Motor Vehicles to the Highway Income

An analysis of the various sources of highway funds since 1914 made by the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture shows that there is a marked tendency to collect a larger proportion of highway funds from the owners and operators of motor vehicles.

In 1914, out of a total highway income of $240,262,784, the collections from motor vehicles amounted to $12,982,031, or 5.1 per cent of the total. In 1921, seven years later, the motor vehicle owners and operators paid $118,942,708 in motor vehicle fees and $5,885,450 in gasoline taxes, which together equaled 10.6 per cent of the total income for highway purposes.

A similar comparison of payments made by owners and operators of motor vehicles in 1923 shows a total contribution on their part of $188,970,992. In the same year gasoline taxes levied by 35 states amounted to $38,813,939. The motor vehicles, accordingly, contributed a total of $225,784,931, or 19.5 per cent of the entire 1923 highway income. In the new England states this contribution is 25.1 per cent. This increase is accounted for by the increase in the total number of vehicles registered and in the change in the average payment per vehicle, which has risen from $17.10 in 1921 to $45 per vehicle in 1923.

THE WAYNE HERALD

The Oldest Established Paper in Wayne County... PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY... E. W. HUSE, Editor and Proprietor

Cooperation does not mean having one's own way all the time. It implies compromise, looking beyond immediate gain and serving self in common with the whole community.

The person who looks vacantly, but sees nothing, who is professingly awake, but evidently not thinking, is suffering from a lack of sleep, and tries to be wakened up.

The American press is fair in granting to both President Coolidge and Candidate Davis fine qualities of leadership, but proof is lacking to show that Governor Bryan measures up to his competitor, General Dawes.

Money is the proper consequence of useful and productive endeavor, but it should not be worshipped as the main aim and end in life. Thought should be centered on the thing to be accomplished, not on the pay to be received.

Picture are now being sent over telegraph and telephone wires. The next thing in order will be a telephone improvement that will enable one to see the person to whom he is talking. Then one will have to see that his looks are properly arranged in advance of answering the telephone.

Just a suggestion: Governor Bryan should be content with the democratic party; choose his successor as nominee for executive. He should not interfere, but draw his robe closely about him and look down with pleased approval on the judgment of his party.

Arthur W. Cutten who made $1,500,000 in copper speculations recently on the Chicago market, is now trading, is strong in his advice against playing such a game. He says ninety per cent of those who take chances on the board of Governor Bryan and possessions and often become human wrecks. It is a sad spectacle, he says, and he would have no one follow his footsteps.

The fact that the Ku Klux Klan conceals the identity of its membership and moves secretly and mysteriously is enough to make people frown on it as a despicable American organization. It may not be guilty of all the offenses charged to it, but its concealment of membership, its mobility, and does not permit the fixing of blame or abolition from suspicion. If the Klan's purpose is all things worthy, it would not seek necessary to abide behind a white hood.

Governor C. W. Bryan who has been made the vice presidential nominee of the democratic party, has been regarded by many people as merely an agreeable satellite of his brother, W. J. Bryan. The governor has been regarded a man of very mediocre ability, bolstered up and sustained by the influence of his distinguished big brother. People will now be interested in ascertaining, if possible, if he is more of a luminary on his own hook than they had suspected.

People who sit down and fold their hands on the assumption that there is no money to spend and no business to do, are sleeping. People who have taken equity for inertia, as witness the statements of the several banks of the county. They are missing opportunities. People who are different communities of the county, testify that there are ample funds, and that it is up to dealers to invite business. People who are sleeping are people who are wanted and needed. Townspeople should pop up, and not make conditions appear worse than the facts will warrant.

The current number of Collier's contains an article explaining "Why I am not a church member," and the magazine is discussing a subject in the hope of benefiting religious organizations. We conclude from the article that the author has been appointed by the frequent inconsistency of placing material considerations above spiritual values. He has been disappointed in "law of human brotherhood, lack of applying the same, and being urged by the great founder of Christianity.

