The Air—And's Picked-Up in an in-sensible Condition." Tough on the cow. She'll know better next time.
 An Auburn-haired gentleman representing a newspaper not far thousand miles distant, was sashaying around town last week like death on a pale horse. He reared and pranced, and ripped and tore, and pawed and bellowed for several days, and then folded up his flapping auricles and disappeared from mortal view.
 And now several still, small voices are heard asking for the gent with the brick red hair. His hash bill crieth to heaven for liquidation, but the red-headed man answers that: He is the lost sheep, and if he should return and settle up there he would be moze rejoicing than over ninety and nine-regular patrons.

 The Sioux City Tribune aptly remarks that in these degenerate days a mighty few animals will go an awful ways as an excuse for straight-laced and high moral people going to the circus. Of course Deacon Bangs doesn't go to the canvas amphitheater for any ungodly purpose. He goes to study the living wonders of the universe—the stall-fed lion and the sacred ox. The beautiful Cressian girl and the bespangled Mademoiselle Jenkins are nothing to him. He is in search of zoological information. To his devout mind there is more enjoyment in the spectacle of a mangy monkey hunting fleas, than in the most bewildering exhibition of female beauty in pink tights, on the trapeze. Of course it is not the jokes of the clown that he laughs at—it's only the antics of the rhinoceros. And then there is good Sister Bangs. Who would dare insinuate that she goes there for any other purpose than to see the parrots, and the cockatoos, and the cunning little baby baboon and the snakes and things? To be sure she now and then "peeks" into the forbidden recesses of the naughty circus tent, but she is not to blame for that—she went there to see the menagerie, and if the circus will intrude itself—why, she can't shut her eyes! For a bob-tailed elephant will serve as an antidote for the sin of going to see these wicked circus-riders.

Why the Hog Squeals? Omaha Beef Farmers are receiving less for their hogs today than before the war. To them that means a heavy loss. But to the consumers of pork products it means nothing so far as lower prices for meat are concerned.

One might reason that the slump in hog prices would bring about a somewhat corresponding reduction in the cost of meat, but it hasn't.

The bureau of labor statistics at Washington keeps accurate tab on the cost of living. In a recent pamphlet it lists meat prices at the leading retail centers and compares them with prewar costs. This shows that on March 15, 1913, pork chops were selling at 20.3 cents a pound, and on the same date in 1923 they sold for 28.3 cents.

Bacon which sold in 1913 for 21.6 cents sold March 15, 1923 at 38.2 cents. Ham in 1913 was 43 cents a pound, while last March it was 45 cents.

This represents an increase of 39 per cent for pork chops, 50 per cent for bacon and 73 per cent for ham. Lard also went up 12 per cent.

And in the same period the price of hogs decreased 17 per cent. Since March the price paid to the raisers has undergone a still greater decline. Yet this is not matched by any extensive change in the level of meat prices.

It is a fact that hot weather limits the market for pork and that a good deal of this meat is carried over. But if economic laws were allowed to work freely, when the supply of pork exceeded the demand at a certain price, then the price would be lowered to encourage consumption. If prices of pork products remained a proper relation to prices of the hogs from which they are made, such a decline as the farmers are now suffering from would result in more pork eating because of its cheapness. And this enlarged demand would soon right the market and send hog prices up to a fair average.

Third Advertising Representative THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

People who feel perfectly well and have no apparent cause for worry, often feel uneasy and unhappy anyway because of the fear that some misfortune will soon happen.

Wet patches that are flourishing under the influence of humidity, rain, and sunshine ought to be assuaged and laid to waste by the owners in behalf of tightness and civic pride.

We notice that Neilgh is planning to have a municipal swimming pool. We have put the question the same idea with success. In this connection, it has been suggested that a swimming pool would add decidedly to the power of attraction in Bressler's park.

