They Are Passing.

Nabaska Farmer: At the age of eighty he passed away in Minnesota passed over the Great Divide. At the time of his passing he was a United States Senator, having served his time several times during the years in that honorable body. He was born in Norway, came to the United States at the age of six, and after being established in Minnesota where he maintained his residence on a farm for the remainder of his life.

He was practically all of his life to public service. Three years were spent in the army during the Civil War. Successively thereafter, he served as county attorney, state legislator, Governor, and United States Senator. Perhaps his long service in public life indicates better than anything else the character of the man that the people of his chosen state had for him.

His family, the Nelsons, are normally privileged to view Krumpholtz Nelson without personal or sentimental bias. We think of him in the capacity in which he served the people of this state, and never the advocate of any principle of government that was not genuinely American. His record was outstanding, but it was not made on the hustings. It was born of constructive thought and good words. The trend of his beliefs was like the steady, quiet, but persistent of the stream, and there was force back of them. He never assumed public duty with political expediency in view.

There have been others like him.

There was a time when our legislators and when the doer was opened early by the heaviest at $10.85 today. The shipment making the price consisted of 15 head averaging 1172 pounds. They had been on feed seven months. They were bred by G. J. Johnson of White Lake, S. D. Mr. Johnson is a veteran shipper to the Sioux City market. He was in the grain and live stock business at Wauss, Neb., for 20 years and during that time patronized the Sioux City market exclusively. He has been farming at the place for 30 several years—Sioux City Live Stock Record.

Sweet Charity.

A big burly man called at the rectory and when the pastor was asked to see the actor's wife, a woman well known for her charitable impulses.

"Madam," he address her in a broken voice, "I wish to draw your attention to the terrible plight of a poor family in this district. The father is unable to get any work, and the nine children are starving. They are about to be turned into the cold, cold streets unless you can help them. Their father is worth one hundred to fifty dollars."

"How terrible!" exclaimed the pastor.

"I am the landlady," he sobbed. "I have sympathy, but I applied his money to my eyes."

"I'm the landlady," he sobbed. "I have sympathy, but I applied his money to my eyes."

Low Visibility. Simpkins considered himself a humorist, and when a motion picture was sent to the editor of a newspaper and confidently awaited a recommendation. His excitement ran high when he received a letter, not only from the newspaper office.

Good Road Progress Seen As 1923 Opens

The 1923 road construction season opens with the prospect that there will be about the same amount of road construction as last year. According to the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture.

Returns from 21 scattered states show that in these states there will be available $228,000,000 for road work as compared with $273,000,000 spent in the same states last year. On Federal-aid work, which constitutes something like half of the total construction, there was under contract on June 1 last an estimated cost $275,000,000 as compared with $233,000,000 12 months previously.

Salaries of labor are generally slightly higher than a year ago, with the exception of the Pacific coast, where the same rate prevails. The greatest increase is in New England, where the present level is approximately 30 per cent higher than the level of a year ago.

The outlook is considerably better than one year ago, when the railroad and coal strike loomed as disturbing factors. Aside from the strike in the designation of the system of Federal-aid highways is now completed in 33 states and practically completed in most of the others. With a definite program for accomplishment laid out, road work can proceed much more smoothly.

From latest reports it appears that 30 states now tax gasoline as compared with 4 states at the beginning of 1922. In 1922, the gasoline derived goes for road purposes, and bureau officials regard this as a step in the right direction. With road users paying more money, the share of the cost, highway finance is placed upon a firmer foundation.

Buckner Gives Views As to Bible Record

Chamberlain, S. D., June 12.—The Rev. D. M. Buckner, who was requested to resign from his Methodist pulpit at Aurora, Neb., last September because of his view of the origin and infallibility of the Bible addressed the congregation of the Congregational church here last Sunday morning, giving a short exposition of his opinion and scoring the theory that the Bible was "complete and infallible." It was his first sermon since his resignation from the Aurora church.

Holds Against Infallibility.

"I want to make two statements, which I believe to be the real truth," Mr. Buckner declared in his discussion. "One is that God dictated the Bible to a writer as you would dictate a letter, making the words of the Bible His own. The other is that God illumined men's minds but not to such an extent that their writings are infallible."

In explaining his principles relative to the two theories, the former Aurora minister said:

"The writers of Christ's time believed the world to be flat and the sky solid. Their writings therefore were consequently colored with such beliefs. Now, however, we know that such beliefs are not true. Judaism preached the old testament while the Christian church gave us the new testament, although it was fully 150 years later that they called the two combined the Bible."

Authenticity of Bible.

"Two editions of the Bible are in circulation. One is the Bible as we find it today. The other is the Bible as it was written. The first is 'Did the writers know what they were writing?' The second is 'Is the present Bible a correct record of the first Bible?'"

"We have already discussed the possibility of the latter, but not the former by the writers at the time. However, I believe that the present Bible can hardly be a true record of what teachings the old prophets did write of. The old testament was written in Hebrew and Arabic and the new was recorded in both Hebrew and Greek. In both books there were no word marks to say nothing about lack of paragraphs and verse. The oldest copy of the testament is dated 400 A. D. and the new testament dates back only to 350 A. D. I will never know what the true teachings of Christ were. All I can do is to approximate."

Narrow Escape

Madison, Neb., June 8. Members of the orchestra orchestra had a remarkable escape from serious injury yesterday morning when the automobile in which they were traveling on the highway about two miles north of Madison.

Lem Martin, the only one who suffered any injuries at all, suffered slight bruises on the leg. The car turned completely over, with the driver, the orchestra conductor and the musical instruments were hurled into the air.

When the orchestra was about two miles west of Madison, a car coming at a good rate of speed from towards Norfolk, skidded across ways of the road in front of them. Mr. Martin was driving in the center lane and the other car, drove directly in front of it.

The car had to be lifted in order to extract the members of the orchestra from underneath it. In a short time the automobile was righted and they continued on their way to Norfolk, none the worse for their experience.

Boy Rescued From Raft in Missouri

Nebraska City, Neb., June 12.—Connie Wood, 14, Council Bluffs boy, was rescued from a raft in the Missouri river after a 15-hour ride down the river by Willie Hikes who was attracted by the boy's cries for help. The boy when taken to point of rescue said it had been raining mud hens Monday afternoon in a small creek at Council Bluffs that emptied into the Missouri river. The raft was made of three telephone poles 10 feet long and fastened together with a piece of timber across one end. The boy remained on the raft until he wanted to sleep and once and fell into the river but swam to the raft again.