He found that trivial things of the church—immediate affairs of self-interest—were often given precedence over fundamental truths. His religious faith and his more helpful fellowship, a deeper sense of responsibility to society, an appreciation of the Golden Rule, and a faithful application of it, would give less attention to pork and beans and more attention to soul and immortality. But why not go into the church and help revive deepening spirituality?

FARMERS FEEL BETTER. Diffusion on the farm has been accumulating in the medium of the week. In swinging the other way, B. W. Snow, chief crop expert and statistician, is quoted as saying that "property is being favored by American farmers, aspecially in the wheat and corn growing states." It is pointed out that grain and live stock markets are functioning naturally, uninfluenced by any sort of manipulation. This is a healthy condition, and gives welcome encouragement to farming operations. The tide of market speculation, however, is still in the future appears full of bright promise. The farmer who trimmed his sails in harmony with circumstances and who looked toward the business of overcoming odds and conserving assets, will soon be rewarded, according to every indication.

The American press is fair in granting to both President Coolidge and Candidate Davis fine qualities of leadership, but proof is lacking to show that Governor Bryan measures up to his competitor, General Dawes.

Money is the proper consequence of useful and productive endeavor, but it should not be worshipped as the main aim and end in life. Thought should be centered on the thing to be accomplished, not on the pay to be received.

Picture are now being sent over telegraph and telephone wires. The next thing in order will be a telephone improvement that will enable one to see the person to whom he is talking. Then one will have to see that his looks are properly arranged in advance of answering the telephone.

Just a suggestion: Governor Bryan should be content with the democratic party; choose his successor as nominee for executive. He should not interfere, but draw his robe closely about him and look down with pleased approval on the judgment of his party.

Arthur W. Cutten who made $1,500,000 in copper speculations recently on the Chicago market, is now trading, is strong in his advice against playing such a game. He says ninety per cent of those who take chances on the board of Governor Bryan and possessions and often become human wrecks. It is a sad spectacle, he says, and he would have no one follow his footsteps.

The fact that the Ku Klux Klan conceals the identity of its membership and moves secretly and mysteriously is enough to make people frown on it as a despicable American organization. It may not be guilty of all the offenses charged to it, but its concealment of membership, its mobility, and does not permit the fixing of blame or abolition from suspicion. If the Klan's purpose is all things worthy, it would not seek necessary to abide behind a white hood.

Governor C. W. Bryan who has been made the vice presidential nominee of the democratic party, has been regarded by many people as merely an agreeable satellite of his brother, W. J. Bryan. The governor has been regarded a man of very mediocre ability, bolstered up and sustained by the influence of his distinguished big brother. People will now be interested in ascertaining, if possible, if he is more of a luminary on his own hook than they had suspected.

People who sit down and fold their hands on the assumption that there is no money to spend and no business to do, are sleeping. People who have taken equity for inertia, as witness the statements of the several banks of the county. They are missing opportunities. People who are different communities of the county, testify that there are ample funds, and that it is up to dealers to invite business. People who are sleeping are people who are wanted and needed. Townspeople should pop up, and not make conditions appear worse than the facts will warrant.

Market Report

(Published by Swanson, Gilmore & Walsh, Sioux City, Iowa.) July 16.—It is this time that the hogs are finally going to break away for the annual bloom.

Last week packers allowed a suggestion for the first time to increase their output, but the volume of receipts caused them to quickly lose heart and take it off again. The volume of receipts was 100,000 in the Chicago market the opening day of the week, the packers insisted on a steady flow of receipts. Most of the packers were urgent buyers and the close of the Monday trade witnessed a partial recovery. Tuesday brought generous but not excessive runs around the circuit, and packers could not curb their desires. Trading became fast and loose. Prices became a secondary consideration the market scramble for new porker material. Values were pushed skyward with buyers none too friendly in the way they talked about each other. It was a matter of fact that they and they enjoyed watching the show being fitted on the other foot. All are confident that a short distance over the 85 per cent of the market exists that $6.00 hogs and $7.00 tops are a first part of the past.

