Sand Blast Performs Task Wonderfully

What is called a sand blast machine, lately installed by C. O. Mitchell, is doing a fine job of work. It takes the place of hand carving and lettering on monuments. It is a late invention, and in order to be able to do this kind of work, Mitchell lost no time in acquiring it and setting it to work.

Les Hammontree, expert cutter who has been with the monument works for six months, directs the intelligence and force of the sand blast. A composition of rubber, tallow and turpentine, the substance of the sand, is used to fill the joints of the granite that are not to be cut. Exposed surfaces are whitened down in a wonderfully effective manner. The sand blast does its job easier, quicker and better than one could do by hand. It would be just the kind of a machine to use in resuming the approach of an attacking army.

Mr. Mitchell has done a lot of things to improve equipment and direct the work of the monument service in the monument business, and he has been rewarded by extended and enlarged patronage. People who visit the monument grounds are interested in looking over the groups of foreign and domestic veterans which Mr. Mitchell has displayed.

WAYNE'S OLDEST STORE WILL SOON BE MEMORY

O. P. Hurstad & Son will retire from Merchandise Business.

Wayne's oldest general merchandise store and belongs to the Old Fellows. Mr. Hurstad and son, J. H. Hurstad, who have conducted the business for the past six years, have not made plans for the future. Henry Ley of Wayne, founded the German store in about 1880 when the site of Wayne was laid out and the town was moved here from La Porte. After a few years Mr. Ley sold to August Dorman who kept the store only a short time.

In 1890 Carl Furecher, Theodore Duerig and H. C. Henney bought the stock and the firm was known as Furecher, Duerig & Co. Under these owners the business was promoted for twenty years and in 1910 the ownership, changed to Furecher, Warner & Co. At this time H. C. Henney and Theodore Duerig sold their share to Carl Furecher and Herman Milder bought their interests. The store was then known as Furecher, Warner & Co. A little later Furecher and Milder sold their share to O. P. Hurstad and the former started his grocery store in Wayne. Mr. Furecher also sold his stock and the business was known as O. P. Hurstad & Son.

For many years people came from distances of many miles to trade at the German store. Regular customers included patrons from beyond Hoskins, Carroll, Laurel, Wakefield, Hurd and other towns. Families came in wagon and buggy over long distances to do their trading. The German store was the largest and best known store of northeast Nebraska until about 1910. Mr. Hurstad stated that horses knew the store so well that when they arrived in Wayne they went to the hitching post in front of the store and waited to be tied. A host of customers were always loyal through the many years of the store's life and the owners provided best service to them.

The former owners of the German store have some of them moved from the Wayne territory. Herman Milder, H. C. Henney, C. P. Hurstad and H. H. Hurstad are residing in Wayne, Carl Furecher is living in Plankinton, Neb., and Theodore Duerig is working in Twin Falls, Idaho. George Warder is in Dakota and John Wendt is farming near Sidney, Neb. When Dorman moved from Wayne to Wisner.

A few of those who have been employed in the store deserve mention. The following are those who were loyal helpers for several years. The many people who watched the German store in its growth will regret to see the passing of this institution.

Mrs. Lester Silbaugh, nee Miss Natalie Needham, died Monday night, July 29, at the Carrington hospital in North Dakota. This message was a shock to the entire community as Natalie had lived the most of her girlhood here, and was well known and loved by all. She was only 21 years of age at the time of her death which follows: An operation for appendicitis. Her father, L. S. Needham, of Long Beach, Calif., had been with her but she seemed to be recovering nicely from the operation and was to have been taken to her home. Mr. Needham had started for his California home when a message caught him in Sioux City that Mrs. Silbaugh had suffered a relapse. He returned to North Dakota, but she had died before he arrived. The last word received from North Dakota was that no arrangements would be made until Mrs. L. S. Needham arrived from California. Mrs. Silbaugh leaves two little daughters, being 2 and 1 1/2 years and 10 months, her husband, mother and father and one sister, Mrs. Ben Marsh, who was with her when she died.

Sand Blast Performs Task Wonderfully

What is called a sand blast machine lately invented by C. O. Mitchell in the Wayne Monument works, takes the place of hand carving and lettering on monuments. It is a rather simple affair, and is used in the forefront of monument enterprise. Mr. Mitchell lost no time in acquiring it and setting it to work. It is a machine that has been used by him in the Wayne Monument works for six months, directs the intelligence and force of the sand blast, the composition of rubber sand is improved to the results of the granite, that is used to protect parts of the sand that are not to be cut. Exposed surfaces are jobbed with sand, which is a better finisher. The sand blast does a job easier, quicker and better than one could do by hand. It would be just as applicable to the work of restoring the approach of an attacking army.

