Income Tax Facts.
Revenue officers are visiting every county in the United States to aid taxpayers in the preparation of their income tax returns for the year 1922. Information concerning the date of their arrival and the location of their offices may be obtained by writing the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives.

Forms for filing returns of individual net income for the year 1922 are being sent to taxpayers who filed returns for the year, 1921. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file a return and pay the tax on time, on or before March 15, 1923. The forms, 1040A for filing returns of net income $5,000 and less and 1040 for filing returns of net income in excess of $5,000, may be obtained from collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors.

Returns are required of every single person whose net income for 1922 was $1,000 or more or whose gross income was $2,000 or more and of every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more or whose gross income was $5,000 or more. Careful study of the instructions on the forms will greatly aid in making a correct return.

Conditions Are Improving.

Drovers Journal-Stockman, Feb. 2, Sam McGill of Veedol, in Ontario today with a load of hogs shipped from Monowi, gives a very favorable report of conditions in the country about Boyd and Knox counties.

"It's not necessary to look hard to see improvement over conditions of a year ago," said Mr. McGill. "Everything is in fine shape except, perhaps, that there is some disease among our hogs, and that our corn crop ran rather low. While I have not lost any hogs myself, some of my neighbors have suffered considerable loss. Corn averaged around 25 bushels to the acre and, though present feeding operations at home are not large, we are obliged to import to some extent. We are planting 52 cents at present for the corn we buy."

Mr. McGill prefers the Poland China hog to any other, and his shipment of today was of that breed. The hogs were farrowed in May, and are the last of his 1922 stock to be shipped. There were 75 head, and they averaged 162 pounds here, selling for $7.55.

a better hotel building, and an organized effort may well be put forth to show up the opportunity of the "anti-Gimme" in such an enterprise.

An "Anti-Gimme" club has been organized in Minnesota, and if it is all its name implies, it ought to spread over the entire world. As we judge, it distinguishes the chronic profiteers for hand-outs. It puts a crimp in the disposition to harvest people without giving anything in return. Its purpose is to reward people-out of their respective hands and make them more self-dependent and self-sustaining. It is expected that iron will be sold in bulky backbones and pride and courage into feebly and suppliant souls. We are ready to join the "Anti-Gimme" club.

Governor Bryan vetoes the bill proposing to reduce salaries of high representatives of government. The veto is as much entitled to code salaries as were the republicans. Accordingly, in looking out for demagogues, Governor Bryan would do well to be careful to oppose salary reduction along all lines. Any reduction in salaries, cost of improvements or maintenance, could be likely to have demerit of course, the government cannot hope to reduce taxes without trimming expenditures, and therefore we would suggest that he veto the bill to exempt all demagogues from taxation during the coming biennium. It would be a good way to reward his supporters. It would hold them in line, and would be a powerful argument in favor of party membership. At the same time it would seek and punish the opposition in the most elaborate and effective manner.

We could not get along without the association of one another, and yet we are often cold, critical and inconsiderate in our treatment of one another. Without social relations, life is pointed out as a failure. Another proponent and he is characterized as avaricious. One who is active in behalf of public enterprise is obtrusive. Another who attends strictly to his own interests, is selfish. People point to defects rather than to good points. Nearly everyone does his best, and yet the crowd does not know it. People do not know individual problems that have to be solved. One criticizes another's weaknesses, while having the weaknesses of his own that are equally apparent and objectionable. If one were isolated amidst magnificent scenery, with every comfort and luxury, but lacked the essential of communion with his kind, he would perish. We abuse indispensable assets, and minimize the virtues of people without whose fellowship we could not live.

"What Your Neighbors Say About Semi-Solid"

That's the name of a small book, vest-pocket size book, which will contain scores of letters from Wayne county farmers relative to the results from using Semi-Solid. "The dairy in the yellow barrel." The importance of feeding during the calving period, also the feeding to nursing mothers to produce vitality and increase milk flow. After reading this book you will know it is not unusual for Semi-Solid feeders to mature hogs in thirty days; that before the use of Semi-Solid Buttermilk. Housewives will contribute to the explaining of how to raise the stout little chicks. The importance of feeding Semi-Solid mixed with bran and rolled oats, and the follow-up feeding which puts profit in the chicken industry. Leave your orders for a copy-note your neighbors, say. We often learn by the experience of others. Do not consider Semi-Solid an expense. It's the best that, and when applied to the brood and chicken industry makes farming profitable. "A barrel of Semi-Solid on every farm"—and that will take place in the near future—will increase Wayne county produce thousands of dollars every year.

