Patrons Oppose Railway Effort

Proposal to Take Off Trains on Bloomfield and Crofton Branches
Hotly Contested.

Loss Is Emphasized

But Claims Superintendent Had Based
Figures on Little Branch
Months of Year.

A hearing was held in the city hall at Wayne Tuesday before W. Taylor of the state railway commission on application of the railway company to discontinue two passenger trains carrying mail, freight and mail and Bloomfield and one between Wakefield and Crofton. Different points along the two branches were listed as to be discontinued. The company proposed a route against the action proposed. A. R. Davis was employed to take the lead against reduction of service, and he was assisted by W. Peasinger of Randolph, J. C. Robinson of Bloomfield, F. H. Peterson of Wausa, B. Ready of Hartington and a representative of the chamber of commerce of Sioux City. An Omaha attorney looked after the interests of the railway company. Superintendent D. W. G. Allen, general manager of the railway, and the state auditor were also present to support the railway's application.

On the stand Superintendent Bogardus figures that the total train in question lost the company $8,000 last year, but it was contended by patrons that he had based his figures on a year's business and his business was the lightest. Mr. Bondell was asked to explain whether the entire business of each branch showed a loss, but he refused to do so. He said if the railway commission desired the information, he would see that it was provided.

Witnesses for the branches testified in behalf of maintaining the service. They sought to show that taking off trains would delay mail and hinder live stock shipments. They endeavored to show that the trains were necessary to complete essential service to people along the two branches.

Patrons who attended the hearing felt they had made a strong case against the proposal to reduce service. They commissioned a committee to consider the evidence and hand down a decision within a few weeks.

Gets Patent on Mitten

O'Neill, Neb., Dec. 30.—Leading rubber manufacturers of the United States are bidding for the purchase of the patent and right to manufacture a rubber mitten designed by John Hynes, a ranchman residing north of O'Neill, several years ago. "Necessity in reality was the inventor of the mitten," says Hynes. "I had a large acreage of corn to husk when the deflation came on, was a little shy on the finances to purchase husking mittens, so he made several pairs from old auto tire inner tubes which proved so war resistant and successful that the neighbors began asking him to make mittens and they were made by Charles M. Daly, then mayor of O'Neill, to apply for a patent and also to contract for the purchase of the patent. They have come into general use by farmers, ranchmen, auto mechanics and others since that time and both Hynes and Daly are wealthy because of the bidding by large rubber companies against each other for the purchase of the patents."

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Ickler and son Willis entertained Christmas day, Mrs. C. C. Kyris and children, Floyd and Lou, of Winside and William Johnson. Mrs. Kyris is a sister of Mrs. Ickler and she remained here until Friday evening to visit.

Dakota City, to visit at the L. Strickland home from Wednesday until Friday last week. Mrs. J. H. Foster returned Saturday evening from Sioux City where she spent several days visiting relatives. Mr. Foster, who spent Christmas day in Sioux City, came home Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Merle Milton and baby of Long Pine, returned home Saturday evening after spending Christmas here with Mrs. Milton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Ickler, and her sister, Mrs. Harry McMillan. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Mason and son Donald of Ames Grove, and L. A. Mason of Wakefield, were here from Christmas day until Sunday visiting Mrs. J. W. Mason and Miss Mary Mason. Donald Mason, who attended school here last year, is a student at Ames, Iowa, this year.

Early Days In Two Counties.

From the Wayne Herald for Jan. 12, 1905: Dan Harrington made a business trip to Elk Point, S. D., Dec. 10. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jones entertained a party of friends. Fred Kraus sold his farm south of Winside for $50 an acre.

Mrs. J. R. Chace returned her home north of Elk Point, S. D. The Baptist church made $27 from a supper held at the church. A. William Wittler moved his stock of merchandise from Wayne to Sackett. The I. O. O. F. installed F. A. Berry noble grand and C. J. Finger vice grand.

W. H. Byrnes of Rogers, Neb., came to visit his sister, Mrs. Charles Bright. Alex. Cunningham came from Madison county to see David and E. Cunningham. R. R. Payne is moving from Laurel to Wayne to take charge of the new laundry here.

