OTHER BUSINESS OF CLUB

Plan to Have Special Trade Days in the Near Future in Wayne Does Not Materialize.

The Greater Wayne club met in the library basement Monday evening and an unusually large number of members were present. The purpose of the meeting was the holding of a short course of special interest to agriculture, under the auspices of the International Harvester company, and a series of bargain days, preliminary to the coming year.

The meeting was called to order by F. J. Hiltner, president, and a record of the proceedings was kept by E. F. Hiltner, secretary.

With committees for the proposed extension was called to the record of work of putting up signs and reading names and numbers on the wall.

The speaker took advantage of a farming community, it was decided to ascertain the wishes of the farmers in the territory, and accordingly a meeting will be held in the city hall on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock to see what can be done to help the proposition.

The proposition to arrange special trade days for the future, was approved on definite action, and seemed to be in the plan.

The deficiency was made up by the sale of a large quantity of goods.

Wayne High School Loses to Stanton

It is hard fought game on the State Normal gridiron last Friday afternoon. The Wayne high school football team lost to Stanton high school with a score of 33 to 0. Although the score would indicate an unexciting game, the play was lively throughout the time. Stanton has an enviable reputation in football this year and the local men felt glad to have held their own as they did.

The Wayne team carried the ball far into foreign territory several times although they did not score. Wayne had possession of the ball a couple of times when it appeared that the visitors would have a touchdown.

The Stanton backfield was too strong for the Wayne line, who were making gains on off-tackle, smashes and passes.

Sund was the local star and made the best gains on offense and defense. He was also displayed especially good ball.

Wayne goes to Randolph this week. The local men defeated their team last week at Schowen and hope to increase the figures this week.

Next week Ponca plays here for the last game of the season. The county Red Cross nurse, Miss Laurence Skaven, has been examining pupils in the Wayne school this week.

Gerald E. Bonney, director of music at the evangelistic meetings, spoke Friday morning.

Miss Edna Weidenberg and Miss Ethel Hanson entertained the teachers at Kensington Monday evening.

The high school held a short play meeting Friday before the Stanton-Wayne football game.

The football team of the State Normal were guests of the football game in Lincoln Saturday. The men were on their way home that day from Ponca where they had been defeated by 40 to 0 in a hard game Friday.

The boys do not understand how they came by the 9 but accept the defeat as a lesson in consolation prize presented by a condescending hostess after an evening of bewilderment.

The chorus, under the direction of Prof. Leon F. Beery, is practicing Christmas carols in the gymnasium.

Prof. J. G. Lewis spoke Tuesday in chapel on the changes in education and religion as brought about by the sciences in the other branches of research.

Tracy Kohl spoke Wednesday evening in the auditorium before the English and political science classes on the League of Nations.

A few new students enrolled at the State Normal Monday, this week opening the second quarter of the school year.

Miss Alvina Luers of Columbus came Monday to take Miss Edith Stocking's place as primary supervisor at the training camp for short time.

Miss Stocking was compelled to go to her home in North Bend Friday because of illness. Miss Luers is now in charge of the camp.

The football team met Buena Vista college from Storm Lake, Iowa, on the local gridiron Friday of this week.

DR. S. A. LUTGEN TALKS BEFORE KIWANIS CLUB

Points Out Progress of Science of Medicine and Surgery.

Dr. S. A. Lutgen gave an address following the annual luncheon of the Kiwanis club Monday.

He pointed out the development of medicine and surgery, and said the time was fast approaching when physicians would be employed to keep people well rather than to cure them after they become sick.

He called attention to a man who hired a physician at a stipulated sum per year, and then deducted from the amount whenever he was sick.

The speaker reviewed the long strides that have been made from the first crude medicine to present curative measures.

He found that many certain herbs, and some fifty years ago of doctors gathered their herbs in season, made teas and poultices to preserve health. Later used to preserve such herbs became apparent, and thus they were made into tinctures with alcohol and drug houses and manufacturing plants with their one hundred per cent fluid extracts were built.

