Foreign Advertising Representatives: THE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF ADVERTISERS. Having retired from the postoffice, Grant's fears is now unimpeded in his quest for the nomination for lieutenant governor on the republican ticket. It is the hope of our folks that he will capture the nomination and later the election.

Prof. O. R. Bowen always speaks well, and his address at the Country club banquet was no exception to the rule. In the course of his speech he referred to the people of this county who need golf as a sick cat needs nourishing milk. We are curious to know who the other two are.

A woman who was doing family washings to help sustain her household in unusual times, was of mind one morning when arriving late at work explained that her husband having previously died on her hands, her own had now died on her hands. She seemed to be about the last straw.

Some apprehension has been expressed by Congressman Howard, following after collection of the foreign debt, will have his attentions so divided that he will neglect his own district. This fear is dissipated when one reflects on the congressman's reported plan to have Nebraska high school districts among the first to be organized to a full-sized shipment of public buildings.

The plan of the State Teachers' College to improve and expand its large campus should inspire people of this county generally to give their remaining plots extra touches of beauty to each one, with a view to a determination to fix up his grounds, rid them of unsightliness and plant flowers and shrubs with beauty and grace. The city would become wonderfully attractive by mid-summer.

The highways that have been cleared of snow, immediately after storms are said to be in good shape now when other roads are almost impassable. The snow is being kept free from mud during winter, it is a necessary policy to make a clean sweep of snow as soon as it falls. As the snow melts, it is not difficult, and the cost would not be materially increased. The building of highways to develop business, and maintenance should include keeping them free from snow and in an easily passable condition during the three or four months of winter.

Almost any kind of weather may be had during March without spoiling the reputation of a wild-eyed insurgent, capable of causing a rough hour on short notice. It is not excessive to say that the weather that it furnishes a mild variety, as it did during a few days of the past week. It is accepted as a pleasant surprise. The weather is a variety of any distributed supplies from the North Pole, however, leads to the hope that the present month will be the best of the year. The variety of spring for coming to early preparation and conducive to early results.

A League of Neighbors is a new organization that is functioning successfully in a New Jersey city. The organization is said to be most effective due in the way of Americanization.

Over at Ponca on February 29, an old cattle brander, now aged 80, had another birthday. According to his picture which appeared in the Sioux City Journal, he is looking as good as new. The number of birthdays he has had. Mr. Armstrong was in the Civil war, and he fought at Ponca in the early twenties. He was a wonderful whistler and a wonderful spender. He never wanted to stop for coffee and a new pair of shoes. He always possessed a variety of good nature that was worth a trip across the state to sense and imbibe the atmosphere of the state. He became an invincible spender. Instead of picture shows, automobile races and radio concerts with notable prizes, people attended automobile races.

Senator R. B. Howell of Nebraska is being urged for appointment to succeed Secretary Denny in the navy department. It is pointed out that he has served the ends of economy as far as it is possible to serve them in keeping up a growing city organization in properly maintaining the future. It may justly be said of Mayor W. M. The city clerk also has been careful and efficient in handling his trust, presenting a record that deserves endorsement.

Two gorges were shattered, opening channels through which the piled ice cakes which water was backing up and covering farm areas could escape. One of the bombing planes yesterday began an effort to dislodge a huge ice gorge in the Platte river below Fort Crook. The first of a number of bombs dropped failed to make much impression on the gorge, which was ten feet high and extended all the way across the river. The gorge had formed a dam which sent water out of the river banks to the south and east of North Bend, flooding lowlands and threatening the outskirts of the town. A dozen farms are reported under water. There has been some loss of livestock, twenty head of hogs on one farm being drowned.

From Schuyler it was reported that the river began breaking yesterday in the north channel, near Platte, causing flood waters to recede. In the south channel, however, a wall of ice front causing water to cut its way around over lands.

Do you know that the negro race has made such progress in the U. S. since emancipation that it can be truly said to be on a par with the handicaps the achievements of the negro since the close of the civil war to the present time show racial characteristics of high ambition and great capacity for development? It has been said that there are few parallels, if any, where a people have been so far advanced as the negro. Bishop Robert E. Jones, one of our colored bishops, has said "Lincoln brought his faith to the negro; the great Lincoln, with his faith in the negro, risked his all, his place in history and the negro made good his faith."

