Gerald J. Leuck who is well known in Wayne and vicinity and who is now in Chicago as a candidate for a doctorate at Northwestern University, where he holds a teaching fellowship and a paper on "The Mercurization of Nephritic Acid and Other Dibasic Acids" before the sixty-seventh annual meeting of the American Chemical Society in Washington. The sessions were held from April 21 to 26 and a special train of western chemists went from Chicago. Mr. Leuck took his bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Nebraska.

Mrs. Nettie Sears went to Council Bluffs Monday to spend a couple of months with a daughter who lives there.

Next Sunday is Last Of Revival Meetings

The series of meetings in the community house by Evangelist Hunter will conclude next Sunday night. The fact that a total of $282 was subscribed for the evangelist last Sunday night would indicate that Wayne folks are not so bad after all. One hundred fifty converts are reported up to date.

The text of Sunday evening's sermon was taken from St. Matthew 27:22. "What shall I do with Jesus which is called Christ?" In a vivid word picture he described Christ before Pontius Pilate and that "cut-throat mob." He held the interest of his audience in a very remarkable way and the story seemed new and very real as he enacted it before his hearers.

"Another way to crucify Christ," he continued, "is to be wrapped up in worldliness—thinking more of card parties and dancing than of Jesus. You know that you crucify Him when you attend dances and card parties."

Monday night Mr. Hunter used for his subject, "Hope." It was one of the best sermons the writer has heard him give. And those who heard him could not fail to go away uplifted and fired with inspiration to go out and live better lives and keep a firmer hold of Him who whispers hope to the down and out. And as I listened I wanted to tell Mr. Hunter that in sermons such as this one and in the quiet way he compelled his hearers to see his own vision of the Christ, this was his own particular way of putting his message over instead of the bitter denunciation he flays his hearers with at times. Mr. Hunter is a gifted man and should be followed Gypsy Smith's simple, quiet method. He would be the greatest evangelist for Christ today.

MRS. C. O. MITCHELL.

Golf Club to Have Course Near Here

The Wakefield Golf club was organized Saturday evening at a meeting of about fifty members at the home of Mrs. E. G. Knock. Those who are interested in golf. A tract of about fifty acres on the J. H. Montgomery place three miles northeast of Wakefield has been leased to the club. A nine-hole golf course will be laid out. Officers of the club are: President, V. H. R. Hanson; secretary-treasurer, Robert Anderson; first advisor, committee, J. O. Peterson, H. B. Ware, Walter Carlson, L. W. Schwedhelm and H. A. Bowman. The advisory committee and other interested parties are planning Tuesday afternoon to make temporary plans of laying out the field. The land is gently rolling and is in good condition for the course. It is hoped that a few more acres through which the creek runs can be leased by next year so that the hazards on the field may be eliminated. The grounds are planned permanently, which will probably be next year, an expert will be called here for the work.

The new club does not plan to have a home. It is thought between forty and sixty will be members of the new organization.

scratches, but no serious injuries. Frank Perrin was alone and uninjured. The party of young people were on their way to school auditorium to be among the actors in the junior class play.

Winside experienced a real "blue Monday" last week when officials of the C. St. P. & O. railway company were here laying plans for a new railroad track. Now ordinarily a town might be proud of the fact that, on account of extra trains, more trackage was needed to meet the present needs. But here is where the "blue Monday" exists. Winside has for the past thirty-three years been justly proud of their neat little park with its nice big trees, so close to the station that it made an ideal place for travelers to wait for their trains, and was in the center of the business district for a resting place for the business men on hot summer days. Now this new railroad track will necessitate moving the park fence, cutting down several of the large trees, spoiling the grass and making the park smaller. Work on the new track will be commenced soon.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: The interest manifested by the American government in the possibility of reparations settlements abroad has been quickened no doubt by certain declines in "business activities of this country. At this time instead of a general strong movement forward, there is a slight,
but perceptible, falling off in industrial operations. This emphasizes BY reduced production in the steel,
coal, automobile and other industries. The output in these lines is lower now than at the beginning of the year. It also is a fact that speculative building is waning somewhat,
and there is a hint that there are to be further restrictions on various operating schedules.

In New England, where the textile industry leads, there have been wage reductions. It has not been general but the drift toward lower prices for labor is strengthening. It remains to be seen whether decreased output in the lines mentioned will have an immediate effect on labor costs, although there has been nothing thus far to show that the movement has been influenced by anything but the law of supply and demand. And there is where the government interest in "European economic reconstruction assumes importance.

It will be remembered that when the country has recovered from deflation—there was a steady upward movement in "business." As unemployment became absorbed, wages went to higher scales, but manufactures paid what was demanded because they found a ready market for the prices asked. As long as there was an outlet for large production, the high wages paid were not embarrassing. Production kept up with demand.