Advice: A store clerk or any other person dealing with the public should not be like the pharisee's purification, or like the Egyptian Sphinx. He should not act as though he had been set in concrete and would have to be blasted out with dynamite in order to get him to acknowledge your presence and wait on you.

Nashville, Tenn., is going to try the experiment of having twelve months of school. The year will be divided into four terms and children may take three months' vacation during any term. Suppose all the pupils decided to take the vacation at one time? In that event, the school would work without any one to work on.

This newspaper works diligently to secure adequate advertising early in the week, and then sometimes as the day of issue approaches, it has the misfortune of a greater amount of available space will accommodate. That has been the case this week, and as a consequence several newspapers advertisements have been unavoidably omitted through lack of space. It is regrettable that should have appeared in the last two days. The management is very despondent on Wednesday comes too late to increase the number of pages beyond the usual sixteen. The congested advertising presents, thus sometimes necessitated, through the newspaper out of proportion and rather violates a satisfactory newspaper standard.

President Harding's speech-making tour will draw him into closer relationship with the people, and will give the people a more intimate understanding of his policies and motives. It is taking the public into his confidence. He is speaking unqualifiedly in behalf of law enforcement, including—she—eighteenth amendment, and advising people to lend their earnest cooperation. He has stressed the economy and debt-paying program that has been carried out by the government with the result of soon materially reducing the tax burden incident to the war. It must be admitted even by those who are most opposed to him, that he really "has" made large and gratifying headway in lifting the load and solving the problems that have inevitably followed the war.

One advantage the rural community has over the large cities is the difference in snobs. If we have any snobs, they are in very modified form and not seriously annoying. One who would naturally develop an advertising snob in the city, keeps within reasonable bounds in the country because of lack of encouragement. A snob in Wayne would see to it that he was conspicuous and so hampered by manifestations of contempt that no considerable headway could be made. In a city one seems to drive to work, an who happens to marry a rich man, but who knows next to nothing, may not always be a snob, but she gets material for her snobbery. She entertains frequently and elaborately, and the cut of one's gown is of more importance to her than the development of one's brains. She often shows her ignorance, but happily she does not know it. One woman in Montgomery, Ala. was asked if she were conversant with Trilby. She replied that she thought she had met Trilby, but was not exactly sure.

I. Rathbun, formerly of this place, who spent the winter in Leavenworth, returned to Wayne and where he had spent a short time. Mrs. H. W. Miss Martha Uhlr of Omaha who was graduated from the Wayne State Normal in 1919 and who taught the past year in Winslow, Arizona, is attending school in Berkeley, Calif., this summer. On her way from Arizona to California Miss Uhlr has traveled some in the southwest. "She visited" Miss Martha Dewey, who taught expression at the Wayne State Normal at Flagstaff, Arizona. There she also traveled through the national forest which contains, she states, largely of tall, handsome pine trees. The sunset through the pines Miss Uhlr expresses as wonderfully picturesque. She went from Flagstaff to the Grand Canyon in Colorado, traveling about on the rim and then down in the canyon.

It is a thrilling experience, she says, to have the full conception of the canyon unless he goes down. The trail is not at all dangerous but it was a thrilling experience, she says, to have had to get off the mules only two times. The colorings of the canyon are beautiful and no picture does justice to them. The Colorado river has a very swift current and is dangerous for swimmers." Miss Uhlr also spent some time in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Catalina Island and an island called Venice before going to Berkeley.

Dies on Fishing Trip. Butte, Neb., June 22.—Oliver Lee, 33 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee of Butte, dropped dead on a fishing trip in the Neva. This river three miles west of here yesterday afternoon. Heart failure is believed to have been the cause. Mr. Lee had gone to Keya Paha with three companions, Joseph Halbur, Matt Wagner and Lew Kumsere, to fish. The other three men were in the water and Mr. Lee had started in. His companions looked around and saw him topple over. He was dead when they reached him. Mr. Lee was a veteran of the World War and saw service in France.

