Sportsmanship

Sundance State: We know a man who lost $2,000 in bank smashup. He philosophizes thus:
"I lost a new auto, a summer vacation, a new suit of clothes and a good feeling that a bank account gives one. But I'll use the old boat, I'll stay at home, I'll brush up the old dog and I'll build a new bank account. After all, there's a lot of fun in proving that I can play the game, do again what I did before, and do the better job of it." That's the spirit of South Dakota.

at all markets and any logical suggestion of a recovery seems remote. Supplies continue running heavy and reports indicate increased liquidation. Stockers and feeders started out on Monday in a brisk and active fashion. Dealers had considerable buying purchasers. Prices ruled firm and strong on the crest of all of the recent advances and out of fresh lots. When feeder buyers came to selling the cattle to the farmers, the trade lost some of its buoyancy. A fair number of farmers are still holding desirable kinds, but plain and just useful kinds slowed down considerably. Dealers were quick to reflect the attitude of the country in their buying with the result that the market lost its edge, although no extensive decline resulted. But, even so, the market lost the appearance of top heaviness and country demands improved materially.

On Monday several loads of feeders were sold from $7.50 to $8, fair to good from $6.75 to $7.50, ordinary to fair western from $6 to $6.75. Fair to common rangors $5.50 to $6.75. Light, green, heavy, solid, sold from $5 to $6.25, while trashy lights sold down to $4 and under. Taxes and Death.

We all how about taxes; and there always will be a howl as long as there are taxes and a howl. The candidate who tells you he is going to reduce taxes is spreading the buck, that's all. The people demand things that cost in "back" in taxes. We want paved roads, we want the white way, we want everything that costs money, we want it until we have to pay for it, and then the howl goes up. It takes taxes, and a lot of taxes to live the way people do today. Most people think it is easy to live. It can easily crowd seventy-five years into fifty at the rate we are going. That is efficiency with a 50 per cent saving.—The Seuer, Minn., News-Herald.

Isn't it the truth, every word of it? Nothing is more unpopular in this world than taxes, unless you expect death, and either is a blessing, and not a curse as we have vainly imagined. In the early history of Nebraska the real estate assessment of farm lands at $2 an acre as calling forth howls of protest in many localities; and where the total tax amounted to $16 on a quarter-section the injustice of it excited much unfavorable comment, and new men were often elected to the county board on the issue of lower taxes. But there were bridges to be built, schools to be established and maintained, the wheels of government to be greased, and nobody in these things but the people. In our primitive methods of living, these multiplied expenditures, including an occasional session of the district court, were comparatively light. Salaries were "negligible," as the great editorial writers say. Members of their long-remembered boards would hold long sessions, doing practically nothing, for two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six, twenty-seven, twenty-eight, twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-one, thirty-two, thirty-three, thirty-four, thirty-five, thirty-six, thirty-seven, thirty-eight, thirty-nine, forty, forty-one, forty-two, forty-three, forty-four, forty-five, forty-six, forty-seven, forty-eight, forty-nine, fifty, fifty-one, fifty-two, fifty-three, fifty-four, fifty-five, fifty-six, fifty-seven, fifty-eight, fifty-nine, sixty, sixty-one, sixty-two, sixty-three, sixty-four, sixty-five, sixty-six, sixty-seven, sixty-eight, sixty-nine, seventy, seventy-one, seventy-two, seventy-three, seventy-four, seventy-five, seventy-six, seventy-seven, seventy-eight, seventy-nine, eighty, eighty-one, eighty-two, eighty-three, eighty-four, eighty-five, eighty-six, eighty-seven, eighty-eight, eighty-nine, ninety, ninety-one, ninety-two, ninety-three, ninety-four, ninety-five, ninety-six, ninety-seven, ninety-eight, ninety-nine, one hundred.

but good, with the result that the bulk of the corn is extremely late throughout the corn belt and northward. It is so late that most of the crop will be unfit for seed unless frost holds off longer than usual. The United States department of agriculture is calling attention to this fact at the present time in order to prevent, if possible, a serious seed-corn situation in the spring of 1925. The higher prices for corn in the last few weeks are drawing much of the old crop from the farms. Farmers not having enough seed corn for 1925 left over from last year's supply should save the best of their bulk corn from which to obtain seed, if necessary. If this year's crop is killed by frost before it matures, this old corn will provide a source from which seed can be selected for planting in 1925.

