Authority to Erect Sign for Public Information.

At the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, a committee, composed of C. E. Forbes, A. E. Davis, D. E. Brainard and E. J. Hunter, and representing the Kiwanis club of Wayne and the Greater Wayne club, presented the matter of properly supporting the sunshine highway which it is proposed to bring through this city. The importance of being on the line of this nationally known highway was pointed out to the council. It was explained that the Sunshine highway now extends from Sioux City to Brandon, Canada, a distance of 730 miles, and that it is one of the best marked and best advertised highways in the country. It was shown that thousands of people who travel by other routes, would come to Wayne if the proper extension were made. The suggested aid seemed to meet the approval of members of the council, but action was postponed until the next meeting.

The council passed a resolution authorizing the Greater Wayne club to purchase land in various ways and dispose of it to other towns.

The usual bills were allowed by the council.

The Wayne high school football team went to Lyons last Friday and lost in a hard-fought game by a score of 19 to 0. A committee will report at the next meeting the budgeted plan of capital for the club so that money will be on hand for civic improvement plans undertaken by the members.

The Greater Wayne club went on record as favoring cooperation with the council and park board in improving the town and city. Mr. Hill explained that grading and drainage of the present park on south Main street was needed and it was thought best to have this done at once.

The matter of placing the remainder of the road markers painted last spring was taken up and it was decided to repaint the markers repainted in darker color and that most of these signs be placed within a radius of thirty-five miles.

The membership drive for the club will be pushed this week by V. A. Senter and his committee.

Local Trade Given Important Stimulus

Wayne's experience has justified the belief that October would bring greatly increased trade activity. Last Saturday witnessed a strong stimulus to the local trade. People came long distances, and they bought liberally. The effort to extend trade territory and multiply the number of regular patrons of the town seems to have made large headway.

Next Saturday the Judson furniture store in this town, which has furnished new quarters, will have grand opening. People are invited to inspect the new store and its new line of furniture and incidentally share in the gift of useful souvenirs. The Wayne Grocery and Meat Market will serve cookies and coffee next Saturday and distribute the souvenirs which did not arrive in time to give out last Saturday.

Other local retailers are putting forth utmost effort to satisfy the public and increase the town's patrons.

HIRED MAN WANTED IN FORGERY CASE

Jim Kelly is charged with Signing Name of W. E. Roggenbach to Three Checks.

HIS WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN

Cashes Checks Aggregating $40 in Plymouth and Winona. Then
Leaves in Buick Car.

A man named Jim Kelly who worked on the farm of W. E. Roggenbach, near Altona, is wanted to answer a complaint charging him with forging the name of W. E. Roggenbach to three checks, aggregating $40. The checks were cashed at Winser and Plycor. Local authorities contend that they are certain that the checks were cashed and that therefore the case should receive the attention of Lansing county.

Mr. Roggenbach says Kelly came from Iowa and entered his employment about three months ago. On September 10, he was given a check for $15 to return to the farm and accompany Mr. Roggenbach to Wayne. Kelly did not show up again. Roggenbach says he has cancelled the checks October 1 and that three of the lot had not been given him. One for $10 had been issued during the week. People were others for $15 each on September 22, when when Kelly decided to evaporate.

Kelly is described as a man 31 years old, five feet and eight inches tall and weighing 160 pounds. He drove a Buick car.

Waltona Rugs

Waltona Rugs out-weigh and for that reason will out-wear the ordinary rugs of this character. Then, too, they are made on a wool base instead of a cotton base. This makes the Waltona Rugs more soft and pliable than other rugs, and they will lie flat on the floor without being sucked down. The patterns are printed or stamped more deeply which means that the patterns will not wear off so readily. Let us show you the Waltona line. Alumni Club Elects Officers For Year

Miss Gladys Kline presided at the meeting of the Alumni club at the State Normal, held last Thursday evening in the calisthenaeum. About sixteen were present and officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Marie Miller; vice president, Miss Mabel Britell; and secretary-treasurer, Miss Glennie Bacon. The executive committee chosen includes Miss Ida Jepp; Miss Ruth Pearson and Eric Getting. The officers and the executive committee have charge of the club.

Miss Clara Smothers reported that judges had decided upon Prof. Leon F. Beery's music for the "Alma Mater, Slately Mother," the school song written by Miss Tullie Fay Self-armor, as the best fitting key-wards and the most "singable." The club gives a prize of $25 for this music. The compositions submitted were judged by instructors of music in the University of Ohio at Athens, Miss Edith Beechel, Miss Smothers and Julius Young, the committee in charge of the song campaign, were given a vote of thanks for their services.

No other business of importance was transacted and the members adjourned.

The club was organized two years ago as a school service committee which also acts as an auxiliary to the Alumni association and provides social gatherings for resident alumni.

Would Trade Farm For One Chicken

Norfolk Daily News, Oct. 6: If a Nebraska farmer were asked to trade his farm for a chicken, he probably wouldn't even be considered a clever joke, and yet that very thing happened in Germany, according to Miss Theana Moninger of Wittenberg, Germany, who arrived this week to visit with Mrs. Joseph Zimmerer. The old hen, she says, brought four million marks.

All of the money which her parents had saved in twenty-nine years will not pay for a loaf of bread now, she says. An aunt, who was formerly well to do, but all of her money into government bonds and now, at the age of 65 years, has to go to work by the day. She only has milk once a year, on Easter and Christmas.

