The late President Harding said: "Mankind never has needed more in need than it does now of the consolations and reassurances which derive from a firm religious faith. We all know that there are certain fundamental truths of life and duty and destiny which will stand eternal, thru the evolution and revolutions of systems and societies founded by mankind. There must be no mistake whereby we confuse the things of eternity with those that are of time. We must not let our amazement with the things of mind and of matter distract us from a proper concern for those which are of the spirit and the soul."

All law offices in the Ninth judicial district will be closed Friday.

Death came to Senator Allen at 11 o'clock Saturday morning in a Los Angeles hospital, one hour after he had undergone an operation for cancer under the tongue. Dr. F. A. Long of Madison, an intimate friend of Senator Allen, went to Los Angeles with him eight days ago when the trouble was first discovered.

Senator Allen had been in apparent good health and although he would have celebrated his seventy-seventh birthday anniversary Jan. 28, he was quite active and told friends he was feeling exceptionally well.

The cancer under the tongue was discovered eight days ago and after a consultation with Dr. Long it was decided that Senator Allen should go to Los Angeles to consult with specialists. Only immediate members of the family knew of the trouble and the senator's trip to the western coast was not made public.

Senator Allen is survived by the widow, one son, Henry E. Allen of Los Angeles; two daughters, Mrs.

Lula Lench, Aspin, Wyo., and Mrs. William L. Dowling of Madison. Mrs. T. J. Wells, another daughter, of Aspin, Wyo., died two years ago.

Won Fame in Filibuster

Senator Allen won national fame when he was a member of the United States senate where in a filibuster he made the record of delivering the longest speech that had ever been delivered in the senate up to that time. He was credited as an orator and was a prominent figure in Nebraska politics. He was frequently called upon for public addresses and made his most notable address in Norfolk on the last Armistice day under the auspices of the American Legion. Senator Allen was considered one of the state's foremost lawyers. He was often called in important criminal cases and members of the bar considered him one of the most thorough law students of his day.

In his most recent public address, Senator Allen pleaded for peace and gave great credit for American prosperity to the pioneers who helped the west. He was a staunch friend of members of the Grand Army of the Republic of which he was a member.

Was Born in Ohio

William Vincent Allen was born at Midway, Madison county, Ohio, Jan. 28, 1847, and grew up with his family in Iowa in 1867 and was educated in the common schools and Upper Iowa university. He was a graduate in 1873 and spent some time in infancy and saw considerable active service during the civil war, serving for four years.

It was as a youth in Iowa that Senator Allen attended political meetings and listened with interest to the words of the orators of those times. It was early in life that he decided to become a lawyer. In some of his last addresses in Norfolk Senator Allen told of the struggles through which he passed and the feeling which he experienced when he was finally admitted to the bar in Iowa on May 21, 1869. He practiced law in Iowa until 1878 after that he practiced in north Nebraska until he was elected judge of the district court of the Ninth judicial district in 1891.

He was elected to the United States senate in 1893 and served out his regular term. He again entered the senate by appointment in December, 1899.

He became district judge by appointment. He then was district judge again by appointment and was re-elected to that office and held the seat because of the appointment to the senate.

Senator Allen was permanent chairman of the state populist convention in 1892, 1894 and 1900 and of the national populist convention in 1896 and was a member of the executive committee of the populist national organization.

After his political career, Senator Allen settled down at Madison and practiced law. His latest private practice was in the firm of Allen and Dowling, his partner being his son-in-law who is now a candidate for the supreme court.

Senator Allen was elected twice as judge to the bench of the Ninth district and was serving in that office when death overtook him.

Walhill Man Heads Bureau Federation

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 12.—H. L. Keefer, Walhill, was re-elected president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation here yesterday at the session of the organization in connection with organized agriculture. L. R. Leonard, Scottsbluff, was elected vice president. The board of directors follow:

Mr. Keefer, Walhill, north district; Ben Maiben, Palmyra, southeast district; C. B. Stewart, Guide Rock, south district; Allen Cook, Lowell, central district; J. A. Benson, Osceola; and Mrs. C. A. Cummings, Tecumseh, members at large.

