Neighbory Editors.

Randolph Times: A merited compliment is paid the Wayne Herald in the last issue of the National Printer and Journalist, in which two pages are devoted to a write-up of the Herald and its editor, E. W. Huse, and three double page advertising spreads are reprinted. The Herald holds a high place as one of the best printed, best edited and best typographically among the weekly newspapers of the country. And it is so refreshing to know that Editor Huse is so very modest about it all and is trying for the best things without regard of a self-administered or from others.

Harrington Herald: Under the caption "The 'New Year's Eve Party' Excellence," the November number number of the National Printer-Journalist contains a splendid illustrated article about the Wayne Herald, which the magazine calls "One of the finest weekly papers in the United States."

What is a Lottery.

Fairbury News: The indictment of the State Journal and the Standard, recently by the federal grand jury for violation of the lottery statute of the postal laws, is an illustration of what newspapers are contending "up against" in the conduct of their advertising columns. This law in question was originally framed to put the Louisiana lottery and like institutions out of business, but was made so rigid that it applies with equal force to everything that has an element of chance in the distribution of prizes.

The holding of the so-called lottery may not be prohibited by state or federal law, but the circulation of information about it in advertisement from or the publication of the names of winners is not permitted in the United States under the act.

Matters not that the customer gets full value received for his money and that the individual takes no chances, if he stands a chance of losing his money in any chance, it is a violation of the postal laws and newspapers are liable to suffer severe penalties. There have been so many prosecutions under this law in the United States recently that the secretary of the Nebraska Press association has written the following to the newspaper publishers of the state:

"Nebraska publishers are urged to be more careful about their advertisements that consist in any way whatever with the lottery laws. If there is any element of chance in a proposition it is likely to be called a lottery. The fact that a dealer gives full value in merchandise for every dollar and then gives tickets on an automobile or other prize does not clear his proposition of being a lottery. Penalties are very severe for printing lottery ads. You cannot afford to take the chance for the few dollars you get out of such business."

Newspaper publishers are human. They naturally want to accommodate their customers if they may do so consistently. But it would seem that the only safe plan to pursue is to obey the strict letter of the law in the publication of matter of this nature.

Tekamah Store is Sold. Tekamah, Dec. 8.—One of the largest business consolidations in the state of Nebraska occurred in Tekamah Nov. 29, when the Mitten-Nesbit Co. department store was purchased by E. J. Gano of the Gano Dry Goods Co., H. M. Metzler of the Metzler general store and J. B. Buller of the Farmers Union. The Gano and Metzler stores will be merged with the Mitten-Nesbit Co., while Mr. J. B. Buller, manager of the Farmers Union, resigns his position and joins the new firm, who will assume charge of their new store February first. A modern department store is planned and many alterations will be made in the store to better handle the stock, it necessitating the removal of the Batchelder hardware shop and later the postoffice. The window will be changed and one main entrance placed in the center of the block with modern show windows on each side. With the selling out of the Mitten-Nesbit Co., one of the oldest established firms in Tekamah, ceases to exist; they having been in business over a quarter of a century. The former health of both Mr. R. J. Mitten and J. E. Nesbit, was one of the principal reasons, it is stated for the sale. The business has been incorporated with an authorized capital of $50,000, with E. J. Gano as president and general manager, H. M. Metzler, vice president, and J. B. Buller, secretary and treasurer. Plan New Power Line. Neligh, Neb., Dec. 8.—A representative of a Lincoln concern that is in the business of constructing high power transmission electric lines has recently been in Clearwater and Evans making a proposition to the town for the construction of a line from the Neligh plant to those places with the objective of purchasing current from the plant here, which gives a twenty-four-hour service, while the local plants at those places do not. The Neligh Mill company has nothing to do with the proposition to build the line, but if the town desires, it stands ready to make them a price on current delivered at the meter at the town limits. Annual Railroadman's Ball. Norfolk News, Dec. 8.—The annual railroad men's ball will be held at King's amusement park on Christmas night, Monday, Dec. 25. Committees have been appointed and are starting work on plans to make this year's ball one of the biggest in the history of the city. The railroad men have put on a Christmas ball annually for more than a score of years and the organization has grown to such an extent that the old place of holding the great hop—Riks Hall—has become too small to accommodate the great crowds. It is expected that King's big ball room will be crowded to capacity on this occasion. The hall will be appropriately decorated. Observe Education Week. Randolph, Neb., Dec. 8.—American education week is being observed here in the public schools by a series of ten minute talks given by local speakers. Topics taken up so far are: Citizenship, by W. T. Fishback; local problems, by Dr. G. E. Hartman; the legislature, by C. H. Randall. Dr. G. E. Peters spoke yesterday. Ponzi Money Wise. Detroit News: Mr. Ponzi acts as his own lawyer. Educational Week is Observed by Program

National Educational week was observed from Dec. 4 to 8 in the Wayne high school and on Friday a program, especially planned for the patrons, was given in the high school. The numbers were as follows: Songs, "Waterlilies" and "Beils of St. Mary's" by the girls glee club; group of songs by the first grade; recitation, "Calling the Boy to Tea," by Frederick Berry of the seventh grade; character song, "No Sir," by the second grade; live ads by the fifth and sixth grades; good health play by the third grade; the animals who tried to make man by the fourth grade; first grade story and orchestra music, "The North Wind," and "Santa Claus Song" by the second grade; music, "Snowman Song" and "Christmas Carol" by the fourth grade; seventh reading by Dorothy Loomis; "Hornet School" play given by the fifth and sixth grades; and "St. Nicholas," a song by the fifth grade.

Miss Leila Mitchell Tells About Mormons

"The Seekers" was the title of an essay read Friday morning by Miss Leila Mitchell to the students at the State Teachers College. The paper dealt with the history of the Mormons and first described the monument erected to Noel Knight on the prairie near Niobrara, Neb., in memory of the leader of the group who spent the winter of 1846 and 1847 on the spot. The narrative continues by telling of the sufferings of the Mormon travelers and then makes these people typify humanity in following "the gleam." Miss Mitchell developed the idea that the most precious of all possessions, The theme and its unfolding aroused a mood of mystery and heroism which was felt by the listeners.

Improvement Shows In Farm Situation

Washington, Dec. 9.—The general agricultural situation has improved slightly, as indicated by the monthly agricultural review of the department of agriculture. Cotton, grain and livestock products prices, as well as prices of things farmers have to buy, have risen slowly, the October price index on ten farm products being 110 compared with 100 for 1912.

"This has put a little money into the pockets of some farmers, but heart into many more and has done both for those who carry farm products through the channels of trade," the review says.

The price the farmer pays for other than food products, according to the wholesale price index, has risen to 169 compared with 100 in 1913. Thus a unit of farm products will purchase 35 per cent less of other commodities as it could in 1913. November figures indicate an abnormal movement of population from farms to towns.

Agricultural conditions in the east are relatively poor. Potatoes, apples, hay and truck crops are thoroughly discouraged, the report says.

The cotton belt shows the best general recovery of any region as a whole. Cotton is very poor in many areas but those having cotton to sell feel fairly good at present prices. Business here has been much stimulated.

Rise in Grain Prices.

Farmers in the corn belt are somewhat encouraged at the rise in grain prices. A heavy fall run of hogs to market as well as heavy movements of feeder cattle and sheep to farms is reported. Winter grains show good stands.

Wheat belt shippers have been hampered by an almost unprecedented shortage of freight cars. Winter wheat stands are reported generally very good. Shipments of wheat to foreign countries feel fairly good at sheep, lambs and wool prices and the outlook for next year is generally considered favorable. Pacific coast shippers have been hampered by car shortage. Apple growers have been hard hit by low prices in eastern markets.

