Make Those Fifty Steel Horses Pull All Together

There's a wonderful feeling of control in handling a tractor in prime condition. At the touch of your hand on the levers, fifty steel horses jump to the load.

But suppose you haven't cared for those horses as you should.

Are five of them mired, and keeping five more back?

Are the rest half-heartedly leaning on their collars, weakly and spiritlessly? Give them a food tonic—Marathon Motor Oil.

Whet their appetites and tone up their digestion with a steady diet of Marathon. Make them eager to work all day without stopping to pant or tremble.

Use Marathon Motor Oil to make those fifty steel horses pull all together!

The way to make a cold winter season short is to have a note come in in the spring.

The rich man who seeks something for nothing is more reprehensible than the poor man who has the excuse of pressing need.

The Greater Wayne club proposes to suggest to the city council improvement lighting for some of the streets near Main street for the convenience of people who often have to park cars outside of the business center. It is urged that better lighting would give important advantage.

No amount of money would warrant the reputation former Secretary Fall will reap from charges in the oil scandal. When a man is charged with betraying his country or an individual for paltry dollars, he forfeits, whether discovered or not, something that money cannot restore.

Secretary Hughes has sent a mass of proof to a senate committee to support opposition to a more lenient organize the soviet government of Russia. The evidence is said to indicate designs on the United States government, and in that event why should the soviet be encouraged by recognition? And what better proof could be had than that coming from our state department?

United States senators who, by questioning Edward Bok, have sought to discredit his efforts for world peace, will not gain the favor of even those who do not accept the winning plan as the best that could have been proposed. Questions are charged to money used by Mr. Bok in arriving at the peace proposal or in handling the referendum were childish and immaterial. The senators were an unscrupulous air of self-adultery, and convey the impression that any outside movement that suggests what they should do is a trespass on their prerogative and dignity. Whether the plan proposed is the best that could be offered or not, it is doubtless better than no plan, and no successful plan is the record of the senators up to date.

It seems that Wayne was incorporated forty years ago, and an impartial observer will conclude that the town, encouraged by rich surrounding country and helped by an aggressive citizenship, will grow much faster in the future than it has in the past. The foundation has been well laid and it is now up to present and succeeding groups to strengthen and enlarge the superstructure.

THEN AND NOW.

It may be said of editors, as it may of equal truth be said of preachers, lawyers and doctors, that they stand higher in business practices today than did their pioneer predecessors. People who will attend the editors' meeting in Wayne this week may not excel the literary attainments of the early-day editor, but they have learned to evaluate service and generally they have developed respectable business standards.

Time was when members of some professions, including editors, had little credit as a rule, and they taxed the little they had to the limit. The pioneer preacher had learned to trust to the Lord for his daily ration, and the manna came always all and the middle of the loaves and fishes would not work, and so the good man threw himself on the mercy of those of comparative plenty rather than dodge or wiggle away from pecuniary obligations.

The lawyer's conscience was not so sensitive. He did not allow it to intrude when he wanted to create an obligation or stand in the way when he could not meet a pressing claim. He regarded credit with wonder and skepticism. He had learned to charge adequately for what he did, and therefore when at long intervals a fee came in, he spent it to satisfy an immediate requirement instead of using it to wipe out past indebtedness.

The doctor gave a good deal of service, often making long, tedious drives to relieve sufferers, but if he charged enough, he did not make collections, and as a consequence he was invariably hard up. The editor had a small investment, and he was able to give comparatively little in the way of service. He was a slow and took great pride in announcing new arrivals. He praised young couples who were married, and he gave a certificate of highest character to every one who passed on whether he deserved it or not.

The editor reaped sparingly. Less given to fashion than the preacher and doctor, and about on a par with the lawyer, he wore a map of Australia and one of South America well within the shadow of a friendly coat tail, invited people to bring wood and vegetables in exchange for subscriptions, traded out advertising and stood off the merchant prince for the balance due.