Do you know that the negro race has made such progress in the U. S. since emancipation that it can be truly said to be on a par with the handicaps the achievements of the negro since the close of the civil war to the present time show racial characteristics of high ambition and great capacity for development? It has been said that there are few parallels, if any, where a people have been so far advanced as the negro. Bishop Robert E. Jones, one of our colored bishops, has said "Lincoln brought his faith to the negro; the great Lincoln, with his faith in the negro, risked his all, his place in history and the negro made good his faith."

Who Pays Taxes? ECONOMISTS have figured out that one dollar in every eight of the nation's income is paid as taxes. The indirect taxes are approximately equal to the direct taxes.

The direct taxes paid by the railroads plus the direct taxes paid by their employees, together with the indirect taxes paid by both, are equivalent to considerably more than one-eighth of the railway operating revenues.

It would be more really correct to say that out of every dollar paid the railroads for transportation, twenty cents, or more, eventually finds its way through the various channels of taxation into the coffers of the government, national, state and municipal.

Chicago and North Western System. C. & N. W. Ry. C. St. P., M. & O. Ry.

EVERYBODY PAYS TAXES! ONE may not own land, or a house or a business but one follows a normal life lives in a house and lives some occupation.

HE who owns a house pays taxes indirectly through the owner. AN increase in taxes on real estate causes an increase in rents.

AN increase in taxes paid by the manufacturer causes an increase in the price of manufactured articles.

The railroads pay taxes direct to the state and national governments amounting to about 5 1/2 cents out of each dollar earned.

The railroads pay their employees wages out of which the employees pay taxes both direct and indirect.

The railroads pay material from the manufacturer and pay taxes both direct and indirect.

Early Days

In Two Counties

From the Wayne Herald for March 31, 1924:
Easter is next Sunday, April 3, 1924.

A rural telephone line is to be built out of Randolph.

Prof. Vaught received word that his father died at Stanton.

Mrs. Charles Schultheis entertained complimentary to Miss Morgan.

A son was born March 19, 1924, to Mr. and Mrs. Eollie Fish of Winfield.

M. S. Linn and family of Carroll, are visiting relatives in Denison, Iowa.

Members of the G. A. R. and their families enjoyed a reunion at the hall.

The Pender Republic reports that the Indians of near there have been buying pianos.

George Merrill of Carroll, has returned from a trip to Steamboat Springs, Colo.

Carl Futchner who visited relatives here, has gone to his home in Plainfont, S. D.

J. A. Huebner of Hoskins and Miss Hayes of Norfolk were married April 2, 1924.

The nine college trustees met in J. D. King's office to consider improvements for the school.

George H. S. Walsh entertained a few friends in honor of their fifth wedding anniversary.

Mrs. James Brown who spent a week here visiting at the D. C. Main home, has returned to Vinton, Iowa.

The boys' brass band, under the direction of John Barker for the past three months, gave a concert on Main street.

Mrs. G. B. Carter of Winfield, is home from Sioux City where she underwent an operation at a hospital.

Rev. J. W. Walker has resigned as pastor of the Christian church at Wakefield and will engage in evangelical work.

Chancellor Andrews of the state university, lectures in Wakefield this week on the meaning of the Russo-Japanese war.

Charles Jeffrey went to Bloomfield near which place he will manage a large ranch. His family will move there soon.

The Stewart Brothers of near Allen have had 15,000 feet of cotton-wood lumber sawed from trees planted on their land thirty years ago.

Eddie Weible of Winfield, suffered a badly cut lip when a horse jumped and broke a board to which it was tied, the board striking the boy in the face.

A man digging for a well on the Winnebago reservation states that he found the rib of a buffalo buried thirty feet below the surface of the ground.

John F. Ekeroth, a former merchant at Wakefield and for six years clerk of Dixon county, died at his home in Essex, Iowa, March 26, 1924. He was in the banking business in Essex.

