Puzzling Disparity.
The government ought to ascertain, if possible, the justification, if there is any, for high priced ham and bacon in the presence of low-priced pigs. People gull under the shocking disparity between the prices for smoked pork and those for live hogs. If there is a good reason for the difference, people ought to know it. W. B. Hiss in Wayne-Herald.

My Dear Hiss: The steady maintenance of high standards and high rates for ham and bacon, as the same are offered to the ultimate consumers, is in strict and harmonious conformity with new ideas as to patriotic preparedness. Suppose one could get a helping of ham and cabbage at a visible approach to pre-war prices; and suppose the meat man were to seem satisfied with 40 cents for a pound of sliced bacon, and suppose this were to go on until the nation were suddenly projected into another war for the preservation of the democratic form; and the gentleman's agreement to gouge were entered into as generally and enthusiastically as before, wouldn't the staff actually be harder to buy than as-if-retail-prices had never been let down at all?

So, keep the prices up, I say.
—From Callaway to Callaway.

For ham and cabbage let me pay As much as I can muster. I'm now so used to prices steep. Both in and out of season. I would not have my pig meat cheap For any certilly reason.

From Ponca Journal July 18, 1923:
One of the most valuable horses belonging to Dan Rice's circus outfit fled Saturday night, from the effects of a mistake. He was valued at $1,500.
Sheriff Jones, who has been around the county considerably of late, states that what is feared somewhat by the hot weather, but that corn is growing wonderfully.
On Friday afternoon of last week, a little four year-old son of Mr. Patrick Gorman of this place, in company with some other children, went up to the ravine near Mr. Higgins' house, and while playing on the bank fell in. The water was about four feet deep. His playmates immediately ran to obtain help, and Mr. Higgins soon came, but he was too late, for when the boy was taken out, life was extinct. The funeral took place Sunday at the South Creek Church.

We, the undersigned witnesses of the trial of the Marsh, McCormick and Wood self-binders on the farm of Mr. F. H. Fisher, near this place, July 3, say that the Wood binder did the poorest work of either machine exhibited, although said machine, contrary to all rules usually followed in such trials, went into the field at least four hours in advance of the Marsh or McCormick, and in the length of time it managed to get around three sides of the piece. On the fourth side, the side of the heaviest grain, they let the Marsh cut the first swath. On the third and last round, the one on which the committee were to judge of the merits of the different machines, the Wood was followed by the McCormick and Marsh. About half way around the piece the McCormick and Marsh pulled around the Wood, and came in with very little trouble, while the Wood was about fifty rods behind. We did not see a man on the field aside from the committee, who expressed himself in any way, who did not say that the McCormick and Marsh did the work better and with less trouble than the Wood. A. B. Clark, J. E. Harmon, S. Gamble, T. C. West, Jno. F. Smith, H. Fragelico.

New Club for Old
Lincoln Journal: Where is the "club" of yesterday? This five years ago Avigerson and his canteen and high collar were staple raw material of the jokesmith and cartoonist.
The best place to look for our erstwhile radiantly attired time-killer would be a golf course. If not there, he is playing tennis, or proving a boat or out in the wilderness fishing. The last generation's dude now goes to college and specializes in sports, either as actor or rooster. The world has moved out of doors since 1885.
One result of this is the waning of "the club" of yesterday. This is the enjoyment of the city man of yesterday. The home of the club pre-eminent was New York City. Some of the famous clubs of the town are now moving into the side streets or the sake of economy. They are no longer the "fogs" of their members' interest. Even where the membership, from force of habit remains as before, the patronage has dwindled.