At a mass meeting of the groups participating in organized agriculture, Dean Alfred Wood, Ohio Agriculture college, and Aaron Sapico, co-operative marketing organizer, delivered addresses.

Driven Insane by Accident

Teunsech, Neb., Jan. 12.—The mind of Alva Bachenberg has been affected by the recent accidental killing by him of his wife, and has been taken to Lincoln for treatment. Mrs. Bachenberg was killed when Bachenberg handed a gun to his nephew to take his baby from his wife's arms.

It takes some coal to keep the home fires burning these days.

More and more girls are coming to learn vocations that will enable them to tackle their own canons if necessary.

We want the editors to come to Wayne the last of next week, renew acquaintance, communicate, together for mutual good and enjoy refreshing respite from the journalistic grind. The town will be attentive and generous in making its guests feel repaid for the time spent here.

We don't believe in having any open season for the killing of husbands but we do not feel sorry over complete exoneration of the Red Cloud woman who, driven to desperation by long and frightful scenes of brutality, defended herself and her children by pouring enough lead into her erstwhile protector to send him hence.

Restriction of immigration is a question which is attracting a good deal of attention in congress. It is also the question that school boards and societies will consider this winter. It is important to our people because it has a bearing upon the amount of money we will receive as well as enjoy its privileges. He will make a desirable citizen. If he is antagonistic and comes with a knife up his sleeve, he should be kept out.

F. D. Stone, editor of the Burlington Herald who is extending a good deal of attention in congress. It is also the question that school boards and societies will consider this winter. It is important to our people because it has a bearing upon the amount of money we will receive as well as enjoy its privileges. He will make a desirable citizen. If he is antagonistic and comes with a knife up his sleeve, he should be kept out.

Often little manifestations in life reflect greatest depth of soul and finer character. The passing of Judge W. V. Allen, distinguished Nebraskan, recalls the last time we saw him at the Wayne railway station. His grandson, student in the Wayne State normal, was standing beside him. Each was deeply thoughtful of the other. Judge Allen expressed keen interest in his grandson and regarded his development with leading pride and satisfaction. Best of all and above all, he embraced the boy affectionately at parting. It was an expression of the big inner soul. This tone of affection strengthened our already high regard for him.

We fully agree with Dean H. H. Hahn that the age is older than he feels. We agree that one should associate often with young people and imbibable youthful thoughts and aspirations, but one should be active and aggressive until he tumbles into the last ditch. But, Dean, how would you commend instinctive intuition of advancing age when one develops rheumatic joints, when one no longer extracts joy from the snow and melting crystals, when one sees things happen, one glances into a mirror and sees clusters and streaks of gray, when in reading the bible, one sometimes happens to see the date of his birth, and when some immature and inconsiderate vretch calls attention to "one's fearfully multiplied years?" In the presence of these things, isn't it hard to always feel, look and act young?

BOYS AND THEIR MOTHERS.

Say, boys, are you treating your mothers right? If not, you had better get busy and do it. Many boys disagree with a conventional opinion because they think they thus show they are grown up and have all their teeth on. Often boys foign air of bravado in visiting mother's solicitude in order to appear to advantage in the eyes of some insensate and uncouth roughneck. But, let us cut on the false show and the tone of indifference that hurts the best and truest friend you ever had or ever will have.

We once knew a boy who thought of his mother as the worst state of health.

married and had his own friends, he never passed the old-ho-ho without going in to see if his mother were in her accustomed place and in her usual health. Contrary to the suspicion of neighbors, he was not weakly sentimental. He had the courage to respond to mother love and to do things that would cast sunshine instead of shadow over her declining years. Contrary to the fear of neighbors, he lived to grow young and through the long retirement, he sees mother eyes, long since closed, lighted up by the soul's richest love and profoundest gratitude.

Hope you can have a good time without ignoring the anxious yearnings of your mother. You can get all the joy out of life you need without becoming a hardhuller on your mother and wasting time and energy in so-called diversions that destroy character, disappoint the family circle and estrange mother love. Boys, be strong enough to tell your mother where you will be and what you are going to do every time you leave home. She may want you for something, and she should be able to find you. Then at dusk, as your life fades, you will feel a soothing breath from heaven.