Dr. Lutgen called attention to drugs that slow the pulse, retard secretion, raise body temperature and keep the heart beating when death seemed to have taken its toll.

He spoke of malarial, typhoid fever and other diseases. He spoke hopefully of winning against the dreaded tuberculosis.

The speaker contrasted primitive surgery with modern methods aided with the X-Ray and roentgen contributions from science.

He spoke of the X-Ray in seeing the success of bones and locating foreign substances in the body.

He said: "It has been only a few years since the abdominal and cranial cavities were supposed to be sealed, but they are now safely opened. The heart may be stitched up in the case of perforation."

Dr. Lutgen spoke of the discovery by Canadian of insulin for the treatment of diabetes.

He said all new discoveries had to run the gamut of criticism and review. He said in an article to look that progress had been made in medicine and surgery, as well as in the other sciences.

Herald Appears In National Magazines

The Wayne Herald has received generous treatment in the November issue of the national magazine, the National Printer-Journalist, Milwaukee, and the Inland Printer, Chicago.

The National Printer-Journalist reproduces with favorable comment an editorial showing how the Herald functions for the farmer quite as much as for the townman, and expressing the belief that no barrier exists between them here.

The editorial which appeared in the Herald in August sought to show the importance of impartial consideration.

When comes the Inland Printer, acknowledged leader among the world's newspaper critics, and produces an advertisement which appeared in the Herald on Sept. 6, and making the following comment on this newspaper with special reference to the forty-page edition of that week:

"We often recommend your paper as the best of the best of the newspapers published in America. We do this because it is not only good typographically, but also because it evidences the highest technical skill."

Your 'Fall and Winter Fashion and County Fair Edition' of September 6 is a notable one. The design is particularly noteworthy for their clean-cut simplicity, legibility, display and attention attracting force.

They're not a hedgehog of display faces either two or three only being found in the whole edition—and these are of such design as to harmonize nicely, the Recit Case will be well remembered.

Some of the advertisements have a metropolitan appearance, their advertising value and attractiveness being heightened thereby.

Their design is effective. Their presentation plates furnished by one or another of the cut-service houses catering to publishers.

This kind of service is unobtainable from small town publishers, by and large. We are reproducing an advertisement, selected rather at random, as an illustration of what we characterize as clean-cut display advertising and the advantages of the use of illustrations.

Education Week will be valuable if it develops habits of more earnest study, leading to broader understanding and sounder judgment.

Another week of favorable weather will see the corn well out of the field. The task of gathering the crop for the one hand and by organized labor unions on the other that it is often impossible to pursue a course consistent with economy.

Another "Pay Up Week" must be about due. It would be eminently worth while if it would persuade people to pay up as far as possible. Every person who wipes out an obligation, enables another to do the same thing. The pay-up habit is a wonderful tonic to business, and should be acquired and followed.

We were talking to a railroad official yesterday about the shrinking passenger traffic and possible remedies. It is pointed out that the well known restrictions which the railroads suffer in handling their business. They are hampered by railway commissions on the one hand and by organized labor unions on the other that it is often impossible to pursue a course consistent with economy.

The rumor early in the week that the former kaiser and crown prince were to be restored to power in Germany was dispelled by later reports. It has been learned that the kaiser, driven to desperation by poverty and want, might turn either to monarchists or communists in the hope of relief. It is pointed out that the German people, sustained by outside help, may rise above the temptations offered by either would be imperial heads or ambitious swarms from Russia. It is hoped that Germany may develop a sound republican form of government.

Modern house-cleaning is easy compared to that which obtained in the early days. It will be remembered that house-cleaning was approached in the method of inferior cold luges and protracted disarrangement. Carpets had to be taken up and pounded. Bed ticks were filled with straw and heavily stamped which were taken down and cleaned, were inharmonious and ugly and went together again reluctantly. Everything done by hand, and the task was necessarily spread out over two weeks or more. Now a few days suffice. Modern equipment and modern methods have taken the terror out of the semi-annual attack on household dirt. It is a short process in these days and causes neither abbreviated rations nor black despair.