County Fair at Bloomfield. Bloomfield, Neb., Aug. 27.—Phil La Follette, a son of Robert M. La Follette may be one of the attractions at the Knox county fair this fall. While definite confirmation of the date has not been received chances are bright that he will be here one day of the fair. Noted Republican and Democratic speakers will also be here but their names cannot be announced as yet. Entries continue to pour in and present indications are that the 1924 fair will see every department crowded to the limit in this respect. The five big hog barns are now filled and preparations are being made to build a large number of temporary pens to house the late entries. Wednesday, Sept. 10, is children's day. One feature of the day will be a big parade, various schools over the county competing to make the largest and best showing.

Sweetening Heat. Lincoln, Neb., August 27.—The weather man promised no relief today from the sweetening heat that marked the hottest day of the year yesterday. Early this morning the mercury had mounted to 87 here and was reported at 70 in Omaha. Unofficial reports from various out-in the state cities yesterday ranged from 100 degrees at Falls City and Columbus to 102 at Beatrice and Hastings. The thermometer struck 100 in the afternoon here. No prostrations have been reported in the state.

Horse Kick is Fatal. Butler, Neb., Aug. 27.—Elsie Bechtold, a 13-year-old boy at Naper, was kicked in the stomach by a horse Saturday and died Monday, never having regained consciousness. ### A New Department in The Training Room Children Wanted for Third and Fourth Grades.

Upon a number of occasions we have been asked to receive children into the Training School in connection with the State Teachers College. We could not grant these requests because the number that can be accepted is limited. It is now, therefore, decided to organize another department of the Training School. We have therefore decided to offer third and fourth grade work. Parents who wish to place their children in either of these grades in the Training School should notify the superintendent or the office. H. H. Egan, Superintendent of Training School, Wayne, Neb., 4212.

Business.

Sioux City Journal: The business situation is little changed from last week with reference to a decision on the crop question, which only can be reached at the end of the growing season. G. T. King's crop dominates the economic situation, not only in the middle west but throughout the country. This is particularly true as to corn. Business progress everywhere where it depends on what can be done in the next three weeks. Recently the weather conditions have been much more satisfactory. Several weeks ago, therefore, decided an absence of rain have given the growing crop a better chance than it has had for some time. The fields are now being harvested rapidly. The

The nights have been warmer as well as the days. August at last has shown a little more promise.

All of which is encouraging, but the worst part of the road is still ahead. A warm, dry September is needed to bring the corn out and permit it to mature. There have been many such Septembers in the middle west corn belt, so there is nothing to be gained by dismaying entirely with hope that this year there will be a late fall season, just what is needed to produce marketable corn when the crop is about two weeks behind its schedule. The Journal does not put much dependence in the popular theory that every season must have just so much extreme weather, either hot or cold, but, if there is anything in such speculation, now is the time for it to operate. If the summer of 1924 is bound to have a certain amount of hot, dry weather, everyone would welcome it now.

General business seems to be doing nothing more consistently than marking time, waiting for definite developments in several directions. The two most important contingencies are the progress of the growing crops and the development of the international situation. Manufacturing in this country for the next 12 months is going to depend in large measure on the purchasing power of the agricultural section and on the rapidly with which Europe applies the Dawes reparations plan. A solution of its economic problem. It is likely that industrial activity in the degree now reported will be sufficient to take care of the domestic demand for goods. This may vary somewhat, but not greatly. The European developments, therefore, become important for the reason that sale of a surplus is almost entirely governed by old world recovery.

Eastern capital is eager at this time for activity. Nothing would please the financial interests more than opportunities for investments. Business expansion, of course, would result in the employment of much idle money. What is done in Europe toward reconstruction in the next few months will decide in large part the role American money is going to play here at home and abroad. The chance of the American financier may be at hand. Europe is sure to require loans in extensive amounts. As long as foreign securities are satisfactory, Yankee funds will be available. Investments abroad probably will be more active now than for a number of years. The year of 1925, while still a period that influences much speculative thought, reasonably may be regarded as holding possibilities of economic interest more important than have been realized at any time since the war. Indeed it may be the turning point in an economic sense for the whole world.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Andrews, Miss Irma, Miss Eleanor and Miss Gaila Benick returned Friday on a two weeks' trip to the Black Hills. Miss Lynette Renwick and Miss Katherine Strickland who left in the same party, motored through Yellowstone park and planned to reach Spokane, Wash., Saturday. Miss Renwick will return to her school at Northport, Wyo., and Miss Strickland will come back.