About 2 a. m. Thursday morning he saw the lights of the town of the river southeast of Plattsmouth and called for help, but the parties, who were not bud and told the boy to stick to the raft. During his entire trip the boy held on to his shotgun.

He said that he was badly frightened at times during the night. At one time the raft ran into a lot of foam on the river and the lad believing it was a sand bar that connected with the shore, he jumped into the water, but regained his raft. He was sent home.—His mother, Mrs. Sarah Wood, resides at Columbus.

Fairbury News: The socialists want to organize an American Labor party similar to the British Labor party. If they could succeed in becoming a real influence in American politics we would probably see the British system of public dog licensing enforced on the government. There is no greater impediment to reconstruction in Great Britain than the distribution of funds in the public treasury. Not only is the money of the people dissipated without any return in value, but chronic idleness is encouraged. We want more of it in the United States, and any political party modeled after the organization responsible for that system abroad ought to receive short shift here.

No Accident.

A cowboy, out of work because of the slump in cattle, decided to make an easy and permanent place for himself by joining the army. The medical examiner found him sound physically, and asked him if he had ever been ill.

"Nope," came the emphatic answer.

"Ever have an accident?" next asked the examiner.

"Nope, no, sir-ree!" came even more emphatically.

"Well, what's that rag tied round your finger for?"

"Rattlesnake bit me."

"Don't you call that an accident?" asked the doctor.

"Nope, the damn snake did it on purpose."—Everybody's Magazine.

A Responsive Chord.

Betty Brown, the prettiest girl in the village, was bleat with a father who snubbed all the young men who came to court her.

A bashful young man named Samuel Green called.

After the trio had sat together in silence for some time, the young man ventured to remark:

"It looks as though it might rain, sir."

"It's not going to rain," was Father Brown's gruff reply.

"For nearly half an hour there was complete silence. Finally the old man's curiosity got the better of him."

"Who are you?" he growled.

"Samuel Green," was the response.

"Well, then," exclaimed the father, "I'm glad to meet you, my dear son!"

"Yes, sir," replied the father.

"Well, then," exclaimed the father, "I'm glad to meet you, my dear son!"

In Continuous Business Since 1889

Wayne, Nebraska

Tacoma Ledger: The Sioux Indians claim that the United States owes them the sum of $750,000,000. Let us hope they would not squander the Pittsburgh containing district.

One Formal Ballot Taken.
Lincoln Journal: State Superintendent Matzen participated in the state normal board meeting at Fremont Saturday, which resulted in the election of W. R. Pate of Alliance to be president of the Peru state normal school. Several years ago the board elected W. D. Hayes vice-president to this position. Mr. Hayes now lives in Lincoln. Mr. Pate receives $4,000 a year at Alliance. He will visit Peru within a week or two to inspect the institution. F. C. Price, principal of the Alliance high school for the past five years, may be elected superintendent of the city schools in place of Mr. Pate. At the Fremont meeting only one formal ballot was taken. That ballot showed Mr. Pate's election. The ballot was then declared the formal expression of the board. Miss Pyrtle and Den Morris, members of the normal board, were not present at the meeting. Notice of the special meeting was sent to members one day in advance, but all members had known for some time that a meeting was to be called. Mr. Pate has been superintendent of the Alliance schools for thirteen years.

Adding Years.
Omaha Bee: Things are hardly as bad as they seem. Consider for a moment the rapid pace of life in this modern day. Mr. Pate has been living in a general despondency, as shortening the life of the race. And yet the average of life throughout the United States is being lengthened, year by year. People in those simpler days did not live longer—it only seemed longer. To find a time when human life was longer than now one must go back to the days of Methuselah. In the anniversary number of the Spectator—United States—Senator Copeland, former health commissioner of New York, has this to say: "Fifty years ago in New York City the average expectation of life was 42 years. Today it is 53 years. There is no reason why the average person should not look forward to living to be 75 or 80. In the United States there are 3,500 men and women past 100 years of age. Right living and right thinking will give any one of us a material increase over the normal expectancy." "Right living and right thinking." That phrase is one to be marked. By the increased knowledge of sanitation and hygiene a few years have been added to the span. But to be in harmony with nature, to avoid evil and to keep one's nerves and disposition clear offers a way to add still more. Life under such conditions possesses not only length, but also breadth—and is furthermore worth living.

THE NEBRASKA UNION

One serious objection to the Klu Klux Klan is the secrecy that it maintains in its membership and the stealthiness with which it carries out its purpose.

In solving a problem that calls for increasing revenue, such as increased expenses, the railroads which are an essential industry, should not be made the football of politics.

A Beatrice club woman deprecates cigarette smoking by girls, but suggests that there seems no way to prevent it. We wonder if any without the habit cannot be checked. When girls fully understand that the habit is injurious and that it lessens respect for their sex, we feel sure they will desist.

The weather the past week has been particularly favorable for the growth of weeds. Sprinkle down with weed and it is likely to crawl back on the wounded stump and commence growing where it left off, as though it had never been cut. Weeds which need to be watched and frequently assailed to keep them down.

The Allen News announces that it has just entered its thirty-fourth year. It claims the News and the Allen State Bank are the only institutions having continuous existence since the town started. The News was founded by Warner Starr when Allen, inspired by the building of the Short Line railroad, became a town.

You may pick on the weather and find fault with it as long as you wish, and it won't talk back or offer any resentment, excuses or apology. It just goes ahead and arranges the weather as it happens. We have no reference to popular referendum and without consulting any one's convenience. The weather is the most nearly absolute monarch we know of.

According to information received at this office, the law which was passed by the Nebraska Press association, the law requiring newspapers to file statements with county clerks every April and October was reported at the special session of the legislature in 1922. The law was passed the year before. It took just one year to pass that the law was utterly senseless.

People who cannot put hobbies on their minds, who are with reasonable restraint and circumspection, suffer a good deal of a handicap. One who bubbles on like the everlasting bubble, is taking credit for his hobby, body he comes near, may lose friends, lose business, lose his job. He is worthless to society and least to himself. He is a burden on the world. Every time he can persuade some one to stand or sit and hear him. Even if he told the truth part of the time, he does not know how to use the best of clamps, and he is considered an undesirable bore.

