Announcement.
 Beginning, Saturday, May 3, I will practice optometry in Wayne, the principal office in the L. P. Park Jewelry store. Mr. Fanske has a well-modified, well-equipped optical department that is a credit to any city. He has an excellent optometric graduate of a leading school and registered in Nebraska by examination. I devote my entire time to the care of the eyes and it is only natural that you should feel assured of better service by consulting a specialist. For the time being I will be here on each Saturday and Monday. Please call and get acquainted. Dr. E. E. Simmons, Norfolk, Neb. a171

The Light is Breaking.
 The Manufacturer and Industrial News Bureau, published at Salem, Ore., says: The natural trend of economic forces, accompanied by a return to reason in Europe, now promises to restore to American agriculture that measure of comparative prosperity which has the most frantic and well-meaning political and legislative efforts have failed to bring about.

To three Americans—General Dewey, Owen D. Young and Henry M. Robinson—will be due the credit for formulating the plans under which Europe seems about again to take the orderly process of life.

The laying up and maintenance of stores of foodstuffs in Europe which in the past absorbed the surplus of American production, and relieved the market from its depressing weight, has been lacking for nearly two years. The resumption of purchases necessary to accumulate the normal reserves, together with the reduced production of American farms which seems to be under way, should shortly replace the moribund market conditions with oldtime activity.

Mr. Owen D. Young, just before the departure of the American commission for Europe, in a letter to the editor of the Agricultural Review, of Kansas City, said:

"It is unnecessary for me to tell you how deeply interested I am in American agriculture. I was born on a farm, struggled on it during all my earlier years, and I am still struggling with the same farm. I know something from actual experience of the problems of the farmer, and I have greater interest in seeing sound conditions restored for American agriculture than for any other branch of our activities. Our industries are quite able to take care of themselves. Our agriculture is very largely in the hands of foreign disorganization. I hope the farmers of the country fully appreciate this and will demand action. If they will, they will win it."

In those few words, Mr. Young points the way. It does not lead along political paths, or through legislative halls. It runs in the direction of restoring order, confidence and credit in Europe.

Business.
 With the federal reserve board emphasizing that the United States owes a new responsibility in its relation to world economic affairs, and industrialists throughout the country hoping for an increase in export commerce, the immediate future of American trade is hedged about with many contingencies. Much of the business prosperity of America depends upon a strengthening of the foreign market. That condition depends, in turn, upon solutions to political problems abroad. And the whole thing rests on what adjustments finally are made with reference to European affairs.

It is true that in this country business is doing very well despite the distress in Europe. Reconstruction here has been carried along so steadily that the result of employment, and of production and of sales may have created the impression that partial isolation in trade is not damaging to America, in a word, that this country can get on well enough by itself. That is not correct. The idea is fit for use only temporarily. It cannot be applied indefinitely, and because of a condition easily understood. American reconstruction has helped the economic situation at home. When the world war ended, business in this country found itself in need of expansion in various directions. Building had been slow for some years. Construction on an enormous scale was necessary. This was undertaken in an energetic manner, and unemployment was decreased almost to the vanishing point. The domestic buying power thus was strengthened by the fact that more workers had gainful occupations, and the turnover in goods manufactured at home was increased. Domestic consumption of American products was bigger than ever before. Exports had fallen off without seriously affecting American business. Gradually the impression was created that this country could enjoy prosperity while the rest of the world, or a large part of it, lagged behind.

Consider, however, what may happen in the future if that same condition obtains abroad indefinitely. This country finally will complete its program of reconstruction. It will have effected an expansion in industry. It will be ready to meet any demands for export goods, having both the equipment and the raw material for production. But—will it have the market? The time would come under such circumstances when American business would realize that prosperity depended on much more than home consumption of its products. Unless there was a demand from abroad, production would have to be cut down below the capacity of an expanded industrial power. The whole thing may be summarized in a sentence: When the United States completes the job at home, it will have to extend its trade lines to foreign fields if it hopes to employ its equipment in a way that will bring lasting prosperity.

The report of the Dawes committee on German reparations is believed to hold a promise of better international trade conditions. A plan, however, must be in operation before it can produce good results. The moment Germany gets back into the business of producing goods and of consuming a normal amount herself, the work of world trade expansion can begin. On the other hand, there is the increasing suspicion that Europe is getting ready for another conflict. A war now or in the near future would throw business everywhere into worse chaos than ever. It looks now as though the giants of commerce and politics the world over must put forth their powers to the absolute limit if humanity is to have the opportunity for a happier destiny, which is indubitably bound up in business prosperity that comes from long continued peace.

Don't exaggerate a rumor just to make it stir the blood of a listener. It may do some one an awful injustice.

Concentration is a wonderfully amazing exertion. It will do for the mind what golf or long hike will do for the body.

Often people suspect and condemn on very meagre evidence. Each should exercise the same circumspection and charity he would expect for himself.

Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty charges, according to report, that the senate committee investigating the Harding cabinet, had pigeon-holed his report on war-time frauds involving $60,000, 000 and that suits already have been brought for the loss of $28,000,000. This charge is important if true, and it is as likely to be true as some other reports put into circulation in the course of Washington investigations.

The annual Arbor day, founded by the late J. Sterling Morton, a distinguished Nebraska farmer of this state, once treeless, has become dotted with big groves that furnish shade, protect crops, often wind and sometimes lightning. When communities sometimes often devoted April 22 to tree planting. Now, with the forestry of the state well built, Arbor day is observed mostly in remembering its founder and the inspiration he gave to important development.

A Omaha police sergeant is being buried in installments. Shot in a battle with bandits, the policeman had a leg amputated. His body member was put into a casket and was buried with due ceremony in West lawn cemetery. A suitably modest funeral was held. If the policeman loses the other leg or an arm, it will be buried in the same place. Finally when the final service is held, his body will be put together and have a reunion in the one grave.