Robert Baird sold his farm southeast of Wayne to Bert Hyatt for $52.50 an acre. Miss Edith Moses and Miss Etta Morgan returned to their teaching in Sioux Falls, S. D.

Mrs. J. Weaver, who had been visiting at the W. Mason home, returned to Ashland, Ohio. William Wittler has sold his 240-acre tract of land south of town to Curt Benasch for $12,900. Gus Hansen who had been employed by Oscar Franks, went to Plainville to work in a meat market. James Hill, father of Mrs. Harry Tucker of Carroll, died in Pender Jan. 9, 1905 at the age of 74 years.

W. H. Byrnes, who was in town to see his son who burned one of his barns seriously when working in the bakery. Mrs. T. G. White and son, Joe, left for their home in Fort Dodge, Iowa, after visiting the former's sister, Mrs. E. Cunningham. Tella daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Roberts of south of Carroll, died Dec. 30, 1904, from lung fever. She was 5 years old.

Two in New York state died from effects of the recent blizzard that swept the country. No death has been reported in this state. John Kato went to Lincoln to attend the state poultry show. He is not exhibiting there this year but plans to take birds to the show soon. B. F. Swan and R. M. Dent are planning to build a double store building between the Masonic and the new Anthony building in Sioux City. William W. Worthington, writes from California that he is well pleased with his new location. He says that Ed. Stevens and Charles Fisher who moved there recently, also like the country.

The Modern Brotherhood of America of Hoskins elected as officers: Louis Zwickler, Carrie Luckey, H. Strickland, John Kaulen, Mrs. A. T. Wadell, Sherman Weatherholt, and Mrs. S. Weatherholt. Prof. George F. Wayne went to Norfolk to conduct scholastic examinations for young men who wished to enter West Point military academy. Vern Embree of Wayne was one of the applicants. Judge Hunter issued no marriage licenses the first ten days of 1905 and this was an unprecedented record. During 1904 he issued eighty-eight licenses and this was six more than were issued in 1903.

Chris Wischoh, secretary of the telephone line northwest of Wayne, states that the farmers belonging to the company met and adopted a constitution and by-laws. Twenty-two of the twenty-three on the line were present. John Mans sustained a broken collar bone and David Paul suffered cuts and bruises when they were thrown out of a buggy they were driving to the farm. The horses ran into a fence and became frightened and threw the men out.

From Ponca Journal, Jan. 7, 1886: On Sunday came a blizzard which blocked roads with drifts and rendered travel difficult and unpleasant. The railroad between this place and Sioux City was not blocked during the blizzard. It has always been fortunate in this respect, while nearly every other road in this part of the state has often had to contend against snow in drifts and railroad cuts.

D. P. Sherwood returned home Friday evening, from Iowa, having been absent about ten days. He brought with him sixteen head of thoroughbred cattle, Shorthorns. He understands that his enthusiasm over the good prospects in this vicinity still continues.

We mentioned, last week, that a railroad company, the Great Southern had purchased the right of way from the north line of Union county to Elk Point, W. Va. We are informed that it is the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul company which is thus preparing the way for a new line running due south, and that the same company is also obtaining the right of way between Elk Point and the Missouri. The crossing will be made at or near Bigley's ravine, ten and one-half miles northwest from Ponca. From Bigley's ravine the road will run down through the land recently purchased by Messrs. Baker and Conrad by Sioux City parties, to Panther creek, thence down that creek to the Aoway, over lands of N. S. Porter and John Stough, passing a short distance east of Ponca.

The Patrons enjoyed a cake walk, the couples winning the cakes being Mr. and Mrs. Fred Otte, Mrs. L. Neidham and Misses Hanson, Coffey, Hoffman, and Miss Dora Reuter, Henry Hoffman and Miss Martha Heier, and Lawrence and Clarence Bennett. The cakes were cut and passed to the victors. The sum of $2.50 was taken in and will be added to the fund for the school building at the fair ground.