Senator Borah, so-called progressive republican of Idaho, enroute home from Washington, is quoted as expressing the belief that the democratic party is the best party to think President Harding's program is closely allied with the league of nations idea. To be accepted by the democratic party is the matter of fact, the latter idea is the one on which the democratic party based its hope for success in the last year's campaign. Senator Borah does not appear to grieve as he does in the defeat of the party with which he is affiliated.

According to report, the seventeen-year locusts are not so numerous as it seems that Nebraska is not included among the states in which they will appear. The seventeen-year locusts are not so numerous as it is said to be descendants of those places that attracted the attention of white settlers around Massachusetts Bay in 1630. These locusts are not the same songs sung by their antecedents and they will eat young trees or destroy old ones, and they are not so numerous as it is said to be. The states where the locusts have been reported up for seventeen years are the inhabitants will have to devise ways to successfully meet the attack.

We are still for the girl who does not venerate her crown like the rouge, and who otherwise does not try to practice deception. We like the girl who radiates natural beauty, who has a clear complexion, a face, who is plain-spoken, but mild mannered, frank and sincere, and careful and courteous. We like the girl whose cheeks are colored by earnest work and wholesome play. We like the varying natural tints, made to resemble the complexion of the "doe," like the complexion that is taken off the chiffonier and put on by hand. We like a girl, who is not content with membership in the "doe" character, and who are not different from the bulk of mankind.

Stout City's newspapers are still in the throes of a printers' strike, and their service is materially damaged. The publishers have aspirations for a union with the printers' union, but that they feel they should not be arbitrarily dominated by the organization. The circulation of the papers has been nearly doubled in ten years, but that production has been decreased. Less work has been accomplished per man. The publishers explain that they do not feel antagonistic or spiteful, but that they do not want to be imposed upon. It is likely that the publishers are not satisfied with the compromise offered, but that a few chronic agitators magnify grievances and prevent settlement.

Prof. O. R. Bowen of the Wayne State Teachers College gave a timely address at the eighth annual graduating class Saturday afternoon. He emphasized the fact that education is not intended to enslave, but to give the individual the work easier and more productive. It is intended to make one more efficient and more useful and thus bring to the individual the greatest benefit. Bowen called attention to the feeble policy of some parents who propose to educate their children, so that they may be able to get a job. He wisely directed and rightly urged education should make one think quicker and more clearly, produce more results in an hour's service, and be undertaken. It should not make one a barnacle to hinder society, but a dynamo to magnetize sympathy and bring about the best results and supplying actual need.

EDITOR DRAWS CONTRAST.

Editor Husar of the Wayne Herald of the Harrington Herald made the following kindly reference to the editor of this newspaper:

"The editor of the Wayne Herald has been nominated for a place in Nebraska's Hall of Fame which is being conducted by the Omaha Bee. The names of eminent Nebraskans who have accomplished some notable achievement along literary or other lines, are being selected. It is for that amount among the immortals is one of the most deserved."

When a week ago Editor Stone, confidently wishing to see us in drawing room, with a flamboyant, self-advertising, egotistical, variety, with no intention of irony, he said, "I am glad to see you in the following humble way. We appreciate even though the assumption of modesty may be overdrawn: Editor Husar of the Wayne Herald is a stronger pro-modest. He was recently nominated to a seat in Nebraska's Hall of Fame by the Omaha Bee, and as far as we have been able to ascertain, he does not mention it. Why the man must be praised? Doesn't he realize the limitless possibilities of self-advertising? Why should he be mentioned? Doesn't he realize the great honor that has been conferred not only upon him but also upon the city of Wayne by such a distinction, and why in the world doesn't he capitalize it as it deserves? Such an honor as has been conferred by the Omaha Bee, is a great honor, and the column, front page, double click spread for a month with ample pictures of himself and all the family that are dispatched to honor him, and he doesn't even mention it. Evidently, Editor Husar is a poor advertisement, and if he persists in being so modest, he will never be able to make the world realize what a great man he really is."

PRESSING NEED AT DEPT.

We feel that a check room located in or near the depot would prove a boon to students who twice a year, in the past year, have had to state to enroll in the Wayne State Teachers College. Many of them come with no definite idea where they are to reside, and they have to give their luggage to the drayman for delivery. We have watched them and noted their look of distress as they are driven to the depot carry their heavy bags and suit cases about until they find rooming places. We learn that the majority of those who are strangers go directly to the school and then often are sent back down town to be located. Such a trip with heavy luggage is a disagreeable one. This condition is particularly noticeable during the summer season when a large number of students attend. S. A.

HOUSING SUMMER STUDENTS.

The Wayne State Teachers College each summer is a problem which is being successfully met by the cooperation of the city of Wayne. As the five dormitories at the school will care for, but about 400 of the students, the proportion of those to be housed is about one hundred and fifty. This summer there are about 130 homes in which students are localated for the eight-week term. It is, only by a friendly cooperation that a town can care for the increase of about one-half its population in the summer. This problem has become as a gradual movement. The school needs Wayne and Wayne benefits by the school's being located in an ordinary town. It is no doubt be impossible to secure at once the number of homes stated above for students. It is through a gradual acquaintance with the institution of high standards that this operation has developed. Wayne people realize that the school at present has no sufficient accommodations and in caring for the large number of those here for the summer, she is relying in one way for the advantages gained by Wayne in being the location of the state school.—D. H.

THE HAPPY MEDIUM.

Neither will constant toil with recreation or slight toil with an abundance of recreation win success and happiness. One policy is just as detrimental as the other. A happy medium is a more profitable and satisfying course. A person who works hard all day long and then leisurely and who, when he does work, goes about his duties rather half-heartedly, thinking of some interesting picture more beautiful than the day, is just as unfair. The man or woman who has some life work in the success of which he or she is engaged, and who, in the meantime, also takes sufficient time for wholesome recreation to recuperate from the day's tasks, is bound to be happy and more successful than the others mentioned. Very few belong to the extreme in either group, but for many it is difficult to maintain the happy balance. One should become interested in their chosen work to the extent that they wish to make their endeavors most productive. Whether one is to be an employer or employed for another, everyone should make the success of the institution of interest to him and endeavor to do his best to help it advance.—D. H.

ENHANCED IN BEAUTY.