The American press is fair in granting to both President Coolidge and Candidate Davis fine qualities of leadership, but proof is lacking to show that Governor Bryan measures up to his competitor, General Dawes.

ment July 17. The principal manufacturing cities of the state all reported reductions in employe lists to the state labor board. Illinois coal mines, over developed in spite of the workings of the last few years against the practice, have found it impossible to continue at capacity for the reason that fuel demands do not justify a greater output than can be readily sold. The result has been that a vast number of miners temporarily have lost their jobs and have joined the list of unemployed.

These developments affect business, by curtailing the mass buying power. Men without gainful occupations will confine themselves to the purchase of necessities, and this curtailment of buying power goes on back through all the stages of retail, wholesale and jobbing business until it reaches manufacturers. Consequently all lines are affected. When development comes which will ease the situation of the agricultural interests and will encourage them to buy, business steadily will swing back to better general condition. There is bound to be a meeting ground of equality for agriculture and manufacturing. The one cannot prosper indefinitely while the other just manages to make the grade. The lesson business is now learning is that it is given the opportunity to learn and apply—ought to be impressive enough to last a long time. Whether it will do so will depend upon the amount of business intelligence in the country at large.

Man Fatally Shot. Butte, Neb., July 15.—Frank Herring, 37, of three miles east of Brockburg in Keya Paha county, was fatally shot by Sheriff Johnson and six other officers following a recent shooting incident in which Herring and a man named Rex Brown fired on the sheriff and a deputy when they went to arrest Herring for having a gun.

Herring, shot three times, walked to the second floor of the home following the shooting, and died. His brother Becker, who lives nearby, heard the shot and came to the Herring home, inducing his brother Joe come down and let him in. A physician from Burke, S. D., was called.

Hail Damage is Large. Beaver City, Neb., July 15.—Heavy damage to crops, estimated by some at over a million dollars of thousands of dollars, has been done by the recent hailstorms in Furnas county. The storm extended from the northwest corner to the southeast corner of the county, a distance of nearly 40 miles.

Business. Sioux City Journal: The forecast of a lower price level, as set by the federal reserve board, seems to be supported by what has been developing in business for some time. A decline in the activity in practically all manufacturing lines and the forced increase of unemployment have been the result, rather than the cause, of the "soft market" inactivity. Prices of goods generally must come down to more reasonable levels if trade is to be stimulated.

Last week it was observed that pay rolls in the eastern manufacturing centers had been decreased. This was not true, however, but one was a forced reduction in wages and the other was a decrease in number of persons employed. The action taken by industry, now running anywhere from 50 to 90 per cent of capacity, was unavoidable. The demand for goods had weakened. There was not much to be done but cut down on production and also on production cost per commodity. Therefore, overhead expenses were increased by the loss of the personnel and production cost was lowered by wage cuts.

As the federal reserve board has pointed out, the credit policy they try earlier in life year was followed in April, May and June by a falling off in orders for the wholesale and retail trade. Consequently there has been a contraction industry felt that is beginning to mite itself felt over a constantly widening area. The thing started in the Cord tire and mill taking the initiative in wage reductions and decreases in pay roll personnel. It then reached the iron and steel industry. Later the motor car manufacturers were affected. Now, the same thing is discernible in the middle west manufacturing centers.

Taking the case of Illinois alone, one of the leading manufacturing states of the middle west, it is found that in the last year the manufacturing industries have discharged 7 per cent of their employes. This together with other reductions earlier in the year, brings the total loss of jobs to per cent below those of June of last year. It means that in that state alone approximately 1,000,000 employes have been added to the unemployed.

The largest national companies in the five largest cities the United States are Firestone Gum, Dillard Cals exclusively. One fleet alone, the Yellow Cab Co., has over 100,000 tires and million tire miles per year.