New York is reported all primed for a time of gigantic drunkenness and hilarity tonight when the old year goes out. We don't know why people should delight in getting into Bacchanalian revelry on New Year's eve. On the contrary, they should have a usual sobriety and orderly decorum as a worthy beginning for the new year.

Wayne organizations acquitted themselves most commendably at Christmas time in generous distribution of gifts and especially in looking after cases of need and in aiding to the holiday joy of people whose stock of material fortune had been running at low ebb. People quickly set about the happy work of giving and substantial gifts were given and results were most gratifying.

As people grow older, memory of early events is clearer than that of modern ones. This is easily proved. A Wimsie minister asks, in the course of a series of questions, the name of the mountain on which Moses landed, and the answer comes quickly as Ararat. Then he wants to know the name of the mountain on which Moses was born, and this more recent event we cannot remember.

A report states that the demand for copies of the Herald has been greater during the last year than it was during the previous 240 years. This is a strong statement, but if it is true, it would look as though the world were getting ready to be a great deal better. The report discounts the frequently expressed opinion that society is growing worse with the infernal regions not far ahead.

During a crisis in a conversation—just when the crux has been reached—some man or woman who is supposed to be listening, will interrupt by breaking down a column that has been hanging for six months, or by stirring the fire, or by calling attention to a rent in some one's garments. These interruptions have been happening ever since the world started, and we have never heard any lucid reason for them.

W. J. Bryan who has been a conspicuous opponent of evolution, has applied for membership in the American Association for the Advancement of Science which strongly upholds the Darwinian theory. The commoner explanation that he proposed to join in order to keep in close touch with the organization's work in connection with evolution. And now it will be up to him to convince the society that it is wrong, and for the society to convince him that he is wrong. This job ought to give all hands plenty to do.

On account of no mail service on rural routes on New Year's day, we have had to speed up again to issue the Herald a day earlier than usual. This is the second week in succession that we have been compelled to resort to this in preparing this newspaper, and we shall be glad to get back to normal next week. The week between Christmas and New Year's is noted chiefly for its dullness, and while, like Alkali Valley in Oregon and Death Valley in California, it has its good points, we always feel relieved when we see it safely on its way down the dim vista of the past.

The weather in December has been uniformly bad, and sometimes it would have developed into a terrible blizzard, like those that settlers experienced in the sixties and seventies. If it had not been for the groves and buildings, and other impediments to break the sweep of the wind. But if the early beginning and unusual severity of winter mean an early spring and a year of abundant harvest, we should accept the present with brave fortitude. We can stand hoar-frosted elements in mid-winter if they will let up in March and not take possession of April and May.

To be able to smile with winsome naturalness is a wonderful gift, possessed by many. But some people either laugh in a thunderous roar or their faces appear as stone and austere as those of wooden idols. They can't help it. Others affect good nature and a smiling countenance by a theatrical laugh, following a cue as carefully as intelligence will permit. Still others giggle and convey the impression that something is happening or nothing is likely to happen in the dome originally set apart for brains. But it seems like inhaling a breath from heaven, and the smile is not just naturally born, and whose smile is sincere and spontaneous. The inheritance of such a face is just as important an asset to the assessor as it is a source of joy to the world.

It has been the history of nations to rise to power on waves of youthful enthusiasm, and then to fall and become careless, luxurious and feeble, and thus fall an easy prey to some other nation. Individuals are apt to run the same course. One man loots and saves and passes on a large inheritance to heirs who, feeling secure, fall into drunkenness and dissipation, and the estate is removed from the original stock of sturdy ambition, descendants have to start all over again in the business of creating another fortune. It goes with both nations and individuals. No nation or individual should relax effort or become satisfied with a relaxing grip on activities that feed weakness and decay and, continued, causes destruction.

The proposition of the railway company to take off one passenger train from the Bloomfield branch and to run the same course. One man removed from the original stock of sturdy ambition, descendants have to start all over again in the business of creating another fortune. It goes with both nations and individuals. No nation or individual should relax effort or become satisfied with a relaxing grip on activities that feed weakness and decay and, continued, causes destruction.

