne county, Nebraska, under a decree rendered therein at the October, 1921, term thereof, in an action pending in said court, wherein Carhart Lumber company, a corporation, was plaintiff, and John Nichols and Mary Nichols, were defendants, I will, on the 2nd day of October, 1922, at 1 o'clock p. m., at the door of the office of the clerk of said court, in the court house in Wayne, in said county, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate, to-wit: South half of lot 14 and the north sixteen (16) feet of lot 16, all in block 4, of original Wayne, east of the 6th P. OR some fifteen or eighteen years I have had the good fortune to count among my friends one of America's greatest poets and most lovable of men, George Sterling. For ten or twelve of these years I have been accustomed to read in his letters extravagant statements concerning a certain San Francisco physician.

"I am glad to see you're interested in Dr. Abrams, and wish I could orally discuss him with you. He has utterly revolutionized medicine, and conceived nine operations out of ten will be unnecessary, especially those whose basis is surgery."

If, by notice, there will be an acute dullness here." He indicates a spot above the navel of his subject. "Yes, bovine strain. Vaccination, as you need determine, is the cause of the disease. We will set this dial of the rheostat at 30 ohms as a guess. If it comes through at 30 we will now examine the specimen for tuberculous. We set the rheostat at 22. A reaction? We will try cancer, 60—the dial area should be here Ah! You notice? Unmistakable! To show you the difference, I set it at 49. At 49, you see, there is the reaction for human blood, at this spot by the navel, but no reaction in the outer areas. We set it back at 50 and the dullness returns at once.

The Late State Fair.
Daily Drivers Journal-Stockman: Hot weather unquestionably cut down the attendance at the state fair this year. Fair week in Lincoln will linger in the memory of thousands as a "Lords' dinner." The fair was unutterably oppressive; yet, in spite of almost suffocating temperatures, the immense throngs enjoyed the exposition and the program was full of thrills. The agricultural end of the exposition was first class so far as the number and the type of the "Big Stock" shows were concerned. By far the most interesting feature of the fair was the exhibit of the extension service of the state college of agriculture under the general direction of W. H. Brokaw, director of extension, and L. I. Frisbie, state leader of the boys' and girls' club work. The old automobile hall was turned over to Mr. Brokaw and within one short month he created an exposition in itself of real beauty and instructiveness.

Boys' and girls' club work is the most important branch of agricultural extension work in that it lays the solid foundation for the agricultural prosperity of the future. There are more than 6,000 youngsters engaged in this work as members of some 615 different clubs. These clubs embrace every department of agricultural effort. The club members who visited the fair and took part in daily demonstrations in the huge, cool old hall, are the most precious asset of Nebraska. "Coke Eater" is that crowd. Hundreds of young girls, neat, pretty, wholesome, bubbling over with the enthusiasm of youth, showed the people of this state that in the midst of delirious agitation for things that rank high in the higher foolishness, the "family of the state" is sound at heart; that there are thousands of house-wifely arts, who are training themselves as home-makers in the first sense of that much-used word. And the boys were mainly fellows also, clean-cut, alive to their opportunities, determined to play a man's part in the great game of life. In these boys and girls is the strength of Nebraska and all of its hope. If the youth of this state were to be judged by the representatives at Lincoln, then those who have so long borne the brunt of battle can lay aside their arms with perfect confidence when the bright of their lives draws nigh and the night comes. Nothing can be said in higher praise.

Mr. Brokaw will bring ten exhibits for and exemplify the best that has been thought and said and done in the history of the world and the best that is in vogue today. Excess Weight. Washington Star: "A man dat's allus thinkin' 'bout himself," said Uncle Eben, "is sure to imagine he has a heap 'n' on his mind 'an' get actually is." Gathering Moss. Detroit News: Well, the rolling stocks gathering moss this year. Probate Notice. The state of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss. At a county court, held at the county court room, in and for said county of Wayne, on the 30th day of August, 1922. Present, J. M. Cherry, county judge. In the matter of the estate of Jacob W. Mason, deceased. On reading and filing the petition of Millie E. Mason, praying that the instrument filed on the 28th day of July, 1922, and purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be proved, approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last will and testament of said Jacob W. Mason, deceased, and that the execution of said instrument may be committed and that the administration of said estate may be granted to H. E. Death of Godfrey Press. Wm. Kaul received a telegram from Denver, Colo., Sunday evening telling of the death of Godfrey Press, following an operation.