Elizabeth Mines Writes of Europe

Miss Elizabeth Mines, who has been visiting Europe this summer and is now on her way home, writes of her experiences in a series of articles. "As far as my enthusiasm for the European trip is concerned this letter could stretch into columns but I will try to confine myself to a few general impressions which may interest your readers. It is not the fields of art and architecture which I wish to discuss, but by combing writers can furnish such material. Our Fourth of July observance was a fair to the battlefields and we had it on an appropriate day. The Belgian Woods with its cemetery of white crosses, and Chateau Thierry where the day was spent in the honor of the dead. Soldiers of the intervening territory. The annual July 4th rain fell but that made us realize the importance of the day which must have plagued the boys in the fighting line. The war-contested territory has been restored to such an extent that the villages are fast disappearing. Part of our men's attire to the detriment of months of bombing and dynamiting can not be seen. The location of the destroyed towns has been changed because of the danger from unexploded shells and the ruins of former villages, and the restoration must make all visitors go out against war and its devastation; and foster the growing thought to have the idea, that the war was worthwhile and was left unfinished. One of our most interesting French excursions was to the Casino de Monte Carlo. We saw the game played and some of our party indulged in the sport with one loss than two. We heard Mary Garden was patronizing the casino that evening but we didn't see her.

The boat from Genoa to Naples several of us became acquainted with Rosamond Pinchoy, who plays the part of the nun in "The Miracle Play" which is being put on in New York City. She and her mother were going to Capri for a two weeks' vacation. The former is a very attractive young woman of American birth, unspoiled by her growing fame.

Naples proved to be a dirty, overcrowded, unattractive city with the blue bay and Vesuvius as its only assets. The old adage, "See Naples and die" was changed to "See Naples and live long enough to get somewhere else." The "some where else" was a two-day trip to Pompeii, Amalfi, in the coast mountains, Sorrento by the sea, and the island of Capri. At Amalfi we heard our most pleasing Italian music. One musician in a group played a rhythmic bass accompaniment by puffing into a large jar, a novelty for us, accustomed to a bass drum. At Sorrento we enjoyed some music. Tarantella dances.

Rome and Florence were cleaner cities than Naples and their well known attractions, ancient and modern, came up to expectations. In Venice the "taxis" rowed up to the door and for once we were away from the steam hand carts, from auto horns. Venice is not as colorful as pictured but we had seen this and were not disappointed. Only the conductors were handily adorned with bright sashes. The particular distinguishing feature of the costume were white or pink middie and roll brimmed straw hats with black streamers and neck bands to hold on the hats.

One Venetian pleasure was an afternoon dip at the Lido, one of the most popular Italian beaches. We found the best example here of lack of system. Bathing cuts were handed out regardless of the customer's sizes. The bathing suits brought many a laugh not only because of the fit but also because of their coloring and style. They looked as if they were made of ticking and their cut, except for some resembling compasses.

AVE-voiced Switzerland from Italy, driving in cars over the Simplon pass, reaching an altitude of over 6,000 feet before descending. Our best Swiss trip was to the Gorengrat peak, 10,000 feet high. The peak is above the timber line but it is heavily snowed in the summer. It gives a panoramic view of glaciers and snow-covered peaks, including the Matterhorn. As evidence of the cleanliness of the day, we were told that over 200 people, waiting in Zermatt for a good day, had gone up into the mountains during the summer. It gives a national Swiss holiday, which we spent in Lucerne, was celebrated very differently from our July Fourth. The shops remained open throughout the day. Peasant, gowned, girls' school badges, with hand-embroidered design of the flag, a national emblem, were worn. These badges are uniform in detail. They are made in the winter months and proceeds from their national holiday sale go to the most children of each city or village. The only celebration was in the form of a gathering in the evening at one of the public squares. Here the speakers were invited. Bright lights on public buildings and lanterns decorated fronts on Lake Lucerne contributed to the occasion.