How to Buy Coal

Most people buy coal on price and price only, whereas it should be bought on quality and let the quality determine the price.

There are very accurate methods and figures on the quality of coals, these figures having been determined by the United States Geological Survey, the State Geological Surveys and the Bureau of Mines. Their information may therefore be considered as authentic.

In buying coal, you should ask your dealer to furnish you with the complete analysis of the coal so that you may know the quality of the coal you are buying.

As an example, we give below the analysis of two coals mined in Southern Illinois.

Name	Moisture	Volatlie Matter	Carbon	Ash	Sulphur	Heat Units
Old Ben	7.56%	32.51%	54.30%	5.63%	1.18%	13,618 BTU.
Washington	15.12%	38.28%	36.55%	10.05%	3.85%	10,610 BTU.

Both the above coals come from what is known as the number six seam or vein. Yet there is a wonderful difference in their value as fuel. The first contains 151 pounds of water per ton and the second contains 902 pounds or exactly twice as much. There is a difference of 5.76% in the amount of smoke in favor of the Old Ben. But notice the difference of 17.75% in the fixed carbon, which is the element you burn and change into heat to warm your home. Also note that Old Ben has 4.42% less ash which you pay for and which not only has no heat value but does require $8.4 pounds of coal to every ton of sulphur, which, excess ash. Then there is the difference of 2.67% in the amount of sulphur, which, contrary to general opinion, produces very few heat units. But finally take a look at the actual heat units—a difference in every pound in favor of Old Ben of 2,992 B. T. U. In other words, if you are buying Old Ben at $10.75 per ton, you should have to buy the other at quite a little less than $7.00 per ton to break even in fuel value. Yet that can not be done, for the reason that the freight to transport the poor coal is just as much as it is on the good coal and in both cases is more than the coal costs at the mines. There is but one conclusion to draw and that is that you will actually heat your home for less cash outlay with Old Ben at $10.75 than the other at $7.00 or more.

Let us figure with you on your coal requirements. We can show you the heating values of any coal mined in America. All you need to do is give us the name of the mine or the station it is shipped from. We make no charge for this service.

Colorado hard coal, during August, $19.00 per ton.

Pennsylvania hard coal, during August, $20.00 per ton.

Market Report
(Purnished by Swanson, Gilmore & Walsh.)

Sioux City Stock Yards, Aug. 13.—At the seven leading markets of the country this week cattle receipts fell off considerably, while on the other hand hog receipts materially increased.

Where sheep and hogs had been anticipated around the market chiefly on the basis of the actual receipts, the session worked ahead. The severe pounding of last week and the week before made sellers especially desirous of forcing a reactionary trend accordingly they made the most of their opportunity.

Cattle receipts were 25 to 30 cents higher. At this gain sellers managed to hold the market in position. Tops can again be quoted past the $11 line on the river markets for strictly fine lots, but not much else.

Some grasses, as few fancy topers are affording to pay. Transactions suitable for the packers closed to $8.25 this week. At the price were yearlings of 820 pound averages. No big bunches of top quality arrived.

Mostly the grassers are going to the dealers at a higher price than the packers can afford to pay. Grass cows and heifers sold all of 50 cents higher this week after the finish of the Tuesday session.

Prices were ruinously low prior to the week's opening and when new arrivals were meager buyers had to make prices a secondary consideration to obtain a fair share of the short assortments. In the deal 25 to 50 cents ordinary grass beef cows figured from $3.50 to $4, fair kinds up to $4.75, good kinds to $5.50 and topers to $6, with best grass heifers to $8.50.

Red yearling heifers reached $9.25 for the top sale and kosher cows hit $8. Sales of fed females are about 25 cents higher for the week.

Canners and cutters, as well as packers, are receiving fewer action this week. Canners figured from $2 to $2.75, cutters $3 to $3.50, bologna bulls $4.00 to $4.50, beef bulls $4.65 to $5.25, westerners from $3.75 to $4, and veals to a $10 top.

A better class of feeding steers showed in receipts this week. The westerners received were of a class to sell from $6 to $7.50 to the dealers. Such price work was higher on paper than quality considered the outlet is not over 25 to 50 cents higher.

The father, seeing the team start, made a dash for them, but fell, and one hand came in contact with the knives.

