People will fall for almost any scheme once.

After all, if the wild orgy of speculation and reckless spending of a few years ago had continued much longer would not the entire country have been paralyzed almost beyond repair? As it was, it is taking a long time to recover.

An old settler says that when he came here in 1883 there was only one top buggy in the county, but he adds that there are but few more than that number now. In 1883 a buggy was considered too much of a luxury to own. Later, when people, one after another, were able to invest in driving horses and top buggies, they were rated fairly well along on the road to Easy Street.

We have received copies of a petition to circulate in behalf of a proposal movement for a third party presidential nominee in the person of Senator Robert LaFollette of Wisconsin. But we don't intend to do any such circulating. We are satisfied that President Coolidge is sincere and constructive, and that he will be found as safe and progressive as any man talked of for the presidential leadership. We don't know any good reason why the country should, at a time when the most careful statesmanship is en-nably desirable, be tempted to pin its faith to the judgment of Senator LaFollette or any other man of such radical type.

"What a mass of indigestible material, hypocritical and selfish arguments are being laid before the people under the guise of patriotism!" declared Theodore Burton in his controversial speech at Cleveland. Isn't that the truth?

A citizen says finally he has become sufficiently hardened so he can face unfair criticism or false accusation with equanimity. He was sensitive, and to be unjustly suspected or wrongfully accused when he knew he was innocent, used to make his soul writhe in despair. In times of economic disturbance and social unrest, people often are careless in saying things without due reference to facts. They are forgetful of the force of words in doing injustice and causing unnecessary suffering.

One is instructed from earliest youth to be cautious, but if he goes overly far in that direction he is likely to find himself stranded in the shade. In the crowded church at the university commencement exercises held in Lincoln recently we did not notice any men get up to give chairs to a hundred or more ladies who came in late. We remained seated, too, on the excuse that the ladies should have come earlier. If we had forfeited our chair, we would have been regarded an easy mark unfamiliar with modern custom.

By the distressing experience of motoring from Lincoln to Wayne following the heavy rain last Saturday, we learned that traveling roads is the feasible way to fix them to insure travel in safety and comfort. The surgery was relieved at rare intervals by stretches of gravel and one six-mile piece of paving. On either side of Wahoo the road is en-terruptedly and brokenly. The road between Wisner and West Point is now being graded. Dirt roads to be kept in good shape have to be dragged and remodeled after every storm. The upkeep for gravel is light and comparatively inexpensive. Dirt roads, after a rain, cause damage to cars and loss of time and territory over-tax the most angel-like disposition. Automobiles are not built to surmount barriers of mud. Though expensive, gravel is far from so costly a concrete paving, and is a good substitute for the latter. Graveled roads insure uninterrupted travel, and they would mean much in keeping up steady trade relations with the surrounding country. There has been serious talk of gravelling some of the highways out of Wayne, and we think it should be done as soon as practicable or possible. The maintenance of dirt roads would soon justify the extra cost of having them permanently gravelled.

A RENAISSANCE IS THE HOPE.

We heard Glenn Frank, editor of the Century magazine, give the commencement oration for the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday, and he emphasized conditions that are worthy of serious thought. He called attention to three sets of prophets. One is a melancholy group headed by Dean Inge of St. Paul's cathedral, London, who predicts that our civilization is breaking down and that we are entering a new era of darkness. Mr. Frank says that because of societal and mental conditions, many scientists support the theory of England's gloom prophet. Another group in which H. G. Wells, author, figures prominently, holds that we are headed for destruction because of lack of serious thought and because of the inclination to let loose of substantial values and surrender to frivolity and pleasure.

A third group believes the world is merging into a new renaissance, and that the darkness presently forebodes an early dawn of a new awakening. Mr. Frank said we are in a transitional period of economic, social, spiritual and political development, and that we are nearing the close of a long period of destructive criticism.

Mr. Frank called attention to two piles, the one on our left being the discarded debris of former beliefs, and the one on the right being a pile of raw materials for a new era. He urged his hearers to give aid to working out the raw materials and helping reconstruct a higher civilization.

The trouble lies in the fact that many still cling to discarded dogma, and the one on the right being a pile of raw materials and helping reconstruct a higher civilization.

The trouble lies in the fact that many still cling to discarded dogma, and the one on the right being a pile of raw materials and helping reconstruct a higher civilization.

Let us not let ourselves be dragged down by the wreckage of the old. Let us not let ourselves be dragged down by the wreckage of the old.

and be uplifted and benefited by it. The good influence should endure and be made permanently helpful.

