

PROGRESS MADE FOR COUNTY FAIR

Lately Acquired Grounds Will Be Made Attractive With Buildings Suited to Needs.

MR. HUFFORD MAKES REPORT

He Gives Results of Observations During Recent Trip—Stock Will Be Offered.

Directors of the Wayne County Fair Association met Monday evening and much progress was made on plans for improvement of the newly acquired grounds and for the holding of a fair next year.

John E. Hufford who recently returned from an automobile trip to Denver, via Lincoln, brought back a great deal of valuable information which he obtained by visiting fair grounds and fairs in various parts of the state.

Accordingly all buildings should be built after the same type of architecture to secure the best landscape results. It is also considered worthy of special attention because the grounds have splendid natural beauty, and by giving due thought to the arrangement of buildings, Wayne county will have the best looking fair grounds in the state.

It is the most important matter, however, is to get the buildings so located that the exhibits will show to the best advantage, be most convenient for visitors and be most satisfactory to exhibitors. That such results will require the employment of some one who has made fair grounds a special study is shown in the report of Mr. Hufford.

It is desired to call the attention of the parents to the fact that the purpose of the public notice is to bring before the school the importance of the school. If these are read carefully, parents can then cooperate in carrying out the plans and the ideals of the school. Especially can the parents aid in promoting perfect attendance, punctuality and regular hours for rest, recreation and home study.

School spirit is that indefinable attitude that gives power to school efforts. It is the spirit that pervades all later, to all institutions. It helps to carry the load of everyday life to its fullest completion and will not falter in the face of any adversity.

The president of the senior class has appointed a committee for the debating districts have been merged into one. Conrad Jacobson, superintendent of the Wayne school, is the newly appointed director of this division.

The car was considerably damaged.

AS TO DANCING AT THE STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Question Presented to State Board by Head of Kearney School.

At the meeting of the state normal board in Lincoln the first of the week, President George E. Martin of the Kearney normal, raised a question in regard to permitting the dance at the schools and allowing recognition of fraternities and sororities by the schools. The subject, President Martin included in his report, among other things, the following:

The social life of the school it is found that one of the most serious problems is the dance. At present, dancing is not permitted on the campus. The result is that students organize dancing parties that are more or less in the nature of a public dance. They hire halls down town, and the result is that the dances are conducted as they wish. Nothing of an extraordinarily serious nature has as yet taken place.

At the meeting, President Connally also brought to the attention of the board the question of whether or not dancing under proper chaperonage and control be permitted in the school building.

SENATOR TALKS TO CROWD LAST NIGHT

C. M. Hitchcock Appears Here in Campaign of Carrying His Election to U. S. Senate.

STATE AND NATIONAL ISSUES Blames Republicans in Both State and National Politics for All of Country's Ills.

A good-sized crowd attended last evening at the opera house a meeting addressed by Senator C. M. Hitchcock, democratic candidate to succeed himself as U. S. Senator. The Wayne State Normal board furnished the electric light and the speaker, who is a polished speaker, was given respectful attention. The only criticism was the assumption of explanations of one or two enthusiastic party adherents.

The senator called attention to the new prevailing campaign—state and national. In the former he stressed overtaxation, and blamed the last legislature for increasing appropriations, and in the latter he stressed complicated and expensive. He said he heard that two or three hundred more employes were hired at Lincoln and that the salary of Charles Bryan, but in the course of his talk he did not mention William J. Bryan. He asked that a democratic legislature be supported by a democratic legislature.

Turning to national affairs, he called attention to two and one-half years of adversity, which latter he attributed to the republican party. For prosperity, he gave credit to the administration, but he said that it was an influence. He said the deflation plank in the republican platform in June, 1920, when Harding was nominated, caused prices to go down. He said deflation should have been gradual. He pointed out the ill effects of the violent contraction of the currency. He said France and Great Britain permitted expansion to continue until part of debts had been paid. He said the United States should have done the same.

Week's Report From Bureau of Markets

Oct. 22, 1922.
Cattle—Cattle market steady to higher for the week. Best steers steady to 25c higher; she-stock mostly 25 to 50c higher; bulls 15 to 25c higher; veals about 25c higher; suckers about steady; feeders generally 25c lower.
Hogs—Hog prices increased over week ago, most increase on packing sows. Butchers increased 15 to 20c; packing sows, 85c to $1.15; stock pigs, steady to 25c higher.
Sheep—Sheep market is still on the upward trend, lambs increased 50c; yearlings and wethers, 25c to 25 to 35c. Feeding lambs steady to 25c higher; other classes steady.
Wheat—Wheat prices averaged higher for the week, advancing first half and declining later. Higher foreign market, transportation situation, strength in corn, more bullish sentiment and more friendly attitude toward buying side responsible for advances and declines were on profit factors.