MORE PUBLICITY URGED.

More publicity was urged as one of the needs of the business district at the meeting of the Greater Wayne club recently. It was agreed that Wayne had superior advantages for business but it was pointed out that the facts were not fully and adequately set forth. Whether deficiency on the part of Wayne newspapers is implied, or whether a need to spread the power of the word to furnish is felt, we do not know. In defense of local newspapers, we would suggest that a review will show constructive effort in behalf of the town each week. At appropriate junctures during the year, extra-editorial material is calculated to attract attention to Wayne. In the special fourth-page edition of the Herald published September 8 when many thanks and commendations were distributed was connected up with a carefully prepared fashion display, and local institutions and enterprises will be issued in the special edition, with the worthy county fair and introduction of the autumn as a basis, sought correlation of all county undertakings with Wayne as the central figure. A somewhat less elaborate edition was issued March 1. Another reflecting the holiday spirit will be issued in the near future. Attention is called to this constructive policy, which manifestly is expensive, in order that the things undertaken and accomplished by the local newspapers may not be overlooked in the course of discussing the wish for more publicity. In this connection it would be glad to publish contributions setting forth in concrete form the need that is felt, and we will be pleased to add to the discussion from a local newspaper viewpoint.

PARENTS' RESPONSIBILITY.

A school at Toronto, Canada, has sent to patrons copies of a questionnaire which will be glad to publish greater sense of duty. Many fathers and mothers try to shift to teachers the entire responsibility of character training, but should assume parents a part of the task rests with parents, and they cannot well shirk.

Here are the questions which should be thoughtfully asked every parent's mind:

Do you visit the school to inquire about your child's progress and development and to see if you can help in any way?

Do you encourage your child in respect for teachers and others in authority?

Do you send your child to bed in time so that he will be rested and fit for study?

Do you provide plain, nourishing food, and see that you get it up in time to eat a good breakfast?

Do you teach your child to read the papers and find out the best in them, and do you encourage an interest in public affairs?

Do you avoid gossip and the telling of incidents which may be misinterpreted by your children?

Do you encourage helpful conversation at the table?

Do you interest yourself in your child's sports and amusements and friendships?

Do you comply with the rules of public health in your home, and do you keep in mind the fact that while you are trying to do the right thing, your children are handicapped if you do not support it, by instilling obedience and respect for authority and patriotism and personal life?

subject that afternoon.
Schedule for the girls' basketball games is being arranged.
Mrs. A. H. Schramme of Wisnido comes to Wakefield each Wednesday afternoon with Supt. E. C. Chapman to talk over the best method of teaching religious instruction to pupils of the school. The first topic of discussion was need of a men's brotherhood among business men of Wakefield. The question of such an organization was laid aside for the discussion of the religious training for the children. Many schools are adopting the plan of devoting one hour one day each week to the teaching. Local ministers are invited to the school and they teach the children of their own denomination. A course of study as outlined by the state university is followed so that the students are given credit for such work. Supt. Chapman favors the idea of having the ministers conduct such training classes and thinks it best that such training be started in the upper five grades of the school and, if successful, be adopted later in the other grades. No definite arrangements have as yet been made.
The Wakefield town football team, called the Allstars, won from the high school team Monday afternoon by 19-7. The town team was heavier than the high school men but the latter were in better practice. The Allstars kicked off to the high school who returned the ball fifteen yards. The high school was held for downs. The town team opened the game with heavy smashing and the high school was forced back at the end of the quarter. The ball was on the high school tenyard line at the close of this quarter and the score stood 0 to 0. The second quarter the Allstars did more smashing and carried the ball steadily down the field for a touchdown but failed at the drop kick, the score standing 7 to 0 as this period closed. In the third quarter there were no scores made but more passes were tried and the high school team strengthened. Both teams were trying passes in the fourth quarter. Hanson of the Allstar team caught a pass and ran eighty yards for a touchdown. The try for point failed and the score stood 13 to 0. The high school then took the ball down the field by smashing and short passes and gained a touchdown, made by Bushy. The try for point was successful and the closing score was 12 to 7 in favor of the town team. (Continued on Page Seven.)