State Teachers' Meeting.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 10.—President William E. Own of the National Educational association and head of the Chicago Normal school, and Frank Cody, superintendent of schools at Detroit, Mich., will be among the principal speakers at the fifty-sixth annual state convention of the Nebraska State Teachers' association, to be held in Omaha, Jan. 18 to 20, according to an announcement just made by the secretary.

According to the call for the state meeting made by President W. E. Morton, of Beatrice, the convention will be somewhat different from the state meetings of the previous years, due to the new organization, which aims to take the association meetings out to the teachers. This been accomplished through the district meetings held in October.

"There is need, however, for a state meeting of a general nature," said Mr. Morton, in his announcement. "At the state meeting school folks from all parts of the state may come together and discuss their problems, renew acquaintances, and plan for the future of the whole state. It is at this meeting the delegate assembly will meet and where the business of the association will be transacted."

The Superintendents and Principals association will hold its regular winter meeting during the state convention, according to E. M. Hosman, secretary of the Nebraska State Teachers' association. Plans also are being made for an interesting meeting of the State High School Athletic association during the present association meeting.

Business.

St. Louis City Journal: One man on the street said to me, "Americans want all the best of it. An American won't go into business unless he can make 100 per cent profit or more." Both were Americans. They agreed the statement was correct, but the fact that they were in agreement did not establish its correctness. As a matter of fact, the statement is not correct. Most of the business of this country is done on a narrow margin of profit. Take the railroads for an example. They represent the biggest capitalization, the heaviest operation costs, the largest pay rolls and the greatest amounts of money handled of all industries, excluding farms. Railroads operate under the law at less than 6 per cent net profit. They have not been able to earn the government allowances for several years and that has been the reason for the present run-down condition of the railroads, which has been graphically illustrated by the failure to handle the country's shipping in the way good business demands.

"Take banking for another example. Bankers are willing to lend money at normal interest rates. They go into business, stay in business and get rich by lending money for a good deal less than 100 per cent. Manufacturers provide another illustration. Competition has forced them to put out the best product of which their plants are capable and offer it on the market at the lowest possible price, and the difference in production costs and the price they receive is far under 100 per cent. Then, how about merchants? They do not make enormous profits on their investments. In fact, the bigger merchants figure that their only hope of making any money at all is in selling an enormous amount of goods at a very small profit. They depend upon the volume of sales instead of the size of the profits. No merchant anywhere makes 100 per cent profit or half that. Grocers operate on a narrow margin as a rule. They depend upon turnover for profits and the disposal of perishable goods while they are sound. Many other dealers in goods sold, lumber, motor cars, bricks, and even coal, strange as it may seem, go into business when there is no chance for them to make anything approaching 100 per cent.

Some novelties are offered on the market where the profit is enormous. There are trifles manufactured, useful utensils, too, at less than 1 cent which are sold at five to fifteen cents. Profits on such articles sometimes run as high as 1,000 per cent. Such profits, it has been observed, frequently build big fortunes. Goods of that character represent such an infinitesimal part of trade that it would not be fair to treat them as anything else. Immense profits are sought by some business men. Speculators know no limit. Brokers will start into business on a shooting and hope to clean up a million in a year or so, and some of them do it. The stock and grain gamblers are winners. They risk enormous amounts because they know immense winnings are made. They reckon the hazard, perhaps, as a more conservative business man would reckon the hazard, perhaps, as a more engaged goods, lowered prices on a changing market, outworn styles, etc. These business men are really after the big profits.

Going back to the original statement, it was the inference that American business men were not "game" to attempt ventures on narrow margins. They are, however, as has been pointed out. Some of the biggest fortunes in America have been built on small profits. There is the Woolworth building in New York. It was built of profits made in the chain of five and ten-cent stores Mr. Woolworth had established. The narrow margin of profit does not discourage the astute man of business as long as he can see that his turnover is to be of a considerable volume.

This from a writer would discourage some of us if it were always true: "The brilliant phenomenon of nature turns out to be an adult nut."

We understand an instrument is now to be invented to read thoughts. In general use, it would encourage people to think with a good deal of caution.

Since the cold weather, the whole world smells of a hokey nut. It is exciting, it is merely the alcohol used to keep automobile radiators from freezing.

Since automobiles and airplanes have supplanted sleds, and since warm, gently falling rain, in the form of moisture, we would suggest to the weather department the utter needlessness of manufacturing and delivering snow.

France is warned to avoid imperialism if it would prevent a future war. The nations are fighting for cash, military movements and extend democracy and freedom could not be expected to join in a complete reversal of policy.

It will be noticed that Santa Claus takes a better picture now than he did in earlier times. He may be getting younger. Or he may have taken advantage of latest processes in keeping his whiskers and hair ungrayed and beautiful. Or he may have fallen into the hands of artists who know better how to impart personification of generous good will.

The county employs a good deal of psychology in collecting taxes. First, invitations are issued asking for personal taxes. These paid, a high of relief in no longer being that one it invites in to square the paving tax. This over, along comes a request to pay an automobile tax. Psychology is used in not asking for all taxes at one time, but instead, giving intervals during which one's respiration may catch up.

A number of Wayne churches will have Christmas exercises Sunday evening which will be Christmas eve. Time was when churches would not have held such Christmas celebrations on the Sabbath. But we never could understand why they should not do so. Christmas belongs to Christianity and ceases rather than desecrates the Sabbath. Christmas joy should not be considered sacrilege. The spirit of the great holidays is in perfect accord with the Sabbath.

Contemplating the cost of improving and maintaining state normal, the Hamilton County Register, published at Aurora, advises that two of the state normal schools be abandoned and the equipment used for other purposes. We would not object to the proposition if we might be permitted to name the schools to be abandoned. We would even be willing to let Aurora have the discarded equipment if it can think of one institution in which it would like to have. There is only one institute for feeble-minded in the state, and another one might be established especially if we are going to put the brakes on education and culture.

Leaving the farm to multiply city consumers would seem to be a reversal of the policy advocated a few years ago when people were urged to stick to agriculture. Then it was feared production would fall short of meeting the world's needs. As a matter of fact, there would be no over-production with a couple of foreign countries need our products, and would have them if they had money for them. It is not so much over-production as lack of distribution that has kept prices of farm products from properly advancing.

John Wannamaker, founder of the stores which bear his name in New York and Philadelphia, whose death occurred Tuesday at the age of 84, started his career as an errand boy at $1.25 per week, and later secured a position in a retail clothing store at $1.50 per week. One hundred dollars saved in that way furnished the foundation on which he built his fortune. The business life of John Wannamaker, with its simple and unpretentious beginning, should be an inspiration to the boys of today. His record was one of industry, integrity, faithful attention to duty and a desire to return adequate service for compensation received. He did not by sharp practice or cunning connivance try to get something for nothing. He more than met expectations, and was rewarded by confidence, advancement and large achievement.

The bill that has passed congress to increase the number of Civil War veterans and their widows will encourage the surviving remnant of the soldier group that fought to preserve the Union twenty years ago. The measure must still be passed by the senate and receive the signature of the president. The bill provides $72 million for each year for the next ninety days or more, $50 a month for every veteran's widow and $6 a month for every veteran's child under 16 years of age. No applications for pensions will be required from those already on the list, and the increase begins as soon as executive approval has been granted. On October 1, 1922, there were 1,000,000 and surviving veterans of the Civil war and 271,895 widows. It would be a nice thing if the bill could become law in time to add to the cheer of the honored group on Christmas day.