We can't do much more during the year. We can't make many more mistakes and we can't add much to records of achievement before the old year will fade into nothingness and a new year will take its place. Materially, according to reports of commercial agencies, the country is in a far healthier condition than it was a year ago. The worst belt section was hit hard by poor crops, but markets have been better for everything and the foundation is considered more secure than at any time since the war. It has been reported that crimes have been on the decrease and that law observance is more easily enforced. There is this service to be rendered to the world: a disposition to make progress without hysteria or threats of ruin. Specially, therefore, according to all our efforts, let us have a hearty and encouraging improvement. The new year will open full of promise, and people should open their eyes to the new two-month period with a determination to outdo the past in worthy accomplishments.

Wayne will ask Congressman Howard and other members of the Nebraska delegation to invite congress to make early provision for a government highway system. This city has long wanted an adequate home for its growing postoffice business merely as a political favor. It does not want it simply to improve appearances or make the business district look more imposing. It wants it to supply an actual need. Wayne does not ask congress to be generous in its help or relax in the least its policy of economy. On the contrary, it holds that economy and safety and facility are the chief desiderata. If the town whose business has reached the volume attained here. The town merely asks that a small fraction of the million dollars being distributed by congress and other worthy purposes be diverted to this bounding prairie town whose need is apparent and pressing. The town does not want to be flattered or "kidded" along by effort that ends with the introduction of a bill. It wants the movement met and supplied in a business-like fashion the same as a newspaper or farmer would install a needed piece of new machinery.

 Here are a few thoughts for this Year's day: Don't simply resolve to do it—do it. Many people make New Year's resolutions. What many others need to do is to make New Year's resolutions. Nineteen hundred twenty-five may be what we make it. It is largely up to each of us what kind of year this shall be. It is a door with two sides. If that door has "opportunity" written on one side of it we will be sure to find "responsibility" written on the other side. The New Year will bring its opportunities and likewise its responsibilities. As we gladly embrace the former let us not overlook the latter.

First Presbyterian Church.
 (Rev. Fenton C. Jones, Pastor.)
 10:00 Sunday school. F. H. Jones, superintendent.
 11:00 morning worship. "Celebration of the Lord's Supper. Let every member of the church be present."
 Those planning to unite with the church should communicate with the pastor. Parents desiring their children baptised will have that privilege at this service. What better message can you do in the new year than to unite with the church if you are not a member; and if you are a member let this first Sunday show your time for a reconsecration for the work before us.

3:30 Christian Endeavor. Leader will be announced at the morning service.
 7:30 evening worship. Subject, New Opportunities, New Pleasures and New Duties.
 What we all need for the new year is not more resolutions, but more realistic. Make a bargain with yourself that you will go to church every Sunday. To do this you will need to begin next Sunday. We will welcome you. The church is for the service of men in the name of Christ.

St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church.
 (Rev. Coy L. Stager, Pastor.)
 Sunday morning, January 4, 1925: Sunday school at 11 a. m.
 Morning worship at 11 a. m.
 "The Ladies' Aid society will meet Thursday afternoon, January 8th, at the home of Mrs. Angus Wendt."
 The Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary society will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. N. J. Smith, January 7, 1925. At 7:30, services will be held in our church. This service is one of the services which the churches are unitedly conducting in connection with the universal week of prayer. Announcements of the other services will be given.

Backward—Forward.
 "I stand upon the threshold of two years.
 And backward look, and forward strain my eyes;
 Upon the dotted record fall my tears
 While revolving them aside a sweet surprise
 Breaks like a day-dawn on my upturned face:
 As I remember—All Thy daily grace."
 "Thou hast been good to me; the burden dead past
 Thy word has borne with me; and the future days
 Are in Thy hands; I tremble not but

My care upon Thee and in prayer and praise
 Prepare to make the coming year the best
 Because of nobler work and sweeter rest."