Rainfall Last Night Interrupts Service

Forty-two hundredths of an inch of rain fell here last night. Over two inches fell at Norfolk, and high water has delayed train service into that point from the west.

Washed out tracks between Omaha and Norfolk interrupted train service that usually brings morning papers to Wayne from Omaha and Lincoln today.

Thus far in June there have been five showers here with a total fall of two and sixty hundredths inches.

Barn Near Carroll Hit By Lightning

During the storm this morning, lightning struck the big barn on the Spencer Jones farm four and one-half miles west of Carroll and burned it to the ground. The property is said to have been insured.

Value Shown in Club Training.

One proof that the training which boys and girls receive in the 4-H clubs has permanent value is shown in the continued accomplishments of club members after they have, for various reasons, been deprived temporarily of the direction of the cooperative extension workers who conduct these clubs.

A group of boys from Bloom County, Tenn., fed and cared for a calf and a pure bred pig as a part of his club work in 1920.

The next season, although there was no longer an extension agent in the county, Fred continued his livestock work for which he had developed a strong liking. By selling hens from his pen, he was able to do general farm work to earn money he was able to by a registered Aberdeen Angus cow and heifer. He also sold a pair of registered Jersey cows, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. Four registered cows and several calves which he manages according to the practices he learned in his club work. He plans to enter high school this fall and pay his school expenses by means of his livestock.

Nebraska Sixth in Schools.

Omaha, Neb., June 11.—Nebraska, thirty-seventh state in population, is sixth in schools, and second lowest in the proportion of illiterates among its inhabitants.

Nebraska has one school, elementary, secondary, public and private, professional and commercial, for every 38 students attending, according to figures compiled by the bureau of publicity of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce. It has one such school for every 107 persons living in the state. In both respects it stands in sixth place among the states.

That is perhaps the reason why Nebraska has only 1.4 per cent of its population illiterate, when only six states have a 1 per cent illiteracy, and 11 have 2 per cent.

There are 228,619 Nebraska boys and girls attending the 7,743 schools in the state, and approximately $20,580,000 is spent annually for their education. Of this amount $16,028,366 is spent for instruction and $14,551,634 for maintenance and other expenses.

Nebraska has a public school investment of $42,145,281 for building and equipment, or an average of $159 per pupil. This places the state nineteenth in the union in the total value of schools, and twentieth in the investment per pupil.

Only twelve states send a larger number of their young folks to college.

Rev. S. David Sikes, evangelist of Marion, Ohio, who a few years ago conducted a revival campaign in a number of places in Iowa, has just completed a successful campaign in Marion. He is planning to be in revival work in Iowa and Nebraska this summer and his friends will be glad to see him again.

H. E. Sackett of Beatrice, chairman of the republican state central committee, appointed Mrs. E. W. of Wayne as a member of the state committee of this state.

George W. Williams of Alton is the other republican challenger to represent the Third congressional district on the executive committee. A meeting of the members is called for June 20 in Lincoln.

Crop Conditions as Reported Over State

Lincoln, Neb., June 11.—Winter wheat deteriorated considerably; oats acreage unchanged, more barley planted, and spring wheat decreased; condition of spring wheat all day and pastures low due to unfavorable weather. Soil in fine tilth except in wheat fields and improvement in most crops was expected under favorable June weather says the division of crop and livestock estimates.

Follows is the monthly report:

Winter wheat dropped fourteen points during May and the present condition of 75 per cent indicates a crop of 41,400,000 bushels compared to 25,220,000 bushels last year and 52,244,000 bushels, the 1918-22 average. Contrary to expectations, wheat is thin, lacking in vitality and the heads short with two or three of the lower wheat spikes undeveloped. While wheat fields appear quite good from the moving train or auto, this is misapprehension, more thorough inspection in the field will reveal.

The reduced wheat prospects are due to the ill effects of Hessian fly and unfavorable weather. Fly damage is greater than expected as evidenced by a number of dead branches and weakened heads, especially in the wheat stock. The almost torrential rains last fall packed the soil severely. The abundant moisture resulted in a shallow root system and the wheat, so covered by the fly, could not withstand the spring drought.

The soil is badly cracked and packed and under this condition the light spring showers were not effective. Wheat on bottom land, along fence rows and on properly rotated land is fairly good but much of the balance is far below expectations. The spring brood of the fly is late in emerging, and if further delayed, the damage from this brood may not be large.

Oats Area is Same.

"The area of oats planted is the same as last year, 2,456,000 acres. The condition of 75 per cent indicates a crop of 93,217,000 bushels as compared to 91,048,000 bushels a year ago and 97,070,000 more than the 1918-22 average. Sufficient moisture will improve the crop considerably.

