NEBRASKA PRIMARY COMES ON TUESDAY

Wayne County Ballots Were Ready Early in Week and Precinct Officers Notified

THE ABSENT VOTERS' BALLOT

Counting Board in Each Precinct Will Enable Knowledge of Returns Before Midnight

The Nebraska primary for the nomination of candidates of all political parties will be held next Tuesday, C. W. Reynolds, county clerk, had the ballots ready for the voting precincts the first of the week...

Both men and women of qualified age and who are entitled to vote are entitled to two ballots, a party ballot and a non-political ballot. Each one votes two ballots. Any one who is not present on primary day may go to the county clerk any time before two days of the primary and vote his choice...

The polls will open at 8 o'clock a. m. and close at 8 o'clock p. m. Counting board will go on duty in each precinct at noon, and the counting will keep so close to the voting that the results will begin coming in soon after the ballots close.

Complete returns will be in before midnight. On account of the number of names to be counted on the different ballots, the task of primary boards is considerably a heavy one.

Teachers may attend the district to be held in Norfolk. The church class has completed the text and has started

The junior class "Millions" will be presented at the Community house next Tuesday evening, April 8 at 8 o'clock. The characters are as follows: Jack Henderson, a civil engineer, Burr Davis; Jimmie Barnes, Jack's friend, William Johnson; Ezra Stoneham, Mary's uncle, William Woelber; Abja Bogg, a human filver, George Hartshorn; Count Victor De Selles, Ralph Gansko; Ezra's better half, Neva Lackey; the Stoneham's hired girl, Flora Bergt; Betty Barlowe, a school teacher, Aulda Sorber; Mary Manners, heiress to millions, Hildegard Berres; Countess De Selles, Helen Lundquist; and Mrs. Amanda Mudge, Bernice Sylvanus. Wayne students entered the special class of the commercial contest in Norfolk Saturday. In typewriting Margaret Kroger took fourth honors with a speed rate of 47.2 words per minute. Next year the school hopes to enter the shorthand, spelling and typewriting classes. Lucile McLennan, Freda Schrumpt and Margaret Kroger went to Norfolk last Friday with Mrs. Cecile Robinson for the contest. The school will be dismissed Friday of next week, April 11, so that the Nebraska place club from the University of Nebraska favored the high school with a group of songs Monday afternoon.

Miss Caroline McCormick spoke of the Near East relief work before the high school Thursday.

Freda Schrumpt and Amber James of the domestic science class acted as host and hostess at a luncheon Tuesday noon. Miss Mary L. Goodrich and Miss Ethel Hanson of the faculty were the guests.

Mrs. F. L. Mabbutt visited the kindergarten last week.

Mrs. F. E. Gamble was a caller in the first grade Thursday.

The second grade reported an especially good attendance last month. Seventeen of the twenty-three pupils were neither absent or tardy.

Wanda Benson of the third grade is ill with the measles.

Inez and Katherine Van Norman left school last week to move with their father to Fairmont, Minn.

Mary McPherson entertained the second grade at a party one day last week. Cake, candy and popcorn balls were served. The pupils reported a good time. The Wayne high school baseball team has been working out of doors recently, and some good prospects are appearing. Ted Millner and Melvin Olson are the only pitchers. Six games scheduled for this spring by Coach R. G. Brown are: Winnetka, Coleridge and Wakefield for early games. Mr. Brown has also written to Bloomfield and Creighton for games. The team is planning to fix up the diamond at the fair grounds as soon as the weather will permit.

The high school students held a meeting Friday for the purpose of organizing. R. G. Brown was temporary chairman and a committee chosen to nominate officers includes: Freda Schrumpt, Willis Ickler and James Holt. Another committee composed of Russell Bartels, Thelma Peterson, Horace Peterolf, Evelyn Jeffrey and Bernard Pollard, was appointed for the purpose of drawing up a constitution and determining the plan of the club. It is expected that one member from each class, one from each organization and a faculty representative will be elected by the students for the purpose of taking care of the business of the organization. The movement for this club was started by the "W" organization.

Evangelist Hunter Opens Meetings Here

E. C. Hunter, an evangelist from Wyoming, out where they learn that it is best to "speak up and 'spress yourself," has started a series of revival meetings at the Community house. Sunday nights was the first meeting. A large crowd was out to hear the introductory sermon, the Protestant churches having given up their services and joined in a union meeting.

Mr. Hunter has a striking personality, is earnest, out-spoken and strikes from the shoulder. He said he was at Wayne to preach the religion of Jesus Christ and he knew that he would be talked about, led and followed.

Plans for Christian Activity. Mr. Hunter said he was not going to take up a collection of money this week. He asked that every one should read as many chapters of the bible each day as he could and hand in the number each night as collection. "Get busy" is the slogan for all Christian people of Wayne if they really want these meetings a success. He said his listeners should be interested in what they are doing to make these meetings a success. "If I fail, it will be because you have not prayed enough," he said. "The cure for present day unbelief is to pray. Pray for the revival of Jesus Christ," stated Mr. Hunter.

The evangelist spoke Tuesday evening on "The Vacant Rooms in Your Home."

Mr. Hunter said that twenty-five per cent of the homes in Wayne have a vacant room, the secret prayer chamber. He cited the fact that prayer leads to action and service. "You can't sit around like a bump on a log and expect the preacher to benefit from it. Pray for the job, and the sooner you realize that it is lack of prayer and get down on your knees in that secret chamber the sooner this situation will be cleared up in your town."

Union Choir Signs. A special chorus, made up of the singers from the various churches, is furnishing special singing each night. They are under the able leadership of Clem Payne of University Place. Every singer of Wayne should be in the choir.

Rev. Hunter spoke at the high school Wednesday afternoon and invited the school to attend in a group one night next week when he will preach a special sermon for the young folk.

These meetings are worth while and will no doubt prove of worth to Wayne.

Hot Shots from Sermons. "Browning Shakespeare, evolution and social service are all right in their places but what this old world needs is the gospel of the Son of God."

"Men want Christ. The cry of the human heart today is, 'They have taken away my Lord—and I know not where they have laid Him.'"

"I am going to show you the way to God and Heaven."

"I can not preach a revival up, but you can pray one down."

"Prayer is the connecting link between God and us."

"A prayerless life is a worthless life."

"Three-fourths of the homes in the United States make no religious profession, neither Catholic, or Protestant."

"The church has lost her grip on the young people because she stopped praying."

"We are not honest if we pray 'Thy kingdom come' and do not get busy to bring it about."

Kiwanis Convention At Denver

More than 6,000 Kiwanis members planning to attend the eighth annual convention of the Kiwanis club in Denver, June 16 to 19, inclusive, according to word received here. More than 1,150 clubs in the United States and Canada will be represented.

Wayne will be strongly represented at the international gathering by several delegates according to the Kiwanis club of this city.

Some of the most magnificent natural phenomena in the world, including enormous glaciers, extinct volcanoes, lava beds, mineral water and hot water springs, and mighty cascades and precipices high above "timberlines" will be accessible to Kiwanians from Denver, according to announcements from convention headquarters.

"When you come up to Colorado and Denver you'll be within a three hours' ride of perpetual snow," declares a recent bulletin from Denver headquarters. "So long as it may seem, one may take breakfast at 8 o'clock in the morning, jump into an automobile at 9 and take lunch at 12 and have the flowers where flowers can be gathered with one hand and snowballs made with the other."

Following are the Denver organizers cooperating to make Kiwanis international convention a gigantic success: El Jebel Shrine, the Denver Motor club, Rotary club, Lion club, Civitan club, Gyro club and Optimists club.

Reserve Bank Notes Trade Improvements

Lincoln, Neb., April 1.—Substantial improvement in trade and industrial activity in the Tenth federal reserve district has come with the passing of winter, says the monthly report of the Kansas City Federal Reserve bank, made public here yesterday.

February reports reflected good gains over January in distribution of merchandise by wholesalers in all lines except drugs, according to the review, but because of bad weather and muddy roads, the February business did not quite equal the business in the same month a year ago.

Retail trade by department stores in the larger cities was reported better than in the previous month, and heavier than a year ago. In the smaller cities and country districts retail-trade reports were irregular, with the average about the same as a year ago.

The agricultural situation was reported better than at this time a year ago.

Large Crops Are Seen

"Fall sown grains were coming through the winter in good condition," says the review. "With abundant soil moisture, prospects in March were favorable for large farm production, increased acreage of corn, cotton and sugar beets and decreased acreage of both spring and winter wheat. Grain moved to the markets during February in greater volume than since last fall and at firmer prices. Flour production was maintained during February at greater activity than a year ago."

The livestock industry was also reported in better condition than at this time last year. Large supplies of stock for winter months were marketed during February and prices improved. Meat packing was seasonally heavy. Woolley operations increased in the second month of last year.

Building operations in February were at a high rate of activity and an increase was registered in the number of permits in cities of the district, although the estimated cost was not up to the total of a year ago.

"Indications point to large construction operations in cities and towns and improvement of country highways," according to the report. "The trend of employment during February showed signs of rapid absorption of idle and skilled and common labor as soon as weather conditions would permit a general resumption of outdoor activities."

The petroleum industry experienced renewed activity, the report says. Daily average production increased slightly but prices advanced on crude and refined products.

Zinc and lead ore shipments were heavier than for several months. Lead ore sold at an average of $10.77 per ton higher and zinc ore at $2.50 per ton higher than in February, 1923.

Production of gold, silver, lead and other metals in the Colorado mines increased, and soft coal mining operations in six states were at a higher per cent of full time capacity than a year ago.

Money Conditions Easy

"The easy money conditions which prevailed through the previous winter months continued through February and were practically unchanged during the first half of March," says the review. "Borrowings for commercial and industrial purposes were light and an ample supply of funds was available for loans and investments at the prevailing low rates."

High points in the statistical record of the district for February, compared with February,

1923 to customers' accounts: February nine cities; four cities ending March 5, aggregating $1,029,857,000; decrease $186,282,000, or 11.9 per cent.

Buildings in eleven cities; permits: 2,217, estimated cost of construction, $6,638,225; increase, 9.4 per cent in permits; decrease 9.4 per cent in estimated cost.

Commercial failures in the district: 129, liabilities $1,968,981; increase in number forty and in liabilities, $815,037, or 30.3 per cent.

Crude oil production in four states: 17,672,200 barrel; increase, 3.6 per cent.

Flour production in southwest mills reported 1,642,888 barrels; increase, 15.2 per cent.

Grain receipts (bushels) four markets: Wheat, 7,708,400, increase 3.8 per cent; corn, 10,293,700, increase, 78.5 per cent; oats, 2,411,900, increase, 12.9 per cent.

Livestock receipts, six markets: Cattle, 242,272, decrease, 7.6 per cent; calves, 45,271, decrease, 6.6 per cent; horses and mules, 12,743, increase, 21.9 per cent.