The laboring man, according to Miss Moninger, does not wish to be paid in money, but prefers grain or eggs, bread or butter. Instead of carrying a purse of marks, one can slip an egg or potato into one's pocket and exchange it for a haircut. A spendthrift, even, would probably be dissatisfied if he, of necessity, had to spend all of his money as soon as he secured it, but the residents of that country are so hard that they must spend their money immediately, or run the risk of the value dropping. Even though one does not need an implement or article of clothing or piece of furniture, it is better to buy it and store it, exchanging it in a few days, perhaps, at double money, than to save the mark, she says.

Stores do not run altogether on an hour basis, for the merchants close the doors when they hear that the prices are going up.

Waltona Rugs

Waltona Rugs out-weigh and for that reason will out-wear the ordinary rugs of this character. Then, too, they are made on a wool base instead of a cotton base. This makes the Waltona Rugs more soft and pliable than other rugs, and they will lie flat on the floor without being tacked down. The patterns are printed or stamped more deeply which means that the patterns will not wear off so readily. Let us show you the Waltona line. We have a great variety of patterns, and in the following sizes:

Alumni Club Elects Officers For Year

Miss Gladys Kline presided at the meeting of the Alumni club at the State Normal, held last Thursday evening in the caltheuncheon. About sixty were present and officers were elected for the ensuing year—President, Merle Miller; vice president, Miss Mabel Britell; and secretary-treasurer, Miss Glenn Bacon.

The executive committee chosen includes Miss Ida Jeap, Miss Ruth Pearson and Eric Oetting. The officers and the executive committee have charge of the club.

Miss Clara Smothers reported that judges had decided upon Prof. Leon F. Beery's music for the "Gonna Mater, Stately Mother," the school song written by Miss Tillie Fay Self-ermer, as the best fitting for the words and the most "singable." The club gives a prize of $25 for this music. The compositions submitted were judged by instructors of music in the University of Ohio at Athens. Miss Edith Beechel, Miss Smothers and Julius Young, the committee in charge of the song campaign, were given a vote of thanks for their services.

No other business of importance was transacted and the members adjourned.

Members in the alumni club are graduates of the school who are residents of Wayne at the present time, students of the school during the current year who have previously completed two years' work above high school in any college or normal school, and officers of Alumni association. The club was organized two years ago as a school service committee which also acts as an auxiliary to the Alumni association and provides social gatherings for resident alumni.

Would Trade Farm For One Chicken

Norfolk Daily News, Oct. 6: If a Nebraska farmer were asked to trade his farm for a chicken the proposal would not even be considered a clever joke, and yet that very thing happened in Germany, according to Miss Theresa Monninger of Wittenberg, Germany, who arrives this week to visit with Mrs. Joseph Zimmerman. The old hen, she says, brought four million marks.

All of the money which her parents had saved in twenty-nine years will not pay for a loaf of bread now, she says. An aunt, who was formerly well to do, put all of her money into government bonds and now, at the age of 65 years, has to go to work by the day. She only has milk twice a year, on Easter and Christmas. The laboring man, according to Miss Monninger, does not wish to be paid in money, but prefers grain or eggs, bread or butter.

Instead of carrying a purse of marks, one can slip an egg or potato into one's pocket and exchange it for a haircut. A spendthrift, even, would probably be dissatisfied if he, of necessity, had to spend all of his money as soon as he secured it, but the residents of that country have learned that they must spend their money immediately, or run the risk of the value dropping. Even though one does not need an implement, article of clothing or piece of furniture, it is better to buy it and store it, exchanging it in a few days, perhaps, at double money, than to save the mark, she says.

Stores do not run altogether on an hour basis, for the merchants close the doors when they hear that the prices are going up.

A little humor is being started for Governor Charley Bryan for the democratic nomination for the presidency. It is likely the governor will not be re-elected and he fully measures up to the requirements of the office.

If a man makes no mistakes, he is so slow and exact that he takes him forever to arrive. If he makes an uninterrupted series of blunders, he is not so slow and exact that he takes him forever to arrive. It is not so difficult in avoiding the first classification, and so hard to escape the latter.

A family, advertised to leave town, was regaled and sufficed with farewell parties. Gifts were bestowed and speeches of praise and regret were made. Then members of the family suddenly decided that in view of such wholesale evidence of feeling, they would not go. This experience taught the community not to overdo the farewell business.

In addressing the federal grand jury at Tulsa, Oklahoma, Judge Robert L. Walton denounced both the governor on the one hand and the people on the other as "trampling the law under foot." In such conspicuous position, fastening guilt on both factions in conflict, the judge depicts the mind of nearly every on-looker American.

The picture at the local theatre last week showing the manner of living of the Eskimos made one man in his own corners in contrast. The fight for mere existence among people in the far north should make one wake up to the superior advantages of modern American civilization. It should inspire one's highest gratitude and best endeavor.

Colombus arrived 481 years ago tomorrow, and he had a tough time of it getting here, according to a history of his experiences. He did not realize what he was getting into nor what he was starting when he introduced this continent to immigration. He opened the way to development of the greatest nation in the world, and will all take it out of its life to his memory tomorrow.