"Spring wheat acreage decreased 20 per cent. This leaves 282,000 acres for harvest compared to 352,000 acres last year. The condition of 75 per cent indicates a crop of 9,750,000 bushels against 3,168,000 bushels a year ago. The present estimate of all wheats is 41,480,000 bushels against 31,288,000 bushels last year.

"While corn was late, this was also the case a year ago when some of the planting was not finished until June. At that time the fields were extremely weedy due to continued rains. This year, fields are in the tilth and with warmer weather corn will come rapidly.

For the Biggest Egg—Hartington, Neb., June 11.—A short time ago Lewis R. Ebby, postmaster, here sent out a challenge claiming that one of his hens had laid the largest egg in the country and since then he has received word from several who say they have as large or larger eggs. Mrs. Ebby's egg measured 8 1/2 inches around lengthwise and 6 1/2 inches around the other way.

J. H. Edwards, county assessor, just received an egg sent by his daughter, Mrs. Vernie Derby, Winona, S. D., which measures 8 by 6 1/2 inches. A letter calling for eggs from Mrs. W. C. Schlotfeld of Laurel, Neb., stating that one of her hens recently laid an egg measuring 8 by 6 1/2 inches. He is interested in contact the Rev. W. F. Cladwell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of White, S. D., meets the challenge.

In sending word that an Ancona hen has had an egg which measures 8 1/2 inches around lengthwise and 7 1/2 inches around the other way. This beats Mrs. Ebby's egg by more than an inch around and the postmaster declares that while he must accept the minister's story, he believes Mrs. Cladwell's hen must be first cousin to an ostrich.

Waters Threaten Farmers—Columbus, Neb., June 10.—Many small streams in this vicinity are bank full, running over and flooding farm lands in the wake of Saturday's rains which have passed the four-inch mark. Loup and Platte rivers banks are slowly disappearing from view as the water grows constantly higher, indicating that possibly the most dangerous of the river's rises is at hand. Many farmers living on lowlands will be compelled to replant their corn.

Are You Protected

Against the Threatening Advance in the Price of Sugar?

To show you the market as it is, please consider our latest information. Tuesday the beet sugar manufacturers withdrew from the market and refused to sell at present prices. Evidently from this indication, sugar is now down to rock bottom and very near the cost of production. Yesterday the market was very strong and sugar advanced 25c in face of this demand.

Our car will arrive within ten days and all those placing orders at once can protect themselves against the threatening advance. Canning time will soon start and demand for sugar products will also be at its height, so why not depend on us for your own protection? Phone No. 2 and No. 3.

After all, if the wild cry of speculation and reckless spending of a few years ago had continued much longer until it had struck the entire country had been paralyzed almost beyond repair? As it was, it is taking a long time to recover.

An old settler says that when he came here in 1883 there was only one top buggy in the county, but he adds that there are but few more than that number now. In 1883 a buggy was considered too much of a luxury to own. Later, when people one after another, were able to invest in driving horses and top buggies, they were rated fairly well along on the road to easy street.

We have received copies of a petition to circulate in behalf of a proposed movement for a third party presidential nominee in the person of Senator Robert LaFollette of Wisconsin. But we don't intend to do any such circulating. We are satisfied that President Coolidge is sincere and constructive, and that he will be found as safe and progressive as any man talked of for the presidential leadership. We don't know any good reason why the country should, at a time when the most careful statesmanship is emnedly desirable, be tempted to pin its faith to the judgment of Senator LaFollette or any other man of such radical type.

"What a mass of indigestible material, hypocritical and selfish arguments are being laid before the people under the guise of patriotism!" declared Theodore Burton in his convention speech at Cleveland. Isn't that the truth?

A citizen says finally he has become sufficiently hardened so he can face unfair criticism or false accusation with equanimity. He was sensitive, and to be unjustly suspected or wrongfully accused when he knew he was innocent, used to make his soul writhe in despair. In times of economic disturbance and social unrest, people often are careless in saying things without due reference to facts. They are forgetful of the force of words in doing injustice and causing unnecessary suffering.

One is instructed from earliest youth to be courteous; but if he is scolded for that direction he is likely to find himself stranded in the shade. In the crowded church at the university commencement exercises held in Lincoln recently we did not notice any man get up to give chairs to a hundred or more ladies who came in late. We remained seated, too, on the expectation that the ladies should have come earlier. If we had forfeited our chairs, we would have been regarded an easy mark unfamiliar with modern custom.