Meat packing at eleven centers: Cattle, 193,735, decrease, 5.3 per cent; calves, 37,665, increase, 3 per cent; hogs, 756,321, decrease, 2.8 per cent; sheep, 330,628, decrease, 1.2 per cent.

Find Stolen Merchandise

Lincoln, Neb., April 1.—In a report to the federation of Nebraska retailers here, Sheriff W. C. Condit, of Dodge county, said he had located a quantity of merchandise stolen from a number of Nebraska stores in the last few months in an establishment at Chicago. Charges against the owner of the establishment, the sheriff said, had been filed. Sheriff Condit went to Chicago as the result of a "tip" obtained by federation agents during a recent raid at Omaha, when merchandise alleged to have been stolen from the store of Larson Bros., at Uehling, was located.

May Get Truck Line

Columbus, Neb., April 1.—Efforts are under way to begin the operation of an automobile truck line between Columbus, Fremont and Omaha this summer. A caravans of intermediate points between Columbus and Omaha is being made to assist the local business could be obtained by such a line. Promoters plan to haul to the smaller towns commodities for wholesale houses and return next morning with market produce, eggs, cream and vegetables.

Sees Prosperity Ahead

Hastings, Neb., April 1.—The farmers of Nebraska and the middle west may expect 10 years of unprecedented prosperity, was the declaration of former Congressman Charles H. Sloan, of Geneva, in a speech today before a Hastings chamber of commerce luncheon.

Mr. Sloan told of his investigation of European conditions and stated that the American farmer, if he will raise live stock, will have a heavy demand for his stock from the countries of Europe.

Open City Auditorium

Hastings, Neb., April 1.—Thirty-five hundred people filled the new municipal auditorium at its informal dedication by the city council. The program included musical numbers by the Hastings high school band and by the Hastings Lyric Glee club; a welcome by Mayor C. G. Ingraham and speeches by Councilmen Walter Livingston and V. E. Tremble. The building which cost approximately $200,000, and which is the second largest in the state, will be formally opened and dedicated on April 21.

Urge Mayor as Delegate

Niobrara, Neb., April 1.—Mayor George Bayha, of this city, widely known democrat in the Third district, is being urged for alternate delegate to the national convention to be held in New York in June.

There are no candidates for alternate delegate named on the ballot as no one filed for the place; therefore Mayor Bayha's name will be written on the ballot at the election.

Find Man Dead in Park

Omaha, Neb., April 1.—The body of John Cetek, 54, was found lying under a tree at the edge of River-view park near Ninth and Dominion streets at 7:30 this morning, shot through the heart. A double barrel shot gun with both chambers discharged was lying by his side.

Fall Breaks Boy's Arm

Foreign Advertising Representative THE AMERICAN BUSINESS INSTITUTION

Church Hove, prominent politician in the old days of Nebraska, once said he would rather go one hundred miles to deliver a message than to write a letter which might turn up later to annoy him.

During the past week winter weather has predominated with few exceptions. The calendar that hangs on the wall, March has gone, and while it was bad in its resources of cold and snow, it was not nearly so bad as the average March that preceded it.

People of Wayne county should give the candidacy of a homo man a boost at the primary next Tuesday. Grant S. Meers who served for ten years as sheriff and as legislator, is a candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor. He understands legislative business and has been a capable officer to preside over the senate. He deserves the solid support of his home county.

In the early-day files of a newspaper, we noticed an advertisement of a photographer who urged people to send him "old" photographs made. We doubt a photographer would get any business by such an appeal in these days. As we believe, people don't want truthful photographs. At least they don't want negative doctored up, so the finished picture will look a great deal better than the original.

Would Hiram Johnson who is canvassing over the country in an effort to secure delegates who will favor the republican nomination for president, do as well as President Coolidge in handling the oil scandal and directing the affairs of government? Then why not nominate him? Let us uphold the president, and see that he gets the support he deserves. Let us give him our votes and endorsement at the polls next Tuesday.

A citizen suggests that there should be some way to prevent heavy trucks from cutting up and damaging a smooth highway after a rainfall. It does not seem very good to have a national convention in building and maintaining the road and then permit a two or three-ton truck to come along after a rain and rip it up. Until we have some highway increase regulation would seem desirable as a justification for the cost.

People who are just against the president anyway will now complain because he did not dismiss Daugherty soon enough. If the dismissal had taken place immediately after the appearance of the oil scandal, the charge would have been made that the attorney general had been the victim of a snap judgment which had not been given a chance to defend himself. Unbiased people will give the president credit for having the victim snap out of the hands of Daugherty. He has been placed in a trying situation, to the agragration which members of all parties have contributed.

A man advertised in last week's Herald that he had lost his watch. A boy who had found it, scanned the paper as soon as it was issued, and within an hour the lost property had been delivered into the hands of its owner. "The youth said it would be stealing to keep the watch. He has the right idea, and he keeps it for the course of his life. It seems well intended to help him in years to come, find ample justification and reward at the hands of popular opinion. In sharp contrast, another watch was lost for a purpose to serve his country well and faithfully. He has been placed in a trying situation, to the agragration which members of all parties have contributed.

A milk cow of wonderfully fine appearance was the means of our first acquaintance with Lou M. Owen, just selected governor of Nebraska. Third ward. The cow was beautiful in every respect. Her head, ears, back and legs proclaimed her superior qualities for both milk and beef. We bought her in the country and brought her to town to live. She did not like city life, and appeared to be in poor health. It was not until we had secured her and resourcelful cow. We learned that we could not sit and mitch her, because she practiced the economy of kicking twice when she could kick her feet, and there was no chance to escape. When she desired to put her right hind foot into the pail, she would kick her front legs forward by writing until it was half full of milk. We gave up hope of ever seeing her away from the country and advertised her for sale. Lou reported almost immediately, and took down the required card and led her back to the country where we hoped the broad and fragrant prairie would soo her back sanily and restore her health. We had no idea against Lou. On the contrary, we felt just as sorry for his fate as we did for the refusal to sell him the cow. It is during the intervening years we have not had the courage to ascertain anything even remotely touching the history of the cow after she left our possession.

Six kernels should be taken from side sides of the ear, two from the middle and two from the other tip. Remove the kernels with a knife blade by prying at their edges. Pulling in this manner will not injure the "germs." Place the kernels in the proper square with the germ side up. The corn now on the squares should be protected by a second cloth about 30 inches square. The cloth should be firmly woven muslin, or the rootlets will grow through it. Wet the cloth and lay it over the kernels. The cloth will keep most anything will do and lay it over the germinator, and cover with an inch of wet sawdust. If the cloth is not too small it will completely cover the top of the sawdust, making a sort of pad or mattress.

The germinator should be kept in a living room or kitchen, where the temperature does not change greatly. A temperature varying from 70 to 80 degrees is best. If the conditions of temperature, a test should be complete in a week or less. Sometimes it is necessary to sprinkle the kernels with water in order to keep it moist enough. In preparing to inspect the test it is best to roll carefully one side first the sawdust and then the shield cloth, instead of merely pulling them off. If kernels stick to the shield cloth as it is rolled off, they have been back into their proper squares. Ordinarily no ear should be saved for seed unless all six of its kernels germinate.

Fined $1,000. -John W. Mitchell, S. D., April 2. -John W. Shelvin, Rapid City attorney who was arrested last year for violating the blue sky laws of the state, pleaded guilty before Judge F. B. Smith and paid a fine of $1,000. He was charged with selling lots and parcels of land in the scenic oil region without a license from the state securities commission. The case was pressed by the attorney, though the prosecution was carried on under the direction of Romeo Bartles, prosecuting attorney of Davison.

Head Corn Test. (By Erwin Hopt and P. D. Keim of the Nebraska college of agriculture.) The only way to tell that corn will germinate 4 to try it and see. Lack of germinative power in corn usually results from unsoundness of corn. Each ear has the following qualities are usually unsound and should be discarded without going to the trouble of testing them in the germinator: 1. The ear is easily twisted, or the kernels are loose on the cob. 2. The kernels are dull, dark, or otherwise discolored. 3. The hulls of the kernels are badly blistered. 4. The color is dark yellow or otherwise discolored.

A simple general test will tell whether it will be necessary to go to the trouble of testing every seed planted. Such a test may be made by selecting 100 ears from seed corn in such a manner as to make sure the ears are of average representative. Remove one kernel from near the middle of each ear selected. Place the 100 kernels in a pie tin or other shallow container. Set aside in a warm place. It will be necessary to watch moisture condition from day to day. As kernels are the first to germinate, the percentage will lessen the possibility of molds interfering with the test. At the close of six days call the corn "one-fourth germinated." If 90 per cent or more of the kernels have sprouted, it will probably not pay to make a separate test. If less than 90 per cent germinate, it will probably pay to make an individual ear test.

Cost of the Bonus. -A Sioux City Journal: Another estimate on the cost of the soldier bonus has been made. It is for $9,300,000, about halfway between treasury and house estimates. It was made by Herbert Hess, an actuary in the employ of the American Legion. The figure is not far from the treasury overestimated the amount in about the same degree that the house underestimated it.

A rack may be made of 1-by-4 inch boards nailed together and forming a square about 23 inches square. Wires stretched across this both ways at intervals of 2 1/2 inches and firmly secured. Second-a still simpler way is to cut heavy paper or cardboard into 3/4-inch squares. These squares are numbered from 1 to 100 and secured to the butts of the ribs by means of wooden pins, tacks, or small nails. This system of numbering is especially advisable in schools or where many people are likely to handle the germs.

La Follette Leads in Wisconsin Vote

Milwaukee, April 2.—Complete returns from Racine and Kenosha counties and the first definite returns from Milwaukee county gave Coolidge delegates a slight advantage over the position they held last night. Four hundred and sixty precincts out of 2,574 in the state gave La Follette delegates 48,904; Coolidge delegates 52,992. In Wisconsin, Wis. April 2.—United States Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin and Gov. Al Smith of New York were the leaders in the contest for delegates to the republican party's political convention when returns from about one-sixth of the state's precincts had been counted from early morning following the election of yesterday.

Senator La Follette's candidates for delegates at large had assumed a commanding lead early last evening and this held at a ratio of two votes to one for the delegates pledged to President Coolidge throughout the night and early today.

Smith Margin Increasing. (The margin for the Smith delegates over those of Mr. McAdoo was not as great but it was increasing steadily from the time the first returns were received up to the time the republican vote service put a stop to the transmission of returns.) President Coolidge, however, will probably have several district delegates. Returns from 330 out of 2,744 precincts today gave La Follette delegates at large 34,194; Coolidge delegates at large 16,752. In the district contest, 264 precincts out of 2,744 gave Smith 5,417; McAdoo 3,741. Smith delegates were leading in a majority of the districts.

The former secretary of the treasury was leading in the presidential preference primary, where Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, was his opponent. Little interest was shown in this race and the vote was light. In 154 precincts heard from Reed's 928; McAdoo had 2,082 and Smith 1,000.