Prohibition has brought something to do with this. The old club was nothing of a convivial and now conviviality associates with the bad name of bootlegging. The member, responsible for pretty-nearly every change that happens, have their part in the downfall of the Club. The "dired business man" gets his relaxation by evening with his family at the movies rather than with his friends at the club. Needless to say, the automobile comes in for its share of the blame. If he does not go to the movies, the club member doesn't take his family for a drive. But more than all, it would appear, is the country club responsible for the waning of the city club.
The original country club was a summer institution. It did not conflict with the city club, which shone best in winter. But now the country clubs are beginning to be open the year around. Their number is increasing. The tired business man and his wife and sons and daughters find here coupled with the social facilities of the old city club, the outdoor recreation to which the western world has so heartily turned in recent years. The "dude" of yesterday's club, he resents the automobile has of course played a great part in this matter. It has made it easy to travel to the country club.
Even old England is beginning with this change in social facilities. At Henley the Phyllis Court club is announced as the advent of the American country club. This tendency may be the means of saving many of the great country houses which have been the pride of England, and whose loss has been threatened by the taxes and the property growing out of the war. If single owners cannot maintain these places as homes, perhaps associations such as our country clubs can maintain them as club houses which have been the pride of England.

Its wealthier people are still able to have cars, however, and these are the making. There are some of the country clubs as they were of the old and now decadent city club.

 THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION
 In order to insure the correctness of a newspaper report, necessarily must be careful to give facts and not fiction or half truths.
 If European nations which claim to follow the Christian religion, would get out such principles, and shut them off and put them into practice, they would soon see the light of day and the world would be to the way toward reconstruction and enduring peace.

People who are looking for sugar will not find them, and they should not expect to reap the harvest that rewards the toil of the industrious. No amount of sugar can be gotten without hard and earnest effort. The fellow who is idling away time in search of a soft breeze, usually attributes failure to bad luck or to lack of opportunity.
 Edward W. Bole's offer of a cash prize of $1000 for the best plan to bring about and insure world peace has aroused lively and widespread interest. One editor suggests that party politics must be left out of consideration in any program looking to universal and permanent peace. He also suggests that the right of war should be retained until the late war very effectively, so they could be eliminated in promoting a supremely important move to present war.

It is unfortunate that one cannot undo many things that lose in a fit of anger or in a silly game of mind. People ought to charitably consider the mental state at the moment, and not nurse hateful recollection of ugly characters who have expressed in haste and without due reflection. Truth is, people who say much often say the wrong thing and even less that they are sincere and repentant. The faculty to talk is so generally employed and so often over-used, that in the course of a

Here is Proof Can You Afford to be Without Semi-Solid?

An unsolicited report from Mr. Guffey

Concord, Neb., July 9, 1923.
 Mr. Ralph Rundell, Wayne, Neb.
 Dear Sir: To satisfy myself as to the merits of your Semi-Solid on April 11 I started feeding to two sows fifteen days before farrowing. One sow had three pigs and the other five pigs. (Saved them all.) Today we weighed the pigs at 2 months and 22 days old. They averaged 85 pounds each and not a runt in the bunch. Used but one-half barrel buttermilk.
 H. GUFFEY.
 For the benefit of farmers interested in the hog industry, Mr. Guffey gives the above information. This bears out our claim that Semi-Solid fed on a basis of forty gallons of water to one can will insure a Development and health condition that no other agency will produce. It's generally admitted by all 100 Wayne county Semi-Solid users that the increased development and shorter time required to mature the pork, makes the use of Semi-Solid a permanent and guaranteed, profitable investment. The introduction of Semi-Solid in northeast Nebraska has increased hog profits of conservative users thousands of dollars every year. The question that confronts every farmer—
"Can I afford to be Without Semi-Solid?"
 Here is a valuable suggestion. Have your flock of hens culled about August 1 and begin feeding Semi-Solid. Your production will increase 1-3 per cent. A 500 pound barrel will feed 100 hens 100 days—another profitable investment.

 Madison Schall: Five quite serious automobile accidents at Columbus Sunday would indicate that the safety first slogan is not working very well in the locality. There is a great deal of inconsistency in our laws when it comes to transportation. The engineer's examination before he is required to take turns on an engine and too he has a track to run, but the driver of an automobile is required to have even brains. One hour instruction is all that is needed and the most incompetent driver is allowed to get on the public highway and become a menace to the public.
 Fairbury News: President Harding declared in a recent speech that a reduction in freight rates can only be brought about by the consolidation of the railroads of the country into a small number of systems, under "rigorous government supervision." He has our permission to try the experiment. Any old port in a storm is better than no port at all. But our opinion is that the railroads have already been supervised to death.
 Hartington Herald: Life in the open is the life of sanity and health. Nature never intended people to be cooped up all day in hot, stuffy offices nor spend their lives looking over a hot stove. It is contrary to nature and nature's laws, and she exacts a heavy penalty for such a course. Nature intended people to live free and pure and happy in her great, big-out-of-doors, and it is only such a life that nature rewards with health, happiness and length of years.

