Received From District Governor Social Charter from the Wayne Community House.

SAVORY BANQUET IS SERVED Program of Speeches and Music in Charge of Local Club.

Presentation of the charter to the Kiwanis club of Wayne, Tuesday evening at the community house, was made a brilliant social occasion.

The club's committees had carefully planned the event, and details had been worked out without an error.

While the crowd was gathering and during the serving of the menu, the State Teachers College orchestra, under the leadership of Prof. W. C. Keweenaw, played.

Then President Carhart introduced Raymond M. Crossman of Omaha, district governor, who presented the charter to the club.

He stressed the importance of social relations. He said the work of a chamber of commerce is group performance, which is individual effort.

Miss Fernie Oman, accompanied by Miss Frances Oman on the piano, sang the song "The Dawn" which she so delighted in.

Following the program, the floor was cleared and dancing was enjoyed until the early hours of the morning.

Seal is Designed to Represent An Ideal

Mr. C. Abbott, superintendent of the Nebraska School for the Blind in Nebraska City and a college friend of Dr. J. T. House of Wayne, has designed a seal for his city on which is a photograph of a hard maple tree that is located near Arbor Lodge and three inscriptions, "Nebraska City, Nebraska," "The Town that Gave the World a Great Idea" and "Plant Trees." The design is very fitting because of Nebraska City's being the home of J. Sterling Morton, the pioneer of this state who started Arbor day.

The Chamber of Commerce of Nebraska City has adopted the seal and copyrighted it. The plan is that this seal which is a noble work of art and a bearer of a noble idea, will be the symbol of the city and be used by all people of Nebraska City to mark the main achievement of their home town. Though the city may be known for other accomplishments it is hoped that the chief idea everyone will remember will be the tree planting one.

The plan carried out in Nebraska City is one worth copying. Every town has some special feature which distinguishes it. If this feature were emphasized as is done by Mr. Abbott's very town might well have a symbol of individuality expressing a noble worthy aspiration.

Present Three Plays In Community House

The net proceeds from the three plays presented last Thursday evening by the Professional and Business Women's club in cooperation with the Wayne women's club, amounted to about $100. This amount will be sent by the two clubs to the Children's Home society in Omaha to help in the erection of a home for the orphan. The sale of tickets brought in about $125 and the expenses of drayage, play materials, opera house expense and the like, amounted to about $25.

"Twelve Good Men and True," the first of the three plays, was a court scene with twelve women trying a breach of promise case. Before the women could agree on a decision word reached the court room that the plaintiff and defendant had been married. The taking part in the production were: Miss Sophie Koester, Miss Nellie Gingles, Miss Coila Potras, Miss Nina Thompson, Mrs. Conrad Jacobson, Mrs. Grace Keyser, Miss Fernie Oman, Miss Maybelle Carlson, Miss Edna Hanssen, Miss Hattie Fisher, Miss Pearl Sewell and Mrs. Lula Waite.

"The Family Doctor" was a musical comedy in which a butcher, who has fallen in love with a young girl, pretends that he is a doctor and answers an advertisement the girl's father has in the paper for a family physician. Edith, the daughter, reveals that the doctor is the butcher, but her father has been helped and he finally consents to the marriage of his daughter and the young man. A group of young girls surprised Edith on her birthday. These taking part in this play were: Prof. Leon F. Beery, Donald Frabie, Miss Imogene Shick, Miss Fernie Oman, Mrs. Marion F. Beery, Miss Francis Oman, Miss Dorothy Huse, Miss Ruth Robinson, Miss Clara Shafterman, Ben Frash, Harold Grant, Douglas Hanson, Harry Hill and Harry Schantz.

The last of the three plays, "We Dine at Seven," was one in which Miss Frances Oman as Millicent invited a young man and a young woman to her home for dinner. Her maid came for the evening and Millicent is compelled to get the dinner herself. Miss Aline Mitten as Julia, the guest, finds her friend having a terrible time with the preparation of the meal and endeavors to help her. Everything the girls were preparing for dinner finally is spoiled by Millicent who becomes hysterical and unreasonable. The young man for whom all of the preparation is being made, is not able to keep his dinner engagement after all.

Meet on Saturday in Interest of Schools

County teachers, school board members and those interested in the schools gathered at the court room in Wayne Saturday afternoon in response to an invitation of Miss Pearl Sewell. The school members of the county met last spring and it was suggested at that time that Miss Sewell call a similar meeting inviting all teachers and others to discuss school problems this year. The program included singing and talks by Miss A. Sheerer, Dr. I. H. Dillon and Prof. O. R. Bowen. General discussion followed.