This is indeed a shock to Winside friends of the Press family. Godfrey was born in Winside nineteen years ago last January and lived here all his life until three years ago when the family moved to Denver on account of his father's health.

Godfrey Press was the youngest son of the late Rev. G. H. Press who was pastor in Winside for seventeen years.

The young man was taken in the prime of manhood. He graduated last June from the Denver high school and was ready and willing to help make life easier for his mother.

and like his older brothers, had the ambition to undertake and accomplish something of the higher aims in life. He leaves to mourn his loss his mother and five brothers, Albert, Fritz, Hans, Gerhardt and Ulrich.

Auto Head-Lights. Let us forget the early days of the automobile and some of the incidents connected with its development, consider for a moment the highly colored, efficient lamps that are used to guide the motorist while driving at night.

These lamps which we know so well, were the fulfillment of a conviction that one day the automobile lighting could be adapted with success to the automobile. The painstaking efforts of these men were duly rewarded. Gas lighting had been deficient though unpleasantly troublesome in the matter of care and ignition.

To turn a switch on the dash and have the road flooded with light was indeed a luxury, now but a commonplace.

At first thought of putting electric lights on a motor car is something in dispute. It seems, however, that the credit might belong to a man in Dayton, Ohio, who first used a carbon filament lamp.

Many other individuals and manufacturers had thought of and worked for the same object, and some of them had even then, visions of possibilities of a motor which could be used to start the engine, using a storage battery as the source of power.

Mr. T. A. Willard of the Willard Storage Battery company of Cleveland, was one of the pioneers on this subject. His experience in building lighting batteries for railway trains gave him a background from which to view the technical problems of the bouncing motor car and to visualize the obstacles in the path of such a great development.

The question was one of lamps and not of batteries because the battery for the purpose had already been built. Carbon filaments and high current consumption did not offer much hope for success, and various other forms of lamps were tried.

It remained for the tungsten lamp with the carbon filament to finally serve the purpose most effectively and today that is the type commonly used.

The proper lamp having been found, gas lighting, save in the case of heavy trucks where the vibration is unusually excessive, was deemed to pass out of existence. Another element of the present day automobile electric equipment was born.

Some satisfactory way had to be devised to keep the storage battery which had previously been used only for ignition, fully charged. Here again, Mr. Willard's acquaintance with train lighting came to the rescue and a generator, similar in type to those used on railway cars, was built.

The lamp which required the minimum of current and gave the most light possible, which developed the least heat and required the smallest battery having been found and perfected, the path was cleared for that next great step—the self starter.

That Bad Back. Do you have a dull, steady ache in the small of the back—sharp, stabbing twinges when stooping or lifting—distressing urinary disorders? For bad back and weakened kidneys—

Wayne reminder—recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this Wayne statement.

Geo. H. Kollong, aged 47, had long-continued attacks of kidney disorder, suffered with a nagging ache in my back and found it difficult to move around because of the sharp twinges in my back. It was feeling nervous and nervous. Doan's Kidney Pills always gave me fine relief and I am glad to endorse them." (Statement given July 17, 1921.)

On May 20, 1920, Mr. Kollong added: "Since using Doan's Kidney Pills I haven't had kidney trouble, my cure being a lasting one."