That is about the way professional men managed in primitive Nebraska. Needs and demands for greater service have called for larger investments, increased operating cost and more exact business methods. The business standard has been materially lifted, so that the credit of an editor, like that of members of other professions, is no longer a joke. It is quite as real and reliable as the credit generally found in the commercial world.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: Gen. Daves, chairman of the first committee of the reparations commission, is a banker. He has proposed to his European colleagues that a way be sought to restore Germany's finances. He suggests a loan. J. Pierpont Morgan is believed to be interested in, and perhaps behind the Daves proposal. The work of the reparations in rehabilitating Austria has been described by Dr. Zimmerman and Gen. Daves has called attention to the success that followed a certain loan to that country. He thinks a similar effort on someone's larger scale would do the same thing for Germany.

The mark at present is worth so little that its value is not at all impressive, except in emphasizing the amount of work that must be done to restore it sufficiently so it may have an actual worth as money. Gen. Daves believes that a loan of some $300,000,000 when set on foot would put Germany back on her feet. Much less than that was required for Austria, which country is now justifying the faith of the countries that contributed to the loan.

In making his proposal, Gen. Daves was fortified with a mass of general information regarding the financial and economic situation at home in America and in Europe. He is a close, careful observer. He knows that a rejuvenated Germany will mean an improvement everywhere, here as well. He has put his finger on the main trouble with Europe, and has felt the weak pulse of the nations. The Daves plan, which could be put through, but which would necessitate, at least, the moral effect it would have, European cooperation, is full of promise in that it would produce results of international benefit.

Consideration of the Daves plan, of course, brings to the fore immediately the realization that a heroic part of the world would have to be undertaken by this country. Even that, however, should bring no discouragement since it is well known that America's financial power is equal to the demand that might be made. At this time the United States possesses the greatest amount of gold in its history. It almost controls the world's total monetary stock, having on hand 48 per cent of it. Thus it easily can be seen that American financial institutions could undertake the project of restoring in an appreciable degree Germany's local power.

Guarantees, of course, would be demanded. Americans are not in the habit of conducting business unless they can see their way out. No closed-line, no blind alley, but an open highway is what they would ask. One more question of the amount of reparations is asked. The Americans want to know what the total will be. The international effort made some time ago at the bankers' conference fell short of its objective because of that obstacle. A lowering of the total amount of reparations is imperative if the Daves plan is to succeed.

Such a plan for Germany would not be a plan for Germany alone. It would help not only that country, but France and Belgium, and Italy, and Great Britain and the United States. It would help not only the New York bankers, the Pittsburgh, Detroit and Chicago manufacturers, but it would help the Iowa merchants and farmers. It would mean, in a word, the beginning of the whole world's return to a normal condition. Business would be better everywhere. Big and little operators would be affected. It would help America's export business. Likewise it would profit the degree wage earner. What the world needs and must have is a new business order which only can come from a straightening out of the international tangle involving industry, money and human effort.

(Rev. Stephen E. Yonck, Pastor.)
Cold, I should say; a good day to sit by the fire and enjoy your friends. You will be out so many evenings this week that I had better stay in and rest. Such is the philosophy that is practiced by many who need the church, its worship and fellowship worse than anything else in the world. "That blessed word, which? Take your choice, Chris? What? No man can serve two masters."
When next Sunday dawn upon us, let us open our minds and hearts to Christ and His spirit, and worship at His shrine.
Morning worship begins promptly at 11 a. m.
Sermon theme: "Receiving Old Customs." The second of a series.
Evening service is especially for young people—Sermon topic is: "Beyond the Horizon." Special music. All are invited to the church school. Classes for all ages.

Hempy-Cooper Machine For Rebabbing Ford Main Bearings

We have recently installed a new Hempy-Cooper machine for rebabbing Ford main bearings. It is a well known fact that worn main bearings are the cause of a large percentage of Ford knocks and cannot be remedied in any way except by rebabbing. This new machine is used and recommended by Ford plants and service stations. Our price for this job is $3.50 which is the regular Ford price. Bring your block in and watch us do the job.