Business.

Sioux City's January contributed in large measure in creating a firmer feeling of confidence that business recovery will be far advanced during the year. Volume and value considered, the month recd an advance of 20 to 25 per cent over previous periods of seasonal losses. January, 1923, surpassed the same month last year both in turnover and actual worth of the business transacted. That is a pool in the industry. It is a sign of spring, with a bright expansion in all directions, the pendulum of recovery swinging more vigorously until an actual normal is reached.

Trade in the middle west is good. Chicago reports that heavy buying of steel is the chief feature of the movement, but advises that at the same time that prices have advanced. Not only are quotations higher, but they are expected to increase even more during the year.

Iron and steel are particularly demanding a much higher price, averaging around $2. It is seen that the claimed labor shortage is expected by the producers to affect production by spring, when there will be a diversion of workers to other fields. The Big metal plants are now running about 90 per cent of capacity, and the production in that will decline to around 70 per cent.

All sorts of demands are being made on the steel people. Farm implement manufacturers are ordering steel in large quantities and speeded up production on the part of the motor car manufacturers is making heavy demands. The requirements of the railroads are very heavy. One class one line, the Illinois Central, has ordered 18,000 tons of steel in 4,000 quantities. Within a year this plant has purchased 11,000 cars and 190 locomotives. Other class one railroads are making similar demands on the steel manufacturers; and, when the prices surely will be affected by these requirements, it means that transportation facilities will be so greatly improved that when the railroads again undertake to move the nation's crops they will not be embarrassed by a heavy congestion of shipments.

Higher prices for commodities seem to be the trend in business. Other things that steel and iron have gone up Cotton is at a higher figure, and, as a consequence, the dry goods market is stronger than it was. Crude oil price advances are reported from various fields, and, of course, by-products will be affected. Gasoline quotations have changed but little, although increases are expected. Clothing has advanced, spring stocks of ready to wear garments selling wholesale in some lines at 10 to 12 1/2 per cent higher than fall and winter goods.

The foreign exchange situation is promising improvement in some directions and is discouraging in others. The amount necessary is 1 1/4 pints to a gallon of warm water; no further addition is necessary except to replace the water lost by evaporation. When warm weather arrives the radiator should be emptied, rinsed out, and filled up with plain water. Such a mixture begins to get slushy at about ten degrees F., but does not actually freeze and harden even at 6 degrees F. Glucose does not corrode nor effect metals; in fact, it prevents such action by virtue of its chemical reducing properties. It seems to have no effect upon rubber. Its inexpensiveness and its freedom from the annoyance of constantly having to replace a volatile solvent such as alcohol or ether, are unquestioned advantages. Amer. Jour. Pharm., 1922, No. 2.

Cox-McAdoo-Ford.

Sioux City Journal: Mark Sullivan, the political writer, sums up the chances of Messrs. Cox, McAdoo and Ford for securing the nominating presidential nomination. Mr. Cox is a tenacious person, he says; he is not a man to give up because he is defeated in 1920; he is a good deal of a leader in Ohio and may succeed in capturing the Ohio delegation to the convention; he is thought to be a democratic party leader; he is a man who is out of the race he may feel them all by her espousal of the isolation policy of international operation, particularly if that policy should happen to be the leading issue in 1924.

As Mr. McAdoo, his visit to Washington recently fired democratic leaders there with enthusiasm, and he is "in an incomparably stronger position with respect to the next national convention" than was to the 1920 convention. It is Mr. Sullivan's judgment that Mr. McAdoo is rather more favorably disposed to the front as a presidential possibility than is formally by even democratic politicians. With Mr. Wilson, his father-in-law, out of the White House, there is no excuse for the restraint that he imposed upon himself and upon some of his most powerful friends in 1920.