Corn—Strength in corn prevailed most of week. First car of new corn arrived at Chicago October 19. Chicago, December corn advanced 4c over week ago.
Potatoes—Shipments of potatoes increased 1,026 cars over the preceding week, but were 4,000 cars less than for the corresponding week last year. Firm tone prevailed in the Chicago carlot market. Potatoes generally steady to firm for the week.

Butter—Butter markets firm and higher than week ago. Demand apparently lighter, but scarcity of factory goods has resulted in further advance on goods most in demand. All scores abated in this support.

Eggs—Receipts of eggs this week at the four principal markets decreased 2,000 cases from week ago. Stocks in storage 3,547,000 cases against 2,631,000 cases last year. Local price, 30c.

Poultry—Receipts of poultry at the four principal markets increased 180,000 lbs. over last year. Stocks in storage 18,293,000 lbs. against 19,653,000 lbs. last year. Local prices: Hens, heavy, 15c light, 15c; Leghorn 15c; springs, 16c; Leghorn springs, 14c; roosters, 8c.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: One of the best business barometers is provided by the railroad systems of the country. That is because transportation is the most important thing in economic life. The flow of commerce always reflects with great accuracy the conditions prevailing with both producers and consumers. At any rate it provides a comprehensive view of the volume of transport, and under normal conditions it should establish correctly enough an understanding of proportionate values.

It is only when the general picture of the country's economic life means nothing as a means to measure business success. When the agricultural interests sustained their heaviest blow in 1917, shipments were enormous, for crops had been good, but the returns were so small that to many they brought dead losses.

At this time the railroads are busier than ever before. It is known, of course, that they are handicapped somewhat by deteriorated equipment, but the systems are still strong enough to handle an astonishing amount of business which they are doing. It is now believed that instead of clearing up the transportation situation by the end of November, the condition will be unchanged for several months. In the crop movements demand thousands of cars, as do building materials required in the structural work still moving with great headway in various regions.

Some idea of what the railroads expect to do in the next few years was expressed in the address of R. K. Knowles, of Chicago, president of the American Railway and Bridge association in convention at Cincinnati. Mr. Knowles declared the lines would spend more money in the next five years on repairs and improvements than at any time in their history. He explains that improvement in the markets for iron makes it possible for the roads to obtain easier money for expansion. This a program of considerable activity that will entail an enormous expenditure of money for materials and labor is expected. It is one of the most promising signs of returning prosperity. Steel companies are operating anywhere from 75 to 90 per cent of their capacity, with the output considerably under the orders on hand. Production is restricted for one reason only—lack of sufficient cars in which to ship goods.

Living costs for September declined 1 per cent, according to official reports. That announcement indicates that prices are not yet quite stabilized at a permanent level, but it is shown that costs probably never will change much from what they are now. Some prices will come down, and others will go up, but there will be no return to pre-war figures on average costs.

Unemployment is a thing of the past in isolated sections where, for one reason or another, there is a temporary lack of jobs. The financial condition is good, with enormous amounts of money being invested daily in securities. It may be said that the country is not greatly worried by the change in the British government, although there is lively interest in learning the attitude of the Law ministry in the British diet.

A Poor Detective.
S'pringsfield, Mass. Republican: The $6,000,000,000 "rake off" that the bankers, "with extra cunning," planted in the Versailles treaty, was discovered by Senator George H. Moses until three years after the treaty was debated in the senate. He is a poor detective.

Ideal October weather has favored gathering the corn crop, and on that account the job will be finished earlier than usual.

Politicians impose on people's credulity. They unwittingly magnify people's inclination to swallow over-drawn statements.

People who want to know about the new code law, or what party lines have been sketched, should come to Wayne next Thursday to hear it explained by Governor McKelvie. He understands the law fully, and if any one wants the facts, he can get them.

Fattian speakers are in the habit of saying the "supposed" Congressman Evans voted so and so, whereas they don't know. As a matter of fact, Congressman Evans was one of the effective forces in the so called "farm bloc," and the "farm bloc" was organized and operated in behalf of the agricultural interests of the country.

The Plainview News is mistaken in saying that Pierce county is the only county in the state out of debt. Wayne county is out of debt and has been in that happy condition so long that no one can remember when it was otherwise. We are sorry to interfere with Pierce's comfortable feeling of distinction, but we have had to do it in support of the truth.