Durocs Make Great Record in 1923

1923 RECORD OF MERIT WORTH KNOWING

(1) Durocs hold the ton litter championship of the world. A litter of 12 Duroc pigs weighed 3,898 3/8 pounds at 180 days of age. The litter produced 210 lbs. of pork. This record was set by Durocs at the Chicago International Duroc Show, held at the Madison Square Garden, New York, Dec. 23, 1923. This is the second year in succession Durocs sold for the top price.

(2) The champion pig of Durocs at the Chicago International Duroc Show, held at the Madison Square Garden, New York, Dec. 23, 1923. This is the second year in succession Durocs sold for the top price.

(3) The grand champion pig club pigs-over all breeds in the following states: Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, South Dakota, Oklahoma and Colorado.

(4) Durocs took all grand champion awards at the south-west Exposition, Ft. Worth, Tex. winning grand champion car-load, pen of three and single barrow.

(5) The grand champion single barrow and pen of three barrows at the southeast American livestock show, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, were both Duroc Durocs.

(6) At the Galesburg Fair, Barrow and Corn show, Galesburg, Illinois, the grand champion barrow over all breeds was a Duroc-Jersey.

(7) Durocs won grand champion pens of three and ten barrows at the Duroc show, Chicago, Ill. This was the third straight year Durocs took the pen of ten barrow championship.

(8) Durocs won grand championship over all breeds at the Colorado State Fair.

(9) Durocs were awarded grand championship over all breeds at the car load class at the Pacific International Portland, Oregon.

(10) In Illinois 40 out of 80 ton litters raised or 55 per cent are Durocs. In the rest of the state 20 out of 25 county ton litters champions and nine of the ten heaviest ton litters are all Durocs. Durocs had the greatest average weight. Their contest, 2974 pounds over all breeds and best record for litters, with an average of 11 to the litter.

(11) Durocs accounted for 67.5 per cent of all ton litters produced in Texas, 18 of the 28 ton litters reported being of this breed. The champion ton litter of the state and eleven of the fifteen heaviest litters were Durocs. Durocs raised 10 pigs in the ten litter contest, with an average of 17.5 lbs. per pig, over the average for all sows in the contest. The average weight of each Duroc litter was 2,450 pounds.

(12) In Indiana, 30 out of 11 of 17 ton litters raised were Durocs. Durocs won the ton litter championship in six out of nine counties and also took the pig club ton litter championship of the state.

(13) Forty sows in the Ohio ton litter contest raised an average of 10.4 pigs per litter. The Durocs sows in this contest raised 18 pigs to the litter, one-half a pig more per litter than the average.

(14) Durocs hold the ton litter championship of Missouri with a litter of 20 pigs, and this is the only ton litter in the United States with 16 pigs raised.

(15) The states of Texas, Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin reported a total of 183 ton litters raised of which number 80 were 50-51 per cent are Duroc-Jerseys.

(16) There were more pedigrees of Duroc-Jersey hogs recorded during 1923 than there were pedigrees of hogs of any other breed.

Another spelling contest has begun in both fifth and sixth grades between boys and girls. The contest is to continue for some time.

The eighth grade pupils have finished their Wayne county maps and have begun work on Nebraska maps.

Dwight Finlon is absent from school this week on account of sickness in the family.

Win-Side has gotten the bad right in high school—Eight more girls appeared in school this week with bobbed hair. Just a few more and the entire high school of girls will be wearing short tresses.

Visitors at school this week were: Mrs. George Jordan, Mrs. Carl Wolf, Mrs. A. C. Gabler, Mrs. George K. Moore and Mrs. Earl Lound.

The high school class in review reading went Monday to visit the primary room to hear the reading classes in first and second grades.

