Eggs Were Better in the Past Year

Eggs in the shell showed improvement in quality during 1923 over preceding years, according to a recent report of the officials of the Grand Island, Neb., egg convention. The reason for the improvement is attributed chiefly to the growing practice of candling eggs before shipment. A pleasant and profitable school year is anticipated.

rick of having their shipments seized, reconditioned, or destroyed on account of spoilage that might easily have been prevented.

The volume of business in eggs in this section of the country in the 1923 crop being estimated by the department of agriculture as worth $302,000,000. In the 20 middle states a sheer fourth of the eggs of the country are produced, 6,799 cases containing 30 dozen each were seized during the year, but the extent of the damage is enormous. In the 20 middle states a sheer fourth of the eggs of the country are produced, 6,799 cases containing 30 dozen each were seized during the year, but the extent of the damage is enormous.

The work in this section of the country was concentrated on shipments from the smaller dealers who send their country eggs to produce dealers in various cities. In previous years inspectors looking for the eggs in the east would inspect and suggest as to properly caring for eggs are still necessary and that the extra advantage to be gained by shipping good stock only if the farmer when spoilage is most likely to occur.

The better character of interstate shipments of eggs in the western states in 1923 has been believed, to the efforts of the egg dealers to improve their output and partly to the favorable weather conditions prevailing during the season when spoilage is most likely to occur.

The activities of state officials in enforcing egg candling laws have also been a contributing factor in improving the egg supply of the country. The candling method of determining the quality of eggs is the best known for commercial purposes, and a number of states are enforcing this system of grading in order to lessen the illegal traffic in bad eggs.

La Follette in Control.
Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 20.—La Follette voters in this area, on every point and controlled the progressive convention that closed here last night.

Efforts of W. J. Taylor, Merma, of the local party, were a pleasant sanction for a state ticket to place in the field with the presidential ticket of Senator La Follette and Governor Ford, Neb.

Despite the failure of more than 300 to attend the afternoon session, the leaders started their meeting. In the evening the group again favored Ford bulls present, Neb.

informally been placed as a forum for action. Authenticity for the convention was gained by ruling out a mass attendance at both sessions closed.

La Follette and Wheeler was the ticket endorsed for the independent voters. They voted on a ticket known as the La Follette independent ticket.

Keeping Accounts Helps the Farmer

What farmers are doing through keeping and recording their farm accounts under the direction of agricultural extension worker is illustrated by an Iowa farmer who, according to reports from the United States department of agriculture, has been able to obtain appreciably larger returns for his labor through changes that he has made.

Acting on the information his account book gave him, this farmer rented more land and replanned his acreage, accordingly, he sold more than those of other farmers in the state, he also found the number of acres cultivated per man on his farm, as well as the number of acres per horse, and the cost of raising eggs.

The 70 Winter Mode Inspires the Blouse

by Helen Jones

How nice it is to have the blouse in fashion once more. It was relegated to such an unimportant place for so long that we had almost forgotten its convenience and charm. But the new blouse has developed so with the changing mode that it is hard to recognize anything about it which is like its predecessor.

The Overblouse is a thing of course, in nine cases out of ten the new blouse is an overblouse. Sometimes this overblouse reaches down a little below the hips, sometimes to the knee and sometimes to within five or six inches of the bottom of the skirt. Of course, this is quite as long as it is that some for skirts are continually growing shorter and shorter.

The hip length blouse fits snugly and is slightly adjusted by buttons on either side. And its lines are as slim and straight as the particular fancy of the winter mode could wish.

The Tunic Blouse. The longer blouse is given great popularity by the vogue of the three-quarter length blouses, many straight from the shoulder like a ballous frock—or they may have a narrow belt of self material. At any rate, these blouses are a delightful modish tunic effect.

For the more tailored ones the tucked waists—the monogram and they blouse are the favored trimmings. At times there is a tunic appearance.

about twelve inches on plain white blouses. This is put on wide however—seldom with the idea of giving a bloused effect. A new place for a blouse is in the pockets usually found in this band.