"Wayne looks more beautiful than I ever saw it before," remarked a visitor recently. It does. The lawns of the city are green and the gardens are in full setting for the numerous beautiful flowers in which the women take such pride. A short time ago tulips, peonies, carnations, geraniums, at wealth, peonies, lilies, pansies, snowballs, mock orange and other dainty flowers have each come to the eye of the lover of flowers. Not only the lawns but the parks are equally attractive with their soft carpets of grass and with the heavy blossoms of the garden. The setting of new structures in the business district and the redecoration of homes about town have helped call attention to the beauties of the city as well as of others who have been favorably impressed with the city. This is gratifying to have citizens take pride in helping make Wayne invite attention of outsiders.—D. H.

TO DRIVE AWAY WORRY.

One of the students at the University of Nebraska had in a conspicuous place in his room this motto: "In the best of life, from the cradle to the grave, the only thing that is better than it might be worse." This little reminder, the student stated, was always an inspiration or rather a consolation to him whenever his duties and his tasks were impossible or his troubles unbearable. Some such comfort at a time when one is engrossed in the hurry of the day, and thoughts which, in reality, are the main obstacles in the way of accomplishment. The right attitude is a big asset in the battle of life. One use the motto which the student had or some other, the cheerful attitude and the freedom from worry and self pity make the tasks of everyday life easier for everyone.—D. H.

NO DAMAGE THIS FAR.

Farmers, asked yesterday in regard to the condition of the corn, stated that the crop will not have to be replanted because of the dry spells. Weeds are growing rapidly and the fields need cultivation but the damp, cool weather has done no damage thus far. It is thought that most every year something happens to excite individuals to the opinion that crops will be poor, but horticulturists and farmers are known to have a crop failure and it is not likely that such a fate will befall this rich territory this year or any year to come. The heavy rains that passed has hindered to some extent the cultivation of the crops, but has done no damage.—D. H.

Wayne had a big celebration on last Fourth, and will this year defer to other towns that are planning celebrations this year. The celebration in Wayne will contribute to the crowds and enthusiasm of its neighbors. Life. European travel will broaden 250,000 of our tourists this summer. It will also flatten them. Greenville Piedmont, New York wack a mackerel Bible. One of us suppose, that will make it easy for the rich to enter heaven.

Republican River Reaches High Mark

Superior, Neb., June 12.—During Monday night, the Republican river at this place reached the highest mark in recent years. It surpassed by two feet the high mark of two weeks ago, when $20,000 damage was done to property and crops, and owing to the weakening of several dikes, and the washing out of others at that time, it is feared that this time it will be much heavier. The river was receding this morning, and it is considered that the crest has been reached. Fifteen hundred farmers in the south-Republican valley built over two miles of protection dikes along the river and there have saved hundreds of thousands of dollars, and have withstood all annual rises until the last two. The crop loss at present cannot be estimated, but it will be considerable. The river at this place is late and entirely covered, and the wheat being rank, heavily headed, and all knocked down at a time when it is too late for it to straighten back up. The big bridge over the river, south of Superior, built to stand in all floods, is still standing, but it is being threatened by hundreds of feet out from either edge of the bridge. The river is a quarter mile wide, and deep enough to swim horses and other animals across the wide. It will be several days before traffic can cross the bridge, and the highway leading to it will probably be closed for some time. The river across the river here, one-half mile west of town, was condemned for use after the flood of two weeks ago. On Monday night, June 12, the Republican river at this place, while on a standstill early this morning, after having reached the highest mark in recent years, was falling at Red Cloud and west of there, and the worst is considered over. Thousands of dollars loss in crops, horses and other animals, was reported by Monday night's flood, to that of two weeks ago when the loss totaled over $25,000 in crops and livestock. The big bridge is being washed away last night. The big bridge is being washed away last night. The big bridge is being washed away last night. The big bridge is being washed away last night.

the committee, and on the floor of the house supported the measure for the prosecution of the war. An interesting fact, not generally known, was that among one of the measures for raising revenue was the increasing of the mail rates for second class matter, or newspapers and magazines, and a number on either political side of the committee expressed themselves fully that the newspapers and magazines which had been so instrumental in bringing on the war should be required to, in part, pay for their own maintenance. Mr. Sloan and one who opposed the raise in the committee. But they were overruled and the real levy on the newspapers and magazines was for the measure that had been forced upon him—and for months and years thereafter. Kitchen was the active member of the committee of which he was head and said little in rebuke of those who attacked him.

Mr. Sloan further stated that in the matter of the loans that were being made to foreign countries and the neglect of the administration powers to take securities and proper bonds as required by law for the money so loaned, Mr. Kitchen and Mr. Sloan were insistent in the matter of the observance of the law. But Mr. Kitchen, who was especially bound by the party ties and the obligations of his committee, could not formally criticize in the committee in the house with the same freedom as Mr. Sloan, because he belonged to the opposition. Mr. Kitchen, however, from his close connection with the administration, was able to obtain a number of facts and important figures with which he liberally supplied Mr. Sloan who brought them before the ways and means committee and also upon the floor of the house. It will be remembered that much has been said in the last year or two about these matters, but when the real proceedings were going on, too many people should have spoken were silent. Otherwise our foreign credits would not have been in the deplorable condition that they are now.

The Hay Market.

Lincoln, Neb., June 13.—Continued light receipts of good quality timothy may forced prices to a slightly higher level at a number of the principal markets during the past week, according to reports received by the United States department of agriculture and made public here today. A good part of the arrivals were of less desirable grades which were in less active demand, the top grades continued, adding that in most markets, however, prices for the lower grades were well maintained because of the firm market for the better hay.

Explains War Legislation.

Geneva Signal: Former Congressman Charles H. Sloan, before leaving his trip spoke interestingly of his former chief, Claude Kitchen, who was chairman of the ways and means committee during the major part of the time that Mr. Sloan was a member of that important committee. He and the chairman had been special friends, although politically opposed. He said that Claude Kitchen was one of the ablest, most successful and picturesque debaters who ever spoke in either hall of the house and that he was a factor in the treaty taking off. It was a matter known to a number, but not generally known to the public, that Claude Kitchen was the first factor in the treaty taking off. President Wilson after early in 1916 announcing to the democratic leaders his willingness for America to enter the war against Germany. Kitchen came to the front with vigor and protested to the president against such a stand and insisted that the president should have the presidency of a pro-war platform record and after the interview with Kitchen it was not long until the president was in a position to announce that he was in favor of the war. Mr. Sloan were the only members of the ways and means committee who voted against the war resolution, which was a motion on the floor of the house opposing the resolutions presented, but both, as members of higher level at a number of the principal markets during the past week, according to reports received by the United States department of agriculture and made public here today. A good part of the arrivals were of less desirable grades which were in less active demand, the top grades continued, adding that in most markets, however, prices for the lower grades were well maintained because of the firm market for the better hay.