There is a good reason for the conclusion—that capacity production in many lines has reached that point at which the domestic demand for goods

ing nomination, regardless of their qualifications.

That such system affords to the professional office holder or office seeker, an undue advantage over other candidates for the same office by having his name frequently before the voters.

5.—That the qualifications of such candidates are determined by the voters of the state largely by the propaganda issued by such candidates.

6.—That candidates can, and have, filed under the emblem of the political parties without claiming or possessing allegiance or membership in such party, other than in filing.

Wherefore, be it resolved, that we favor an amendment of the primary law of the next session of the legislature of this state, providing that all county, and precinct officers, all delegates to state, judicial and congressional conventions shall be selected at primary elections to be provided by law for such purpose, and that all other officers of the state shall be nominated by conventions of the respective parties to be held within the state, for such purpose.

Convention of Two Political Parties

Republican and democratic convention for Wayne county were held at the court house here last Thursday afternoon. Attendance of delegates was small, and interest was apathetic. All delegates chosen at the last primary did not attend, and no excitement developed.

John T. Bressler was elected chairman and W. R. Ellis secretary of the republican convention.

Before the state convention, to be held in Lincoln today, were chosen as follows: Mike Lower, E. E. Siman, Vaughn G. Williams, S. E. Auker, F. W. Huse, P. S. Berry, Grant S. Meers, C. W. Anderson and Eph Anderson.

For the district conference, to be held in Norfolk May 8, delegates were named as follows: Frank Erbe, Henry Retbawick, August Miller, J. T. Bressler, August Ziemer, William Perry, Sam Row, Oscar Johnson, Geo. McEachen and Mark Switzer.

Resolution

The following resolution was introduced and adopted:

Whereas, the primary law of this state has been in force for nearly seven years, and during that period its efficiency as a method of nominating the various state officers has been fully and fairly tested by the people thereof; and

Whereas, experience has demonstrated that this system of nominating candidates, while sound in theory, is impracticable in fact, for the following reasons:

1. That the primary system fails to provide means or methods whereby the voters can ascertain the qualifications generally of the various candidates for state offices, and by reason thereof, cannot vote with the same degree of intelligence as if voting for local candidates.
2. That in order to bring the name of a candidate for state office before the voters of the public, it is necessary to expend large sums in advertising such candidacy throughout the state, thereby wholly depriving candidates of limited financial means of securing such nomination.
3. That the operation of the primary law gives to candidates of wealth an undue advantage in securing nomination, regardless of their qualifications.

Wind, Dust and Snow in Western Nebraska

Gordon, Neb., April 26.—One of the worst wind and dust storms of the season swept over the southern part of South Dakota and northern Nebraska Thursday. The wind rose early in the morning and by 11 o'clock it had become a gale. At the afternoon it raged with unabating fury and by night all sand hills, roads and trails were impassable. The wind was dry and it filled deep tracks and drifted on southern slopes stalled the most powerful cars that were trying to go north.

One commercial traveler relates that he left the Rosebud reservation at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning for the Washington highway the smaller stones were lifted by the force of the gale, and at times he feared the edge of his coupe would be broken. Going from the highway to Gordon he encountered sand so deep and heavy that he had difficulty pulling it out.

A regular January like blizzard raged yesterday but the temperature was not low. Sixteen inches of snow was driven to the skin and young stock that were not sheltered were suffering.

The lake at Ell had risen several inches since the wind began blowing and more track traffic was feared.

Snow drifted back to Ell, Nebraska, April 26.—As the result of a regular winter blizzard here yesterday, snow is badly drifted in this part of the state, although traffic is not seriously hampered.

At 6 p. m. yesterday the thermometer registered 26 degrees above zero.

From Other Editors

York Republican: A man of considerable means in a central Nebraska county had practically agreed to loan a substantial and practical farm of that community $30,000, on a long term, with the usual, and some necessary, fees. He changed his mind and invested his wealth in tax-exempt securities. We are assured that the farmer's pasture lands will go through the season unused and unprofitable and thirty thousand dollars worth of tangible property will be lost. It is unfortunate that a campaign of education must be resorted to to protect the buyer from himself.

Geneva Signal: The other day I saw a minister's name printed in a way: "Rev. T. Porter Jones." Of course a minister has as much right as anybody to split his name up that way, possibly a better right if he happens to be a poor public speaker. But we could never get used to the idea. If a man thinks his first name is unamiable, or if he objects to it for some other reason, why not cut it off and forget it instead of hanging a single initial out on the front end?

Fairbury News: You can't head off a mail-order house when it comes to enterprise. Not content with flooding the entire forty-eight states with catalogues, we see where the largest mail-order house in Chicago is advertising that it will soon open the largest broadcasting station in the middle west. It advertises musical programs, and speeches and all that, but vice versa, it has a radio station will also pay for itself many times over in the advertising it will get. Thousands and hundreds of thousands of families with radi sets will now be brought into closer touch with the big mail-order house, and the catalogue campaign will be strengthened a hundred-fold.

