Mrs. Marie Weeks of Norfolk Talks Here

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Beckenbauer Friday afternoon with Mrs. Howard Whaler and Mrs. C. O. Mitchell assistant hostesses. A large crowd was present and enjoyed a pleasant and profitable afternoon. Mrs. John Grant Shick led devotions and a hymn was sung in unison. A short business session followed after which Mrs. Mitchell introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Marie Weeks, editor of the Norfolk Press. Misses Frances Beckenbauer, Emily Sutton and Miriam Johnson came in at the close of the address and each sang two songs in her usual, delightful manner. At the close of the afternoon the hostesses served refreshments. Mrs. Weeks' talk proved very instructive and was followed by eager questions from many of her hearers. She said in part:

"You command that I tell you of the political situation in Nebraska. How do you feel about it? It is as hard as difficult as cleaning the Augean stables? Everywhere you hear people say, 'the voters are not talking things that are big or no interest in things political.' Again you hear others say, 'the people are disgusted' with politics and politicians. I have heard that as long as I can remember. As a country school teacher almost a quarter of a century ago I urged farmers to leave their fields on election day to perform their duty as citizens, only to be told, 'It makes no difference whom we elect, they are all the same when they get into office.'

"And today when I pick up the daily papers whatever their political creed I see new reasons for the voters' disinterestedness and disgust, for with the stories that are coming out of Washington about Teapot Dome, the veterans' bureau, the department of justice and the charges of protection given I see only the gravest danger to our beloved country in the resulting loss of faith in things governmental.

"But we must not confuse our government with the administration that happens to be in office. Democratic writers charge that the republican party is rotten and cite present-day Washington news to prove it. Republican writers make the same charges against the democrats and point to the proffering and other scandals that grew out of the war. Third party folk declare that both old parties are corrupt and insist that they are the saviors of the people. I do not believe any party is rotten. Neither do I believe that the people who constitute these parties are very different from one another. Critics who make these charges mean when they speak of parties not the parties at all but the organizations, the rings, the inside manipulators who use the party emblem to win places for their men that they may be rewarded in the things they want most, which are not party honors but opportunities to satisfy their greed at public expense. And every party has these kind of men and men and public office, who play with voters as though they were so many chess men on the board. It is because of this kind of group of great seekers that neither party excels the other in office. To stack with the organization it is necessary to build fences around what has been gained and fences are built with public favors, one things that belong to you and me. The saddest thing in America today is the indifference of the public to what belongs to the public; that and the reaction that I just named, the feeling that politics is unclean and that office holders are all selfish is not dishonest.

"I feel that the political situation is encouraging rather than discouraging. I admit that many people are indifferent. I admit that politics or government—for they mean the same thing—has been given a bad name by the incompetency, dishonesty and inincerity of many recognized as politicians and office holders. But admitting these things I still hold that the American people are seeing the darkest hour that has preceded the dawn of a new day in which all the people will awake to their responsibility as American citizens. That dawn may come tomorrow, next month or next year, but it is coming.

"Is Teapot Dome something that happened yesterday and for the first time? Not at all. It is the result of the handling of the public domain, of our natural resources, reeks with exploitation of the many for the few. The way we have advanced efficiently to cry out against further robbery of the public is to me a most encouraging sign. The nation's reaction to the United States a hundred years ago were the richest possessed by a modern nation. They were as free and limitless as the air and sunshine of the United States are about all we have left and the radio greedsters are trying to get possession of the air. Our water rights which it utters dark and power at the cost of production are being grabbed up by the public utility corporations who will be able to put their price on all these things just as the coal and lumber kings have done. * * * This country needs men and women of right hearts and pure minds to take up the banner of serviceable spirits to deal with matters of government in a way to lift the loads of the backs of the people from Chicago says open violation of the liquor law is apparent there and that the withdrawal of hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of the liquor from bonded warehouses is charged to the authority of a high official in Washington whose duty it is to enforce the law. Do you wonder that the little bootlegger takes his chance with moonshine after reading these stories? * * *

"I would like to see a few women in the Nebraska legislature if for no other reason than the women's point of view. Politics is a philosophy and a science. Statesmen are men. To say they are more or less meaningless but the call of human need appeals to women.