Twentieth Annual Interstate Fair, Sioux City, Iowa, Sept. 17 to 22

Interstate Fair

Sept. 17 to 22

Inclusive

THE INTERSTATE FAIR has for years been trying to so build its yearly show, that with the passage of time the fruits of their labors might be reflected in the improved conditions on the farms of its territory. This reflection can be best judged by the amount of pure bred live stock that can now be found within a distance of from 75 to 100 miles from Sioux City. Many of the foundation animals of existing herds were purchased at the Fair. From year to year breeders come to the Fair to buy animals to replace those sold or from whom full service has been exacted.

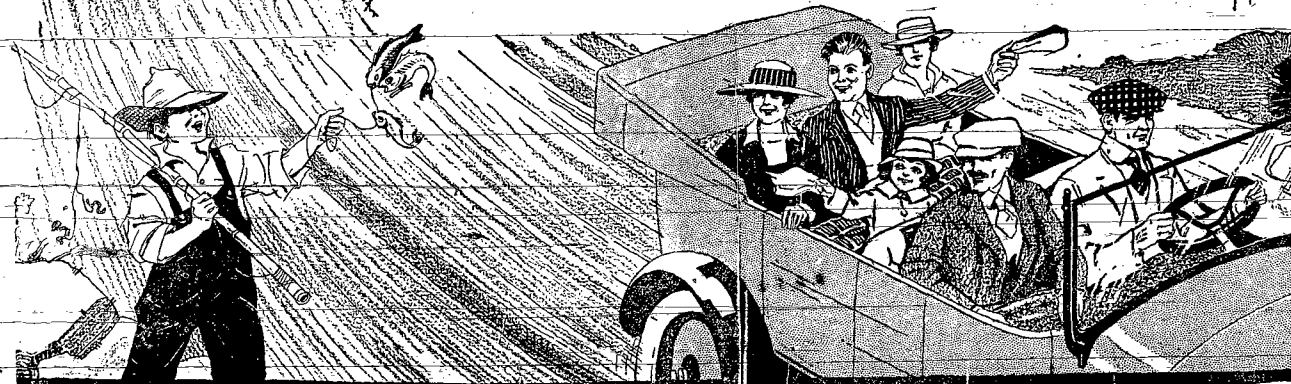

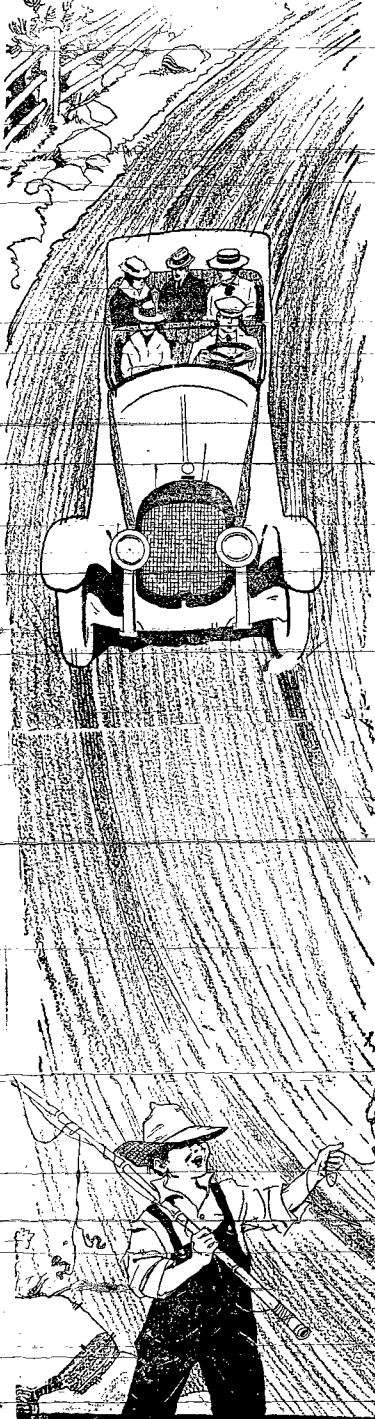

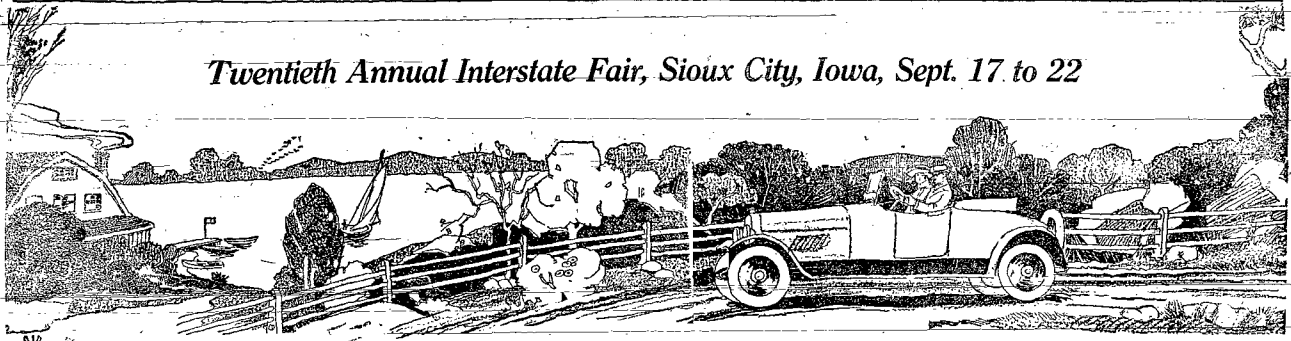

We invite you to this year's Fair with the firm conviction that never in past years will the Live Stock Show, the Machinery Exhibit, the Agriculture Display, Baby Show, Boys' and Girls' Club Work and all other departments be more complete.

Educational Amusements have a distinct place in modern fair work and this year in addition to Auto Races, Harness and Running Races, Vaudeville Acts, Good Bands and other features, the management has provided a stupendous Fireworks Spectacle, "Scrapping the Navy," which will be put on in front of the Grand Stand every evening commencing with Monday, September 18.

We invite you to the Fair this year. We shall do our utmost to please and entertain you.

The Range with a Reputation

A Delight to the Eye and a Delight to the Heart of the Housewife, Too!

Even more beautiful now than ever before, the New Great Majestic is finished with panels of lustrous enamel. You may have your Majestic painted in white enamel or blue.

The panels on the doors and on the splasher back make the whole surface of your Majestic so easy to keep new and bright. You will be proud of this New Majestic Range in your kitchen.