Postponing needed attention to one's teeth causes a great deal of suffering and annoyance. One could postpone the hour when he is to lose his teeth and have his mouth filled with a lot of artificial equipment if he would go to a dentist on hearing the first complaint from his facial cavity. When a dentist gives notice of impending violence, one should go to a dentist and have the pain removed and the life of the grinning prolonged. When a dentist includes great burdens of cost, through neglect and delay.

How refreshing it is to find a man who knows more than he pretends to know, and more than you thought he knew. When, however, his disheartening and distressing it is to have your expectations, encouraged by magnified representations, suddenly dashed to the ground by revelations of fact! Many people have the objection that they must show off to advantage. They feel they must show off to the ground by revelations of fact! Many people have the objection that they must show off to advantage. They feel they must show off to the ground by revelations of fact! Many people have the objection that they must show off to advantage. They feel they must show off to the ground by revelations of fact!

By their dress, mannerisms and conversation, they are full of the way of entertainment and lecture, people often invite the very indiscretions which they condemn. One of the old Hiram traditions which has become a fixed essential, is a source of more demoralization than any other thing in the world. People feign to be down the stairs, but do not forget the danger of the falls ahead. Responsibility for the misconduct of children largely rests on heads of families. Parents should be divided to school teachers and to the civil authorities. Mothers and fathers cannot escape by crawling under cover by the door. Their best is to ignore their best. Their best is to ignore their best. Their best is to ignore their best. Their best is to ignore their best.

adopt all of the whims of fashion, some of them very undesirable, should not be penalized by neglect, but rather should be encouraged and supported. The young to do right and harder for them to do wrong.

Secretary Charles F. Hughes, precursor of the cabinet, in the course of a recent speech to New York Republicans, praised President Coolidge as an "ideal executive." Secretary Hughes ranks high as an American statesman, and people have confidence in his judgment. In the concluding paragraph of his speech, he made the sensible statement: "No one can foresee the exigency which an administration may have to confront. It is the business of the cabinet to presidents, as to others. For that reason, character is more important than declarations. Today there is no occasion for excitement; no reason for uncertainty. The best assurance of the future is the character of Calvin Coolidge."

IMPERVIOUS AS RHINOCEROS.
 The Wayne Herald wonders if Hiram Johnson if elected president, would be as imperious as handling the oil scandal. Why not? Certainly Coolidge has not covered himself with glory in the matter—and if he gets what he deserves it will be a swift kick back to old New England next November. What gets us, is how champion editorial writers like the one who has been writing about that way."—Mark Murray in Pender Times.

Mark expresses surprise over the Hiram Johnson's confidence in President Coolidge. We cannot say we are equally surprised at Mark. He has been sealed and double-riveted in his opinion for many years. He is eminently sound on everything but politics. When he thinks politically, he puts on the demeritic party label, and if he can, he shoots approvingly. If he finds no label, he postpones judgment. If he finds no label, he postpones judgment. If he finds no label, he postpones judgment.

Mark will let facts by the results of late primaries in a number of states and the feeling of the people. He is in feeling friendly to the president is only in accord with that taken by the voting majority. Johnson's record has been from the beginning. People appreciate the president's courage and poise in the midst of the political upheaval in which he has not allowed himself to be driven by the accused or the accusers in either party. Mark will notice how people have been voting even if narrow partisanship prevents him from understanding why they have been voting that way.

Baseball Team Organized.
 Windef, Neb., April 16.—At a meeting held Monday evening at which a large number of fans and business men were present, a baseball team was organized for the coming season. G. C. Francis, who managed the team last year, was again unanimously chosen manager. The team is practically of the same lineup as last year, excepting Foy Conyers, who twirled for the Randolph team last year. Windef held all home men last year and made an enviable record. They expect to play an all home team this year and are willing to play with any team in northeast Nebraska.

Prairie Fires do Damage to Pastures

Ainsworth, Neb., April 15.—A large tract of hay and grazing land in the Thoslow county and northeast Blaine county, north of Brewster, was burned over yesterday by a prairie fire. Elements of a brisk wind, the flames jumped the Calamus river and continued their disastrous progress northward until they reached the west gate of the Thoslow Jones ranch, where the fire fighters succeeded in getting the blaze under control. Ed Davis ranch, twenty-eight miles south of Ainsworth, was completely burned over and the land made unfit for grazing. The buildings, however, were saved.

Several automobile loads of men went from Ainsworth to the scene of the fire and helped fight it.
Fire Near Neligh.
 A prairie fire starting near the railroad, six miles south of Neligh Sunday at 2 m. spread for two hours before it was brought under control, destroyed many tons of hay, burned over several sections of land and threatened to sweep away several farm houses in its path, according to word reaching Norfolk. As soon as the smoke was seen, the fire houses were engaged. At one place where it seemed impossible to check the fire, all the furniture was moved from the house and a place of safety. However, the house was saved. The heat created currents of air which swept the flames forward with amazing velocity and rabbits were seen scurrying away ahead of it, while flocks of prairie chickens and geese fled to the high ground north of Neligh to escape the flames, which leaped high into the air.

Several years' growth of grass furnished abundance of fuel with which to feed the flames. Old settlers were reminded of pioneer days when each spring brought numerous such fires and for days and nights every one was out fighting fires.

Ordinance No. 117.