In one of his stories, Robert Burdett talks about a supposed mathematical prodigy. This prodigy astounded people by the lightning speed with which he gave answers to problems submitted to him. Finally some one figured out answers to the problems and found the prodigy had been guessing and was wrong in every case. Thus, in solving and explaining political problems, the politicians too often guess, believing no one will know. And often the solutions are finally disgarded to the most credulous.

"Checkers come home to roost," it is said. We doubt if one could suffer other unwarranted injury without in time yielding full pay. We doubt if one can grossly offend society without becoming a social outcast. We know a man who had a good business. He became so prosperous that he became violently independent. This—absent—mind—quality—people withdrew from him. He was left stripped of every semblance of support. He was soon down and out. No matter how well one is doing, no matter how great is one's feeling of security, he should be kindly disposed and treat people with the consideration they deserve. Any other course is likely to exact painful retribution.

People whose memories often fail to respond when most needed, will find comfort in what Dr. Frank Crane says along that line in the course of an article in the current American Magazine. "I have discovered after long years of experience," says Dr. Crane, "that a good memory is of no particular use. In fact, I do not know of anyone who has a remarkable memory, and who has at the same time strong creative imagination and sound judgment. Memory gets in one's road more often than it is of assistance." As people become engrossed by a multiplicity of things, memory easily loses its grip on details, and there is an increased tendency to forget. The more one has to accomplish, the more one is inclined to let recollection slip. We have abundant evidence from Dr. Crane and others that forgetfulness is not a sign of impending decay, for which we are profoundly thankful.

HOW BANKERS HELPED.

Some opposition has been aroused against C. H. Randall for governor on the ground that he has been associated with the banking business. Like others interested in banking, Randall has struggled like a Trojan during the last few years to strengthen farm credits and to secure through the banks the necessary financial relief for those needing it. Bankers and especially those who were conservative, cannot be justly accused of any neglect in banking. The bankers' interest in banking of the last few years. Such bankers did not wink at wild speculations nor encourage over-borrowing. They extended loans only when the values were flying high to be of important aid to their constituents when the bubble burst and every one found themselves in a predicament. Bankers not only held aloof from judgments loans, but employed their guarded resources and used their best counsel to revive and revitalize communities made drunk and sick by an unusual and prolonged financial spree. Conservative bankers frowned on the late saturnalia of speculations, and when the feverish delirium passed and people began to sober up, they were ready with all the aid and comfort that safety would permit. Conservative banks have been veritable boons to their respective communities.

Randall's interest in banking has enabled him to be of service in stabilizing and stimulating credits at a time when they were perilously near the rocks. His experience in banking will help him pilot the ship of state as well as his experience in agriculture will enable him to understand and help solve farm problems.

SENATOR HITCHCOCK.

In his talk here Senator Hitchcock sought to bolster up the democratic desire for control at Lincoln by charging largely increased appropriations to the last legislature, but he did not explain that in the total large appropriations had been made for ex-service men, for road building, for the new capitol, for a new reformatory and for other unusual essentials. He spoke of the rumor that 200 or 300 additional men were employed by the state at Lincoln. The rumor may have been based on the number of men employed in building the new state house. The only extra employes under the code law are the six secretaries who by systematized effort save their salaries many times over.

Senator Hitchcock did not mention the war as a force in raising prices and wages, and in discussing deflation, he did not mention that the Wilson administration was in the saddle for nearly a year after deflation set in and values collapsed.

Many who admire the senator's fine qualities of mind, are disappointed by his artful endeavor to fix blame on republican leaders and clear the former democratic administration of all responsibility for the economic ills which the country has suffered.

SECRETARY WALLACE SPEAKS.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace comes to Nebraska the last of this week to make a series of political speeches, and no one who knows Wallace can figure that he is other than deeply interested in the development of agriculture and in the welfare of farming communities.

In the course of a recent speech, he is quoted as saying: "I would not be so foolish nor so untruthful as to say that our troubles are over and that agriculture has no longer a period of prosperity. Prices of farm products are still altogether too low. They are below the actual cost of production and far lower relatively than the prices of most other commodities. The farmer is getting less pay for his work than any other group of workers."

"But I do say that the farmer is very much better off today than he was in the winter of 1920-21. His improved state is in substantial part due to wise legislation and intelligent administration. We have hit the bottom and are on the upward grade."

"Take it all in all, I think it is fair to say that during the past eighteen months, the needs of agriculture, both temporary and permanent, have had more sympathetic and intelligent consideration at the hands of congress than during any other similar period in our entire history."

