The man, Boyd Smith, with whom she ran away, evaded the officers and escaped. The girl was turned over to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Koepke, on Saturday, and she was taken to their home south of Winside.

Bryan's Reasoning.
Mr. Bryan before the group gathered to discuss valuation of railroads remarked that it was a poor mind that couldn't find a reason for what the heart desired should be true. That is naive, Bryaneseque, and is of a piece with his reasoning on scientific matters. Dealing with all his heart that certain things be true, he is easily able to convince himself. That process from time immemorial has been the province of mesmerism. It is a bit amusing that Mr. Bryan sees so clearly the process and yet holds that it is infallible. J. T. House.

grey squirrels in his alfalfa field which kinder was plowing under. Francis got busy, and Friday noon had twenty-five grey squirrels to show, much to the surprise of all. Quite a record for an 11-year-old boy! His surprised daddy took his turn at noon Friday, and got three grey squirrels and a pocket gopher. The local Farmers Union had its regular meeting in the Thomas Erwin home adjoining Concord Friday night. The next meeting will be at Edwin Olson's one mile east of Concord cemetery.

Charles Herfel, living half way between Concord and Allen, has four wolf cubs which were captured on his farm. They are the size of a three-fourths grown cat, and delight to play with the rat terrier dog in the corn crib where they are confined. Herfel takes a stick in his mouth, runs with it and they all are after him, like fluffy balls of fur. When Pat drops the stick, a cub will pick it up, run like the dog, dig, and the other cubs run after it.

Bert Nelson, shoemaker from Concord, who received a broken hip in a fall last week when getting out of a train while moving, which he had boarded by mistake, is convalescing as well as can be expected, considering his age, and a doctor here, which has presented him from doing any but like work for years. According to Dixon relatives, Mr. Nelson had a pass to accompany a car of stock, on a certain train; this car was switched to another train in Wakefield, and Mr. Nelson changed trains.

Misses Marie and Alice Knell are homevatter spending the past school year in Allen, where Miss Alice took seventh grade work, and Miss Marie kept home with and did dressmaking. Miss Louise Knell arrived home from Powell, Wyo., on the Burlington Monday night. ## Advice From State Bureau of Health

Lincoln, Neb., May 28, 1923.—Mr. Van Stewart, Secretary, local board of health, Wayne, Neb., Dear Sir: It has come to the writer's attention that there are a number of mild cases of scarlet fever in Wayne and vicinity. We would request the local board of health at Wayne to tighten up on the quarantine of this disease. I want to especially call your attention to the following facts in connection with the control of scarlet fever:

1. Premises can be legally released from quarantine only with the approval of the local board of health. The local board of health is prohibited from giving their approval of the release of premises from quarantine where scarlet fever has existed until after the elapse of a minimum of twenty-one days from the time the disease develops. And not until the patient or patients are entirely recovered from the disease.
2. In those families where no physician is in attendance and who fail to report the disease to the board for matters of quarantine and protection of the public, it is the duty of your board to cause prosecution to be started if evidence can be secured to the effect that the head of the household knew that a contagious disease existed on the premises. The penalty to the head of the household for failure to report such a disease is a fine of not less than $15.00 nor more than $100.

We request that your board enforce this law. Yours respectfully, Department of Public Welfare, I. H. Dillon, M. D., Chief Bureau of Health.

To the above I would add that all such diseases as, mumps, measles, German measles, chickenpox, and whooping cough must be reported to the local board of health whether under the care of a physician or not, and the premises properly placarded. W. M. Orr, Mayor.

B. P. S. Paints

If your house or other buildings need painting, it is economy to paint at once. Delay is costly, because lumber warps and decays unless it is protected from the elements, and the longer you wait, the more paint will be required.

In Selecting your Paint

it will pay you to investigate B. P. S., because in addition to selling you it is the Best Paint Sold, we wish to show you that our claims are justified. B. P. S. paint comes in slip-top cans, all sizes; so it can be examined and tested without trouble or waste. Let us show you how fine it is ground—how easily it works—how well it covers—smell it—note the pure linseed oil odor.
