The pastor will preach Sunday morning on "The Problem of World Leadership." This will be the fourth in the series on "This Present World." Preceding the sermon Prof. I. H. Brilley will give a four minute address on "The Home Mission Work of Our Church." The theme for Sunday night will be "The Timeless Sweep of a Triumphant Faith."
Mr. and Mrs. Anton Grandquist were received into membership last Sunday morning. We welcome them.

Have the churches of our land a right to be proud of their record in Sunday school work? Studies made in cross sections of the United States touching the work of the Protestant Sunday school reveal such facts as these. There are 19,000,000 persons enrolled in these schools. Three-fifths of these have no religious showing? Remember that many of these persons are either below or above school age and that of the children of school age in our country 27,000,000 are not enrolled in any Sunday school at all. One has recently said "The vast numbers of children in the United States as yet untouched by any form of education in religion is appalling. Practically one-half of our total population is under twenty-five years of age and three-fifths of these have no religious education." What a challenge this is to competent persons to offer themselves as teachers and workers in our Sunday schools. It is also a call to those who do not feel themselves competent to do such work to prepare themselves so that they will be able to do it in a creditable manner.

elves competent to do such work to prepare themselves so that they will be able to do it in a creditable manner.

Baptist Church.
(Rev. Francis Allen, Pastor.)
"I enjoyed every minute of it," said one, speaking of the service on Sunday evening. Dr. J. T. House in his address on "The Quest for World Peace," said that re-education must provide new attitudes toward other nations and races. Individual rights must be subordinate to the rights of society for only in social well-being can the individual attain self-consciousness and progress. Students need to study the language, history and history of other nations and recognize the good qualities and worthy achievements of other races and countries of the world. The pursuit of wealth and national advantage has concerned us more than the pursuit of peace.

Every month a public class has appointed a committee to arrange for a class banquet to be held on Friday, March 28. Mr. Fred Annille of Grand Island, has been secured as one of the speakers and a good program will be arranged.

Business.
Sioux City Journal: Congress has failed to act on any definite farm relief measures, of which so much has been heard since it convened last December, apparently being unable to agree that the best reliable way out of the difficulty has been found. There is still a hope that before adjournment something will be done looking to a solution of the important economic problem. Meanwhile the agricultural situation is steadily improving in spots. This improvement, however, is not rapid enough to create a general satisfactory feeling although it can be said that complaints nowadays are not as frequent as they were.

An improvement is promised for the northwest by the expedient early functioning of the farm relief corporation, which, capitalized at $10,000,000, will extend aid to the banks most in need of help. Reports from Minneapolis advise that the corporation has ample funds at its disposal, and that the only thing necessary now is to determine which banks are to be aided first. A meeting recently was held at Bismarck, N. D., at which the situation in that state was thoroughly canvassed. A similar meeting is to be held in South Dakota in the near future.

The assistance to be given by this corporation is to banks in the agricultural sections better described as one-crop regions. It is advised that sufficient aid will be extended at the outset to permit farmers to stay on their places and dig in crops this year, and that one good crop will put most of these farmers on their feet. It was discovered that their obligations while pressing were not so large but that the return from one good season would cut the amounts sufficient for them to be carried over great difficulty.

Relief for the northwest could be carried farther with the government contributing to the general work of financial rehabilitation as it would affect the agricultural sections. The $10,000,000 corporation will do great good beyond a doubt, but that it possibly can go far enough with its limited capital is not claimed. There is a chance that the government will finally help, but until it actually does so, assistance from the quarter cannot be depended upon.

The railroads of the northwest seem sure of their ground. They are going ahead with plans for general improvement of their lines, employing large crews of men and placing orders for new equipment. The failure of any similar legislation to materialize in congress has contributed to the general railroad plan for the season.

General merchants indicate a good wheat crop this year. March thus far has been cold and there has been an absence of high winds generally. Also there has been enough moisture in the ground to protect through tightening frosts, the winter wheat stand. The soil is held about the roots, and, if the weather does not change greatly in the next two or three weeks, winter wheat farmers may look forward to a good start on the growing season.

demand for building materials. The "stock markets of New York and Chicago are not unusually active but are in a healthy condition. Extension of the $100,000,000 credit to the Bank of France by New York bankers was the biggest financial undertaking of the month. A direct result of the credit will be the restoration of the franc to a higher value, which will affect in an appreciable degree international trade.