The importance of newspaper advertising to trade was demonstrated in New York during September when a pressmen's strike made it impossible to handle the usual department store publicity. Decrease in volume of sales is said to have reached large proportions. The press, said a big department store official, "is so important an instrumentality for conveying information from the producer to the public that it cannot be interrupted without loss." People look to their newspaper for buying information, and if they don't find it, they buy less, often stinging their needs, and they get angry and demand things which comfort or convenience demands. The newspaper is indispensable in bringing seller and buyer together, and in advertising supported by personal effort, right qualities, fair prices and a square deal, is a reasonable assurance of success.

It is unfortunate that more people cannot practice moderation consistent with sound sense and best health. Down in Alabama the "blue laws" have been made so strict that vinegar is not permitted to work on the Sabbath. The whole man have their usual Sunday recreation, and melancholy calm is so great that people feel terribly oppressed and approved and must, the gates of hell, in many parts, people yield to wild and hurtful disposition on the Sabbath and on every other day of the week. The whole middle ground, neither assuaging official standards on the one hand nor doing violence to harmless liberty on the other, is the best. More people should seek and follow. One extreme often invites the opposite, whereas moderation insures happy conscience and a high and spiritual, resting evil without surrendering to narrow and unreasonable bigotry.

Banker Accidentally Shot. Valentine, Neb., Oct. 8.—W. S. Jackson, president of the Farmers National bank here and a business man of western fame, was found shot to death in his garage here today. He evidently had shot himself accidentally while working on an automobile shotgun from his automobile.

Mr. Jackson was shot when his shotgun, which he had just discharged as he opened the door of his enclosed car, or else he was drawing it from the car by the handle, discharged and struck the heart and death was instantaneous.

Mr. Jackson's body was found in his garage, and the cause of death was heard. He had backed his car out of the garage and then ran it again. He had taken out the shotgun and was getting ready to clean the gun as his oil can, cleaning rod and rags were lying on the running board of the car. The charge exploded just below the heart. Mr. Jackson had returned last night from a hunting trip.

He leaves a wife and other relatives here, and a brother, Dr. C. R. Jackson and Dr. J. D. Jackson at Indianapolis, Ind., and sisters and relatives at Rockford, Ill., and Peoria, Ill. His brother-in-law, Mr. Valentine is his brother-in-law. Mr. Jackson was 54 years old. Funeral arrangements have not been made, but the funeral will be held at Peconicon, Ill., for burial.

Inside of the Farm Situation.

(Omaha Bee.) There are two reasons why—the farmer is tender on the question of farm mortgages.

Even though there were not hundreds of thousands of farmers blindly competing in the market, the long history of the farmer's operations introduced elements of risk into his business that are not present in most other industries. At any one manufacturer or a miner may, though not without limit, his production; but when the farmer plants or sows he is committed to a program to be ended only a year or more hence, and he has no stock, the productive period between breeding and marketing is still longer—for cattle, three or more years; for hogs, two or more years; for grain, one year. The period in any enterprise, the greater the risk of overproduction.

Another important factor, not always living in the farmer's mind, is that the demand for his products is subject to serious depression is found in the character of the demand for farm products. The demand for these, in the terminology of the economists, is said to be inelastic; that is, consumption is not much affected by changes in price. In the case of most manufactured products, even a slight increase in price increases the amount people will buy, and this tends to check any further fall in price. But not so with the farmer's products. Even though the prices should fall sharply, the reduction must be very marked in order to cause the noticeable increase in the amount people will use. This economic law is generally true of goods that are regarded as necessities. The farmer has, therefore, a rather unusual reason for fearing overproduction.

To be sure, this same inelasticity of the demand for his goods is an advantage to him in time of scarcity. For prices may go very high without curtailing consumption. It is his advantage, however, that the farmer's advantage in the past century is short-lived one because of the ease with which production could be increased by the farmer. When prices are high, therefore, are soon coming on the market in profusion. Consumption remains about the same. Prices fall, and the farmer finds it impossible to check production, once the area of cultivation has been enlarged. That increased productive power is the very element, and unfortunately, agricultural depression are likely therefore to continue for a considerable period.

What the wheat farmer needs now is better support for his goods. None of the high sounding schemes pushed by the federal investigators of the prospective slight of tariff increases now ignored, could give the prompt aid necessary.

Iowa Corn Crop.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 10.—A corn crop of 426,986,000 bushels, 29,000,000 less than last year was forecast by Iowa by the federal bureau of agricultural economics here today on the basis of 90 per cent condition October 1.

This forecast indicates a yield of 41 bushels per acre, while the condition of the crop is well above the 10 per cent average of 84 per cent. The bureau declares 75 per cent of the corn crop was safe from killing frost on October 1, as compared with 94 per cent at the same time last year.

Estimates of the bureau's correspondents on September 1 had indicated that 75 per cent would be safe after September 30.

Nebraska's Crops.

Omaha, Neb.: Nebraska's 1923 wheat crop will total 423,000 bushels, according to the October estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture statistical bureau.

This news, received by grain men in Omaha yesterday, was accepted as one of the best prosperity notes that could be conveyed to the Nebraska farmer. It had diversified his crops and cut down his wheat acreage in the face of revivified wheat raising in Europe following his war. The estimator, crop, sold on the Chicago market, minus the freight, under present conditions, would place more than $12,000,000 in the pockets of the Nebraska farmers, according to estimates made in Omaha.

If the market for corn continues to be bolstered up by the war, the corn can be held until next summer, it can be sold for many millions more at that time.

However, grain men believe this can only be accomplished by increased production of livestock and feeding and fattening the stock during the winter, thus decreasing the amount of corn on hand.