I do not know who wrote these lines. But whoever wrote them, they have touched me deeply, and sit meditating upon the year that is closing and the new one which is soon to dawn. We are, indeed, upon "the threshold of two years," and we are compelled to consider both of them. We cannot help the backward look, and it may cause the tears to fall; perhaps they have been days of cloud and burden and care for us. We remember them, but greater far, we remember the daily grace of our Heavenly Father which never failed.

Out of the past we gain the courage to look forward with faith into the future. Let us do our best for Christ and our fellowmen, all in the spirit of Paul: "Forgetting those things which are behind—I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."
 Rev. and Mrs. Coy L. Stager take this opportunity and means of expressing to the members and friends of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church their best wishes and fondest hopes for your health and prosperity for the coming year, and may God bless you that you may not forget the duties that belong to Him who has been so good; and who still perseveres our lives this day.
 A Christian is:
 A Mind, through which Christ thinks.
 A Heart, through which Christ loves.
 A Voice, through which Christ speaks.
 A Hand, through which Christ helps.

Choose Christmas Letters to Santa

For several years it has been the custom to publish the best Christmas letters written by the beginning French class of the high school taught by Mrs. Allis Pollard, and the ones chosen this year are by Vera Sylvanus and Charles Keyser. There are thirty pupils in the class. The letters are as follows.

Wayne, Nebraska, 1924.
 Mon cher petit Noel!
 C'est presque Noel. Je desire bien que tu sois avec nous. Mon nom est Vera Sylvanus et j'ai six ans. J'ai aussi une petite sœur et un petit frere. Mes parents sont maintenant tres pauvres mais avant la guerre nous etions tres riches.
 Nous avons besoin de beaucoup de choses. Je n'ai pas de souliers et il fait froid. Nous n'avons pas de bons vêtements. Ma petite sœur n'a rien mais vu n'aurait Noel. Elle pleure toujours pour une poupée. Ma mere a besoin d'une robe. Mon cher pere est tres malade et il a besoin de bonne viande et de bon vin.
 Apprez, beapeseigne jolis joujoux a mon petit frere. s'il vous plait. Aussi, apportez-moi un sac de candy et un livre.
 Votre petite amie,
 Mlle. Vera Sylvanus.
 L'orphelinat,
 Omaha, Nebraska.
 Le 16 decembre, 1924.

Cher Petit Noel!
 Je suis un orphelin. J'avais six ans il y a neuf jours. Je demeure dans l'orphelinat a Omaha, Nebraska. J'aime le canif de M. Jacob qui est notre concierge. Mlle. Jacob est notre servante. Elle a besoin d'un nouveau chapeau.
 Nous appelons M. Jacob, Amos, parce que c'est son prenom. Amos desire une nouvelle montre.
 Nous dormons ensemble dans une grande salle. Il y a deux fenetres qui sont toujours ouvertes.
 Je laisse mes bas sur mon lit mais ne mettez pas le canif dans les bas breads parce qu'il n'est pas les miens. Les Miens sont bruns.
 Jean, le garçon qui dort avec moi, desire une carne de fer blanc. Mettez la dans les bas blues, s'il vous plait.
 Un de mes bas a une breche dans le bout. Je n'etais pas tres bon la semaine derniere mais je suis maintenant meilleur. Si vous plait, apportez-moi le canif, et aussi, si c'est possible, apportez-moi un pere et une mere.
 Je prie pour que vous soyez avec moi et que vous soyez un orphelin.
 Charles Keyser.

How to Economize on Coal

Christopher Furnace Coal

The coal that is lowest in price per ton is not necessarily the cheapest coal to burn. In fact, it seldom is. That is to say—a coal costing $9.00 per ton may bring you a total coal bill for the winter of $50.00, whereas a coal costing $11.50 per ton may run your winter coal bill to only $40.00. The higher priced coal would thus be the cheaper. The value of coal is measured by the number of heat units it delivers to your stove or furnace, making due allowance for moisture, ash, etc.

Now coals that are high in heat, low in moisture, etc., carry the same freight rates per ton as coals from the same fields that are high in moisture and ash and low in heat. It therefore follows that your poor grade coals bear a higher proportion of freight for the amount of heat they contain than do the coals that are high in heat.