Well Known Teacher Dies at Plainview

Plainview, Neb., Oct. 24.—Funeral services were held here Saturday afternoon for Robert Thomsen, pioneer educator of this part of the state, who died at his home here Friday. The body was taken to his old home in Hastings, Neb., for burial.

Mr. Thomsen was superintendent of the public schools here for a number of years and served in that capacity for 25 years. He died at the age of 63. He was also head of the schools at Orchard for seven years and at several other places in the state.

of light. If it pleases the eye of the stranger the credit is yours. If it pleases those who live in it, happiness will prevail, and true happiness is the finest thing in life. Opportunities for improving your city are everywhere about you. If you are careless about your city's appearance, its moral tone, its standing among other communities, you not only make other people suffer, but you suffer, yourself. Your city is more than wood and brick and stone, more even than the flesh and blood. It is the composite soul of all who call it home.

French communist party picks up the story of decline told by the elections of last year and carries it on. Manifestly communism in France is doomed as a political movement of serious proportions. The "red" here has evidently lost its attractiveness with the temporarily drifting elements that for a while accepted it as a promising relief from inevitable postwar conditions. The helpful light flashed from Moscow is no longer mistaken for a beacon revealing the path to political and economic well-being.

Carload Jonathan Apples

$2.25 Per Basket

Just arrived on this market. For all-round use there is no apple equals the delicious red, juicy Jonathans. We have dozens of baskets in stock and it's difficult to select one more perfect than the other. This variety is fully matured and ready for your inspection. Begin now to enjoy the luscious Jonathans until mid-winter when they commence to lose that delightful crispness and wonderful flavor. Every family can afford Jonathan apples, fully $1.00 less than last year and the quality better. A small investment in apples pays big dividends. Their use reduces doctor bills to a minimum, and performs a big factor in keeping the human system normal. Provide the school children with Jonathan apples, especially those who are required to eat cold noonday lunches.

Winter Keeping Onions

15 x 30 = 450 lbs. King Nut

Four hundred fifty pounds, that's about a ten-day supply of King Nut Margarine. Yes, the regular sales run in pounds of King Nut to one pound of butter. A pound of creamery butter costs 50 cents. You can buy two pounds King Nut for 55 cents, some saving and at the same time you are deriving benefit in your own home of modern sanitation by using a product from one of the latest spot and span factories in existence. It's not a "poor man's spread." Scores of people prefer it because it's King Nut. There are numerous brands of margarine. It's our desire that you be the judge.

For an attack of croup: First apply a cold wet towel on throat, this should give prompt temporary relief. Then slice thin four medium sized onions in frying pan, add a very little grease and cook until thoroughly heated. Place in a cloth sack and apply to child's chest.

If you are raising a family it's important you have a winter supply of onions. And what's more, they will be higher, you know onions are the most healthful vegetable obtainable. We are selling from a carload recently received. Well matured, on display in baskets, $1.75.

Dr. Adam's Tooth Paste

If every user of tooth paste in this community would purchase an initial order of Dr. Adam's Tooth Paste, it's not unfair to say, a major portion would be pleased to the extent they would continue to use it. You will confer a favor upon yourself if you will purchase a regular 35 cent tube, use just one-half the usual amount and note results. The entire purchase price refunded for empty tube if we have failed to please.

Semi-Solid Will Make Your Hens Lay - Get Twice as many Eggs From the Same Flock and the same grain by feeding Semi-Solid Buttermilk. Numerous experiments have proved that you can get practically twice as many eggs from the same flock and the same grain when you feed Semi-Solid Buttermilk. One particular test, extending over a year, is especially convincing as the figures given in the table below will prove. In pen No. 1, 25 hens were fed beef scraps and in pen No. 2 hens were fed "no meat" diet, while in pen No. 3 the hens were fed on Semi-Solid Buttermilk. The results of this feeding test are given in this table:

FEEL ALL USED UP.
Lots of Wayne People Do.
Does your back ache constantly? Do you have sharp twinges when stooping or lifting? Feel all used up—as if you could just go no farther? Why not look to your kidneys? Why not use Doan's Kidney Pills? Wayne people have done so. Ask your druggist. They tell you the result.
Mrs. J. L. Soules, Wayne, says: "A cold settled on my kidneys and put them in a badly disordered condition. The muscles of my back were stiff and my kidneys were so sore and weak I could hardly get around at times. Many times it was impossible to get a night's rest on account of the worn out and miserable condition of my back. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. After using Doan's bought at the Wayne Drug company I was much better in every way. I have not had to use Doan's for some time."