"Passing the buck" means to shrink responsibility. It means to crawl under cover and let the other fellow carry the burden of blame.

Children in Germany are reported in great need of food, and we are glad to see the movement in America to relieve such suffering abroad. To appease the hunger and preserve the lives of unfortunates exemplify the attributes of a Christian nation.

So-called "chain letters" appear to be on the increase. They are designed to relieve such suffering abroad. To appease the hunger and preserve the lives of unfortunates exemplify the attributes of a Christian nation.

Thought of without consideration.

Chas. H. Sloan, candidate for the United States senate, was in Wayne yesterday evening in the interest of his candidacy. He had intended to extend his acquaintance well over the night, but his plan to stay in town to do so has been frustrated by the heavy snowfall and impossibility to drive. Mr. Sloan served the Fourth Nebraska district in congress with distinction, and those who know his qualities of mind and conscience best, speak in highest terms of his fitness for the nation's greatest law-making body. His friends point out that his heart is knit closely to agricultural interests and that he has the ability to carry forth his convictions in behalf of farming communities.

Everybody likes fine diction and correct, English, but many people will not take the time nor put forth the effort to develop habits of best usage. Lincoln's Gettysburg address is an example of wonderfully simple and expressive diction. Sentences of Kansas, west of the plains. Some students have expressed indifference to the carrying vehicle if the thought is all right. But why not do up the conveyance and make it suited to the thought? Why neglect either? Young people ought to learn not to split infinitives before they leave high school, and the nation's lying around, our first impulse is to split it. We have to resist splitting infinitives just as a kleptomaniac has to resist stealing. If we see an infinitive straggling along and don't split it, fore and aft, it is because we have exercised a powerful lot of will power. Fundamentals ought to be well incalculated before one leaves high school, and then the superstructure of polished diction will rest on a secure foundation.

As passed by the house of representatives, the bonus bill will, if finally approved and carried out, cost approximately $2,119,000,000 in twenty years. Fair and equitable compensation to those who served with small pay and great risk during the war, should be accepted as a deserving part of the cost of the late struggle. No one would deny men heroic consideration for the soldiers. People are for them, and they would, if they could, transfer to them excessive profits gained by many during the war. People would keep capital from going into non-taxable securities. They would insist on foreign governments paying their just debts to this country. They would close unnecessary leaks, prevent waste and enforce economy in public service. They would make tax burdens more equitable by making every tax a bonus which would be a just reward to those who endured the greatest perils and hardships of the war. In addition, people would read into the statutes of the United States strict provision that in the event of a future war every individual, every industry and every dollar should be drafted for service at pay no greater than that received by the soldiers.

It was Don Quixote who went forth to fight windmills and other terrible monsters. Sancho Panza was his faithful squire, Sancho, knight-errant, armored and bespangled, and requiring the obedience and flattery of his half-rebucant squire, expected to be received and rewarded on his return from the field of battle—strewed with dead windmills—by the plaudits and encomiums of home folks. Sancho Panza was often doubtful of the great Quixote's service to mankind, but was encouraged to stick under the wings of his master's reflected light. J. P. O'Farrey of Hartington, is a candidate for delegate to the democratic national convention at Omaha, Sunday, Nebraska district. Two delegates are to be elected, and there are only two candidates. Thus, notwithstanding the fact that O'Farrey has no opposition and therefore could possibly be defeated, he has no chance of being elected.

inspired the same man to herald Northeast Nebraska prizes to her and told his candidacy. Here is the stage setting: The middle west must be rescued from a lot of fire-bushes. After a century or less of the fire-bushes, the middle west, not even a little incense has succumbed. Out of the wilderness has come a new leader, shouted in the panoply of a grand old tradition. Will no one offer a breath of opposition people must imagine a terrible conflict and an awful political carnage. The triumph of the triumphant is by spectacular and complete, and lend due courage to the arm of the west when it commands the national convention and elects long deferred deserts. We hope people will use their imaginations, and not permit mere, cold facts to detract from the picture of the occasion. We hope Hartington will lay in a supply of fireworks and charge the circumference air with the pyrotechnics of a victory when his hero returns from a vanquished field.