We have in our office at your disposal and for our mutual benefit and protection the analysis of any coal mined in this country and will gladly show you the relative values.

Christopher Furnace Egg is probably the most economical furnace coal coming into this territory.

We have a good supply of base burner hard coal and Colorado Anthracite.

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON BEREF OF FACIAL SCENERY: DAWES A HOPE

WHEN Uncle Joe Cannon left Washington, naturally he took his celebrated stogie with him. That stogie was one of the capricious royal decorations of the situation. No visitor felt he really had seen the city's sights without a glimpse at Uncle Joe's stogie. Mrs. that was as much a part of him as his stubby white chin whiskers. His retirement from politics left a void which even yet hasn't been satisfactorily filled. Something has been lacking in Washington ever since.

DAWES' PIPE

No, none of these will quite do. There's a vacancy right now for a nationally prominent man with a few shams, the filthy weed, after all the advertising it got from Grant's cigars and Uncle Joe's stogie. The fact is, the pipe that the Dawes pipe has been tried and found to be proved itself to be the goods. Dawes had it with him in Europe when he was soldiering, and later when he was engaged in fixing-up the old world with his iron. The Old World knows his pipe well and talked about it a lot. Dawes sucked it as he should during his term as budget dictator. He made a big hit with it throughout the last presidential campaign, and he's back at it. With the vice presidential prestige behind it, the United States will be better acquainted with it than it is with the Washington monument, by the end of the next four years.

Senator Jim Ham Lewis' pink whiskers once occupied a similar niche in popular esteem. Senator Roscoe Conkling's Hyperion curl was noted in earlier times. President Grant, like Uncle Joe, was famous for his smoke-not stogie, however, but his black, old-fashioned cigars, which killed him in the end. In fact, from its earliest days Washington generally has boasted a stogie or two with some picturesque personal peculiarities which gave tone to the entire District of Columbia landscape. But not just now. At least, nothing of the first class.

"Sally regarded him severely; he seemed so much like a bad little boy that sometimes she despaired of getting anything reasonable out of him."

"I could drive to Pitts Burg with my eyes shut" either; so that's stealing. You'd better take it from me, you've done something to hide for. I know Morris. I don't know much else; you can't do things like that. You can't run a flivver on three wheels."

"It doesn't bother me any." "That's just it," said Charley. "It doesn't seem to make any difference to you how much trouble you stir up. But we can't afford to have any more right away—and we've got going to have it."

But it might not be the quickest way of getting Sally out of a mess. Perhaps it might be better to think things over a bit; not that he wanted to, but that it might be his unpleasant duty.

"I'm not worrying about myself one bit," she assured him. "I'm worrying more about you."

"What is it, Sally? What does worry you about me?" "Well you were expecting to go back to the ranch, weren't you?"

"I'm not going to dodge him." "Well, you're not going to fight with him," she said firmly. "Not if he leaves me alone."

"I don't make any difference whether he leaves you alone or not. You're not going to fight; not today, anyhow. We can't afford it."

"Oh, all right, maw," he drawled, as he went through the door. "I ain't goin' to fight."

"When he was satisfied he started on an exploration of the rest of the lower floor. There was a pantry, with more china in it, which ceased her eyes to widen."

"She resumed about the big rooms as she rounded the corner; not amazed at anything she saw, but marveling that it should all be there in the middle of the range country, where she had long supposed that barrenness and simplicity, and too often to drab bareness."

Finally she picked up a book that she did not believe would be disappointing. She wondered; not amazed at anything she saw, but marveling that it should all be there in the middle of the range country, where she had long supposed that barrenness and simplicity, and too often to drab bareness.

The school in district 23 closed for Christmas vacation Wednesday. Miss Myrtle Pihon and pupils entertained the patrons of the district with a Christmas program, after which the children received gifts from the Christmas tree which had previously been decorated. School will open again Monday, Jan. 5.

