Explains Pharmacy Bill.
David S. Simms of Hastings, president of the State Pharmaceutical association, appeared before the senate committee on miscellaneous subjects and told the members that S. B. 71 is not aimed at passing proprietary medicines. The bill would increase the educational qualifications necessary to take the state board examinations by requiring two years in an accredited pharmacy college and two years experience in a drug store.

Mr. Simms explained that the latter provisions would mean two years of "soda squirting."

When the majority report of the house committee on cities and towns recommending the incorporation of the Howell municipal light bill was presented to the lower house yesterday morning, Representative Smith of Omaha presented a minority report asking that the bill be placed on the general file.

Governor Bryan yesterday took cognizance of reports of friction between his office and finance committee of the house.

Finance Department Busy.
The fact that Secretary Brown of the finance department quit the first of the year and the department had temporarily loaned a bookkeeper to the board of control, has handicapped the finance department seriously, the governor said, and it is a working over time to check figures in the budget messages.

Because of the rush of work, the governor said that he had been forced to refuse the committee request for the help of an assistant three afternoons a week.

By a vote of 5 to 3, the house committee on judiciary yesterday afternoon sent H. R. 397, repealing the indeterminate sentence law to the general file. Proponents of the bill regarding the indeterminate sentence assert that the law, according to prosecutors, has not proved a deterrent to crime. A saving clause to protect convictions under the present law was added by way of amendment.

The committee also voted to report out three companion bills which set forth jurisdiction, power and authority of the board of pardons and paroles.

Largest Traffic Is Over State System

One of the conditions upon which the state accepts federal aid for roads is that the roads thus constructed shall constitute a connected system.

An analysis of the situation is interesting and revealing. A study of fifty counties which has state roads completed, one running north and south and one running east and west, will show that one-half of the former traffic is over state roads.

More than 75 per cent of all the traffic of the state, including the counties where the state system is not complete, is borne by state roads.

About 30 per cent of the total road funds of the state and counties are used on these roads that serve three-fourths of the population and bear that proportion of traffic.

It is evident that the roads that bear a large proportion of the traffic must be constructed more substantially and maintained more efficiently that the roads that feed into the traffic.

Before the federal roads are built, the main arteries should be constructed. The plan of road building in the past has been to build a piece of road was built in one commissioner's district to accommodate a few farmers and another piece in another district, but with no thought of a connected system.

Under the federal aid plan, the state system must be connected. This plan has given an incentive to county boards to lay out county systems leading into the state system, thus making a complete system of state and county roads.

By using federal and state funds to construct the main arteries, the county funds raised by county levies are released to build the county systems leading into the state system.

Gas often presses on heart and other organs, causing a restless, nervous feeling which prevents sleep. Has Your Range Started to Rust Out?

If It Has, Guard Against Rust in the Future by Buying a Copper-Clad.

Moisture is the great enemy of iron and steel. Unless protected from dampness any kind of sheet iron and every kind of steel will rust.

Range bodies—with one exception—rust out from the inside because the sweaty asbestos lining is laid flat against the outer wall. With one exception, the walls of all ranges are of three-ply construction. They have an inner wall, a layer of asbestos, then the outer wall.

Every time a fire is built in the range, the asbestos sweats and the moisture is forced against the outer wall. It is only a matter of a few years before the wall is rusted through. Then the range must be scrapped.

The One Exception is the Copper-Clad.

Carhart Hardware Co.
Wayne, Nebraska

In the Copper-Clad range the outside wall is protected by pure sheet copper. This copper is placed between all asbestos and the range outer wall. When the moisture sweats in a Copper-Clad the moisture gathers on the copper—and copper cannot rust.

The Copper-Clad will never rust out. Come in. We will show you that asbestos sweats.

County Fair an Asset. Beatrice Express: One of the greatest assets that a rural county can have is a good county fair. One of the most noted towns in the state of Nebraska, town of comparative small population is the town of Deshar, which has gained fame for the maintenance for many years, of a splendid county fair—one that would be a credit to the largest and wealthiest county in the state. Another county which has a splendid fair is Nemaha. Several years ago, Nemaha county fair had run down. It was decided to rejuvenate it. Business men of Auburn and the farmers got together and in the short space of five years they have built up a county fair that is second only to the Nebraska state fair. New buildings were erected and over $23,000 was spent on the housing plant, the latest addition being a fine auditorium. The fair association is comparatively out of debt. Farmers and live stock breeders in every part of the county were interested financially in the project and farmers had the most prominent places on the board. The result has been that a new feeling of cordiality has been engendered between the farmers and business and professional men of Auburn, because of their contact at the county fair. Probably the best return on the investment has been the increased interest that has been developed in better methods of farming and in the increase of registered livestock on the farms. The county fair at Tecumseh, which has placed Johnson county on the agricultural and livestock map can be cited as another instance of the good that a live fair will do. Those who are interested in a first class and permanent county fair in Gage county are at work on a project that will result in a drive during the coming spring. Gage is one of the best and richest agricultural counties in the state. It has a progressive farming population and it has the resources within itself to create and maintain a county fair every year that will almost equal the state exposition. New funds are to be solicited to erect permanent buildings to house the agricultural, livestock and other exhibits in the manner that they should be, and to develop a permanent plant that shall be in keeping with the dignity of agriculture in this rich county. Farmers as well as business men are to be interested to the end that this shall be a farmers' county fair—as well as an institution that will have the hearty support and endorsement

Has Your Range Started to Rust Out?