An ordinance regulating and licensing the running at large of dogs within the corporate limits of the Village of Carroll, Nebraska; levying a license tax on male and female dogs; providing for the licensing of the same; providing the penalty for failure to pay dog taxes; providing the time and circumstances under which a village marshal may impound and kill dogs running at large in violation of this ordinance; providing the penalty for allowing vicious dogs to run at large; requiring the muzzling of dogs in certain circumstances and repealing Ordinance No. 19 of said village.
 Be it ordained by the Chairman and the Board of Trustees of the Village of Carroll, Nebraska.

Section 1. That there is hereby imposed upon the owner or harbinger of any dog or bitch within the limits of the village of Carroll, an annual license tax of one dollar ($1.00) for each dog and three dollars ($3.00) for each bitch, so owned, kept or harbored; which tax shall be paid to the village clerk, and upon such payment the clerk shall deliver to the party paying the same a certificate specifying the number and year for which it is issued; which tag shall be attached by the party receiving the same to a metal tag which shall be securely fastened around the neck of the animal for which such tax is paid.

Section 2. That it shall be the duty of the owner, keeper or harbinger of any such animal, to pay said tax within ten days after the commencement of each fiscal year hereafter and within ten days from the receiving or harboring of such animal.

Section 3. It shall be the duty of the village marshal to destroy any dog or bitch found running at large in the village of Carroll, Nebraska; without the tag having been paid, and without the tag and collar thereon as provided in section one of this ordinance, and such marshal shall receive for the killing and removing from the corporation for each animal the sum of fifty (50) cents.

Section 4. That upon complaint of any person or persons that any dog, either male or female, has bitten or attempted to bite said person or persons, personally made to the village marshal, the village marshal being satisfied that such complaint is true and that such dog complained of is of a vicious disposition shall require the owner or owners of said dog to keep the same securely muzzled. After such notice, any such dog not being securely muzzled as herein required shall be killed by shooting or otherwise, by or under the direction of the village marshal; and an execution of the provisions of this ordinance the village marshal shall be fined in any sum not less than five ($5.00) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars, and the person so offending shall be liable to keep the village jail until such fine and costs are paid or otherwise discharged according to law.

Section 5. Any owner, keeper or harbinger of a vicious dog, or a dog that chases after persons on bicycles, in automobiles or pedestrians on the streets, who after knowledge or notice thereof permits such dog to run at large, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than five ($5.00) dollars nor more than one hundred ($100.00) dollars, and the person so offending shall be liable to keep the village jail until such fine and costs are paid or otherwise discharged according to law.

Section 6. That ordinance No. 19 of said village be and the same hereby is repealed.

Section 7. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage, approval and publication as required by law.
 Passed, approved and publication ordered this 10th day of April, 1924.

New Books Received At The City Library

Among the new books accessioned at the city library is "Progress of Patriotic Writing" by Supt. M. G. Clark of the Sioux City schools. This is a course of study in history for pupils in the primary, intermediate and junior high grades of the schools. For progress Mr. Clark quotes from Genesis, "Let them have dominion over all the earth" and for patriotism he quotes from Matthew, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with thy mind and thy neighbor as thyself." The volume is dedicated to the teachers of the Sioux City schools with the hope that "children may be led to acceptance of an intellectual and loving service for their city, state, nation and all humanity."

"The Leopard Spots," by Thomas Dixon, author of "The Birth of a Nation," is an epic of the south and portrays in a geographic manner the dramatic events of destruction, reconstruction and rebuilding. An interesting love story runs through the novel.

"The Rich Little Poor Boy," by Eleanor Gates, is a delightful story of a boy, John Smith, 11-year-old child who lives in New York, has never enjoyed the outdoor life that children in the country have and he long for it. He has a wonderful imagination, which he uses to help him have the pleasures of the country.

"The Cruise of the Sally D," is a story by E. S. Ellis that follows the career of two boys through youth to manhood. The two go through forest fires and other thrilling adventures. "The Clab at Crow's Corner," is a novel written by James Otis and in it Mr. Bunny who is good-hearted and talkative, tells of the encounters of the famous club of animals who meet under a famous oak tree.

"Dolly's Doings," by Alice George, tells of a girl who is fond of her own way and lives in New York with her mother and becomes acquainted with a little girl who teaches her that to have one's own way is not always the best.

"The Girl Ranchers," by Carrie Marshall, is a novel for children from 9 to 16 years of age. "Dreams" by Julia B. Clark, is one for girls from 7 to 12 years.

"The Cruise of the Sally D," is written by James Otis and is for children from 7 to 12 years of age. It is a story of a Maine lobster catcher who protects three friendless boys and a sailor. They buy the old ship Sally D, and launch it for a profitable fishing boat.

In "A Regular Tomboy," written by Mary E. Mumford, is a girl who has had a kind of danger. Finally she realizes that it is just as much fun to be a girl.

"The Moonbeam" is a new novel by Wilkie Collins.

In "The Last Trail," by Zane Grey, is a story of the border. Col. Zane and his family establish a wild life at Fort Henry and, despite the attacks of the savages, they succeed. An interesting love story runs through the narrative.

"The Parowan Bonanza," by R. M. Bower, is a tale of the Nevada gold fields. In it is a man who loves the desert and his experience when a gold boom strikes the country. One of a series of four volumes written by E. L. Beach who is a capable historian and other good reading, "Apprentice Seaman." The story tells of the rise of a young man in the navy. Mrs. Margaret Grier gave the library a set of Dickens books. Other gifts recently have included "Things Will Take a Turn," by Beverly Harnden; "Grapevine Little Girls Grow Up," by Alice Curtis; "A Guernsey Lily," by Susan Coolidge; "Little Girls in Old Washington," by Mrs. M. Douglas; and "Gold Bids," by E. Marritt.

na law which requires examination of eyes, ears, nose and mouth of all school pupils, and states that the child-welfare department takes over most of this work. "Results this year will show that over 75 per cent of the schools of this state have reported," continues the summary. "In most countries, this work must be done by the teachers; in a few cases, nurses and doctors are employed."