Ancient history explains the rise, conquest, decline and fall of nations. After a nation had become strong and victorious, it usually turned to luxury and idleness, and was thus getting ready for a fall. A nation is no greater or more powerful than its people, and on each individual there is a measure of responsibility resting. While we should not encourage foreboding, we should carefully guard American ideals and American fortunes, emphasizing the fine character and rugged manhood reflected by American pioneers. We cannot afford to be down. We cannot afford to backslide and achieve indifference at the expense of health and courage and achievement. We must not allow weakness, following great strength, to make possible decay and ruin. We must not be mere recipients, taking, but not putting back. Each must contribute effort and production to society, building strong character and perpetuating a strong and exemplary nation. Let each sense his responsibility and do something besides find fault.

Young parents look forward hopefully to the first Christmas that their children will take notice of an enjoy. Parental pride swells as preparations go forward to awaken in the infant appreciation of Christmas and bestow Yuletide happiness on little ones that are just beginning to bud and unfold. But fond parents should not be permanently cast down if, in the early evolutions of their family, their expectations suffer shocks of disappointment. We had some experience with a couple of little girls out in Oregon. They were just evolving from babyhood, and they were carefully fed on Christmas prospects. A beautiful Oregon fir, with suitable decorations, had been provided. No court could have been more impartial in dividing gifts between the two children. But presents at the same moment. Their faces were aglow when they saw the tree with burning tapers and glistening tinsel. Their smiles were radiant as they regarded the gifts that came into their hands. Then they looked at each other. Each set up a yell for the other's present. Each wanted everything, and each was anxious to engage in a combat to gain full possession. The joy of both children had been given an awful jolt. But only young parents, with feeling buoyed to empyrean heights, allow themselves to be hurt by the antics of instinct's present. In mature minds. They should not be disheartened if their little ones, just getting acquainted with the world, kick a few nannels out of their Christmas heaven.

New Times.
 Lincoln Journal in New York and Washington food-at retail is 51 per cent higher than in 1914. In Omaha the increase is 34 per cent, in Kansas City 53 per cent and in Salt Lake City 25 per cent. These variations are extremely significant.

Why should the increase be approximately twice as great in the east as in the west? Is it a matter for the west to consider thoughtfully. Most of the food consumed in the east is produced in the west. The difference between the cost of food east and west is largely a matter of freight rates and of the cost of passing through extra hands in course of distribution. If the gap between 1914 and 1922 in New York is wider in New York than in Salt Lake City, the difference is largely the measure of increased freight rates. To this must be added increased wages and profits for the shippers at food on its way from western producer to eastern consumer. The increased cost of getting his products to market comes largely out of the pocket of the farmer. At the point of production he is getting about what he got in 1914. Measured in buying power, he is getting about one-third less than 1914. At points close to the place of production, like Salt Lake City and Omaha, the consumer pays 25 to 33 per cent more. As far away as New York it is 54 per cent more.

These figures confirm what the president said in his message. The problem of the farmer is largely one of less costly distribution—both coming and going.

Whether and Douglas—may retrogress at the initial meeting. Among the proposals made for reducing taxes was to limit the four-year course of the four state normal schools to two years; to do away with athletic contests so far as they look to stigmatize district championships; to eliminate shorthand and typewriting from high school curricula, and to discontinue with the study of home economics.

Relief from Cold Wave.
 Omaha, Neb., Dec. 13.—Relief from the cold wave came to northern Nebraska and western Iowa yesterday with a south breeze that carried masses of snow. A rise of twenty degrees was reported from Beatrice, Neb., and from Lincoln. Omaha also experienced rising temperature. Snow and continued rising temperature is predicted for today.

Omaha Man's Word Good.
 Lincoln Star: An Omaha woman goes into court to prove that her former husband can keep his word for sixteen years. He took an oath not to pay her a cent of alimony.

Time to Quit Feeling Pale.
 Atlantic Press and Deloitte: This country is getting too self-conscious about its business health. Why not quit feeling its own pulse every five minutes and settle down to work.

A Different Kind of Game.
 National Republican: The Turks won the war against the Greeks, but it remains to be seen at the peace conference how good poker players they are.

The Paramount Question.
 Washington Star: The question before the average conference is usually this: "What Uncle Sam goes to do with all his money."

Let's All Move to Town

Drowned John Stockman. While some of the city papers have been shedding crocodile tears over the apparently growing trend of population from the farms and canneries to the cities and towns, the people out in the country have looked on the exodus of their neighbors with complacency verging on satisfaction. There are already too many men farming and raising stock, they believe, and an increase in the number of consumers in the city promises a broader and better demand for the products of the soil. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace undoubtedly entertains this view of the situation. In his annual report to the president he says:

"The greatly accelerated movement of farmers and especially farmers' sons, from the farms to the cities and industrial centers is one of the hopeful signs. It is not possible to measure the movement with absolute accuracy, but our best estimates indicate that during the months of July, August and September two or three per cent of the farmers for the cities as normally. This movement is in direct response to the willingness of the buying public to pay much higher prices for wheat in the building trades, manufacturers, and industries than for labor on the farm. When fair relationships between agricultural and other prices are restored and the capable worker can market his labor on the farm whether by working for himself or for another, the farmer's position will compare favorably, all things considered, with the wages he is able to get in the city, the movement will again become normal."

A good many farmers and ranchers are so situated, financially and otherwise, that they cannot just pick up and leave their possessions without ever they want to and this is undoubtedly a good thing for the country. There are others to whom the single wage and other prices of the city appeal strongly and there is no reason under the sun why these men and women should not leave the farm. Their presence in the congested centers of population will help solve the industrial situation and at the same time tend to relieve the food crisis of the overproduction of food stuffs.

Secretary Wallace is right. It is a hopeful sign of the times. Both country and city are better off by the movement, although it may take some time to become adjusted to the change. Cutting down production in the country and increasing the production of farm products in the city will inevitably bring about a higher level of prices for what the farmer produces and from the farmer's point of view nothing could be more desirable.

The Late Election.

Fairbury News: The recent election furnished a rebuke for about everybody and everything. By the way, there was no endorsement complete enough to make any person very happy. The election of Reed is a slap at Wilson; the election of La Follette is a slap at Harding; the defeat of Beveridge is a slap at the Progressive; the defeat of the wets in Ohio is a slap at the Progressives; the defeat of Morgan is a slap at the newspaper men; the election of Brookhart in Iowa is a slap at standpatners; the election of Lodge in Massachusetts is a victory for the standpatners; the victory in New York is a triumph for Wilson, and the election in Pennsylvania is a victory for the progressives. Now pay your money and take your choice:

What is the Difference? Springfield, Mass., Republican: Gov. Edwards of New Jersey, senator-elect, has "utter contempt for those who are politically dry, but privately wet." He himself is politically wet and privately dry, which also means that he views public policy as something not necessarily parallel to his private taste. What's the essential difference between the two positions?

And We Fall for It. Yankton Press and Dakotian: Russia wants America to continue famine relief, while permitting Russia to sell the products of her own harvest to other countries. It may be all right, but there is something about the suggestion that goes against the grain.

Ready for Civilization. Portland Oregonian: Judging by the rapidity with which Silk mastered the art of the double-breasted tuxedo are ripe material for civilization to work on.

Have Your Gifts Nicely Boxed

Half the pleasure in receiving a gift comes from having it "dressed up" in pretty Christmas wrappings. You will find here a wonderful assortment of lovely boxes of every size and all priced very moderately at 3 cents up to 50 cents. Also tissue paper, holly paper, tags, seals, Christmas cards, cords and ribbons.

Ahern's Gifts For All

Pohlson Gifts

Little gifts "de luxe" especially desirable for mailing to some one whom you want to remember in a nice way. Every one neatly boxed and accompanied by a dainty card embellished with a bit of clever verse which adds greatly to their gift effectiveness. Don't fail to see our special cases filled with these gifts so that they may be mailed and attend to the mailing of them.