Miss Mabel Martin suffered some severe burns when her dress caught fire while she and her sister, Mrs. James Porterfield, were burning some grass.

A spark ignited Miss Martin's dress and the thoughtfulness of Mrs. Porterfield prevented more serious injuries.

A mass meeting of farmers was held in Wakefield this week to discuss the dangers of automobiles, traction engines and bicycles.

It is thought that the innovations of conveyance change the lives and property of those who travel with horses.

The group passed resolutions to promote safety on the highways by pledging to prosecute all who violate the law in regard to the use of the roads and to request the council to pass an ordinance regulating the speed of vehicles.

From Ponca Journal, March 4, 1920:

A bill is before congress for the return of the Ponca Indians to their old home near Niobrara.

There cannot be the slightest doubt of Gen. Grant's nomination for the presidency by the republican convention.

The vacant lands of Nebraska are being taken up and placed under cultivation very rapidly, and real estate is advancing at a wonderful rate.

The Omaha Republican says the present area sown to wheat and corn is not quite one eighteenth of the whole state.

The Niobrara Pioneer in speaking of the fact that northern Nebraska is fast coming into notice as a mineral region says:

"We're better off than we made mention of an old miner's investigation here, who claimed there are good indications of the black diamonds and now we notice in last week's issue of the Pierce County Call the following correspondence from a gentleman in Lincoln: 'In traveling through Pierce and Emery counties a short time since, I was forced to acknowledge that it was the most beautiful portion of country in northern Nebraska. In several places I discovered strong indications of coal, and especially along the 'Verdigris'—I collected many very fine specimens of stone, among them two large pieces of petrified burr oak, and in the slate quartz and lime stone I found coal of a fine quality. There is a chance for some eastern capitalists to make a good paying investment and thus rapidly develop the long hidden treasures of northern Nebraska.'"

The New Farmer.

York Republican: The farmer of song and story had a simple life. In the spring he went out and sowed his seed; he tended the crop through the growing season; harvested it at maturity. Then his work was done.

A happy man, an independent life, an enviable occupation.

Today the farmer, to keep up with the game, is compelled to be a specialist. He must know soil conditions; he must plow and harrow and disc in a scientific manner to conserve moisture and promote plant growth; he must know when and how to harvest; and when the grain is in the bin he must study marketing conditions and know when and how to sell.

In two generations the farmer has made the transition from child of nature to master of a profession.

What of our life now, and the new demands skill, education and careful experience.

Therefore the farmer, like the successful man of business, must be alert to the preparation for his work and must be in that state of mind that enables one to profit by the experience of others and accept with alacrity and good spirit every new idea that promotes the good of his vocation and insures his financial return.

Congressman Howard.

A. L. Bixby in Lincoln Journal; Congressman Howard was heard in the house of representatives last week when he introduced, for publication, the resolutions in favor of adjusted compensation for the soldiers of the world war as adopted by the Auburn chamber of commerce.

His plan for collecting the debt Europe owes us has not yet been set forth. We hold it to be an important step preliminary to increased expenses, if simultaneously some reduction is to be a part of the program.

We have doubted the possibility of extracting sanguinary funds from brasserieous plants, but all things seem possible with politicians, and there will be no trouble about adjusted compensation if that money is restored to us from across the water, and is kept out of the clutches of grafters until the proper appropriation has been made among the lads who risked their lives to make anywhere safe for the democrats.

When the judge collects the booty, that he swears would be his duty and the height of his ambition us—as a servant of the state.

When he saves his reputation by returning to the nation, all the money loaned to Europe, he'll be numbered with the great.

If this pen don't fail to function, I shall then, with pride andunction, write the story of his triumph in expressions strong and terse.

It will be no common story; it will tell of five-farms-and-plots, as the tribute to his genius is reduced to deathless verse.

If he brings in all that money to the law, I guess he'd honey; if he hangs on till he knows that every dollar is restored.

Then adjusted compensation will be easy for the nation, and no one will call it something that the people can't afford.

