Many of us who need a vacation most are unable to take one. They are bound by circumstances from which they cannot free themselves. Some who could take a vacation, just do not know how to take one. Here, a vacation rightly spent is invaluable. Traveling, camping, fishing, swimming, reading, etc. should be enjoyed and home life should be enjoyed and tasks with a new vision, new appreciation and new power to do our work. May everyone who can possibly have a vacation make the most and the best of it. Married Forty Years
West Point, Neb., July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schwinck were highly honored on Sunday when their children arrive at the home to celebrate their fortieth wedding anniversary. The reunion had been planned by the children and was somewhat of a surprise to the happy couple. Neighbors and friends were also guests, making a party of about fifty.

Besides this being their fortieth anniversary, it was also forty years ago this month that Mr. Schwinck came from Germany to America. When he arrived in this country he came direct to West Point, where on July 27, 1884, he was united in marriage to Miss Bertha Peck. They have resided here during the forty years. Mr. Schwinck has been in the implement business for thirty years. They have five children and twelve grandchildren.

Injuries May Be Fatal
Pierce, Neb., July 30.—Reports from a Norfolk hospital where he was taken, indicate that Jacob Synovec of this place who was hurt in an automobile accident near here Sunday, may not recover from his injuries.

Mr. Synovec was driving a small touring car and collided with a car of tourists from Kansas who said that he was driving at a high rate of speed. Both cars were badly damaged.

The witnesses said that there was another man in the car with Mr. Synovec and that he gave the scene of the wreck immediately and has not been seen since.

is being flooded with requests from farmers from all over this territory to give more details about the hog markets, each request stating that the farmers have livestock on hand ready to be sold.

Many farmers to sell. Notwithstanding this, it is known that many farmers sold their hogs before they intended during the days when the receipts at the various markets were record-breaking. Many farmers started selling off their cattle when they ran out of corn and were forced to buy at 85 cents a bushel. However, many feeders held on to their cattle and have been paying a dollar for corn for some time. Some of these are now sending their livestock to market and collecting nice profits.

Corn has sold above 90 cents locally and some feeders report that they are willing to pay a dollar, but there is very little corn around Norfolk. One farmer who has 2,000 bushels of corn on hand says every acre of his neighbors is entirely out and has to buy, so the increase in the price of corn is not helping the farmers who have no corn to sell. Those who have corn to hand believe that prospects for the new crop are good and are beginning to sell off. Among those who are willing to pay a dollar, but have been holding corn to see what the new crop would do.

Wheat Yield Good
Although there is very little wheat in Madison county, the fields which have been cut indicate a good yield. Millers are offering $1.15 for wheat and farmers around here think they will get $1.50 for what they have. Kansas and southern Nebraska wheat is being taken to the elevator now. Automobile tourists driving through Kansas report that new crops have the best yield in much wheat. Farmers there are jubilant over conditions and as a result general business has improved all along the line.

The selling of optimism has reflected itself to the farms in the Norfolk district and better business is reported all over the territory by commercial travelers who declare that everywhere in north Nebraska and southern South Dakota the feeling of prosperity is returning and that most of this is traced to better prices for farm commodities.

Optimism Grows Everywhere
The Daily News, July 30.—Although both farmers sold off their crops and some cattle before the price started soaring, reports received by The News indicate that farmers still have a large number of hogs in this territory and many farmers have a load or two being made ready for market. Letters received by The News during the past few days indicate that all over north Nebraska and southern South Dakota there is a considerable number of hogs to be marketed.

Returning from California.
Omaha, Neb., July 25.—Nebraskans are coming back from California in increasing numbers, according to reports of Omaha van companies to the chamber of commerce. One firm reported it had received orders in one day from 25 families to receive and unpack furniture from California. The chamber attributes the reported return to better farm and business conditions.

Failed Bank Paying Depositors.
Neigh, Neb., July 25.—The long anticipated payment of depositors of the failed Atlas bank of this city is now being made. The checks were made out some time ago but a hitch in the proceedings made it impossible to cash them at that time. The money is now on hand to meet the demands and the checks are now being paid on presentation.

Under the court order they drew interest at 7 per cent from June 29 to July 20 and each check when sent out by the receiver has the amount of interest due stamped on its face.