Profit Accruing to Two Wayne Men from their production of honey
 The profit accruing to two Wayne men from their production of honey points a way for others to add an important side line, which they have just shipped to car load of honey, and they will soon have an other load ready to send to market. Bees require intelligent treatment and are not very costly to keep. They go about their business without any fooling, coaxing or nagging, never loaf, never sulk, have no unkind ways and never bite or sting. They work while visiting different neighborhoods. They don't sting if not disturbed. They yield a rich honey from the part of the bee industry is one that may well be encouraged as a source of little expense and large profit.
 We have a kindly and sympathetic interest in the person who is unaided. The word "awkward" did not originate with the gods. It came along and commenced throwing our hands in one direction and our hands in another. It was when we began going off to work in the streets, unaided and had to be given free stimulants to keep it working. So when we see an individual profiting of ugly characters who have expressed in haste and without due reflection, Truth is, people who say much often say the wrong thing and even less that they are sincere and repentant. The faculty to talk is so generally employed and so often over-used, that in the course of a

HOME MOST SATISFYING
 Vacationers are again prying the well known fact that returning home is ranked after the best part of the trip. Some are their days thinking back on a pleasant trip and others are looking forward to the day when they can make a trip that is approaching. Those who have gone and returned have felt the delight of recreation at this time again, but, even so, the usual opinion that home is the best place after all. And to all who call Wayne home—this city looks a better than ever before after a trip to other cities. Wayne again proves itself inferior to no other.—D. H.

SERVICE STILL AN IDEAL
 Success and happiness are not based solely on the amount of wealth individuals may be able to acquire. Real worth attaches itself to men and women whose production shows quality and quantity of service. The same are happy and content when their service is good. The Washington social circles had this alone could not and should not have been her contented. Wealth is a social prestige which has well in the life of the many other young folks, has not been the goal.—D. H.

 THE UNIVERSAL CAR
ANNOUNCEMENT
 of interest to Millions of Families
"I will build a car for the multitude"
 Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan
 For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.
 During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.
 And now the way is open.
 Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.
 Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters, each doing a little.
 Why not start today? Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.
 The State Bank of Wayne will accept deposit on the above plan.

For Wayne Monument Works. Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Mitchell returned Sunday morning from St. Cloud, Minn., where they had gone to purchase granite for the Wayne Monument Works here. While there, they visited the granite quarries and were surprised at the work and cost required in getting the stone. There are three grades of granite, the kind suitable for monuments being very hard to obtain. The second grade is used for building purposes, the third is a waste product called 'granit' and can be used for nothing. The city of St. Cloud is 13,000 in population and is engaged chiefly in quarrying and preparation of granite. This is the only kind of stone found there and is in two colors, red and gray. A state normal and the state reformatory are located in St. Cloud. A million dollar hospital for disabled soldiers is being built. The town depends almost entirely on the granite works for employment.
While in St. Cloud Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were entertained by two of the largest quarrying companies.

Consumers' Co-operation (Lincoln Journal)

When President Wilson was elected in 1912 the "big issue" was a burning issue. The question which President Harding made the subject of his Idaho Falls speech was the subject of inquiry by the Wilson administration. A result of the inquiry was a report on the operations of the co-operative societies of Europe with respect to their effect on the cost of living. The advice then given to consumers was the same. If you think the middlemen are charging too much for their service, form cooperative societies and be your own middle man. Since 1912 there has been a growth, but very slow, of this sort of enterprise. In several European countries, notably in Great Britain, consumer's cooperative societies have become a powerful factor in the distribution of goods. These societies have even entered with success into manufacturing for themselves. The net result is no such marked growth and no such unqualified success of the movement in this country.