Hartington Boy Is Nearly Electrocuted

Hartington Herald: One of the most remarkable and distressing accidents which have ever occurred in this community took place on Tuesday afternoon when Max Hicklin, Mr. Lee's nephew of Mrs. A. E. Mengshol, came in contact with a live wire and was almost electrocuted. In company with his brother and some other boys, Max, who is a wide-awake little fellow of nine years of age, was climbing trees in the yard and he and his brother were up in a box elder at the time of the accident. One of the electric light company's wires—run through this yard from the alley to the streets, and the swaying of the branches of the tree had evidently worn off the insulation of the wire at this place. According to his own story and that of his playmates, the boy, as soon as he had come in the vicinity of the wire, was drawn toward it as if by a magnet, and he flew into the contact with the wire and the high voltage current was rushing through his body. His terrible agonizing screams could be heard for blocks, and in an instant a crowd had gathered about the tree. Lloyd Hardy, a mail carrier, was passing on the street, and he immediately restrained the tree, catching the child just as he was about to fall.

The little boy is fearfully burned, especially on the left side. The left hand and arm pit are scorched, and his whole body is full of burns where the current made its escape. Electricians think that about 2500 volts passed through his body, and his escape from instant death is almost miraculous. That he was not killed by the contact with the live wire can be only explained by the fact that the childish body relaxed as soon as the current entered. Had the electricity encountered the resistance of an adult, death would no doubt have been instantaneous.

At the present time the boy is resting easily and suffers no particular pain. His father came up Tuesday, being met at Emerson with a car, and the child was taken to an Omaha hospital today. The present fears are of an infection resulting from the burns.

Dixon

(Mrs. K. D. Long.) Mrs. Tom Mumberson of Orchard, Neb., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. I. Davidson and other relatives, coming to attend the funeral of her nephew's wife, Mrs. John Davidson. Mrs. Earl Tomason and baby son are here from Waterbury visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Agnes Duffy and brothers and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blake—of Laurel were in Dixon Sunday to attend Mrs. Davidson's funeral. They met many old friends, having resided a few miles east of the Logan center church for many years.

Farm and other work prevented many from attending the annual picnic at the Country Gun club grounds the first of the week. Maybe the work demon will not tie the men folk down later on in the season. They can go to the club for their bi-monthly social and picnic supper later on in the season. They're highly enjoyable affairs.

Nat-P Taylor of Olympia, Washington, left Tuesday for his boyhood home in Iowa, after a two weeks visit here with M. P. McGowan and family and many other old friends and neighbors. Mr. Taylor and mother, with a brother's family, came to Nebraska in the late seventies, residing on the farm owned by him for many years, while his brother and family lived near. He now lives at Auburn, Wash. Mr. Nat Taylor went to Mountain Grove, Missouri, about twenty-five years ago. Here the only child, after college work finished a dental course in Kansas City, served with a dental corps through the World War in France, and with his wife resides in Olympia, their home here for the war. Mrs. Nat Taylor passed away seven years ago, and Mr. Taylor, having sold out his garage business in Olympia two years ago, is at liberty to view the scenes of his early life at will, and he is making the rounds, returning via Los Angeles in the autumn, where he will visit Mrs. Tolles and Mrs. Lillie Ankeny, old neighbors, a few miles north of Ingeret. As a small child, we recall seeing the Taylors at church and Sunday school in the old Logan Grove school house, the minister driving a horse from Coleridge, the home parsonage. Mr. Taylor said he could scarcely recognize the old home place now.