Bridge Nears Completion.
St. Helena, Neb., July 30.—With all the long friction of the Meridian highway bridge across the Missouri river near here paid to date, the railroad deck entirely completed and work on the upper deck being rushed, it is estimated that $5 per cent large enough to cover the hat top of the face. It is usually a narrow band of fine lace falling from the front of the trim just far enough to cast a delightfully mysterious shadow upon the face. On other modish hats it is a narrow band of lace falling from one side of the crown to touch the fair wearer's slender shoulder. This kind of hat has become charmingly becoming note in these hats is the light facing of taffeta. These facings are divided into a lighter shade nearer the face and deeper tone near the trim. It is perfectly surprising the lovely soft glow this treatment of the facing imparts to the complexion.

More About Trimmings.
The fascinating little touch of a smartly severe buckle or a gleaming rhinestone pin is not to be overlooked. These touches add interest and flavor especially on the more tailored models. Some of the newest interpretations of the buckle are tiny ornaments, such as a diamond or a narrow grograin ribbon and placed around the crown or right across the crown from front to back.

More About Trimmings.
The new trend of the fashion is toward bows are seen on many a new model. But the most striking trimming of the season is a group of six or seven large buttons, such as the white, black of the crown or at the front just above the brim.

Through our trimmings may be as surprising as the rainbow, black, all shades from dark brown to light tan and soft-greens are their favorite colors for the hat itself.

Good Profit From Hens.
Hebron, Neb., July 30.—Twenty-seven hens equal one cow here in Thayer county, according to the arithmetic book used by County Extension Agent Christie last month. The profit of the hen comes from the 4,684 hens in the accredited flock project and the ninety-eight hens in Thayer county cow testing project. The agricultural extension service show that twenty-seven hens made the same profit for their owners as one cow during the month of June.

Eggs and stock sold from each twenty-seven hens totaled $9.72. The feed bill was $2.16, leaving a net profit of $7.56, or the profit of a milk from the average cow worth $10.63. Her feed bill was more than the hen's, being $8.06, leaving her a net profit of $2.57. For the feed consumed in June, the hen was the more efficient producer of the two.

The summaries of the two projects show a wider variation in returns between the different flocks of chickens. Most of the poultry co-operatives have had their first year in the past two years and have culled and standardized their flocks more than the dairy co-operatives have graded their herds. This is the second year that the cow testing project has been operated in the county but a large percentage of the cows in the project this year were not enrolled last year.

Very small and very chic are the new hats
By Muriel Townley

It seems as though we were destined to wear the cloche forever, because even though there have been predictions for the last two years that the smartness of the cloche is over—here it is in even greater favor for fall.

Of course, it is changing a little with the passing modes. The crown of this fall's cloche, is if anything, a little higher and the brim for variation's sake rolls up in the front or on the side quite as often as it turns down.

The Telescope is New.
The telescope or director crown is the very newest shape which is being worn in Paris. But even its great newness and vogue has not in any way lessened the popularity of the cloche.

These square crown hats with their infinitesimal brims have their trimming placed straight up to give added height.

The New Materials.
For early fall bengaline is the newest and smartest of materials.

This is used alone or in combination with satin or velvet. The cloche with the sectional crown lends itself unusually well to the combination and the smartness of the best dressed women. The very newest sectional crown has sections running right from back to front shaped to a curve at either side.

Lizard is Here.
For a year or two we have been used to lizard or alligator shoes and purses, but oddly enough this unusual leather has now become the vogue for over headwear. Sometimes black velvet hats are trimmed in striking contrast with dead white lizard skin cut in the shape of flowers and applied. The result is unusually stunning and effective. Now and then one sees a clever cloche made entirely of lizard skin and trimmed with a gilded bird's head looking forth jauntily from the front of the crown. These brims on many of fall's most favored hats.

The Sports Hat.
There is no doubt but that the sports hat is the first and most important place among the sports hats for fall. And, of these the charmingly little urholic felt is by far the most popular. One very lovely little model has a softly rounded crown with a brim about an inch and a half wide in front and a brim of the same width is left under the brim, all edged and tied into a rabbit's ear. This styling makes the hat fit with a comfortable snugness and prevents it from being an adjustable head. No more comfortable, becoming, suitable hat was ever designed.

When the weather is hot and upon us the velvet will be the most popular hat. And when the most exquisite of fall shades.

For Winter Wear.
When the weather is cold and upon us the velvet will be the most popular hat. And when the most exquisite of fall shades.

these hats are trimmed with a riot of colorful embroideries. They look so gay and cheery with dark fur. Sometimes these bright embroideries extend their canopies way about bits of painted kid. Handmade silk flowers are applied and surrounded by embroideries are seen very frequently on many of the most beautiful hats.