A course where there is a school or county nurse, the duty devolves upon her. Twelve cities besides Lincoln and Omaha employ school nurses—Beatrice, Central City, Columbus, Fairbury, Cering, Grand Island, Hastings, Holdrege, McCook, Norfolk, Scottsbluff and Alliance. "In these cities every phase of public health service can be emphasized, and attention given to sanitation of buildings and to nutrition work."

"There are 18 counties in the state where Red Cross nurses are employed. A year ago there were 23 counties employing a public health nurse; in 10 of these the service was discontinued, while it was established in five new localities. Probably similar developments will be the result, resulting in a corresponding decrease in the number of nurses."

Wakefield News

Lincoln, Neb., April 15.—A summary of the work done by public health nurses in Nebraska was issued here today by Clara C. Clayton, head of the state health department. The summary, which included a plan for better public health, was prepared by the child welfare department and is being distributed in 100 copies upon their request for information on the work she said.

"The public conscience is experiencing a new awakening on the subject of its responsibility toward community health problems," Mrs. Clayton declared. "Parents and teachers are beginning to realize that children must be encouraged in the formation of proper health habits and safeguarded by community health nurses, and that to develop into men and women with sound bodies and sound minds who will be able to take their places in the community as responsible citizens."

Chick Life-Saving Station

Conkey's chain of feeding will save hundreds, yes, thousands of chicks in Wayne county this season. Start your chicks with Conkey's Buttermilk Starter. Give the chicks a chance—nothing to irritate and cause bowel trouble. Make a test and know the truth. Do in eight weeks with Conkey's what will require eleven weeks by untested systems. Make the test, be fair with yourself and be convinced. It's required years of experiments to perfect a food that will produce bone, flesh and feathers, maintain correct bowel action, yet make a handsome profit to the poultryman. Conkey's starter contains no poisonous weed seed, screenings, mill sweepings or mouldy grains—none but the better grains are used by Conkey. No waste or rejected portions—it's all food.

At $6.35 Per Hundred It's the Cheapest Chick Food Obtainable. 25c, 75c, $1.95 and $6.35 sizes.

Do it the Conkey way and save your chicks and make the difference. Fine charcoal, fine grit and Conkey's chick grain to be fed after the first four weeks. We have these items in stock and the demand is active.

City Library Report.

The following is a report made by Mrs. E. S. Blair before the library board:

In accordance with the desire of the committee appointed at the meeting of the State Library association, that a written report of the month's work be presented by librarian at each meeting of the board, I am presenting to you the report of our work during the month of March.

It has been a very good month from the library standpoint. The following figures will tell you something of what has been accomplished:

Number of books loaned, 809; magazines loaned, 172; and new readers, 34. The total number of books loaned was 1,081, since 2,000. March 10 we opened the children's room which is a very desirable improvement. Story hour has been conducted each Saturday for three weeks and a large number of children have been present each time.

We have received gifts of twenty books from Mrs. O. E. Bowen, Mrs. E. Rippon and Mrs. Arthur Norton for the children. More adults have availed themselves of the privilege of the reading room recently.

I spent March 24 and 25 in Sioux City at the library, learning the Toronto method of bookbinding. This is a practical way of saving money for the library and at the same time of keeping the books in circulation. I would recommend that the board give me permission to order the supplies needed for this work.

Since moving the children's books there is some empty shelving in the reference section. It is my hope that this summer we can build up our history section, both European and United States, as well as add to other departments.

Respectfully submitted,
Ida Blair, Librarian.

Better Homes Week Will Be Observed

Mrs. E. W. Huse is local chairman of the Better Homes week program to be conducted throughout the nation May 11 to 18.

From the movement it is hoped that there shall be developed steadiness of character, high ideals of family life, civic pride and responsibility.

Better Homes movement was started in 1922 by Mrs. William Brown Meloney, President Coolidge's "Honey-bee" of the organization and Herbert Hoover is chairman of the board of directors. The success of the first demonstration, held in October, 1922, led to the establishment of the national observance of the week. To educate people of the United States to higher standards of home life is the object of the Better Home week which is being financed by public gifts.

In 1923 there were 1000 demonstrations of better homes in the United States and villages. The objects of the demonstrations were: To show the advantages of thrift, home ownership, for only forty-five percent are home owners, to overcome the present shortage of homes occasioned by the war and other causes, to make wholesome home life available to all, to assist and encourage home-makers and home-builders as only ninety percent of the women do their own work, to improve home environment and thus build character, to increase the efficiency of the wage earner of the home, to stimulate sensible and appropriate purchasing for home improvement, and to mobilize community pride for a common objective. In many of the demonstrations a modern home is shown with all the latest equipment and happy home life is demonstrated.

Herbert Hoover, in his explanation of the importance of the Better Home week, states that character of people is largely affected by the homes in which they dwell. The profound influences of early childhood are those of the family circle, he asserts, and the warmest memories of later years also center in the home. The house should therefore always be a fitting symbol of ideals and aspirations of the family it shelters. The highest civilizations have been built by nations in which the mass of the population are home owners.

To all persons interested in the Better Home week offers opportunity for every citizen to participate for the developing of homes of safety, convenience, comfort, privacy and beauty.

Mrs. G. L. Bowers of Valley Junction, Iowa, who has been a month guest of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Crockurt, returned home Saturday.

Miss Frances Oman Writes From Idaho

Lewiston, Idaho, April 7, 1924. Editor of Wayne Herald, Wayne, Neb.