"We have in politics in Nebraska men of an great ability, of as high character and of as fine devotion to public service as we have ever had. We have others who would find their way of public office by appeals to social and religious prejudices, sectional interests and petty selfishness. The primary is blamed for some of these things. There are those who argue that better men would be chosen for office if the positions were left to the women of the best minds rather than the electorate at large. * * * The primary has a great responsibility upon us and it is the duty of every man and woman with a high spirit of high devotion to the public good. We must all help."

Our people are urged to attend the meetings. One of the finest monuments in the development of the United States has been seen in the development of "The Great American Desert" into "The Bread Basket of the World." The "forty-niners" and other pioners who traversed the states (then territories, or unorganized) wrote back home of the great wastes of land which would never be anything but barren; and the geographers of the day charted the Great American Desert as reaching from the Missouri river to the far west. Much of this "desert" has been made to "blissom as the rose," and has become the home of happy and prosperous farmers and the site of great cities. A great Norwegian man of letters has written concerning this part of the country: "There you are living in touch with heaven and earth, one with all these wide, deep-rooted things; where man and nature don't bombard each other, but agree. There you have everything to live on, everything to live for, everything to believe in." The church has been one of the most potent forces in bringing to pass such great changes in a little over a half century.

Wayne's Big Revival Round-Up. With Rev. C. H. Hunter, known as the cowboy and ex-soldier evangelist from Wyoming, in the saddle, fences all down, and coral gate wide open, Wayne's revival round-up opens in Community Hall, Sunday night, March 30, at 7:30 o'clock.

The E. C. Hunter evangelistic party are not the only ones in Nebraska, having conducted some very successful campaigns in other parts of the state. They come to Wayne highly recommended.

Every Protestant church in the city has been invited to cooperate. Evangelist Hunter's phenomenal success lies largely in the fact that his style differs from that of the usual type of evangelist.

To the vitality of the week, he has added the culture of the university, together with years of extensive travel. His experience during the World War has also left its impress upon him. On the platform he is who wins.

Clem Payne directs the chorus and congregational singing. If you sing, you are invited to join the chorus choir.

Every real Christian man and woman of the county is urged to take part in the campaign.

Sunday night, Evangelist Hunter's sermon will be, "A Cowboy's Religion."

Services every night next week at 7:30, Community Hall. Come and bring another with you.

Rev. Mr. Krause of Plainview, performed the ceremony. Mrs. Krause played the wedding march, Miss Lydia Behmer of Hoskins, and Miss Martha Duffing of Osmond, were the bride's attendants and Harry Gustman of Plainview, and Albert Behmer of Hoskins, were the best men.

The bride was most charming in a gray silk canton crepe dress and tea roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaids wore dresses of satin crepe.

After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served by the bride's mother. Only immediate relatives were present.

Rudolph H. Hammer Weds Hilda Thun

Rudolph H. Hammer, son of Hans Hammer, and Miss Hilda A. Thun, daughter of Charles Thun, were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Evangelical Lutheran church in Wayne with Rev. H. A. Teichman performing the ceremony. A few relatives and friends witnessed the wedding. The young couple will live on a farm six miles south of Wakefield.

The bride wore a dress of blue and veil and her bridesmaid, Miss Helen Franzen, also wore blue. Each carried a bouquet of flowers. The pedagogue was attended by Harry Hammer. Mrs. Martin Ringer played the wedding march. Bouquets of flowers added to the attractiveness of the church.

Relatives were dinner guests at the Charles Thun home southeast of Wayne last evening and friends were entertained there for a reception in the evening.

SPORT DETAILS

—still in evidence in Boys' Clothes

Weak Mittles for Tot.

The small tots also get a big play for spring. As in former seasons the wash middy will be seen in many styles. These are made very practicable by using strong, long wearing materials, to meet the requirements of restful boyhood, where there is no need for clothes worn. Tommy Tucker and Oliver Twist suits again hold the stage in many models, as well as a varied assortment of attractive-colored and dressy styles.