The good prices promised for corn and the consequent prosperity of the farmer with good corn production is hailed here as a triumph for the farmer who "didn't put all his eggs in one basket," and instead diversified his farming by raising livestock to realize a good price on wheat doesn't necessarily put his year's work in the loss column.

No Municipal Coal Yard.

Hastings, Neb., Oct. 10.—The city council has tabled for the time being the proposal for a municipal coal yard. A special committee appointed to investigate the local situation reported that Hastings consumers were being charged $2.00 per ton for coal, and that a municipal coal yard could not be established without a bond issue for at least $25,000. The date of the bond issue has been placed in place for later consideration if the demand for a municipal coal yard is renewed.

Woodbury News Peaches.

Correctionville News: We have on our desk at this time a bunch of Iowa grown peaches which would be hard to beat in any climate of location. They came from the orchard of W. N. Hatfield, west of town; anyone would have to go some 200 miles to get better peaches. The originally contained eight peaches on the one twig, which is in fact, about as thick as they could possibly grow.

May Lose Hand.

Plainville, Neb., Oct. 10.—Fred Vlasov, who has been a resident of Plainville, may lose his hand as a result of blood poisoning. He was helping vaccinate some hogs when the rope which he was holding was drawn through his hand, cutting a deep gash in his thumb and finger. In a thoughtless manner a stick, which he was using for vaccination, was used to rub iodine on his thumb and finger, and in a few days infection revealed itself as his hand began to swell and turn black.

Golf Club in Albion.

Albion, Neb., Oct. 10.—The Albion Golf club perfected its organization at a meeting of its members last night. F. S. Thompson was chosen as president; A. Doll, vice president; E. C. Roberts, secretary; Robert Futre, treasurer. The board of directors in addition to the officers are: A. W. Lamb, W. Martin and J. L. Ladd. They already have a membership of about fifty. Work on the grounds is progressing and it will soon be ready for use.

Northwest Nebraska Crops.

Plainville, Neb., Oct. 10.—A tour through northwestern Nebraska shows that in almost every instance the corn is thoroughly ripe, even in the very latest, which it was feared would be delayed by the frost. The farmers are beginning to husk what they say is one of the largest yields they have had in Nebraska for several years.

Kansas City Star: Democratic senators who recently have visited Nebraska are ordinarily silent on the league of nations is a good thing—to let alone.

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS.

Wayne, Nebraska, October 2nd, 1923.

Board met in regular session. All members present. Minutes of meeting held September 18th, 1923, read and approved. The following claims are on motion audited and allowed and warrants ordered thereon on the respective funds as herein shown. Warrants to be available October 13th, 1923.

Warm Water in Winter for Hogs, without Heaters; the Problem has been Solved

Everyone knows that hogs must have warm water—or at least water that is not ice cold, in the winter time, if they are to thrive. Hogs are like humans in one respect—They must drink plenty of water if they are to thrive and get full value from their feed.

No Heaters to Fuss With

Before the Dempster Self-Heating Hog Waterer was invented, the only way to keep hogs supplied with warm water outdoors during the winter was by banks heated by lamps or heaters. This was fairly satisfactory, but caused a lot of trouble in keeping the lamps filled and burning, and meant a constant expense for oil.

No Oil to Buy

But with this new Dempster Self-Heating Hog Waterer, there is nothing to fuss with and no oil to buy. You simply install it with the water bowl in a convenient place for hogs to drink. The remainder of the waterer is covered with about four feet of live manure.

Every farmer who raises hogs should have one or more of these Dempster Self-Heating Hog Waterers. It will save its cost within one year, besides saving an enormous amount of trouble. After it is installed, there is nothing to do except change the manure every 30 to 60 days during the winter, depending on its condition. It operates automatically—keeps just the right amount of water in the bowl at all times and keeps it warm.

Let us show you this waterer and prove what it will do for your hogs.

What the Farmers say:

Stewart Harrington, Proprietor of Whitecrest Stock Farm, Harvard, Nebraska, says: "I purchased a Dempster Self-Heating Hog Waterer in January of this year and liked it so well that I bought another one in February. They have been very satisfactory. Glad to recommend it to any one who needs one."

Harvey Essam, Beatrice, Nebraska, wrote: "I am well pleased with your new Hog Waterer and don't see how any water heater could work more successful than it. This morning it was 5 degrees below zero and the water in the watering fountain was about the temperature it would be if pumped fresh from the well. This is a good practical waterer, as there is no danger of fire, as in the case of lamps, or other fuel heaters."

Harry A. Frank, Harvard, Nebraska, wrote: "I have had one of your hog waterers since last December. It gives good service both summer and winter."

Corn Crop is Safely Out of Way of Frost

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 8.—About 90 per cent of Nebraska's corn crop was matured beyond danger from frost by the end of September, reports indicate—a large hay crop of poor quality, a fair potato crop of poor quality, and good cotton in the state are ideal. This is the summary of a report made public today by A. E. Anderson, head of the United States bureau of crop and livestock estimates.

The report states that the remainder of the corn crop will have matured enough by Oct. 10 to withstand a heavy frost, adding that western Nebraska has the largest corn crop on record and it has practically all matured. The only section of the state reporting a crop from drought are a strip extending from Nuckelto Butler county and a small area about the center of the state, the report declares.

Soil Conditions Good.