Sensible Gifts That Will Spread Joy Over a Whole Year

Each Christmas fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers are confronted with the same old problem, "What Shall I Give?" It is easy to solve these gift problems at Ahern's. Here you may choose tasteful, beautiful and sensible articles for every member of the family at prices ranging from 10c to $100. We make great preparations for your holiday business. Not only in selecting gift merchandise but in displaying it on special racks, counters, cases and tables with plain price tickets, all of which make it easy and pleasing for you to choose. Come to the "Christmas Store."

For the Girls and Boys

First—new shoes or slippers. Do you remember the thrill that comes with the pair of new shoes you received one Christmas morning long ago, and didn't you sleep with them under your pillow that night?

Choose a nice pair, fit them up in a pretty Christmas box and match their eyes sparkle Christmas morning.

Here is the place to buy them—specialize in good looking, good wearing shoes for the little folks. If you must have new, we can change them after Christmas.

A fine warm sweater is a gift every girl and boy cherishes. Here you can buy them in the style and colors they like best. Prices are very reasonable, $1.50 to $3.50.

Just ordinary stockings won't mean so much to her, but give the little miss a pair of real leather wool like her stylish big sister wears or a fine pair of the drop stitch mercerized and she'll be very happy. We have them in the famous Tony stockings that fit neatly and wear best.

New mittens are an inexpensive gift that always please. The nicest ones are of brown kid with fur tops. The children like the Scotch wool gloves with big hairy colored gaiters, cuffs that add so much to the comfort, as well as style, because they pull up over the coat cuffs and shut out the cold winds.

Hair ribbons are especially attractive to the little miss. Select a yard and a quarter of gay colored ribbon and a hair bow fastener. Make up a big bow and hang it on the tree in a pretty holly box and you will delight her.

They never have half enough handkerchiefs. Fit up two or three in which tissue with a pretty holly ribbon to which a Santa Claus card is attached and you can make a sensible pretty gift.

Gifts For Her

"Say it with something to wear" and your gift will bring the greatest and most lasting pleasure. Here you will find a splendid selection of the gift things women cherish most, and experienced help is here to assist you in making your choice if you so desire. Our folks can shop here with pleasure and comfort.

We will box and wrap the gifts they choose in appropriate Christmas wrap-papers and tissue paper, seals and seals. For women's gifts come to Ahern's.

A nice purse or hand bag is a lasting Christmas token. The ones now most favored are ivory or ecru boxes. The large velvet mirror set in the top—the containers for toilet articles and the roughest of these boxes make them most attractive. Some are even electric lighted. We have a very complete stock at $1.50 to $5.00.

She never has enough of nice hose and you are certain to please her immensely if you send a pair of the especially nice silk or silk and wool sort for wear with her low shoes. She will like our Wayne Knit hose best because they come in the prettiest weaves and fit the neatest about the ankles. Some of the newest weaves and colorings were bought in Chicago this week.

A silk kimono is a precious gift. Imagine with what pleasure she will think of you every time she has occasion to wear it. Some lovely ones are here at $8.50 to $15.00.

Silk lingerie holds first place in the heart of every woman who loves exquisite personal gifts. Here you can choose for her from a fine assortment bought especially for holiday giving.

She will understand if you say it with gloves. A pair of real French kid gloves nowadays is a real treasure to most any woman. If you miss the size, she can exchange after Christmas.

A fine winter coat or dress are gifts that many women choose for themselves or for a friend at Christmas. We are selling them now at the lowest prices of the year and have a fine assortment for your selection. We can help you select a color, size and style she will like. If she wishes to exchange it after Christmas we will be glad to have her do so.

A handsome waist of beaded silk crepe will be a cherished gift. We always sell a great many of them for this purpose and so we have prepared to have for you the latest styles at this time. We will box your Christmas selection free of charge.

Just give her a handsome brilliant stone set back comb and you'll earn a year of gratitude. The large fan shape set are especially popular. The price will depend on the amount of the brilliant settings. The price range is $1.50 to $3.75.

A silk umbrella is a gift that expresses a fine sentiment. The rain or shine variety of colored silk that can be carried on hot summer days for sun protection or on rainy days are the ones they like best. They come with pretty carved handles and white tipped ribs and are priced, $5.00 to $6.00.

Dainty dressing table accessories are most acceptable gifts—especially for the young lady. Ivory mirrors, brush and comb sets, powder and puff boxes, jewel boxes, picture frames, holders for her cologne bottles and pin cushions are here at moderate prices.

Christmas Shoes and Slippers

Tell the story in a way that every member of the family can understand.

And when you give shoes or slippers you want all the attractiveness for your gift that style and quality can add. Then here is the place to make your choice. Our shoes and slippers have quality—we handle thoroughly dependable brands only. Your shoe gifts will prove their worth as time goes on if you get them here. The style feature you can depend on—the very latest shoes and slippers that are now being worn in the eastern style centers were bought in Chicago this week. You will find some exceptional bargains too in comfy slippers for every member of the family, as we secured them at lowest prices at the wholesaler's clearing sales the past few days.

For the Girls and Boys

If she wear her hair long she will be very glad to have a barrette comb to hold it in place and especially if you get her one with sparkling colored studs. Nice ones may be had at 50c and 75c.

One of the best selling gifts we have for the boys is house slippers. Made of leather on the style of Indian moccasins. They are very useful and look like boys' slippers should look.

Gifts For Men

When the tree is trimmed and the stockings are all filled and "Santa has turned in, then is the time to prepare a surprise for "him" with "his presents" selected from these.

GIFTS THAT MEN APPRECIATE

Christmas ties of exceptional value—every one just new and in the correct style. A warm high top of richly figured blanket material at $5.00.

A fine leather belt with adjustable buckle at 75c or more. A pair of silk or feather hose a little nicer than he would buy for himself, but find what he would like to have, 50c to 75c.

Five initial handkerchiefs of linen at 50c and of soft sheer cotton at 25c, or some of the fancier sort with colored borders at 50c or 75c.

A length of fine madras or silk shirting material which can be made up after Christmas. Many neat steppes and plain novices to choose from at 50c to $1.50 yard.

A handsome silk muffler at $2.50. A pair of warm comfy slippers which he would buy for himself but which he will be delighted to receive.

A pretty Christmas box containing a pair of arm suspenders or suspenders at 25c to 75c.

Gifts For Her

Canton chinese baskets, first quality, rich dark colors, trimmed with large-colored glass rings and silk tassels—useful for sewing, candy, etc., are gifts that please and last. They are priced—according to size at 60c to $2.25.

Warm Comfy slippers are a gift of comfort that every woman appreciates. We have some especially good values for you bought at the wholesaler's clearing sales in Chicago this week.

The grown-up daughter and the wife treasure greatly a pair of especially nice dress pumps or strap slippers of patent leather, suede or satin. We have just received some of the very latest styles in tongue pumps that they are now wearing in the eastern style centers and you will be gratefully remembered if you can give them a pair. We can exchange them after Christmas if you don't get the size just right.

Handkerchiefs—they are small but they are dainty and are ever welcome gifts. From the fine Christmas assortment we are showing you can choose a most pleasing variety at any price from 5c to $1.25.

Give her something for the home. Many wives and mothers appreciate a gift of this sort almost as much as something for themselves. If there is a newly married daughter or daughter-in-law in the family you could probably select no gift at the price that she would welcome more than a pair of pretty all-wool plain blankets. $10.00 will buy a handsome pair—every thread wool and they are special values which I picked up in Chicago at the wholesaler's clearing sales this week at $4.50 to $5.00. You can choose pretty plaid wool nap blankets which are also very desirable as gifts.