Wet Organizations Effective. Wet organizations in both Milwaukee and in numerous outstate counties have been active the last few days working for Governor Smith's delegates, and it is also thought that his candidacy will run well in Milwaukee.

Mayor Hoan took the lead with the first returns received last night and kept it through the night, but early today although the race at all times was close. Scattering returns showed the republican city non-partisan ticket leading the socialists. These offices are at present held by non-partisans. Roosevelt Chosen Delegate. New York, April 2.—Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, was selected as a delegate to the republican national convention in yesterday's primaries. In West Chester county, Augustus Thomas, playwright, was defeated by Fred Fox, who is now the Democratic leader, as delegate to the democratic convention. The regular organization workers charged that the republican candidate was an attempt on the part of the Tammany Hall to gain control of the party machine.

people have a great deal of confidence. We refer to Mr. Henry Ford. He has made a very great success of his business. He started at the bottom, and in approximately one score years has attained the pinnacle of utmost financial success. He is credited with having rendered a tremendous service to society and he has done so liberally with his vast number of employees. Mr. Ford is not a politician; he does not appeal to partisan or class consciousness; he says what he thinks, and lets it go at that. Sometimes he is on the side of the rich man; sometimes he is on the side of the poor man; sometimes he stands alone. But in any event, his expressions are not governed by selfishness, expediency or a plea to popularity. With these well recognized facts as a basis, we are pleased to present Mr. Ford's opinions on the Mellon tax proposal. They are worth reading. He says: "I am in business not to make money as money, but to do many things which I believe are of public benefit and I believe that I can put my money to better public use than the government can."

"I am in business not to make money as money, but to do many things which I believe are of public benefit and I believe that I can put my money to better public use than the government can." "I had very little money when we began to build that car. We took out small wages for ourselves and put back the profits into better machinery—which enabled us to reduce prices. We made more money and we put that back. Our profits began to be large and I believe we should have had to pay most of what we earned to the government. We did not have to pay a dime. We were able to put that money into more and more machinery—which enabled us to reduce first to bring the price of the car down but also to raise our wages from a minimum of $6 a day and then to a minimum of $8 a day. "We were able still further to expand in the way of going back to the source of materials, in employing more people and in making things cheaper and cheaper. We did not spend the money we made. We put it into production. What is the consequence? I have what is said to be a large fortune, but in a very small sense it is mine. If my stock were selling for $100,000 people. It has permitted the farmer and his wife to come to town whenever they liked. It has let millions of people get out into the fresh air, and it has made the automobile a thing that the poor man can have. It has done a benefit to the poor man of the man of moderate means, I doubt if ever we should have reached a point where we could have produced a car under $1,500, and that only by paying very low wages. We should have had to pay low wages, for the backs of men and not the backs of machines would have been the weight of production. Our past earnings—our wealth—are in those machines. "High taxes on the rich do not take burdens off the poor. They put burdens on the poor. As far as our country is concerned, we can go on paying very low wages, whether our surtax is 25 per cent or 50 per cent. We can make some improvements, we should do it, but we should do it by paying very low wages. We can not make do the great things we should do if we pay more money. We can not make as much progress in the next fifteen years as we have in the last fifteen, and all other forward-looking countries will be exactly the same boat. The men who led the country that high incomes must be cut down are not working for the benefit of the masses. What they are really saying is something like this: "You workmen and farmers have been supporting a program which would keep stop progress right here. From now on this country must be run for the benefit of the politicians. "And here is another point. If the surplus of industry be taken away, then in hard times a concern must borrow, and soon we have industry owned by banks. That is what has happened in Europe. Sometimes I wonder if the support of the Mellon bill by the banks is sincere. It is rather funny in a way. The radicals support a high-tax program, which would throw industry into the hands of the banks, while the banks support a program which would keep industry in the hands of the owners and operated for the benefit of the people."

Crop Records Vary Widely. Geneva, Neb., April 1.—Records kept by various farmers in Cass county last year of costs of production crops showed a wide variance, according to the results made public through the county extension agent. His report reads: "Two cases of farmers who kept records last year found that their costs for producing corn varied widely. Each of the farmers was growing two different and each raised forty-two bushels of corn per acre, yet it cost one farmer 34 cents a bushel to raise his corn and place it in the crib, while it cost the other farmer 49 cents a bushel. "Of the thirty records secured from that county in 1923 there were several with cost variations even wider. A part of this variation was, of course, due to efficiency in the use of labor. The sets records show a wide variance as did the corn records. What was true in Cass county last year was also true in other counties where records were kept."

Frees to Death. Alma, Neb., April 2.—Frank Westfall, aged about 60, single and living in the town of near here, was found yesterday frozen to death in a hay stack by a searching party, about a half mile from his home. He was last seen Saturday evening when he started for a neighbor's when he took his meals, and was caught in the storm and is supposed to have been overcome. DF. Bear Dies. Norfolk, Neb.—Word has been received here of the death at Richmond, Va., today, of Dr. Alexander Bear, once mayor of Norfolk, member of the Nebraska legislature and regent of the state university.

New Attorney General. Washington, April 2.—Harlan Plake Stone of New York, was selected by President Coolidge as attorney general.

C. J. Robertson Tells Of Plans for Year

C. J. Robertson, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kohl, is right surgeon for the U. S. S. A. of the Asiatic fleet. A letter written Feb. 23 by Mr. Robertson will be of interest to people here and is in part as follows:

"I am right surgeon for the vessel and the Twentieth Air squadron, of the Department of the Navy, for new fields. We leave Monday for Olongapo where we will stay for a month or so; then will come back to Seattle for a time and then will perhaps take a short trip to the southern islands and then go to China. Of course we are much depended on as it will give us the much looked for trip to China. We have had a nice time as surgeon of the yard, nice quarters and better duty and naturally hate to leave here but we feel that it will be mighty nice to do a little touring of the Orient. We expect to be back from China in November.

State Normal School News For Past Week

Summer school bulletins were mailed last week to high school seniors and teachers in this part of the state. The summer term will open June 2 and continue eight weeks, until July 25. Prospects show that the school will be crowded. There are again for the coming term. The regular number of teachers, and about six additional instructors, will be employed.

About 700 copies of the Alumni Register, giving names, addresses and occupations of graduates of the State Normal, are being sent this week. The yearbook is enclosed a copy of the Alma Mater song written by Miss Nellie Fay Selmer and set to music by Prof. L. F. Beery. In the Alumni Register also are the names of the officers of the association: President, Conrad Jacobson, class of 1914; vice president, Miss Gladys Kline, class of 1914; and secretary, Richard Hall, class of 1922. The date set for homecoming this year is June 13 and officers mentioned above will be in charge of plans for the day. Of the inquiries sent alumni for information for the register only fifty-nine were returned. There are 380 teaching, 66 in business and other professions besides teaching, 133 in homes, 38 are remaining at home for 32 are attending schools for higher education. Since 1911 when the Wayne State Normal became a state school, 794 students have been graduated from the two-year and four-year courses. In the first class were three students and in the 1923 class were 128.

Miss Louise Wendt who has a leave of absence this year from the science department of the State Normal to attend Iowa State College at Ames, has recently been elected to the Sigma Xi national honorary sorority for chemistry students. Miss Wendt was graduated in 1917 from the Wayne Normal, and she plans to return to her work next year.

Eric Oetting of Beemer, who receives his A. B. degree from the Wayne State Normal this year, has been elected superintendent of the Wayne school for the coming year.

Donald Snyde of Magnet, candidate for an A. B. degree this year, will teach mathematics and science in the Randolph high school next year.

Clarence Richard of Chambers, graduate this year, will be principal of the Magnet school. Miss Dorothy Spear of Wayne, will be assistant principal at the same place.

Miss Esther Tarrant of Tekamah, has accepted the position as second grade teacher in the Stanton school for next year.

T. W. Cooper of Plainview, who received an A. B. degree here in 1923, is to be superintendent of the St. Paul, Neb., high school next year.

Miss Frances Scheffel of Norfolk, has been elected to teach primary work in the Norfolk schools next year.

Miss Pearl Young of Oakland, and Miss Marmeyte Harris of Madison, will teach the fifth and seventh grades in the Wayne high school

Mckelvie Suggests Freight Reduction

Lincoln, April 2.—S. R. Mckelvie, former governor of Nebraska, and publisher of the Nebraska Farmer, made public today a letter he is sending to railroad presidents of roads operating in Nebraska and surrounding states, in which he advocates reduction of freight rates on purebred livestock.

The former governor declared that the purchaser of a purebred bull at a sale at Grand Island paid 100 cents to the western part of the state on an animal that cost $100 and freight charges were $50.

The letter contains Mr. Mckelvie's views on the subject of reduction of freight rates on purebred livestock, which follows:

Buyers' Business is Hampered.

"The purebred business is being very seriously hampered by freight rates. In the aggregate there is no effect of selling stock. The effect of this retarding influence may be, undoubtedly part of the $50 that was paid freight upon the animal in question was deducted from the selling price, for every purchaser must take such items into account. How important still many probable purchasers were restrained from attending the sale and this unquestionably lowered the general average at which all of the animals in the offering were sold.

"Every possible obstacle ought to be removed in order that this branch of the farming industry might grow apace.

"Would Help Roads in End"

"Comparatively, the income of the railroads from hauling purebred stock is small. To reduce the present rate one-half would mean next to nothing in the total income of the railroads. Why then might the carriers not well make such reduction? Probably the answer of the railroads is that the reduction would be to be made an immediate demand would follow for a readjustment of the entire freight rate structure affecting agriculture. But these demands are already being made. The answer to this argument is that a reduction on purebreds or animals for breeding purposes would benefit all farmers, either directly or indirectly and reduce the income to the carriers relatively little. In the long run it would greatly increase the income to the railroads by encouragement of the breeding and improvement of livestock.

"The business of such a reduction would not be an innovation. There was a time when railroads carried exhibition stock at half rate. The purpose was entirely the same then as now."

Real-Estate Agent Coming.

Norfolk Daily News: The farmers who have become discouraged because the readjustment of the prices of farm products with 100 to 150 percentured articles is slow should find some encouragement in the fact that it is seemingly sure.

The business agent's index number of prices based upon 404 commodities shows that farm products, which stood at 142 in February, 1924, are compared with 100 in 1913, stood at 143 in February, 1924, an increase of a point. Between the same dates the general index of all commodities increased from 137 to 152. In other words the prices of farm products and the prices of all commodities approached each other by six points in the last year.

This is not much to crow about, but it is something. It is a sort of rainbow that promises fair weather ahead. If this trend keeps up the situation from the farmer's standpoint will grow better even though the change comes gradually.

The disparity between the prices of what the farmer has to sell and the prices of what he has to buy—some of the factors in slowing up business in the middle-west. Any reduction in the spread will be welcomed as a favorable sign of prosperity about the country.