If It Has, Guard Against Rust in the Future by Buying a Copper-Clad.

Moisture is the great enemy of iron and steel—Unless protected from dampness any kind of sheet iron and every kind of steel will rust.

Range bodies—with one exception—rust out from the inside because the sweaty asbestos lining is laid flat against the outer wall. With one exception, the walls of all ranges are of three-ply construction. They have an inner wall, a layer of asbestos, then the outer wall.

Every time a fire is built in the range, the asbestos sweats and the moisture is forced against the outer wall. It is only a matter of a few years before the wall is rusted through. Then the range must be scrapped.

The One Exception is the Copper-Clad.

Carhart Hardware Co.

In the Copper-Clad range the outside wall is protected by pure sheet copper. This copper is placed between all asbestos and the range outer wall. When the asbestos sweats in a Copper-Clad the moisture gathers on the copper and copper cannot rust. The Copper-Clad will never rust. Come in. We will show you that asbestos sweats.

If disastrous for cold weather forecasts the intricacies of accumulated snow, we fear we are rapidly approaching that unhappy extremity.

Senator Borah would have more influence if he would be more consistent. His idea of Statehood is not to be trusted, an eternal practice that is not being followed. He appears to change his attitude to conform to a contrary policy.

Some people call it the "grip," others the "flu," and still others just "the cold." It is a disease of the label, it is the same diabolical thing. It has been prevalent for a few weeks, and according to the latest quotational, one out of every five of the population had escaped at tack.

We are unqualifiedly behind all organizations that will make Wayne and Wayne county grow and prosper. The country fair will be one big accomplishment. This year the fair enterprises and improvements will need encouragement and support. The town is favored in many ways, and we are up to the task of taking advantage of opportunities.

A move has been made in the state legislature to abolish the parole system and reinstate the old practice of imposing definite sentences on prisoners. Reliable statistical study has shown that the actual time served averages longer under the indeterminate sentence. It is said judges hesitate to give a maximum term when they know it must be completely carried out. We have a definite minimum now before the expiration of which no one is subject to parole. The weakness of the present system is believed to lie in the fact that there are not enough trained observers to supervise the criminal, and that his fitness for parole or pardon.

If the world depended on people who always see the dark side, who see and magnify imperfections, and whose eyes and ears are closed to hopeful signs and encouraging words, it would soon run amuck and end in a revival of the strife and chaos of the middle ages. Stability and wholesome progress are what we want, and these cannot be stimulated or developed by dragging forth and showing off a lot of inps of darkness. The naturally and chronically lugubrious individual ought to force himself to make an occasional observation that is favorable, and thus contribute something of value to society. Conditions are never so unpropitious as the pessimist would make them appear, and if he would set himself to work and help, he would have less disposition to look sad and issue notes of despair.

THE IMMORTAL LINCOLN.

With multiplied years since the fatal night of What has been determined to offer full value to subscribers and advertisers without any suggestion of "padding" a worthy home institution. Service is the thing we have stressed, and it is the thing which every enduring and developing business must have. What has been determined is that the Herald and its newspapers are striving for the same high plane and, like the Herald, are making encouraging headway.

Lincoln was not a designing politician. He was unfeigned and unassuming. He was a genuine statesman. He did not seek the plaudits of the multitude or bend his energies for political gain. He did not go to the church to be seen, but to a church member, but a practical Christian; not rich in gold, but rich in kind impulses and helpful deeds. Lincoln was honest, transparent and square. He was not a trifier, not a shirk, not a dissembler. He employed his talents to the best advantage; he made no promises that could not be fulfilled. He was just and generous to friends and enemies alike. His life and his work are made his by the honest, brave and true. He grew up without educational advantages. He suffered every inconvenience in his determined effort to acquire knowledge. Grieved in poverty, relieved amid the privations of the Illinois frontier, he was made rugged and resourceful. He had suffered, and he was sensitive to the sufferings of others. The gold in his character was refined by adversity and adversity was his friend. He became an ideal American citizen pulsating with love of country and love of humanity. His name, reflecting an exemplary life, will go down into the years and ages as a beacon light for the Tompkins of civilization everywhere.