Table linen makes a most acceptable home gift. Every wife and mother likes an especially nice table cloth—especially if she can use it on special occasions. A 2 1/2-yard-length-of-fine-real linen cloth may be had at $6.75 to $7.50. Real linen rankings are $5.00 to $8.50 per dozen. Fine mercerized cloths are $3.00 to $3.75.

Fancy bath towel sets consisting of two towels and wash rag to match are put up in neat ribbon tied boxes for gift giving and are very reasonably priced at $1.25 to $1.75.

A fine bed spread for the spare room will be very welcome in most homes. At $2.50 to $6.00 you can give one that is sure to please.

Especially attractive home gifts are library table runners and piano scarfs of beautiful heavily brocaded silk in dark rich coloring. Several especially attractive ones have just come in time for the gift season.

Just Arrived from Santa Claus Land

A fine assortment of new holiday merchandise has just arrived from the east where Mr. J. J. Ahern has been on a buying trip for the past few days. Included in these express and freight shipments are goods especially suitable for gift giving for almost every department in the store. Bring your Christmas list to Ahern's and choose from the newest and latest of the Christmas things. Low prices were obtained on these goods because at this season the wholesale houses are making especially low prices to close out their remaining Christmas stocks. Come early while the assortment is most complete.

Good Things To Eat

Holiday time is "eat time" and the best is in demand. Richellou served fruits and vegetables are in a class by themselves. Your family and guests will be delighted if you serve them Chase & Sanborn coffee. It's the world's best; it is served at almost every public and social function in Wayne because of its superior quality. Fresh oranges, apples, bananas and fresh vegetables the finest the market affords will be here for your Christmas feasts. We are prepared to serve you as never before in the groceries.

Candy, Nuts, Trees

Have you ever eaten "budded" English walnuts? If you haven't you do not know how good a walnut can taste. Get them here and get the other nuts with from just as fine varieties. We buy no cheap or second grade nuts to be able to offer bargain prices. Here you will find only the best. Our candy stock is the sort children can eat with safety. Our Christmas trees are the bright green bushy blue spruce variety raised in Maine—they look best and hold the needles longest. Prices no higher than ordinary—it is just a matter of knowing and buying the best kind.

I am writing this advertisement in Chicago after a buying trip in the wholesale district and a sight seeing trip through the Big retail stores. This gift merchandise I have mentioned is just what is being displayed most generally in the windows and gift sections of the best stores here and I have bought and sent home a fine assortment of this attractive gift merchandise.

Only 8 Days

Do you realize there are only seven shopping days left until Xmas. If you haven't visited the store lately there is a real surprise for you. Many interesting items have recently arrived and the store has been all dressed up for Christmas.

Week's Report From Bureau of Markets

Cattle—Compared with week ago: Corn fed steers and yearlings steady to strong; top yearlings $1.00; others steady. The stock 15 to 25c higher; bulls weak to 20c lower; veals 60c to $1.25 higher; stockers and feeders steady to weak. Canners and cutters steady.

Hogs—Slightly lower than week ago, most decline being on packing hogs which declined 15 to 25c. Butchers steady to 5c lower. Steeper pigs steady.

Sheep—Market compared with week ago: Fed wooled lambs 75c higher; clipped lambs about 50c higher; yearlings steady; sheep steady to strong; feeders 60 to 65c higher.

What's—During the first of the week prices declined but worked higher during the latter part, closing fractionally higher. Factors influencing decline were local pressure and selling by eastern interests on lower Liverpool market, weakness in stock market, and absence of buying support. Factoring concerns of the advance were overold condition and bullish crop news from Argentina. Broonhall's estimate of Argentina's exportable surplus is 182,000,000 bushels or 15,000,000 more than the preliminary estimate.

Corn—Corn closed fractionally lower the week. Visible corn 11,072,000 against 15,518,000 bushels last year. Farmers in some parts of Iowa are refusing to sell corn under 40c.

four principal markets decreased 18,000 cases from week ago. Stocks in storage 1,801,415 cases compared to 1,341,470 cases last year. Local price, 42c.

Poultry—Receipts of poultry at the four principal markets decreased 450,000 lbs. from week ago. Stocks in storage 35,000,000 lbs. this year compared to 46,800,000 lbs. last year. Local prices: Hens, (4 lbs. and over) 16c, (under 4 lbs) 14c; Leghorn hens, 14c; springs, 14c; Leghorn springs, 13c; old roosters, 8c; turkeys, 33c; ducks, 13c; geese, 13c.

Radiophones on Train.
Omaha, Neb., Dec. 12.—Radio telephones will be installed on all Overland limited trains. Union Pacific officials announced here following arrival from San Francisco of Train No. 2, on which first experiments were made.

"With the exception of about half an hour while passing through a part of Wyoming, noted for its ore deposits, the train was constantly in communication with broadcasting stations in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver, Omaha and other cities." Eyre Powell, in charge of the experiment said.

"We picked up Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Newark and other eastern cities as we sped through Nebraska. The experiment was a complete success."

Fire in Norfolk Building.
Norfolk, Dec. 11.—Spontaneous combustion in the coal pile of the Cochran Floral company's building started a fire which did approximately $2,000 damage to the building at 8 o'clock this morning. Firemen worked strenuously in the cold gale before they got the fire under control. Most of the damage was confined to the boiler room and the office building.

The Songs of the Nativity

When hearts are sad and spirits low,
And life is dark and drear;
Life's embers give but feeble glow,
And hopes still dim and dimmer grow,
How sweet the singer of cheer.

The earth was bowed with sin and strife,
Man's heart bowed down with grief;
Earth was with deepest darkness rife,
Death stalked abroad to conquer life,
While man prayed for relief.

But hark! On earth are heard sweet strains:
Sweet Mary sings with raptured voice,
Her kinsmen sing and angel trains
Across Judea's hills and plains
In song bid us rejoice.

Shine on sings "Now let me die,
I've seen the Lord's anointed One;
Old Anna gives a happy cry,
And sings to all in accents high,
"Oh see the Christ, God's Son."

The earth still groans in sin and night,
And day delays to come;
But songs of joy, with sweet delight,
Proclaim the breaking of the light,
For Christ, the Lord, has come.

Wayne and Vicinity
Preachers Organize

In response to an invitation recently issued by the members of the Wayne Ministerial union, a company of ministers from surrounding towns gathered with the local pastors in the Wayne Baptist church Monday morning of this week. Those present from out of town were: Revs. E. N. Littrell and J. Bruce White of Winado; H. C. Seidel, W. O. Harper, L. A. Laurson and J. A. Gabriel, son of Laurel; B. H. Martin of Wakefield; E. C. Walters and Ralph Rangle of Emerson and two pastor students at the Wayne Normal, E. C. Geist and Paul Jacobson.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, president of the local Ministerial Union. On motion he was made temporary chairman and Rev. John Grant Shick temporary secretary. Informal discussion took place as to the desirability of organizing a permanent union to meet monthly. D. E. Brainard, teacher of the Brotherhood class of the Methodist Sunday school in Wayne, introduced a resolution on greetings from the Sunday and spoke of certain features of work that such an organization as contemplated could well inaugurate.

After full discussion it was voted to organize by the election of a president and secretary and the temporary organization was made permanent. By request of the body the president was requested to appoint a committee to select a name for the organization and to draft a constitution. He appointed as said committee, Rev. H. C. Seidel, Rev. W. O. Harper and Rev. L. A. Laurson, all of Laurel.