"The report continued: "The demand generally was not broad and dealers and consumers bought only for their immediate needs. An improved demand from the south was noted at Cincinnati, and was apparent by the improved financial conditions in that territory. "Clover hay was in light demand, but the poor crop condition estimated at 79.2 per cent normal, is causing kind producers to hold back shipments of what clover remains on farms until the amount of new hay that will be available can be more definitely determined.

"The movement of new alfalfa was further delayed by rainy weather. Practically all of the new alfalfa received at Kansas City was out of condition and sold over a range from $11 to $18 a ton. Choice new alfalfa from New Mexico sold around $29 a ton. Very little old alfalfa arrived at the central western markets as stocks of old hay appear to be well up in that territory.

"Prairie hay prices were well maintained by the firm market for other hays. Receipts continued light and were absorbed principally by the stock yards and other consumers."

Columbus Ohio State Journal: The hardy situation in China seems to be so bad that it may be our national duty under our heavy responsibility of moral leadership to go over and take charge of the provinces where the good old wells run.

Incomes and Taxes.

Lincoln Journal: In 1921, as the income tax tables published this week show, New York paid seventy times as much income tax as Nebraska. This fact furnishes useful basis for a study of different ways of raising national revenues.

New York has only ten times as many people as Nebraska. Where taxes are distributed equally to both, where the people need to buy, as in the case with the sales tax or tariff taxes, New York would pay just about eight times as much as Nebraska. But the income taxes it pays seventy times as much.

Or if we were levying direct federal taxes on property, New York would pay nearly ten times the taxes Nebraska pays. The assessed valuation of New York real estate is only about eight times that of Nebraska. If we taxed according to state taxes the annual budget of New York state is thirteen times that of Nebraska. Federal taxes based on the value of real wealth would thus give New York from eight to thirteen times as much to pay as Nebraska. Make it a graduate income tax, and New York pays seventy times as much. Is that fair? New York income tax payers sometimes complain that it is not.

It depends on what you regard as fair in taxation. If the test of fairness is ability to pay, then New York has no right to complain. New York pays the lion's share of income tax because it gets the lion's share of income. That income is made with the help of Nebraska and other states. New York happens to be the central reservoir of the vast incomes of the chief profit makers of the United States—Nebraska and other states—to make those incomes. The graduated income places the burden—roughly where the benefit goes. Nebraska agriculture would gladly pay the income tax of New York—coal, iron and finance if only it could get the income. Missessippi, Ohio and her mother it is to be hoped, be such a simple case as consent, through the adoption of sales taxes and other such devices, to let the big income come get out from under the expense of the little ones. If the income tax should happen incidentally to check the concentration of incomes in the United States, so much the better for the income taxes. There are still plenty of taxes whose effects run the contrary way.

After Many Years.

Big in Lincoln Journal: Seven hundred and eight years ago, on the 15th day of June, at Runnymede, a mere speck on the map about an hour's run by auto southwest of London, the barons, squabbling and squaddled—the cruel King John (by threatening to kill him) to sign the great charter (pronounced magna carta) which gave the people of Great Britain a bit of liberty they had not otherwise enjoyed.—King John, like Old King Coal and other English monarchs, was a little young in age, had little sympathy for the doctrine of self-determination. He thought it a useless waste of energy for people to think for themselves, when by virtue of divine decree, he was there to think for them. The progress made by civilization in seven hundred years has certainly been discouragingly slow.

Local Notes on Pacific Cruise.

Washington, June 10.—Cruising about the Pacific and visiting the various ports along the west coast, Lyman Robert Martin, son of Mrs. Eva Martin of Wayne, Neb., is now a member of the U. S. marine guard on the "Haver Island," Calif. Later he was assigned to duty on the New York, where the marines are trained to man certain types of guns and to perform guard duties.

The New York recently returned from maneuvers in the vicinity of the Panama Canal, and is now cruising along the west coast, frequently dropping anchor near Los Angeles or San Francisco, affording the marines an opportunity to go ashore. This was the marines' regular stop-off at San Pedro, the harbor of Los Angeles. No doubt the Wayne boy will have many interesting experiences to recount when he returns home.

A VICTORY FOR AMERICAN MOTORISTS

The Crude Rubber Monopoly weakened when it came into contact with aroused public sentiment. The press of the country today demands the determination of the American Motorist that the prices shall stay at a reasonable level—and that America must produce its own rubber.

Firestone CUTS PRICES 10 PER CENT EFFECTIVE JUNE 11

We announce a 10% reduction in tires and tubes effective June 11th. The lowered cost of crude rubber and the special Firestone manufacturing and distribution advantages made this possible.

Firestone factories are organized on a basis of large volume and effective production. Costs are down but quality is at its peak. Stock holder workmen are daily building many thousands of gum-dipped cords—the best tire Firestone ever produced and we believe the leader on the market today.

Firestone Cords took the first four places and eight of the top money positions in the Indianapolis sweepstakes, May 30th, without a single tire failure.

Firestone-Gum-Dipped Cords have set new standards in mileage, traction, comfort and safety. Car owners have expressed their approval of the extra value in Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords by increasing their purchases 104% in the past six months.

We have replaced many expensive branches with workshoes. We now have 108 distributing points which are delivering Firestone tires to the consumer at the lowest cost in our history.

Follow the tide of economical tire buying—equip with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords—and learn what Most Miles per Dollar means to you today.

Trenches were plowed in advance of the incoming hoists, and as they filled with the wriggles, keroseene was poured on the mass and ignited. Cultivators have largely done away with the grasshopper, and on rare occasions does the army of cut worms become a real menace. The Oregon infection will be not in some effective manner, and the danger of a repetition of the experience will be removed as far as humanly possible. It serves to remind us, however, of the truth of what the naturalists have often told the world—that if left unchecked, the insects would soon destroy all other forms of life. So feared are they, so rapidly do they multiply, that were the constant warfare of man and beast and bird against bug and worm to be relaxed, even for a short time, calamity would result. Yet were the bacteria of decay to be forgotten, animal and vegetable life alike would soon cease, because the elements needed by the one would be locked-up in the other, and could not be released for want of the work of the little wriggles who begin at the foundation of life and build up to the highest forms. All have their uses.