There's the rub—if he collects it, I guess no one expects it, with the lands across the water in a bad financial fix.

Let the judge with matters local stir himself, and Eloise Coats, were defendants, I will on the 31st day of March, 1924, at 1 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the south front door of the court house in the city of Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska, sell to the highest bidder for cash the following described real estate, to-wit: The south-half of lot two (2) in block nine (9), in Britton and Bressler's addition to the city of Wayne, Wayne county, Nebraska, to satisfy the aforesaid decree, the amount due thereon being $1,846.50 and 10 per cent interest per annum from March 12, 1921, and $57.10 costs and accruing costs.

Both Must Be Paid

It is just as essential to the public that we pay fair wages for the use of the dollars invested in our property as it is to pay fair wages to our employees.

We cannot keep capable employees if we do not pay fair wages. And we cannot get the new money we need each year from investors to make improvements and extensions if we do not pay all expenses and earn a fair return.

In order to extend and develop our system to meet the demands of the public for service, this company must obtain millions of dollars from investors each year.

It is to the public's interest, as well as to the interest of the employees and the investor, that the telephone company be prosperous.

Peace as a Public School Study.
Omaha World-Herald: If world peace is ever to become an established fact it must be supported by a profound conviction on the part of the people of the world that it is desirable, that war is unnecessary and wicked, and that conviction is not to be considered sufficiently firmly fixed in the popular mind to be effective, its foundation must be laid during the years of childhood. It is therefore a definite contribution toward the cause of universal peace which Judge Florence Allen of the supreme court of Ohio makes in her suggestion that systematic education for peace be made a part of every public school curriculum.
Such a course would consist of a scientific study of the cause and effect of war and of methods of prevention. As Judge Allen expressed it, "School children should develop their mental faculties by tracing the square root of the reparations payments of the nations through the ages, or with compilations of the horrors of a single year of armistice."
There is little doubt but that the results of educational systems of the past, insofar as they have touched the subject of war at all, have been to glorify it. We leave school with a sort of sneaking feeling that not to defend war is to be a traitor to the heroic dead who made our own nation possible. How are we to be true to Washington and Grant and all the honor role of nameless heroes who fell in the great struggle to establish independence and preserve the union, if we are to denounce war as wicked and unjustifiable?
Even when we pause to consider that general application of the idea expressed in that feeling would have all progress through the ages, it still refuses to instill a bathroom in his home because father used a wash tub by the kitchen stove on Saturday night and what was good enough for father is good enough for him. But we seem to think that if Washington could lead an army against the British, we ought to go around the world to the great struggle to establish independence and preserve the union, if we are to denounce war as wicked and unjustifiable?
So far as the United States of America is concerned the last great conflict in our history was a civil war and war." That idea will not down. No greater honor can be paid the men who gave their lives in that conflict than by our cherishing their memory and by our refusing to allow an attack of jingoism or militarism to allow it to take it.
Where hatter can we dig our first trench than in the public schools?

As Judge Allen expressed it, "School children should develop their mental faculties by tracing the square root of the reparations payments of the nations through the ages, or with compilations of the horrors of a single year of armistice."
There is little doubt but that the results of educational systems of the past, insofar as they have touched the subject of war at all, have been to glorify it. We leave school with a sort of sneaking feeling that not to defend war is to be a traitor to the heroic dead who made our own nation possible. How are we to be true to Washington and Grant and all the honor role of nameless heroes who fell in the great struggle to establish independence and preserve the union, if we are to denounce war as wicked and unjustifiable?
Even when we pause to consider that general application of the idea expressed in that feeling would have all progress through the ages, it still refuses to instill a bathroom in his home because father used a wash tub by the kitchen stove on Saturday night and what was good enough for father is good enough for him. But we seem to think that if Washington could lead an army against the British, we ought to go around the world to the great struggle to establish independence and preserve the union, if we are to denounce war as wicked and unjustifiable?
So far as the United States of America is concerned the last great conflict in our history was a civil war and war." That idea will not down. No greater honor can be paid the men who gave their lives in that conflict than by our cherishing their memory and by our refusing to allow an attack of jingoism or militarism to allow it to take it.
Where hatter can we dig our first trench than in the public schools?