Prehistoric Skull.

A. L. Bixby in Lincoln Journal: It will be comforting to Mr. William Jennings Bryan to learn that the skull of the man recently excavated on the outskirts of Los Angeles, though figured as having been buried not less than 25,000 years, suggests not the jaw of an anthropoid ape. That it sets the creation of the human species 15,000 years back of the time tentatively agreed upon by the Jewish chronologists matters not, since our ancient brethren had no knowledge of the western hemisphere and when things started in southern California. That the first man on this side of the Atlantic should have fixed his residence less than four miles from Herculaneum is proof enough that primitive man had a judgment, surpassing that of the millions of this generation who seem contented to waste their lives in the effete east, the sunny south, the Mississippi basin and the central west.

While millions struggled on this side of the Rocky Mountain range, One "noble Roman" lived and died 'Mid beauties new and strange.

There were the rocky cuts and fills, The valleys, dabs and wide; There loomed the San Fernando hills, And other hills beside.

He looked ahead and struggled hard To prophesy—the list Of cities yet to be—Grand Loomed large beyond the mist.

That was the very latest one— He smothered his ruffled vest And, wistfully sobbing, "I am done," Sought his eternal rest.

City Elections in Nebraska Tuesday

Neligh, Neb., April 2.—The city election yesterday created considerable interest from the fact that two candidates were on the ticket for each office. Over 400 votes were cast in the town. The following were the successful candidates:

Mayor, S. D. Thornton, sr.; clerk, John W. Lammien; treasurer, A. R. Schmidt; police magistrate, George Godkin; councilman for first ward, A. H. Jensen; second ward, A. E. English, W. M. Darlington and E. B. Reynolds were elected members of the board of education.

George Godkin received a majority by 100 votes over A. F. Eke, and E. R. Schmidt received a majority of 111 over S. I. Nies for city treasurer.

Beeler Named at Tilden.
Tilden, Neb., April 2.—L. A. Beeler was elected mayor of Tilden at the city election here yesterday by a vote of 254 to 183 for his opponent, Otto Hanson.

E. H. Sutherland was elected city clerk without opposition, as also were city treasurer, W. J. Schmitt and J. B. Landreth for police judge. For councilman in the first ward, J. H. McCole won over Rome Kehler by a vote of 99 to 83. Hugh Marble defeated Dewit Maassen for councilman in the second ward by a vote of 124 to 32. Frank Neal was elected councilman from the third ward over H. E. Neely by a vote of 76 to 41.

For the school board, Mrs. Minnie O'Connell-Osant-Mills was elected, defeating Lee Halsey and Arch Nelson.

Lawson, Neb., April 2.—For city treasurer, W. J. Kuntz was elected yesterday, receiving 249 votes to 223 for his opponent, C. N. Harr. R. E. Harre was elected city clerk by a vote of 314 to 145 for his opponent, T. H. Sawyers.

For councilman, W. H. Williams received 174 votes and T. E. Ritter, 289.

For councilman, O. A. Ralston was elected in the first ward and B. F. Mercer in the second ward.

C. A. Chapin and J. M. Jensen were elected as members of the school board.

Results at Pierce.
Pierce, Neb., April 2.—Following are the results of the city election held here yesterday:

Mayor—Charles Kilger.
Councilman West ward—Sam Schwerin.
Councilman East ward—Carl Pfeiffer.

Treasurer, Fred Pilger.
Clerk—A. J. Anderson.
School board—S. M. Durfee, Mrs. J. C. Duff.

Although the vote on all offices was very close, that of treasurer was an exceptionally tight contest. The successful candidate is winning by only one vote over D. C. Deibler, the vote standing 135 and 134.

The vote for mayor was: C. H. Pilger, 133; August Korth, 112; J. P. Miller, 114.

Lincoln, Neb., April 2.—Municipal elections in southeast and south central Nebraska towns and villages yesterday were generally marked by an absence of issues and with a light vote. Some of the results follow:

Wymore—B. M. Youll was re-elected mayor and the proposition to permit Sunday pictures carried by a majority of 116.

Lincoln—A proposition to allow pool halls, carried by a vote of 83 to 43. It was the only issue.

Nebraska City—Frank Thomas was elected mayor. There were practically no contests for any municipal offices.

Fairbury—Except for members of the school board there were no contests. C. F. White and F. M. Blair, running on a non-partisan ticket were elected.

Andrew Grosshaus was elected mayor over George E. Pank by a vote of 549 to 229. Partisan politics was not involved.

Clare, Neb.—The proposal to annex this college suburb to the city of Lincoln was defeated by a vote of nearly two to one.

Wahoo—A warm contest for the city treasurership brought out what is said to be a record vote, 775. James Kudrna, the citizens' candidate, was elected treasurer. W. J. Tiek was elected mayor and Daisy Tarpentine, city clerk.

Blair—R. J. Muredek was elected mayor yesterday, defeating John Aye, mayor for the last three terms. R. G. Allen was elected city treasurer and C. E. Krause, city clerk, both without opposition.

Progressive Leaders Will Meet on May 1

Omaha, Neb., April 1.—The question of declaring vacant such nominations as are secured by fusion with the democratic party at the April 8 primary will be considered at the state convention of the Progressive Party of Nebraska here May 1, at the Rialto. L. E. Reba and W. H. Green, chairman and secretary respectively, of the party's state central committee, announced in a call for the convention today.

Misses Ethel and Bertha from Burham came Friday evening to spend a week of spring vacation at their home. They will return to their normal work in Sioux City Saturday.

Radio on the Farm.
Sioux City Journal—The farmer, while generally regarded as belonging more to urban than to rural life, has become popular in the country. The department of agriculture recently completed a survey showing that 145,000 farm families are now equipped with radio receiving sets.

Ruling for Voters in School Election.
Lincoln, Neb., April 1.—Attorney General O. S. Sullivan made public late yesterday a letter in which he reiterated the previous stand taken by his office regarding voting in a school district election which was that anyone who owned property or had children in school in the district, whether he or she had lived in the district for a stated days last past, could vote in the school elections.

This, according to the attorney general, includes women eligible to teach in the school contents.

Backing up the previous assertions on this case, in a letter to W. E. H. Wall.

That may work out admirably. Other things than the radio have extended the city into the country with such shocking opportunity to stir fire for city life. The telephone, good roads, electricity and the motor car all have made life more attractive in rural districts, but in many cases the hunger for things urban has been increased. Perhaps the radio, which undeniably is the most modern means of communication, may drive out that longing for the city that many country bred men and women feel.

The one great achievement that would work this miracle of keeping a greater percentage of farming profits on the farm is an agricultural profit on goods produced. As far as the radio, the motor car, the telephone and private electric power and lighting systems are concerned, they will be looked upon as rural necessities. The viewpoint has not changed in this respect. Just as old mining is too good for the farmer, profits that are fair and honest, however, will be demanded constantly as a matter of course and of justice.

Sheriff's Sale.
By virtue of an order of sale, to me directed, issued by the clerk of the district court of Wayne county, Nebraska, upon a decree rendered therein at the February, 1924, term thereof, in an action pending in said court wherein The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company was plaintiff and Harry C. Gotsch, his wife, were defendants, I will, on the 5th day of May, 1924, at 2 o'clock p. m., at the door of the court house in Wayne, in said county, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real estate to-wit: The south quarter of section thirteen (13) township twenty-seven (27), north range one (1), east of the 6th P. M., Wayne county, Nebraska, to satisfy the aforesaid decree.

There is such vigor and imaginative vitality to the Chinese and Japanese decoration that it makes a most vibrant environment when carefully blended with our modern scheme of home building. Of course restraint and decoration must be used abundantly when handling the subtle Oriental combinations of line and color. Like their precious game which is all the rage, it requires careful thinking and planning.

My friend, Mr. W.—has just returned from the Orient, inspired with many unusual ideas which he has been carrying out in the homes of his friends at a hall here, in a living room there, a studio for one, a bedroom for another.

Opposite he had made a very broad arrangement of chairs and tables, with a great antique gold brocade hanging for a background. Teakwood chairs without arms stood upon the tables of the same wood, with their familiar open work borders. Each table held a Ming blue lantern, octagonal in shape, lighted

H. O'Gara, Laurel, who wrote asking for explanation of the previous opinion, the attorney general quoted the decision of the supreme court in the case of the state ex rel Crosby vs. Cones, in which it was held that "an examination of the constitution will convince us that the provisions of the constitution were not intended to apply to school districts."

This case was brought by Mr. Cones after legislation giving suffrage to women in the school elections had gone through. Mr. Cones believed the legislation unconstitutional, but the court ruled otherwise.

Personality in Decoration

Speaking of personality, suppose we were to start with cases.

A room properly decorated is an instant revelation of the tastes of its owner. Take this one, a bedroom. A single bed has its side to the wall, above it in the center hangs a large embroidered tapestry and at the head stands a table with a lamp on it. The bed is entirely covered with green novelty cloth.

Across, between two windows stands an antique table with drop leaves, one of the sturdy sort that has served in a peasant or farm kitchen. Over the table are hanging bookshelves. The windows are unusual in treatment, having a painted net lambrequin from which hang printed linen curtains on rings that slide on a pole. The floor is covered with dull red and black tile-cleat with a single rug in front of the bed. On one side of the room is a large desk, across from it is a dresser with triple mirrors. The prints on the wall are gay in color, are caricatures of feminine fashions.

Now, then, whose room is this? Well, it's a man's room; that's all! And not an ordinary man, alas! many men are oblivious of their surroundings, and know a Morris chair and a smoking stand and that's all.

No, this man is a regular he-man and has about him things he wants to use in a perfectly practical way. But he has some taste, some sensitivity to surroundings (one sees that in the case chosen), likes to be well groomed (that is told by the triple mirror), wants to sit on the table and not have it snarl under him, and likes to read in bed. (His lamp is set exactly right for that and sheds plenty of light.) You have only to look at his room to read these strong characteristics.

There is what we mean by personality in decoration. How shall you create it? Let your own personal tastes, your set activities, your artistic expression, music, drawing, sewing—whatever it is, be shown forth in practical and tasteful arrangement. And your room will be alive—a reflection of your individuality.

Can't you tell a number of definite traits of character by this room? Here it is:

Two Beds of Ivory. The very first impression is that of ruffles, not very fluffy ruffles, but restrained ruffles, as it were. The twin beds are gaitered with gold, dilled to a deep ivory, with panels of flowers at the head and foot. Each bed has its lavender tullefa spray, a single deep ruffle on either side edged with green. In one corner an upholstered chaise-longue is lighted by a reading lamp whose shade is dainty in lavender and green geometrics.

In the opposite corner is an oval table on casters, matching the other pieces in color. On it is a breakfast set of yellow and black china. There are three fine large dressers—at least one is a dresser with a hanging mirror, another is a vanity case, and the third is a chiffonier. On each are bits of Venetian glass.