President Harding suggests legislation to encourage the movement. In Nebraska the laws already give every encouragement to co-operative enterprises. The new constitution includes changes needed for the promotion of cooperative business. Any group of Nebraska people is at once authorized to acquire a store of its own, and this has been done in many cases. But what has been done has been done by farmers. The city of Lincoln now contains no cooperative store.

The cooperative method is economically and socially sound. It is the "just" way of doing things. It is just why it is no more popular. When the high cost of living presses, it is not the American way to spend less. It is the American way to get more. The American prefers superior service offered by the private store, even though that be expensive. The cooperative store involves responsibility and trouble. We insist, accordingly, on having our lowest cost of living handed down to us if we must be helped through the less safe and less sound method of politics—a municipal coal yard. For instance, because the Lincoln temperament and habit are so, the president's proposed consumer's cooperation, while the safe and sound way to do things, is not likely to play a great part in the wearing of the immediate future with the "h. c. l."

Special Election at Magnet

Randolph Times: Our neighboring town of Magnet has a rather peculiar situation on their school board just now, but one that will admit of being straightened out by another election. At the regular June school meeting the patrons of the district elected two members to the board, viz James Ward and Arthur Rantickson. After their election each had a reason for not qualifying, this situation leaving the matter just where it was before the election, and Mr. Hedstrom as the sole member of the board. It has not been two members they might have appointed someone to fill the vacancy, but it hardly seemed the thing for one man to appoint members to fill two vacancies.

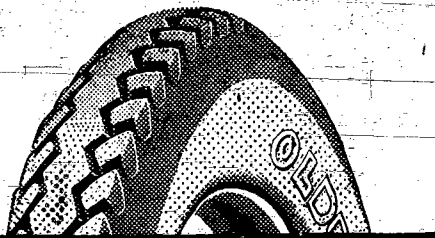

The matter will be nicely ironed out by a special election to bring the board up to its full quota of members. The Magnet school is putting in 12th grade work we understand and has a good corps of teachers engaged.

Ton of Fish Seined

Nalgh, Neb., July 6.—Current reports have it that a party of anglers recently took more than a ton of fish from what is known as McKinley slough, west of this city, overnight recently. The fish were largely carp and buffalo but among them, according to reports were a large number of bass and croppie. The person who has the fish has been at the head of the gang has been for a long time under suspicion of engaging in this work. The fish it is claimed were sold in neighborhoods.

Some consideration is being made of the plan to substitute a motor car system between Madison and Norfolk in place of the train. The plan would be to give better passenger service. The objections to the idea are that the motor probably could not make the grade near Humphrey and could not haul all of the express between the towns. Madison alone shipped 125 cans of cream one day last week and a motor could not care for this. The change has not yet been decided upon.

WAYNE County Fair

September 11 to 14

An Explanation to the Public

Most of us have known that a Fair Association has been formed to promote a County Fair in and for Wayne County, and have taken it for granted that the work was being carried on successfully. The officers and directors feel that at this time a full explanation of the work should be made to our Wayne county people that all may be more conversant with the details of a work which so vitally affects each and every one of us.

What Has Already Been Accomplished

The Wayne County Fair and Agricultural Association has been duly incorporated, under the laws of the state of Nebraska, with a capital stock of $25,000, consisting of 500 shares of stock at $50 per share.

The personnel of this organization consists of officers and directors to the number of thirteen, all chosen as representative men and citizens from their respective localities over the county.

This organization has bought thirty-one acres of land for fair ground purposes. The land lies directly west of the city limits of Wayne and is just three quarters of a mile west of Third and Main street. A more desirable tract of ground could not have been purchased. It is entirely surrounded by ash and walnut hardwood trees twenty-five years old. The main entrance to the grounds is located on the north side of the G. H. Highway just east of the buildings on the Ben McEachen farm. This tract of land cost $11,000 and of this amount $6,000 has already been paid and the balance is to be carried until 1928 at 5 per cent. The title to this ground has been guaranteed absolutely valid.

The grounds have been surveyed by engineers from the State Extension Service and the race track and all building sites have been staked out and made ready for building operations. City water mains are at present being laid to the grounds, and the electric service will also be furnished from the city plant. Of the capital stock of $25,000 approximately 200 shares of stock at $50 per share have already been pledged.