VICTORIES that build Fine Tire LEADERSHIP

Firestone Leads on Speedway with Five Record Breaks

When the race driver selects his tires he does so realizing that his life and chances for success depend upon them. It is significant that all of the ten money winners in Indianapolis race were Firestone shod. Firestone, using gum-dipping and other special processes, has developed tires to such a high degree of efficiency that Indianapolis, May 30th, the following drivers broke the world's record for 500 miles over this brick track, and in 1923, the record for 1000 miles was made practical by the special Firestone Gum-Dipping process, insulating every fibre of each cord, adding great strength and stamina. Firestone has also simplified the application of full-size Balloon tires to your present car by designing a special unit consisting of tires, tubes and rims applied by any dealer at a very low cost.

Balloon Tire Leadership

Firestone's latest contribution to motoring is the low air pressure or Balloon Tire. This, the original full-size Balloon, was made practical by the special Firestone Gum-Dipping process, insulating every fibre of each cord, adding great strength and stamina. Firestone has also simplified the application of full-size Balloon tires to your present car by designing a special unit consisting of tires, tubes, rims and spools applied by any dealer at a very low cost.

Leadership Against British Rubber Restriction Act

Attacking the unsound and uneconomic character of the British Rubber Restriction Act limiting the exportation of rubber from the Far East, Firestone was the one large tire manufacturer to take up the cause for the car owner. Soon after the act was passed Firestone started to produce rubber under its own control, the cost of crude rubber was reduced and tire prices brought back to normal.

Dealer Leadership Through Tire Quality and Service

Through Firestone dealers you can obtain original service and the highest values on the market, whether you need a Ford 30 3/4 Ford, Yellow Cab Co., Buick, or any other one-half million tire miles per year.

 A. E. Fox who has been with his father and mother in Wayne since last December on his leave of absence, due to ill health, from his place as one of the factory foremen in the Ford plant at Detroit, has received a gratifying letter from the employing institution, asking him to shorten his vacation and return to his job if his health will permit. Mr. Fox arrived in Wayne Dec. 8, and was through which the highway passes. Prof. Hunter also received word that the bridge across the Missouri river at Yanikon will be completed about September 1 and that Yanikon will celebrate about this time. Towses on the Sunshine highway will be invited to send representatives to the gathering.

Among those from out of town who were here to attend the funeral services for the late Mrs. M. A. Pryor last Thursday were: Mr. and Mrs. William Buel of Randolph, Mrs. F. J. Poch and daughter, Mrs. J. C. Sioux City, John O'Shea of Bloomfield, J. Maccaulos of Chicago, Frank McCabe of Norfolk, Mrs. Katherine Elwood of Chicago, Dr. McCabe of Emerson, Mrs. William Richardson of Wausa, Mrs. F. H. Green of Creighton, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Enson and Dr. Tygel of Emerson and C. G. Deane of Emerson. Many relatives and friends were here from Carroll and Winslow and other nearby places also.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gilderhoe who attended school in Ames, Iowa, plans to go to Lake Madison, S. D., the last of this week to join her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gilderhoe, who are there for an outing with the Carl Wright family. Mrs. M.

Mae Young and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Radaker of Bassett and friends of the Radakers from O'Neill.

Wind in the storm Tuesday evening did some damage at the J. B. Cresney place about twenty miles southeast of Wayne. The west side of the barn on the place was blown in and the chimney was taken from the house. Several trees were damaged. No other loss is reported in that vicinity.

Has Annual Picnic.

The Evangelical Lutheran Aid society had their annual picnic Wednesday afternoon. About thirty women were present and enjoyed a social afternoon followed by a picnic luncheon. The women had planned on going to the Brezler park but because of the rain they stayed at the parsonage and ate in the basement of the church.

Build Plunge Near Bloomfield.

Bloomfield, Neb., July 16.—No need for residents of this section to long vainly for "the joys of the swimming hole" or "the ocean" for they are nearer in the heat of July days and sigh for blessed realities of a cooling plunge. G. J. Goemig, living out along the star route northwest of Bloomfield, has provided the opportunity for such individuals to hark back to the good old days of the past. He has created an artificial lake 80 rods long and 200 feet wide, its depth ranging from 7 to 8 feet, which is fed by pure sparkling spring water.