Pupils of districts 56 and 78 of which Miss Gladys Chambers and Mrs. L. E. Jones are principals, sang three songs. Ira George accompanied the pupils by playing on a horn.

Miss Sewell then introduced Miss Sheerer, the county Red Cross nurse, who spoke of her work. Miss Sheerer explained that all of her work is being financed by the Wayne County Red Cross organization with money left at the close of the late war. In describing the conditions they exist in the schools, Miss Sheerer explained that she has found all kinds of buildings in all conditions of care. Some school houses are well kept and others are not. Some lack door knobs; some have windows which do not lower from the top and thus ventilation is poor, some have black boards that are badly cracked; some have stoves which are not jacketed and thus the heat is not evenly spread about the room in some the seating is poorly arranged because children are too far from the black boards and many of the seats are too large for the children. In some the water supply is not sufficient for the children to wash three times each day and the water for drinking is not in a covered pail or jar; some have no individual drinking cups and towels and thus all children have to use the same utensils, making the conditions from sanitary. Miss Sheerer emphasized the importance of keeping the buildings and the children clean. She suggested the use of brooms, mops, sponges, disinfectant equipment and the hot noon lunch. Of the 3,000 children inspected this winter one third of them have been found to have physical defects. Most of these are easily corrected and it is gratifying to know that a great many of the corrections are being made.

Decrease in Births.
Lincoln, Neb., April 7.—A decrease of 1,264 births in Nebraska as compared with the number of births for 1922 is shown by the figures for year 1923, just issued by the bureau of vital statistics, state department of health. The death rate was increased by a total of 33 during the corresponding period of time. The number of births recorded in the state for 1922 totaled 30,956 or 23.4 per thousand population. The number of deaths reached 12,410 or 9.3 per thousand population.

pupils are losing their second teeth because of neglect to use tooth brush. There are a considerable number of defects of vision and many of these are being corrected. Seating arrangements in the school room have much to do with strain on the eyes. It is a noteworthy fact, stated Miss Sheerer, that the children who have had scarlet fever or diphtheria have been among those who have had diseased or enlarged tonsils. Miss Sheerer closed her remarks by stating that she always to be found in the basement of the city library and will be glad to help solve any health problems.

Dr. Dillon of the state health department in Lincoln, spoke on the handling of contagious diseases in the schools, advising means of prevention. The National Public Health Service he explained as an organization to care for inter-state cases. This board has no dealing with state laws except in case some locality becomes a menace to persons in an adjoining state. The State Bureau of Health is a board which has to do with the rules and regulations for the prevention and control of contagious and infectious diseases in the state. The county board of health, consisting of the sheriff, the county superintendent of school and a physician, has jurisdiction of cases in the county but not in the corporate limits of towns. The city board of health includes the mayor, the chief of police and a physician and the jurisdiction is within the limits of the city.

Many families, Dr. Dillon stated, do not assume sufficient responsibility when there are contagious diseases in the homes. For example, in 1921, there were 233 deaths in the state from whooping cough. Sufficient care to be taken to prevent this disease and others which are considered of slight danger, from spreading. To carry a disease to another person is a more serious crime than stealing an automobile, said the speaker. There is too little foreward for the rights of others. Physicians and attendance at contagious cases are required to report the same to the board of health within twenty-four hours and otherwise are liable to a fine of $100. Let fever which has been prevalent but mild in the state this year has been spread by carelessness in some cases. Dr. Dillon also spoke of the necessity of preventing the spread of diphtheria and especially of finding the so-called "carrier" who himself does not take the disease but carries it to others. In the maintenance of closing schools for epidemics the board of health is the only authority that can legally do this. The school board may declare a vacation. The best plan is to have a public health nurse who checks up the physical condition of the pupils and endeavor to keep them in proper health. There is no need to close a school unless all other public gathering places are closed. In fact, the school, is no doubt the most sanitary of the public places. A nurse eventually pays her own salary because the attendance is kept open and money that is otherwise spent for teachers' salaries while a school is closed, pays the salary of the nurse. A public health nurse released from quarantine only on permission of the board of health in control. A minimum number of days are set for specified diseases.