Dear Sir—With the thermometer registering 90 one can easily guess what kind of weather we are having. Green grass and flowers everywhere present rather a different picture from that which you are accustomed to at this time of year. There were daffodils in blossom in our neighbor's garden in February and I remember children bringing buttercups to school as early as the 4th of February. Now you cannot wonder that the Lewiston valley is called the basket of California of the northwest and other flattering names created by local enthusiasts. So far this year—weather conditions have been most ideal but I am fearing an all to warm season which undoubtedly overtakes us before school is out.

The Lewiston valley boasts of other distinctive features that its climate. Two fine rivers, the Clearwater and Snake, join here and form the Snake river in its flows into the Columbia. The former is typical of its name and is the source of Lewiston's very excellent water supply. The Snake is large enough to permit navigation and occasionally I hear a mellow whistle from a steamer bringing both passengers and freight from down Portland way. The Snake further furnishes a fine supply of fish, principally salmon. It is fascinating to watch the process of seining these fish and to see the big shining fellows drawn onto shore.

The hills here are different too. Across the Clearwater river to the north extends upward the great expanse of barren hills known as the Lewiston hills. One must climb this incline to Spokane, which trip I had the pleasure of taking a week ago. I took the stage trip purposely to get the view by daylight which I had hitherto seen only at night. The road up the hill is at least twelve miles long and is constructed so as never to exceed an incline of five degrees. The sight from the hills is simply glorious. The day I saw it the hills, washed clean by a recent shower, seemed as folds of lovely fabric in green and tan shades. Across the river, bluer than the spring sky, lay the towns of Lewiston and Clarkston skirted on three sides by many colored fields, orchards and vineyards, resembling very decidedly an old fashioned patch work quilt. Then as if to frame this panorama were the fringes of pine covered mountains, all blue and silver in the distance.

This extraordinary view could be seen better only from an airplane. (This ride I expect to take soon.) I am told that tourists from many parts of the world had hailed it as most beautiful and unusual. The remainder of the trip held little of interest for me, excepting that I had a chance to see the campus of the Lewiston State Agriculture College at Pullman.

While in Spokane I had the privilege of hearing the great Paderewski and this was a treat in itself and was pleased to find the artist a most reserved and conservative performer rather than the erratic type of so many of the foreign artists. I attended the concert with Mr. and Mrs. Fausser, formerly of Wayne Normal and now of Washington State Normal at Cheney. They are both enjoying the northwest and are happy in their work. The Normal grounds are beautiful and the main class building situated on the crest of the hill, overlooks a most charming picture of mountains and plains. The school boasts the distinction of being the best equipped normal in the United States. This may not be true but there is plenty of evidence of quality and serviceability in both buildings and equipment. I was delighted over the lovely auditorium in which a beautiful Kimball organ has recently been installed. Mr. Fausser very ably demonstrated its fine tone and many possibilities in several numbers for me.

School will be out in a few more weeks and teachers are beginning to make plans for the summer. So I am to do as I have done for so long. I am to do as I'm beginning to want to do. Wayne again. I shall be happy to join the circle of old time friends there.

Sincerely,
Frances O. Oman.

Conrad Jacobson Is New President

Norfolk News, April 12: The new officers of the Third district of the Nebraska Teachers' association are: President, Conrad Jacobson, Wayne; vice president, J. W. Sahlstrom, Norfolk; secretary, Emma Miller, West Point; treasurer, W. E. Flake, Stanton; executive board, E. E. Lackey, Wayne.

The thirty-eighth annual convention, Third district, Nebraska Teachers' association, was concluded in the auditorium of the high school Saturday morning after a brief business session. The convention was attended by a fairly large number of teachers who remained to discuss the vote on two amendments to the constitution. The teachers had voted 282 to 85 that annual meetings of the association be held and that the membership should decide the time and place of the meetings. The amendment giving the executive committee power to select the time and place of the meeting was lost 87 to 60.

Enrollment is Over 1000. The meeting here passed the 600 mark late Friday afternoon and President Sursace and other officials of the association expressed themselves highly pleased over a convention which was declared by the membership to be one of the most successful in the history of the association. The total membership with new members enrolled this year has passed the 1,200 mark. E. E. Lackey of Wayne stated: "He declared that the organization was reorganized two years ago and that the attendance in Norfolk is the biggest since this reorganization. State secretary Hosman who was present from Lincoln declared that with the existing feeling for association work, next year's attendance will be at least 1,500.

The teachers relaxed Friday evening after a strenuous day of group and general session meeting. W. S. Koch of West Point presided at the teachers' banquet held in the Presbyterian church and Miss Beatrice Koch of Norfolk presided at the women's dinner in the First Congregational church. More than 100 plates were laid at both dinners and the entertainment at both places was interesting. At the men's dinner expert conversational talk was made by very clever speakers. At the women's dinner the entertainment was furnished by the high school orchestra and by vocalists.

Closing Addresses Made. At the general session on 8 o'clock Friday evening Miss Alleghiebeth Huntley, University student from Lincoln, sang notes following community singing by A. A. Chambers of Norfolk. Then followed the two closing addresses. Mr. Sahlstrom of the state teachers' college at Pittsburg, Kan. on "What Must Education Do to Save the State" and Dr. M. Y. O'Shea of the University of Wisconsin.

The teachers then adjourned business and held Elks hall to overflow. The guests of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce at a grand soirée in which practically every teacher participated. The hall was beautifully decorated and a carnival spirit prevailed; colored caps, horns, balloons, streamers of colored paper and confetti made the scene colorful. The dancing and the light music furnished by Frank Fox's orchestra just made the teachers dance.

After Anderson and Miss Beatrice Koch and William Berkstresser were chairman of the soiree divisions. Notwithstanding the great success which marked the ball the entertainment was successful even to the serving of light refreshments, a task which a committee of women performed in an excellent manner.