By the distressing experience of motoring from Lincoln to Wayne following the heavy rain last Saturday, we learned that traveling roads if the feasible way to fix them to insure travel in safety and comfort regardless of weather. We found the beautifully colored dirt roads terribly cut up and disfigured, and as difficult to follow as a rail fence. The surgery was relieved at four intervals by stretches of gravel and one six-mile piece of paving. On either side of Wayne the road is gray-leaded and can be traveled over the heaviest rain without chains. The road between Wisner and West Point is now being gravelled. Dirt roads to be kept in good shape have to be dragged and remedied after every storm. The upkeep for gravel is light and comparatively inexpensive. Dirt roads, after a rain, cause damage to cars and loss of time and territory over-tax the most angel-like disposition. Automobiles are not built to surmount barriers of mud. Though expensive, gravel is far from so costly as concrete paving, and is a good substitute for the latter. Gravelled roads insure uninterrupted travel, and they would mean much in keeping up steady trade relations with the surrounding country. There has been serious talk of traveling some of the highways out of Wayne, and we think it should be done as soon as practicable or possible. The maintenance of dirt roads would soon justify the extra cost of having them permanently gravelled.

A RENAISSANCE IS THE HOPE.

We heard Gen. Frank, editor of the Century magazine, give the commencement oration for the University of Nebraska at Lincoln Saturday, and he emphasized conditions that are worthy of serious thought. He called attention to three sets of prophets. One is a melancholy group headed by Dean Inge of St. Paul's cathedral, London, who predicts that our civilization is breaking down and that we are entering a new era of darkness. Mr. Frank says that because of physical and mental tendencies, many scientists suppose that the theory of England's gloom prophet. Another group, in which H. G. Wells, author, figures conspicuously, holds that we are headed for destruction because of lack of serious thought and because of the inclination to let loose of substantial values and surrender to frivolity and pleasure.

A third group believes the world is merging into a new renaissance, and that the darkness but foreboding days are early signs of a new awakening. Mr. Frank said we are in a transitional period of economic, social, spiritual and political development, and that we are nearing the close of a long period of destructive criticism.

Mr. Frank called attention to two pills, the one on our left being the discarded debris of former beliefs, and the one on the right being a disordered pile of raw materials for a new era. He urged his hearers to give aid to working out the raw materials and helping reconstruct a higher civilization.

The trouble lies in the fact that many still cling to discarded dogma, while others, losing their grip, drift along aimlessly and indifferently. Hope rests in the belief that a majority will embrace the new order, picking up broken threads of civilization and knitting them together to form a web of finer and firmer texture than ever. To replace a thing destroyed with something better is the need of the time.

HAMER F. WILSON.

In noting the departure of Hamer F. Wilson who has just passed on, ripe in years and rich in experience, society should not merely give ex post facto eulogies to him. People should not merely, in emergencies from time to time, recall and profit by his words of counsel. By his expression of wisdom and insight, his mindfulness and wonderful self-possession, they should be inspired from day to day to model courses of conduct with more prudence and greater sense of mutual justice. We lose if we do not fully benefit by the influence of the life that has just closed.

Mr. Wilson did not call out fine hand nor burn red fire to signal attention to his many unselfish deeds. He did not show anger if he ever felt it. It is not remembered that he ever uttered a profane word or gave expression to an unclean thought. But he was found always pulling in the harness of service, and in his daily routine, without remotest suggestion of show, and with fine good humor, giving courage and help to others. It is not recalled that he was not only actively engaged, for example, but let us realize prepare it and be uplifted and benefited by it. The good influence should endure and be made permanently helpful.

Rainfall Last Night Interrupts Service

Forty-two hundredths of an inch of rain fell here last night. Over two inches fell at Norfolk, and high water has delayed train service into that point from the west.

Washed out tracks between Omaha and Norfolk interrupted train service that usually brings morning papers to Wayne from Omaha and Lincoln today.

Thus far in June there have been five showers here with a total fall of two and sixty hundredths inches.

Barn Near Carroll Hit By Lightning

During the storm this morning, lightning struck the big barn on the Spangler Jones farm four and one-half miles west of Carroll and burned it to the ground. The property is said to have been insured.

Value Shown in Club Training.