The plans and specifications for the buildings are now in the hands of the contractors.

An Appeal to Every Land Owner, Farmer and Business Man in Wayne County

We are each and every one of us in Wayne county, whether we be farmers or business men of the different towns, vitally interested in the agricultural welfare of our county for we are all absolutely dependent upon that agriculture for a living. We can say without much fear of contradiction that there isn't a better county in the State of Nebraska. All well and good and easy to say, but we all may down deep in our hearts know that no successful business enterprise stands still. Either it goes forward or it goes the other way. So with our county, the best business asset any of us have. We can't be content to rest on our laurels and say we have the best unless we make it the best. Some of us may say that we can't see the benefit to us of a county fair. It may not be apparent, but each and every one of us receives a benefit from any move that promotes better agriculture, that sponsors a move for improved live stock and that fosters a greater interest in our agricultural condition as a whole. Remember we are not a people, in this county, gaining our livelihood from manufacturing and like enterprises. We are not supported by a pay roll, but we are people of the soil, dependent upon that soil and we profit and prosper or suffer and fail directly as does our agriculture.

Let us get behind this Fair board and put this proposition across. Our sense of loyalty alone ought to help us do this. Wayne county people never fail on worthwhile things.

MR. FARMER, a fair helps keep the interest of the boys—think ahead.

MR. BUSINESS MAN—you can't afford not to bear your share of the burden for your business depends on the agricultural welfare of your community.

What the Fair Association Proposes to Do

We have already told you that 200 shares at $50 per share have been pledged. Most of you men have never been solicited for a pledge. It is absolutely necessary that in order to carry this proposition to a successful conclusion that each man in our county be personally solicited.

The Kiwanis club of Wayne, has generously volunteered its services for an intensive campaign of solicitation and a committee of these men working with a committee to be appointed by the Fair board, in each precinct, will call on you asking you to pledge a share or more of stock to aid in carrying forward the county fair program as outlined. This will be done next week.

The Goal is 200 Shares. Help Them Reach it. This is not Any One Community or Any One Man Fair. This Fair is Your Fair. Let's Put it Over.

Following is a List of Your Neighbors Who are Stockholders. Join Them!

Fire Does Damage
in Wisner Tuesday

Wisner, Neb., July 10.—Fire, which broke out in the West Dryers building here about 2 o'clock this morning did damage estimated to be $50,000. It is a time threatened an entire city block and more than an hour of hard work
the fire fighters finally brought the blaze under control and saved their spreading to adjoining buildings. The building is a two story brick structure located on the main business section of the town. The fact that the building was of brick construction and that Wisner has an excellent water supply, enabling the firemen to cut the flames off soberly saved the entire block from being destroyed. Three streams of water at high pressure were kept on the flames from all sides and from the roof, through which an opening had been chopped.

The main part of the upstairs
of the building where the greatest damage was done. The flames were first discovered about 10 o'clock
Monday and it was in this part
of the building where the greatest damage was done. The flames were
first discovered about 10 o'clock
Monday and it was in this part
of the building where the greatest damage was done.

The flames through hard work were confined to the building. The damage was caused mostly by smoke and water. The doctors' office equipment, instruments and other supplies suffered complete loss, which is amount to $4,000. They carried no insurance.

Small damage by water and smoke
was also done to the Heuser photographic studio, which is on the same floor.

Damage to the building will approximate $4,000, which is covered by insurance.

The first floor of the building is occupied by the West Brothers' garage. The garage was not damaged because there were stored there were slightly damaged by water.

The fire was discovered by Night-watchman W. A. Koenig, who called Operator Koch of the ice plant.

Great crowds assembled to watch the firemen fight the blaze, farmers from as far as two miles in the country being attracted by the fire alarm.

The cause of the fire has not been determined.