POOR AND RICH STUDENTS.

The Omaha World Herald calls attention to a recent editorial to the held snobbery of the position taken by Dean Niles of the Cornell University Medical college who advises that the student who is admitted to the school should be restricted to boys of rich parents. He argues that the poor boy breaks down in supporting himself while acquiring an education, that material needs preclude imagination and make his purpose "half-embarrassed and commercial." But the same reason would hold for poor boys from all branches of college training. It is a line of reasoning that assaults the American idea of opportunity. It is unsupported by the history of achievement in this country. Show us men of brilliant and unclouded success in any line, and we will show you men who, in very many instances, struggled up from the ranks of poverty, hounded, harrassed, and persecuted by self-doubt and determined effort. They were not deterred and softened by riches or over-indulgence.

Contrary to the position taken by Dean Niles is that suggested by President Burton of the University of Michigan, who charges much industry to college discipline and training to the influence of large wealth and social tinsel. Shut out the self-sustained student of energy and ambition and rest the future of our intellectual attainments exclusively on

Trade-mark Pending

I am the dapper Giraffe Trade-mark that has come to make its home at Morgan's Toggery. Now Frank wants a name for me, one that will best express all the many things I stand for and has offered a prize of $5.00 in Gold for the Best Name

- 1. A Trade-mark for Morgan's Toggery
2. The personal service idea to every customer.
3. Quality merchandise, always, and at a fair price.
4. Special attention to the man who is hard to fit.

Frank has thought some of calling me A. B. Normal and Dapper Dan, but doesn't exactly like either name, so help him out and give me a name that best expresses what he wants.

Just now I want to say to you that it's about time for you to order that Easter suit—Easter is just four weeks away.

Frank and Bill just finished unpacking the final shipment of Spring hats yesterday and believe me they have everything a man could want to select from.

The young man remained at San Antonio, and the change to that mild climate already seemed to prove helpful to his health. Mrs. Hess stopped at Lincoln on her return

Women and Smoking.

Rock Rapids Review: Every once in a while we wonder how long this cigarette-smoking-by-women thing is going to last—and how far it is going to go. And the answer is, when someone tells us the day is coming when it will be commoner than bobbed hair. Out here in the tall corn we think the action of mothers, wives, sisters, daughters and sweethearts to believe that any such thing is possible—yet every now and then we get discouraging first-hand information about what is going on in universities and colleges and in social circles in larger cities. We happen to be strong for personal liberty and do not dispute women's right to smoke cigarettes. We do not dispute her right to chew tobacco, either, but we would hate to have to live with a wife who was addicted to the use of a cuspidor.

Long Time Between Payments.

Washington Star: In the pressure of events it looks as if there might be some delay in the payment of the second installment of the Bok peace prize. A reliable means of getting the undivided attention of congress has now would itself be worthy of a prize.

Spring Opening

These days are wonderful for seeing new things. First: News that should send you hurrying to Brown's store to see them. Our store is filled with nice new merchandise—every necessity of the season—all of a quality in keeping with Brown's standard and at a satisfying low range of price.

Coats---Capes

The new sport coats, capes and dress coats cling to slimmers and straightness, but often show rippling fullness in the sleeves or novel collars. Sport models are, of course, on the preferred list, but dress models and capes have an elaboration of detail. These are very distinctive. Priced

$12.95 to $95.00

Attractive Dresses

Afford wide choice of designs and fabrics—secure in its smart straight lines the new frock may be of cashmire crepe, Molly O' crepe, chinchilla satin or novelty woolsens. This straight line is broken only by a narrow girthe, a flounce or two on a panel. A note of contrast is often struck by the use of two colors or two fabrics. Every model combines excellent lines with real becomingness. Prices range at

$12.50 to $75.00

Suits

Smartly styled, some tailored and some dressy styles in two and three-piece arrangements. Tans, checks, hair-line stripes and navy are the colors to choose from. To see them is to want them.