One proof that the training which boys and girls receive in 4-H club work, secondary, public and private, is continued accomplishments of club members after they have departed, has been derived, temporary of the direction of the cooperative extension workers who conduct these clubs. One of these boys, Fred Griffith, of Blount County, Tenn., regularly cared for a gilt and a purebred pig as a part of his club work in 1920. The next season, although there was no longer an extension agent in the county, Fred continued his livestock work for which he had developed a strong liking. By selling pigs from his purebred sow and doing general farm work with money he was able to register an Aberdeen Angus cow and heifer. He now owns, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture, four registered cows and several calves which he manages according to the practices he learned in his club work. He plans to enter high school this fall and pay his school expenses by means of his livestock.

Nebraska, Sixth in Schools.

Omaha, Neb., June 11.—Nebraska, thirty-first state in population, is sixth in schools, and second lowest in the proportion of illiterates among its inhabitants.

Nebraska has one school, elementary, secondary, public and private, professional and commercial, for every 38 students attending, according to figures compiled by the bureau of publicity of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce. It has one such school for every 167 persons living in the state. In both respects it stands in sixth place among the states.

That is perhaps the reason why Nebraska has only 1.4 per cent of its population illiterate, when only Iowa, with 1.1 per cent illiteracy, is next.

There are 298,619 Nebraska boys and girls attending the 7,743 schools in the state, and approximately $22,597,000 is spent annually for their education. Of this amount, $16,928,366 is spent for instruction and in this respect but seventeen states exceed a larger sum.

Nebraska has a public school investment of $42,145,281 for buildings and equipment, or an average of $195 per pupil. This places the state nineteenth in the union in the total value of schools, and twentieth in the investment per pupil.

Only twelve states send a larger number of their young folk to college.

Crop Conditions as Reported Over State

Lincoln, Neb., June 11.—Winter wheat deteriorated considerably; oats acreage unchanged, more barley planted, and spring wheat decreased; condition of spring grains, all hay and pastures low due to unfavorable weather. Soft-rain fine till extent in wheat fields and overabundance in most crops may be expected under favorable June weather says the division of crop and livestock estimates.

Following is the monthly report: Winter wheat dropped fourteen points during May and the present condition of 75 per cent indicates a crop of 41,439,000 bushels as compared to 29,230,000 bushels last year and 52,241,000 bushels, the 1918-22 average. Contrary to expectations, wheat is looking in vitality and the heads short with two or three of the lower wheat spikelets undeveloped. While wheat fields appear quite good from the north to south, this is misleading as a more thorough inspection in the field will reveal.

The reduced wheat prospects are due to the ill effects of Hessian fly and unfavorable weather. Fly damage is greater than expected as evidenced by a number of dead branch-tips and weakened heads in the wheat stool. The almost torrential rains last fall packed the soil severely. The abundant moisture resulted in shallow roots and the wheat, when weakened also by the fly, could not withstand the spring drought.

The soil is badly cracked and puffed and under this condition the light spring showers were not effective. Wheat on bottom land, along fence rows and on properly retained land is fairly good, but much of the balance is far below expectations. The spring brood of the fly is late in emerging, and if further delayed, the damage from it this spring may not be large.

Oats Area is Same.

The area of oats planted is the same as last year, 2,456,000 acres. The condition of 78 per cent indicates a crop of 82,317,000 bushels, as compared to 81,048,000 bushels a year ago and 67,070,000 more than the 1918-22 average. Sufficient moisture will improve the crop considerably.

"Spring wheat acreage decreased 20 per cent. This leaves 282,000 acres less than the 2,118,000 acres of 2000 acres last year. The condition of 78 per cent indicates a crop of 2,750,000 bushels against 3,168,000 bushels a year ago. The present estimate of all wheat is 44,189,000 bushels against 31,388,000 bushels last year.

"While corn was late, this was also the case a year ago when some of the planting was not finished until June. At that time the fields were extremely weedy due to continuing rains. The present crop is in fine tith and with warmer weather, corn will come rapidly."

For the Biggest Eggs.

Hartington, Neb., June 11.—A short time ago Louis R. Eby, postmaster here sent out a challenge claiming that one of his hens had laid the largest egg in the country and since then he has received word from several who say they have eggs or larger eggs. Mr. Eby's egg measured 8 1/4 inches around lengthwise and 6 1/4 inches around the other way.

J. H. Edwards, county assessor, just received an egg sent by his daughter, Mrs. Vernie Derby, winner, S. D., which measures by 8 1/4 inches a letter case. Mr. Eby from Mrs. W. C. Schlotfeld of Lehigh, Neb., stating that one of her hens recently laid an egg which measured 8 1/2 inches around lengthwise and 6 1/4 inches around the other way. This beats Mr. Eby's egg by more than an inch around and the postmaster declares that while he must accept the minister's story, it is a real record. A balance may be first cousin to an ostrich.