WOULD EXPOSE PLAGIARISM

Editor Stone of the Hartington Herald urges exposure of editorial writers who "bolster" pretenses of brains by purloining and using in their editorial columns the ideas and plots of others without credit. He wants literary purveyors shown their masks. If Editor Stone will lead with the facts he has in mind, we will give the possible encouragement and assistance.

This is what he says about editorial plagiarists: "It is that some editors are editorially plagiarists in their editorial columns conveying the impression that they emanate from their own brain, when in reality it is simply a rehash of something they have taken from some other publication and with which many of their readers are already familiar."

"There can be no objection offered to quoting from other editors, as thereby we get the best ideas of the world, and we are made master as their own which deals with questions of state-wide interest, and trying to make people believe in the wisdom known by the masses in the public affairs, should be condemned by all fair-minded publishers, and those guilty of such practices should be held up to what they really are by the press in general."

State Normal School News Items of Week

Ben Cherrington, Y. M. C. of Denver, Colo., spent Monday and part of Tuesday at the State Normal in the interest of educating the students of Europe. He addressed classes in history and sociology and gave an interesting Tuesday morning in chapel, and met the boys of the school Tuesday noon. Cherrington's main topic of discussion was "The Hope of the World" and he brought out that for both the old world and the new the chief hope lies in the training of the young people for leadership. Students at the normal subscribed $180 to the Student Friendship fund which goes to Europe to help the boys who are trying to get an education. Mr. Cherrington explained that at the present rate of exchange a student can attend school for one year of $15 of American money. The school hopes to raise the sum pledged to $150 so that ten students may be supported. The speaker just recently returned from Europe and he told from first hand information about the needs for support. From Wayne Mr. Cherrington was accompanied by Lincoln's birthday anniversary was observed in chapel Monday. Misses Beckenhauer sang a solo and Dr. T. House addressed the students on "Lincoln and the Twentieth Century Social Problems."

A special program given Wednesday at the chapel house included the following numbers: Trio by Miss Faith Phillo to the piano, Miss Albin Putnam and Miss Alvera Maloney, "Polish Dance," by Miss Frieda Zepin of West Point. Juniors have selected the "Hottentot" for the class play to be presented some time in March. Parts have already been chosen.

Pres. U. S. arrived home on Wednesday from Lincoln where he attended a meeting of the State Normal board which organized a special meeting of the members, Miss Ruth Pyrtle and Dan Stephens. The presidents of the normal, Dr. H. E. Reisdorfer and H. E. Reisdorfer, secretary of the normal board, appeared before the finance committee of the state legislature and presented the needs of the school. Grant S. Mears of Wayne, is chairman of this committee. The men were invited to explain the needed appropriations for the school.

Defects of Vision Prevalent in School

Of the 609 children inspected in the Wayne public school and the state normal training school, 108 have defects of vision, according to Miss A. Scheer, county Red Cross nurse. The nurse, though apparently slight, should be corrected because they may result in nervous troubles. In an effort to see children rest will sit in a crooked position or stoop over, causing defects of the spine or lungs. For these reasons Miss Scheer is urging the children and their parents to have their eyes cared for properly.

The National Educational association has recommended the following rules for the preservation of the eyesight:

- Take care of your eyesight; when it depends much of your safety and success in life.
- Always hold your head up when you read.
- Hold your book fourteen inches from your face.
- Be sure the light is clear and good.
- Never read in the twilight, in a moving car, or in a reclining position.
- Never read with the sun shining directly on the book.
- Never face the light in reading. Let the light come from behind or over the left shoulder.
- Avoid books or papers printed in dense or in small type.
- Rest your eyes frequently by looking away from the book.
- Cleanse the eyes night and morning with clean water.
- Never rub the eyes with your hands, an unclean towel or cloth or handkerchief.
- Norfolk Pioneer Passes Away
- After having been in failing health for six months, Henry E. Hardy, pioneer hardware dealer of Norfolk, passed away at his home in that city on Monday. The funeral and burial took place at Norfolk Wednesday.
- The Daily-News says Mr. Hardy was one of the oldest settlers of Norfolk and had been a successful business man in this part of the state.

Suicide in Norfolk

Norfolk Daily News, Feb. 12: Mrs. Maxine Crosby, about 35 years old, is believed to have committed suicide in her home, 409 Philip avenue, shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday evening. The body was found by her daughter when the mother had sent away earlier in the evening. Physicians examining the body believe the woman drank poison. The stomachs has been sent to Lincoln for analysis. Mrs. Crosby once lived in Nebraska where her husband died in the Niobrara hotel fire in which Mrs. Crosby was so badly burned she lost one of her legs. County Attorney Truitt has determined whether or coroner's inquest will be held. He was notified of the death by the police Saturday night and started an investigation.