NEWSPAPER POLICY.

It has come to our attention that resentment is, sometimes felt over a newspaper's broad policy of admitting to its columns so-called outside advertising. If properly understood, we are sure the throttling of advertising privileges which would mean curtailment of news functions would be spurred by tradesmen and others alike as an assault on the rights of the reading public and as wholly subversive of the purpose sought.

It may be well to say a few things about this outside advertising over which more energy has been expended than a few advertisement legal dealers at one time or another directed, to meet expectations in the way of money.

Since the time Gutenberg invented printing, no business has been the object of more self-appointed regulators, dictators, pericardium upholders and other specialists than of the newspaper. The reason so little headway has been made by newspapers in small circles is that they have been nudged and strangled into service to a few. The reason many small-town newspapers are sources of complaint to the public is that the reason their hampered editors are referred to as incompetent, the reason their abridged and feeble copy is characterized as lacking, is because, coerced into serving only a small minority on Main street--any Main street--they have no chance, but they are compelled to expand, their service is disappointing, their ambition is defeated, and they can gain neither circulation nor respect.

Newspapers note the evolutions of science. They marvel at the wonders of the radio and air navigation, they understand the automobile, and businessmen, editors often travel around in a narrow circle and have to employ a powerful magnifying glass to detect any appreciable progress beyond the horizon of their own petty hobbies on any business excepting that of a newspaper would be regarded an attempt at insolent intrusion. It is for this reason they would be invited to go where fluffy fakes of beautiful snow dwelleth not.

It is service to the many--not to a few--that builds a newspaper, like any other institution. People in surrounding territory have a right to expect the news of their communities. In the same breath it may be said they have a right to demand adherence to the postal provision which requires acceptance of all legitimate advertising. They have a right to demand all possible buying information. They may justly resent, as bald affront, any attempt to close or minimize sources of publicity by which comparisons may be made and judgment determined. Farmers and other buyers everywhere would be straight for Wayne without an attempt to hide it by covering knowledge of the facts.

Let a newspaper become a favored business and its interest will be small group anywhere, but it is forced to cringe and crawl for imperia-bial and inadequate revenues from restricted sources, and soon it is unable to serve even its imperial dictators. It becomes an impoverished and disorganized Main street football being pitched for Waterloo, then the Elba and finally St. Helena and death.

Any newspaper that seeks to serve a restricted business is such that it will take me months to get the referee business in shape to turn over to a successor. I owe it to the judge who appointed me to leave this business in shape that my successor can move right along with it without loss or inconvenience to patrons of the business. It is intended to file for the office of district judge of the Ninth judicial district of Nebraska within a few weeks. I want to see who will be appointed to fill the place. It has been demonstrated there in this jurisdiction that the Judge for St. Louis and the Senator for St. Louis, who were appointed to fill the place, have been appointed to fill the place.

As to Successor to the Late W. V. Allen

Norfolk Daily News, Jan. 16: Although Gov. Charles W. Bryan is in Washington and nothing can be done about it until the state's chief executive returns to Lincoln, lawyers in this part of the Ninth judicial district are looking over the field for a likely successor to the late Judge William V. Allen.

The most significant happening in this campaign is the statement by H. P. Barnhart who announced some time ago that he would file for the office of district judge, but that he will not seek the appointment, but will file at the proper time. The second significant happening is the large number of local lawyers who are hosting Charles H. Stewart, for the office. Stewart was Mr. Barnhart's partner before Mr. Barnhart was appointed federal referee in bankruptcy. Mr. Barnhart admits that his former partner is a candidate and that several prominent attorneys have seen him to this effect.

Former Judge R. S. McDuffee and Judge A. R. Olsen of Wayne are also spoken of, as likely candidates. "I have been approached on the subject," Judge McDuffee says, "but I feel it is a little too early to talk about it." Because of the heavy work in the district, it is thought that the appointment of a successor to the late Judge Allen will be made immediately after Governor Bryan returns to the state.

The judges preside over the courts in the Ninth judicial district. Judge Anson A. Welch of Wayne is the other judge.