Accident at Tekamah. Tekamah, Neb., Aug. 13.—William Johnson and his 3-year-old son, Leonard, were seriously injured yesterday when a moving machine cut off both legs of the boy and one hand of the father. About half past five the machine became frightened at the approach of an automobile. They were rushed to Omaha for attention.

Mr. Johnson said his young son were at the moving machine when Mrs. Johnson called her husband to the house. The boy remained close to the machine. About half past five the automobile approached. The noise scared the team, which knocked the boy down, causing the machine to pass over the child's head and legs. The father, seeing the team start, made a dash for them, but fell, and one hand came in contact with the knives.

Three-Quarter Lengths. Now and then some exceptionally smart new coats are three quarter lengths. If you see the type to wear this coat you will be at the height of fashion. However, it is a dangerous type, for many women look very ungainly in it.

delightfully slender grace that their proportion is far from the ordinary, but more than that a slight circular flare is introduced at the hemline, particularly in the front. The shawl collar is making an appearance on many newer coats, but its vogue is by no means great enough to threaten the smartness of the collar which is so comfortable and which outlines the face so becomingly.

New Sleeves. Perhaps the most interesting development in the new fur coat mode is the fascinating variation which is to be found in the new sleeves. The gracefully flowing bishop sleeve is still at the height of favor, but it is a bishop sleeve with variations. The little silk inner cuff which has been a useful fad for winter wear. After all, if one can afford only one fur coat, the long model is probably the safest choice. For the long model is the only one which is suitable for luncheon or afternoon wear over more elaborate frocks. And of course, for evening it is indispensable.

These long coats are most popular. The straight line wrappy models. These wrappy models give such a slender silhouette. Now and then some of these cuffs are tight many of them reach a few inches to spare. The Favored Pelt. The short haired furs are enjoying great popularity this season. Broad-bill, mink, summer ermine, squirrel and fox are the furs that have the least questionable ones are worn by many well dressed women.

Long haired furs—fox in particular—are being worn for trimmings, but they are used with more restraint. Fur collars, which are seen in narrow bands, that will not detract from the delightfully slender grace that their proportion is far from the ordinary, but more than that a slight circular flare is introduced at the hemline, particularly in the front. The shawl collar is making an appearance on many newer coats, but its vogue is by no means great enough to threaten the smartness of the collar which is so comfortable and which outlines the face so becomingly.

Furs to the Girl's Favor
The fur coat each year becomes a more indispensable part of the well dressed woman's wardrobe. Its cozy warmth imparts such a luxurious feeling of well being to the wearer. And how becoming are the thick furs wrapped tight about the throat. They seem to lend a certain radiance and delicacy of feature to every face. Nowadays it is smartly dressed to appear and to be most suitably dressed for any occasion. Surely nothing could be more fastidious with which to meet the bleak cold winds than warm soft fur fastening close about the neck. New Requirements. But for the very reason that it is worn so much more for smartness and for comfort the fur coat must meet certain requirements. It must be as supple and graceful as a cloth wrap, and it must conform to every whim of the fashion's dictates. Lines of slender youthful grace are the keynote of this winter's smartest furs. It is perfectly wonderful how furriers have managed to handle furs and make them into exquisitely smart models which the fall mode demands.

"Clubbed" Half to Death.
L. E. Sedgwick in York Republican: "Everybody that is almost everywhere wants a league, or a mutual admiration society. The cry to be organized resounds throughout the fertile valleys, and is reaching from the hills and holes in the ground. You are not much if you do not belong to four or five leagues, at least three clubs, a league or two, and several societies. If you pay the dues on all you are expected to join, you will have to let the ordinary bills stand awhile. After you have joined so many things that you are a habitual 'junior' you are only human, after all a brother to the poor and distressed, a protector of the widow and fatherless, a brother, sister, uncle and aunt to all mankind, regardless of all other ties."

The Winchester Store

WINCHESTER TOOLS

In the short space of a few years, Winchester has developed the most complete line of tools offered by any manufacturer under one brand. This high grade line now includes almost every tool that carpenters and mechanics need.

This accomplishment was possible only by Winchester's experience in making fine tools used in the production of super-accurate guns and ammunition.

"Winchester" on a tool now means the same to tool users as "Winchester" on guns and ammunition means to sportsmen.

Good Health Is Due to Tanlac Treatments

Says Mrs. Fields in Statement to Public.

"My present good health is all due to the help I have received from Tanlac and I am glad to make a statement to be used in letting others know what a good medicine it is," recently said Mrs. Hannah Fields, 2416 S. East 8th St., Des Moines, Iowa.