The review reading class was presented at the reading class in third and fourth grades in Miss Myrtle Leary's room Tuesday.

Neola Lound brought a big birthday cake with candles to school last week Tuesday and passed it among her schoolmates in remembrance of her eighth birthday.

Edna Neiman celebrated her ninth birthday Monday and served candy to her teacher and schoolmates.

In the sixth grade a spelling contest between the boys and girls, the girls—were victorious. The boys, however, were good losers and Friday afternoon brought candy to school and treated the girls.

Leona Fuesel, who recently moved here from Fremont, enrolled Monday as a sophomore.

The county eighth-grade examinations will be held this week for Win-Side and surrounding districts.

There is one newspaper editor who believes that despite the forebodings of many people there is much encouragement for the belief that the mood of the American people is on the upgrade.

There are two ways of wasting time, one is doing nothing, the other is doing things the wrong way. Either one can be easily overcome.

Incidence of the body is merely a part of the process of getting a lot of things done. Mr. Curtis, publisher of the Saturday Evening Post, the Ladies Home Journal and other large publications, spends a good deal of his time making a yacht in Florida waters...

It is no criterion of value. Studebaker builds 150,000 fine cars yearly. All of them are bikes. The main costs are divided by that enormous output. Thus at prices of $975 and up we offer the utmost in quality.

Quality cars require costly facilities. Studebaker has $50,000,000 invested in modern plants and equipment...

Just Go and See

Studebaker is today the leader in the fine car field. Studebaker builds more quality cars than any other concern in the world.

Buyers of fine cars last year spent over $200,000,000 for Studebaker models. The demand for Studebakers has almost trebled in three years.

Then go see them. Compare them with any car you will. Don't spend $1,000 or over without knowing what Studebaker offers. You owe that to yourself.

That perfect balance, that absence of vibration. We use more Timken bearings than any other car which costs under $2,000.

These facts apply to all Studebakers, of all styles and sizes. The materials used in all chassis are alike.

The Studebaker coach work has been famous for decades. No one can excel it. The finish is produced by 26 operations, including 15 coats of paint and varnish.

Open cars have real leather cushions. They cost, over imitation leather, about $25 per car.

No closed cars could be more luxurious. That lining of Chase Mohair is made from the soft fleece of Angora goats.

A velvet lining would save about two-thirds that cost—up to $100 per car.

Note how every detail denotes infirmer cars. That, as you know, is expensive.

Note the completeness of our larger models. The nickel-plated bumpers, extra disc wheels with cord tires, a steel trunk, a courtesy light. These are rare extras, even on the costliest cars.

Nothing is stinted. Compare part by part with any rival car. Studebaker will show you some scores of advantages.

Then consider Studebaker history. For 70 years this name has stood for quality. When people rode in carriages, Studebaker built the best. Now those same traditions are applied to motor cars alone.

Consider Studebaker records. Mark how these cars in service have multiplied demand. 14 people last year paid $200,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

Consider their service records. One Studebaker car, built in 1916, has run 475,000 miles. It is still in active service. It lately made a mid-winter trip from Los Angeles to New York. That means 80 days of average service, of 6,000 miles per year.

What more can you dream of in a motor car than the Studebakers offer?

Light-Six, Special-Six, Big-Six. 5-Pass. 112" W.B. 40 H.P. $995.00. Touring. 5-Pass. 119" W.B. 50 H.P. $1350.00. Touring. 7-Pass. 126" W.B. 60 H.P. $1750.00. Touring. 5-Pass. 126" W.B. 60 H.P. $1850.00. Sedan. 5-Pass. 126" W.B. 60 H.P. $2685.00. Sedan.

My Mourn at Bief of Late W. V. Allen

Madison, Neb., Jan. 19.—The city of Madison county's most distinguished citizen was placed in his grave when the last rites, simple but impressive, were said for William V. Allen, former United States senator, at the funeral home of the judicial district.