Politicians indicate that although the offices are non-partisan, party lines sometimes affect even the appointment of judges and certainly the way they are elected.

Judge Welch is a republican in politics and Judge Allen was a staunch democrat and Gustavus Bryan is a democrat and leaders of parties may use what influence they have in the campaign to put their favorite candidate on the bench. Unusual interest has developed in Norfolk over the successful efforts to induce Mr. Stewart to become a candidate.

What Barnhart Says. In an interview-H. P. Barnhart had this to say after admitting that he would not seek the appointment as Judge Allen's successor: "I am not interested in the appointment of the late Judge Allen and feel that the matter of selection of his successor is not of so much importance that it cannot be delayed at least until after the funeral. "I will not ask for the appointment, I can get it if I want it and I want to see who will take me months to get the referee business in shape to turn over to a successor. I owe it to the judge who appointed me to leave this business in shape that my successor can move right along with it without loss or inconvenience to patrons of the business. It is intended to file for the office of district judge of the Ninth judicial district of Nebraska within a few weeks. I want to see who will be appointed to fill the place. It has been demonstrated there in this jurisdiction that the Judge for St. Louis and the Senator for St. Louis, who were appointed to fill the place, have been appointed to fill the place."

appointment through some political influence. I have always been for the people and of the common people and I am willing to risk my chance in their hands."

Wallace is Against "Back to Farm" Talk

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 15--The influx from the farm to the city has been a real seed for agriculture as a whole, Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace said on arrival here today to address the convention of the American Livestock association. "America needs no more 'back to the farm' movements," he asserted, adding that the inefficient had been forced from the farms and that those who remained would reap the benefit.

Secretary Wallace also declared that farming conditions in the whole country are looking better and congress and the administrator were anxious to do all they could to help the farmer but that they would have to be shown that proposed remedies were really worth while.

While here the secretary conferred with President C. J. Osborne of the Farmers' Union of Nebraska and planned to plan for reorganizing the union's live-stock commission, to give St. Joseph, Mo., and Sioux City patrons a greater voice in the commission affairs.

Unless breeding herds in this country can be immediately financed and protected for the next four or five years, the United States will be spending hundreds of thousands of dollars in buying beef cattle in other countries, Fred H. Bixby of Long Beach, Calif., president of the association, declared in a message to the convention today. The message, read by First Vice President C. M. O'Donel of Bell Ranch, N. M., in the absence of Mr. Bixby, who was unable to attend on account of illness, said there had been great liquidation at the breeding herds of the country, especially in the western part, and asserted that this presented a "vital emergency proposition." Breeding herds, he added, "Must be saved."

President Bixby's message attacked methods of the war finance corporation, urging repeal of what he referred to as the "guarantee clause" of the Eech-Cummins railroad act, and the Armour-Morris packing merger and favored cooperative marketing methods. Lower freight rates on livestock and repeal of section 16-A of the Eech-Cummins railroad act are to be requested by the delegates.

Resolutions opposing any increase in grading fees and supporting Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace's administration of the packer and stockyards act will likely be passed on Thursday, before adjournment that day, Mr. Tomlinson said. The convention is also expected to voice opposition to the merger of the Morris and Armour company packing interests.

Secretary Wallace will address the delegates, assembled from states west of the Mississippi river today. Between 20 and 300 out of town livestock men were expected to be present to hear the secretary speak. Cattle are disappearing from American ranges and unless something is done to get a fair price for stock on the hoof the supply will steadily diminish, in the opinion expressed by some of the delegates. "We need money and a market for cattle," said H. L. Hodge of Silver City, N. M., one of the delegates.

Albuquerque, N. M., will seek the next convention, and opposition to its selection was diminished by the announcement that Phoenix, Ariz., would withdraw from the race.