Between the beds is a night table with a bit of Dresden made into a lamp. The high windows hang draped curtains of printed and striped green tullefa.

Need you any further introduction to the owners and their tastes? Other types of rooms are equally revealing and satisfying.

Charming Breakfast Rooms. Two charming breakfast rooms come to mind. The printed gold and black set in the one is strongly reminiscent of some antique period. A checker board floor is appropriate. Dull yellow pottery dishes belong to the table. Tucked green scrim glass curtains hang at the many windows separated by linen drapes, striped with green and dotted with stiff little Chinese figures. There is a quaint charm, with reserve, about this small room.

The other is a jolly sort of place—it has an invigorating effect in its gay color, and would be sure to dispel any before-breakfast gloom. A large pattern of parrots was chosen for the cerotone hangings, which were effectively edged with scalloped rosettes cut out and placed high on top of plain red. Eighteen inch squares of the cerotone containing the parrots of the wall—there with wood outlines they form a colorful frieze.

The dining set colored itself in dull red suggesting Chinese lacquer. Red and white china set the table, covered with linen runners. And at the head of the room, the parrots rejoiced in blues, yellows and greens, on a cream ground and there were plenty of them, what with the wall panels and the curtains.

Let us stop in the nursery for a moment. Isn't it fine we are recovering so nicely from a spasms? It must have been a spasm or a fit, or something, that impelled people to mercilessly over-decorate the nursery; or else was sentimental and made it utterly impossible with trilled ruffles and point d'esprit.

What healthy child will give two hoots for a pale pink bed spread covered with shereet and much beruffled and with dainty round cushions covered with Italian lace? A real child wants to slide off the ledge and stum someone on its play piques under it and run across the room and tumble into it. He'd like rather have good old husky gingham that will wash, than one of these you-mustn't-touch sort of spreads.

Simplicity in Nursery. Simplicity is the keynote for the modern nursery. Painted furniture of the right height, linoleum floors, and washable rugs, shelves for toys and treasures, a few pictures, good bookshelves, not elaborate ones, those from the right atmosphere and background for a healthy child.

The living room—perhaps it is a little saying but it must needs be livable. Two periods now much live on—are the Italian and the Spanish. Each is simple, practical, usable—that's why we like and use them. Simple bars wall spaces gives abundant opportunity for richly embroidered hanging and pictures, or form excellent settings for carved and painted furniture. Elaborate iron work is characteristic of the Spanish period. This may be combined with Italian pieces with their solid dignity with excellent effect.

Regency Period in Favor. Another period that has come into popular favor is the Regency. Simplicity, reserve and restraint are its keynote. It has the quality truly described by the word elegance. Very much lighter in feeling than the two periods just discussed, it will not appeal to all of us, nor will the price of "the real thing" be within our reach. Some of the Regency pieces, tables and desks especially, are beautifully comfortable, and practical in our modern homes. Arrangement has so much to do with comfort in a living room. A davenport with a long table at its back has become familiar. It is usually near the fireplace. A bit differently and just as comfortably one room placed its two large pieces, table and davenport toward one end and opposite a secretary desk. A smaller davenport at right angles to the fireplace was faced by a pair of upholstered chairs. This made an aisle to the fireplace; at the same time made a group arrangement, so that conversation might be facilitated in our modern homes. Desks, tables and lamps were scattered about the walls, with hangings and mirrors to complete the picture. The drapes at the windows were high, tied back and spread out on the floors. A Chinese brass temple set consisting of candlesticks, lamp and incense burner, decorated the mantel.

Post-War Furniture.

What period? Well—that of America in the four years following the great war will best describe it.

A set of furniture for the dining room consists, year after year, of approximately the same pieces. A buffet, a serving table, a silver chest, always appear, with the dining table and chairs. Variation in silver chests, we find—low chests, and high chests, sometimes both to create an dining set. Shall the high chest have ruffles on wooden doors? Glass doors reveal china or silver on the shelves, wooden doors conceal—well—it's a matter of personal taste.

Finishes do not vary from year to year, because there is a certain standard of taste that is always pleased and satisfied with beautifully finished wood, the general favorite. Inlays, trim, carvings enrich this wood.

Decorative chair coverings, nail heads, drawer pulls are subject to the greatest changes. One set uses heavy handsome old rose tassels for drawer pulls, another, pairs of small brass handles, quiet in design.

An elaborate dining set may boast petit point, or velvet with fringe for upholstery on its chairs. But mohair with patterns on plain covers has proved durable and most satisfactory. Nests of tables in lacquer finishes combine well and add a note of distinction to the room, pleasantly devoted to eating. Appropriate china adds—there are many fine points to be decided on the relative merits of Italian pottery, subtle Wedgwood, translucent Spode, or brilliant lustre, and the use of each for a particular room.

Practical Beauty for Porches

Decorators are ever talking "kennel" as if furnishing were a concrete or symphony. And there is a relation, a very close one, between color harmony and music, composed of stress, rhythm and tone value. Upholstered porches, the keynote is beauty, the stress is on comfort, the rhythm and tone value varying according to taste.

Porches indoors—that is, roofed and glazed, porches out doors, terraces and loggias too, furnish separate types of problems for solution. Upholstered porches are comfortable for porches under roof, while open-to-air furniture must needs be weather-proof.

One must do something about it if one is furnishing a terrace or other open air living room.

Thought turns quickly to reed, fibre and wicker furniture for porches. Besides the ordinary chairs and rockers, with a davenport to match, one finds a number of other pieces of great interest. A foot rest of more than usual size, with an upholstered cushion can be so placed with a straight chair as to form a luxurious chaise longue.

Tea time suggests tables, usually with plain wood tops, and graceful chairs in oval circles. A drop leaf table is another happy idea—no one wants to go indoors at teatime, and such a convenience will bring all the accommodations of the tea service, to one's hand, as it were.

A desk is another pleasant addition to the practical beauty of porches. Or do piazza grow only in the South?

Speaking of piazza reminds us of many charming painted pieces for the mezz to be served in the open. A drop leaf table is a general favorite, and can be so interesting in shape when the leaves are up. Table runners and mats on the flower-colored surface, pottery or glassy-spigged china, bits of colored glass, all combined make good food twice as delicious.

Chairs to match come in many Windsor types, or, with ladder backs. A serving table, belongs to every set, and sometimes a dress-up table, serves for the display of china. Natural wood finish in mahogany or walnut makes a more quiet set, but it has a quality of reserve that is very fitting for some porches.

Acquariums, too, have handsome wrought iron stands. Flower holding stands are fastened to the wall, so may be suspended by chains. A black glass top or black and gold table of wrought iron with either a marble can add a dignified touch to the loggia.

Outdoor porches and terraces may be furnished with any of the furniture described. It is taken into when the rain comes. Hickory pieces can stand the weather fairly well, and stone furniture still better.

Chinese Lanterns Favored. Lighting the porch is a proposition affording some variety. These lanterns are very effective and can be used anywhere on the roofed porch. Brass lanterns are fastened to the wall, or those wrought of iron. Electric sockets are a great addition to the comfort of any porch, in case one has a sudden desire to attach the toaster or the grill.

Standing lamps of iron are placed for the porch, usually with appropriate parchment shades. Torches may be used effectively and where there is no great draft, candles may be lighted.

Have you ever descended early in the long piazza of a summer hotel? A row of grim sentinels await you. Every chair is usually shoved back tight line and you hardly dare sit down lest you disturb the terrible symmetry. How much more companionable and inviting it seems at night when the chairs are all seated, and sit in interesting groups, suggesting chats and gossip and playing tete-a-tetes!

Head of Soldiers' Home Dies. One Island, Neb. April 1.—Ad. Division Waite, 72, commandant of the state soldiers' home here, died today after a serious illness of some weeks. The funeral will take place in Lincoln, where he had retained his residence.

Mr. Waite was a native of Ohio, came to Nebraska in 1873 as a telegraph operator, served a term as legislator from Syracuse, Neb., and became connected with the state banking department and moved to Lincoln in 1903. He later became assistant secretary of state and was elected secretary in 1911, serving two terms. He came to the home as commandant in 1919, becoming commandant in 1919.

He joined the 14th Ohio infantry in the Civil war, being only 19 years of age when the war broke out. He was a member of the Lincoln Congregational church, Lincoln Post G. A. R. and I. O. O. F. He was married, besides his widow, three sons and four daughters, several of whom are in California. Funeral arrangements await word from them though the remains will probably be taken to Lincoln Wednesday. A dangerous condition resulting from throat trouble was the immediate cause of death.

Dies of Neb., April 1.—Grand Island, Neb., April 1.—Mrs. J. W. Neslund, wife of a physician today of some suffering Monday while finishing some laundering work at her home. Believing the fire in the stove about out she undertook to clean it with a kerosene saturated rag which took fire and communicated the same to her clothing, almost all of which was burned from her body. She was 89 years old and leaves her widower and daughter.

Many Game Birds Migrating. O'Neill, Neb., March 31.—Migrating geese, ducks and cranes are more numerous than for many years in the stream and lake regions of northern Nebraska this spring, with thousands more of the birds coming in. While many will move on north when the weather clears up, the number of birds nesting here will exceed those of many previous years.

Conserve Bird Life. Sioux Falls Argus-Ledger: How the birds are caught and counted we cannot say, but there are two birds for every acre of land, the agricultural experts tell us. That is not enough! There are thoughtless and careless of our bird life in America. This low number of birds is a loss to agriculture, for they are a relentless foe to the insects that ruin our crops. There are forests and grains. And more than their economic value is the color and music they bring to life that is offsetting every other loss they make room for more than two birds on each acre.

Juniors Present Play On Thursday

The junior class of the Wayne State Normal presented the comedy drama, "The Empty House," Thursday evening before a crowded house. All the characters were well taken. In the story two brothers and two sisters, played by Ed Reynolds, Allen Schwarz, Joe Ley and Donna Sonner, live together in a city apartment house. The older brother, Ed Reynolds, aspires to be a playwright and from incidents told him by his younger brother and sister he plots a play which is then enacted. In the story a mysterious visitor, Dorothy Browne, comes to the apartment home. She tells of being held up by men who were in the empty house not door to the apartment. She got out in a taxi and a young journalist, Valdemar Peterson, comes and tells of his attempt to get a story about the disappearance of Anthony Allison from a wealthy home of the city. Peggy Palmer, played by Dorothy Foot, surprises Barbara, the older sister, by coming to fulfill a promise that the two girls would always be together on Halloween. The older sister secures a position in the Allison home as stenographer for Edith Allison, Levia Rowden. Mrs. Allison has a son who is so like her nephew, Eric Wendt, who has wealth, that she plots to get rid of the nephew and substitute her son. The nephew foils her and changes clothes with his cousin. Thus releasing himself from the plan. The mysterious visitor who went to the apartment, proves to be the wife of Mrs. Allison's son. Anthony Allison in the play weds Barbara and Tom, the playwright, weds her friend, Peggy Palmer.