Waters Threaten Farmers.

Columbus, Neb., June 10.—Many small streams in the upper portion of the county are overflowing from big farm lands in the wake of Saturday's rains which have caused the four-inch mark. Loup and Platte rivers banks are slowly disappearing from view as the water grows constantly higher, indicating that possibly the most dangerous of the rivers' rises at hand. Many farmers living on lowlands will be compelled to replant their corn.

Are You Protected

Against the Threatening Advance in the Price of Sugar?

To show you the market as it is, please consider our latest information. Tuesday the best sugar manufacturers withdrew from the market and refused to sell at present prices. Evidently from this indication, sugar is now down to rock bottom and very near the cost of production. Yesterday the market was very strong and sugar advanced 25c in face of this demand.

Our car will arrive within ten days and all those placing orders at once can protect themselves against the threatening advance. Canning time will soon start the demand for sugar products will also be at its height, so why not depend on us for your own protection? Phone No. 2 and No. 3.

Car of "Corkin' Good Flour" to Arrive This Week

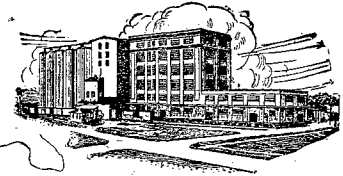

Victor Flour not accidentally good but MADE GOOD ALWAYS

Victor Flour is a blend of Northern and Kansas wheat with a product that does justice to the name. It has been on the market for 25 years and has had such pronounced success that we have secured the exclusive sale on this brand in Wayne.

If you have been troubled with poor bakings due to flour, try a sack of Victor and then "check" on it to see if we aren't giving it due credit. You will really be pleased and we only want to help you solve the housewife's problem—home baking.

Our price is $1.95 in single and $1.90 in five sack lots. Remember the new wheat flour will be on the market before long and that always causes trouble. Protect yourself by ordering five sacks to carry you through that perplexing period.

Home of Victor Flour

Splendid Assortment of Cookies at 30c Per Pound

You will be surprised if you have not already seen our large display of sweet goods from the Sunlight Bakeries. Cookie sales are proving that many women realize the trouble of baking is hardly worth the effort when they can buy fine cookies at the above price. Why don't you try the new way and see if you too will not be convinced? At least come in and see what we have to offer. Thank you.

Pumpkin Seed

The time is ripe for planting pumpkin seed. A supply of fresh, this year's seed is ready for you. Order your needs when you are in the Basket Store.

Your Strawberries Order

Nash Coffee Demonstration Saturday

Nash coffee has been sold in Wayne the past year and its pleasing flavor and quality have solved many "morning drink" problems. If you haven't been a user, we invite you to come in and drink a cup for your own satisfaction. We have been more than pleased with Nash Coffee sales, but we want you to become another satisfied user. Remember it is all day Saturday.

Let's All Go "Fly Swatting" a While!

Now is the real time to start ridding our homes of the pestiferous fly. The best part of starting now is that every one killed, means several million less within a month. You don't enjoy seeing flies-infesting your home, specking the windows, flying over dishes and buzzing around the food you eat. You can kill them by the scores—with these products with very little effort on your part:

Hofstra 15c gun; 30c, 60c and $1.20	Long-armed swatters, felt edges, packages (powder), won't scratch furniture.

Business. Sioux City Journal. No perceptible change in business conditions has been effected within the past week.

The long expected break in the weather has not come to encourage the retail trade by a belated demonstration of spring and summer buying. Consequently, the markets everywhere are still waiting for something to happen that will improve the situation. The hope for more reasonable weather is still held out, but the distressing feature is that, no matter when and how the break comes, the toiser cannot be made up this summer. The buying power of the public has been curtailed too long for that.

Meanwhile there are some encouraging features of the business condition generally—industry at last has complete knowledge of the country's legislative plan. The tax reduction act has been signed, hence capital need not hesitate to carry out whatever plans seem justified under the circumstances—No doubt capital was prepared with tentative plans of operation that would have been applicable to any set of schedules. These now may be put in operation. The point is that business at last knows what it may do and what it may not undertake.

As to taxation, experts said that business actually is encouraged to look forward to another revision in the next congress, one that may be more satisfactory. President Coolidge already has announced his conviction that the task of revision will have to be resumed at the next session. Senator Smoot, chairman of the senate finance committee, agrees with his criticism of the present new law, and it is deemed likely that a demand for several changes beneficial to business generally will be demanded. Whatever opposition may result from the operation of the new tax law ought to be removed. The act of the nation depends upon healthy business. This is something for national legislators to think about before congress again convenes.