Randolph Man Loses Travelers' Checks

Columbus, Neb., Jan. 15.—L. Hardy of Randolph, believes that $100 worth of travelers' checks were stolen from him on the Union Pacific train between Norfolk and Columbus. He had probably picked his pockets and told the story of seeing the checks in Norfolk to get rid of him. Mr. Hardy and his son were on their way to California. The son continued to Columbus on the train and Mr. Hardy caught a bus from Norfolk to Columbus, after writing his home bank to stop payment on the checks and to send him funds. The stranger never returned. Mr. Hardy evidently forgot by someone in his hurry, Mr. Hardy took his pockets. His checks were

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

LAST Spring a total of 350,000 people were disappointed in not being able to obtain deliveries of Ford Cars and Trucks, as orders were placed faster than cars could be produced.

The demand for Ford Cars and Trucks this Spring will, according to all indications, be far greater than last Spring.

Winter buying has been increasing at a greater rate than ever before.

Actual retail deliveries the past 60 days totaled 308,170 Ford Cars and Trucks, an increase of 1961 a day over a year ago.

Over 200,000 people have already ordered Ford products on our purchase plan, the majority of whom will take delivery this Spring.

The above facts are given with the suggestion that you list your order promptly with a Ford dealer if you contemplate the purchase of a Ford Car or Truck for use this Spring or Summer and that you wish to avoid delay in delivery.

Ford Motor Company
Detroit, Michigan

You need not pay cash for your car. You can arrange to make a small deposit down, taking care of the balance in easy payments. Or, you can buy on the Ford Motor Purchase Plan. This puts you on the preferred order list and insures delivery of your car as fast as it is determined by yourself.

Wayne team by 7 to 12. The Wayne girls had a good showing considering that this is the first year they have played and the local boys played well.

A few of the freshmen and sophomores enjoyed a coasting party Monday evening. Afterwards the group had lunch at the home of Blossom Henton. The following pupils were neither absent nor tardy from the sixth grade during the first semester: Dorothy Allison, Helen Sar and Opal Beckenbauer; in the seventh grade, Esther Henschke and Elizabeth Hype; in the eighth grade, Rida Beckenbauer and Alfred Larson. The sixth grade is making good progress. The eighth grade has taken up bookkeeping and the seventh grade has begun interest in arithmetic. The seventh grade has finished hygiene and has taken up history. (Continued on Last Page)

"Miss America" Declares Tanlac Wonderful Health Giving Tonic

Miss Mary Katherine Campbell, twice proclaimed "Miss America," has taken TANLAC and endorses it in a statement recently given to the women of America through International Proprietaries, Inc., distributors of this great tonic. In this statement, Miss America declares that Good Health is the basis of all Beauty, and advises women who would be beautiful to "first find good health."

Her complete statement as given is as follows: "I consider it a great privilege to be able to tell the thousands of women everywhere what a great tonic TANLAC is. Health is the basis of all beauty. Without good health, one is apt to be run down, nervous, underweight, high-strung, anemic. Indigestion drives the roses from a woman's cheeks and robs her of that radiant quality of womanhood that is real beauty."

"I have taken TANLAC and I do not hesitate to say that it is a wonderful health-giving tonic. It has brought relief and good health to many women, and with good health one may have a measure of beauty that will overcome shortcomings in face and figure."

"Rosy cheeks, sparkling eyes, a well-rounded figure, a lovable disposition, go hand in hand with good health. To those searching for beauty, I would say: "First of all, find Good Health." The TANLAC treatment has proven itself a boon to womankind, and I recommend it."

Miss Campbell has written a booklet on Health and Beauty which may be secured by filling out the coupon below.

INTERNATIONAL PROPRIETARIES, INC. Department L 81 Atlanta, Ga. Gentlemen: I herewith enclose 10 cents (stamps will do), for which send me a copy of Miss Mary Katherine Campbell's Booklet on "Beauty and Health."

Make Those Fifty-Steel Horses Pull All Together

There's a wonderful feeling of control in handling a tractor in prime condition. At the touch of your hand on the levers, fifty steel horses jump to the lead.

But suppose you haven't cared for those horses as you should. Are five of them mired, and keeping five more back? Are the rest half-heartedly leaning on their collars, weakly and spiritlessly? Give them a food tonic - Marathon Motor Oil.

Whet their appetites and tone up their digestion with a steady diet of Marathon. Make them eager to work all day without stopping to pant or tremble. Use Marathon Motor Oil to make those fifty steel horses pull all together!