Any Size or Style Majestic Family Range Can be Furnished With Blue or White Enamelled Panels and Splasher Back!

Plenty of Hot Water From Your Majestic Reservoir

Water that is boiling hot. Just dip it as you want it from the reservoir attached to the side of your Majestic. The intense heat from the fire box is carried directly into the water in the reservoir, by the Majestic all-copper one-piece heat pocket. When you do not want the water to keep boiling, you easily shift the reservoir away from the fire box.

The top of the reservoir is level with the range top, giving you additional space for keeping things warm, and in a handy position.

You will appreciate this labor saving and convenient Majestic Hot Water Reservoir every day during the many years that your Majestic Range will serve you.

Perfect Baking, Too

The oven of the Majestic is air-tight. All joints are riveted, so that there are no open spaces to let heat escape. The flue is lined with pure asbestos board, also proof against loss of heat. With economy of fuel, you can have a slow, medium or hot oven, as wanted—and bake to your heart's delight. Everything—meats, breads, cakes, pies, puddings—all are baked just wonderfully fine in the Majestic oven, because the Majestic construction makes it so easy for you to control the exact heat required.

Now come FRESH Prunes

for Happy, Healthy Children from 9 to 90

All—and More—of the tonic, nourishing and laxative qualities of prunes, which have made that fruit famous the world over, can now be obtained—Fresh.

Dried prunes served their generations faithfully and well, but with the advancement of civilization comes newer and better methods and products.

ITALIAN PRUNE PLUMS

(the plum from which the dried prune is made)

are lowest in cost of any plums grown.