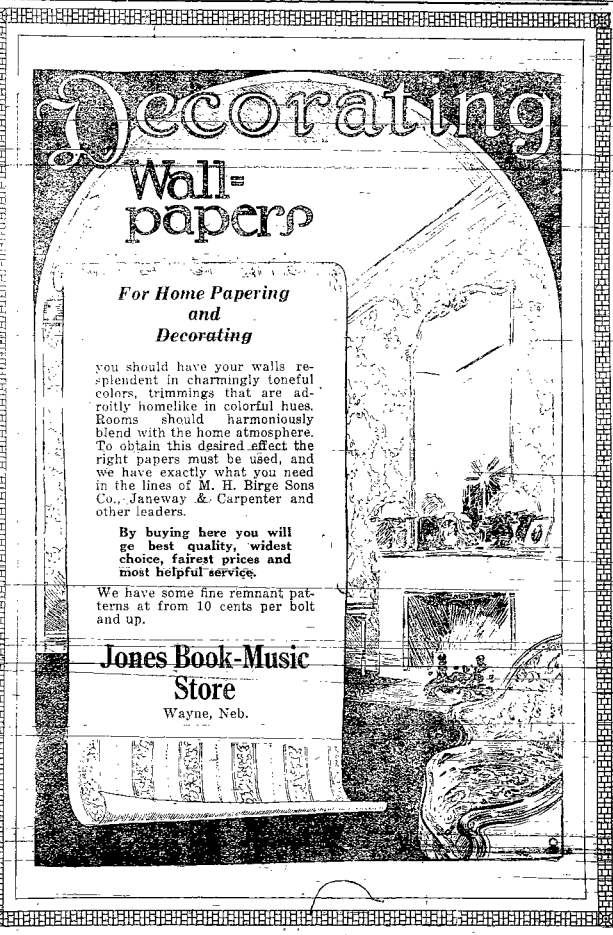

Dr. Dillon urged school sanitation which he says does not cost added taxes but which costs will power. Soap and water are to be used to prevent the spread of disease.

Prof. O. R. Bowen of the State Teachers College, spoke briefly on recent school legislation. There are five house rolls and six senate files that concern the public schools of the counties. None of these have as yet been passed. A bill should be passed that few of them would be. In regard to the form of the school officers' reports, these will be the same as last year. The length of the school term for this summer at the State Teachers College has been set at twelve weeks by the state board, providing that sufficient funds be appropriated for this purpose. Otherwise there will be but eight weeks and Mr. Bowen stated that in most districts the session would be eight weeks. One bill before the house provides that the tuition for non-resident students be paid from a county rate rather than the district fund. One bill proposed would set the weekly tuition for non-resident students at $2 and another would set it at $3. Another bill would set the non-resident students pay only the actual expenses of their schooling while in attendance. This Mr. Bowen stated would be the most desirable to determine. Two other bills propose to increase the required number of school months from six to eight and from six to nine. One would require nine years of public school education rather than the eight year requisite now in force. None of these bills have been passed at this time.

Wayne having lost the Bloomfield and Ponca debates however, will not be able to make sufficient points to gain the district championship and thus go to Lincoln for the state contest.

The state senate refuses to fix a date for adjournment, desiring to stay in session—all through the month.
About all we have left to remind us of the wintry and disagreeable month of March is the epidemic of mumps which was handed over and still lingers.

Labor unions may not be getting enough for their services, but they seem to prefer any wages over no wages, enough to keep going and keep up employment.

Signs of spring have been pronounced this week and the usual activities looking to removing rubbish, making gardens and cleaning and repainting premises have been in evidence.

If a man is generous and finally falls in regarding a good fellow who lacks judgment. If he is economical and looks out for years of decline and non-production, he is regarded as a miser. The miserly man must figure out for himself how liberal he can be without threatening wreck and impoverishment.

The Arkansas supreme court has handed down a decision upholding the right of school boards to bar from school attendance pupils whose parents oppose both in mass and through public opinion will generally endorse the judgment of the court. As we have remarked before, the use of force should not be resorted to by people who may need it to battle with appearances. Growing young people do not wish to be taken care of by parents and to be taken care of by others.

H. L. Cushing, superintendent of the Orad, criticizes an article in the current Nebraska Educational Journal discussing high school athletics and advising that the sports meet program as it is conducted ought to be abandoned. He says the tournament involves a waste of time and money, and that winners are not necessarily champions. He suggests district contests and then, if advisable, after in connection of elimination, determine state champion. He is in favor of a connection with basketball tournaments, and makes the same criticism in regard to football. He evidently thinks it is time to strip high school athletes of some of the objections and make both basketball and football serve the best interests of the youth of the state.