Major Hale, a roomer in the Crosby house, told the police that he had a quarrel with Mrs. Crosby earlier in the evening. This quarrel was confirmed by the daughter who said her mother told her to go out for about a half hour to visit with friends and then return. When she returned, about 6 o'clock, the girl said she found the front-and-back doors locked. She crawled through a basement window and found her mother's body on a bed. She notified neighbors who called Dr. Barry who in turn notified the police. The police called City Physician Sonnenland who declared that death was undoubtedly due to poisoning. It was also stated that a local ex-busman who ate stomach showed signs of poisoning.

Police say that Mrs. Crosby had made threats of suicide on several occasions. The mother-in-law, Mrs. Crosby conducted a millinery shop in the Biahop block last year. Her hair-ribbon police that after this quarrel with Mrs. Crosby he and the horse and was planning to go west.

The Indeterminate Sentence.

Lincoln Journal: A bill repealing the indeterminate sentence law has been recommended for passage by the legislature. This bill, if passed, will be a long step backward in our treatment of men convicted of crime. Those advocating repeal either do not understand the law and its practical application or are out of sympathy with the humane theory upon which it rests. The law leaves it to the discretion of the judge imposing sentence to fix an indeterminate sentence in the case of first offenders, the minimum and maximum length of the term to be within the limits fixed by law for the crime of which the prisoner is convicted. It is made the duty of the board of pardons to attempt to reform such persons and make useful citizens of them, and the length of their sentence is determined by the facts surrounding each case, the character of the prisoner, and his subsequent conduct. The aim of the law is not only to punish the crime but to save the perpetrator to society; to salvage him and give him a chance to make good.

The success of the law can be measured. Wayne Prison says that practically ninety per cent of the men who are given the benefit of this law do make good. Instead of leaving the indeterminate hardened criminals as under the system of indiscriminate punishment which used to disgrace our criminal code, this law proportion of men come out good and useful citizens ready to atone for their past mistakes. Many of these men are of the more type, easily influenced for good or bad, who are drilled in habits of useful industry at the reformatory, and come out law-abiding and valuable citizens. Many others are not criminals at all, but are only guilty

CIRCUS MAN GETS SURPRISE OF LIFE

Declines Tanlaie Not Only Ended Sioux Trouble But Added 25 Pounds to His Weight.

"Running into something new and different is part of the circus business but last year the thing that surprised and pleased me most was when I took Tanlaie and gained twenty pounds," declared Ed Moberg, concessionaire with Solf's Bros. circus, who resides in Metropolis, Ill.

"I was in pretty bad shape, not exactly what you would call sick, but all run-down, and just able to look after business. Stomach troubles, indigestion, was my main bother, and although we had the best food I had very little appetite and hardly a thing would agree with me. Sources, mainly just eat the steak one time every 1 1/2; my nerves were badly unstrung; I couldn't sleep well, and lost keeping weight."

"We came to town in Indiana one day and I saw a lot of Tanlaie advertisements, so I decided to try it. Well, sir, you can just ask the chef what kind of appetite I have. I never have a trace of indigestion, and sleep, well. I can sleep like one of the babies, and eat what I want and can do the biggest day's work that comes. I'll always pass along the good word for Tanlaie. It's a beauty."

Tanlaie is for sale by all good druggists. Over thirty-five million bottles sold.      1511

House Fifty-Eight Years Old is Burned

Allen News: Sunday evening about 7:30 o'clock fire was discovered in the roof of the dwelling known as the south part of Martinsburg, occupied by the Jess Glover family. A call for help was made to the citizens, and although there is water system, can just ask the chief what kind of appetite I have. I never have a trace of indigestion, and sleep, well. I can sleep like one of the babies, and eat what I want and can do the biggest day's work that comes. I'll always pass along the good word for Tanlaie. It's a beauty."

This house had the unique distinction of being about fifty-eight years old having been erected by the late Jonathan Martin, after whom the town of Martinsburg was named. The dwelling was a good-sized two-story structure and had been kept in fair repair.

After the fire was over, inquisitive persons were rummaging in the ruins and found a bundle of papers and magazines in one pile of the brick from the foundation. These papers were of ancient vintage, some of them dating back as far as 1677, and considerable interest was found in reading the market report in one newspaper under date of 1848, where it was found that quotations were: Apples, $3 per barrel; hops, $8.30 per cwt.; wheat $1.07 per bushel and cattle $7.50 per cwt.

Mr. and Mrs. Glover have moved in with the Walt McClary family on 41 another house can be rented.

Omaha's Auto Show Feb. 26 to March 3

Omaha, Feb. 14.—Omaha's eighth annual automobile show, to be held at the auditorium, Feb. 26 to March 3, will bring forth a host of interests of interest to car owners and dealers alike. In every sense this will be a "Buck to Prosperity" show, for the great value of reduced prices in motor cars, commercial vehicles and accessories. The leading makes of American cars will all be shown, as well as a number of makes new to Omaha.