Though most of us may wear velvet most of the time, we cannot all wear velvet all of the time. For these their women and other things duvetyn's a choice next in the favor of fashion. But the duvetyn hats differ hardly at all either in shape or in trimming from the velvet hats.

A Tiny Exception.
There is only one exception to the rule of the smallest possible hat with the most elaborate trimmings. This is the hat for dressier occasions. On these dressier hats, while the back brim is so short as to be practically non-existing, the sides or the fronts may be wider. These hats frequently choose a little lace veil as their trimming. This newest lace veil is never large enough to cover the hat top of the face. It is usually a narrow band of fine lace falling from the front of the trim just far enough to cast a delightfully mysterious shadow upon the face. On other modish hats it is a narrow band of lace falling from one side of the crown to touch the fair wearer's slender shoulder. This kind of hat has become charmingly becoming note in these hats is the light facing of taffeta. These facings are divided into a lighter shade nearer the face and deeper tone near the trim. It is perfectly surprising the lovely soft glow this treatment of the facing imparts to the complexion.

Through our trimmings may be as surprising as the rainbow, black, all shades from dark brown to light tan and soft-greens are their favorite colors for the hat itself.

Do You Buy Coal Direct from the Mines?

If you do, you can save money by letting us know when you are ready to buy. You perhaps have been, or will be, misled by some so-called "direct mine representative" who says he sells coal at mine cost. This "mine representative" is usually the only person who is not selling some of the coal for which he is selling it in a manner similar to this:

"WANTED—Coal Salesman." "Make $8,000.00 to $10,000.00 profit a year. Make a week's salary in one day. Experience or capital unnecessary."

This "mine representative" claims to sell at mine cost. Still the company he represents tells him he can make the above profit in a year, or in an hour. Some place, some where, someone must pay the agent his profit and you can be sure it is you at the end. The so-called "mine representative" usually gets his coal from some "scalper" in Chicago. The "scalper" usually buys it from some jobber in turn, but a year, or a month, or a week, or a day, or an hour. Here are three profits that you pay someone on the coal you get of the "mine representative."

We Can Save You Money Because—

1. We can supply same grade and size of coal.
 2. Render same service.
 3. At less cost.
 4. WHY?
- Because we do not buy through "scissors," jobbers or agents. We buy our contracts made direct with the mines who produce the coal. We get the rock bottom prices and you pay but a small profit to us. There are no "scissors" or jobbers reaping a profit between us and the mines.

How to Buy Coal

1. Know that the party you buy of is reliable.
2. Ascertain the price.
3. Be sure to learn the State, County and Shipping Point from the various coal states very carefully. This is very important if you are not to be imposed upon.
4. Get the Government report giving the analysis of the coal. This is also very important as it tells the heat value of the coal.

All this information is necessary so that you will know the grade or quality of the coal you will get. A general name such as "Southern Illinois" does not mean anything, because the quality of the coal within the various coal states varies greatly. As an example, there are nine distinct coal districts in the State of Illinois. There is much difference in the quality of the coals coming from these districts and naturally the price of coals at the mines varies accordingly. With all these facts before you, we know you can save money by buying your coal direct from us. Our purchasing power enables us to undersell any so-called "mine representative" on the identical coal he is offering you. We will not sell you Southern District Illinois coal and fill the order with coal from the State of District near St. Louis, which is more than one hundred miles distant from Franklin, Williamson or Saline counties where the only genuine Southern District Illinois Coal comes from. That is not square dealing. We will not be a party to it.

During the month of August, we will deliver car lot orders from Standard District Illinois, (call it "Southern Illinois" if you want to, and we will charge you $7.75 per ton.) Place your order NOW. Carhart Lumber Co.

A TALK WITH A WAYNE MAN. Mr. J. P. Gaertner Tells His Experience. There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferers from the dread kidney disease. We therefore, give here an interview with a Wayne man.

"A cold settled in the small of my back and seemed very heavy," says Mr. Gaertner: "My kidneys acted too frequently and my back was sore just over my kidneys. After reading the statements of others who had been helped by Doan's Pills, I decided to try them. When I used Doan's a short time, I could feel a wonderful change for the better. My kidneys became normal and my back became normal. I believe Doan's Pills are just the remedy to stop the misery, strong and effective for anyone who is dealing with it in years as I am."

Business.