The characters are as follows: Mrs. Allison, played by Dorothy Foot; Edith Allison, Levia Rowden; Larry Ferguson, typically young America, Allen Schwarz; Fredericka Ferguson, with an identity, Joe Ley; Tom Ferguson, would-be playwright, Ed Reynolds; Barbara Ferguson, to whom it happened, Donna Sonner; Retta Reeves, the mysterious visitor, Dorothy Browne; Ralph Overton, a young journalist, Valdemar Peterson.

A bath in every home

Every home can and should have a modern bathroom in it. No room in the house is of more importance to the entire family.

Food is prepared in the kitchen. The family gathers in the living room. But the bathroom—that protects the health of all—is actually the most useful room in the house! Clean, sanitary, modern bathroom fixtures are practical health insurance and a source of very real pleasure also!

In spite of this importance of the bathroom, there are homes that have none or are equipped with old, worn-out fixtures that menace rather than protect health. Either condition is easy to remedy! A complete set of modern, high grade bathroom fixtures costs less than the cheapest automobile.

Aside from its value to health, the bathroom increases the rental and sale value of property far more than it costs.

Test Records Show Value of Purebreds

A tabulation has just been completed by the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, in which the records of 284 grade daughters of purebred dairy bulls were compared with the records of their dams. The average yearly butterfat production of the dams was 301 pounds and of the daughters 313 pounds. The daughters exceeded the dams with a margin of only 4 pounds of butterfat a year, but the fact that they exceeded such high-producing dams at all speaks very well for the class of purebred dairy bulls that is being used in the cow-raising association herds, from which these records came. In this connection, estimates show that the average butterfat production of milk cows in the United States is only 160 pounds annually.

The records of the dams were arranged in five groups according to production of butterfat. These five groups averaged 100, 200, 300, 400, and 500 pounds, respectively. The daughters of the first or 100-pound group produced 74 pounds more butterfat than their dams. The daughters of the second group produced 55 pounds more butterfat than their dams. The daughters of the third group produced 36 pounds more butterfat than their dams. The daughters of the fourth group produced 26 pounds less butterfat than their dams. The daughters of the fifth or last group produced 86 pounds less butterfat than their dams.

From these figures we may conclude that the good purebreds are needed, for every dairy herd and that purebred bulls selected from very high producing ancestry are required to produce the best. The daughters of the dams are above 300 pounds of butterfat a year. As the average production of herds advances, better and still better bulls are needed to maintain and to increase production.

Ex-Arch Attorney General

Lincoln Journal: The senate committee investigating Attorney General Daugherty asked for certain files of his department which it desired as evidence in the case. Mr. Daugherty refused to furnish the files on the ground that public interest forbade. It happened that the attorney general's private interest was likewise involved. The president's files was finally for the president to answer. For lack of a disinterested attorney general to pass on the matter for him, the president was hampered. He, therefore, asked the attorney general to step down and Mr. Daugherty unwillingly does so. By this method of proceeding, he let the attorney general down in the easiest possible way. Daugherty, as the record stands, is not dismissed because of improper conduct of his office, or because of personal unfitness. He is dismissed because he cannot be allowed to be a judge in his own case before the senate committee. He goes, in short, on a technicality.

Whatever the ground, his going is for his country's good. The Harding cabinet was a remarkable stratagem, extending from Daugherty and Fall upon such levels as Hughes and Hoover occupy. Seldom had a cabinet reached higher. Fully as seldom has it gone lower. Daugherty should have been discarded if for no other reason than the friends he made and kept. What is his private virtue, he was not fit to be attorney general of the United States.

In handling this case President Coolidge has shown fairness and courage. He refused to sacrifice a member of the cabinet handed down to him by his predecessor until a full opportunity was given for defense. The hearings developed such a condition in the attorney general's office that without the most serious charges it became evident that the welfare of the public service called for a change. That change is now made directly and in good order, and a most unpleasant incident is out of the way.

California is Agitated.

A. L. Bixby in Lincoln Journal: All southern California is agitated over the letter from Long Beach, signed by Jennie Webb, which tells a story of very unhappy conditions for the poor people who live in the city by the sea. A relative by marriage, whose home is at Glendale indicates his resentment in language too severe for repetition in this purpose of treaty, freely spoken. The lad hasn't learned to differentiate between a "communication" and an "editorial," and so holds the Journal severely responsible for having willfully and wickedly given circulation to a California horror having no foundation in fact. In a series of letters from the western coast we were content to give the results of unprejudiced observation and have nothing to apologize for, nor do we propose to apologize for what others may have written, who seem to have glimpsed seams that escaped our observation. We found hospitality and good cheer all along the lines, and it was so recorded. We noted certain damage by frost and wind, under the wide stretches of sunny skies, and did not ignore the palpable facts in the case. We praised in a becoming manner the good roads, good people, and good prospects, but, good science overlook the things lacking to make the land a paradise. When the Lord made California He had lots of land to spare.

So He least us meaks and ridges, non-productive here and there; And the great Mojave desert, in the place of fertile land. And the nature of the ground for the surplus rock and sand. Then He set the friendly ocean to the west of all this waste ("Thus a benefit most kindly, and a mercy not displaced), And the mildness of the climate in the winter time brings forth Many seekers after a little more from the frozen east and north. Large its visible resources in the valleys near the sea, But it has its limitations, and it rather seems to me In the boosting for the cities and the "projects" of the state They are biting off a little more than they can masticate.

In spelling, shorthand and typewriting. Royal Neighbors of Newcastle celebrated the twenty-ninth anniversary of that lodge March 20. Supt. and Mrs. John Blevins, Miss Jessie Bacon and William Austin, former students at Wayne, took part in a mock wedding ceremony which was part of the entertainment. Carl Zastrow of Emerson, sustained a severe cut last week when he tripped and fell on a newly sharpened disc at the Doyle blacksmith shop there. Seven stitches were required to close the wound.

The streets in Emerson, are in worse condition than they have been in many years, states one of the pioneers of that town.

Rev. Mr. Phillips of South Sioux City spoke Friday, March 21, for the community program sponsored by the Allen Methodist church. Rev. Mr. Wilson of Waterbury also spoke and motion pictures were shown.

Firemen of Hartington plan to raise money for new trucks without soliciting the business men. They have planned an entertainment for this purpose for May 8.

Belden is to have a new school building and eight lots have been purchased for the site.

There is discussion in Bloomfield that people of that town may this summer and in future years, present their own chautauque programs. It is thought the musical and other talent in Bloomfield is sufficient for the purpose.

William Lyle of Duluth, formerly a barber in Hartington, plans to return to Hartington and start a poultry farm, specializing in purebred chickens.

L. E. Martin of Newman Grove is to give a trip to New York City in May as a reward from an insurance company for selling $140,000 in insurance since last July.

William "Hollow" was shown in motion pictures at the Newman Grove high school last week. The English department in the school is managing the showing of the classics in picture.

"Go to school" day was to be observed in the schools of Cedar county. The school members and members of boards of education were asked to visit the schools that day.

Rev. Mr. Hammel of Madison, is leader of the new boys' organization there. The boys are planning to present a play this week to raise money for their camping trip next summer.

Frank Beels and W. H. Blakeman of Norfolk, were in Pierce last week creating interest in improving roads in this part of the state. The latter is president of the Nebraska Good Roads association and Mr. Beels is field representative of the same organization. There are 84,000 miles of federal aid money in this state and the men are urging that the same amount be raised in the state so that the federal money can be used for improving the roads.

T. G. Hall of Lincoln, will open a variety store in Pierce.

Miss Kathryn Kraining and Mr. Joseph Krause of Pierce, were married last week by Judge J. E. Heath. They will live on the Matej Krause farm near Pierce.

Mrs. Julia Schroeder of Randolph, pioneer citizen, died March 23 at the age of 76 years. She and her husband retired from the farm sixteen years ago and Mr. Schroeder passed away four years later. Mrs. Schroeder leaves two daughters and four sons as follows: Mrs. Henry Scott of Randolph, Henry Schroeder of Seattle, Wash., Jacob Schroeder of Randolph, John Schroeder of Long Beach, Calif., and Will Schroeder of Randolph.

George Nokes of near Sholes, sold a black gelding, a high grade Percheron, last week for $1,000, the top price paid by Dave Two-days who bought a carload of horses in Randolph and vicinity.

The boys in the Randolph high school who are working under the Smith-Hughes plan of studying agriculture, are planning their year's projects. Some are to raise calves, some hogs and others bees. They will keep account of all costs and will figure how much they make in six months and a year.

Miss Helen Goodenow of Randolph, is to enter a group of the boys at Lincoln in May in a judging contest.

Dr. R. E. Reed, son of Mayor and Mrs. O. D. Reed of Randolph, has been elected president of St. Catherine hospital in McCook. He has practiced in that city since returning from overseas service in the late war. Dr. Reed is also president of the McCook Rotary club.

A new rural telephone line is being built out of Randolph. It extends six miles south, three west and one north of the town. Ten farm homes will be on the line.

STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR

Mark This Example of what Studebaker alone can do

STUDEBAKER is the world's largest maker of quality cars. Our assets are $90,000,000. We have $30,000,000 in model plants. Our sales have almost tripled in three years, because of our matchless values. Last year, 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

Come and learn why
Come and see, before you buy a car, the reasons for this success. See this Light-Six Touring Car, for instance.

Built of the finest steels. Of the very same steels we use in the construction of our cars. On some we pay makers 15% premium to get just the quality specified.

Built under an engineering department which costs us $500,000 yearly.

Each car subjected in the building to 32,000 separate inspections.

Same steels, same workmanship as in the costliest Studebaker models.

Two great features
There are many features in this Light-Six found in no rival car. But we want to mention two in particular.

The motor is perfectly balanced. That means long life and freedom from vibration.

The reason is this: We machine all surfaces of our crankshafts and connecting rods in one operation. Just as was done in Liberty Airplane Motors. This is done in no other car at our prices. Then we use more Timken bearings in this car than are used in any competitive car within $1,500 of our price. And Timken bearings take up wear as no other bearings do.

Why this price?
This Light-Six Touring Car is priced at $1,045. Built under ordinary conditions such a car would cost you from $200 to $400 more.

But we build 150,000 cars per year. We make our own parts. We build our own bodies in 31,000,000 body plants. We have 12,500 up-to-date machines. Our major castings are divided by enormous output.

The result is a value no other maker even tries to match in a five car of this size. Come see what it means to you.

Send for the Book
Mail us the coupon below. We will send you free our new book that will inform you on five simple things which reveal the value of a car. For instance:

It will enable you to look at any car and tell whether it's been cheapened to meet a price or offers true value.

It will tell you why some cars rattle at 20,000 miles and others don't. It shows one simple point in a closed car which assures whether you're getting top or medium quality. The book is free. Clip the coupon now.