WHY?

Do you know what causes the carbon on the spark plugs that gives you a regular Sunday morning job of cleaning it off before taking the family out for a ride?

Here's the Trouble

Oil gets by the piston rings, if the cylinders are not absolutely round, into the combustion chambers and is burned off by ignition, leaving carbon that soon covers the plugs and must be removed to get a hot spark.

Carbon holds heat and often causes poor ignition, resulting in broken piston pins, bent connecting rods of a scored cylinder. The only cure for this as well as all other motor troubles is to have them reground at

J. P. Walters, Esq., formerly of this place, and who left a short time since has finally located at Grand Island, in this state. He has purchased an interest in the Grand Island Times and will officiate as editor. We wish him all success. Grand Island has about 2,000 inhabitants and is a very enterprising and business like town.

Mr. William Ogburn of Elk Point, a returning Black Hiller, called on us this morning, as he was passing through, and gave us news from that remote region. He said that business was very dull in the Hills, and that the best thing the people there could do was to get out if possible.

He was at Golden City, which is the county seat of Pennington county. One of the commissioners of that new county is S. H. Coats, formerly a resident of this vicinity.

Mr. J. H. Burns said that Mr. Coats was intending soon to return to Dixon county with intent to remain here. From what we can gather in relation to the Black Hills country, we sincerely believe that it is the biggest kind of a humbug.

Horse's Shoe Tracks Followed 40 Miles

Randolph Times: Sherlock Holmes and famous criminal catchers will have to take a back seat in view of the record made last Sunday by W. H. Hughes and Reuben Larsen, Randolph farmers, who successfully followed the trail of a horse shoe for 40 miles and at the end of the trail found an almost new set of harness stolen from Mr. Larson's barn on the St. George farm a mile north and three west of Randolph.

The harness was taken some time Saturday night and Mr. Larson missed it on Sunday morning. His neighbor, Will Hughes, came over that day and together they plainly saw where a team had turned to the side of the road and had evidently waited there until the driver had gone to the barn and stolen the harness. The men also observed the print of a horseshoe of peculiar shape, and being longer than the other, and of the Neversall brand. The men never let the print of this shoe slip from their keen sight and set out to track the shoe prints until they found the horse that wore it.

The trail led for 16 miles around MeLain, two miles beyond double back, the tail being picked up at the corners after painstaking search. At noon on Sunday the trail led the way south to the George Tate corner, then east to the old John Cannon corner, then south to the Clatterback farm occupied by Ed. MeLain, then west to the George Tate mile south and toward Carroll. The long trail ended at the Dan Shannon ranch a half mile east of Carroll to remain permanently.

It so happened that the Randolph men met Mr. Shannon, who lives in Wayne, but was on a trip to the town and a half hours. Dan said there were no thieves on the place that he knew of, but asked the men to come in and look around. They did and found the stolen harness hidden in the hay rack. A corn picker named Mitchell was suspected at once, he being at that time in the field with his team, so he was called for his part. The man suspected something had gone wrong and while the men were in looking over a field he came in, and by his team and his horse was unknown. One of his horses wore the shoe that furnished the marked trail. The sheriff at Wayne and the marshal at Carroll were notified to come at once and get the man wanted but were too late to make an arrest. We understand that an effort will be made to land the man wanted.

Messrs. Hughes and Larsen deserve considerable credit for their cleverness in tracking a shoe print for 40 miles, not having any set idea where it might lead. It was mighty good work.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hughes celebrated at their home in Bloomfield recently. They located in Knox county in 1893.