There are also many styles in the one-piece suits with washable sateen waists and black and dark colored straight pants. Juvenile headwear shows in distinct style change, although there is a tendency to match waist suits with hats. Here again practicality holds sway, as the materials used are all washable. For boys, caps of tweed materials in colors to match the suits they wear will be in vogue.

Collar Attached Shirts.

The boy has taken the lead best by his older brother, and leans strictly toward the collar attached shirt. These are shown in plain and pin-striped effects. Shoes also seem to follow out the precedent of the older boys by showing many styles of the low knee or oxford.

Activities of the growing boy, usually along sport lines, find full expression in the new sporting models in boys' clothes.

Like his dad, the youngster is tiring of waif effects in his clothes. He wants them plainer and more rugged. As the plain sack coat is displacing the Norfolk and belted back models (a feature new, so the more conservative and sensible suit is displacing the "freak" and "jazz" models of a few years back in boys' clothes.

But the clothes enjoying will look exactly like his "Big Brother Billy's" even to the matter of following the English trend. In fact, when Buddy puts his knickers on, from shorts to long, he will find a delightful little difference in the style. While the newest models show many points combined with good looking tailored lines followed are just the same as Dad wears—plenty of conservatism combined with good looking tailored lines.

Fabrics for both knicker suits and first long trousers favor tweeds of many weavings and patterns. While the work and ready abundance, there will also be plenty of neat striped patterns. There are enough patterns to give way to any individual expression.

The real musical treat of the season in the form of the University of Nebraska Glee club is going to visit our city on the evening of Monday, March 31, at Wayne Community House. The club is composed of twenty-two university men who have spent all year in preparing the program that they are giving on their twelve-day spring tour and which they are going to give in our city. Since its organization the club has met with exceptional success. Last year it took a two week's trip to Denver, meeting with the request for return engagements on every occasion. This year the young men have appeared at numerous campus occasions and sung to fine audiences, two performances an evening for one week in one of the theatres of Lincoln. The manager of the theatre later said that it was the best that he had ever heard.

The program rendered by this group of songsters features songs by the glee club, selections by the university quartet, vocal solos, instrumental and piano numbers. Also it embraces a high class sketch selected from "Robin Hood."

This is the first time that the University of Nebraska Glee club has appeared in our city and we are fortunate in having the opportunity to hear them.

The club is directed by Prof. Parvin Witt, who has had great success in direction of Glee clubs in various sections of the country. He was formerly director of the Ohio Wesleyan Glee club which was successful by any club in the United States; He also formerly was connected with the Chicago Metropolitan Opera Co. He has taken great pains in directing the University of Nebraska Glee club and has turned out an organization of songsters unequalled in the west.

The entertainment is of high calibre and will be enjoyed by everyone. The program contains originality and mirth. Expert musical critics of Lincoln and vicinity have pronounced the club one of the best in the country.

The University is striving to present itself in a bigger and better way and this provides an opportunity for the university to come in closer contact with the people of our city. Program starts at 8 p. m.

Musical Treat.
On Tuesday, April 1, the Hult-man-Nordin Concert company, of the Bank and Concert company, of Chicago, will give an evening concert in the Lutheran church at Can-cor. This company is composed of four of the best artists before the Swedish public in America.

Mr. William H. Nordin, baritone, who directed the Swedish male chorus on its successful tour of Sweden
last summer.

Miss Ebba Fredrickson, the delightful violinist who was so enthusiastically received in Sweden as soloist with the male chorus.

Miss Jennie Ekblom-Petersen, soprano, who toured Sweden as soloist with the Swedish Choral club in 1920, and

Mr. Paul Hultman, a very accomplished pianist, son of the noted soloist, Rev. Hultman.

Comments in many of the papers
and important musical magazines,
made by many of the leading musical critics of America, point out that these four artists have exceptional talent and ability. It will indeed be a musical treat to hear such talent. m20-27

From Other Editors
Fairbury News: Up at Wilber a
number of the leading merchants
were engaged in a prearranged meeting for conducting lotteries. They have been indicted and it seems
there is not much left for them to do but to spend themselves upon
the mercy of the court. They were giving away automobiles and other
valuable prizes to stimulate trade.

Uncle Sam has evidently decided to put an end to this style of law-
violating, as similar indictments
have been filed in several Nebraska
towns.