After further informal discussion the meeting adjourned to meet in the Wayne Baptist church on Monday, January 8, 1923, the secretary being instructed to send invitations to a number of other ministers not included in the initial meeting. Those present had a fellowship luncheon together at the Hamilton Bakery. Further statements of the purposes and prospects of the organization are promised from time to time.

Robt. Morris Passes Away December 11

Robert Morris, aged 38 years, passed away at his home two and one-half miles west of Carroll Monday morning after an illness extending over three months, death being caused by peritonitis. Funeral services were conducted in the Welsh Presbyterian church, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in the church cemetery. The deceased was born in Wales, and coming to America, located on a farm in the Carroll neighborhood twelve years ago. He leaves his wife and five children, besides the brother, William, at Norfolk, and another and brother in New York and his parents in Wales.

The Songs of the Nativity

When hearts are sad and spirits low,
And life is dark and drear;
Life's embers give but feeble glow,
And hopes still dim and dimmer grow,
How sweet the song of cheer.

The earth was sad with sin and strife,
Mankind bowed down with grief;
Earth was with deepest darkness rife,
Death stalked abroad to conquer life,
While man prayed for relief.

But hark! On earth are heard sweet strains:
Sweet Mary sings with raptured voice;
Her kinemen sing and angel trains
Across Judaea's hills and plains
In song do us rejoice.

Simoon sings "Now let me die,
I've seen the Lord's anointed One;
Old Anna gives a happy cry,
And sings to all in accents high,
"Oh see the Christ, God's Son."

The earth still groans in sin and night,
And day delays to come;
But songs of joy, with sweet delight,
Proclaim the breaking of the light,
For Christ, the Lord, has come.

Wayne and Vicinity
Preachers Organize

In response to an invitation recently issued by the members of the Wayne Ministerial union, a company of ministers from surrounding towns gathered with the local pastors in the Wayne Baptist church Monday morning of this week. Those present from out of town were: Rev. E. N. Littrell and J. Bruce Wylie of Winfield; H. C. Seidel, W. O. Harper, L. A. Laursen and J. A. Gabrielson of Laurel; E. H. Merten of Wakefield; E. L. Walters and Ralph Barger of Emerson and two pastor students at the Wayne Normal, E. C. Corbit and Paul Jacobson.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. H. E. Fetzner, president of the local Ministerial Union. On motion he was made temporary chairman and Rev. John Grant Shick temporary secretary. Informal discussion took place as to the desirability of organizing a permanent union to meet monthly. D. E. Brainerd, pastor of the Brotherhood church of the Methodist Sunday school in Wayne was introduced and brought greetings from the class and spoke of certain features of such an organization as contemplated could well inaugurate.

After full discussion it was voted to organize by the election of a president and secretary and the temporary organization was made permanent. By request of the body the president was requested to appoint a committee to select a name for the organization and to draft a constitution. He appointed as said committee, Rev. H. C. Seidel, Rev. W. O. Harper and Rev. L. A. Laursen, all of Laurel.

After further informal discussion the meeting adjourned to meet in the Wayne Baptist church on Monday, January 8, 1923, the secretary being instructed to send invitations to a number of other ministers not included in the initial meeting. Those present had a fellowship luncheon together at the Hamilton Bakery. Further statements of the purposes and prospects of the organization are promised from time to time.

Neilard, Nebraska's poet laureate, presented to the Omaha public library by the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, was unveiled there yesterday afternoon by the poet's mother, Mrs. Alice Neilard of Branson, Mo. In the presence of about 200 people, Neilard the poet or the artist, J. Laurie Wallace of Omaha, was present.

Good Excuse for Filibuster. Lincoln Journal: The vote on the ship subsidy bill in the present senate. If the question comes to a vote, will be close. If the vote is close in this senate, it would undoubtedly be adverse in the new senate. That fact will give good excuse for such a filibuster against the subsidy bill as was employed successfully against the anti-lynching bill.

Great Field for Women. Washington Star: Political recognition of women in Turkey gives rise to hopes of a new system of government that will be more reasonable. In no place on earth has the inferior male distinguished himself by more inferior results.

More Familiar. Syracuse Post-Standard: "We are just now beginning to look a dollar in the face," says Lloyd George. We have been on more familiar terms for a long time--"We have been kissing them right for years."

Do It Right or Not at All. Minneapolis Tribune: If we can't establish an American merchant marine on sound business principles as to financing, if congress does not feel itself able to enact a bill that will sufficiently protect the interests of the exporting public; if relations of enduring trust between the giver of aid and the receiver of aid cannot be devised, then the whole thing would better be dropped. President Harding is the last man to suggest the enactment of a shipping aid bill as a mere response to the presidential request. The alternative has its mind is that either there shall be government aid giving satisfactory promises of enduring good or there shall be no government aid at all, and in this position he is on solid ground.

LeRoy Owen Writes Letter From Germany

The following communication was written by LeRoy D. Owen of Wayne, who is traveling in Europe with the American Expeditionary company and it is a resume of his impressions of Germany and what he visited that country:

Nov. 1, 1922. Four years ago the Fifth Liberty Loan and the draft were being pushed with all the vigor our people as good Americans possessed with the hope that the world would be benefited. For the last three weeks I have been in Berlin, the aiming point of the allies. Realizing that this is certainly the worst time to form any definite conclusions nevertheless I have formulated a few.

When the train crossed the frontier between Holland and Germany I felt uneasy about meeting custom officers, and others but I found no disagreeable surprises. The American or Englishman is not subject to prohibitive hotel rates as some think. In fact the Germans have made their hotels the subject of praise by foreigners who stop there. Police regulations require one to register at a nearby post soon after arriving but where a time to red tape. In Berlin there is no special tax imposed exclusively on foreigners and it is a misunderstanding to say that the Germans make it difficult for the travelers, for they are always eager to help them in any way.

War leaves a heavy imprint, brings untold sorrows and tears away precious ones from the homes. But now that it is all over Germany is again the world and must be considered as one of the concert of nations as before the war.

Conditions in Germany are held under the same pressure although the people are to be congratulated on the manner in which they bear their burdens. It is regrettable to see their beautiful cities, built as fine as New York and Chicago, and surely with more artistic qualities; to see their wonderful forests at this time of year with their autumn wearing; to view those historic rivers, the Elbe and the Spree, as they flow through farms cultivated with the greatest care, and then to realize that the Kaiser did not train his people in government.

Germany is now a republic, only four years old, but governing a country old in every form of civilization. The present Ebert government is slowly moulding a firm foundation for the future and at the same time holding this great mass of people with a restraining hand. The government is backing the industry in order that the workman may be employed, earn his small wage, feed his family and not be the subject of internal strife and misery. This, it seems, would be the result if the factories should close.

While in Hamburg I visited the immense ship-building-harbor-land and a lot of the workmen. They see that unemployment would cause confusion and this is realized by the government. Much of the present business of Germany is carried on by foreign capital and should that capital cease, just so soon will Germany be thrown into disorder.

The financial situation is facing a crisis. The mark falls in value even while one is waiting for money to be exchanged at the Deutsche bank. During my stay the note has fallen just 100 per cent, being 3,800 marks for the dollar when I arrived and now 6,800. This means that stores, businesses, even the banks, have fixed their prices accordingly each day. Prices are continually rising; wages of the workman rise proportionately and by this means to the great advantage in Germany today. He spends all he earns because tomorrow his wages may be worthless. The professional man or person who enjoyed a comfortable living from interest before the war, is now forced to sell his own personal belongings, even his home, and is destitute. The middle classes are experiencing greater hardships than any other class.