They are rapidly replacing the dried or evaporated prune because they COST LESS, are cleaner and more palatable. They have a distinctive flavor and a wide variety of uses (see recipes below).

Pompeian Method of Canning Prunes: Put 1 cup sugar and 2 cups water for each quart of prunes, and make syrup. Boil until soft, then seal them with the boiling syrup in fruit jars. The prunes are less likely to burst if they are sealed before they are dropped into the syrup.

Venetian Jam: Boil prunes in just enough water to keep from burning until soft. Then put in your colored, measure equal cups of pulp and sugar. Boil until thick and seal.

Lindsay Conserva: 5 cups prunes, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup orange, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup orange, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup orange. Boil until thick and seal.

"BABY" G.A.R. VET TO ATTEND MEET

Charles H. Hillis, of Cincinnati, now 71, is the "baby" veteran of the Civil War. He is ten months younger than G. William Secord, of New York, N. Y., who formerly held that honor. Mr. Hillis will attend the G. A. R. commencement at Dec 25, in late this month.

Week's Report From Bureau of Markets

Sept. 11, 1922. Cattle—Trade has been rather dull this week, best cornfed steers being about steady, others weak to 40c lower.

Hogs—The hog market has ruled slow with prices unsteady lower, but advanced later on light supplies.

Sheep—Trade on killing channels has been slow with prices about steady with week ago. A strong demand for feeding lambs has forced prices 10 to 15c higher.

Wheat—The wheat market has been quite steady but fractional changes and closed slightly higher for week.

Corn—Corn displayed a stronger tone early this week due to the very favorable weather and crop reports, and improved foreign demand.

Potatoes—Shipments of potatoes were slightly less than last week but about 1,000 cars more than same week last year.

Receipts of butter at the four principal markets were lighter than last week and quality poorer. The surplus of storage stocks over last year is beginning to show a reduction. Market firm, especially on top scores. Extras sold Thursday in Chicago 37 1/2.

Receipts of eggs at the four principal markets decreased considerably from last week. The surplus of storage stocks over last year continues to decrease. Local price 22c.

"Dream Street" Next Week. "Dream Street" is the latest screen effort to come from D. W. Griffith. It is a tale of romance and love and laughter, symbolized with good and evil influences.

A trinity of characters in the persons of a young girl, Gypsy Fairy, her brother, and his brother's friend, are the youthful creatures around which is woven a romance of dramatic love filled with poetic visions and inspired by the good and evil influences of this world.

Mr. Griffith has assembled a cast of rare talent to enact the roles of "Dream Street." Carl Dempster in the Gypsy Fair. The "Spike" McFadden of the story is taken by Ralph Chapin while "Red" is portrayed by Charles Emmet Mack.

Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: The United States will be a nonentity in thirty years from now in the opinion of a well-known author who seems to be peevish because we do not follow his advice.

Hamilton, Ont., Spectator: At least ten deaths from poisonous liquors is the gist of a fatal story from New York. The Volstead act may be highly altruistic in principle, but it has been responsible for a fearful toll in human lives since its inception.

that there is more "honest to God-yness" outside the church than inside, and that it would be just as well to close the churches, and in their stead to print a placard to be hung in schools, railway stations and the postoffice, bearing the words of Jesus: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy mind, and all thy heart and thy neighbor as thyself." Besides it would be less expensive.

So it goes, leaving me bewildered, until I remember that the church is just ourselves, with the faults of humanity, and will not be better until we have better material. Most of these letters affirm that economic issues are raising theological questions in the mind today; a man from Detroit states it plainly: "Men are thinking today of the means of living, not the meaning of life." What we are confronted with is not, specifically, indifference to religion, but indifference to nearly everything.

everybody tells me how and why it has outside the circle of the cult of comfort. Shifting the emphasis from theology to sociology will only mean a new sectarianism in place of the old—a radical church on one corner, a conservative on the next, and the last state will be as bad as the first. Amateur sermons on economics make a terrifying prospect.