Balloting for new officers continued all day Friday and the election board of the association worked overtime in the high school building counting the votes. A contest had developed for Genevieve McNichols of Tilden among many of her Madison County friends and she was elected in the race for president. Jacobson received 185 votes; Miss McNichols 144; Homer Jones of Escholt, 45. The votes on other officers were: Vice president, J. W. Sahlstrom, 231; Anna Donohoe, O'Neill, 166; Frank E. Bishop, Okland, 43; Secretary, Emma Miller, West Point, 124; Evan W. Chapman,

THIS Studebaker Light-Six is the supreme value in the thousand-dollar class. It offers, not a few, but scores of advantages. In its chassis it represents the best that modern engineering knows. In its steels and quality of construction it is identical with the costliest cars we build. This is to offer you proofs. Then urge that you see it before paying $1,000 or more for a car.

Some evidence

The extra values which this car typifies have made Studebaker the largest builder of quality cars. They have made these cars a sensation. Sales have almost trebled in three years. Last year 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

The multiplying demand has forced investment of $50,000,000 in model plants and equipment. Of this, $38,000,000 has been spent in the past five years, so the plants are up-to-date. The engineering department which designs and superintends this Light-Six costs $500,000 per year.

The machines which build it are modern and exact. So operations on this car are exact to 1/1000th of an inch. 122 operations are exact to one-half 1/1000th of an inch. 1,200 inspectors are employed to submit each car in the making to 52,000 inspections.

Infinite care

The steels are selected from 35 formulas, each one proved best by years of test for its purpose. On some we pay the makers 15% premium to get them exactly right.

The crankshafts are machined on all surfaces, as was done in the Liberty Airplane Motors. This to give perfect motor balance, at an extra cost to us of $600,000 yearly.

It has more Timken bearings than any other competitive car within $1,500 of its price.

$1045

Studebaker Light-Six Scores of extra values

Built by the leader in the fine-car class. One of the cars for which people last year paid $201,000,000. Built in a model $50,000,000 plant, producing 150,000 cars yearly. And saving you by quantity production from $200 to $400.

Built of the same steels, with the same care, as the costliest cars we make.

The car that saved 11.4% in operating cost under rivals. The car with 14 Timken bearings.

Mail coupon for book about it

The equipment is unusual. The cushions are of genuine leather, and are ten inches deep.

Every part and detail accords with Studebaker traditions. And the name Studebaker has for 72 years stood for quality and class.

Top Sioux City Market.

E. H. Behmer of Hoskins, Nebraska, received $11.00 per cwt. on the Sioux City cattle market April 7, which was the top price for the day. His consignment consisted of 41 head of high grade Herefords, of which 25 head were market toppers and the other 16 head were smaller and sold for the very good price of $9.00. Part of these cattle were bought in the sand hills and the balance were Mr. Behmer's own raising. They were put on full feed about November 1, and Mr. Behmer advises they made a good gain during the feeding period, as Herefords usually do, and he was very well satisfied with the price received, as the toppers averaged 1,128 pounds when fed. Whiteface always bring a top price when properly finished, as was this shipment of Mr. Behmer's.

St. Mary's Catholic

(Rev. William Kearns, Pastor.)
Service Good Friday at 7:30 in the evening.

Easter Sunday:
First mass at 7 a. m.
High mass at 8 o'clock.
Devotions in the evening at 7:30.

First Baptist

(Rev. Francis K. Allen, Pastor.)

The cycle of the year has brought us again to the glad Easter-tide. The day of immortal hope. The marked tendency of modern thought is toward the Christian belief that the body is merely the instrument of the soul and that the soul survives that dissolution which we call death. God is the God of the living, not of the dead. Our friends leave us, but they pass on to Him. Easter tells us that Christ is risen and that the grave is not a blind alley, but the avenue into those immortal fields and beautiful rooms of the Father's house.

At 10 a. m. the Sunday school will meet for the study of the Easter lesson. Every member of the school above the primary department is invited to remain for the hour of worship at 11 o'clock. The pastor will speak on "The Challenge of Easter and the Immortal Hope." The choir will have special music. The Easter offering for missions will be taken. Please bring the special envelope provided last Sunday. This will be the final offering for the New World movement.

Young People's meeting at 7 p. m.

The annual meeting of the church and election of officers will be held on Wednesday, April 30.

Choir practice on Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

Evangelical Lutheran

(Rev. J. H. Fetterolf, Pastor.)

It is important that every member should think about the services for the remainder of the week, and make an effort to be present.

This evening (Thursday) at 7:30 we will observe our first communion. All who can possibly arrange should be present at this service. Please do not wait for the Easter morning communion if at all able to attend the first.

There will also be a Good Friday service at 10:30 a. m. Make some sacrifice to be there. There is no good reason why we should not have the church filled at this service.

Easter should bring a record attendance. The service begins at 11 a. m. The holy communion will be administered to those who are unable to attend on Thursday evening.

There will be a special service on Sunday afternoon at 8 o'clock for the baptism of children. Parents having unbaptized children should bring them to church at this hour to receive the rite of baptism.

Sunday evening at 7:30, our regular Easter service. There will be a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

Sunday school meets promptly at 10 a. m. next Sunday.

Mrs. E. C. Hahlbeck entertains the Ladies' Aid next Thursday afternoon.

L. E. Rohrke Makes Record In Chicago

Chicago, Ill., April 16, 1924.

L. E. Rohrke, 22 son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Rohrke, of Hordkins, will be graduated with the degree of Ph. B. from the University of Chicago this spring. Mr. Rohrke is at present resident in his fraternity, the Tau Kappa Epsilon, of which he is vice-president. This is one of the leading fraternities of the university and for the last several years held the highest place in scholarship.