Eight members of the B. C. club met with Mrs. Harry Baird Friday afternoon. Each one received a gift from the Christmas tree. The remainder of the afternoon was especially. It was planned to hold the next meeting with Mrs. Faye Stiles Jan. 9. Mrs. Chas. Baird and Mrs. Harry Puls called on Mrs. Baird at the close of a delightful afternoon.

Miss Marnie Wert and pupils gave an excellent program Tuesday evening in the Winside school. It was a special. It is to be regretted that because of the severe weather so small a crowd was in attendance. Harry Baird acted as master, and the sale of boxes amounted to $7.50.

Wednesday they had a Christmas tree and exchanged gifts, and the school closed for a ten-day vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baird and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baird and families went to Wayne Thursday to spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. James Baird. After spending two hours shoveling snow and pushing cars through snowdrifts, they, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pihon who were on their way to the C. E. Wright home, finally reached Wayne with appetites equal to the mouthful dinner placed before them. However, their travels were soon forgotten and the Christmas spirit prevailed.

Business.
Sioux City Journal. On the eve of the new year this country faces a future economically and politically safe and sound. The long expected era of prosperity is beginning. Next year adjustments will be of such complex character that reconstruction could not be carried forward swiftly. Much time passed since the conflict without general recovery. That was because the wounds made by the war were deep and healed slowly. The effect of the conflict on business the world over was far more damaging than anyone believed it to be. But as time heals wounds and assures great so does it permit recovery. Nations are now in the way the major portion of the task has been completed. Henceforth reconstruction ought to carry far beyond the use of its momentum alone. Any encouragement naturally would accelerate the forward movement.
Everyone agrees that prosperity is ahead. The crisis has disappeared—or remains the crisis because it is not informed. Persons who have observed the country's economic and political progress may read the signs. They are plain enough.
One of the most dependable things that may be considered as a factor of prosperity is the apparent stability of price levels. There has been no change has been remarked since last year as to the general cost of living. Yet prices have not gone back to prewar figures. Nor will they do it. It is only a close approach to the new normal, or level, that has been made. There is doubt that serious fluctuations upward or downward will come. That means that an index thus supplied on which economic plans may be based. Production, transportation and selling all may be considered as affected now by influences that are more or less stable and permanent. So much for the price index and its apparent stability.
Then there is the factor of the country's buying power. The buying power is strong because there is practically no involuntary unemployment and for the additional reason that wages are high. When everybody who wants a job is at work the demand for goods is strong. When workers have the money to pay their bills and the assurance of continued employment and income they buy.

Unlucky Year for the Hornbys.
Merna Hornby, 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hornby, broke both bones below the elbow in her right arm Friday night. Her father fell down stairs last May and received a bad break in one ankle from which he has not yet recovered. Ed Hornby fell from a tree over a hay loader and hurt his back. The Hornbys are hoping that 1925 will prove luckier for them than 1924 has been.

Another buying power also has been greatly improved, that of the old world. Europe is struggling back and American exports are increasing in volume in the New Year. The American industry feels the encouragement for increased activity and expansion.
The agricultural situation easily is the most comforting one in the whole economic world. The recovery of the farmers as grain and live stock prices reached figures unknown for many years, was the outstanding feature of the country's business program. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been added to the farmers' income for the year now closing. The Iowa corn crop for this year was greatly reduced in volume, but its value has been estimated as greater than that of 1923 by some $35,000,000. All the grains command better prices. The farmers simply cannot help reacting to the change that has come in their fortunes. Another thing that has helped materially has been an equalizing process from another direction. The prices of many things that farmers had to buy were somewhat reduced. His own goods went up while those he bought came down. He gained in both directions.
Finances are in a healthy condition. Stocks and bonds are active. There is a new tone in railroading circles. Values are sponder and investments are easier because it now can be seen that the country is not ready to permit an interference with transportation that would destroy or weaken it. Radical threats of hurtful legislation are no longer heard. The political promise is good. A safe and sane government is functioning. Indeed prosperity is at hand. There is nothing to discourage it. It finds encouragement on every hand.