Bees and ants. Those who love to sport about in the water are taking advantage of this thoughtfulness and that the sale of bathing suits, scuba and other things has enjoyed a real boom. Chances are that Mr. Kunitz seeing the popularity the place has attained will go ahead and make a real summer resort of the place.

Shipping Increases.

Norfolk, Neb., July 15.—Live-stock shipments are increasing, 256 cars passing through Norfolk Sunday to Omaha and Sioux City markets. One hundred and five cars were from the Winner line. Thirty-seven were range stock from the west, but the remainder were regulation hogs and cattle from this locality.

Askes Brought to Norfolk.

Norfolk, Neb., July 15.—The ashes of Dr. Earl R. Berky, brought to Norfolk by his widow, were buried here Friday. Dr. Berky, graduate of the University of Nebraska, died from peritonitis following an operation at Pekin, China.

Crops Give Good Promise.

Norfolk, Neb., July 15.—Oats give promise of wonderful quality and good yield in this vicinity. The early varieties are headed nicely and will soon be ready for the binder. Corn is making a wonderful growth, though somewhat retarded by the cool nights. Farmers are not a bit discouraged about the corn crop. A favorable fall will do the business, they say.

Notice of Probate of Will.

The State of Nebraska, Wayne county, ss.

At a county court, held at the county court room, in and for said county of Wayne, on the 16th day of July, 1924.

Present, J. M. Cherry, county judge.

In the matter of the estate of the late J. M. Cherry, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Thomas J. Pryor, praying that the instrument filed on the 16th day of July, 1924, and purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, may be proved, approved, probated, allowed and recorded as the last will and testament of said Mary A. Contributes to the Current Kivanian

J. H. Kemp, one of the district governors of the Kivans club, makes the following contribution to the Nebraska-Kiowa Kivanian, monthly bulletin of the organization.

This year of nineteen twenty-four it is not an uncommon occurrence to hear men talk of the "hard times" everyone in common is experiencing. All will readily agree that prosperity is less evident than it has been for some years, but most of us can recall times even "harder" than these. Naturally, men ask what is the cause of these conditions and what, if any is the remedy. There are, no doubt, many contributing causes, which, if removed, will greatly improve conditions. Likewise there are many corrections which can be made and the sum total of the removal of the causes and the remedial corrections will transform the present "hard time" conditions into prosperous times.

"The writer ventures to name one cause, namely, the condition of the present economic condition and our remedial correction—industry and thrift.

Any legitimate business honestly and devoutly pursued will yield a reasonable profit if the proceeds are administered with wisdom and discretion. Too many permit the operation of their business to be controlled by the whims of the market, which would be a reasonable net profit and turn it into a deficit or non-profit business. Too many, while they ought to be devoting their time and energy to their business, are joyriding in one form or another and adding to the expense instead of increasing the proceeds. Standstill expenditure have gone far out of proportion to earning. As we must learn to be less extravagant in our demands for entertainment and luxury, and be content to consume only that which we produce by the sweat of our own brows. Whether we are building material, intellectually, or spiritually, the high ideals of our motto, "We build," cannot be realized unless we incorporate into our lives the virtues—industry and thrift.

(Signed) J. H. KEMP."

Nebraska Corn Crop Is Two Weeks Behind

Lincoln, Neb., July 14.—The Nebraska corn acreage is the same as last year, but the condition much lower. Wheat, oats and rye may show improvement. Eastern Nebraska had too much rain while western Nebraska suffered from drought. The crop of alfalfa is 59 per cent of the crop of the division of crop and livestock estimates.

The area of corn is estimated to be 2,922,000 acres, compared to 2,824,000 acres last year. This is practically 14 per cent above the usual acreage. The condition of 74 per cent indicates a crop of 189,117,000 bushels as compared to 272,062,000 bushels last year. The crop is two weeks behind its usual stage of growth for this date. About 11 per cent of the crop was replanted and 10 per cent was planted after June 1. Stands vary but are generally better than expected.