The remainder of Mr. Anderson's report follows in part:

"Soil conditions have seldom been better for seedling winter wheat. This may result in a larger acreage of wheat than planned, particularly in western Nebraska where wheat is often drilled in the corn fields. A second inquiry on winter wheat yielded facts exactly the same average, 16.5 bushels, as given in the August preliminary report. Spring wheat returns were lower than previous estimates.

"Returns from grain dealers sub-stantiated previous reports on other grain crops, all of which were large. The quality of the oats crop was im-paired by rains while in the stock-ple to lower quality, commensurate with the price, and shortage of other grain food. Most of the oats are being fed to live stock.

Hay Crop is Poor.

"The hay crop is large but of rather poor quality due to both delay in harvest and rain during har-vest. The United States hay crop is the largest in the world. Pastures are exceptionally good for this time of the year, and were far above the average throughout the summer season.

"Yields of the late commercial po-tato crop, particularly the early Ohio variety, are considerably below pre-vious years. The price is low, and is also very poor. Red Triumps are generally yielding better and of much better quality this year.

"The average of August beet has started. The acreage is above that of last year, but the production may not exceed last year, due to thin stands. Apples are being picked and the crop far below last year. Heavy frosts for cereal crops are being hastened.

From Other Editors.

York Republican: It is a fact worthy of note that savings accounts are growing with such number that they constitute one of the big assets of the American people. We saw it stated that one out of every ten citi-zens now has a savings account. Here is a nucleus not only for a bet-ter property but an assurance that the American people profited by the experiences of the war period and have come to a realization of the importance and necessity of keeping financial sanity and a little on hand for the eventual emergency.

Friend Sentinel: Monday we learned that the coal dealers of Friend had been robbing us for four or five years and that Charley Bryan was going to bust the trust here. This made us awfully mad and we started out to collect damages from the dealers of whom we had purchased coal. We managed to get to two of them before dark and they handed us a few figures that put the robbery story to rest. Charley Bryan's coal comes from central Illinois and costs $8 at the mine. The freight figures that we have are 14 cents per ton to get this coal to Friend, and 50 cents per ton to get it deliv-ered. That would be $8.14 per ton. We have not anything for ex-penses or shrinkage and no profit. We doubt very much if anyone here would buy this coal, as we are in-terested in getting a better grade this year, and consequently the charge is high-er than last year.

Friend and Illinois costs $4.35 per ton at the mine and is a very good coal for Illinois product. This coal has sold in Friend as low as ten and eleven dollars. The local dealers have to add all of their over-head expense to each ton, and an-nyone of average intelligence can fig-ure how little profit they make by knowing the cost as quoted here and telephoning anyone of them for the current prices. The "good old Col-orado" coal that is being sold for $14 a ton is $6 and the freight is $1.60 per ton. It costs 35 cents a ton to put it in the bin and 50 cents a ton to deliver it. The shrinkage is also estimated to be 25 cents a ton.

Wahoo Wasp: After all, those who have spent the greater part of their lives in a pennsylvanian fixed home, and who have never enjoyed more genuine happiness than any other class of people in the whole wide world. Roaming about in feverish pursuit of something better, being weary of living their greater pleasure and en-joyment, living a short time in one place, then soon in another, perhaps hundreds of miles away, is chasing a phantom, and people who have chosen this method of occupying the time in life's best years are usually the most discontented mortals to be found. Fortunately indeed are those who have never wandered away aim-lessly from that sacred shrine of hal-lowed memories, the dear old home, where ever a tree, flower and shrub planted and protected by their own hands; where every hill, low land and stream; where every appoint-ment within the home or about its premises, all of the countless things with which they have so long been intimately associated, each is an in-separable dear friend, animate and inanimate, with speech, whose lan-guage to the heart alone is known and understood.

Hartington Herald: It requires both faith and philosophy to meet the fact of death with equanimity and few people are able to do it; but death is a fact that must be rec-ognized with "Socrates" or he who trades itself upon the happy domestic scene, and it might be well if we were better prepared for its arrival. It does not want to dwell too long or morbidly upon the incident of death, but one should not be too surprised. It is our common lot.

A. L. Risky in Lincoln Journal: North Dakota reports a loss of $230,000 in the running of a state-owned flouring mill. That is the per-fectly natural consequence of atten-ting the productive industries of the country into the hands of politicians, who, as a rule, are the most selfish and least patriotic citizens of the country. Some of them are tremendous as stump orators; postmasters in sophis-tic, profane in promises, and plausi-ble in their own conceits. When it comes to doing things, it is a question of who, and not what. The general public finds itself "done" to a delicious knowl-edge.

Albion News: The average coun-try editor usually finds himself be-tween the devil and the deep blue sea. When he conducts an editorial de-partment he is looked upon by some as being spineless or lacking in lit-erary ability and if he does attempt an editorial charge there are those who will say that he is wasting good space. If he takes a partisan viewpoint he will be condemned by those who take the independent atti-tude and if he is independent of par-ty he will be criticized for not being partisan. If he advocates high moral ideas he will lose some subscribers and if his paper is lacking in moral tone, others will refuse to support him. After considering the matter from all angles we have come to the conclusion that there is but one course for the editor to pursue and that is to go ahead, endeavoring at all times to be fair in the treatment of all subjects, of whatsoever nature, being zealous of the truth, and sub-merging personal prejudices.