Hartington Herald: One of the finest and truest things Emerson
ever said is contained in his Uses
of Great Men when he speaks of Napoleon Bonaparte as an "experiment under the most favorable conditions of the powers of intellect
without conscience." That is a true
characterization of the great and
brilliant Napoleon and that is why,
great and brilliant as he was, he
was one of the most colossal failures in history.

Wahoo Wasp: Quite frequently
you hear someone complain about
the high cost of living and say that
a generation ago many a man was able to raise a family, pay for a
home and enjoy a few of the luxuries of life on $50 a month. Now
they cannot keep out of debt on $150 or $200. While it is true that the value of a dollar has become
less, our tastes and demands have increased. Twenty-five years ago
even judges, lawyers, preachers and
practically every business man in the town of Wahoo, kept a cow, a
branch of chickens and not infrequently a pig in the back yard, and
raised a good sized garden, carried
his own groceries and bought no
gasoline and spent no time worrying about paying taxes. Times have changed and one has a piano, a
phonograph and a radio in the house,
and a car in the garage, with everything else in proportion. We like these things and they are all O. K.

but we must figure on paying for them. It is expected to enjoy them

Fairbury News: Up at Wilber a
number of the leading merchants
were engaged in a prearranged meeting for conducting lotteries. They
have been indicted and it seems
there is not much left for them to
do but to spend themselves upon
the mercy of the court. They were
giving away automobiles and other
valuable prizes to stimulate trade.

Uncle Sam has evidently decided to
put an end to this style of law-
violating, as similar indictments
have been filed in several Nebraska
towns.

Hartington Herald: One of the
finest and truest things Emerson
ever said is contained in his Uses
of Great Men when he speaks of Napoleon Bonaparte as an "experiment under the most favorable conditions of the powers of intellect
without conscience." That is a true
characterization of the great and
brilliant Napoleon and that is why,
great and brilliant as he was, he
was one of the most colossal failures in history.

Wahoo Wasp: Quite frequently
you hear someone complain about
the high cost of living and say that
a generation ago many a man was
able to raise a family, pay for a
home and enjoy a few of the luxuries of life on $50 a month. Now
they cannot keep out of debt on $150 or $200. While it is true that
the value of a dollar has become
less, our tastes and demands have
increased. Twenty-five years ago
even judges, lawyers, preachers and
practically every business man in
the town of Wahoo, kept a cow, a
branch of chickens and not infre-
quently a pig in the back yard, and
raised a good sized garden, carried
his own groceries and bought no
gasoline and spent no time worrying about paying taxes. Times have changed and one has a piano, a
phonograph and a radio in the house,

"Price Class"
the mysterious stranger in the motor industry

Does a difference in price indicate a difference in quality? Why is one car priced 25% to 50% higher than another of the same quality? The 4 questions that a buyer should ask when considering any car.

HERE are facts based on world's engineering authority. If you have any intention of buying an automobile, you are urged to read them:

No "Price Class"

There are only two kinds of automobiles today. Economically produced cars which give you more for your money. And cars which are not, and give you less.

Price does not indicate intrinsic worth. But an individual maker's cost of production.

Hence two cars may show a price difference of $400 to $1,200 and more. And be of the same quality.

The difference in price simply shows that it cost one maker more to make this car than the other. Judging value on price, this is folly. Price class is a myth.

The average small manufacturer whose volume will enable him to build only 5,000 bodies from a set of dies in the same time in which Studebaker builds 50,000 has to charge each body $20 for die cost. The difference of $18 is in the price but not in the body. The customer pays it but he gets nothing tangible for it. It is one of the penalties of uneconomical manufacture.

Thus a car priced at $1,200 to $1,400 can be sold as low as $1045 when produced economically in quantity.

ings than are used in any competitive car, within $1,500 of its price.

We subject Studebaker cars to 30,000 inspections. That requires 1,200 men. All told over 70,000 hand and machine operations are performed in the manufacture of a Studebaker car. In so many operations, though each one is small, there is great opportunity for economy and savings. 15% premium is paid on many steels to insure Studebaker specifications instead of "commercial run" used in cars many times Studebaker price.