The chronic idler is the one who has plenty of time to kick about the idleness of individuals or groups. The one with nothing in particular to do has plenty of time and energy to devote to preparing a paper to show the faults in private or public effort. If a man feels his own responsibility and has a definite task and purpose he cannot spend precious hours explaining the weaknesses and failings of people who are trying to accomplish things and make headway.

The buildings undertaken and in prospect for the business district of Wayne will make an important change for the better by fall. In the matter of buildings, Wayne's business district has been limping along for the year of the epidemic, and it is really high time for the spirit of improvement to take deep hold and work fast. With miles of paving and concrete sidewalks, the contract with the business section has been for a good deal of apology. According to indications, this disparity will not always exist.

While the church bells rang and faithful worshippers gathered for service on Easter morning in March, the communists of Russia set up a devilish anti-religious demonstration. The religion of America shared the same fate. The communists of Russia, yet Russian bolsheviks look to America for aid in their future and distress—America's religion is a stimulant to their energy. The vesting thing Russian communists would tear down is the very influence that prompts foreign gifts to Russia and other foreign countries.

Mrs. M. A. Phillips, former principal of the Omaha school and member of the Omaha school board, recently attended the superintendents' and principals' convention at Cleveland, and in the April issue of the Nebraska Educational Journal she gives her impression of the great meeting of 12,000 educators, and the inspiration derived from leaders in the field of education and the nation and the public. In the course of her review, she stresses the growing tendency of educators to develop a "light" character rather than mere dollars. She mentioned that many speakers at the late convention advised that the ideal of education should be to build into the child life respect for God, for law, for man, for self, and a love for the Holy Scriptures.

Mrs. Phillips quoted this: "If a man review his own school days he will find that he learned a lesson in science that he mastered, but he will forget the teacher with the greatest ease. He will remember the life." Wayne people will be glad to know that Mrs. Phillips is moving steadily forward in her profession, that she is the chief of the Omaha School Forum is the highest within the educational circles of the metropolis and that with deserved popularity has been influencing many for good service have been correspondingly strengthened.

Senate Refuses to Fix Date to Quit

Lincoln, Neb., April 11. The state senate yesterday after an announcement of the appointment of a committee of three to confer with a committee of the house on a day of final adjournment, declined to bind its committee to a date not later than April 20. Some of the senators said it would be impossible to conclude the work on hand before the final week in April.

The bill by Cooper of Douglas, making holdups by a highwayman, with intent to rob, a capital crime, punishable by death or life imprisonment, was indefinitely postponed by the senate.

The author did not insist on its passage. The house bill to pension chiefs of police of cities of 2,000 to 8,000 population, met the same fate in the senate.

Shippers' Bill Advantaged. The bill providing that the acceptance of free passes for caretakers of livestock in railroad shipments shall not place the burden of proof upon the shipper in cases of damage, was placed on the general file. The bill to permit holders of first grade certificates to teach in the ninth grade of consolidated schools, passed on final passage vote. Like action was taken on the proposal to change the date of fire day and adding goods to the drill schools.

The committee on revenue voted to indefinitely postpone the house bill permitting county funds to be deposited in banks, 50 per cent of interest and surplus if hand is given for the excess.

Maintenance Bill Up. The lower house yesterday practically disposed of the maintenance appropriation bill by accepting the report of the committee of the whole on the bill.

The senate yesterday practically disposed of the maintenance appropriation bill by accepting the report of the committee of the whole on the bill. The bill was passed by a vote of 18-10. The bill was passed by a vote of 18-10.

Refusal to include a provision requiring medical examination of both male and female applicants for marriage licenses was the subject of the house yesterday before substitute for passage a committee substitute for the bill.

The amendment proposing such a clause was voted down by a large majority. Following the defeat of the amendment, the house adopted unanimously, requiring the applicants for marriage certificates to state to the registrar the cause of any venereal disease. The bill was then advanced to third reading.

One feature of the bill which has been the basis for some criticism is a provision requiring ten days' notice of marriage license applications to be given before the wedding takes place. The bill was then advanced to third reading.

The bill provides that no person shall be admitted to the practice of medicine or feeble minded, or afflicted with hereditary epilepsy or insanity, shall until he or she has submitted to the sterilization process.