Sioux City Journal: A general business improvement henceforth is the prediction made by observers in various lines. Some even go so far as to say it will be "a business spurt." Such observers are bankers, manufacturers, merchants, builders, recognized economists, financial editors of both dailies and trade papers and farmers. Naturally, some of these are more optimistic than others. Hence they do not agree as to the extent of the business revival. On the whole, however, their opinions that there will be a constant improvement in greater or lesser degree in harmony. They are together on the conviction that the trend will be upward.
Already it can be seen that trade has become livelier as result of the improved conditions in agricultural sections of the country. Higher prices for farm products have assured the farmers of a larger income than they have enjoyed for some years. Owing to the increase in their buying power has not yet had time to make itself felt in manufacturing centers through a strengthened demand resulting from actual purchases. It is possible to say that there is such a thing as business anticipation and this is what eastern and northern manufacturers are manifesting. Beyond a doubt, an increase in the agricultural buying power will result in a stronger demand for manufactured goods. With $1,000,000,000 or more, added to the income of the middle west farmers, taking the several states into account, more goods will be bought. Manufacturers have been forced to cut down operations for the last several months because jobbers and wholesalers shortened the usual run of orders. They were affected of course by the falling off in demand on the part of retailers. But the manufacturer, the jobber, the wholesaler and the retailer all look ahead. They anticipate what the future is to bring. And what they see now is an increased buying power in sections where the demand has been slow.

Manufacturers, who were running slowly in order to supply merely what was demanded, are now increasing production somewhat because they realize they must stay ahead of delivery. They are justified in assuming that when the crops are harvested and moved business is going to pick up. They would not be good business men if they were not ready for the stronger demand for goods. This is what is taking place in the east and north. Business improvement is a fact based on the increased activity in manufacturing centers.

Bankers of the east, the north and the middle west all admit that the volume of money for investments has been increased. In the middle west particularly this condition obtains. The cause of that is what a Kansas banker called "the thawing out of frozen credits," the payment of obligations by farmers, large and small, whose incomes have been increased by higher grain prices.

Private reports from small communities reflect a pessimism on the part of farmers who cannot benefit even with higher prices because they have nothing left over to sell. Many complain because they have no hogs or cattle or grain. These are exceptional cases. What is more impressive is the report of general conditions. This country's business does not depend upon what is happening in isolated sections, but upon what is under way over an extensive area. It is undeniable that there is an improvement in the middle west, the greatest agricultural section of the country, and that the forward movement will affect conditions generally, manufacturing, merchandising, banking, building and various other lines, all of which are closely related and all of which will react to the increased buying power of the farmers.

From Ponca Journal, August 5, 1886:
The barometer was correct last week as it indicated rain. A fine shower fell Friday night in the western part of the county, and in this vicinity Saturday night, and the six weeks' drought was at an end. Since then it has rained several times. Everyone now feels jubilant over the prospect of a good crop of corn and every kind of product. Return thanks for the rain.

Wakefield Republican: "Last Friday morning James Gavlin of Ponca, a salaried man in the employ of the government, was struck by lightning while traveling through Cedar county." He was painfully but not seriously injured.

He was on the part of the electricity to try to suppress a tree missionary with one effort."

A terrible murder was committed in Sioux City Tuesday evening about 10 o'clock. The Rev. G. C. Haddock, the pastor of the Methodist church of that city, was shot dead by the murderer, Robert Blair, being cold blooded and premeditated. Rev. Haddock was a strong and outspoken prohibitionist, and he has lately been persecuted by a local mob of personal attack. The Sioux City Journal says that no one has had so bitter a feeling against anyone as Haddock was greatly beloved by his congregation and respected by all good people. He was an active worker in behalf of prohibition, and the Journal says that "to the everlasting shame of the city it must be admitted that Blair was an active worker in behalf of prohibition, and that trying to enforce the laws of the state, was without doubt the cause of his untimely end at the hand of a cowardly assassin."

Two weeks ago the Journal contained the report that Blair, the man convicted of murder in this county last fall and sentenced to the penitentiary for life, had been admitted to the bar. Friends of Blair wrote to Warden Nokes in regard to the matter, and received the following denial of the truth of the rumor, which correction we gladly make:

Warden's office, Nebraska State Penitentiary, July 30, 1886—
You of 28th is received and in response to same would only say that the matter cited by you does not contain one word of truth. Robert Blair is one of my best prisoners, never having been even reported, let alone being punished since his arrival here. We do not have the methods of punishment that you say. The only punishment we have is confinement in the dark cell on bread and water. I trust this letter will be a source of relief to you.

Very respectfully yours,
C. J. NOBBS.