Passing on to Mr. Ford, Mr. Sullivan reports that democratic leaders hold the most serious and in some cases the most sensitive positions. That Mr. Ford will cut a large though perhaps erratic figure in the situation. They learn by "grapevine" that he contemplates doing some very irregular things. They fear that it is his intention to attempt a stand-side with a view to compelling the democratic leaders to announce his withdrawal from the race; that otherwise there will be a third party. The judgment of the politicians, Mr. Sullivan states, is that there is very great latent sentiment for Mr. Ford and that he might readily turn up in the democratic convention with fairly many delegates, but not in the more orthodox party candidates.

Warden is Awarded Increase in Salary

Lincoln Journal: Warden Fenton of the state penitentiary was the recipient of a number of compliments Friday morning at the hands of members of the senate, and after several roll calls and some debate, that body advanced to third reading a bill, S. F. 81, which fixes the salary of that office for the future at $3,000 a year.

The present law gives the warden $2,500 and allows the payments to other members of his staff to be fixed by the state board of control. The bill, introduced by Senator Chamber, fixed the salary at $3,500. It was objected to as rather larger than necessary because the state furnished light, heat, fuel, food and living quarters to the warden, and it was necessary to have two roll calls before the figure of $3,000 was fixed.

On the first vote which was taken on a motion of Chamber, the figure was $3,500, as the bill provided, to $2,000, there were sixteen yeas and fourteen nays. This vote for the $3,000 salary were: Allen, Anderson, Barr, Bliss, Fries, Hillan, Meach, Osborne, Purcell, Reed, Rickard, Robbins, Shellenberger, Warner, Wilkins and Wiase. Against it were: Banning, Belgons, Chambers, Cooper, Eurn, Hastings, Johnson, Kroh, Larkin, McGowan, Reiffenrath, Smrha, Sturdevant and Thielen.

On the motion of Beltons to kill the bill he was able to muster but four supporters, Meachen, Osborne, Purcell and Warner.

During the debate Senator Sturdevant said that the warden was getting less money for hazardous work than were a number of university professors. It was also said that in addition to being the chief of the prison he was running a factory with a yearly output of $300,000. He runs his own car and maintains it.

The senate killed S. F. 53, which Senator Kroh said was intended to allow as little as $900 a year for sheriff in small counties, like Arctur, McPherson and Logan, where a maximum of $1,200 is now paid.

It was constructed by the senate to read as follows: "The salary of sheriff in counties having a population of less than 3,000, as the bill provided, to $2,000, there were sixteen yeas and fourteen nays. This vote for the $3,000 salary were: Allen, Ander-introduced by Glimb and Smrha, was indefinitely postponed by the senate in committee of the whole. A similar bill was defeated two years ago. The bill purports to require dry cleaning houses to be constructed in the future after fire proof specifications set forth in the bill and places such institutions under the control of the state fire marshal for control and license. One argument against it was that it may create a monopoly for houses now in operation and another objection raised is that cities now have power to regulate dry cleaning establishments by ordinance.

The senate adjourned until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, sixteen so voting to fourteen who wanted to adjourn till Saturday morning in order to hold the committees together for work Friday afternoon. It was explained that the senate has its calendar cleaned up and nothing to do till the committees grind out something.

UNCLE WALT

The Post Philosopher

Cold Weather.

How I hate to journey forth on these bitter winter mornings. For the wind is from the north and has bells upon its horns; with that wind I have a stiff, and it hands me sweat and buff, and I soon am frozen stiff from my whiskers to my corns. In the heaven sort of tales we are always being told there is pep in arctic gales, there is stimulant in cold; where the blizzards fiercely skim till they'd rend you limb from limb, you are filled with snap and vim and with vigor manifold. Let the heaven vigor storm, in their bold red-blooded way; I feel best when I am warm, when I'm snugly in the hay; let the hero, minus fears, face, the blizzard that uprears; I have frozen both my ears, and I found it didn't pay. I have frozen both my feet when I tolled upon the fence, and I say that warmth is sweet and that cold has little charm; let me sit before the fire with my dashund and my lyre, while the he-men we admire view such comfort with alarm. Let the bold heroic souls tread the snowy arctic waste while the bitter tempest swirls 'er the land in frenzied haste, let them struggle with despair, combating icebergs from their hair; but a padded easy chair is more strictly so-my taste.