State Senate Favors Its Own Code Plan

Lincoln, Neb., April 7.—The Nebraska senate has decided to build its own plan in the matter of code reform, as contained in Senator Recor's senate file No. 2, and having the senate file No. 15. The vote on the house bill came after two lengthy committee meetings, during which the merit of the plan adopted by the house was thoroughly discussed. It met with little favor and was voted out for indefinite postponement.

The senate plan will leave the code system exactly as it is with one exception. If the governor fails to appoint and have confirmed by a majority of the house and senate, commissioners of lands and buildings, constitutional officers will automatically become the heads of the departments until the legislature meets again. The upper house decides that the departments be distributed in the following manner if the governor fails to appoint outside men.

Governor, finance; lieutenant governor, labor; secretary of state, labor; treasurer, trade and commerce; commissioners of lands and buildings; public works; state superintendent, public welfare. The only extra salary provided is for the lieutenant governor, who now receives pay only as president of the senate. He will receive an additional $2,500.

In commenting on the senate substitute for the house code bill, Governor Bryan said there was no surprise at the action of the upper house. The principle involved in what is known as the Dyar-Mathers bills, he said, was so bad from a business and governmental point of view that it could not see how the senate could approve them. The Dyar-Mathers measure, Gov. Bryan said, virtually created five governors, and that of Speaker Maters six state executives.

Gov. Bryan said there was an apparent attempt to deprive him of his constitutional powers. These powers, he said, he proposed to exercise by retaining any item in an appropriation that he deemed unnecessary.

Nebraska Voters are Apathetic. Lincoln, Neb., April 9.—Little evidence of interest was shown at the primary election in various Nebraska towns last week. Light votes were reported from most sections. Franklin elected three city councilmen and two members of the school board. Less than half of the voters attended the election. A close vote was reported.

For the first time in 18 years the republicans triumphed over the democrats at Columbus, when the republican candidate for mayor defeated the democratic candidate, who was running for his third term.

The temperance ticket at Holmgren was defeated in an election for three councilmen and two members of the school board.

Ashland, West Point, Pullerton and Arlington also reported quiet elections.

Sugar—Buy Canning Sugar Now

Sugar advances this week and a strong market on raw sugar prevails. The papers are full of "sugar investigation." This tends to stop consumer demands temporarily, in fact, works a hardship as best sugar authority asserts there is a real shortage in Cuba and prices will continue to advance at least $2.00. Buy two sacks of sugar today, set aside for canning and ninety days hence you may give yourself credit for making a good buy.

Rolled Oats—Original Bags, $3.50

Did you know 12 1/2 pounds of rolled oats represent the finished product from a bushel of oats? The balance is hulls, fiber, refuse and chaffy oats which cannot be hulled. When you feed 12 1/2 pounds of the rolled product you secure the entire food value of one bushel of oats. 7 1/2 bushels of oats is all that is required to produce a bushel of the finished product which you can buy for $3.50. Rolled oats and Semi-Solid Buttermilk produce wonderful results in the chicken and pig industry. Just say you will try it and be convinced.

Better Milk and Better Butter

We Want Your Eggs

Two quality items that are ready sellers. It's a pleasure to sell goods that always please.

Conkey's Buttermilk Chick Starter

This feed is ready to use and will do wonders for little chicks. Mr. Conkey asserts in plain English in his advertising that he "uses Semi-Solid Buttermilk and does not use dried Buttermilk" in the preparations of his chick foods. Many prefer to buy Semi-Solid Buttermilk, rolled oats and wheat bran at a lesser cost and maintain the same results. We also have the commonly known mixed chick food about 30 per cent water. We would not advise using this food until chicks are four weeks old. Feeds containing more than 12 per cent protein and 4 per cent fiber are injurious to small chicks.

"The Hottentot" to be Presented Tonight

"The Hottentot," a comedy-drama, will be presented this Thursday evening in the auditorium at the Wayne State Teachers College by the students of the club. The club is Minnie V. Wiltmeyer is directing the production and those who take part are: Myrtle Anderson, Philip Rickshaugh, Marion Heald, Miss Hart, Crossland, John M. Ahern, Dorothy Wilcox, Anna Blanch Evans, Bon E. Moran, George LaRue, Henry E. Ley and Harold W. Preston.