How It Excels

Steels are identical with the steels in the costliest car we make.
More Timken bearings than in any competitive car within $1,500 of its price.
Genuine leather cushions, 10 inches deep. Curled hair filling.
All-steel body.
One-piece windshield—rainproof.
Attractive Bowl lights.
Quick-action cow ventilator.

Governor to Furnish Towns With Gasoline

Lincoln, Neb., March 27.—Governor Bryan announced today that he had been able to obtain a continuous supply of gasoline and that he would begin accepting orders from municipalities, civic organizations and individuals who would sell the gasoline to people of the state at 3- to 4 cents below the present prices of fuel.

The announcement followed attempts that were started by the governor some time ago to obtain the gasoline supply.

It will now be able to furnish gasoline in carload lots at a wholesale figure which will permit it to be retailed from 3 to 4 cents below the prices now being charged at filling stations," the governor said.

He displayed a telegram from a producer offering 6,000,000 gallons of high test petrol at the rate of 600,000 gallons a month and indicated that several other sources of supply were available.

The only drawback on the gasoline sale by the state official, he said, is the fact that committees, clubs and towns and cities would probably not want to go to the expense of installing a pump for the gasoline.

"While it requires more capital and more facilities to handle gasoline than is needed for coal," he said, "yet the people are in earnest and cooperate with the local officials and myself, means will be found to realize a vast saving in the cost of this essential commodity and organize associations or clubs, purchasing themselves to purchase gasoline from a municipal filling station which one is establishing. Whenever local officials fail to act in the matter, public committees can be named to provide necessary stations and storage tanks. Care handling the gas will range in capacity from seven to ten thousand gallons."

The governor said that he would expect the gasoline dealers to sell with only enough margin to pay cost of services and equipment.

He did not state what the wholesale price of the gasoline would be, but he declared that the country "is flooded with gasoline" and said he anticipated a change in the market toward a lower sale.

Minnie Peters was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran church and was an earnest worker and believer in the work of her Master, being faithful to the end. She was married June 7, 1921, to Fred H. Brunne, with whom she was a devoted companion and, faithful helper. Those who were with her the last day of her life speak of her extreme cheerfulness. While members of her family were becoming alarmed at her condition she would smile and beg them to be cheerful. Mrs. Brunne was a graduate of the Almage schools and taught in Manley and Union, Neb.
It seems we cannot give her up, yet we must let her life be not lived in vain. She is gone, but her sweet sunny smile will remain and make better the lives of those with whom she associated.
Funeral services were held at the Evangelical church northeast of town and she was buried beside her little son. Rev. Wm. Fischer of Wayne, and Rev. E. Dunsing of Tilden, Neb., had charge of the service. Pallbearers were: E. E. Galt, Dr. J. C. Johnson, James M. Kibben, August Alamo, J. C. Schmoe, and Ed. Pahorst. Relatives from out of town who were present at the funeral were her father, Sam'l mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Peters of Talmage, six sisters, Mrs. Theo. Harms of Manley, Neb., Mrs. Margaret, Mrs. Frank Behm, Mrs. Julius Birkmann, Leta and Evelyn Peters, and three brothers, Edward, Carl and Frank of Talmage; also Mrs. H. C. H. Danne of Silver Creek, H. Brokens of Talmage, Will Harms of Omaha, Mrs. Harold Blair of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Danne of our city, Miss Alice Harms of Manley, Theo. Harms of Manley and Frank Brunne of Burlington, Colo.

Epworth League at 7 p. m.; Conrad Halstead, leader.
Public worship at 11 a. m.

The sermon theme for Sunday morning will be "The Governing Conference in Methodism." In connection with the sermon, a series of baptisms of adults and reception into membership will be offered. Any person desiring either of these rites is requested to see the pastor before Sunday.

Note the hour for the Epworth League is changed from 6:30 to 7 o'clock. The League is just beginning a contest for membership and attendance. Be present next Sunday night, and on time, and you will be assigned to either the "Hustlers" or the "Rustlers."

A meeting of the official board is called for next Sunday afternoon at the church at 2:30 o'clock. Members please take notice.

Many people seem to think that the only opposition the missionary meets as he goes to the foreign field is that which comes from the ignorance and superstition of the people with whom he must deal; but this is not so. The non-Christian religions are aroused as never before and are showing new vigor in opposing the Christian religion. Mohammedanism is sweeping across Africa and is all but triumphant in the "East." Buddhism and Shintoism are taking on the cloak of philanthropy and are striving to revive the forgotten faith in the East. In many places these cults are adopting Christianity's methods and adapting them to meet their needs. Sunday schools are held where these faiths are taught and where "All hail the power of Buddha's name" is sung and young men are organized after the pattern of the M. C. A. All this means that the missionary must

Friends Grieved By Death of Mrs. Brunne

(By a Friend)

Friends of the Fred Brunne family were shocked and deeply grieved Thursday to learn of the death of Mrs. Fred Brunne, a young woman in the bud of womanhood who had called her way into the hearts of all in Winslow. Coming here as a bride three years ago her sweetness of disposition had won a host of friends. She had joined the E. M. of A. and though the distance from town prevented her regular attendance she proved herself to have all the qualities of a good singer.

Minnie Johanna Peters was born January 23, 1899, at Talmage, Neb., and died March 27, 1924, at her home between Wayne and Winslow, aged 25 years, 2 months and 3 days. After an illness of three weeks' duration she underwent an operation Wednesday evening and died at 12:20 a. m., Thursday, An adapt himself to the changed conditions or meet failure in his work. It also means that the church at home must back up missions as never before. The new conditions, if rightly met, need not seriously interfere with the progress of Christian missions; but if we best a retreat in face of them we will hinder the coming of the kingdom for years to come.

The Woman's Missionary society held a very pleasant and profitable meeting at the home of Mrs. Herman Henney, last Thursday. Dinner was served at noon and was followed by the program of the day. About fifty-four dollars were raised for missions.

"The Moral Effects of Waste," the last number in the six weeks' series of social Christianity, was given Sunday evening by President Conn. Mr. Conn emphasized the waste of time and the failure of life due to lack of serious purpose and preparation for useful and honorable work. He also spoke of the terrible waste of war and pointed out how disastrous another war would be because of recent chemical and mechanical discoveries which would destroy property and life and overthrow civilization.

Wheat Acreage Smaller.

Lincoln, Neb., March 31.—In the first of a series of articles intended for the use of farmers in the planting season, A. B. Anderson, federal bureau of crops and live stock estimates superintendent, declares today that the market outlook for 1924 wheat crop does not warrant expansion in acreage, even though world acreage reported to date is slightly less than previously.

The world area of wheat reported to date for 1924, totals 109,000,000 acres, against 115,000,000 acres last year. In Russia the acreage of last harvested, are larger, the article states. "Low price has increased consumption." Continuing, Mr. Anderson's first article says: "The world area of wheat reported to date for 1924, totals 109,000,000 acres, against 115,000,000 acres last year. Proceeds from the play, "When a Father Needs a Friend" presented Thursday and Friday evenings, will amount to $25. The total amount taken in was about $50 and about half of this was expense. The house was crowded Thursday evening but the storm Friday prevented a large attendance. The play is the story of two young men who are trying to make their living in New York City by writing and printing and they are not doing very well in making money. An uncle the student comes to visit one of the men and to carry out the falsehood he told them when he said he was married, he persuades the landlady's daughter to act the part of his wife while the relatives are there. Several amusing incidents arise and the young man is finally forced to tell the truth. The play was cleared up to the happiness of all concerned. Hugh and Homer Linn, Miss Mildred Marshall and the Montgomery orchestra furnished the music.

Seniors are reading plays so as to make suitable selection for their class play.

Storm Sweeps Over Wide Area Saturday

Kansas City, Mo., March 29.—Nine persons died, between seventy-five and 100 injured, several probably fatally, and property damage estimated at hundreds of thousands dollars is the toll of tornado and storm which swept parts of Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Missouri and Illinois late yesterday and last night.

Eight persons were killed and more than seventy injured at Shawnee, Okla., where two hundred homes in the best residential section were destroyed. Four hundred students in a high school there narrowly escaped death or serious injury when they were dismissed only a few minutes before the building was demolished. The janitor, the only person in the building, was in the basement and escaped injury. A small boy narrowly escaped death, when, at the first sign of the storm, he jumped into a refrigerator shortly before his home was wrecked.

One Death in Kansas.—The storm traveling in a northeasterly direction struck Prague and Noble, Okla., injuring five persons and causing heavy property damage.

Only one death was reported in Kansas, a boy being killed by lightning at Goff, but property damage running into thousands of dollars was caused at Harper, Elkfalls, and at Gridfield, where early every home was destroyed. Four persons were injured at Vernon, Tex., where considerable property damage was done by a windstorm. Wire communication in some sections of Texas is said to be badly crippled.

Alton, Ill.—One person was injured and several buildings in the business district unroofed, when a storm struck there last night. Some property damage was also reported in St. Louis. Heavy rainfalls were reported in Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Rescue parties have been organized in Shawnee and it was believed by noon today the devastated district would have been covered and roads and hampered transportation.

Blizzard Isolates Cities.—Chicago, March 29.—Scores of towns and cities in the northwest and Mississippi valley regions are virtually isolated today, the result of storms which have seriously crippled wire communication and delayed train service.

Damage to crops is feared in some sections of South Dakota and Minnesota, where temperature fell to 16 degrees below freezing in a raging blizzard that brought blocked roads and hampered transportation. Twenty-six passengers of a Boulevard Transportation company bus traveling toward Minneapolis, were forced to spend the night in a restaurant at Waverly, Minn., after their vehicle went off a curve when the driver was unable to see the road buried in the snow.

The Mississippi Valley was visited by a severe electrical storm which severed wire communication between points in Arkansas, southwestern Missouri, southern Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee. Extensive damage to telephone and telegraph wires, lighting and power plants was reported from western Arkansas where the storm apparently did the most damage. At Memphis to Jackson, Miss, was difficult.

Law and Wind at Gregory.—Gregory, S. D., March 29.—A snow storm which started here yesterday afternoon, raged through the night, and was continuing this morning, with a strong northwest wind. The snow is wet and heavy and is not drifting. It is believed that livestock on the ranges is not in danger unless the storm grows worse and temperature falls considerably lower. The thermometer now stands around 19 above zero.

Three Killed in Missouri.—Charleston, Mo., March 29.—The persons listed as killed, were injured and many miles of telephone wires and other property damaged in a storm which swept through southeastern Missouri early today.

After 21 Years He Finds His Parents.—Omaha, Neb., March 30.—William John Miklas, Chicago and Northwestern railroad conductor, of Eagle Grove, Ia., after 21 years of wandering, has just located his parents in Omaha.