No finer car can be built than the Studebaker of today. Only famous foreign cars and the most costly of American cars, compare.

Why Studebaker excels the world in body building

For 72 years Studebaker has been a builder of quality vehicles. This historical tradition has been inbred in generation after generation of coach-makers. And the Indiana city of South Bend is known as a world-Mecca of artisans of this craft.

In the modern $10,000,000 Studebaker body plants, there are sons and fathers and grandfathers working side by side. Their religion is fine coach building. And this is reflected in their work.

As fine body builders, Studebaker stands supreme. No other maker has the experience of Studebaker. No other the Studebaker traditions to inspire him.

See a Studebaker—Then Decide

Buy no car until you've seen a Studebaker. Go over it, point for point. Consider any unbiased expert. Ask your banker. And you will own a Studebaker.

Get an Answer to These 4 Questions Before Buying Any Car

- 1—Is this an assembled car? Or "partly" assembled. Insist on this answer. Assembled cars pay a profit to from 75 to 100 parts makers alone.
- 2—What sort of bearings? Studebaker cars are Timken-equipped. Everlasting smoothness and quiet performance result.
- 3—How many car a year does this maker produce? Small production means either a higher price or cheaper car.
- 4—What sort of upholstery? Studebaker closed models are done in Chase Mohair, the finest material for this purpose known. Open models are upholstered in genuine leather.

Where the Difference Comes in Studebaker, producing 150,000 cars yearly, has reduced engineering cost to $3.33 per car.

This is based on a total engineering cost of $500,000 a year, which is the least on which any manufacturer can maintain an efficient engineering department.

Thus a manufacturer producing but 20,000 cars a year must add $25 per car for engineering, or eight times as much as Studebaker.

Other fixed overheads have been reduced proportionately. And these influence Studebaker prices.

Equalled Only by Costliest Foreign and American Makes

All Studebaker models are equipped with Timken bearings. There are few cars in America, regardless of price, which equal ours on this point. In our Light-Six, for instance, we put more Timken bearings than any other car.

A set of body dies costs $100,000. It will produce many thousand sets of body stampings, each one as perfect as though there were only a dozen made.

By building 50,000 bodies from a single set of dies, Studebaker reduces the die cost per body to only $2.00.

Such a car is the Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car, at $1045. A clear difference of between $155 to $355.

The uneconomical manufacturer is not profiting here. He is unfortunately situated, that is all.

The number of residence and business houses built from 1914 to 1921 was greatly below normal, and far less than required by the increase in population.

The building shortage in the west, which means that the next few years will be ones of intense building activity. Recently the amount of new construction has been far above normal.

As a result of this increase in construction work, vast sums of money must be invested in equipment plant and telephone to provide service for these new buildings.

In order to obtain from investors the money necessary for growth, it is essential that we have the confidence and good will of the public and earn a fair rate of return on the value of our property.

The constant aching of a bad back. The weariness, the tired feeling, the pains and aches of kidney life may signify seriously if not treated. Dangerous urinary troubles often follow.

A Wayne citizen shows you what to do.

Melvin Norton, painting contractor, Wayne, says: "I have been a painter for the last forty years and the continual aching of the lumbago and the pain in my kidneys was a bad condition and burned in passage. At last I tried Doan's Pills and they brought good results. I kept on using Doan's and they benefited me. I use them at different times now when I feel my kidneys need attention and they always remedy the trouble."

Business

Sloux City Journal: The refusal on the part of retailers to stock more heavily than immediate turnover justifies the wholesalers' general jobbers to place orders out of proportion to the retail demand, and of producers to deal more heavily in raw materials than trade conditions warrant may be traced to many direct and indirect causes. Optimists, especially those who prefer to believe that trade methods generally have been improved, would explain it by saying the situation is merely a development of better balance in buying and selling. However, it is important in dry line. Money invested in goods that lie on shelves and in warehouses for months is not at work. It is true in the case of the producer, the wholesaler, the jobber and the retailer.

This may be a practice for some time, lighter buying and more frequent orders. Transportation when wanted has encouraged the plan. When it is possible to get goods to meet an increasing demand, the merchant is not likely to worry about not carrying a topheavy stock. Storage space is possessed of a value, and, unless long time credits are obtained, the money invested in drawing interest or producing capital for other pockets. That is one reason why general buying is not as brisk as in other years at this season.