Robt. H. Allen's Offering of Pure Bred Hampshire Swine

To be held at the E. H. Allen farm three miles northwest of Allen, Neb.
Saturday, October 28
Sale Starts at 1 p. m. Free Lunch at Noon

157 Head

- 15 Sows and Litters
- 20 Spring Giltts
- 15 Barrows
- 7 Spring Boars

This offering includes my prize winning stock at the 1922 Concord fair. The gilts and boars are by Pioneer Model A, the second prize senior yearling boar at the 1921 Interstate Fair. The fall pigs are by Allen's Giant, grand champion boar at the Concord Fair 1922. The sows carry such well known breeding as Lookout, Tipton, Half-ton Duke, Wickware and General Tipton Again. I have won more prizes than any other Hampshire breeder in Dixon county. You will be interested in this chance to visit with my 700-pound junior yearling boar which R. P. Sullivan considers one of the best boars in the United States.
This offering is cholera immuned and in fine condition, and owing to lack of sufficient winter quarters on a rented farm, I must reduce the size of my herd.
TERMS: Six months' time on approved notes at ten per cent interest.

Will he be home To-night?

When the "picket line" must be "run" every night and morning, that is the burning question. Must a man who desires to work and earn a living for his self and family be deprived of the joy of protection, and be left in constant fear? Must the wife who awaits his return each day be ever steered to receive the ambulance or hearse?

It took courage on the part of the many loyal workers who remained at their posts, or took up the forsaken work of strikers, during the recent railroad strike, so that you and the rest of the American people might have transportation service—an essential to the life and comfort of every home, whether in the city or on the farm.

These men had the right to work—liberty means the right to work, and yet, in railroad centers of Nebraska, this right was openly challenged, for with this strike came "picketing" and with picketing—intimidation, threats, personal violence and destruction of property.

The history of all strikes is the same. In Nebraska City during the recent packing house strike, "picketing" became so violent the State was compelled to send troops to preserve order at great expense to the taxpayers of the State.

The horrible massacre of the twenty-six miners at Herrin, Illinois, last June would not have occurred if "picketing" had been stopped in its early stages.

If you want to put a stop to violence, intimidation and terrorism in labor controversies, you will vote "YES" on the "Right to Work" Law (Anti-Picketing Law), which will be submitted to the voters of Nebraska on Election Day, November 7th.

This law aims to remove the CAUSES of violence, BEFORE THE HARM IS DONE.

For Women and Children

You Can Easily See Why It Fits

Examine carefully the diagram; note the slope of the neckline to the front. That eliminates unsightly pulling on the neck. The narrow tapering back and curved side seam do away with bunching under the coat.

But these are only a few of the unusual features of Athena Underwear. Ask our saleswoman to show you the special fitted seat that always stays closed; the extra fullness through the bust—the very shapeliness of the whole garment. If you value delightfully easy comfort, you will find Athena a constant joy.

Athena Underwear is had in all styles and weights, in knit fabrics and it costs no more than the ordinary kind!

Fine Mercerized Table Damask

64 inches wide, in either plain white, pink or blue border, in fast color. This quality will laundry well and is very serviceable at yard $1.15 to $1.35

Buster Brown Shoes

For children are proving very popular. We have another shipment of these famous shoes for children on the way. They will be here the first of the week. When you buy shoes for the youngster buy shoes that are made to fit right; shoes that develop the tender bones the way they should—and last but not least, shoes that wear. Buster Brown satisfies every requirement.

Our Great October Glove Sale

For Men, Women, Boys and Girls

Through foresight and early buying, we are in a position to save our customers much worry, so long as our great October Glove Sale. The tariff has materially raised the price of all gloves that are still in the hands of the manufacturers and importers. We had all our stocks in the house before the tariff became a law. We shall continue to sell them on the basis of their cost to us, as long as our stocks last.

This means that gloves bought now, which we bought before the tariff became operative, represent a saving to you of from 35% to 50% of what you will have to pay when we buy again. It is a fact that must be faced, come hats for your winter's glove supplies, please.