"Winter wheat improved considerably in the eastern half of the state during June but deteriorated somewhat in western Nebraska. The present condition of wheat, 80 per cent indicates a production of 45,365,000 bushels against 28,220,000 bushels last year. There has been too much rain for proper ripening in eastern sections. There was practically no rust of either kind up to July 1 which is unusual. Hessian fly did considerable damage in certain fields, but no injury to the crop as a whole is not great. About 6 per cent of the old crop remains on farms.

The condition of spring wheat is 74 per cent, which indicates a production of 2,922,000 bushels against 3,169,000 bushels last year. Drought conditions in the western sections. The total of all wheat is 48,287,000 bushels against 31,388,000 bushels last year. There has been marked improvement in June. The condition of 85 per cent promises a crop of 74,110,000 bushels. Last year's crop was 81,948,000 bushels. The crop was injured badly by drought in southwestern Nebraska, but improved greatly in eastern Nebraska.

Barley injured by dry weather in western sections. The condition of 77 per cent indicates a crop of 3,141,000 bushels against 9,492,000 bushels last year. The condition of 81 per cent indicates a crop of 1,764,000 bushels against 1,884,000 bushels last year. The area planted to potatoes is 105,000 acres against 111,000 acres last year. The condition of 90 per cent indicates a crop of 8,605,000 bushels as compared to 8,830,000 bushels last year. The early potato crop average is considerably smaller and the reports indicate a decrease

Take Hay Improved. The condition of all tame hay is 89 per cent. Red clover improved considerably. The second crop of alfalfa promises to yield better than the first crop.

Harvest of the first crop of alfalfa was delayed by rains and the rush work of cultivating corn. The condition of wild hay is 79 per cent. The crop has been injured considerably by the spring and early summer drought and will be short.

The condition of applied is 59 per cent. The crop is falling below expectations. The June drop was extra heavy. Peaches are practically a failure. Pear condition is 90 per cent.

Sugar beets are rated at 82 per cent. The season has been quite unfavorable. The condition of grain sorghum is 78 per cent; timothy, 85 per cent; clover 90 per cent; alfalfa, 85 per cent; home garden, 84 per cent. The farm labor supply was 98 per cent of normal and the demand 92 per cent, indicating a greater supply than the demand. Present farm wages are $40 per month with board.

You Must See Clearly To Drive Safely

Consistent with a National Safety movement by progressive Optometrists to safeguard the public from automobile drivers with poor vision, I am offering all auto owners, chauffeurs, truck drivers, etc., in fact all persons considered as drivers—an opportunity to have their eyes examined without cost or any manner of obligation.

Most accidents are caused by drivers that cannot see clearly or judge the distance of an approaching car or pedestrian, and Optometrists are making an effort to remedy this badly neglected fault of an increasing yearly death rate.

I am donating my services on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday, July 24th to 28th, and you are cordially invited to call during this time for an examination entirely free of any obligation.

Remember, at other times I make a reasonable charge for examination, as skilled service is what I have to sell.

At Fanske's Jewelry Store on the above dates.

Miss Paye Beckenhauer of this place has just received the following letter from Miss Grace Soderberg, Wakefield girl who is teaching in China, and who was at one time a student in the Wayne State Teachers' College:

Kikangshan, Honan, China, June 17, 1924.

Dear Paye—Have been intending to answer your letter long before this, but I do not get everything done just when and as I plan to. One thing I failed in was to answer your letter.

From the above heading you notice that I am back at my old home—that is, the summer resort where I have been living for the past years in China. Our school closed at Peking on June 6th. The previous day and the next few following ones were the usual sad ones of bidding farewell. Don't believe I have ever hated to bid farewell to any teacher as I did to these Chinese teachers.

They certainly succeeded in winning themselves into the affections of their pupils. Sorry that I shall not be able to study with them next year. Glad, though, that I have a teacher from Peking coming for the summer. He plans to have some good books with this summer. Would rather do that than not having any particular work to do.

The last weeks at Peking were beginning to get rather wearisome and there was a constant dust which one had to breathe and to see all the time. I felt that I was never clean all the time I was there. Here everything is so clean and the air so fragrant and pure.