Mrs. Blanche Lisle-Davidson, wife of J. Davidson and youngest daughter of Mrs. Hattie Lisle, died Friday, June 22, 7:15 p. m. at her home five miles northeast of Dixon, after several months' illness. Her teeth were drawn last winter, all but two of which were infected at the roots. She came home from the hospital in a short time, and received the best of care, but failed to rally as was expected, and soon became unable to walk about the room. A month ago, Mrs. Davidson was taken back to the hospital in Sioux City, where after two weeks' stay she was brought home on a cot accompanied by a nurse. Early last week a blood transfusion was advised. Thirteen volunteered, and blood was given on Tuesday by Harrison McGowan and Wednesday by Lawrence Thelmann, in hopes of saving her life. She leaves besides her husband and one daughter, Velma age 7, a mother, two brothers, Clarence and Frank Lisle, three sisters, Mrs. Edith Reynolds of Dixon, Mrs. Minnie Sherman, Concord, and Mrs. Cora Pritchard of Laurel; Funeral was Sunday at 2 p. m. in the M. E. church, Dixon. Rev. Mr. Hahn, pastor, officiating. Interment was in Concord cemetery, beside a daughter who died when a year old. Floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Community Hall May Be Built in Winnside
Business men interested in the proposed new community building for Winnside today are endeavoring to consider the plans submitted by the architect who was here from Norfolk and who drew plans for the structure. Opinion is now favoring the building of a community hall, a one-story brick structure, between the Brune Brothers and Floor stores, this to be used for a theatre, for basketball, other indoor sports, dances, and any other community gatherings. Men "boosting" the proposition claim that the capital stock would need to be about $10,000. In case it is decided definitely that Winnside will have such a building endeavor will be made to have a temporary floor built by Fourth of July so that this may be used for the dance that evening.

EVANS SUBMITS STRONG EVIDENCE

Declares Tanlac Ended Indigestion and Put Him in Perfect Condition.

"My health was so badly broken up and I was so played out that at times I could hardly drag around but Tanlac has made me feel fine and strong enough to tackle any kind of work," recently said John A. Evans, 2106 Harvey St., Omaha, Neb., well-known contractor. "My appetite and stomach failed me completely and indigestion, flatulency, nervousness and poor sleep nearly put me out of business. I had knife-like pains in my back and arms; felt bad all the time, and I didn't get relief in spite of all I could do. "Well, Tanlac has given me such a corking appetite that when the call for me comes, I'm as speedy as a boy just getting out of school. My digestion is perfect; I have gained ten pounds, sleep fine, and am in the pink of condition in every way. Tanlac has certainly done the work for me. "Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Farm Bargains

The wise investor buys on the low market

You will concede that the market on land is low now. We are offering farms for sale at practically 50 per cent of what they were sold for during the period of inflation.

Following are a Few Wayne County Farms:

160 ACRES, improved, 5 1/2 miles from town, one-half mile from highway, good set of tenant improvements, consisting of six-room house, barn with room for ten horses on one side and cattle on the other, with three large bins and plenty of hay room, granary, garage, crib, hog shed, good well, land is rolling but clean and in good shape, has good pasture with living water, about 125 acres of farm land and 35 acres pasture. Price $115,000 per acre.

160 ACRES—well improved, six miles from Wayne, large ten room house, horse barn, cattle barn, hog house, cribs, sheds, tenant house, water works, fine pasture and wild hay, land lays good but needs building up, ten acres alfalfa, price $175 an acre.

80 ACRES—Seven miles from Wayne; this is an ideal farm home and one of the very best improved places in Wayne county, the land lays well and is in best of condition. The house is as fine as any city home and has every modern convenience; there is also a very good old house on this place, and plenty of barns and out buildings. This is the place for some one that wants a real home and is willing to pay about what the improvements are worth and get the land for the price of improvements. Price $275,000 an acre. This place must be seen for it is a big bargain at this price.

160 ACRES—Five miles due north of Wayne. This place would have sold for $400 an acre four years ago. It is an extra good quarter and has fine pasture and hay. The land lays well and is in a highly productive state of cultivation. The improvements are fairly good. Extra good terms on this place. Price $200,000 an acre.

We have a good list of other lands and are glad to show these farms anytime.