Wages in department stores are from 6,000 to 10,000 marks a week. Butter costs 600 marks a pound. Street car fares have increased 200 per cent. A suit of clothes cost about 30,000 marks, and shoes equally as much. These comparisons are sufficient to show what difficulty the people experience in living. An American can live in Germany with three meals a day and one of the finest stays in Berlin's best hotel for the sum of $1.50.

I have been told by Germans that we in America stand too aloft that we promised if Germany would overthrow monarchy we would help her establish a republic. The result was the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations which America, the most influential nation in the world, did not enter. It was the militaristic, monarchistic group in Germany to which the allies were opposed and not the German people. This group of militarists who brought Germany to her present condition was not favored by the common people. The nation now to be dealt with is young, sincere and to my mind worthy of support in its struggle to establish a republic.

Letter Describes a Bandit Mob in China

Miss E. Grace Sederberg whose home is near Wakefield and who is teaching in the American school at Kikouan, China, writes a letter to the Herald and the following are excerpts from it:

I am more busy than ever. However, because my duties are varied, my work isn't as trying and tiring as usual. My school duties are the same as the past year. Instead of having supervision of the girls I now try to keep an eye on the boys. As a whole I've always found boys easier to manage than girls although I did enjoy my work for the girls. As last year, I am studying Chinese about three hours a day. Am now able to read the New Testament without much trouble. I hope someday to be privileged to make use of Chinese in doing work among Chinese people.

We have about fifty pupils in school and are expecting four more to arrive from the United States this coming month. Next Friday we will celebrate Halloween. We always allow the children to dress up in any costume they like. They generally manage to represent several striking characters. During the course of the evening they have stunts and play games. The climax generally comes when they light a big fire outside on the playground around which they sing and perform stunts. The Chinese about laugh themselves sick when they see the children costumed.

China has been called "the land mysterious and marvelous." It is mysterious in the way that she does. One peculiar thing is the way robber bands will capture foreigners and hold them—sometimes for months—to get a ransom for their lives and some general in power. Often they hold them for a ransom. To illustrate I am going to tell you about some of the experiences of Miss Johnson who were plundering a school which they had at East Gate. They were no more than dressed when the robbers were at their door demanding entrance. Mr. Lundeen went to the door and was immediately taken by the men. About eight of the men went upstairs where Mrs. Lundeen and the other two ladies were, each holding one of the Lundeen little children. These men immediately asked for valuables. Miss Johnson let them have the amount of money she had and Miss Anderson was compelled to give up her jewelry, coat, rings and whatever was cheaply valuable. A third man made Mrs. Lundeen give up her silverware. After they had taken or demolished as much as they wished to do indoors, they ordered the women and children out into Main street where Mr. Lundeen and Mr. Forsberg were prisoners. A second group of bandits had visited the Forsberg home in a similar manner. When they demanded that Mrs. Forsberg go into the street she told them they surely would not want her to leave the children and they allowed her to stay with them. They only lock the men. Some fifty if away, or about eighteen miles, they allowed the prisoners to send notes back to their families, telling them that they were being treated well and asking for foreign food to be sent. Every day since their capture the evangelist at Yuchon has brought food to them and has carried messages between the husbands and the families. No doubt the practice described seems strange to you. So it does to us. The bandits are ex-soldiers and they formerly belonged to Tao-Tai. General Feng who is our province governor, his men were scattered and had no means of support. The only alternative was to beg or steal. Being a dry season the crops are small and begging would be a rather silly thing, so they steal. They are anxious to get into the army of general Wu who is at present the man behind the throne for he has conquered the other generals. He perhaps is the only general who can carry the water across the height of way.

Under this plan the city would be compelled to build a culvert to the railroad property. On the other side the mill company expressed a willingness to give right of way for the culvert through its property to the river provided same was properly protected and the outlet fixed so the bank of the river would not wash.

No definite conclusion was arrived at, though it seemed likely that the latter proposal would be the solution not the problem. It is estimated that it would require a five-foot culvert and that the cost to the city would be in the neighborhood of $1,500.

Will Have Storm Sewer.

Neligh, Neb., Dec. 8.—A representative of the Northwestern railroad company was present at the council meeting the other evening and discussed with the city officials the proposition of disposing of storm water which flows down south Main street, that at times of heavy rains overflows resident property at the foot of the street. He stated that the company was willing to put in a big culvert under the tracks to

The Easy Marks

The easy marks, waiting, to fall for sinful tricks; their money they are craving, to ship for gilded bricks. The gold mines of Nebraska have looked to them like plans, peach orchards in Alaska have cost them mighty sums. Oh, anything that glitters, that's boomed by diamond blinks, looks good to these prodders who know as easy marks as poisons and promoters invest some gonyous fake, and catch the easy voters, and all the coin they make from some local Caesars prove to build a mill to manufacture tweezers, a big demand to fill. Some stock they would be selling, and it is gilded stuff, but all the marks are yelling, "It doesn't pay enough!" We're backing those New Yorkers, the well known Fraud & Bilk, who from the ears of porkers make purses of the silk. We soon will hold our rally in Arctic ocean groves; we're shipping to Death Valley all kinds of heating stoves. We're raising alligators along the southern coasts; we ship refrigerators to Greenland's grateful hosts. So cease your efforts vocal to get us to invest; we fall for nothing local, home projects we detest. We patronize the fellow who has a moral link, who prints an acre of bunk in scarlet ink."

we chortle, fill the air with happy whoops, for the new year is at the portal, and the old one loops the loops.

Christmas and Taxes.

The calendar informs me that Christmas is at hand; the Christmas spirit warms me, emotion fine and bland; I'd like to load a wagon with gifts for all my kin, for one a silver fagon, for one a car of tin; I'd like to go kempopping in the streets ablaze with light, and never more gasstopping, buy everything in sight. It's Christmas! And thereafter the tax collector comes, and he, with fiendish laughter, demands outrageous sums. The surtax and the normal, with an exemption small; on his hands severe and formal. I have to write it all. Did you see me? Give Grannie a new and flossy wig, or give to little Annie a waxen thingamajig; how can I give Aunt Ed a pair of roller skates, or offer Aunt Matilda some sculptured paperweights, when seeing in the distance the tax collector come, to render his existence a sorry thing and gum? Where once I spent a dollar at Merry Christmas time, I now rear up an oler at last year's dime; I view the tax collector, and speak the thoughts I feel, until the parish register rebukes me for my apitel. The tax collector's drilling is her's evermore in view; with his fierce blanks he's killing the joys our lives once knew.

Hard Earned Money.

They're paving West Commercial street, and many men are toiling hard all day long, trudging on weary feet, and lay the concrete by the yard. They all are stalwart husky men, whose hinges need no helpful oil. I stand and watch them now and then, and give three cheers for honest toil. "No doubt," I say, "these men of brawn pull down at least three plunks a day; and when their weekly wage is drawn a goodly share is put away. For men who earn in bitter-sweat and grinding toil their humble wage, will value coin; they'll not forget to have a store for wintry age. When money seems to grow on trees, men can't be blamed who blow it in; but hardly driven men like these must think extra-gain a sin." You ought to see my merry men," the foreman said, "when payday comes for to the birds they throw the yen, and to the cows feed princely sums. On Saturday they draw their pay, and forth they go on mischief bent, and Monday morning, cold and gray, finds them without a rusty cent." It matters not what wage they draw, it goes like the wind, the g; they're surely ought to be a requiring man to save the kale.

Santa's Bell.