$25.00 to $75.00

Sweaters

Dapper sweater styles which use braid and embroidery for trimming have embodied somewhat more decorative and formal characteristics. The Mandarin coat, Bobbie-slip-ons, box coats, two-in-one sweaters and shirt collar styles take the lead in spring favorites. Priced at

$3.75 to $15.00

Smart Modes for the Larger Woman

Frocks, suits and coats for the women who require the larger sizes stress the slenderizing notes of the newer modes. It will surprise you to see our large assortment to select from. Prices range from

$19.95 to $75.00

Hosiery

Fascinating in colors are these sheer chafon hose for spring; blush, sunna, banana, beige, flesh, nude, French nude, peach, Sahara, grissette, light tan, sable, oriental pearl, and cherub. Priced at

$1.50 to $5.50

Skirts

Sport skirts of the very latest in distinctive plaids, stripes and checks, made up in pretty styles. Priced at $7.75 to $15.00

Gloves

Nothing more pretty than the long silk glove with touches of embroidery and drawn work all the newer shades. Ours are different. Come and see them.

$1.75 to $5.00

Blouses

Our new dress blouses are on-the way and are the prettiest that we have ever displayed. Beads and more beads in beautiful contrasting colors—dunities and batistes in classy styles. Priced at $2.50

Style Without Extravagance

Is what you accomplish when you trade at Brown's as we specialize in wearing apparel. We give you style no matter how small the price you pay. New spring coats and wraps from $12.95 to $95.00, suits from $25.00 to $75.00, dresses from $12.50 to $75.00, and large assortments for small women as well as the large women.

Paul Midner Jr. had a party in honor of his birthday in the kindergarten last week.

His Seventy-Fourth Birthday Observed

March 14 was made the occasion of a happy birthday celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roggenbach in the Altona vicinity. He was Mr. Roggenbach's seventy-fourth birthday anniversary, and his six sons and four daughters and families, including eleven grandchildren, gathered at the home to spend the evening. Cards, piano music and visiting made the time pass pleasantly. Mrs. Robert Roggenbach, assisted by her daughters and daughters-in-law, served an appetizing luncheon. A big birthday cake, with seventy-four candles, was baked by Mrs. Chas. Roggenbach. After a social time, the guests left for their respective homes, wishing the honored Roggenbach many more happy birthdays.

Laurel Youth Is Accidentally Shot

Newcastle, Neb., March 18.—Accidentally shot in the side, by a gun in the hands of his brother, Martin, 12 years old, Harold, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Volney Ward, farmers living a mile north of Laurel is in a serious condition in a hospital, but has a chance to recover. The charge went almost through the body and can be seen from the opposite side.

The boys were playing with a loaded gun Sunday, when the accident occurred.

Teachers' Meeting to be in Norfolk

The annual convention of the Third District Nebraska Teachers' association will, according to action taken last Thursday by the executive committee at a meeting in Lincoln, be held in Norfolk, April 10, 11 and 12. L. J. Surface of Albion, president of the district, had charge of the meeting.

Supt. Simon and the teachers of Norfolk are planning an attractive program for the convention. There are 500 or 600 teachers who will be in the city those days.

The funeral of the late Fred H. Benshoff Friday afternoon was attended by a crowd that filled the Methodist church to overflowing. Out of respect to memory of the deceased, business hours were closed during the funeral hour. It is explained that Perry Benshoff of Van Tassel, Wyo., did not receive his message announcing the death of his brother until Friday evening, and therefore could not be present for the funeral.

Mother's Workshop

Mother spends on an average of six hours a day in the kitchen. Efficiently equip it for her with a glistening white Kohler Enameled Kitchen Sink. Lasts a life-time. Easily kept clean. The drainboards are set-at-just the right angle. You can set the Kohler sink at just the right height—it's adjustable—to eliminate back strain.

Kohler Ware is uniform in quality—every piece bears the name "Kohler" in dainty blue letters inconspicuously but permanently fused into the enamel, for your protection.

You will be surprised at their low cost. Call or telephone today.

Two musical treats are in store for the people of Wakefield in the near future. The first one will be offered Sunday evening, March 30, at the Hultman-Nordst. Concert company of Chicago will appear in our church. The second will be given April 24 by the Orlofe church of Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill.