To Vote On Manager Plan.

Beatrice, Neb., June 12.—A week from today voters of Beatrice will express their will in regard to adoption of the city manager plan of government at a special election called for that purpose. At the same time the question of entering into a fifty-year contract with the local firm for furnishing to the city of electric current will be balloted upon.

The election was called as a result of petitions filed with the city clerk asking that a vote be taken on the question of rejecting or ratifying the proposition that the city and Black-Brothers Flour mills, whereby the latter agrees to sell to the city for a term of fifteen years, ending on a ten days' notice in 1924, electric current at the rate of 2 1/2¢ a kilowatt.

In an open letter to the voters of Beatrice, Mayor Fred W. Frazier declared: "In short, this contract if approved and ratified by the voters of the city will result in a saving of several thousand dollars a year in the operation of the electric water and lighting plant."

The question of adopting the city manager plan of government came up later, and it was believed advisable to incorporate both questions in the ballot to be passed upon next Tuesday.

If the city manager plan is carried at the special election, the question of commissioning a city manager will be for those favoring the city.

VOL. 36, NO. 48

Winter Wheat Fine; Corn Weedy and Late

Lincoln, Neb., June 11.—Winter wheat improved; much corn planted late, many weedy fields and injury from excessive rains—fall spring crops in excellent condition and acreage increased, especially spring wheat and barley; alfalfa, wild hay and pasture greatly improved; spotted damage to tree fruits, but small fruit very promising. This is the summary of the June report of the division of crop and live stock estimates.

Winter wheat improved under stimulus of very favorable weather. The present condition of 63 per cent indicates a crop of 59,972,000 bushels compared to 57,159,000 bushels last year and the 5-year average of 52,244,000 bushels. The crop is somewhat late and very uneven due to large percentage of thin stands, and is weedy in places. Hessian fly is present to a damaging extent in the Missouri river countries but not common entirely to this section.

Spring wheat acreage increased 70 per cent due largely to reseeded abandoned winter wheat in west central and south central Nebraska. A very promising condition of 94 per cent reported for 400,000 acres, or 5,114,000 bushels as compared to 2,670,000 bushels a year ago. The total acreage of spring wheat and winter wheat is 41,086,000 bushels against 59,288,000 bushels last year.

Oats Acreage Increased.
The acreage of oats has increased 8 per cent, the total being 2,651,000 acres. In general, the crop is very promising, the condition of 93 per cent indicates a crop of 78,268,000 bushels as compared to 56,106,000 bushels last year and the 5-year average of 67,070,000 bushels. The crop is a little late due to a backward season.

Barley replaced considerable winter wheat, resulting in an increase of 10 per cent in acreage, and the total is 335,900 acres. As the condition is high, being 94 per cent, the forecast is 4,865,000 bushels as compared to 4,266,000 bushels last year.

The acreage of small grain is 880,000 acres below last year. The present condition indicates a larger production of grain. The total acreage of winter wheat, spring wheat, oats, rye and barley is 6,135,000 acres compared to 7,015,000 acres last year. The present indicated production is 130,673,000 bushels as compared to 122,406,000 bushels last year.

Rain Injures Corn.
While the acreage and condition of corn is not obtained until July 1, a preliminary survey indicated a substantial increase in acreage, particularly in the winter wheat territory. Part of the crop was planted late, and not completed last month. Many fields are very weedy and there is more or less injury to stands due to excessive rain. On the other hand the southwestern quarter of the state has less reserve of subsoil moisture, which is one of the most important factors in satisfactory corn production on the increased acreage of that section. Many fields are very weedy and there is more or less injury to stands due to excessive rain. The first crop of alfalfa is heavy but harvesting has been delayed by rains. Wild hay is plentiful and pastures are splendid. Fruits and vegetables are reported as follows: Apples, 74 per cent; peaches, 65 per cent; pears, 73 per cent; plums, 60 per cent; cherries, 80 per cent; field beans, 90 per cent; cabbages, 88 per cent; onions, 91 per cent; melons, 91 per cent; sugar beets, 80 per cent.

Estimates of production for important crops for the United States are as follows, the first figure being the present estimate and the second figure, last year's estimate: Winter wheat, 508,511,000 bushels and 520,244,000 bushels; spring wheat, 280,639,000 bushels and 270,007,000 bushels; all wheat, 816,530,000 and 856,211,000 bushels; oats, 1,256,450,000 bushels and 1,201,456,000 bushels; barley, 156,110,000 bushels and 186,118,000 bushels; rye, 72,437,000 bushels and 95,497,000 bushels; commercial species, 32,234,000 bushels and 30,955,000 bushels; all hay, 98,928,000 tons and 112,791,000 tons.

Every dress shows some special styling that marks it for present favor. The price advantage which this selling brings will prove most welcome to those who have waited until now to complete summer wardrobes.

These dresses are not job lots, seconds or imperfect garments; every dress guaranteed perfect and was selected from the racks of one of the longest dress-makers in the east and paid for in cash securing an exceptionally low price.

Colors are beige, cocoa, brown, jade, black and white, grey and all this season's popular shades.

years ago he moved with his family from the farm near Winside here to town.

He was an active member of the M. E. church taking a leading part in all church work.

Mr. Reed was the type of man who makes a good citizen, was always taking a personal interest in the affairs of the town, and his death is keenly regretted.

Baby Beef Club.
The Winside Baby Beef club held its regular monthly meeting at the Citizens State bank, Thursday evening, June 7.

The following members, together with Walter Hoffman, the club leader, and J. H. Schmale, a visitor, were present: Percy Anderson, Otto Kant, Herbert Bruns, Harold Anderson, Chester Misset.

The club leader presented each of the members with a Baby Beef club badge, the insignia of which is a four leaf clover, each petal of which has the letter "H" inscribed upon it. The four H's stand for "Head and Hand working with Heart and Head." The club motto is: "Make the Best Better."

The members discussed the various feeds being used for their calves. Percy Anderson told of the wonderful gain his calf had made, an average of over two and one-half pounds per day.