Boom Bryan for Presidency.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 5.—Declaring Governor Charles W. Bryan of Ne-braska, had become a national fig-ure since his occupancy of the state executive office, W. E. Quigley of Minneapolis, Minn., in a state-ment here today said a movement was under way in several states of the central west and northwest to make him a candidate for the democ-ratic presidential nomination in 1924. Mr. Quigley is a former presi-dent of Nebraska, and was connect-ed with the non-partisan league of this state in 1917, 1918 and 1919 and has been active in the farmer-labor party of Minnesota.

"Governor Bryan," Mr. Quigley said, "has strong support among the progressives of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Illi-nois and Nebraska.

"Some of the biggest men in the Minnesota farmer labor party, who have been democrats in the past, feel that Mr. Bryan is the logical man for the democrats to run. They claim him as a sane progressive who puts his theories into actual prac-tice. Witness the coal situation, wherein the price has been cut for the Nebraska farmer. These are the things that count with the average voter, and Gov. Bryan has be-come a national figure almost over night. His will, I think, become a strong compromise candidate for either first or second place on the ticket."

Business.

Sioux City Journal: Tendencies toward a more conservative treat-ment of industrial plans are devel-oping with the approach of winter. Leaders in various lines are mak-ing the effort to avoid the mistake of over production. This also ap-plies to commodity distribution. It is seen that there is now a desire to stick with goods within the boundaries of necessary require-ments. Nobody wants to carry over heavy stocks, and orders, conse-quently, are being placed with more caution. The change need not be considered ominously prophetic of an expected decline in business activity. Rather, it is a sign that general business is settling down to a calmer study of economic condi-tions, that at last, the urge is away from, instead of in the direction of, irregularity.

One of the biggest manufacturers of motor cars, whose sales for the year had been greater than ever, has just decreased his pay roll by laying off 2,500 men. That means a re-duced production, of course, and a lowering of the overhead expense. It was explained that the step was taken to avoid over production. Mar-ket demands were given attention. This was easy of accomplishment be-cause of the facility with which pro-duction could be speeded up later when conditions justified it. The same situation is observed in steel and iron manufacturing with a jara-tion. The demand for metal prod-ucts continues heavy, but the enor-mous stocks have been diminished. Many mills are now being operated to make prompt deliveries so that un-der buying has been made neces-sary. The steel manufacturers are not increasing their forces. In some cases, pay rolls have been de-creased. For the first time in years unfilled orders are not gaining on the manufacturers.

An industry that has been running to capacity for some time, due to the demands made upon it by the un-precedented building activity, that of lumber, is now expected to re-ceive a new impetus from an unex-pected, or accidental source. The Japanese disaster of fire and earth-quake and the determination to re-build prompt deliveries so that un-der buying has been made neces-sary. The steel manufacturers are not increasing their forces. In some cases, pay rolls have been de-creased. For the first time in years unfilled orders are not gaining on the manufacturers.

appreciation of the fact that build-ing here has been carried so far that the Japanese demand for lumber will not prove embarrassing to do-mestic construction.

The middle west is somewhat cheered by the higher prices for corn and an advance in wheat. Also most observers of agricultural con-ditions find it possible to appreciate the apparent lack of official de-termination to intercede, with ef-forts made to put through legisla-tion designed to cure all the ills from which the farmers have been suffer-ing. The national administration is studying the situation carefully, but it has not indicated that it was impressed with the need of governmental interference on a large scale.

The rumor that petroleum prod-ucts are due for an increase in price is somewhat disquieting, but it might have been expected. Reserve stocks have been diminished because of a lessened production, and it probably will work around that the law of supply and demand soon will operate to put a higher price on gasoline and other oil products. That the oil companies will risk advanc-ing the prices to what they were before the gasoline war started, however, is to be doubted.

Come! Everyone!

It was a Festival of Buying and Feasting at the Wayne Grocery and Meat Market last Saturday

People came from widely separated parts. They took advantage of the rich bargains, and they seemed to relish the coffee and sandwiches which were served. The demand for groceries was unprecedented, and the Meat Market started off with a bound. The combination of groceries and meat works wonderfully well. People appreciate the convenience of getting both at the same time, with prompt delivery, though realizing that they may order either separately if they choose to do so.

Coffee and Cookies Next Saturday

Next Saturday the Grocery and Market will serve Johnson's cookies and rich-flavored coffee free, and everybody is urged to come and be served.

The souvenirs which failed to arrive in time for last Saturday, came the first of the week and will be here next Saturday when they will be given out. All are welcome to share in these gifts.

Having become settled in our new quarters, we are better prepared than ever to give prompt service and avoid tire-some waiting. We find that the rest room is proving a source of much satisfaction to visitors. The invitation to take advantage of it is cordial and pressing.

Save your cash register receipts—they are valuable.

Exide Automobile Batteries at Lower Prices

An Announcement of Interest To Every Automobile Owner

Effective at once, the cost to you of the famous Exide Battery for your car will be materially reduced. The following comparison of old and new prices will give an idea of the extent of these reductions:

CAR	TYPE	OLD	NEW
Buick-4, Chevrolet, Cleveland, Durant-4, Essex, Ford, Gray, Maxwell, Nash-4, Oakland, Overland, Star, Studebaker, Yale and others.	6 Volt-11 plate	$21.65	$17.15
	8 Volt-13 plate	$28.70	$21.50
Auburn- Buick-6, Chandler, Durant-6, Hudson, Hupmobile, Jewett, Moon, Nash-6, Oldsmobile, Paige, Reo, Studebaker and others.	8 Volt-15 plate	$54.40	$25.75
Dodge, Franklin, Maxwell and others....	12 Volt-9 plate	$40.10	$30.00

This price reduction is made possible by a new plan of battery merchandising, involving the elimination of "free" service. Service fairly charged for is just as truly service as though it were done for nothing. Under the new plan a small battery servicing charge which is made, will make possible not only the continuance of, but an improvement in, the service we have been rendering to the automobile public.