Never before has the motorist been offered so much for his money. The car of 1923 is more durable and sturdy in construction. Closed cars stand high in popular favor again this year. The new sport phaeton, coupes and business coupes will be of especial interest.

Manufacturers have given close attention to the equipment of their new offerings. Some models come so completely equipped that it is nothing left for the owner to buy. A feature of the show will be the dealers' picnic at the Hotel Fontanelle the evening of February 28.

Cabaret entertainment and a talk by one of the leaders in the industry will attract dealers from every part of Nebraska. Special railroad rates have been secured for dealers on the certificate plan. They buy a one-way ticket and get a certificate which will be validated at the show.

much as the consumers of goods hate it. The thing everybody is driving at now is the new normal which, although presenting higher prices in various directions, is bound to recognize and provide for the individual's economic strength. Every working person's income must be proportionate to the general price increases, or business will not flourish because it cannot.

Motor Car Victims.

Sioux City Journal: More than 12,000 killed represents exactly 9272 per cent of those carried. The low rate might be encouraging, but, as the Journal suggested a short time ago, deeper significance is given to this waste of human life when it is realized that the majority of automobile accidents are avoidable. It is not necessary, in the operation of motor vehicles, which are recognized in the United States as indispensable, that so many persons should be killed. It is certain that a heavy percentage of the 12,000 who died as a result of motor car accidents were sacrificed to carelessness on the part of drivers.

How, then, to reduce the number is the next consideration, and the most practicable plan seems to be punishment of persons who, by their carelessness, take lives that could be spared. Detroit, which leads all other cities in automobile manufacturing, has demonstrated a plan for reducing the number of fatalities. That plan is to fail careless drivers. It is now claimed that Detroit practically has eliminated motor car accidents by visiting that kind of punishment upon reckless drivers of automobiles. And, since the 12,000 deaths do not represent the total of suffering from motor car accidents last year—a great many were injured who did not lose their lives—it would be logical and consistent for stern justice to apply in the cases of those found violating the laws as potential slayers. The death rate is admittedly low as compared to the millions using motor vehicles, but it is still high when it is realized that same, sensible driving would protect life.

Number of New Books Received at Library

The city library has received a number of new books which will be of interest to both adult and juvenile readers. One of these is 'Lantern' by Temple Barley. 'The Spirit of the Border,' by Zane Grey, is another new book of interest. The main trend of the story has to do with work of the Moravian missionaries of the Ohio valley. The plot is a story of the pioneers who broke the wilderness for the planting of this great nation. Chief among these pioneers is Lewis Wetzel, the brave Indian fighter, who is prominent in the story.

'The Girls of Gardenville,' is a novel by Carroll Watson Rankin, author of 'Bardelon Cottage,' and 'The Adopting of Rosa Marie.' The interesting and natural story of a girls' club, 'The Sweet Sixteen,' of Gardenville, describes the life of the young people at home, in assemblies and on excursions. The narrative is wholly realistic. Of interest to boys will be 'Tom Swift and His Electric Locomotive,' by Victor Appleton. The book deals with marvels of invention and conveys in a realistic way the wonderful advances in land and sea locomotion. 'The Americanization of Edward Bok,' is an autobiography of a Dutch boy fifty years after. In faith in advertising and since advertising is the backbone of any paper it would seem that too much attention cannot be given to typographical style. Publishers also lose opportunities to promote greater stability in local advertising by failing to cooperate more closely with the merchant in the matter of planning and writing advertisements, and suggesting new ideas to exploit the merchant's business.

The Herald is never issued with less than sixteen pages—all home print—and every page gives evidence of intelligent preparation of the editorials and news features and meticulous attention to mechanical details. Appropriate illustrations, which are supplied by the Herald to local advertisers, uniform borders and a limited variety of type faces are employed in the advertisements which are set as neatly and attractively as possible with the purpose in mind of making the strongest appeal to the readers.

Reviews are Invited.

Following letters were received from American and Canadian magazines preliminary to articles reproduced: Milwaukee, Wis., October 23, 1922. The Wayne Herald, Wayne, Neb., Gentlemen: From week to week in the past month or so your paper has been interesting to our desk. The writer has inspected each issue. Perhaps never in our newspaper and publishing experience have we seen and read a newspaper that is so fine a specimen of typography as the Wayne Herald. It is a genuine pleasure to peruse your paper, and it is a privilege the more I marvel at the wonderful things you are doing along the lines of giving your advertisers a service of an unusual character. The country newspaper making in the United States. Without a doubt there is not a paper anywhere that is seemingly devoting the time, energy, and real ability to returning to the advertiser the full value for the money he spends for publicity.