We did not get to travel in Germany and our only visit to that country was by way of Switzerland across the Rhine. The river was very beautiful, attractive because of its swift current. The German town across the river is Kobl and is a part of the French army. Both French and German troops were at the bridge.

As certain European hotels cater to the needs of the most children of each city or village. The only celebration was in the form of a gathering in the evening at one of the public squares. Here the speakers were invited. Bright lights on public buildings and lanterns decorated fronts on Lake Lucerne contributed to the occasion.

All European coinage is below par except that of Switzerland, both Italy and France, failed to admit the low value of their money. We have not noticed prices accordingly so proved a shoppers' paradise. The shops seem anxious to take American bills in full and to benefit by a drop in their own coin.

A few differences may be noted in railroad customs. The station mischievous with his red cap, assuming duties which belong to our conductor. The former, for instance, gives the signal with the whistle for the train to start. The conductor seems merely to punch the tickets, for they are taken up through a turnstile on the station when a train enters. Our conductors have taken us on the most of our trip are in the form of a square pamphlet, each leaf taking one on a certain species of journey.

Drives about the clean streets of Dutch cities, pleasant except when sluggish canals are near; and visits to the Hague, the Hague, the Hague palace, were the principal interests during our short stay in Holland.

It might we leave for England on a channel steamer and begin the last two weeks of our trip. The last week will be devoted to an automobile trip across the English Channel, France, and Scotland. We will sail from Glasgow, August 33, arriving in Montreal, August 31.

J. Lund brought home with him last week some specimens of corn grown in Illinois. They have been compared with the Nebraska quality and while they are very large, they lack the weight of the latter. A Nebraska kernel from average corn was found to weigh 1.2 grains and the best from the Illinois specimens 6 grains.

The rapid growth and expansion of this city leads to the reflection that it will not be long before some means of public conveyance will have to be provided in town. It is about a mile to the college, and in other directions the long distances to which the streets extend, show that street cars or some other method of getting about outside from walking will become desirable. At least we should think so, for the people had rather ride when they have a chance at a low cost than to walk long distances even though on the excellent cement walks which are provided. To walk, for instance, to the college and back over dirt roads brings several times a day would become quite tedious in time.

"Of course a regular street car line with tracks and cars is an expensive undertaking. We notice that in some large towns, especially in the west, street cars are being superseded by automobiles. These are run at moderate speed by careful and experienced men, and under such circumstances are claimed to be safe as any other mode of conveyance.

"An automobile carefully and safely managed, certainly is a pleasant way of getting over the ground. The cost is much less than the cost of street cars and with all track expense avoided.

"Many are opposed to automobiles on the ground that they are liable to frighten horses. This is true in a measure for a short time. When a horse meets an automobile on the road for the first time, he is liable to imagine he sees before him a diabolical and hostile monster that may hurt or destroy him, and he naturally runs away if he can. But with a number of automobiles constantly playing along along the streets, he soon gets used to their appearance, and without fear will pay no more attention to them than he now does to a train of cars."

From Ponca Journal, Sept. 9, 1886:

The Sioux City Journal says that the residence of Joseph Dietz, four miles from Wakefield, Neb., was burned Friday evening, with all its contents. The cause of the fire is not known.

Prof. Foster, of Burlington Hawkeye weather prophet, seems to have been about correct when he predicted that there "would be a storm period between September 15 and 20." The fact is that since the fifth it has been stormy. After the 16th the prediction is that it will be warmer and pleasanter.

Baptist Meeting to Be Held in Wayne

At the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Northeast Nebraska Baptist association, closed in Norfolk last Thursday, it was voted that the residence of the first meeting be held in Wayne.

The Rev. E. E. Barkey of Tilden, will be asked to deliver the sermon at the residence of the first meeting, the congregations of Creighton, Ober, Fairview, Wayne, Carroll, Battle Creek, Pilger, Tilden and Norfolk.

Rev. Francis K. Allen of Wayne, spoke at one session on "The Grace of God."

In his address, the Rev. Mr. Allen stressed the goodness of God as evidenced in his sacrifice of life while man was yet a sinner. God's help is felt strongly in time of illness, he

He pointed out the majesty of God shown in nature as through the opening of seed.