The quality of the Exide Battery remains unchanged. It is the same as that which has brought world-wide acceptance of the Exide as the standard storage battery.

The new low prices put the Exide within reach of any car owner who wants the comfort and satisfaction of driving with the rugged, long-lived Exide Battery.

NERVOUS FEELING DUE TO GAS ON STOMACH

Pressure of gas on heart and other organs often causes a restless, nervous feeling. Simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, expels gas and relieves pressure and nervousness almost instantly. Acts on both upper and lower bowel. Adlerika removes matter you never thought was in your system which poisoned stomach, causing gas and nervousness. Excellent to guard against appendicitis. Wayne Drug Company. (11)

"Man-Woman" on Stage

Sioux City Journal: The so-called "man-woman" of Chicago, styled "Frances Freddy" Thompson, who was acquitted of murder, is now to appear on the stage. That the creature will be an attraction at the loop theatre where it will appear is a certainty. The theater manager who signed the contract with "Frances-Fred" knew that the majority of the public could be depended upon. Thousands will flock to the doors of the theater to see the man who wears skirts and curls his hair, rouging his cheeks and powdering his nose in the effort to appear like a woman. The man who has posed for years as the "wife" of another man, and who also has been legally married to a woman during part of that time, has a complex that will appeal to large numbers of persons.

"Frances-Fred" may not be to blame for his peculiarities. He admitted there were "things wrong" with him, but insisted he had not sinned anyone. He said he was "the soul of a woman" and could not help it. Truly, a creature to be pitied, to be shunned, perhaps, because of his abnormality but not that he should attract normal human beings to a theater. The public that will go to see "Frances-Fred" and the theater manager who has given it an opportunity to see him are more to blame than the so-called "man-woman." That kind of thing has been done before. Slayers and other notorious characters who were fortunate and escaped punishment have been thrust upon the stage by the public's demand and by managers who had no qualms. Such things provide a revealing index to the character of that part of the public thus attracted by bizarre offerings.

Why Did It Rain?

Sioux City Journal: The rainstorm which began in Wyoming in the middle of the week causing the submergence of a train at Plattsmouth, a distressing loss of life, has just swept across Nebraska with increasing intensity. The culmination came on Friday with a rainfall of five or six inches in all of the state and a tragedy at Louisville that seems unprecedented in the history of the state. For half a century people have lived in apparent security along the banks of the Mill creek, which drains a part of one of the fairest counties in Nebraska and flows through the village and into the Platte. In a short time this sleepy little stream became a raging torrent and blotted out a dozen lives.

Rains of from four to six inches in twenty-four hours are not common in Nebraska; yet they come often enough to show that they are among our weather possibilities. Summer is more favorable than the fall for conditions bringing on these storms. The situations producing them are so changeable and intangible that it is impossible to predict them with any accuracy. Some day we shall know why these extraordinary storms occur. For the present, the meteorologists can only chart their progress and measure their intensity after they are over.

The present storm made its appearance early in the week along the Pacific coast. It moved in the usual path of such disturbances but was held back by high barometric pressures to the north and east. When the low area reached Nebraska conditions were favorable for a brisk rain. A low area in the southeastern part of the state, which had been in the area to the north and west made a certain amount of precipitation inevitable. Had these high and low areas moved along at their usual pace a rain of an inch or two would have been followed at once by clear skies. The high pressure toward the east acted as a brake upon this movement. The low area hung over this part of the Missouri valley producing in some places a rainfall of record breaking proportions. Fortunately, but little damage has been done to crops and property.

Timely Rains. Nebraska Farmer: Had we been privileged to exchange places with Jupiter Pluvius during the present year, we doubt very much that the moisture supply for Nebraska as a whole could have been better adapted to the needs of agriculture. Timely rains throughout the growing season with a fair wind to permit proper tillage has been the general condition. This, of course, is relatively speaking; some sections have too much rain and some not enough. Compared with other years, the precipitation has been adequate and well distributed.

Now, as the season for fall planting is at hand, another generous downpour has visited the state and the land for winter wheat, so far as the moisture supply is concerned, is at least as good as for the fall pastures have been nicely revived and the state will go into winter quarters with as bright an outlook as for the forthcoming year. Probably the favorable conditions for planting will result in a larger acreage of wheat than had been anticipated, but we do not believe it will be sufficient to overcome the determination of a great many farmers to reduce their wheat acreage for next year. Kansas reports that, whereas the acreage of winter wheat in that state in 1919 was 11,000,000 acres, it will probably be not more than about 9,000,000 next year. We anticipate that the reduction in Nebraska will be between 10 and 15 per cent, compared with a reduction of 20 per cent last year over the year before.

We hope this will come to pass, for there are many crops that can be grown more profitably, year in and year out, than wheat and corn. This was abundantly proven this year, and it should encourage a further increase in diversified farming and stock raising that will make for a more permanent and profitable agriculture.