All the important happenings in Peking since I wrote you are included in articles sent to the home paper. As I have asked copies to be sent to you I shall not repeat any of this, but instead try to picture our trip from Peking to the mountain here. Running between Peking and Peking are two daily trains and one going twice a week which is a first-class express train. Nearly all going most of this distance of the whole travel on the express as it is by far the best train. A party of eight from the Language school left on the Monday express train. This train, like the other trains, is built on the European style, being divided into four compartments large enough for four persons to sleep in at night. There are the first, second, and third-class passengers. Missionaries generally travel second-class as few of them can afford to travel first-class. The third-class is really for the poorer Chinese. On the express there is no third-class except for servants of the other class passengers. There is a good dinner on the train so one can get good meals for reasonable charges. Of course, we don't dare to drink or eat unboiled things as there is so much dysentery here in the country and much of this is caused by eating unboiled foods. The luggage one has to carry with him in China is beyond description. One must have five or six pieces of luggage that he can not check or express.

Traveling on the semi-local local train is far more interesting to one not accustomed to Chinese scenes. Most of the people travel third-class, as it is only half as expensive as second-class. The third-class is one long car like ours at home, but instead of lovely upholstered seats there are short wooden benches in two files across the car. Every other bench faces the other bench. Into these cars they bring every conceivable thing, such as chickens, pig pigs, cats, all their cooking utensils. The latter are generally put into a basket resembling our clothes baskets. Across the top of the basket is stretched a netting which keeps the various articles from scattering all over the car. Besides kitchen utensils, all sorts of toilet articles and clothing are also put into these.

The Chinese are great at eating while traveling. They are constantly chewing on something or smoking. The favorite delicacies are peanuts, watermelon, peaches, fruits, sugar cane, and cakes. All the hulls, skin, and other refuse all go to the floor. One should remember the motto, "Don't throw anything away."

Every now and then some one goes through the car carrying several strings of hot tea. For a copper or two one can use these towels to give himself both a good face and a hand wash. We seldom indulge in this luxury as we are not sure whether or not the germ-free previous users have all been killed in being immersed into hot water. Vendors with above mentioned articles are constantly going through the car carrying out their wares. Others are carrying teapots with hot tea. Few of the Chinese drink anything except hot tea.

At nearly every stop several soldiers pass through the train to see that everything is orderly and quiet. Have never been able to see any good thing they do. What the soldiers come to look at the tickets there are always several soldiers who come in front of him to see that people get their tickets out, etc. It is one of the ways of drawing a salary.

After having spent thirty hours on the express train we arrive at our destination. Here it takes some time to get all our baggage out of the train and to get coolies to carry it up the mountain side. Each person gets one coolie and in all we are carried by three or four men for about an hour up to the top of the mountains where the foreign concession is. There are about eight or nine hundred people living here during the summer season. Most of these are missionaries.

The closing program at school is one of the big events of the year and everybody tries to attend if possible. We don't have the many kinds of entertainment which you have at home nor do we have autos to take us away to some place of amusement. We have to make our own fun which sometimes I think is the best kind after all.

Just wonder where and how you spending your summer. Will you be going into the country for awhile? Wish I might spend my vacation at the old home place where my brother is living now. I'm so fond of the country. I always think God is nearer and more real to one in the country than in the city. Nature always speaks to me of God and his love and majesty. So many things in the cities speak only of man and tend to cause one to forget God.

Lovingly,

Injuries Kill Aged Man.

Osmund, Neb. July 12.—Injuries received when he fell from a haystack a few weeks ago resulted in the death here of Austin B. Duncan, 73 years old. Mr. Duncan had been a resident of Nebraska for the past 39 years, 36 of which he had resided near Wakefield.

Two daughters and a son survive their father. At the time of the accident two of Mr. Duncan's ribs were fractured and his collar bone was broken. Pneumonia developed and his age helped to hasten death.

Mrs. E. S. Blair spent Friday and Saturday in Sioux City.

Mr. Husband!

Isn't it about time the good wife should have a better summer stove to cook your meals on?