Davidson Brothers Co. LUMBER STORE SIOUX CITY, I.A.

recently spent an evening in ascertaining the subjects his 16-year-old boy was studying in school. Among them was ancient history, and the lad was seemingly well up in that particular branch. He talked glibly of ancient Greece and Rome; he knew a lot about the history of Rome, and he explained at length the conquests of Alexander and the doings of Hannibal. He also was pretty well informed as to the Romans and had some knowledge of the history of Pompeii and Herculaneum. But when asked to tell something about Nebraska he was forced to admit that he had not given it any study. He did not know that no other state equals Nebraska's river mileage; that Nebraska is the only state in the Union that produced a surplus of the four great staples, sugar, mectastuffs, breadstuffs and wool; that Cheyenne county is big enough to harbor all the people on this globe and afford each one room enough to swing comfortably in a rocking chair; that Nebraska produces more corn and wheat per capita than any other state; that while Nebraska has not a single mine in all her borders yet her annual production of farm wealth would pay for all the coal mined in the United States at the same month; that her annual butter production is worth more than all the gold mined in America and her possessions in a twelve-month; that the largest creamery in the world is in Nebraska and that Nebraska has fewer illiterates per thousand of population than any other state, with possibly one exception. The lad knew that Napoleon was born in Corsica and that Nero was born in Rome, but he did not know that Nebraska is the birthplace of two of the world's famous extemporists, Briggs and Johnson. He knew that King Cyrus was a Persian, but he did not know that the world's foremost canalizing engineer is a native Nebraskan. As a matter of fact he had been so busy studying about the dead ones that he did not know much of anything about the liveliest state in the Union. Whereupon the lad's father wondered if it would not be doing a good thing to compel the teaching of Nebraska more and of dead ones less, in Nebraska schools.

Good Roads and Farmers.
Omaha Bee: Establishment of better highways in Missouri has started a movement for small farms near the larger cities. Easier access to market can be counted on to enable farmers to make a better living from less ground.
Kansas City Star: Representative Burton doesn't see any chance of the repayment of the American foreign debt within the next twenty-five years. We positively refuse to take any interest in what is going to happen after 1947.

A Matter of Good Taste

UNCLE WALT
The Poet Philosopher.

The Quiet Life.
I lead a sane and normal life, or strive to lead it thus; I shun all artificially striven at, high heels and fuss, and in my belt I pack no knife, for any human fuss. My neighbor Johnnie holds some views that I do not own and then, in creaking shoes, he comes across the lane, to exercise his vocal throats, his theories to express. This Johnnie's an aggressive wight, he hankers for the fray, and we might wrangle round all night, and likewise half the day; but I remark, "You're doubtless right," to all that he may say. He soon grows tired expounding things, and will not dispute a little while the quiet rings, and then the bland things milder, and on his way my neighbor swings, to lose some new gadget. It is no use to call me on, if I do not seek a fight; I sit beneath a baytan tree, a wreath upon my brow, and many though my winters be, I'm happy as a cow. I do not fret about my rights, nor yet about my wrongs; I spend my tranquil days and nights a playing harps and pongs, and you will find no gayer vigils about the burning strings. They say there's sorrow in the land, they say there's sin and care, but would I do things the manner blamed if, I should rip and swear? Ah, no; I take my lute in hand and play a jim-crow air.

Going Strong.
There is always something wrong,
something fierce that threatens doom, but the country keeps along and emerges from the gloom. Uncle Sam is hard to sleep, hard to another in depair; and he trots along his way with his coat-tails in the air. Just a little while ago everything seemed on the blink, and we wept and lapped up woe as our daily food and drink.
Every prospect was a frown, there would be no coal to burn, and a cord of wood would cost more than any man could afford to pay. The roads ceased to run, transportation would collapse; all the world seemed bleak and dim, there were tears upon our cheeks. Even chronic Sunny Jim shook their heads and sighed, "Alas!
We can't sing our cheer-up hymns, for this crisis will not pass. We are against it now, every day we appear, and the statesman beats his brow in extremity of fear." But the country jogs along, and the smiling statesman say, "We are surely going strong, better times will come this way. There will shortly be a boom that will knock the rebels' rump, we're emerging from the gloom, and our skies are bright as gold."

Another Year.
Another year is skipping right smoother to its close, the skies will snow be shipping some novelties in snow, and the sun will be shining have left the ocean beaches, and through the woodland reaches a keen wind shrouds blows. There's something sad and dreary about the days of Fall; they're seldom bright and cheery, spring days they don't recall; the nights are long and chilly, the days are rough and hilly; along them Wesley Willie hunts for a winter stall. We face increased expenses, though we are in the hole; we'll have to burn the fences, so costly is the coal; the price of grub is steeper; and yet, why be a weeper? For rubber tires are cheaper and still our buses are rough and billy; along them Wesley Willie makes us yell, if we'd vacate tomorrow the stacks in which we dwell, old ties and customs sever, old forms of dull endeavor, and in our cars forever abide till life's farewell. Why should we live in hatches, and pay for heat and light, and bonnets for our auties, and everything we bite? The long white road is lying outdoors where we'd like to drive, and the motor-buses are crying—why not pull out tonight? Thus foolishly I twitter; such vagrant dreams will come, when autumn winds are bitter, and life seems out of plumb; when I can't rightly figure, as bills grow big and bigger, just how I'll stand the rigor of winter, bleak and plum.