The children bear the ringing of Santa's string of bells, as he comes lightly swishing across the moors and fells. They hear his reindeer plodding beneath the wintry sky, they listen, and they're hoping he will not pass them by. "I listen, too, but only to the discordant things I hear; the night is dark and lonely, the wind is bleak and drear. The snow is on the gables, the wind beats at the door, and I am old and feeble, appeal to me no more. I have a golden chalice, a diamond-studded fan; I'm living in a palace, I have a rich sedan. I'm decked in purple raiment, I have a costly lyre, I'm fixed to make the payment for all I may desire; my aunts, in priceless cables, cry shouting through the mists, but snow is on the gables, and snow is on my heart. I listen for the ringing of Santa to his deer. And I would give my plunder, my lyre and dachshund too, if I could hear and wonder, as little children there, are he above or below, or fairies by the streams; but all an old man's riches aren't worth a butrnie's dreams.

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS

Wayne, Nebraska, December 5, 1922.

Board met as per adjournment. All members present.

Minutes of meeting November 28, 1922, read and approved.

Claim No. 1060 of W. H. Eustow, filed June 27, 1921, for $360.00 for assessing the city of Wayne for the year 1922, which claim was allowed on July 6, 1922, at $370.00, was on December 6, 1922, reconsidered upon petition of George B. Porter, county assessor, and allowed at $300.00, and on motion the warrant for $300.00, being warrant No. 568 drawn July 6, 1922, was ordered cancelled.

Comes now Hanna Marots and says that for the year 1921 she was assessed on a valuation of $5,950.00 on lots 10, 11, 12, Block 8, First Addition to the Village of Hoskins, which made the tax amount to $142.86, which was paid under protest by reason of a gross error in placing the valuation, which is unreasonable and unjust, and she now asks for a refund of a part of the tax.

On motion after reviewing the assessment for 1922 and finding this property assessed at $1,525.00, the board reduces the 1921 assessment to meet the 1922 assessment, and allows the said Hanna Marots a refund of tax amounting to the sum of $106.30.

Whereas, J. G. Mines was assessed on a book value of $1,320.00 or $330 for taxation purposes under intangible class I, Building & Loan stock for the year 1922 and whereas, the state tax commissioner had assessed the same at $40.00 for assessment instead of $330.00 as in and for the city of Wayne. The tax was paid under protest and he now asks that the difference in tax or $3.84 be refunded.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund to the said J. G. Mines the sum of $3.84.

Whereas, Paul R. Mines was assessed on a book value of $1,000.00 or $250.00 for taxation purposes under intangible class I, Building & Loan stock for the year 1922, and whereas, the state tax commissioner had assessed all county assessors to assess on a three per cent basis of book value which would make $30.00 for assessment instead of $250.00 as in and for the city of Wayne. The tax was paid under protest and he now asks that the difference in tax or $7.47 be refunded.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund to the said Paul R. Mines the sum of $7.47.

Whereas, Thomas Schutt was assessed for the year 1922 as in and for the village of Sholes on a valuation of $1,250.00 when he should have been assessed as in Sherman precinct, which does not carry the village tax of Sholes amounting to the sum of $6.25 which was paid under protest, and which he now asks refunded.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund to the said Thomas Schutt the sum of $6.25.

Whereas, George Otte was assessed as in the village of Carroll for the year 1922 on a valuation of $250.00 which carries a village tax of $3.50, but he should have been assessed as in Sherman precinct, which does not carry the village tax, and he now asks that the tax of $3.50 paid under protest be refunded.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund to the said George Otte the sum of $3.50.

Whereas, H. G. Erans and G. Jones were assessed for the year 1921 in Sherman precinct on an item of $1,500.00 listed as notes held by them when it should not have been listed at all, as through a misunderstanding the $1,500.00 was covered by notes in their precinct, which were later by them. That the tax on the $1,500.00 item amounts to $20.43 which was paid under protest and a refund asked.

On motion the county treasurer is ordered to refund to the said H. G. Erans and G. Jones the sum of $20.43.

Norris Never a Republican.
Lincoln Star. Senator Norris has never been a Republican. He was never an influential independent. He was never a democrat. He was what can be most aptly termed as "feminist." As a critic and obstructionist, Senator Norris has had his equals in the United States senate. He has always been in the height of his glory when he has appeared in opposition. That is not saying that at times Senator Norris has not introduced and sponsored legislative measures. He has failed only in the respect that he could not rally support to his cause sufficient to give those things which he believed in a sufficient following to even make it possible to pass the committee stage.

Jan Hammond, well-known business man of Randolph, passed away Wednesday of last week. He was 64 years old and was married. Four brothers and a sister survive. He was a resident of Randolph for thirty-one years.

Frank Larsen purchased the Randolph Postery industry last week from W. J. Billerbeck who established the business a year ago. Mr. Larsen has been employed by the former owner.

Officers of the Legion post elected at Randolph last week are: president, Commander, E. W. Hahn; first vice commander, Clifford Hughes; second vice commander, Ralph Hinkel; adjutant, A. E. Le Clair; and treasurer, J. W. Anderson.

The automobile belonging to Frank Derog of Randolph, was stolen last week while Mr. Derog and his family were attending a church fair. The car was left in front of the church—and nothing has been heard of it since. The automobile had gasoline enough to run it about 300 miles.

Sixteen persons in Madison county were naturalized within the past few days.

While working on the ice skating rink north of Laurel the other day Chas. Blake's son called his attention to the tip of an animal's horn sticking out of the water in the creek. Mr. Blake got a spade and dug it out and was surprised to find that it was the skull of a buffalo with both horns in good condition. The lower part of the skull is gone but the upper part is in good state of preservation, and is that of the head of a large buffalo. This is the first buffalo skull that has been found in this part of the country in many years, so far as we have been able to learn. Mr. Blake left the find at the store of Johnson, Evers & Co., where it is attracting no little attention.

The new well put down at the power house in Laurel was tested, and it is thought there will be a great sufficiency of water from the two wells. One of the wells is in front of the plant and the other in the rear. The town has not been short of water, but there were times when the pump had to be run too near continuously, hence another well was made. Tests were made several places in town, but nothing better was found, and this location will make the pumping expense far less than had it been located anywhere else.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Pierce County Fair association the following officers were chosen for the coming year: President, C. W. Boll; vice president, C. E. Pilger; secretary, E. B. From Ponca Journal December 19, 1878:

The sun shone on Tuesday for the first time in ten days. Wheat still hangs at fifty cents per bushel, with little coming in. Wild turkeys and other wild game are reported plentiful in the timber.

Fishing through the ice is coming into fashion. Skating is another cool amusement.

In many parts of the country, especially in Iowa, the snow is from ten to twenty inches deep. Here the depth is about one inch.

On Monday the ferry boat plying between Sioux City and Covington made one trip across the river. It took all day to do it on account of the ice, and it is the last trip across, by boat, during the present season.

We would say to the tight-fingered gent who visited our clothes line last week, that if he will return the mismatched pair of stockings, we will give him a new pair. It must be very embarrassing to be wearing one blue stocking and one white one.

We had hoped that the post-laureate would this week favor us with his new epic, but he has not put in an appearance. Probably the cold weather has frozen up the afflatus. However, we have tinkered up our old machine, and a production from its tuneful jaws will be found in another column.

We call attention to the notice in this paper, which has for its object the formation of a "Farmers' club." It is certainly a most laudable object, and it is to be hoped there will

Now Is Time for Showdown. Lincoln-Journal.—This is no good time as any to have a complete showdown in the interesting question as to the fitness of Mr. Daugherty to sit in the presidential cabinet. If there is anything definite in his record to make him unreliable and ineffective in so important a place as the office of attorney general the public is entitled to all of the facts, not in the form of suspicion or rumor, but written down in the official records.

Fate's Perversity. Boston Transcript: She—Did your two college chums marry well? He—I'm afraid not. One got a girl who can cook but insists on playing the piano; the other got one who knows how to play the piano and insists on cooking.