Gold Braid is Favored.
The dressier blouses, especially if they are figured are often trimmed with bands and buttons of gold material. Gold braid, particularly in combination with tiny buttons is a great favorite ornament.

Whether crepe de chine or crepe satin is the favored material for the tailored mode, the dressier blouse is found in a wide variation of material interspersed.

Ribbed Materials.
Some of the very long overblouses will be worn with only a few inches of a skirt or slip showing so there are almost as many modes as there are dress styles.

One interesting development is the quantity of ribbed material, such as faith and bengaline. Bengaline seems to be capturing the fancy of the mode for it is also found on many of the shorter blouses.

For more elaborate occasions there are blouses of metal cloth, as well as richly beaded effects. Embroidery is frequently seen on blouses of all types with the exception of the tailored mode.

The sleeve is either long and snug or short almost to the point of disappearance.

Why we call them accessories is beyond comprehension. For so many of the simple background of today's frocks they are the magic touch which transforms a plain dress into something charming.

Fortunately we are going to wear more neckwear than ever. It imparts such a dainty, becoming touch to any dress. Ordinarily the neckwear that the woman of discriminating taste is certain to be an ardent follower of this mode.

The cleverest novelty in neckwear is a lace collar which may be boat-shaped, Bramley, Peter Pan or button-neck, and attached to the collar of a lace, narrow or eight inch wide, long and long enough to reach to the bottom of the skirt. They may come over one piece dresses, the long-sleeved, or they may be worn with the dress is transformed and made charmingly new beyond recognition.

Ordinary collar neckwear, embroidered in bright color or bound with a contrasting color, view with lace for first place in fashion's favor. Some of the newer collars which are composed of rows of tiny ruffles and at the neckline a tiny ribbon is run through a no band and the ribbon is fastened to the front. Practically all the new collars are turned back in a modified saunter-like style.

A Surprise.
Perhaps the strangest thing which happened in fashion history last season was the sudden rise to favor of the wide leather belt. Just when we thought all our belts had been beltless or at best have a tiny narrowest most inconspicuous of matching belts—the wide edge belts were brought out prominently. They are as popular as ever, especially in tan, brown and soft green.

Sink Test Well Soon
 Neligh, Neb., Aug. 18.—The various committees of the Neligh Oil association are reporting rapid progress during the past week and are confident that annual drilling operations on the Nash field will commence within the next ten days or two weeks, at least. However, it is the plan to get all the land available under lease before drilling starts. This committee is composed of F. G. Auringer, Ben Brodersen and J. C. Jenkins, who are to devote the next few days to securing all the land possible under lease by the local promoters and thus discourage any out-of-the-state corporations who may attempt to induce farmers and land owners to sign up with them.

According to the report of the membership committee there are only nine out of the twenty shareholders needed. This will bring the membership up to sixty-two, who will be on an equal basis in the proposed field operation. This committee is composed of J. H. White, C. G. Moleck and G. A. Binkard. Several of those joining the association last week have come in uncommitted, and it is expected that other will follow before long.

Suffers Nervous Trouble.
 Wisner, Neb., Aug. 18.—Search for Arthur A. Lenly, ex-service man who disappeared from his home here last week while suffering from a nervous breakdown, was on today in the vicinity of Silver Creek, west of Columbus, where Lenly was seen yesterday morning.

Lenly was brought at the home of a Mr. Bruel, near Silver Creek, and gave a check for fifty cents on the Citizens National bank of Wisner to Mr. Bruel. He signed the check A. Lenly.

Mr. Bruel had not heard of Lenly's disappearance at the time but late in the afternoon noticed a story and description of Lenly in a newspaper. He immediately called up the Wisner authorities and told them of the incident. He was unable to find any traces of Lenly at the time.