Rohrke achieved his greatest distinction on the gridiron, having played guard at end for the last two years on the Maroon varsity, and received honorable mention in Walter Camp's All-American for 1923. In the fall of 1922, the first year of Rohrke's playing on the varsity, he was playing guard. In the game with Ohio State that year, coach Snagg had the misfortune to lose two ends, and Rohrke and army were both injured. Rohrke was put in the place, and astonished all critics by his ready ability to shift places and a station in the line. To end, where swift running is demanded. He acquitted himself brilliantly and Chicago won the game. He has been named on the varsity baseball team for the last two years.

In the local unit of the R. O. T. C. Rohrke possesses a lieutenant's commission, and has also won a marksmanship medal with the pistol, using a .45 caliber Colt.

Among other campus activities, he will take a leading role in the musical comedy, "Long Susan," in which all parts are taken by men. This play will be staged in May by the Blackfriars, the most important dramatic organization at the University of Chicago. Rohrke is also a member of the glee club and the university choir.

Rohrke will be graduated in June having majored in political economy and business administration. He has not definitely decided what to do after graduation, but three excellent vacancies are available, one of them as coach in a leading western college, and the others with two national business firms whose headquarters are in Chicago.

The Big Kiwanis Convention

Twenty-five special trains are booked already for the convention of Kiwanis international to be held in Denver, June 16 to 19; two air-planes are slated to fly from different points and Harold Steer, champion Kiwanian, walks in going to the convention from Scranton, Pa., according to latest announcements.

The twenty-five special trains are made up of delegates from 1,180 clubs in the United States and Canada. The air men who will fly to the convention will represent St. Paul, Minn., and Erwin, Tenn. In addition, 500 automobiles carrying from one to four delegates each will pull into this city just before the convention opens.

There will be two official delegates to this convention from Wayne according to latest reports. Additional reservations are pouring into convention headquarters daily from all parts of America, according to executives arranging details of the huge convolve. More than 500 reservations were received one day alone from twenty-six states and provinces of America.

Officials declare that more than 6,000 Kiwanis club delegates, their wives and families will be in attendance. This figure will exceed the record attendance last year at Atlantic City by more than 1,500. It is expected that approximately 2,000 women will be on hand during the huge gathering. This will be the highest percentage of women, on record, attending any previous convention staged in America.

Wages

Wages are by far the largest item of our expense.

In order to attract and retain the right kind of men and women, we must pay them fully as much as they could get for similar work in other lines of business.

We also believe it is good business to pay our superintendents, managers and other officers good salaries, but only to retain the best and for their years of efficient service and as an inducement for younger people in the organization to work faithfully to reach these positions.

Small Sized Oranges Useful in Many Ways

The housekeeper who is accustomed to seek for very large, juicy oranges for serving on her breakfast table will find it an economy to buy the smaller sizes for all other uses and occasionally to serve orange juice in glasses instead of half orange.
 Owing to weathering conditions and other local factors this year's crop of oranges, which is abundant, contains a high percentage of small sizes, and these may frequently be bought for considerably less in proportion to the larger ones than "one would expect."

"A small orange may still be a very good orange," said a market specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture when asked whether or not the quality was impaired when the oranges did not reach medium or large size at maturity. Oranges which pack 250 in instead of the most ideal 125, 150 or 175 to the crate are obviously too small to be cut in half and eaten comfortably with a spoon, but they may be consumed as orange juice not only for the baby but for every member of the family. A great many persons habitually take their breakfast orange in a glass, and even if it requires two smaller oranges to get the usual amount, this should not be an objection if the two can be bought more cheaply than one larger one.

Now is the time to have orange-orange punch at card parties,
 billed oranges in custard for dessert,
 fruit salad with orange predomi-nating; orange gelatin made with the pure juice; orangecake frosting and filling; orange pies and omelets and orange marmalade. In buying the fruit for any of these purposes, the smaller, lower-priced oranges may be used with no reduction in quality.

Early Days In Two Counties

From the Wayne Herald for May 12, 1904:

William Dammeyer is improving
 his residence.
 G. L. Colbert bought the drug store at Hoskins.
 C. M. Miller returned from a visit in Oklahoma.
 The Lutheran church in Emerson
 is being improved.

Wayne is to have a grand carnival
 the week of June 13.
 Wakefield citizens have leased ground for a race track.
 Ed. Brown of Winfield, arrived home from a trip to California.
 Wintebago Indians have received $35,000 from the sale of their lands.
 The Indians leave soon for a trip to New York.

E. Kuhl and wife of Hartington have come to live with their son, O.
 H. Kuhl.
 John T. Bressler is having a new house built on his farm northwest of Wayne.

Three young folks will be graduated from the Wayne high school
 this spring.
 George Savage traded his Wayne property for 160 acres in Hand county, S. D.

A. J. Ferguson and wife went to Kearney where they will attend the home of E. encampment. A.
 Clarence Fish of Winside suffered several broken bones in one of his riding horses last week.

S. R. Theobald is visiting this week with his daughter, Miss Monte who is attending the university.

Ernest Messman has traded his interest in the Boyd hotel to A. G.
 Bohmert for 115 acres of land in Holt county.

Three brothers who have lived in a secluded rock house in Boyd county, were arrested on a charge of horse stealing.

Charles Berkeley of Boyd county
 and Miss Rosa Nelson of Winside were issued a marriage license by Judge Hunter.

E. A. Hunter, son of Judge Hunter, fell from a horse and the animal stepped on one of his fingers, crushing the member quite badly.

The action has reduced a station agent in Carroll and will move to Colorado. F. W. Schrader will live in the Acton home in Carroll.