Of course, the preachers come in from a hard hammering, and, as late Dan Hodges used to say, "It is richly deserved by those who deserve it." Much of it is deserved by reason of the conditions under which ministers work.

Interstate Fair Opens Sept. 17th

When fair managements keep in mind at all times that Agriculture in all of its diversified features is the back bone of their annual shows and while providing amusement and recreation features, place their principal efforts in assembling the products of the farm both as to field crops and live stock then their grounds and buildings are filled with patrons that go away fully satisfied. This applies to the small as well as the larger fair.

The history of the modern fair as we know it goes back but very few years. Since time began it has been customary in every country for the people to gather at certain seasons and in some convenient spot offer the fruits of their labor for barter or sale, but not until the latter part of the 18th century was this idea converted into an educational feature, and Live Stock was the one thing that made possible the big modern fair and exposition.

The pride that the land owner and his herdsman took in bringing their cattle and horses from a low grade animal which gave them a small money return, up to the fine outstanding beef or dairy animal or to the large and strong draft horse with the consequent larger financial return, suggested the show ring where animals are compared and prize money and ribbons were awarded.

The show feature finally entered into the competition where an admission price was charged and other features, such as machinery of all kinds, products from the farm and town home, art exhibits and in later days, baby health, boys' and girls' work and one hundred and one other legitimate features, until the county, district and state fairs at this time is an exposition at which products of the farm and industries directly allied with farming are brought together for comparison and sale.

The thinking agriculturalist takes advantage of these yearly affairs to attend and select

Making 20 Years of Racing Serve Car Owners Today

In the early days of automobile centers, Barney Oldfield... His consistent success led other drivers to ask for tires constructed to his specifications. Twenty years of road and track victories... with a steady and increasing demand for tires as he built them... convinced Barney Oldfield that these speed tests pointed the way to a better tire for everyday use. The enthusiastic reception of Oldfield Cords by the public proved he was right... Scores of the most prominent dealers in the country... and many thousands of car owners, experienced in the use of tires... bear witness by their decided preference that Oldfield is doing a bigger and better job of tire making. This volume, handled in an effective way in every phase of manufacture and distribution, has resulted in price quotations far below what you'd expect on tires known to be better built and more enduring. Practically every important race event for three years has been won on Oldfields. The Wichita Test Run in which an entire set of Oldfield Cords covered 34,526 miles on rough roads proves the matter of the Most Trustworthy Tires Built in everyday driving. The Master Driver and Tire Builder has given the public a new standard of tire wear and the cost—a true economy that every car owner should know about. Your Oldfield dealer has these facts—talk to him.

Choking the Public. New York Tribune: The principle behind the Adamson-companies application law of Kansas, which was kept out of the Cummins-Each law when Mr. Gompers and organized labor protested, has gained many friends this summer.

It may not be possible or wise to put into a positive statute the doctrine that neither owners nor employees shall bring a basic industry to an abrupt stop. But the same end will be attained without any specific law—by the development of a convincing social experiment. To choke the public into submission is not as easy as it looks.

A legacy of the Wilson administration was the widely spread notion that to strike or to threaten to strike was a royal road to an easy triumph. When the Adamson-law was passed a pistol was openly pointed at congress—and history—during McAdoo days, public authority was rendered about as often as the ship-makers or the miners or the railroad men reached the opinion that they could spend more money.

Labor leaders are able to prove, with a certitude suggestive of mathematicians, that they can't possibly lose. But there is something the matter with the conclusion. The public has a provoking way of intruding and of making its influence felt. In theory it should merely suggest and submit, but in practice it finds effective defensive weapons.

The events of the summer convey a warning: "Beware of messing up an essential industry." This lesson, it may safely be said, has not been lost on intelligent labor unionists.

The campaign does not succeed according to plan.

He Must Be Coming Back. Sioux Falls Argus-Leader: A Detroit burglar stole the burglar's alarm in a large store here. This is surely efficient preparedness.