You've heard her sputter about that Hot Cook Stove, but probably hasn't paid much attention to it. You may have figured it just a "whim."

But say—try it yourself. The temperature is hot enough without the additional heat from a hot cook stove. If you tried it a week, we know what you'd do—you would buy her a cooking device that didn't ROAST her every time she cooked a meal or did a baking.

We have two stoves that stand far above anything else for summer weather—the New Perfection kerosene stove and the Kitchen-Kook gasoline stove.

Bring her down to our store and let us show her these stoves. See her eyes shine! Buy her the one machine she needs the most in making your home the happy place it should be.

Don't Wait till Next Week—Come In Now.

Not the oldest, but the biggest, and cheaper than the rest.

Our Governor Up.

Lincoln Journal: In Nebraska where we know him best, the wisest of opinion exists as to the ability of Charles W. Bryan, the "Brother" Charles W. Bryan. This divergence obtains even in his home city. Mr. Bryan is followed by private citizens by a large number of his neighbors. Another large number write him down as the pure demagogue, an agile and reckless politician without fixed principles and with no object in view higher than the amassing of political position for himself. These differences will be among the subjects discussed in the coming campaign. Our own judgment of Mr. Bryan has lain somewhere between the extremes. To us he is a remarkable admixture of private integrity and political scrupulousness, a politician who will go far for a vote, but not to the black farthest.

But for this one day he all that aside. From his habit the contented laughs at the vice presidency. In his serious moments it realizes that this is a vital position and takes a broad presidential nomination seriously. That nomination has come to Nebraska and to Lincoln. If Lincoln is in the case of the republican candidate a sort of grandmother vice president, it is to the democratic candidate the own mother of vice presidents. It were childish of us not to lay aside for a day our local differences of "opinion and give "Brother Charles" the Cheautauque salute.

The vice presidential nomination this year, has as often been pointed out, is more than usually important. Under one very plausible line of prophecy, the chance that Bryan may be president is better than the chance for Davis and the head of his ticket. A deadlock in the electoral college, due to the LaFollette candidacy; then a deadlock in the house, due again to the three-cornered contest; an election of vice president in the senate, where only a two sided contest is permitted; then the vice president elected by the senate becomes, by virtue of the failure of the house to elect a president, the acting president of the United States. Whether or not the LaFollette party makes Bryan its candidate for vice president, a not unlikely thing, the senate as it now stands, with the LaFollette group holding the balance of power, might elect Bryan rather than Davies. The campaign opens with such a contingency in sight. Our governor's nomination carries with it a seriousness the country will recognize.

Old Indian Town May Be Wiped Out

Santee, Neb., July 11.—This village once prosperous as an Indian trading post and rich in Indian history and legend, is to be wiped out if plans of the United States government are carried out.

Six of the 35 buildings that comprise the town are to be offered for sale by the government. An announcement from Washington, residents say, said that the buildings to be sold range in age from 20 to 40 years and are crumbling away because they have been uncared for with the exception of a school house and four houses occupied by a farmer, a physician and two traders.

Residents here, however, declare that families occupy most of the houses and are "afraid of what will happen under private ownership," they said.

Approximately 80 Santee Indians, a branch of the famous Sioux tribe, work farms in the county allotted them by the government. Santee originally was a large, thriving reservation agency but when the Indians were given separate allotments of farm land the trading agency was discontinued. The Indian population originally was more than 1,300 men, women and children, when the government created the Santee reservation in 1866. Santee was a typical trading post and Indian agency town, but became a frontier town when the agency was abandoned. Old settlers tell many thrilling tales of frontier life.

In addition to the buildings, the government will offer for sale 440 acres of land adjoining, which is under supervision of H. E. L. Daniel, superintendent of the Yankton agency. One of the buildings is an old dormitory. A half-mile from the town is the Presbyterian and Congregational missionary school for Indian children.

The Santee tribe originally inhabited the lake regions of northern Minnesota and are said to have taken part in the Sioux against the whites in 1863.

Accused of taking part in these uprisings the Santees were moved to Knox county the following year.