The Presbyterian church here was the scene of the funeral service, which was held in the afternoon, outside the edifice fully as many people stood in the rear to pay homage to their lost neighbor and benefactor. Over 1,000 persons were present for the funeral, including practically every member of the bar in the fifth judicial district, and many relatives from over the state, as well as the late senator's friends from over Madison and adjoining counties.

Never before has Madison, or any town in this part of the state, seen such an outpouring of sympathy, kindness and never before has it witnessed such a profusion of beautiful floral offerings that were presented as tokens of love and respect for the late senator. The whole front part of the church was a mass of flowers, the feature of which was a floral blanket that nicely covered the casket and which was presented by the Ninth District Bar association.

The body had lain in state at the home until 1 o'clock in the afternoon and during that time was viewed by hundreds, a steady stream of sad faced friends passing the casket during the evening. During the services at the church and cemetery the casket was not opened.

Preceding the services at the church there was a short scripture reading and prayer at the Allen home with only the members of the family and the pallbearers present, and with the Rev. P. M. Driehler of Newman Grove, formerly of Madison, officiating.

Services are simple. Since services were held at the church. The Rev. John G. Hammill, pastor of the Methodist church here, delivered a brief sketch of the life and career of the late senator, with prayer and scripture reading by the Rev. Mr. Driehler. A duet, the "City of Four Squares," was sung by Mrs. M. Newton and Mrs. P. M. Vezard, both of Madison, and a eulogy was delivered by Richard L. Metcalfe of Omaha, an old friend of the late senator. John Dowling, grandson of Mr. Allen, played one of Mr. Allen's favorite selections on the pipe organ, "To a Wild Rose," and other special music was provided by the Presbyterian choir.

The concourse, nearly a mile long, then started for the cemetery, where the services were held, including scripture reading and prayer by the Rev. Mr. Hammill and the Methodist church's burial ritual. As the body was lowered into the grave the American Legion firing squad of the Madison post fired a salute over the grave in honor of the veteran of the Civil war, the bugler sounded "rags" and the body was laid at rest.

Active pallbearers were: Leslie Jackson, Neligh; Donald D. Mares, Norfolk; Charles H. Stewart, Norfolk; D. C. Chaco, Stanton; Robert Moore, West Point; H. B. Muffy, Preece; Richard Steele, Creighton; and J. L. Meyer, Madison. Honorary pallbearers were: Gil M. Hitchcock, Omaha; Norris M. Omaha; A. M. Morrissey, Norfolk; Alton A. Wayne, Norfolk; R. Dickson, O'Neill; I. L. Albert, Columbus; Willis E. Reed, Madison; John A. Edwards, Stanton; W. H. Foy, Madison; H. H. Hallett, Newman Grove; G. A. Randall, Lincoln; John J. Sullivan, Omaha; Byron Clark, Omaha; Fred S. Berry, Omaha; Charles H. Hallett, Omaha; Douglas Cones, Pierce; W. H. Thompson, Grand Island; Charles H. Kelsey, Norfolk; J. Q. Ingram, Omaha; J. C. Elliott, West Point; James Nichols, Madison; M. B. Foster, Madison.

Members of the W. R. C. and the A. O. U. E. were present at the funeral in a large number.

present were Chief Justice A. M. Sweeney of the Nebraska supreme court of Lincoln, former senator Norris Brown of Omaha, Will M. Mann of Omaha and Goring, Byron L. Clark of Omaha, and the Burlington railroad, who came to Madison in his private car. Arthur Muller of Omaha and the governor, Charles D. Drake, were accompanied by his secretary, S. C. Radke.

Metcalfe's Eulogy. Mr. Metcalfe's address follows: "We mean, as we say in our words when we say that we are not here to mourn, for gratitude has taken the place of grief. We are all so glad for his coming to earth with this simple greatness and the great simplicity of William V. Allen that although we say it with trembling hearts, we think our God has this beautiful reflection of His good."