First Presbyterian Church. (Rev. Stephen E. Yenn, Pastor.) The old hackneyed statement used so much by evangelists "that some never go to church until they are taken in the hearse" in many cases is true. "Remember now thy creator in the days of thy youth." The message for Sunday morning will be "Passing Down Life's Way." Mrs. H. A. Bowman will sing, "I'm Sure I Shall Not Pass Again This Way." Anthem by the choir.

In the evening the message will be a study of "Three Modern Poets." Who do you think is the greatest modern poet? Why do you think he is great? What message did he give to the world? Poets, musicians, painters, as well as preachers, preach the gospel. This can be made a very profitable evening. Suitable music will be given. The Sunday school will meet at the usual hour, and it will encourage the superintendent and everyone if you do the unusual thing and be on time, and bring some new scholar. You can do this.

The Christian Endeavor topic will be "The personal touch in winning others to Christ." That is the specific work of Christian Endeavorers. Their motto is "For Christ and the Church." Part of the service will be given to a debate on the most mooted question "Immigration." In this field many can be won to Christ. Dorothy Green is leader.

Snowstorm is General. Omaha, Neb., March 17.—Snow was general in Nebraska today, the fall being nearly seven inches in Omaha. Because of the absence of high winds, however, no damage was done as was a year ago when three Nebraska parishes in a blizzard. Crops are expected to benefit.

Last night's storm reached its severest intensity at 3 o'clock this morning at which hour the fall was blinding. A wind from the north soon subsided, preventing blockade of traffic.

Railroads this morning reported all trains practically on time. Had there been wind, schedules would have been shattered, train dispatchers said.

Telegraph and telephone lines were reported in no immediate danger.

Coming at an opportune time, the snow is of inestimable value to range and farm lands, the local weather-bureau reported.

For Representative

As a resident of Wayne county for twenty-seven years, I have devoted most of the time to farming and cattle raising, and I feel that I know the needs of farming communities. I am in favor of the utmost economy in the conduct of public affairs. I want to see fewer political jobs, and greater tax reduction. I want to see good roads and see the public get the full worth of every dollar spent in road building.

I have raised a family of boys who are tillers of the soil, and I am vitally interested in everything that pertains to the farming business.

If Wayne county people feel that I am qualified to represent them in the legislature, I will appreciate their votes, and pledge myself to do everything possible to serve the public welfare.

Mrs. Harold W. Shackelford was hostess to members of the Larkin club Friday afternoon. Contest and games provided much excitement and amusement for the guests. Mrs. C. E. Marvin, Mrs. W. J. Stead, and Mrs. D. A. Paul were the prize winners. Much credit is due all the ladies who assisted in serving the supper, especially Mrs. D. A. Paul and Mrs. Chas. Clark, under whose supervision the supper was arranged. Music was furnished throughout the evening by both the junior and senior bands. The first concert of the evening was given by the junior members, about thirty in number, and met with great applause. It has only been four months since this junior band was organized and it hardly seems possible that they could progress so rapidly. Mr. Shackelford is given much credit for the efficient manner in which he directs this organization. After the junior-band concert the senior band gave a program which far surpassed any previously rendered here. Owing to the interest taken in these two bands it is evident that some real talent will be displayed this summer when the concert season opens.

The chicken pie supper and concert given in honor of the Concord Owl band Saturday evening was a big success, the sum of $68.40 being realized. With the improved condition of the road and good weather a much larger crowd attended than was anticipated, and we realize the truth of the adage "the more the merrier." Much credit is due all the ladies who assisted in serving the supper, especially Mrs. D. A. Paul and Mrs. Chas. Clark, under whose supervision the supper was arranged. Music was furnished throughout the evening by both the junior and senior bands. The first concert of the evening was given by the junior members, about thirty in number, and met with great applause. Sunday, March 23: Sunday school at 10 a. m.

Swedish services at 11 a. m.

English services at 7:30 p. m.

Friday, March 21, Little League at 8 p. m.

Next Sunday, March 23, has been designated as the mission day for the foreign mission, when an offering for that mission will be lifted. More than two hundred circulars and envelopes have been mailed, and it is to be hoped that all will be returned with a gift for the good cause.