The Procession.

Forty million cars go by, burning up the gasoline; long I watch them as they fly, flivver, bus and limousine; day and night they sweep along, all their engines going strong, blowing horn or sounding gong, autos yellow, black and green; James Johnson bought my pup, and the bill long since was due; now I see him hitting up fifty miles or fifty-two; he must know I need the cash, for my children cry incessantly but he drives as though he'd smash all the records—hear him choo! There goes Japhet Jimbo Jones; seven months have gone their way since he borrowed fifteen bones, which he would return next day; fifteen bucks I sorely need; they would save my life, indeed, but this Jones is showing speed with a jaunty behoorary. Here comes Peter Tinkle now, searching 'neath the silver moon, and he owes me for the cow that he bought the 10th of June; my little does he care that I have no shirts to wear, that my granny's feet are bare, as he chants his joyous hymn. Down the valley up the hills I can hear the motors clink; if the owners paid their bills, how the long parade would shrink! Autos yellow, green and red would be standing cold and dead, in some glory-ration shed, quicker than the eye can wink.

After the Storm!

During a winter snow or sleet storm or after a summer thunder storm, your telephone service may be cut off.

Often a windstorm breaks off many telephone poles. And sleet not only breaks off poles but interrupts telephone service by tearing down the wires. Lightning, too, plays havoc with the wires.

While your telephone is out of order, remember that line-men are working in the midst of the trouble, striving manfully, without regard for their personal comfort, to restore your service.

At the time of a storm, every available repairman is on the job. And not for a minute do they relax their efforts until telephone service is fully restored.

From Ponca Journal, Feb. 5, 1880:

Don't forget the meeting at the hall for the purpose of aiding Ireland in her distress. In our neighboring county of Dakota the Parnell fund has reached the sum of $10,715 and it is to be hoped that Dixon county will prove herself as liberal.

It is with great satisfaction that we are enabled to announce that the Ponca Coal and Mining company have reached the commencement of discoveries of great importance and of incalculable benefit to Nebraska. This state has heretofore had the not enviable reputation of being the only state in the Union which had no coal in it. The illusion which has discouraged prospectors in the past, is now dispelled by the fact that at a depth of 408 feet, the Ponca coal company in this day's farming has struck a magnificent vein of coal, between two and three feet thick. Above this vein, are immense ledges of rock composed largely of iron pyrites and are so tough and hard, owing to the extreme hardness, the drill penetrated very slowly. The tremendous strength and resistance of these overlying rocks will be understood when it is known that during the twenty-four hours preceding the discovery, the machinery propelled by a powerful steam engine was enabled to drill but a trifle over a foot.

Last Thursday night an attempt was made to commit the crime of C. S. Ford. The following are the particulars, as near as we can learn: William McQuaid, who sleeps in the back of the wagon, was awakened about 11 o'clock by hearing a noise at the back door, sounding very much like some one trying to effect an entrance. His first thought was to get by seeing a man standing in front of a window near the door, who seemed to be quietly waiting for the door to be opened.

In order to make a good selection the breeder must know the strong points of both sire and dam, as well as the individual. A large per cent of this offering is the get of Big Avalanche, a son of The Avalanche. To him and Giant Timm 2nd, a son of Giant Timm, and Big Buster, a son of Imperial Buster. Governor Balks On Salary Reductions Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 6.—Governor Bryan today sent a message to the state senate vetoing the bill originating in that body, and passed by both houses of the legislature, reducing the salary of the six code secretaries from a uniform $5,000 each to a maximum of $4,000 and minimum of $2,500. The governor is commenting on his veto said he could not see justification for slashing salaries paid heretofore to republican secretaries on the theories that probably democratic successors would perform the work for a lesser amount.