"At this moment we are standing at a point where the real things of life force themselves upon our attention. Strange to say they are not those things which men always regard as the important. Most of the things that have been in our lives are things that we are using for we require for our lives the bare of trappings, the clash of bayonets or the elevation to high place."

Soldier, Judge, Senator. "We could speak of William V. Allen as a soldier, who, embarking with a child, marched to the music of the Union and helped to win for North and South alike the victory of a reunited and independent nation of states. We could speak of him as a lawyer and judge, who could speak of him as a judge, who could speak of him as a member of the United States senate where his intellect and his courage instantly commanded attention. We could speak of him as a public man who never forgot his friends, who never carried resentments, who was foremost in taking position on public questions and whose devotion to a cause was only equalled by his readiness to revise an opinion. It requires real courage for a public man to be inconsistent and William V. Allen was courageously inconsistent. He did not imagine that a cause was eternally right and simply because he happened at one time to support it. When, tried in the crucible of experience, policies which he had once formed seemed no longer to be practical he did not hesitate to readjust his position, although readjustment was sometimes unpopular. His public services and his fine ability are so well understood that they form an important part of the history of our country."

Was Fierced to All. "But at this moment there is for us no large appeal in these things. We are thinking of the man—the man to whom deserving men, help less women and little children instinctively turned. "I remember to have once read a story entitled 'The Man Who Understands.' It was the story of a man who much like the character in Charles Reed's 'Put Yourself in His Place' did not turn against a man or woman simply because all the world seemed to be hostile. A most beautiful and inspiring line appeared in an old-time hymn. It is this: 'There's a wideness in God's mercy like the wideness of the sea.' 'The Man Who Understands' ever reflected that mercy. From more than thirty years' intimate acquaintance with William V. Allen I know him, too, as 'The Man Who Understands.'"

He understood public service so intelligently that he was proud or leaving the United States senate to take a place on the district bench of his state. An humble official, parsimoniously, some might say, but it is a peculiar fact that the district judge who is trusted gets closer to the hearts and the homes of the people than any other public official, and for years to come the name of William V. Allen will be spoken in loving terms in the homes of Nebraska and particularly in those of this judicial district.

Protected Homeless Dogs. "It is said that at the moment we are brought face to face with the real things of life. For this reason I shall refer to a simple incident in the life of my index card which is small as it may appear to some, gives the index to his whole career of loving service. Many here assembled will remember the incident. On one occasion the city council of Madison decreed that all homeless dogs should be killed by the city marshals. Judge Allen voted a veto to the marshal saying that he could not understand why an animal or a man should be destroyed simply because he had no home. He offered to provide for every dog thus doomed to death by the marshal. That official was quick to act, with the result that Judge Allen's home was immediately filled with homeless dogs. It occasioned for a time, a great deal of amusement in the town and it was thought that Judge Allen had been duped quite a bit. But he had to the line, and he cared for the animals until they were all sold to the farms. Is this not a beautiful plan for reference in a man who has held a position of honor and confidence upon which not to those of us who are not men is not by the offices he has held to be, means a nameless net."

loye that form the best remembered portion of a good man's life. Kindness Greatest Glory. "Whatever honor William V. Allen may have brought to himself, his family and his friends by the high positions he won and by the honorable service he gave to the public, his greatest glory was in his unflinching kindness. There is a time when we need not fear to speak from the heart and so I say in deep respect and gratitude, God, thank Thee, from the bottom of my heart, for the privilege of knowing and loving this fine man. I know him so well, I adore him so greatly, I love him so dearly that I know that for him, that which men call death is only 'God's Great Morning Lighting up the sky.' I know that in paraphrase of another, when the summons came at Los Angeles, he heard the great voice speaking on a farther shore and felt already upon his wasted brow the breath of the eternal morning."