Stout City Journal: Although that decide a part of the whole year, midwinter has been reached in Wisner.
It can be said that activity continues in all lines. In some directions it is more than slightly in decline, but in others it is showing a momentum, but there is nothing more than might have been expected and was due to the season. Two slack periods during the year are usually always noticeable, but immediately following the holidays and that of mid-winter. It was observed last fall that the reserve with Federal Reserve Bank was not developed as expected. And the falling off in mid-summer activity this year is less than that of last year. It is probably that in a pre-presidential year there will be any slowing up of industry. The momentum gained during the summer months will be enough to carry the reconstruction through another year, and by that time, unless the deflation warned against, development of the economic situation ought to be well in hand.

Lincoln Hotel Man Is Out With Facts

"Tallie made me feel like a brand new man, and I never miss a chance to praise it," recently declared Harry E. Baldrige, 230 N. 11th St., Lincoln, Neb., popular clerk in the Windsor Hotel. "For a year or more I had been losing ground so fast it worried me. I lost my appetite and after meals gas formed on my stomach in such quantities as to cause my heart to palpitate terribly. I was so nervous I couldn't half sleep and in the morning would feel no pleasure in the day was ruined for me. Headaches and biliousness finished putting me where I was always miserable. Tallie gave me no less than ten pounds in weight and gave me the energy of a college athlete. All my troubles are gone entirely and I eat and sleep fine. Whenever I feel right I always advise Tallie. It's a safe and sure treatment every time."

Visitor Tells About Russian Conditions

Rev. and Mrs. Wagner and three children of Lincoln, were here from Tuesday until Friday visiting at the George Walker home. Rev. Mr. Wagner is an uncle of George Walker and Henry Walker. Mr. Wagner is pastor of the Russian Lutheran church in Lincoln and just about three months ago returned from a visit in Russia. He was sent by the state relief commission to help the people in the Volga valley of that country.

Mr. Wagner spent about five months last fall in the relief work among the Russians who were starving in the Volga valley and he describes the conditions there at that time as appalling because of lack of food and clothing. The American relief administration in Russia has enabled the people to have food, but as yet the clothing is scarce. Clothes could not be sent into the country for a while because of the railroads being used exclusively to transport food. Railroad service in Russia has been tied up to the extent that only necessities could be transported. This condition is now improving.

Mr. Wagner found George Walker's parents on the verge of starvation when he reached Russia and if the relief had not come when it did they would have died in a couple of days, it was thought. The parents are still living in Russia on their little plot of fertile land in the Volga valley and are hoping some day to come to America. Money for their trip here has been placed in the bank of England so that if they desire they may come later. Mrs. George Walker's parents were found to have died from illness caused by lack of food. The people of the Volga district, states Mr. Walker, now have plenty to eat.

George Walker and other relatives at one time sent $100 to relatives in Russia thinking this would help them get food. The money bought millions of rubles and made them the richest people in the valley, but all this money could not buy any food. The relief administration parcelled the rubles out and thus gave to all who needed it rather than let the people buy it.

Randolph Boy Injured.
Randolph, Neb., July 6—Edwin Denman, 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. U. P. Denman, was seriously burned here Saturday in a fire at the Denman home. The lad started the blaze in the cobs in the basement of the house. A can of furniture polish exploded, and the resultant flame caught the boy on the back and arms. While not deep, the burns are of a very serious nature. The blaze was soon extinguished and no damage was done to the house. The fire lad gave no reason for his starting the fire.

What We Call Oil Service

Do you know that you can step into our warehouse and pick out your oil in any quantity and have it delivered the day you need it? Doesn't this beat the old-time method of ordering your oil waiting for the freight and then getting busy and having storage charges pile up against it?

We will not knowingly sell a cheap oil, although our prices on Tractor, Steam Cylinder and Machine Oil are right.

Call us up and we will deliver any of the above if you are too busy to come in and it will work to your entire satisfaction or we will replace it with oil that does work or refund your purchase price. Monogram oils and gasoline for other motors or tractors are the most economical products that you can buy.

The church is a sanctuary of the spirit; a friendly home; a training school for Christian character; a center of helpful service; a force for right when it prevails; a power for God throughout the world; and an unending spring of inner refreshment and strength, free to all who come.

Will you miss the chance to refresh your soul, and naturally be able to refresh the souls of others?—Staying away from church Sundays?

Is not a church that answers the above description worth attending?—Does not the faith you prove this statement to be true?