Members of the club decided that they would meet again some afternoon next week for the purpose of visiting and judging each other's calves.

They also plan on visiting the members of the Wayne Baby Beef club and if possible attend one of their meetings.

Peter Jensen.
Lincoln Journal: The life of Peter Jensen is a history of Nebraska in the broad meaning of the word. It is fortunate that his circumstances enabled him to put that history into a simply worded, unpretentious book. Mr. Jensen's story is the story of tens of thousands in Nebraska.

He came to Nebraska from Europe when it was a raw prairie. He attacked with intelligence, the problem of adapting an agriculture to the peculiar conditions of a new and unknown country.

When spring wheat failed to yield profitable returns he tried winter wheat, planting the first twenty acres of winter wheat soon in Jefferson county. When the inflow of settlers cut off the range for sheep he formed a partnership whereby the grazing was done for the most, whereas the grass was on the feeding in the east where the corn grew. Thus studying conditions and adapting himself to them.

Mr. Jensen developed for himself a great career in one branch of agriculture. He was one of the largest and most successful sheep feeders in this state or country has had.

This was pioneering in its best sense. Men of this type have been the way-showers to the broadly successful agriculture which has made Nebraska one of the world's garden spots. Entirely aside from his political career and from his services to his own particular group of people, Peter Jensen leaves Nebraska deeply in his debt.

Tells of Religious Group in Missouri

Miss Sarah F. Halliburton of Independence, Mo., a member of the Herald staff three years ago who is now one of the staff of the Independence Examiner, relates some of her observations as follows:

Newspaper work in Independence, Mo., has some peculiarities, as this is the Mormon Zion, ten miles from Kansas City. It is the world headquarters of the Re-organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, the great of the Mormon church which refused to accept the so-called revelation concerning polygamy and formed a new institution, which has no connection with the Utah Mormons.

It is in Independence that the block known as the Temple Lot stands. Revelations in the Book of Doctrine and Covenants point to this lot as the place where the Mormon temple is to be raised. Around this lot the Utah Mormons, the Re-organized Latter Day Saints and a smaller group called Hedrickites are buying property, to be near the temple when it appears. The Hedrickites actually own the lot, the title for which was settled in the United States Supreme Court.

Although the Re-organized Latter Day Saints have neither the numbers nor the financial resources of the Utah church, they have a powerful organization in Independence, civic improvements, religious life, business and every other phase of the community's existence. The membership is concentrating in Independence, or Zion, and approximately 45 per cent of the population of the town is 15,000 in Latter Day Saints.

With this strength, it is natural that the Latter Day Saints should aspire to and succeed in holding public offices. They are on the city council and two on the board of education. The chief of police is a preacher of that church and some of the men under him are members of the Chamber of Commerce, Boy Scouts, DeMolay and other organizations the Latter Day Saints are conspicuous and usually they hold their positions by virtue of the fact that they practice their teaching of stewardship of talents, by doing whatever work is assigned them.

Nearly every business and profession has its representative and one bank draws almost all its business from that denomination. The church itself has a complicated business organization of which the preceding bishop, Benjamin R. McGuire, is head. A financial statement for last year shows the holdings of the church in 1922—$1,000,000.

These and other offerings brought $410,330.95 into the treasury. Education and the support of elders in their missionary work were the principal disbursements.

A large stone church across the street from the temple lot, is the center of activities. There are other churches are maintained in or close to Independence. All are well attended.

Latter Day Saint church organization is claimed to have been prescribed by divine revelation. It consists of a number of quorums, the members of which meet in a group in annual conferences held in Independence. Dr. Fredrick M. Smith, a grandson of the Joseph Smith who started the Mormon church, is president, prophet, seer and revelator. He holds several college degrees, is a Phi Beta Kappa and a man of outstanding mental capacity. He has two assistant presidents.

A Quorum of Twelve consists of twelve apostles, who are largely missionary. Three quorums of the Seventies are made up of missionaries. The bishops are the financial quorum of the church. The patriarchs are the older men, some of whom have been apostles. High priests form another quorum and the deacons another.

The church maintains a junior college at Lamoni, Ia., and what is known as the Institute of Arts and Sciences in Independence. It has a sanitarium, the only hospital in Jackson county, Mo., outside of Kansas City. A large printing establishment is maintained. A grocery store with six branches in Independence is managed by the Saints.

To attend a Latter Day Saint church service, nothing unusual is noticeable. However, a stranger would not go long until he heard the members of the church recite accepted in addition to the Bible. He also would hear of revelations of Joseph Smith and later presidents of the church. The doctrine of the church is the continuity of revelations, arguing that God's laws being unchangeable, divine guidance always has and always will come through revelation.

The success from big business and the special interests which fell like dew of heaven upon our fair land, before it had all over it, Governor Bryan has warned us.

At the forefront in this onslaught by big business and the interests upon the liberties of the people stands Dan V. Stephens, former democratic congressman, appointee of Governor Bryan on the state normal board.

Shoulder to shoulder with Mr. Stephens in the nefarious work stands Judge Arthur G. Gray of York, the well known leader of the forces of reaction and despotism in this state. By his side stand those lieutenants of his, each of them a tower of strength to the special interests.

Let us rise and sing: "We will be remembered as the leaders of the great reactionary movement in behalf of the special interests of the State of Nebraska." We should name in this connection also that well known exponent of big business and enemy of the farmers, Mr. C. H. Gustafson, long leader of that "special interest" the Farmers' Union.

Most potent of all, most convincing evidence of this "big business" is "back to this short ballot proposition throughout the country," is the presence in the short ballot ranks of that eminent reactionary and spokesman for the interests, Mr. William J. Bryan. The speech of Mr. Bryan in the late Nebraska constitutional convention, revised by himself after delivery, contains the terrible words: "I believe in the short ballot." What further proof is needed of the devilish nature of this movement?

Let us rise and sing: "I don't want none of your Weevily wheat, I don't want none of your barley; I want some flour to bake a cake, To bake a cake for Charley, O, Charley, Charley, Charley!"

The Early Days in Two Counties

From the Wayne Herald for June 18, 1903:

A. A. Welch went to Lincoln on legal business. The telephone system is being installed in Carroll.

J. D. King has been visiting relatives in Bloomfield. Mr. Phillips of Carroll, left for a six weeks' trip in the east. Gladys West of Wausa is here visiting a few days with relatives.