For six of the 21 years, Miklas lived within five miles of his parents and didn't know it. During the World War, Miklas was in the same regiment with his two brothers, but never happened to meet them nor to hear their names. A dozen times in the 21 years, Miklas came to Omaha with the purpose of seeking out his parents, but never got on the right track. And when he found them it was by the merest accident—a chance remark.

Miklas lived in Omaha with his parents and two brothers. The boy was 12 years old. He used to herd cows across Union Pacific tracks from his home.

Train Kills Cow.—One night a train killed one of the cows. Young Miklas was afraid to go home, for fear of getting a whipping. Finally he went home, but didn't get the licking. He thought the matter over and decided to run away.

That night he left home shortly after the family had gotten to sleep. He went to the railroad yards and caught the first freight that pulled out. It happened to be a Northwestern, eastbound. At Denison, Ia., he was discovered and kicked off the train. The next day he got a job on a farm and stayed there six months without writing home to his folks. Then he came back to Omaha. He was willing to stay home. But he found a new family in the old home, and no one knew where the Miklas family had moved. Miklas was just an ignorant boy those days. When he inquired for "Miklas," people thought he asked for "Nicholas."

He searched around the best way he could until his money gave out. Then he went back to the Denison farm and remained there for a year. At the end of that period he came to Omaha to again try to find his parents. Again he was unsuccessful, but instead of going back to Denison, Miklas got work with a farmer just outside Council Bluffs. He remained with that farmer for five years and every now and then he came to Omaha and searched for his parents. Finally he decided they had left the city.

Mother Doesn't Know Him.—When America got into the World War, Miklas enlisted and was sent to Camp Pike. He was placed in the Forty-third infantry and went to France with that organization. Now he finds that his two brothers were at Camp Pike and that both went to France. At the close of the war, he returned to his former position and the two brothers came back to Omaha.

Last week Miklas came to Omaha for another "try" at finding his parents. He was getting ready to go back to Eagle Grove, having failed to get any trace of his people. Also, he decided that he would abandon the search in the future. On a street car he sat down by patrolman Frank Zurek. Zurek was in uniform. Miklas talked to him. He asked Zurek if he knew anyone named "Nicholas." He explained why he wanted to know. Zurek told him he didn't know a "Nicholas" but that there was a detective on the city force named "Joe Miklas." Miklas went to the police station and met Detective Joe Miklas, his brother.

Mrs. Miklas, his mother, did not recognize the lost son when the latter came home with Joe.

Teach Principles Americanism.—Randolph, Neb., March 27.—Work in Americanization is being done by two rural schools in Cedar county. Miss Rosina Haberaman, school teacher in district No. 108, has two young men who are foreigners enrolled in order to learn to speak, read and write the English language. A young woman foreigner is enrolled for the same purpose in district No. 16, in which Miss Gladys Wallenstedt is the teacher.

Obituary.

Martha E. Paul was born in Scott county, Iowa, June 24, 1875, and when about the age of seven years moved with her parents to a farm two and one-half miles south of Concord, Nebraska, and resided there until her death.

She was married to John Natley, Oct. 17, 1917, and moved to Waterloo, Iowa, May 17, 1923, where she resided until her death, March 22, 1924, at the hour of 8:30 p. m., after an illness of eight weeks of a complication of diseases, of which she was a very patient sufferer, and at her last illness she stated that if it was Jesus' wish to call her she was willing and ready to go.

Since going to Waterloo, Iowa, she has never had good health and has been gradually failing until the time of her death.

She leaves to mourn, her husband, John Natley of Waterloo, Iowa, two brothers, Wm. E. Paul of Sioux City, Iowa, and David A. Paul of Concord, and one sister, Annie Van Donseelaar, of Concord, two nephews, three nieces and other relatives and a host of friends.

The body was brought to Concord Thursday for burial in the cemetery at this place, and funeral services were held at the grave, conducted by Rev. Mr. Anderson of Concord.

Assessors Start Work.

Lincoln, Neb., March 27.—More than 1,000 tax assessors will start work tomorrow at assessing property in Nebraska for taxes. They are generally under the county assessor, but where such office has been abolished the county clerks will have charge of the precinct assessors. Assessors are also used to sell state hall insurance in farming districts.

No Stock Loss in Storm.

O'Neill, Neb., March 31.—A blanket of snow ranging in depth from 10 to 15 inches lay over Holt and the counties west as a result of Saturday's snowstorm, which was almost a blizzard. While the storm was hard on range stock, no losses are reported. The snow will place the soil in excellent condition for spring work, and also will raise the already swollen streams and tributaries, which are now running high.

For Sheriff

Has lived in Wayne county thirty-five years. He engaged in farming until three months ago when he moved to Wayne. Mr. Surber fully appreciates the importance of the sheriff's office, and is prepared fully to assume all its duties and responsibilities. If he is nominated and elected he proposes so to discharge official obligations that no one will have reason to regret the support given him at the polls.

Support Solicited

I wish to announce that I am a candidate for the democratic nomination

For County Assessor

and wish to give assurance that if I am nominated and elected, I will exercise my best judgment in discharging the duties of the office.

Your support is earnestly solicited.

As to Immigration. The immigration problem is one of the outstanding issues in the United States at this moment. It cannot be settled with full regard to the best interests of this nation during a national political campaign. How many people and what nationalities to exclude or admit is a tremendous question, in the settlement of which enters many factors and many influences. Racial organizations in this country are threatening reprisals on any party that passes legislation that is deemed offensive to them. It will be well for the natives of this country, who have its future welfare most at heart, if the present quota law which is expiring, should be continued for another two or three years and then tackle the immense job of framing a just immigration bill when the political temperature of the nation is not at fever heat.

Business. Sioux City Journal: Various explanations are offered by observers of business conditions the country over for the present situation described as "spotty," "lumpy," and "irregular." Bradstreet's puts the blame on a late Easter season, the weather and irregular industrial conditions. The New York correspondence of the Philadelphia Public Ledger carried an indictment of easy money as partly to blame, and then traces this to an increase in gold shipments to this country. Low interest rates, however, are believed to be temporary, although the rediscount figure may be lowered somewhat. Buying generally is not up to the mark of last year. Storms have been frequent, thus discouraging spring purchasing. That situation is worse in the east than in the middle west when compared with the average condition for the past year. At this time business improvement is a little more marked in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys than in the east, the increase, of course, being in proportion to the volume of trade. The east naturally still has the greater activity. The impressive thing is that confidence is drifting westward, slowly but surely. This is shown in the energy displayed by the building trades, which are active over a wide middle west area. The east is still governed by a policy of watchful waiting. It is not yet convinced that anyone knows what finally will be done by congress in reducing taxation, what the bonus bill will cost if passed, and what effect it will have on the general economic situation. Industrial executives, therefore, prefer to play safe, and are making only such plans as will meet present and immediate demands. Western railroads are employing men and buying materials. They are compelled to do so because of the fact that the lines for some years have not been maintained up to the standard demanded for efficient transportation. This has helped somewhat, through increased employment, to increase the purchasing power. Various related lines are affected, especially the steel manufacturers who are doing better business right along. There has been an increase in grain exports. The shipments abroad in one week jumped 250,000 bushels to a total of 1,210,000. Barley, corn and oats all gained. Wheat shipments fell off 52,000 bushels. In this connection attention may be called to weather conditions that have helped the agricultural situation by insuring better crops. Precipitation has been heavy, and it has been the right kind, snow. Heavy blankets are protecting the young wheat over enormous areas, and when the warm days come there will be sufficient moisture in the ground to give the growing grain a fine start. As an offset to the general acknowledgment that business is not as regular as it was a year ago it can be pointed out that employment is at a high figure. It has increased all along until now there practically is no unemployment worth mentioning. Meanwhile it is a fact that the number of workers has not been reduced, so it may be inferred that industrial activity has not suffered an annoying decrease. The usual complaint at this time is against the lack of merchandise orders in the hands of wholesalers and jobbers. It is believed that this will show a decided improvement when weather conditions change for the better and the spring season is farther advanced.

Sioux City Journal: Miss Roxa Stinson, as is said in the roped arena, stands up well under punishment and still carries a punch sufficient to make Mr. Daugherty wince every time she lands.

Simple Mr. Rickard. Kansas City Star: Next time Mr. Rickard will know better than to pay out his money before he gets his law. It may even penetrate to him surprised understanding that laws are not so easily obtained as he seems to have imagined. Voters and taxpayers have the greatest difficulty in getting them sometimes, even when they elect representatives to congress for the express purpose of passing them. The agents Mr. Rickard paid money to were not even members of the law making body. They just told him they could have the law passed and Mr. Rickard paid.

Notice to Creditors. The state of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss: In the county court. In the matter of the estate of Anna Jonson, deceased. To the creditors of said estate: You are hereby notified, that I will sit at the county court room in Wayne, in said county, on the 4th day of April, and on the 6th day of July, 1924, at 10 o'clock a. m., each day to receive and examine all claims against said estate, with a view to their adjustment, and allowance. The time limited for the presentation of claims against said estate is three months from the 4th day of April, A. D. 1924, and the time limited for payment of debts is one year from said 4th day of April, 1924. Witness my hand and the seal of said county court, this 6th day of March, 1924. (Seal) J. M. CHERRY County Judge. m1824

Radicalism's Cure. San Francisco Chronicle: The best cure for a party that is radical seems to be a little dose of responsibility. James J. Montague: If congress makes a complete cleanup at this session, what will there be left for the next congress to investigate?

"It's the Cheapest Thing I Ever Bought." Writes Mrs. J. Mason, Va. "I paid $1.25 for five cakes of Best-Swiss and made by the large number of dead rats we've picked up. I reckon we've saved hundreds of dollars in clicks, eggs and food." Your pets won't touch it. Best city you had never heard of. Sold and guaranteed by Carhart Hardware Company Wayne Drug Company

Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Houchins who were married March 26, 1874, in Barren county, Kentucky, near the mouth of the Mammoth cave, had an altogether different setting for their half-century wedding. On their fourth month of town after the chickens and chickens had received attention for the night Mr. and Mrs. Houchins out, last Wednesday night, reading letters of congratulations that had been sent them when a party of friends who had been invited by Mrs. Mary Housins Hoyt, came with an old-fashioned charivari for an elderly bride and bridegroom. An evening of congratulations, music and games was enjoyed. Supper was served. The guests brought the "bridal couple" a nice rocking chair. Mr. and Mrs. Houchins have lived near Winside six years, coming here from Red Oak, Iowa. They have two daughters, Mrs. C. L. Imel of Red Oak and Mrs. Frank Hoyt of Winfield.

How a Rat Nearly Destroyed Mrs. L. Bowen's (R. 1.) House

"For months we wouldn't go into the office, fear a big rat. One night I got our whole kitchen on fire by closing matches. The next day, we got the ugly thing with Rat-Snap—just gone. Rat-Snap goes and leaves no trail. Three mice, 60¢ each. Sold and guaranteed by Wayne Drug Company Carhart Hardware Company"