On Tuesday, April 1, the Hultman-Nordin Concert company, of the Bush Conservatory of Music in Chicago, will give an evening concert in the church. This concert company is composed of four of the best artists now before the Swedish public of America as follows:

William Hultman, baritone, who directed the Swedish male chorus on its successful tour of Sweden last summer; Miss Ebba Fredrickson, the delightful Swedish soprano, who toured Sweden as soloist with the Swedish Choral club in 1920; and Paul Hultman, pianist, son of the noted singer, Rev. Hultman.

Composed by many of the leading musical critics of America, as well as in many of the important musical magazines and papers, point out that these four artists have exceptional talent and ability.

Candidates to April 8

J. G. Bergt
Altona, Neb.
Democratic Candidate
For County Assessor
Subject to the Primaries April 8, 1924.

Your vote will support the ambition of an old settler, and an actual farmer. He can also point to twenty years of successful merchandising and five years of satisfactory assessor service in his own precinct. His experience leads him to know just values. Manifestly, he is qualified.

Your Support is Solicited and will be Appreciated.

For Sheriff

A. E. Gildersleeve who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of O. C. Lewis, has filed as a republican candidate to succeed himself. Mr. Gildersleeve has lived in Wayne county thirty-eight years, and engaged in farming until last year when he quit to take up his new duties as sheriff.

Mr. Gildersleeve has shown himself to be a live wire in the office of sheriff. He has responded promptly to the call of duty, and his record of efficiency will bear the closest scrutiny. His candidacy is offered in the belief that it deserves endorsement at the polls.

Pest Remedies Shown In Motion Pictures

"Poison," a one-reel education motion picture visualizing the activities of the insecticide and fungicide board has been recently released by the United States department of agriculture.

The film shows the numerous ways in which the American farmer, the greatest user of chemicals in the world, employs poisons of various sorts to destroy insect pests and diseases which attack his crops and livestock, and how the insecticide and fungicide board protects the public against fraudulent materials by examining all insecticide and fungicide offered for sale in interstate shipments. Various laboratory scenes illustrate the chemical analysis given the materials and field scenes show how the worth of the "poison" is determined by actual test.

The seizure of "fake" materials, which may only fail to "cure" but often cause enormous losses by actually injuring plant or animal, and the punishment of their purveyors, are also included in the film, and sounds a warning to users of insecticides and fungicides to beware of untested poisons and to use only tried and proved articles.

"Poison" will be circulated through the educational film service of the department and the cooperating state institutions. Copies may be secured for short periods or may be purchased at the laboratory charge.

Every Man to His Trade

Work Journal: We admire people who do not envy. They are happy and they contribute much to the happiness of others.

The unhappy person is one who always wants to do what someone else does or have what someone else has.

Content is based first of all on the right application of his own possessions, and then the joy of labor. True possessions are not things at all, but talents and education. They are of attainment, not bestowed by birth or station or position. In every heart that grows into the right state of mind, there is the joy if they are allowed to take root and grow.

It is the priceless privilege of every individual to begin his life work just where he is stationed and do his best with the equipment he has and the courage he can muster. Success is no consolation for a daydream come true; but the inspiration of today wrought into a pattern wherein industry and self-sacrifice have no small part.

Happy is the man or the woman who has found the secret of successful life. It is in conscientious work. And that is something that is the free birthright and privilege of every person.

SHEET ROCK
the fireproof WALLBOARD

Ask your lumber dealer for a sample

In the old days, houses were built with big, rocky attics. That's not any more. Sheet rock is valuable now. To make the most of it, by some sheets of this different wallboard. When you get through nailing it to the joists or studding, you will have a new room or two—neat, smooth-surfaced, cool in summer and warm in winter, fireproof, too—all because of Sheetrock.

California. Dr. A. L. Shuler, Lincoln Journal: (Mentioning things historical, and also attempting to show why "Fifty years in Nebraska were better than a year in California.") Balboa discovered the mighty Pacific.

Possessed as he was with a vision terrific; And yet I would dare to assume that he found it Because of the trouble in getting around it.