Rev. W. S. Welden has gone to Hastings where he has accepted a call.

Ed. Owens who lives west of town, has a field of rice that is five feet high.

George Grunemeyer visited friends in Wakefield over the weekend.

Mrs. Viola Byers who visited Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Soden, returned to Osmond.

Miss Gable, 8-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gable, died June 11, 1903.

Mrs. Elizabeth Matheny of Bushnell, Ill., is here visiting her son, N. Matheny.

Fred Volpp left for New York to meet a brother who is coming from the old country.

Prof. M. R. Stodgrass went to Omaha to attend a meeting of county superintendents.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Felber of Laurel, visited a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tucker.

Miss Lottie and Miss Veda Pfliger visited their brother, Frank Pfliger in Pierce a few days.

E. A. Lundberg left for Colorado where he will travel during the summer for a book company.

About 600 students have registered for the summer session at the Nebraska Normal college.

Mrs. E. P. Gimstead went to North Platte, where her husband is looking after land interests.

Otto Wantoch has bought the Gus Schroeder property in Hoskins and plans to erect a lively town.

Phil Manning of Carroll, has gone to Teter, Ill., to make his home with an uncle while attending school.

Gus Will, went to Randolph and bought a meat market which he will open July 1 under the name of W. F. Will and Co.

Rev. P. Baker, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church, and his daughter of Chicago, are here visiting friends.

Edward Marotz has bought Herman Ziemer's share in the Hoskins implement business and the firm will now be known as Wetzel and Marotz.

Old Fellows from Wayne who attended a district meeting in Randolph were: N. J. Juhn, F. A. Berry, Henry Ley, Charles Schultze, Tom Hanson, Henry Stamm, R. W. Ley, Will Dieckhaug, Chas. Nyholm, O.

gar Hanson, R. P. Williams, Fay Arpel, James Luttrell, and J. G. Mines.

D. Cunningham, Mrs. E. Cunningham and daughter Mae went to Madison to attend the funeral of a son of Mr. Cunningham's brother.

Prof. G. L. Collier of Dakota City came to visit his parents and to attend the college during the summer session. He goes to Bancroft as principal of the high school the coming year.

Mrs. A. N. Matheny went to Malvern, Iowa, because of the illness of the daughter of her brother, George Mellor. Mrs. Robert Mellor and daughter, Queen, also went to Malvern.

A carload of large stones has been received and will be used for laying stone crossings on the streets. Each crossing will cost about $38 but in the long run will be cheaper than board crossings.

Another slight wreck occurred on the railroad when a part of a freight train became derailed one mile west of Wrensburg. One car was demolished. The Bloomfield train backed to Winslow and brought the mail and express from the passenger on the opposite side of the wreck.

From the Ponca Journal June 17, 1920:

The late flood washed away a large number of bridges in the county.

Last Saturday seven cases of sunstroke occurred at Chicago, of which three proved fatal. The thermometer stood during a part of the day at 92 degrees in the shade.

This morning the sun shines out clear and bright and it looks as though the season of daily storms that we have had during the past two weeks is at an end.

On Thursday night of last week the neighborhood of Mr. Curry's place on Aoway creek was visited by a hail storm which came from the west and did considerable damage to windows on the exposed side of houses. At Ionia the same night window glass suffered some injury.

The Sioux City Journal of Sunday contains the following in regard to railroad matters on this side of the Midway:

"J. P. Vincent, who came in yesterday from a trip over the Omaha line, reports everything progressing in a satisfactory way. Twelve miles of the grade is finished ready for leveling up. South of Vincent's store there are 120 teams and ninety-five men engaged in leveling up the store and the junction with the old Ponca road, sixty-two teams and sixty-three shovellers. The right of way has all been surveyed down as far as Lyons, the first town north of Oakland. W. G. Lin of this city, and Gen. Holman of Dakota City, are negotiating for the balance of the right of way needed. Only one contractor has been delayed by the wet weather, and this delay will be of a temporary nature. Contractors at the edge of the bluff, south of Jackson, are running dump cars and will finish the grade out to the edge of the bluff which it is proposed to bridge. On Tuesday evening, a 300 foot bridge will be put over the gough. A. K. Nash and his party of engineers were camped at LaPorte on Friday morning and would run the preliminary survey to Norfolk. Wakefield and his party were ready to go to LaPorte which deviates more from the old narrow gauge road built to that town. The grade for side track at Wakefield, near Norfolk branch with the Omaha line is finished. A flood from the Sunday rains took out all temporary bridges put in by the railroadmen on Pison, Middle and Logan creeks, but the building of the bridges on the county wagon roads near the grade.

"The supervisors of the Union Pacific have set their stakes for a line about half a mile north of the Norfolk junction, and apparently will then their right on to the base of the bluff opposite this city without stopping to make a connection with the St. Paul road. When last seen were seen on their way back to camp at LaPorte."

Declares Emaciated Indigestion And She Can Eat Even Onions Now.

"If a million people asked me about Tanlac I would gladly praise it to them all," declared Mrs. Iva M. Spann, 332 North 22nd St., Lincoln, Neb.

"At the time I got Tanlac I weighed only a hundred and fourteen pounds, and I think I was the most miserable woman in Lincoln. Ever since, I now weigh a hundred and forty-five pounds and am feeling better than I have in years. I had stomach trouble so bad that everything I ate would cause me unappealing tortures from indigestion, gas on my stomach, heart burn, palpitation and cramps. At times these attacks were so bad I thought sure it would be the end of me.

"Well, my friends often stop me on the streets now to congratulate me on my good health. I eat everything that I want, even onions and beans, and I nothing hurts me. It is more than reasonable that Tanlac has restored my health and I am grateful beyond words."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Bixby in Lincoln Journal: The most inspiring pageant of the times is the unconquered procession of weed exterminators moving to the cornfields of Nebraska between showers. There's little of pomp and ceremony in this, but a lesson in loyalty and industry that should find an abiding place in the heart of every true American.

In this dark wilderness of weeds I say it must not fail—The man who lets and one weed grow Where two weeds grow last year. He's patriotic to the core. A noble, useful citizen. Ais for one so indolent He slumbers late at noon, He's patriotic to the core. A worthless dud, if a cursing worse. May be none of my affairs. But that man gets me well Who early camps among the trees, And tears them all for bread. He's patriotic to the core. Who does his duty—why say more?