The Hottentot is full of genuine humor and moves with the swiftness of the race horse for whom the play is named. He is a dynamic and frank nitroglycerine. He thought a tornado was a gentle zephyr and started his own chariot-race. And when he kicked someone of the meteorological bureau reported a new comet. Poor Sam Harrington who felt hardly sick on a rocking horse had to ride the Hottentot by himself steady chase of the year."

Light Six Sedan $1550

Studebaker

We believe a Studebaker Sedan is good for five-to-ten years of useful, satisfactory life. We are not positive as to the real life because none has yet worn out.

If, when you trade in your car, you learn that you can get only three or four hundred dollars for it because there is no second-hand market for that make of car, then you must add this extra depreciation to arrive at the real cost of the car.

The trade-in price of Studebaker cars shows a very small depreciation, in many sections the smallest of all makes of motor cars. And there is always a ready market for used cars of Studebaker manufacture.

The pastor assisted one day last week in preparing the program for our district conference to be held in the afternoon at the Baptist church. The program will be a good one. Keep the dates in mind, April 24-25. Did you know that in Arabia Mohammedans have joined the evanggical churches, the largest group of Moslems ever won to Christianity. In North Sumatra 100,000 former cannibals are now Christians. These are eloquent facts.

Baptist Church. (Rev. Paul C. Allen, Minister.) In every way, Sunday was a notable day. The largest attendance of the year was registered in the Sunday school. The P. M. classes organized last week met in first session and are happy in having secured Mrs. C. E. Sprague for teacher. Next record and will cooperate in the effort to attain a standard Sunday school. A committee from "Everyman's" Bible class was appointed to look after repairing and decorating the men's quarters in the basement of the church.

Harding Hovey. When Secretary of Labor Davis declared in his Boston speech that President Harding was not a self-advertiser, he emphasized the chief characteristic of the executive, who does not believe in being a showman while occupying the high position he holds. Not only is it a distinction for a president to take advantage of all the publicity possible, but to draw the distinction that Mr. Harding, who does not believe in being presaged, is honest with himself by refraining therefrom.

Mr. Harding is a newspaper man, an advertiser, a publisher, an editor. He worked at newspaper making for a great many years before he entered public life. So it could not be that he had failed to appreciate the value of advertising. He knows what advertising means to trade and he knows what it means to him. He has been open to view various proofs of solid character. He has seen things which have been observed in many phases and his eyes have been open to view various proofs of solid character. He has seen things which have been observed in many phases and his eyes have been open to view various proofs of solid character.

It would be reasonable to believe that President Harding also could realize what it would mean if he put himself forward more than he does. His friends have suggested that he ought to play up some of the things which his administration has accomplished for the sake of the effect it would have on the people. He has been reminded that 1924 is on the way, and that the presidential campaign will be conducted, and that now is the time for him to get busy and go before the people to tell them what would his president they have in himself.

That would suit some politicians exactly. It might be said that it really suits most of them, but President Harding prefers to stay in the background. He believes that the people will find out for themselves what his administration has done, things of value. Right there Mr. Harding betrays that he has depth of wisdom: "If the people do find fault with my administration, it has been instrumental in improving conditions, it will mean ever so much more to him than if he tried to tell them all about it. There is nothing quite so satisfying as for one to find out things for oneself, and every American individual reacts to that accordingly."

In holding that the best politics is service to the people, Mr. Harding is much like Abraham Lincoln. He has been a politician either. He never was and when one thinks if all over, one may agree with Mr. Harding that his plan is much better. It certainly fits in more with the dignity of the high office and reflects more brightly the sterling character of the man. And it emphasizes that there will be no effort made to deceive the people, who will be given the opportunity to judge for themselves. The kind of honesty that does not like ballyhooing on one's own account and will have none of it ought to be one that could be trusted very far and very long.

A Call to the Nation. Norfolk Daily News: Under the foregoing caption the Manufacturer's Record publishes a letter from J. E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, which should be given the widest circulation for its clear representation of one of the most serious problems before the American people. In the letter Mr. Edgerton says: "It makes no difference under what guise or pretense or name lawlessness may manifest itself, it cheapens the life and property right of every individual citizen in the nation. It is just as wrong to murder a union man as it is to murder a non-union man and no citizen will draw distinction in his attitude of disapproval. The mob at Harrison is just as culpable as the mob at Herrick."