Another view may be taken: The promised relief of tax reduction has not yet come. It is possible—indeed, it is likely—that the country's business plans have been held in abeyance somewhat because of the desire to see which way the cat is going to jump. In the east there is frank confession of displeasure over the impetus given the soldier bonus bill which has passed the house. This feeling is somewhat disappointed by the hope and belief that both the senate and the White House will oppose the measure. The original Mellon contention that the country cannot have both the bonus and tax reduction is still being cited.

WESTERN PIONEER TELLS INTERESTING EXPERIENCE

Frank Rikert, Who Left Illinois for California in Covered Wagon in 1864, Wouldn't Take $100 for Bottle of Tanlac.

Frank Rikert, well known resident of North Sacramento, Calif., who came to the state from Illinois in a covered wagon in 1864, along with other hardy pioneers, recently exhibited a bottle of Tanlac, which he had just purchased, to a friend at his home and remarked: "If I thought this was the last bottle of Tanlac I would ever be able to buy, I wouldn't take one hundred dollars for it," thus proving the high valuation he places on the famous treatment.

"I believe Tanlac really saved my life when I took it after the flu about a year ago," continued Mr. Rikert, "for the attack left me 20 pounds off in weight, and unable to turn over in my bed without assistance. I tell you, I thought my time had surely come."

"But, thanks to my wife's insistence, I kept on taking Tanlac" till I was able to do all my work again, and had back all my lost weight, and I've been feeling years younger ever since. I'm always telling my friends about Tanlac, and can't say too much for it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Tako Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

One opinion has it that "it seems absolutely clear that the president will veto any Evans bill."

Tax reduction has been promised the people by all the responsible government agencies, the White House, the senate and the house. Republican leaders generally have enjoyed the movement. At this time, however, there is extreme doubt that the revenue measure will be enacted into law before June 1, when it is desired that congress should adjourn. Nothing has been done yet about the expected retroactive income tax reduction and the people have about given up hope that any relief in that direction will be provided. It readily can be seen that interests and individuals opposed to the bonus measure and opposed with the idea that tax reduction would be a boon to business, are somewhat doubtful in regarding the present situation.

All of which does not convince The Journal that American business, involving annually the handling of billions of dollars worth of goods and the creation of billions of dollar in net wealth, is going to be stirred down, if the bonus bill becomes a law and tax reduction in the amount suggested by Mr. Mellon is made impossible. One hundred million dollars or so on one side or the other would be a little drop in the bucket as compared to the volume of business done that the difference would be scarcely perceptible. It is a fact today that skilled and unskilled labor in some lines is scarce, that building plans exceed those for the same period of last year, that prosperity is increasing over a constantly widening area. Business will go on of its own momentum. It is too big to be halted by such little things as have been cited.

"It's the Cheapest Thing I Ever Bought," Writes Mrs. J. Mason, Va.

"I paid $1.25 for six boxes of Red-Stamp and Lulu, but by the large number of good cuts we've picked up, I reckon we've saved hundreds of dollars in labor, eggs and feed." Your pet will love it. Each day up and leave no soil. 35c. 65c. $1.25.

Who's Who Among the Candidates

S. E. Aufer
Candidate for the republican nomination For State Representative.
recalls many experiences which he had in common with other early settlers, in promoting policies looking to the public welfare. He remembers when he went to Governor Sheldon with a request for help to remove an unnecessary quarantine—a quarantine that threatened loss to live stock interests in this part of the state. As a result, the relief came at once. He recalls the time when automobiles were introduced, and he took a leading part in securing laws to restrict and regulate automobile traffic and prevent dangerous abuse of the privileges of the highway. He was one of the leaders who demanded the state legislature to buy the old Wayne college and on its foundation build a first class state normal school. Mr. Aufer has spent much of his time and money in developing better agriculture and better live stock. He has been one of the leaders in every movement for the betterment and prosperity of the farmer and townspeople of Wayne county. He knows the needs of the county, and if sent to the state legislature, he will use his best judgment in looking out for the county's interests.