No Peace.
Sweet peace is what we're needing,
it's what we're yearning for; all talk of scraps and bleeding the people now abhor; but still the captains thunder and tear their shirts assunder, and they would crush us under an avalanche of war. The world is all exhausted, the debt-worn nations red, their feet are badly frosted; their wounds are slow to heal; the people, sick of bleeding, would turn to playing, seeking to raise the wheat they're needing, and still the captains spie. When Europe's hosts were thronging, and death was on the blast, we said, in bitter longing,
"This war will be the last; the future king who's yearning to see the red fringe burning will presently be learning a lesson here and vast. Of guns and swords and sabres we'll manufacture hoes, and man, in useful labors, will all his hours dispose; and any skates declaring that nations should be faring to battles grim and wearing, will have a broken nose." But all our hopes were phony; our forecast was a fraud; the captain, on his pony, is evermore abroad; he cuts his blood-hot flims on "the ground we stand in, bitter longing, and he would dye with crimson the far-stead's verdant sod.

The Buggy.
My Uncle Hiram has a steed, a critter of a gaudy hue, and he admits his greatest need is something to catch it to. He wants a buggy seat and nice, such as he uses in other times; my Uncle Hiram has the price, he is lopsided with his dimes;
and yet he means the town in vain, and brandishes his wad of dough; he cannot find the sort of wain that needs a horse to make it ride. The dealers see his bundle big, and weep the tears of bleak remorse, for they can't find a decent rig that might be fastened to a horse. "We'll sell you cars propelled by gas," the dealers cry, in pleading tone, but Uncle Hiram says, "Alas I want to drive my own-wheeled wain. I long to make a daily trip on wheels, along the village street; I have the horse, I have the whip, I have the harness all complete. "We'll find you yelped unicorns," the dealers cry, in their despair; "and bandersnatches, decked with horns, we might provide, with proper care; but bugles, trunks are extinct, they fell beneath invention's blows; in modern schoolbuses they are linked with mastodons and things like those. So buy a car from us, old-cout, the-bugles' gone, from camp and court; we need that roll you pack about, for we have children to support."

Wrong Methods.
"You must pay no higher wages," says the toiler, Richard Roe, "for a dozen battle-gages in your whiskers I will throw. You employers in high places try to lilk the men who sweat;
you may grind some fellows' faces, but you can't grind mine, you bet." If says the haughty, stern employer, "If you'd quit, why go ahead; you are but the fool destroyer of the job that brings you bread. You may quit and go to thunder, quit for ever and a day; I will not be troubled under by you lads who work for pay." Thus they always rag each other, when some interference is made, as man's meas man and brother, light of kindness in their eyes. We should meet as friendly neighbors when a grievance is in sight, and the artist who labors might be pleasant and polite; and the man who pays the wages might show patience in his gaze; that would heat the foolish rage that too often he displays. Energy is badly wasted when we kick each other's slats; let the golden rule be pasted on the lining of our hats.

down East in Maine, and who was more generally informed in the history, literature, art and music of the countries we visited than those who lived in and had the advantages of a large city. "Where were you edu-

Shady Lane Stock Farm—Herefords

THE HOME OF THE FAIRFAXES
Present Herd Sires

Do you know that in the past several years, Herefords dominated the class known as "short-corn specials" at the 1921 International Live Stock show, Chicago?

In this class carloads of steers are fed for the purpose of determining and demonstrating the best and most economical method of feeding cattle. During the feeding period, which is about 110 days, accurate records are kept and in making awards the following points are considered: Quality and finish 50 per cent, gains 25 per cent, economy of gains 25 per cent.

Repeating last year's a record Herefords won every prize offered in this class, in the 1922 show.

It is significant that Herefords always carry away the awards in this class, as it represents the manner in which the majority of cattle are fed for the market. It shows that Herefords are in a class by themselves when economy of production and profits are considered.

Why not use a Hereford bull and get those extra dollars? Let us show you the correct type. Visitors welcome.

Succeed Himself as

Commissioner of the 4th District

A pioneer Wayne county farmer, a resident of Wayne county forty-six years, a term as commissioner, his record will show that he is a man of ability. He offers faithful and efficient service. Proof of his claim for appointment. November 7.

BE REMEMBERED ELECTION DAY.