Fire Does Damage To Wisner Store

Wisner, Neb., March 5.—Fire caused slight damage to the building and stock of the A. A. Becher hardware store here early this morning. Most of the damage was caused by smoke and water and is fully covered by insurance.

Cause of the fire is unknown, but it started in a closet under the stairway. There were no electric wires there that could have started the blaze. It is thought possible that matches in some old hunting clothes that were hanging in the closet might have started the blaze.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Arthur, telegraph operator, who was taking the mail from the station to the postoffice at 4:30 in the morning.

Quick response of the fire fighters probably prevented a disastrous blaze.

Wayne County Steers Sell Well.

Carl Victor of Wayne Well, received $10 per cwt. for his steers on the Sioux City cattle market February 27. There were thirty-six head in the consignment, all heavy steers that averaged 1,386 pounds each. Victor still has four loads of cattle on feed.

Wayne furnishes as many choice heaves for the Sioux City market as any other in that territory. While there are a number of shipments made at all seasons of the year, the heaviest shipments are made during the spring and early summer. Feeders at Wayne believe that it pays to buy well bred cattle and then finish their right, as was this shipment of Mr. Victor.

New Cotton Blouses and Waists for Spring

This season our cotton waists are more attractive than ever. The reason is quickly evident when you know that the popular overblouse style predominated and that most of the blouses have a touch of color. Several of those shown are in tan, while others are embroidered in blues or browns.

Cotton overblouses will be worn this year with sport sweaters and vests. One or two will be a pleasing addition to your wardrobe. These blouses are exceptional values. They are now on sale. Make your selections early.

One popular model is made of tan striped dimity; a tailored effect is given by the simplicity of the Bromley collar and front. The long set-in sleeves have turn-back cuffs trimmed with open work; priced at $1.25.

Another style has open work and Venice lace edging which gives this overblouse of subtle striped dimity an appealing attractiveness. The style follows the general trend of fashion—a Bromley collar and long set-in sleeves with turn-back cuffs at $1.75.

We have ten distinctive styles in this group of wash blouses and all excellent materials; priced from $1.25 to $2.75.

Dozens of new spring blouses in heavy weight all silk canton crepe figured now on sale, priced from $5.75 up.

Stephen E. Yarnall conducted services at the cemetery Friday. Miss Myrtle Carlson sang two solos and the burial made beside the grave of her father, four brothers and one sister.

Two Loads Bring a Dime Other High Sale

Sioux City Live Stock Record, Feb. 27, 1924: Wayne, Neb., which point furnishes as many choice beefs for this market as any shipping point in the territory, was represented on the market today with several loads of finished cattle and hogs that were sent out in stock at all seasons of the year, the heaviest shipments of cattle are made in the spring and early summer seasons. For Eightieth Birthday.

Ponca, Neb., Feb. 29.—Practically the entire city of Ponca turned out to help John W. Armstrong, for the past 46 years a resident here, celebrate the eightieth anniversary of his birthday. Mr. Armstrong moved from Illinois to Iowa in 1867, and in 1871 came to Nebraska, to Dixon county, and has lived here ever since. He is a veteran of the Civil war, serving under Gen. John A. Logan during the conflict. The aged man and his wife both enjoy good health and are interested in all community affairs.

Senatorial Sentiment.

Washington, Feb. 29.—In the present state of agitation there may be a senatorial inclination to refer that event to have been on speaking terms with ex-Secretary Fall implies some possible culpability.

Whole Truth Withheld.

Lincoln Journal: The possibility of Mr. McAdoo's "coming back" is nearly dismissed by the discovery that he did not tell the whole story either to the senate committee at Washington or to the conference of his friends at Chicago. He did not make specific, though he did refer to, the contingent clause of his contract with Dooney, by which he was to have an additional $200,000 if he succeeded in his mission to Mexico. In this miserably mess everybody seems to be telling such a part of the truth as he finds necessary, but never the "whole truth."