Rev. E. M. Owens, state worker for the Baptist church and former pastor at Wayne, also spoke, his theme being the need of denominational unity.

Resolutions passed recommended most strict Sabbath observance; that Grand Island college, a denominational institution be encouraged, especially the summer school session; that stewardship work be stressed and made to include not only money but time; that denominational papers be encouraged; that a letter be sent Mrs. J. D. Collins in behalf of the denomination, tendering sympathy at the death of J. D. Collins, one of the state educational workers; and that the association tender its thanks for Norfolk's hospitality.

Cleo A. Lederer of Norfolk, was reelected moderator of the association and Ralph Gimmler of Tilden was chosen vice moderator. Bert Stewart of Tilden, was elected secretary.

The Norfolk congregation entertained all visitors from the other congregations at meals in the basement of the church.

The four men from the Baptist school, the University of Reellands, Calif., who appeared in Wayne Tuesday evening of last week in a program of music and reading, gave a day with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hatfield program at the Norfolk church Wednesday evening. The group includes: Mr. Boy, tenor; Mr. Brimmett, leader; Mr. Young, saxophone player and violinist; and Mr. Cummings, pianist. The quartet went from Norfolk to Fremont to give a concert Thursday.

Good Yields in Antelope. Neigh, Aug. 23.—Thresholders are now busy in Antelope county and returns are fully bearing out earlier predictions. Reports of yields of oats run all the way from thirty to sixty-five bushels to the acre, and are as high as forty-four bushels. The yield of oats this year is a reminder of years ago when this section was considered one of the best for oats in the country, but of late years the yield has been disappointing as a rule.

There is very little wheat in Antelope county this year, but what there is, according to J. W. Spirk, vice-president of the Neigh Milling company, is of good yield and the quality is excellent.

Mrs. J. M. Barrett, Miss Edith and Maxine Barrett spent last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hatfield program at the Norfolk church Wednesday evening.

From Other Editors

York Republican: Usually when we worry it is about some unimportant thing. Most men and women meet the real big things of life with courage and confidence. When an emergency really confronts us we know we must meet it, and we do so without trembling. Why worry? There is no necessity for it. One can always endure if he can overcome. Meet the present with courage, and in a spirit of bravery and generosity, each circumstance as it occurs, and the future will take care of itself.

Fairbury News: Every growing town is in a constant state of development. Those who work patriotically, vigorously and intelligently for its advancement; those who are in a state of apathy or indifference, and those who take a curious delight in discouraging the efforts of others by ridicule, and by a persistent denial that any progress can or has been accomplished by the efforts of every other town besides their own. The last class are called croakers, but they are really sometimes worse, for their disposition does not arise simply from despondency but from that unenviable spirit that will neither act itself or suffer others to act.

Hartington Herald: Education is the formation of such habits of thought and action as will enable us to live sanely and happily, to know how to make known what we need it, and to be real service to the community of which we are a part.

Wayne Wasp: Old mother nature seems to be crying for help. Crop reports from the south and the west all claim a great success for the cotton crop in sight. The same report predicts a short cotton crop in the north and the west of the cotton states will have to ship in corn this year. That will work out O. K. The cotton plentily will be shown with which to buy corn and it looks as if the corn belt farmers' wives would have a little corn money to spend for cotton pie goods. Higher prices for corn and lower prices of cotton products will work no hardship on Nebraska farmers.

RESULTS THAT REMAIN
Are Appreciated By Wayne People.
Thousands who suffer from backache and kidney complaint have tried one remedy after another, finding only temporary benefit. This is discouraging, but there is one kidney medicine that has earned a reputation for lasting results and there is plenty of proof of its merit right here in Wayne.

Here is the testimony of one who used Doan's Pills years ago, and now makes her testimony even stronger. Mrs. H. Kellogg of Wayne, says: "I had frequent attacks of kidney disorder. I suffered with a nagging ache in my back and found it difficult to move around because of the sharp twinges in my back. I was feeling depressed and nervous. Doan's Pills always gave me fine relief and I am glad to endorse them." (Statement given July 17, 1915.)

On May 29, 1920 Mrs. Kellogg added: "Since using Doan's Pills, I haven't had kidney trouble, my cure being lasting."