Vote For ROBERT E. EVANS For Re-election to Congress

In four years there has been no public criticism of his record. He has voted right on every question affecting this district. He is identified with the farm bloc. He supported the Sweet bill for the relief of disabled soldiers. He strongly supported the soldiers' bonus at every step. He is in favor of strict enforcement of the Volstead Act. He voted to reduce normal income taxes from six to four per cent, thereby saving more than twenty million dollars to the ordinary taxpayer. He supported the emergency tariff, which aided Nebraska farmers. He advocated and voted for acts increasing powers of War Finance Corporation and Federal Farm Loan Board, thereby releasing millions for the relief of western farmers. Judge Evans is in a position to make his influence felt in the next congress as no new man can do.

The Highway Commissioner

It seems that there is a misunderstanding regarding the office of County Highway Commissioner as to the relative duties of said Commissioner.

The office of Highway Commissioner was created in 1913 by a legislative act and the County Board of the county in January of each year shall appoint a person deemed and considered by the board to be qualified for the office.

The duties of the office are defined thusly: He shall have exclusive control of all roads and bridges in the county, working in harmony with the county board. In this county, as a matter of economy, the board selected myself and it has been my aim and has called forth my best ability in establishing a road program to benefit all parts of the county, that is conceded by the traveling public to be as good as any county has laid out in this northeast part of the state.

We have the Wayne and Wisner, and the Wayne and Haqington roads that are Federal and State Aid roads; the West Falls and Bannock in the eastern part of the county; the 13th and State Road. Last year we improved the Grainland Highway from Wakefield to the Pierce county line west of Hoskins. This year we have improved the Wayne-Carroll-Sholes road at Randolph, also the Randolph-Norfolk, seventeen miles across the west end of the county, also the Wisner-Carroll road connecting the two towns; the last four named roads have been improved and will have constant maintenance and be kept in good shape and paid for from the automobile fund that is levied from automobile licenses, and without direct tax upon the taxpayer. These connecting roads will be kept up just as carefully as the Federal and State Highways. All these roads relieve the road districts from liability in their upkeep. Other roads that are under consideration are four miles south of Wayne, connecting the south highway with the Wakefield and Pender road, length eight miles; also from Winick south to Stanton county line to Stanton. This entire system will cost the county 1300 miles of road that will be maintained at the least possible expense. Reports are made on this entire road system every week and cost account every month, all of which requires considerable clerical work from this office, copies of which are on file at the county clerk's office for your observation.

There is one other short stretch of road that will be built next spring straight west of Carroll six miles, a high line road that will connect Sholes and Randolph at the John L. Davis corner.

The material success that has been achieved in road construction has been through the cooperation of the county board and the state department of public works. At no time has there been the least friction or antagonism. The chief aim has been to reach all parts of the county with at least one real maintained highway connecting all county towns and working in conjunction with towns in nearby counties, having a system of inter-county highways. As to the distribution of the automobile funds, the county has obligated itself to keep in a satisfactory condition the federal aid roads. They have the preference. The secondary roads will receive the same attention in maintenance.

The automobile money that remains in the county is 75 per cent that is remitted to the state for defraying the expense of state supervision. 25 per cent is put into a general dragging fund and divided equally between the three commissioner districts. The balance, 75 per cent less the 24 per cent, is in a highway fund for the maintenance and upkeep of the above mentioned highways, and monthly reports made and published at the expense of each patrol. One report is in the hands of the county treasurer, one report to the department of public works, one to the county clerk, one to the division engineer, and one remains in this office. To those who may want to go into all the details relative to the appointment and duties of the County Highway Commissioner, I refer to Section 2802-2807 of the 1922 Statutes of Nebraska.

The administration of this office has been conducted along the lines of getting a dollar's worth of beneficial results for every dollar expended. And from my optimistic viewpoint, I can see all roads that are well kept and that receive some careful looking after and maintenance that our state highways are now receiving at a greatly reduced expense indeed of the next five or six years.

The equipment that Wayne county now has on the five patrols consists of five trucks, five road maintainers and just the equipment needed to do thorough work. All supplies are bought at the lowest market prices. All this equipment has come from the state department and paid for from the automobile fund. The large 20 Holt tractor came into this county through the state department and is now the property of the county.

All that has been stated above has been so stated in order that people of the county can have a clearer understanding as to this office, and to try to allay the spirit of destructive criticism and to make them better acquainted with the office of Highway Commissioner. That is a part of the county administration just as much as any other office, and unless Section 2802-2807 is repealed by the incoming legislature, it will have an active factor in highway and general road affairs of the county.

Hope that this outline may enable the reader, if interested, to get more clear and concise understanding of all those powers and duties vested in the office of Highway Commissioner, I am yours truly