Little Children Mourning. He gave me many lessons in practical economy but valuable as they were, they are not to be compared with the demonstration he made throughout his life that the bravest are the tenderest; the loving are the daring. They are not to be compared with the light of love that kept glow the hearts of those who came within the gentle benediction of his loving kindness. All the cheers and the tumults of the crowd that applauded his devotion to public office, all the attention bestowed upon him when he arose to speak in the United States senate are insignificant compared with the fact that upon the announcement of his passing little children who had known the gentle touch of his big hand, who had themselves to sleep and moan and weep in every walk of life paid the tribute of a tear.

"And so in the name of all those who love him, even as God knows I love him, I lay my tribute on this shrine. This dear old friend of mine, smiling into my heart today, ever as he smiled in the long ago, knows how sincere are the words I have spoken. He knows, too, what I mean when above his grave I write: Warm western love—how widely here— Warm western sun shine kindly here— Green sod above, He light, He light, Good night, dear heart, good night, good night!"

Horse Sale! Saturday, Jan. 26 Wayne Pavilion On the above date I will sell in connection with the regular pavilion sale, the best load of horses I have ever sold in Nebraska. I have been coming to Wayne with horses for the last three or four years and have always tried to bring good horses, but I can truthfully say that this is without doubt absolutely the best load I have ever had. They are big horses, well matched in pairs and are all well broke. In fact, I call them a hand-made, hand-picked load. Be there to buy them for I sell without reserve and I know they will suit you. A family that owns its home takes a pride in it, maintains it better, gets more pleasure out of it, and has a more wholesome, healthful, and happy atmosphere in which to bring up children. The home owner has a constructive aim in life. He works harder outside his home; he spends his leisure more profitably, and he and his family live a finer life and enjoy more of the comforts and cultivating influences of our modern civilization.

A husband and wife who own their home are more apt to save. They have an interest in the advancement of a social system that permits the individual to store up the fruits of his labor. As direct tax payers they take more active part in local government. Above all, the love of home is one of the finest instincts and the greatest of inspirations of our people.

Early Days In Two Counties

From the Wayne Herald for Feb. 12, 1904: Winside is considering the building of a new school house.

E. P. Ormstead has sold his residence to Dr. F. B. Heckert. Rebuilding of the asylum at Norfolk will be started this spring.

Gerd Janssen is planning to build 12,000 livable bars as Hoxins this spring.

M. J. Dendinger was called to Hartington by the illness of his wife.

Henry Slaughtor of Naper, Neb., is visiting his father-in-law, Henry Hansen.

Ed Gaubacher was born in January, 1904, to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Exleben of Alberta.

The boys' brass band has seventeen members.

A second newspaper may be started at Len by E. E. Stackeloff who secured here for the first time.

Al Joring has moved from Alton to Wayne where he succeeds C. Edlin in the feed yard business.

John Ley sold his residence to W. Newkirk. The former plans to build a new house in the spring.

John Seefeldt who was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. A. returned to her home in Medina.

nd Krouse who lived alone for a year in the house in the east end of Winside, died Jan. 31, 1904, at the age of 79 years.

A. M. Ellis gave a surprise party for his son, Bert Ellis, who is to enter the employ of the railroad company.

Wm. Garwood of Cairo, and Miss Olive Cole of Akron, Ohio, were married Jan. 22, 1904. After visiting in Ohio they will locate on a farm near Carroll.

A jar of butter that was placed in a spring 40 to be kept cool, was found near Decatur, the jar having been here for forty-six years. Old set of the vintage remember that a butter was placed in the spring when the owner went to get it and it was he could not find it.

the jar. He thought the Indians would find it each year. Now, after forty-six years, the jar will Kuss who came here from Germany, open a combine and flour chandler shop and butcher shop at Alton this spring. He has been putting up since this winter in this vicinity.

The capital stock of the railroad company planning to build an electric line from South Sioux City to Madison has been increased from $500,000 to $1,000,000. Work on the railroad line will begin soon.