He scarce could maintain his ambitious endeavor To move to the westward forever and ever, Because where the verdure-crowned ed coast mountains dropped him. The deep, peaceful water quite naturally stopped him. Balboa, quite speechless at first, never stuttered. But these are the words that he presently uttered: "No man heretofore, of the races caucoid. Has splashed in the water where I am now splashing"; And I am predicting that full half a million Who people this coast-line will soon be Castilian, Who profits the find of that gink from Genoa? This seacoast's a pick-up of mine," said Balboa, "And I do perceive, not so far in the distance. A coming across that shall baffle resistance. The Redskins up north are now capped—we should worry. The padres will oust the whole bunch in a hurry. Great cities will build (maybe fifteen or twenty). And people flock in who have money and plenty; And there'll be adopted a system of tagging. The ones who are stupidly slack about bragging." A man named Davida, of Spanish extraction, Was stirred by this language to dissatisfaction. Accusing Balboa of no less than treachery. He had him dispatched without justice or reason, O, bitter the pills! but they forced him to take 'em. And in a short time he was dead as they make 'em.

The years have sped by, as the years have sped by, And people who travel as they have a mind to, Allured to the coast by the stories and treasures. Of climate unchanging, and joys without measure, Have peopled the region of bellowing billows.

With hand-outs for some, and with sand-dunes for pillows, And there they must stay—no escape for the roysterers. And perch or lo! the new order of Boosters.

Who strive to advance in a manner to vex us, By routes from the east from Genobah to Texas. There's not much to raise, so these boosters keep yelling, "Come west and get wealthy by buying and selling."

They say to you plutely, as brother to brother, "The way to get rich is to skin one another; And while the excitement keeps up, unadjusted, The chances are sure to get rich or go busted. The ones who make good will keep blowing—don't doubt it— The ones who go broke will keep quiet about it.

The coast has attractions, and I'm not the crasser! To some who can't savor the sweet with the bitter. Its sales are enchanting, its mountains enduring, Its climate of highbrows would say, reassuring;

And now and forever the dark-rotting ocean Will rouse the man's bosom both awe and devotion. But what can the toiler have courage and hope in When rivers run dry all their bottoms pop open;

Where ground is packed hard that men scatter seed on, And cattle can't graze, for there's nothing to feed on. So give me the country where all the crops flourish, The corn and potatoes that strengthen and nourish, With fruits just as plenty and fine as they grow 'em. And meeting all I can say in this poem.

The valleys where blossom the earliest daisies, The green slopes beyond, where the spotted cow grazes; The hills not too high, nor the valleys too level;

The forests and streams where the wild warblers revel. And over it all the blue dome that God thought to provide, so Nebraska would look as she ought to. It isn't my purpose on this glad occasion, By grass undeserved or by cunning evasion To misrepresent; for it isn't a matter of life or death.

That falls for too much, and inclines one to flatter. It isn't balloons to the sky-line I'm vaulting— Demons-truth is the thing I'm wanting. Nebraska—where nothing essential is missing— She speaks for herself; we have only to listen.

If You Use Oil For Fuel Read This

Keep it oil stove with sanitary with a damp cloth. No awkward corners, cracks or crevices to hold dirt or grease.

One of the Finest Examples in Modern Stove Building—

The New-Type, Sanitary

Picture the beautiful stove illustrated, in your kitchen. Imagine an oil stove with sanitary white porcelain and black enamel finish; with the most modern, smooth, stream line construction; with flush doors; with ugly bolt heads gone; that may be kept bright and shining with a damp cloth. In a word, picture an oil stove that looks and cooks like the most modern gas range, important features that cannot be had on any other oil or gas range. That is the new type, Sanitary Red Star Oil Stove which we are now demonstrating.

No Wicks

We are holding open house. We cordially invite you to come in so we can show you the many unusual features and demonstrate how this modern stove cooks with gas though it burns oil. This famous, patented, all metal burner is found only in the Red Star. No wicks. No wick substitutes. Uses common kerosene, gasoline or distillates. Cooks with clean, hot, economical gas heat. Gives perfect results. Saves one-fourth the fuel. Lasts a lifetime.