Judge A. R. Olsson and Ace Worrell left at once for Silver Creek to take up the search.

Lenly is a graduate of the Nebraska university. He served as a regimental adjutant and captain of the 351st infantry of the eighteenth division.

Lenly is described as being 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighs about 150 lbs. His hair, when unshaved is of a reddish hue. He was dressed in blue overalls, white shirt and wore a wide-brimmed hat.

For Issuing Checks.
 Albia, Neb., Aug. 18.—Sheriff Arthurbut went to West Point Thursday and arrested Harry Neligh on a charge of issuing a no-fund check and brought him to Albia on Friday. Neligh bought a wrist watch at a local jewelry store on July 28 giving a check on the Farmers State bank. He is a youth about 19 years old and was located at his home at West Point.

May Lose His Eye.
 Harrington, Neb., Aug. 17.—Hans Schager, veteran mail carrier, 60 years old, playing with the post-office baseball team, will probably lose the sight of his right eye as a result of an injury received when he was struck by a ball.

Mr. Schager, who was at bat, struck the ball and it glanced off and ran up his arm, striking his eye in the eye. A profuse hemorrhage still continues.

Money Situation is Easier.
 Neligh, Neb., Aug. 18.—Bankers state that the effects of the payment of depositors of the failed Atlas bank is already apparent. In several instances money that was tied up had been invested in Neligh city property and several farms have been purchased.

Sioux City Journal: Of course those voters who do not want a government of common sense similar to that suggested by candidates who pride in his speech of acceptance will be able to find other candidates who represent the opposite.

HOW'S THIS?

Getting Out of the Dumps.
 Iroquois Chief: Everything is picking up in South Dakota and an optimistic tone is prevalent everywhere. Good crops and good prices are pulling the state out of the dumps and the people generally are fast getting into a normal frame of mind as the change for the better takes place. The effect of last year's harvest not only means a more prosperous people, but likewise a more contented and happier people, and in the long run that is what really counts.

Card of Thanks.
 We wish to thank many friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness and sympathy and also beautiful flowers at the time of the death of our beloved father, William Benning, Mrs. William Benning and Children.

The First Manic Depression.
 Ohio State Journal: Human nature in general and mother love in particular do not change much as the centuries roll on, and we suppose Eve always felt that Cain was merely a little psychopathic.

Injured Girl Improving.
 Lynch, Neb., Aug. 18.—The 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith of Red Bird, who was run over by an automobile and injured in recovering in a hospital here, Her leg was broken.

Pleasing Everybody.
 Springfield Republican: The longer Senator Hiram Johnson remains silent the higher rise the hopes of the La Follette. He may remain silent, but probably he will let it go at that.

Bid for Feminine Vote.
 Lincoln Journal: Except for John W. Davis, says some one, there was never a hander of women congressmen than Champ Clark. In suffrage fight days it was alleged that women voters would pick their candidates by their looks. Have the democrats stolen a march on us?

Barley Also Yields Well.
 Ponca, Neb., Aug. 18.—Late oats are yielding very good, according to three men. On the farms of E. Gould and A. D. Gould, nine miles northwest of this place, 49 bushels were threshed, and the latter had a field of barley which produced 52 bushels an acre.

Your Interests Are Involved

We want everybody in the whole county to feel that he has a local interest in the success of the Fair, and with freedom and pride to contribute liberally of the best of all that he or she may have that will lend help or interest to the exhibition. It is strongly noticeable that where the fairs are most liberally patronized, and made the most interesting by the concerted action of the community, improvements in agricultural conditions have been the most rapid and marked, and the general prosperity of the farming and industrial classes is most observable. This proves that the interests of these classes is identical with those of the fairs, and that they cannot profitably stay away from or fail to patronize these institutions.

Come, This Is Everybody's Fair

In extending an invitation to our friends to attend the Fair, the management guarantees that while they are at the show they will receive courteous and liberal treatment, and be furnished with an enjoyable and elevating entertainment. Your presence will be helpful to both yourself and the Fair.