It is sure also that you are not selfish in the matter and that you would like your brother publishers to know something about the ways and means you employ in issuing such a handsome newspaper. The most outstanding feature is the typography, which is built in harmony with the rules and regulations that distinguish good typography. You certainly know all about typography and how to use it. Yet we are sure it is not a happenstance. Now we want to know whether you will be good enough to write us in detail. Please do not feel at all modest. Give us a good description of how you came to use such high class typography. In general, write us just what impelled you to produce such a handsome paper, together with some interesting information regarding the results achieved.

Cordially yours, National Printer-Journalist, E. G. Myers, Associate Editor.

Toronto, Canada, and I am writing to ask if you would care to send me a copy of the Herald for review. I understand the make-up and typography of the Herald are of an exceptionally high order and being especially interested in typographical details, I would indeed appreciate the facilities for which the Herald is famed. Sincerely, Printer and Publisher, H. A. Nicholson, Editor. Toronto, Canada, Nov. 27, 1922. Mr. E. W. Huse, Editor, The Wayne Herald, Wayne, Neb. Dear sir: Permit me to express my sincere thanks for the copies of your good paper which came to hand a few days ago.

It took but a glance to realize that the Herald must stand in the front rank among rural weeklies of the United States. The typographical get-up is excellent, the advertisement in particular being neatly displayed. You probably have found from experience that the success of a weekly paper lies in covering the local field thoroughly. The Herald evidently is doing this, and I know with what fine respect papers which concentrate upon their own community are held. You have the right idea, as I view it. Now, my object in writing you in the first place was to secure a copy of your paper, and if it proved equal to its reputation, aimed to present it as an example to Canadian weekly publishers; and I may say that its reputation holds good, in my opinion.

I propose to review the Herald in Canadian Printer and Publisher, probably in the January issue, reproducing a page or two. A copy of the issue will of course be sent to you. Appreciating your fine co-operation, I am, yours very truly, Canadian Printer and Publisher, H. A. Nicholson, Editor.

From Ponca Journal Feb. 17, 1921:

Those who have to buy wood are praying for a change in the weather.

32 degrees below zero was the way the thermometer talked yesterday morning.

Yesterday at Sioux City, hay sold at the remarkably stiff price of $10 per ton.

By an account published this week, it will be seen the Prof. Riley predicts an abundance of locusts in various parts of the union next summer. It will be noted that he fails to locate any of them on Nebraska soil, though what the grasshopper crop will be he neglects to state.

Wonder if his prognostications will prove as faithful as have those of various weather prophets in regard to the present winter?

The Dakota county commissioners still keep watchful guards along the river so that the Jefferson people cannot cross. Sioux City wisely does the same. Dixon county although in greater danger from small-pox than either of the other places, does nothing. Our commissioners wait for a law of the legislature. No doubt such a law as they want will be passed in due time, but probably it will be late to affect the matter either way. The terrible storms lately, have had one good result, at all events. They have kept the Jefferson people at home. The waiting of the commissioners for the legislature to authorize them to act, suggests a case: If 10,000 Sioux Indians were about to make a raid on the county, would our citizens wait for the legislature to authorize them to arm and repel the invaders? Probably not; if they did they would stand a good chance of being scalped. We believe the small-pox is, to say the least, equally as bad as the Indians, and that the law will protect us in repelling either of them.

Why Not Now?

Philadelphia Public Ledger: Butter full of water, cake full of salt; candied fruits full of sulphides; dealers' pockets full of ill got gains; buyers' stomachs and their children's full of dirt and poison. That is the state of the evidence offered at a recent pure food hearing before a magistrate. To make the tale complete, it is pleasant to remember that he imposed several hundred-dollar fines and promised jail for the next offense. Jail ultimately, but why now now? Food adulteration is the most cold blooded of crime.

Industrial Strikes.

Sixty: Industrial strikes, like other forms of warfare entail tremendous losses upon all who have to do with them except the mischief-making industrial politicians who inaugurate them.

Wakefield News

Miss Dorothy Huss of the Herald staff, is editor of this department and will visit Wakefield every Tuesday. Any news contributions to these columns from town or country will be gladly received by her. She is also authorized to receive new or renewal subscriptions.

Wakefield Pioneer Passes Away Monday

Mrs. C. T. Bartz, pioneer of Wakefield and mother of seventeen children, passed away Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the age of 77 months and 7 days. She has been an invalid for several months but influenza and heart trouble were the immediate cause of her death. Funeral service will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at the Methodist church, in charge of Rev. B. H. Morden. Interment will be in the Wakefield cemetery.