G. A. Lunkhart, president of the City's National bank at Norfolk, was run over by a horse on Norfolk and fatally injured. He was a member of the legislature from Madison county at one time.

The Wayne Roosevelt club was organized when interested men met at the Owen studio. Officers elected include: E. Hanker, D. A. Lundberg, A. R. Davis, C. C. Main, C. M. Craven, W. H. McNeil, F. M. Gregg, Dr. J. J. Williams and A. A. Weich. The Omaha free gives the pictures of a family union in Omaha on New Year's day. The group included: H. E. Owen of Norfolk, Edward Owen of Wayne, John E. Owen of Wayne, William Owen of Lamonia, Wm. George H. Owen of Wayne, Frank K. Owen of Carroll, and D. M. Owen of Omaha. This was the first time in twenty years that all the brothers had been together. They were all born at Kinrossville, Ill., where they lived with their widowed mother on a large farm.

From Ponca Journal Jan. 30, 1878: In the Senate there are 18 republicans, 4 democrats, 2 greenbackers, 5 nationals, and 1 proerback-democrat. In the House there are 56 republicans, 12 democrats, and 9 greenbackers.

A bill has been introduced abolishing the office of district attorney, and providing for the office of prosecuting attorney for each county. It appears doubtful whether it will become a law.

Under a new clause to be inserted in the statutes a Justice of the peace can not occupy the same office with a practicing attorney. A bill was also introduced allowing a change of venue from justices of the peace in criminal cases.

A bill for an act to allow counties to transfer money in the treasury from one fund to another, will, if passed, have a tendency to increase the value of county warrants.

On the 17th, numerous bills were introduced in the Senate, among which was one to compel the attendance at school of children between eight and fifteen years old. Another bill was to reduce the rate of interest in Nebraska to eight per cent.

In the Senate on the 20th, a resolution was offered that any person serving on grand or petit juries, shall be disqualified for further service as juror of the county for two years.

A bill was also introduced imposing a road tax of $3 upon every man residing in the state, between 21 and 65 years of age, for laborers and mechanics.

The following resolution, if it becomes a law, will be of interest, viz: "That no person shall hold the office of county clerk, treasurer, sheriff or county judge, for a longer time than two successive terms."

In the House on the 21st a large number of petitions were presented asking for a prohibitory liquor law. Some 12 or 15 petitions were presented, all which were read and tabled.

There is an effort being made by the legislature to have grand jury abolished, or to have the grand jury system modified so that persons may be prosecuted on information, and that no grand jury be called at any term of district court unless specially ordered by the judge. Such a law would be an excellent thing for Dixon Springs, and save a large expense every year.

Another bill which, if it becomes a law, will be a great benefit to a certain class of taxpayers, one which provides that in listing personal property for the purpose of taxation, all bona fide debts owing by the person making the list may be deducted.

The Requisite Remedy. (Arzoum.) A doctor was called to attend a working man. Having done all he could for the time being he told the patient to get up and take his temperature in the morning. On the following day when the doctor called he asked if she had done what he told him to do. "Well, we had a thermometer in the house," she said, "but I put the barometer on my chest and it went to 'very dry,' so I give him a pint of beer, and he's gone to work."

The Years Between. By O. Lawrence Hawthorne. Too soon they come, too soon are gone, The years that lie between! So swiftly twilight follows dawn That life's resplendent scene Is shadowed by approaching night. Youth finds short time for play, And old men ambition's fight Before the close of day. A babe for just a little while, Then childhood too is done; Oh, very soon is even my Of life's brief journey run! The golden years that lie between The cradle and the cane— Their candid record, must be seen To reckon loss or gain. Lord, teach me how to utilize Each precious fleeting year Nor let me waste so rich a prize As youth; I have no fear Of meeting him who said "If I had done my best, For evening shadows then will hold Contentment, peace and rest."