"It was never so necessary as now for high minded citizens to speak and act as boldly and courageously against the abuses of American citizenship as it is today. The chief enemies to the restoration of tranquility throughout the world, and of the fraternal relations of the United States with other nations, are red, prejudice, revenge, and greed, which are manifesting themselves in international relations and in relations between our own states and sects. At some points there is entirely too much tolerance and at others there is too much hateful intolerance. Only the gospel of love, which was preached by the Prince of Peace, and only the principles which were embodied in his life, will save America and the world. No league of nations nor any other compact or instrument of understanding will hold against the destructive influence of evil, except they be founded upon the solid truths enunciated by the Savior of mankind, and are permeated by the spirit of brotherly love that he proclaimed. "So far as I can it shall be my constant endeavor to make these things real to the people of this nation. It is the common task of right-thinking men."

Studebaker Again Wins Race. A Studebaker-Special Six, driven by William T. Pearson, won the Grand Premio of Argentine—South America's most important race of the year—against a field which included some of the world's highest priced cars. This race is an annual event held under the auspices of the Argentine Automobile club.

This is the second year in succession that Studebaker has raced to victory in the Gran Premio. The distance was from Buenos Aires to Rosario and returned about 470 miles—and the winner's ten-hour, forty-five minutes, thirty-five seconds.

Twenty-six cars were entered in the race, including those of the following makes: Studebaker, Packard, Lincoln, Hispan-Suiza, Hudson, Buick, Lancia, Chrysler, Dodge. Because of bad roads only ten of the twenty-six entrants finished four of which were Studebakers.

The Lincoln driven by Malgor came in second, time ten hours, forty-seven minutes, twenty-nine seconds. A Studebaker Light Six, driven by Paul and Nettie Maloney, came in third, time ten hours, forty-eight minutes, thirty-five seconds.

The record held by the Studebaker entrant has been so considered remarkable in view of the Studebaker victory in 1922 and the rivalry that had developed. The race is far less than a test of speed; it is a test of sturdy construction and endurance, especially under such driving conditions as are encountered in the Argentine service to which the cars was subjected was greater than month of ordinary driving and strikingly demonstrated the Studebaker possession of the Studebaker cars.

Cutting Operating Costs in Corn Belt

Every farmer who owns a tractor is interested in the cost of operating his machine and in reducing that cost where possible. Cost of use according to investigations made by the United States Department of Agriculture, depends chiefly on depreciation, fuel, repairs and upkeep, interest, and lubricating oil. The relative importance of these elements of cost may vary in different sections and on different farms in the same section, but they make up the greater part of the cost of using the tractor, and the possibilities of reducing the cost of use almost entirely in cutting down the site of these items.

While the cost per year and per day of operating three-play machines is considerably greater than for two-play machines, the greater amount of work done by the larger outfit, at least on drafter operations, makes the per unit of work accomplished considerably less.

Depreciation is wholly dependent upon the length of life and the first cost of the machine. The depreciation cost for the three-play machine, the department's investigations are based on a first cost of $500 and a life of 10 years for two play machines and of $1000 and 7 years for three play machines. The depreciation cost for the two-play outfit per year is given as $78; for one day, $24.10; and for one hour, $8.03. For the three-play outfit, the depreciation cost per year is $129; and per day, $38.55.

Fuel and oil costs are dependent on the amount of work done, and what this cost may be large or small, this cost will not bear proportion to the work done. From the same investigations, fuel and oil cost for the two-play outfit was given as $90 per year and $3.05 per day for the three-play outfit, $108 per year and $3.79 per day. Interest on the small machines amounts to $17 per year and for both larger ones, $31. Repairs and upkeep costs are influenced by the care and attention of the operator. The ability of the operator to do his own repairing. In these investigations it has been found to be $35 for the small machines per year and $60 for the larger ones. Other costs are the average will amount to not far from 5 per cent of the total cost of operating the tractor.

The annual depreciation, repair and interest charges do not increase in proportion to the amount of work done per year; consequently the daily cost of these items will be least for machines which do the greatest amount of work.

Wed on Anniversary Of Bride's Parents

The Randolph times gives the following account of the marriage of Miss Mabel Bowles and Thomas Hugh Hughes on April the forty-first wedding anniversary of the bride's parents:

Miss Mabel E. Bowles and Mr. Thos. Hughes were married Wednesday at 11 o'clock at the Welsh Congregational church west of Carroll by Rev. H. Harris, the pastor. They were attended by DeLoris Beems and Ethnael Hughes, the bridegroom's brother. The bride wore a blue suit and black hat.