Estelle Cooley was born May 5, 1845, in New York state. She was married in 1861 to C. T. Bartz at Elmira, N. Y. The family lived in Illinois for a few years and came to Wakefield in 1869 to take a homestead. They lived on the Hugh Montgomery place, two miles north of town for many years. Seventeen children were born to this union, of whom seven survive. Mr. Bartz died April 2, 1921.

Mrs. Bartz leaves six daughters and seven sons as follows: Mrs. Robert Adams of Wakefield, Mrs. Henry Gosler of Carroll, Mrs. Charles De Cuff of Emerson, Mrs. Edna Carlson of Omaha, Mrs. Ida Wagon of St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Mary of Tumbler Lake, S. D., George Barto, Ernest Barto, Frank Barto, Arthur Barto and Levi Barto of Wakefield, Alfred Barto of Onawa and Ward Barto.

Mrs. Lucy McLean and Mrs. Nancy Daniels, two other daughters, preceded their mother in death. Two children of the latter died in infancy. One brother, Louis Cooley, lives in Lincoln.

Mrs. Barto and her husband were among the earliest settlers in Wakefield, coming there when the country was still a prairie. They were industrious people who will be remembered with esteem by many.

The Nebraska Guards Is Organized Friday

The Nebraska Guards, an organization of boys from grades four to eight inclusive, of the city school, was started in Wakefield Friday evening when Supt. E. W. Smith and Miss Louise Osterlander, principal of the school building, forty-three boys are members and have signed pledges to refrain from the tobacco until they are 21 years of age.

Cub pins, made of bronze in the shape of the state and bearing the words "Nebraska" were given to the boys. Special songs were sung and the guard yell was given. Paul Ingram was chosen yell leader for the junior high school and James Busby was chosen for the grades four and five. Miss Osterlander and Mr. Smith each spoke. The organization started with zest and it is hoped that older persons will help the boys by commending their good moves.

Charles Mullenberg Buried in Wakefield

Charles Mullenberg, a resident of Wakefield since 1891, died Tuesday, Feb. 6, in an Omaha hospital at the age of 48 years, 11 months and 19 days. Mr. Mullenberg had been suffering for some time with rheumatism and went to Omaha about two weeks before his death to take treatment at a hospital. The body was shipped to Wakefield and the funeral held Friday. Rev. E. G. Knock was in charge of the service and interment was made in the cemetery here.

Mr. Mullenberg was born Feb. 17, 1874, in Sweden. He came to America in 1891 and located in Wakefield, where he resided. He remained a single man and worked at odd jobs in town and country. Mullenbergs leave a brother, Nels Mullenberg, of Wakefield, and a sister, Mrs. Hannah Erickson of Maimo, Sweden.

Inspector Visits In Local High School

A. M. Voss, state inspector of academic high schools, visited the Wakefield school Wednesday, Feb. 7, and was well pleased with the training. Mr. Voss judges schools of this district to be among the best educational advantages for children.

According to a statement made by Mr. Voss, Wakefield school, which is in the class of "B" schools, ranking, is in most points ready to be raised to class A. Lack of assembly and recreation rooms is a serious drawback to placing Wakefield in the highest class. The library facilities and laboratory equipment are adequate; the course of study is approved; the intellectual and moral tone of the school is favorable; the teachers meet all requirements but until the school has room to accommodate the present students as well as other non-resident pupils the school will in all probability not be raised to class A.

In reply to the inquiry as to whether Wakefield school would be ranked in class A if a new school building were figured by May, Mr. Voss stated that through the work of the school would be raised and kept in the first class if present existing conditions which hamper instruction were removed.