The veto message was reported to the senate according to expressions from a number of members as notice from Gov. Bryan that he will not approve any amendments to the code law, but that the legislature could not raise the law in its entirety and accept the governor's plan of reorganizing the departments now under the code enactment. The code law was one of the chief issues of the campaign last fall, Governor Bryan in his speeches advocating its repeal.

County Agents Discussed.
Arguments that the present law governing employment of county farm agents permits taxation by a minority, occupied the last hour of the lower house yesterday afternoon. The agents were put under fire when the bill, introduced by Representative James Quinn of Elkhorn, farmer-representative from Douglas county, came up for consideration. The bill provided that the salaries of the agents $5,000 annually should be paid county farm agent be referred to a vote by the entire county.

Wilson of Dawes, asserted passage of such a measure would sound the death-knell to farm agents in counties with large cities, such as Lincoln, Omaha and Grand Island.

Back of Butler, backed Wilson's argument and declared the

Two Children Die in Fire Near Jackson

Sioux City Journal, Feb. 3: Two babies are dead as the result of a fire which raged a farmhouse eight miles west of Jackson, Neb., Friday afternoon. Kenneth O'Dell, 3 years old, perished in the flames of the burning structure.

Marjory, O'Dell, 4 months old, died several hours later after being brought to a Sioux City hospital. Her death was caused by burns she had sustained.

The parents of the two babies, Mr. and Mrs. Lee O'Dell, were in the yard at the rear of the house when the fire started. The infant daughter had been placed upon a bed in a bedroom and the boy had been left in the kitchen.

Mrs. O'Dell saw the flames first and called to her husband. They ran towards the house, but before they reached the rear wing, building a portion of the roof fell in, barring possible access to the kitchen and preventing the rescue of the boy.

Running to the other side of the house, the parents smashed in a bedroom window and seized the infant daughter, whose clothing, was in flames. The baby was taken from the dwelling only a moment before the remainder of the roof fell in.

Neighbors prevented the flames from spreading to the barns and out-buildings. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Shoes Should be More Than a Covering for the Feet

Your shoes should be a covering for your feet, of course, but they should be much more. They should provide a normal walking base—a comfortable support—for your feet.

Without such a support your feet are sure to weaken and cause discomfort. Nature intended your feet to walk flat on the ground, so that your instep would be supported firmly. Ordinary shoes with sagging arches strain your instep and weaken it. The Arch Preserver shoe with its built in concealed arch bridge holds up your feet exactly as if you were walking barefooted. You have "barefoot" comfort, yet you can wear the smart style—and your feet are held up so trimly they really appear more stylish than in ordinary shoes.

The Arch Preserver shoe will make you forget you have arches in your feet. You'll want to walk—you'll enjoy standing—clear through the day, morning, afternoon and evening. You'll know a foot vigor you thought belonged to childhood. Let us try on a pair of Arch Preserver shoes for you then you'll understand why they are the shoes you should wear.

Madison, Neb., Feb. 1: Fred H. Davis, Madison's popular postmaster, received word from the civil service commission at Washington, that he had passed the civil service examination recently required of him to determine his eligibility for another term receiving an average of 91 per cent.

Mr. Davis has no opposition for re-appointment and no doubt since the civil service commission has reported him as the only eligible with such excellent rating, his appointment by the postmaster general and his confirmation of the senate will shortly follow.

Effect of Golf on Morality.
New York Tribune: As to the physical benefit of golf there can be no doubt—but its moral benefit in some instances is open to question, for golfers of perfectly upright lives previous to their taking up the game have been known to employ language not used in the best business circles and to betray a shocking lack of scruples in estimating the number of strokes they took per hole.

Crows Attend Rasmussen Sale, Norfolk News, Feb. 1: Over 1,000 persons attended the annual sale of W. R. Rasmussen held in the Norfolk livestock sales pavilion Wednesday night when fifty members of Giant Semantics, the great Duroc Jersey head leaders, were offered for sale. All fifty-eight head were sold, the first thirty-nine catalogued animals selling at an average of $225. The top priced hog, a yearling sow, sold for $405 and anxious bidders indicated that the price would have been run up higher if more time had been given to the bidding. Approximately $11,200 in cash changed hands in the sale of these hogs which are declared by hog breeders to be the cream of the Duroc Jersey pork family of America.