Louisville Courier-Journal: Some politicians use "birds" before the title, farmer, to throw dust in the eyes of the public. Wall Street Journal: There was less crime in the days when the prisoner or thief and not the sentence was suspended. F. P. A. in the New York World: A chicken crosses the road, if the thing has to be answered, just name a motorist test his horn.

E. W. Howe: Hanging those who do not agree with us is about the only experiment in politics we have not tried. Nashville Tennessean: Ford says he didn't try to get rich until he was 40, which was a streak of luck for Rockefeller. Arkansas Gazette: No wonder Goldilocks is so fat. Can you imagine no more miserable state than being a politician with a New England conscience.

Lincoln Journal: If you neighbor agrees with you in his opinions you delight to speak of him as "right-minded." Chicago News: With the children in school again, poor, tired mother get more time to do her telephoning.

More Heat at Less Cost

Buck's hot-blast heaters burn any fuel—even slack—and save fuel by getting the most out of the fuel. They produce more heat for less money than any other stove. A steady, even heat day and night. They feed 58 cubic feet of air to every pound of hard coal.

"Buck's" Patented Circle Draft Hot Blast Throws the heat against the body, not into the center of the stove. And Buck's patented hot blast ring drives the heat to the base, giving a heat so intense that you can bake biscuits in the ash pan. Combustion occurs in a complete circle against the fire pot, highly heating the entire radiating surface.

Perfectly Air-tight and Extraordinarily Durable Buck's heaters are perfectly air-tight and expertly fitted. They will not buckle and leak air. The fire box will not crack or burn out in years of use. The hot blast drives the heat to the base and has ample radiating surface to meet all needs. Large bailed ash pan will hold all the ashes that can be produced in 24 hours.

Gold is Hit Below the Belt.
A. L. Bixby in Lincoln Journal: This year twelve men past middle life have died while playing golf. Not that the exercise in itself is harmful, but the aggravations and disappointments connected with it are responsible for these tragic endings. Men become enraged because of their inability to "loft" the ball at the psychological moment and in an effective manner, and these brainstorms poison the sensations and paralyze the nerve centers with fatal results. Work in the garden is less disappointing and infinitely more profitable.

A higher radiator with a trim apron at its base lends dignity befitting a closed car. The higher hood and enlarged conventional curving gracefully to the dash give a stylish sweep to its body lines, and afford additional room for occupants of the front seat.

All body fittings—window regulators, door grips, door latch levers, door lock, dome light—are finished in nickel. The upholstery carries a fine dot line in its pattern. Side windows, which do not open, show light or dark—Silk window curtains to harmonize for the three car windows enhance the style of the car and add to the comfort. Mrs. Philo Graves of Pasadena, Calif., and formerly of Wakefield, died at the age of about fifty years.

Mr. Graves who was looking after business here was called to California because of her illness. Deceased leaves one daughter, besides her husband and mother who lives in Sioux City.

Some of the nominees for the county officers are: Judge, E. Hunter; county superintendent, C. H. Bright; assessor, H. C. Tuttle; clerk of the court, Otto Kohl; commissioner, Ed. Owens; sheriff, Grant Mears; treasurer, J. A. Jones; and clerk, C. S. Beebe.

From Ponca Journal, Oct. 12, 1922:
An exchange truthfully says that when suffrage comes "we shall all be astonished at the quietness and smoothness with which it comes, and in ten years everybody will wonder that anybody should have thought it a bugbear."

The soldiers' reunion at this place yesterday was a complete success.

The attendance was much larger than any ever held, the marching was done up in military style which would reflect credit to regular troops, and the band discoursed its music in strains of national airs.

The speech of Lieutenant Norris was one of the most eloquent and inspiring ever delivered in the place, and was greeted by round after round of applause, the audience being large, attentive and very enthusiastic.

The poem recited by Mr. Kent of Elk Point and the songs he sang, were met with prolonged cheers. The experience meeting was of great interest, the several anecdotes well illustrating army life.

By taking it all in all, the day was one to be remembered by all who were present, either civilian or soldier, and reflects credit upon those who have been the organizers of the same.

A. R. was organized, the proceedings of which will be given next week.

Women Make Recommendations.
Aurora, Neb., Oct. 5.—Resolutions recommending that state legislators be called upon to favor the child welfare bureau, and the Chapman-Towner maternity act, were among those accepted for presentation to the convention of the Nebraska League of Women Voters by its board of directors today.

In addition, the board endorsed for study and activity of the league and all local bodies, the aims of the national organization to get all civic organizations to help get 75 per cent of the voters to the polls at the coming presidential primary election.

Study of public welfare in government and special efforts toward world peace, were also approved.

Speaking of the operation of the Sheppard-Towner act, Miss E. Beachley of Lincoln, a nurse, said the work was being handicapped by lack of funds and that the great need was to "get it out of politics."

The great problem of state welfare work in Nebraska is lack of sufficient funds, Mrs. C. F. Harrison, Omaha, told the women voters yesterday.

Miss Edna Bolk, of Pittsboro, Colo., reported on the questionnaires sent political candidates in the last election to ascertain their attitude on civic matters, and reported the candidates had received them without resentment.

Springfield, Mass., Republican. It was to Lord Mervin, then a commoner, that a once famous quip at the expense of Theodore Roosevelt was generally credited. Morley had stayed at the White House with a special visit here. On being asked to describe Roosevelt on his return to England he was said to have answered that he was a cross between St. George and St. Vitus." Roosevelt heartily enjoyed any stories at his own expense, but this one he did not like.