Know radio is permanent when big concerns turn to it for advertising purposes, and each new radio set purchased in the U. S. means one more prospective customer for the mail-order house to work on. It would seem that new problems are continually confronting the local merchant. He can't send out costly catalogues every month, and he can't afford to maintain a wireless broadcasting station. It seems there is but one alternative left him—he must have a heart to heart talk with his customer through his popular home paper each week. If he expects to move stock and stay in business, this is about what he will have to do.

College Asks $500,000. Fremont, Neb., April 24.—Chancellor Samuel Avery, of the state university in Lincoln, struck a keynote of the Midland college campaign for $500,000 in his speech here at a banquet. He said that spiritual influence of the smaller and denominational schools of the state was needed as well as of the state university.

Republicans Endorse Coolidge.

Norfolk, Neb., April 25.—Republicans of Madison county in convention, endorsed the Coolidge administration, and all nominees on the ticket, and recommended that Senator Norris "support the policies of the republican administration." Besides selecting a delegation to the state convention, delegates were named to the congressional district meeting to be held here May 9. W. R. S. Amundson, of Meadow Grove, was elected chairman of the republican central committee and Mrs. Ada Holson, secretary.

The democratic endorsed Gov. Bryan's administration, condemned the Harding administration and deplored the efforts of the Coolidge administration to block and prevent these graft investigations," blamed financial conditions to the blundering policies of Lodge and condemned the Fordney-McCumber tariff law. Frank A. Warner, Norfolk, was made chairman of the central committee, and J. B. Haase, Norfolk, secretary.

C. Clark was killed by lightning at his farm on miles northwest of Wayne May 24, 1904. Four horses standing near Mr. Clark were also struck and killed. Mr. Clark's son James had been in the field working and came to the house because of the storm. His father was helping him unhitch the horses when the bolt struck. He leaves his wife, four daughters and three sons.

From Ponca Journal, May 9, 1934: Mr. Nelson recently sold a nine-month old calf for beef, for $22. Either a big calf or a big price.

Two freight trains attempted to pass on the same track, three miles east of Emerson yesterday, and the result was a collision, how serious has not yet been learned.

L. Newton has removed from South creek in this county to Wayne, near which place he has bought a farm and started a creamery. Wayne will find Mr. N. a good citizen.

The republican state convention met at Lincoln on May 1, and elected as delegates at large to the national republican convention: John M. Thurston of Omaha, N. S. Farwood of Lancaster county, John Jensen of Fillmore county and Geo. A. Brown of Knox county, all of whom declared themselves for Nebraska's favorite and the nation's choice—Jas. C. Blaine.

Better mail facilities are badly needed in the northwestern part of this county. There is a large settlement of citizens at Northbend who have to go eight or ten miles to the Limegrove postoffice, or have their mail addressed to Vermillion and take the chances of getting across the river after a most trying trip.

Mr. Rice's place would accommodate a large number, which could easily be supplied by the mail carrier between Ponca and St. James, as he would not have to go more than two or three miles out of a direct route.

If there is any one thing this county needs more than anything else, it is better mail service, which applies as well to the southern and central portions as to the western.

On Friday evening the train from Sioux City to this place came very near having a smash up. At a bridge this side of Brady's crossing, it was found that the delivery truck had been made to wreck the train.

It being before dark, the danger was discovered before running into the P. L. Miller home, and the obstruction removed. Had it been after dark, a wreck could not have been avoided. It was found that a stout oak post had struck in the bridge, which, if not discovered would unquestionably have thrown off the train. On the post was a note to the conductor, stating that the right of way had not been settled for and that the writer was tired of trying a peaceable way to get it, and should try ditching the engine, and gave the conductor warning to be on the look out. The note was not signed, yet it will not be difficult to deduce the circumstances to find out the author.

"It's the Cheapest Thing I Ever Bought!"
"Well, Mrs. J. M. Va. I paid $1.25 for 600 lbs. of Best-San and feeding by the large number of dead rats we've gotten rid of. I never had so many before. It's the best I ever used. Each box 25¢. Buy 10 or more and save 5¢ each. Sold and shipped by Carhart Hardware Company Wayne Drug Company

To Improve Fowl Farm.
Hartington, Neb., April 24.—Extensive improvements are to be made to the Carhart farm, which has been as the result of an investigation by the county board of health at the request of J. D. Case, superintendent of the state department of health and welfare. Upon recommendation of the county board of health the county commissioners voted to have estimates of the cost of the improvements. The improvements recommended are as follows: replaster-ing the rooms, rebuilding the floors and stairways, putting on a new roof, raising the porches and installing a new lighting and heating plant to conform to the state statutes regarding poor farms.