Bring your families and your friends, and spend your time together at the Fair. It will give you something to talk about and think upon for a long time to come.

Remember, that the importance of making and keeping up a good fair in our midst, is to give it not only your presence, but what exhibits you can.

Dr. J. J. Williams of Wayne, was nominated at the convention in Norfolk for state senator from this district. A. R. Davis and Grant Meers of Wayne, were chosen chairman and secretary, respectively, of the senatorial committee. The Wayne Commercial club met and elected Charles Craven secretary. A committee consisting of Dan Harrington, Theodora Kopp and James Miller, was appointed to consult business men in regard to closing their business hours early in the evening. Another plan is proposed to erect interest in a public building for the city. The ivory barn in Wayne has made some special prices. A charge of $15 is made for taking persons from the train to any part of the city and the same is charged for use of saddles horses for from one to three hours. A. D. 1924 and single-seated buggy can be used any evening excepting Sunday for $1 and carriage and team for $1.50.

From Ponca Journal, Sept. 2, 1924: The summer delivery of hard coal is being made. The ruling price is $10 per ton. The earthquake which was experienced here, Tuesday evening, was of wide extent. It was felt from New York to San Francisco, and various places was so violent as to create great excitement and alarm. When Thomas McClary predicted on August 12 that the country would be visited by frost in three weeks, we felt inclined to accept the prophecy with a very liberal number of days of allowance. And when on Monday and Tuesday of last week the mercury was picking up among the 100's, we scarcely saw where the frost was coming in. Yet, Thomas was right, appearances to the contrary notwithstanding. On Tuesday morning of this week there was a slight almost imperceptible frost, yet it was sure-enough frost, though not heavy enough to do any damage to corn or garden crops. On the night of August 25, two men entered the house of J. G. Tuoss of Winside, with revolvers in hand and demanded his money or his life, and secured $27 in money. A reward of $25 is offered for the capture of the men who are described as follows: One man is 28 years old, 5-foot 10 inches high, red whiskers all over his face, not shaved in five or six weeks; long face, kind of scabbard; brown eyes; black hair; black hat, low shoes with large buckles in front; soles of shoes broad, right foot swollen and a little lame; and a common black saddle. The other is about twenty or twenty-two years old, smooth face, 5 feet 6 inches high, sun built, dark complexion; wore dark suit of clothes, and fine shoes with big tops.

The gentleman who recently purchased the land on the bluffs for the purpose of digging for gold therein, has gone east, but will soon return. There was as a matter of course, some other motive for the purchase of the land, than purposes of cultivation. For agriculture, the land would be high at $10 per acre. Better land in more desirable localities can readily be bought for $10 per acre. The price paid for this land was $30 per acre. We understand that though the purchaser will soon come back from the east, yet he will not commence digging for gold until next spring. It seems as though the mine of untold riches that we work, we would not wait until spring, but would buy a pickaxe and a pan, (the water being provided by the Missouri river) and would immediately start in to wash out a few hundred thousand or a million or so of gold. It looks as though there is a good chance of finding some waiting until next spring, and a great loss, peculiarly speaking, we therefore advise that the purchaser move upon the works and begin the surface work, but delay. Rich as those bluffs are reputed to be, gold enough to pay the national debt may be dug out before waiting. But if the national debt, a miner may get enough at least to pay for his board and buy his tobacco.

There is a story that the hill is not a natural depositary of gold, but the stamping ground of Captain Kidd; and that he planted here and the rich pots of money, which the searchers have been digging out and put in circulation. But there is another story in relation to this matter which seems more likely than any other; viz: that the purchaser bought the land not for the gold deposited in it, either by nature or Captain Kidd, but for the use and benefit of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad company, and that the object to investigate in the near future is a railroad bridge. This last view of the case looks more probable than any other. The talk about gold mines is the blindest kind of talk.