The agricultural interests are more encouraged by market quotations today on grain and live stock than by reports of crop conditions. Wheat and corn have advanced, and there is a good demand for both hogs and cattle. There is considerable discouragement over the lack of warm weather for growing crops. Moisture also has been below normal, and if the weather conditions do not change for the better immediately, the yield naturally will be greatly reduced. It is too early yet for crop production.

Old know that the surplus would be cut out appreciably by an unusually early season. In that case, the farmers might profit by applying the old law of supply and demand. If there is a call for exports, prices offered in the domestic and foreign markets might be compared in favor of the producers. When the south produces a short cotton crop it makes more money than when production approaches the record. The same thing might reasonably apply to other farm products.

From Other Editors

Albion Weekly News: Bryan says the president must come from the west. That is what Hiram Johnson thought.

Harrington Herald: We notice the people returning now from California after having spent the winter there. California, Arizona and other places having a mild climate are desirable as winter resorts, but when summer comes again, we observe they all hike back to good old Nebraska. Nature has a way of evening things up fairly well, and no one climate has all the advantages or attractive features.

Fairbury News: A gasoline tax to keep up the roads is coming. Anyone will agree that who has watched the trend of things. It is coming because it is the only fair way to collect a road tax. It makes those who use the roads pay for them. And then again it would be a tax that would not bear heavily on the shoulders of the poor. When Gov. McKelvey declared for a gasoline tax a few years ago he was applauded. Now it looks like his endorsement was only momentarily delayed.

York Republican: Much education does not make a man; too much may overbalance him altogether. The boys who took the life of their rich playmate in Chicago the other day were not more than the average student of a bachelor of philosophy. But their education did not teach them love and compassion or a well ordered life. The education that man is thoroughly furnished in every department of his life—brain, heart and spirit—and if any is neglected allowed the preponderance he is not one or normal. The wise old preacher, musty years ago, said, "With all thy getting get understanding." And he knew that understanding is greater than knowledge. Understanding is the apprehension of truth which enables one to pattern the divine. How important that man should strive diligently for it!

Personal Property Valuations for 1924.

The following named individuals, firms, corporations, or co-partners have been assessed in the precincts as herein shown, and the amounts set opposite their names are the valuations fixed by the assessor, and are as they appear from the assessment record and also are the totals upon which the tax for the year 1924 will be computed unless changed by either the county or state boards of equalization. Bear in mind that these are the actual valuations as all levies are now based on actual instead of assessed values.

A history maker—and still the Leader!

THE STUDEBAKER Light-Six—a history maker—the first fine six-cylinder car under 3,000 pounds at a four-cylinder price.

A car with followers, imitators and adapters by the score—but with no rival in quality, popularity or sales volume. It is still the Leader!

A car built to fulfill the ideal of producing the greatest automobile value in the $1,000 field—the car which started the stampee from four to six.

A car with a specially designed offset valve motor of remarkable quietness, economy, freedom from vibration—and with tenacious resourcefulness of power on the hills, the straightaway and the pickup!

A car comfortable, roomy, good-looking, very easy to handle on the road, in traffic or in parking—long-lived, low in first cost and especially low in up-keep costs. The user let's one best bargain for the man who wants all the car can get at about $1,000.

A car that is an investment, not an expense, because it can be bought on very liberal terms, sold or traded in at a very high resale value on a market always ready and waiting for a used Light-Six Studebaker—its popularity and demand as a used car are the most convincing evidence of its goodness as an automobile.

He leaves two daughters and four sons as follows: Mrs. Franks and Mrs. F. E. Strahan of Wayne, John and William Larson of Wayne, Charles Larson of Omaha and Walter Larson of Malvern, Iowa.

From Ponca Journal June 11, 1885: It is reported that the river is rising at the rate of four inches per hour.

Several prairie swimmers containing swimmers for the river were passing through town yesterday.

Tramps are and have been numerous in this town for about a week. On Tuesday night the marshals and their assistants took two of them and put them into jail. They were let out the next morning.

Mr. Pat Gordon's little boy, aged six or seven, was on Tuesday playing around the turn table near the depot, and slipped and was caught in the table as it was being turned, crushing his leg badly.