On the 11th, son of W. J. Johnson escaped serious injury recently when the team he was driving in Kansas City was struck by a switch engine.

Dr. Graves of Peoria underwent an operation in an Omaha hospital. Mrs. Graves and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Prezger have been with him.

Miss Elsie Ring and Miss Gertrude Greig were elected to teach in the fourth and fifth grades for the coming year at Peoria. Miss Greig was chosen for the eighth grade.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hilmer who moved to South Omaha from here have returned to Concord and will live with their daughter, Mrs. Chas.

 Miller.

The Central Meat market was sold
 by Fred Volpp to O. D. Francis. Possession will be given June 1.

Mrs. R. H. Manning of Carroll has left for St. Louis, Mo., where she will make her home. Mr.
 Manning went there a short time ago.

An attempt was made to rob the First National bank at Carroll. The safe was blown open and the citizens were aroused so that the intruders had to escape, taking only $29.

From Ponca Journal April 18, 1884:

Last Tuesday, April 15, was the nineteenth anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln.

To show the good health of this county, we all intention to the number of deaths in Ponca during the past two years. In that time there have been not to exceed ten deaths inside the corporation limits.
 Allowing that the population of this place has during the two years averaged but 1,000, it is the most as-tonishingly low rate on record.

Thus far in all the states and districts which have elected delegates to the national convention, where instructed, the instruction has invariably been for Blaine. The most that his opponents have been able to do has been to elect from some of the conventions an unselected delegation, which may be for some other candidate, but which in most instances favor Blaine.

Easter, which this year was on last Sunday, is the festival of the resurrection of Christ, and is celebrated in every part of the Christian world with great solemnity and devotion, and generally also with popular sports and observances, among the best known of the latter of which is the custom of making baskets of colored eggs, called pasc or peace eggs. Easter day is always the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or after March 21, and if the full moon happen on a Sunday, Easter day is the Sunday after. By this arrangement Easter may come as early as March 22nd, or as late as April 25. This year it was on April 13.

Agree to Hold Corn.
 Lincoln, Neb., April 11.—Having agreed to hold their corn this fall until prices set by the corn growers association are in effect, more than 100 farmers have left for their homes in 15 Nebraska counties. The meeting was called by the association which is now organizing in Iowa and Illinois. It had Gov. Bryan's endorsement.

The farmers considered, "cost plus" production as a fair basis and practically all signed pledges to hold their corn until prices were satisfactory for a reasonable margin.

At the close of the meeting representatives from each of the 15 counties met informally and selected chairmen to further the work of organization in the counties and, if possible, in other counties.

Speakers advised farmers that this was the only way to get fair prices for the corn and that business men were also in favor of the scheme.

County chairmen appointed following: Boone, C. S. Edwards; Cass,
 H. B. Bornemeier; Dawson, Elmer
 Young; Dodge, R. W. McGinnis; De-Smet, S. Hosterman; Saunders, L.
 O. Keith; Knox, C. S. Edwards;
 M. H. Christiansen; Hall, E. L. Mals-
 bury; Clay, G. A. Johnson; Butler, A. M. Bunting; Antelope, A. J. Perry; York, Willard C. Adams; Lancaster, J. E. English.

KANSAS BANKER TELLS HOW HE WON FIGHT

Prominent Man Gives Tanlac Credit For Helping Him Win Battle With Stomach Trouble.

"That I am so strong, active and full of energy at seventy-six I can attribute only to the help I have received from Tanlac. It has won my stamp of approval. I give it my unqualified endorsement. All the above statements were made recently by Mr. Nightstar, a retired banker and farmer, of Sedgwick, Kas. Mr. Nightstar was the first president of the Farmers State Bank of this place, and is still a director. He has lived in this section for a half century and enjoys the respect and esteem of all who know him. Speaking further of his experience with Tanlac, Mr. Nightstar said: "Before taking Tanlac I had been trying everything for four years in my efforts to get rid of stomach trouble, but just kept on getting worse and worse. My digestion suffered and I would suffer pain and misery for two or three hours after a meal. This indigestion also made breathing difficult, and I had no appetite. Again, a spell of flu, a few years ago, left me with such a weakness in my legs that I could hardly get about. "I began taking Tanlac in October, 1922, and in a few weeks time my friends were attempting me on the streets to tell me how well I was looking. Tanlac had done what my wife and myself both thought impossible, improved all my troubles and built me up to all round good health. I consider that each bottle of Tanlac I took did me all of a thousand dollars worth of good. "I still take Tanlac now and then as a tonic and I couldn't ask for better health, and strength than I now enjoy. It improves my digestion, never fails me, I sleep fine and haven't an ailment to complain of. Tanlac will certainly stop a lot of needless suffering if it only has a chance.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills.

John Rosacker Barn Burns Early Sunday

The barn on John Rosacker's farm northeast of Carroll and eleven head of cattle, ten head of horses, seven calves, fourteen tons of hay, grain and harness were lost in a fire which broke out Sunday morning. It is thought the cause of the blaze was combustion in the hay which was packed in the mow at the time of a snow storm. The loss has about $2,500 insurance which only partially covers the amount destroyed. Early Sunday morning Mr. Rosacker put the animals in the barn to be fed and he returned to the house for breakfast. Because the kitchen of the Rosacker home does not face the barn the family did not see the blaze for some time. When they went to rescue the animals the barn was all fire inside and only three horses could be led out and they were so burned that they could not live.

Mr. Rosacker has left two mules that were in another barn. With the spring work just beginning the loss of the barn and animals is severe.

"We only Bought Rat Poison Twice" writes Jess Smith, N. J. "I bought this first because I had to be helped in my work, then I tried Rat-Snap, but that's the stuff. It keeps in cages, all right now. And I've bought it since."