New Auto Models To Be at Annual Show

It is with enthusiasm and optimism that the Motor Trades Bureau will open the Sioux City automobile show February 19 in the Warnock building at Seventh and Douglas streets. The past year was one of the most prosperous years in the automobile business in Sioux City. It gave the automobile men courage to go after 1923 business on a larger scale than ever. The exhibits this year show the highest skill and art that America has expressed in the latest creations of motor cars. While the Sioux City show will by no means be the largest in the country, it will be equally important to Sioux City and the surrounding territory. Lack of space has never permitted a large show but the exhibits in the Warnock building this year will not prove a disappointment to the visitors. Practically every standard make of car along with an array of trucks and accessories will be shown to the public. One entire floor and part of another will be used in the modern Warnock building. Visitors to the show this year will note the general tendency towards lighter and trimmer models and the rapidly increasing demand for closed cars. In other words, the comfort of the passenger is being taken into consideration more than ever before. The car is becoming an all-year vehicle and not something to be laid up in the winter. Hence the greater demand for greater comfort, many cars are equipped with longer springs and various devices for lessening shock and rebound. The people want comfort and will get it in the newer models. The total automobile business in Sioux City amounted to nearly $20,000,000 during 1922, placing it among the first in volume of business. Manufacturers are giving more recognition to Sioux City as an automobile center by giving the dealers more territory. Nearly 1,000 people are engaged in the automobile business and many more are in allied industries. Each takes pride in his particular car or line and the 1923 show will produce some new ideas. Several dealers are holding up new models for first showing during the automobile show in order to give the public something new. One dealer said, "The public is tired of merely looking at new cars, we are going to give them something to make them glad that they came to the show." The past year has been one of intensive production on the part of manufacturers of motor cars. Over two and a half million cars were made last year and the schedule for this year calls for an increase of half a million of these figures. Because of the intensive competition that has developed in the industry within the last two years, resulting in every effort being made to keep the price of motor cars at the lowest possible level, this period of intensive production has set a new mark and caused the producers to make more urgent attempts upon the competition. The direct result of this is that we have a better class of dealers in the business. It takes a business organization to handle the business assigned to them. The record-breaking production of 1922 came as a surprise to practically the entire industry, especially in the last few months of last year. The buying power of the public was thought to be nothing exceptional because of the period of economic readjustment which the country was going through. The fact that the farmer, was not receiving an equitable return on his products of the soil, seen at the beginning of the year, was held to be an element against any such sales as were witnessed. With it the price are better this year than they were last year and Sioux City dealers are preparing for still more business. But the car dealers are not the only ones who are feeling the increased business. Trucks, tires, and accessories of every kind have sold rapidly this year. Many important accessories of a few years ago are now included as part of the regular equipment of the cars, making it necessary for accessory dealers to place something new on the retail market. Our own truck, the Hotchkiss, continues to gain in popularity in Sioux City territory. It has been on the market long enough to prove that it is a real substantial truck and that it is here to stay. Every year sees a few more times added to the list of manufactured automotive equipment in this city. The Albertson & Co. plant has been operated almost at capacity this year in spite of the fact that it was built two years ago with the expectation of its being large enough for all time to come. The name of Little Sioux auto valve tools is known wherever the automobile is used. The Ford Necktie has proven a valuable accessory this year. Tires, bodies, radiators, tops, curtains, radiator covers, piston rings and batteries are among the manufactured products in Sioux City.

Cadillac Service Sells Cadillac Cars. E. J. Williams, manager of the J. H. Hansen Cadillac company, announces that the year of 1922 tripled the Cadillac business in the Sioux City territory over the preceding year. This is due, he claims, to the fact that the Cadillac car and Cadillac service are "day by day and year by year getting better and better." The organization of Cadillac dealers through the United States makes real Cadillac service in all the principal cities, and locally the service department of the J. H. Hansen Cadillac company is far above par—considering the fine cars of Cadillac mechanics and thousands of dollars worth of parts. A Cadillac car, coupled with the J. H. Hansen service, offers any one the maximum in motor car pleasure. J. H. Hansen Cadillac Company.

Baptist Church.
(Rev. Francis F. Allen, Minister)
There are three great reasons for church attendance:

1. To worship God. "O, come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our maker. Worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness."—Psalmist. Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God—"Jesus." Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together."—Writer of Hebrews. "What are men better than sheep or goats that nourish a blind life within the brain, if, knowing their God, they lift not hands in prayer, both for themselves, and those that call them friends, for so the whole round world is every man his neighbor, golden chains about the feet of God.—Tennyson. God requires our worship and he alone is worthy of it.

2. To benefit yourself. We neglect the spiritual life on our own peril. Business, culture, pleasure; these cannot satisfy the soul. Power, poise and prosperity are found only through fellowship with God. H. M. Stanley, in his adventures in Africa, said that communion with God made him stronger mentally and morally than any of his non-praying companions. Every man who worships God rightly is made stronger and better fitted to do life's work.

3. To help others. "No man liveth to himself." Every life influences other lives. Remain away from church and social influence and others to stay away. Go, and your example will help some one else to go. George Elliot was right when she said: "Men and women are made by men and women." Church attendance is a duty that we owe to others. Attend the church of your choice next Sunday.

The Ladies' supper, baptism of infants and adults and reception of members will be observed at the morning hour on Sunday, Feb. 25. Time flies. Let every one make good use of the opportunities the present offers us. Benjamin F. Taylor sang in his poem "The Long Ago."

"A wonderful stream is the river of time."

As it runs through the realms of tears,
With a faithless rhythm, and a music
Of rhyme,
And a broader sweep, and a surge
As it blends with the ocean of years."

Their delightful style departures—their refreshing newness of design are but two reasons why every woman who prides herself on being both becomingly and stylishly appareled should see these 'still lovelier styles.'"

Irresistible in their youthful appeal are these frocks, fashioned of heavy canton back satin and flat crepe, with motifs, embroidery, drapes and panels serving as intriguing trimmings. Simplicity of design marks the mode—with skirt lengths and waistlines acting very conservatively.