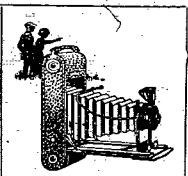

A fatal portion of Third street between East and Iowa streets, has heretofore been conducive to frogs. Their voices have resounded at all hours and their "croak" notes have been attractive and tremendous. But this is now changed. The marshals, this week, caused several loads of dirt to be carted in and dumped into the pond, thereby absorbing the water and the music, and rendering a good road to passengers who pass and repudiate over a ugly scene with horses, carriages, wagons or on foot. In brief, the frogs are dead and the street is now all right.

Side Lines of Farming. Nebraska Farmer: According to a test that was conducted in Thayer County, ten cows returned and they gave an average profit per cow of $22.33 over the cost of feed. This is the amount that the owners of these cows received for their labor and interest on investment.

On the average farm, a half-dozen cows can be kept without additional labor. If they average well as the test conducted in the Thayer County test, the net return at the end of the year would be nearly $500. This amount, in addition to what is ordered produced on the farm, is sufficient to provide the daily necessities of the average farm family of five for a year. To this may be added the return on the sale of poultry, hogs, and other stock, which can be conducted with relatively little additional expense for labor or equipment.

For these figures, it is apparent that there is no comparison between the financial progress that may be made by the farmer who keeps cows and chickens and the one who does not. The former comes in at the end of the year with his ordinary expenses of living paid, and this leaves a clean balance of whatever net income may be produced from the larger activities of the farm.

Opponents of dairy promotion, cite the special dairy farmer to show there is little money in milking cows. But there is little basis for comparison between the two. The special diary farmer is like the farmer who specializes in any other line. He puts all of his eggs in one basket, and while by more efficient methods he may accomplish better results, the increased cost of production is so much greater that his operations may result in a loss, while the farmer who milks cows and keeps chickens as a side-line receives an adequate return for his effort.

In farming as in every other line of business, the side-lines or by-products return again and again to represent the difference between excess and failure. If the large meat packing concerns did not utilize all of the by-products of the animals they slaughter, they would be forced either to pay a much lower price for animals on the hoof or charge a much higher price for the finished product, and probably both.

Farmers who have prospered most through all kinds of times, and who are always most favorably situated during a period of depression, are those who diversify and give careful attention to the side-lines.

C. E. Needham drove to Lincoln Friday to be present at the commencement exercises of the state university. His daughter, Miss Ruth Needham, spent all week with her daughter.

Mrs. John Brugger and daughter, Mildred, are recovering from a severe attack of ptomaine poisoning. Both were seriously ill for awhile. The doctor says it was probably due to eating ice cream, that often at the top of the freezer where the salt comes in contact with the can, a few spoonful of the cream may cause ptomaine poisoning while the remainder of the cream will be all right.

The Royal Neighbor lodge met Friday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall with fourteen members present. Miss Gertrude Boyes was elected delegate and Mrs. W. B. Lewis alternate at Stanton Wednesday, June 11. The lodge will hold memorial services Sunday, June 15. The public will be invited to attend. Special music will be provided. At the close of the business meeting a party was given for Mrs. Will Heyer who will soon leave for Omaha. Mrs. Boyd DeWay superintended the games and luncheon was served by Mrs. Anna Anderson. Mrs. Fred Miller and Mrs. John Kemp.

The Missionary society met Friday afternoon in the church with Mrs. G. A. Mittelstadt and Mrs. A. H. Carter, hostesses. Eighteen members responded to roll call. The following program was given: Devotionals, led by Mrs. Art Auker; book review, Mrs. George Lewis; reading, Mrs. George Gabler; story, Mrs. George Moore; mystery box, Mrs. A. F. Swanson. Rev. Luffell gave a talk on the need of missions. The hostesses served a ten-cent tea.

On Sioux City Market.
(Market Service Bureau.)
Nebraska was also represented by another old friend and patron when Mr. W. B. Hight of Wayne, Neb., employed his in selling a car of hogs. Mr. Hyatt accompanied the shipment, but did not come to the hog yards, which he believes speaks very well of the confidence he has our ability to do the right thing.
"Like father like son" might be said about Carl H. Frevert, Wayne, Neb., who favored us with a load of hogs on Saturday. We have for years handled his father's hogs and naturally the son would follow his foot steps when he got to raising stock on his own account. An expression of satisfaction sounded good to us when he left the yards.
Mrs. H. E. Preston, Eads, Neb., was on the market Wednesday with four loads of hogs of his own raising, which he allowed us to handle. Mr. Preston's hogs are the best, if not the largest, feeders of hogs and cattle in northeastern Nebraska and we have numbered him as one of our very best producers of hogs for several years." Mr. Preston remarked that these hogs had been scavengers, having followed his cattle, and that he had not fed them over 600 bushels of corn so figured that they made him money.