Miss Mabel is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bowles of this city and has lived in Randolph village the greater part of her life. For the past two years she has been a telephone operator in the Randolph central office and has been efficient and gainstaining. Quiet and retiring as in her disposition she has, nevertheless, made many warm friends. The bridegroom is a son of the late Harry Hughes, and is a progressive young farmer who is making a home for his bride on his mother's farm, 13 miles southeast of Randolph. He is highly esteemed by those who know him.

An interesting fact connected with this wedding is that it occurred on the forty-first anniversary of the wedding of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Bowles were married just 41 years ago at Glenwood, Iowa, and they smile as they recall the trip they made to the preacher on that occasion. Seated in a new lumber wagon and driving a pair of mules they made the trip of four miles to Glenwood. The bride was dressed in a nice new plain gingham gown. She had a better dress, but it was rainy and the gingham answered the purpose. The wedding was set up in a double breasted vest he brought with him from England and this piece of finery was topped by a cut-away coat. To be real fancy he wore a pair of red Stripes and Stripes boots, thus combining the elements of his birth with the country of his adoption in his costume. Anyway this outfit was used in such a way that it has held "the sharp" for 41 years. Mr. and Mrs. Bowles came to Wayne 25 years ago and lived in the Randolph vicinity. In 41 years times have changed and the couple of today used an auto instead of lumber wagon.

A wedding dinner was served at the Bowles home at which the following out of town guests were present: Mr. Harry Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lorenz and Fred Lorenz, all of Carroll, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Hansen and daughter of Winside.

Business

Sioux City Journal: "Someone recently made the observation that it was hardly fair for the American people to demand that the railroads pay high wages, give excellent service and charge very low rates and then complain that it is exactly what a great many people expect of the companies upon whom more burdens than transportation of the country's goods have been put. In the first place, if high wages are paid that means a big overhead expense that must be met by the earnings of the lines before anything can be done or attempted. In the second place, if excellent service is to be maintained at all times, the roads must be allowed to realize a fair return on their investment and operations. Obviously, a railroad cannot improve its equipment from the least amount of spending money, therefore, and assuredly it cannot spend it if it cannot earn it. In the third place, the first and second paragraphs make the last one a fair one: a railroad expert has yet been able to solve the problem presented. Low rates and fares—if they be low that means a big overhead and maintenance cannot be paid out of the earnings, and that is what some misguided persons are demanding—would be impossible unless there was a way to cut down on the operating overhead and to reduce maintenance charges.

Shipping records of the first quarter of the present year are at hand to show that the volume of business in this country is constantly growing. The fact that our exports are constantly increasing is another proof that there are more people to consume them. That means the goods have to be hauled. When haul bills become too high, it means a bigger and better equipment must be had with which to do the work. Otherwise service is not good and railroads are condemned by the suffering public. There is just one way right now for the roads to give better service at lower rates, and it is not by reducing wages because the popular demand for higher wages is so sweeping that it cannot be denied. That was pointed out in error. The Journal believes—by Senator Brookhart, who bluntly says to squeeze the water out of the railroad valuation, which would make it possible for the S-C return to be earned on a smaller amount. That would bring rates down, which they propose to put out for badly needed equipment?"

Fortunately—enough, several months in between August and December. No annoying legislation can be attempted when congress is not in session, and the railroads will have to do as they please in their attempted solution of the problem that confronts them. The Journal would agree at once that, if it could be shown that the estimated value of the railroad property has been put at an amount some $7,000,000,000 too high, something ought to be done about it. However, the true valuation would have to be known beyond the slightest doubt before that could be done in justice. It is very true that right now it costs a great deal of money to ship goods because freight rates are high. At the same time there are many railroads that are not receiving the 6-8-4 fair return on their property investments. What about that? Capital may be hated and suspected by those who do not possess it, and at the same time, simple justice and fairness ought to demand that even the capitalists should have a right to square treatment. It is easy enough to demand high wages, excellent service and lower rates and then complain that it is exactly what a great many people expect of the companies upon whom more burdens than transportation of the country's goods have been put. In the first place, if high wages are paid that means a big overhead expense that must be met by the earnings of the lines before anything can be done or attempted. # ANNOUNCEMENT of Interest to MILLIONS of FAMILIES

"I will build a car for the multitude"
Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today? Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

The State Bank of Wayne will accept deposit on the above plan.