"Before taking Tanlac I suffered so from indigestion that I dreaded to eat anything, and I had a long train of ailments, including biliousness, headaches, backache, nervousness and loss of sleep. My appetite was very poor, and I was so run down that the least exertion would exhaust me.

"But now I eat everything, sleep like a child and feel so energetic that I want to keep on the go all the time. I simply cannot praise Tanlac enough.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills, for constipation, made and recommended by the manufacturers of Tanlac.

the river opposite to the land owned by Johnson & Garretson, was in town yesterday and told us he had been offered $12,000 for his 189 acres of land.

Johnson & Garretson have sold about 300 acres of their land to Mr. Massey, the man who said he wanted to start a good ranch. Price $10,000. A wild and improbable story, but due to the cause of Mr. Massey buying that particular tract. He would have no other although he was offered better land elsewhere at half the price.

This is the story as told to Major N. S. Porter, by Uncle Billy Huddleston who got acquainted with Mr. Massey at Niobrara. While at Niobrara, Mr. Huddleston described to Mr. Massey the country about Ponca, the streams, the hills and valleys, and especially the Indian fort, mounds and excavations on the land formerly owned by Prof. Brewer and now owned by the Johnson & Garretson land. Mr. Massey, who was a geologist, and had been roaming around the Niobrara hills for some time past, was struck by Mr. Huddleston's description, and employed him to come to Ponca with him the next day and show him the localities mentioned. Accordingly they came and saw the old fort and mounds, and then Mr. Massey produced a chart, made in 1824, over 250 years ago, which mapped out the hills, valleys and crevices of this valley as accurately as it could be done today. The distances and directions are given from the fort to the different mounds and excavations, and were found on measurement to be accurate in every particular. The height of the fort also above the Missouri or Swift river as it was then called, and the distance to the mouth of the Ponca, which was another fort, were given. Everything tallied exactly, and rendered it a moral certainty that this was the locality which he had described.

About the year 1824, this part of the country being under the government of the French a party of Frenchmen, numbering several hundred, came here and prospecting for gold. After heurculean exertions and after many months of careful investigation, they found an immense deposit of almost pure gold. They built a fort to protect themselves from the Indians and then commenced the business of mining for the precious metal. So rich was the find that they dug out a fortune every day. But their prosperity was short. The Indians attacked them in force and after a series of hard battles captured the fort and killed every man excepting one. One escaped, carrying with him the map which they had made. This map is the critical map which was shown to Mr. Huddleston. The fort is on the bluff near Bigley's ravine, and the excavations on the Brewer land are where they dug for gold. This piece of French history has been known to Mr. Massey for 25 years and he has since been trying to find out where the place was which his map described. He examined the country about Niobrara, but it did not correspond with the chart. Fortunately he met Mr. Huddleston and his information put him on the right track.

So he bought the land from Johnson & Garretson and will dig few weeks open a gold mine.

Perhaps some people will believe this story. Some may doubt a few words of it.

That Johnson & Garretson should buy it for coal, and that Mr. Massey should purchase it for gold is a curious coincidence. But we hold to our former belief that it is a railroad bridge and railroad that are looming up instead of coal or gold. The old map story is thinner than the Angora goat story.

Methodist ladies entertained at a "trip around the world." The republican convention for Wayne county was held and impromptu speeches were given by L. U. McKee, A. R. Davis, E. E. Walters, H. E. King and W. H. Gladders. H. E. Sيمان, Dr. J. J. Williams, chairman of the county central committee, called the meeting to order and Judge Hunter was chosen temporary chairman and Bert Brown was chosen secretary. A. A. Welch, C. E. Jones and Dan McManigal were selected as a committee on credentials. Foster, George Yaryan and W. H. Gladders, a committee on resolutions. Delegates selected for the senatorial convention were Cunningham, Mr. Ellis, Mr. Kenrick W. C. Lowery, F. S. Tracy and Peter Kautz, were: Bert Brown, E. Cunningham, W. F. Sears, H. E. Sيمان, R. R. Mrs. John Barnes, Wayne, says: "I was troubled with disordered kidneys since I was a child. All these years I was bothered with backaches and at times, my kidneys didn't act right. This kept me in a run down condition. This trouble had been neglected in my younger days, thinking I would outgrow it, but at least when I was old enough to realize that something had to be done, I used Doan's Pills. It wasn't long before I was better in every way. Several boxes of Doan's cured me and I haven't been bothered in a number of years."