So On, Forever. The ancient Egyptians 7,000 years ago wove linen that was practically the same as the finest cambric handkerchief of today. The same Egyptians had mastered the art of furniture making, combining the maximum of sturdiness with the maximum of strength. They were wonderful jewelers and workers in glass. They also had instruments for measuring time and temperature. So says Prof. Flinders Petrie, famous English scientist. After all, life is about the same in one generation as another. We do much the same things over and over, merely changing the equipment.

Flour is flour, whether it is made in an electric driven modern mill or ground by hand between two stones. Destinations are the same, whether travel is by airplane, horse, steam railroad, ships or by foot. Admittedly, we do change faster than the ancients. But, in the long run, actual accomplishments are unchanged.

Century after century, men and women pursue the same fundamental tasks—getting enough to eat, providing clothing, gathering fuel for warmth, building shelter and raising children. As the centuries change, also, the costumes scenery changes, also, the costumes of the actors, but the plot never changes.

It is a good thing to place emphasis on all this, because the intricacies of our civilization are apt to be confusing, apt to bewilder us so that we forget the basic purposes of life. Father, bringing a rib roast of beef from the butcher shop, is merely duplicating the cave man dragging home a beast he killed with bow and arrow or stone ax. The same old plot goes on forever, a new generation of actors coming on the stage as the older generation makes the final exit.

Golden Wedding Observed.

All day Wednesday and Wednesday night of last week was a joyous celebration of the second-most joyful day in the life of a married couple, the golden wedding, of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bronzynski, in Germany, Jan. 31, 1873. Mr. and Mrs. Bronzynski pledged faithfulness to each other for life and in Wayne county, Jan. 31, 1923, rejoice that the pledge has been kept and that they have been spared to each other for fifty years. They came from Germany forty-two years ago, to Norfolk and drove to the place four miles west of Winside where they still live. But such a different looking home. Their first house was a sod house on the widest of Nebraska prairies, no trees, no Winside, no conveniences. Now this thoroughbred is one of the most beautiful farm homes in the county. All nine children and eleven grandchildren were present and these spared no pains nor expense to make the celebration of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of "Mother and Father" complete. The preparations were made to surprise the guests of honor. A banquet dinner was served at noon, the decorations being a huge wedding bell of gold and white, the center of which was built in tiers. Another golden cake had fifty candles and another bearing the inscription "fifty years." Cut flowers of golden hue were used profusely. At a o'clock another dinner, elaborately planned, was served. There were fifty-eight guests. Mr. and Mrs. Bronzynski were highly respected and number their friends by the score. These guests were: Frank, Emil, August, Albert and Herman Bronzynski, with their wives and families, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Polhman of Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kesting and daughter, Pierce, Mrs. Henry Polhman of Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neuman, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Mittelstadt, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. A. Witzler, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Schweder and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Surman, Mrs. Anna Bronzynski, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Benzen of Wisner. The following poem was written by Mrs. Herman Benzen, a sister of Mrs. Bronzynski, and read at the golden wedding: "Just as a golden sunset sheds down its wondrous hue Before the dim horizon Obscures it from our view So the richness of life's twilight Unfolds its cloak of gold Until the Savior calls you To be one of his great fold. Fifty years have passed away Since the day that you were wed. Some days were those of happiness, Some days to sorrow led. May health and happiness be yours At the sunset of your golden wed. May God guide you till the end In this world of care and strife."

tion, went before the commercial club to get the opinion of that group as to the advisability of calling the mass meeting. The commercial club endorsed the school board's action and went on record as favoring the community meeting.

Members of the board of education will, at the mass meeting, present the conditions which demand consideration of erecting a new building. Present accommodations are not adequate for the number of students and the school is steadily increasing. Expansion of the high school course to include commercial studies, manual training and home economics, has been hampered.

The Commercial club, at the Monday meeting, also voted opposition to the cut in cost of automobile licenses. Because this cut would decrease the road work the club favored leaving the tax as it is.
