

Second Semester Shows Increase

Wayne State College Begins Last Half of the Year with an Increase in Enrollment.

Week is Busy One

Lecture Course Number and Short Games are on Schedule—Other School News.

The second semester of the school year started at the Wayne State Teachers College Monday with an increase of seventy-three students. This is a larger number than have ever before entered the school at the beginning of the last half of the year. These enrolling thirty-seven new matriculates and thirty-six are former students. All are taking college studies, either working on the regular course or on the A. B. degree.

Complete reorganization of work took place with the new semester. Registration of students began Friday and Saturday and class work began Monday. New studies offered this semester that have proved popular during the year are: American history in the Latin department with Miss Elsie Ford Piper, ethics with Prof. S. X. Cross and applied clothing which is a new department with Miss Jessie Woodworth. Several of the courses are so crowded that classes are sectioned. Chemistry, zoology, mathematics, advanced physiology, child psychology, history of education, theory of education, advanced American history and English grammar are among the courses which are especially crowded.

One change in the faculty took place with the new semester. Miss Anna M. Mason, who has been a substitute of Oberlin, Ohio, came Monday to take Mrs. F. B. Fery's place in the physical education and hygiene work with the girls.

About twenty students here at this semester accepted positions teaching for the second half of the year. Teaching positions are scarce it has been found.

The violin recital to have been given Tuesday by Willy Burmaster was cancelled because of the illness of the artist. Another number will be substituted.

The Y. W. C. A. held a "mixers" dance in the club room for the benefit of new girls who enrolled in school this week.

The current number of the Goldenrod State Normal paper is the annual Netherland edition. This marks the completion of Dr. J. G. Netherland's "Song of the Indian Wars," his epic poem which was begun April 27, 1920, and which was finished August 23, 1924. The poem is true to fact and in it Crazy Horse, Indian leader, is the hero. The poem is dedicated to Dr. Netherland's daughter, Alice, who is 3 years old. The Netherland club proposes next summer to erect a monument to Crazy Horse at Fort Robinson where the chief met death. The club in 1923 erected a monument to Hugh Glass, hero of "King of the Wild Glass," and the plan for this summer is similar.

At the annual meeting of the Netherland club the following officers were elected: Mrs. Evelyn Minier, Oakland; Mrs. J. A. Berg, Brenton; Supt. George Jones, Chilesburg; William Fogley, Wayne; Judge James Brittain, Wayne; Professor L. L. Lehmann, Wayne; Mrs. S. M. F. Stone, Wayne; Mrs. S. M. F. Stone, Wayne; Mrs. S. M. F. Stone, Wayne.

Alton Packard, cartoonist, appears at the State Normal as one of the best-known names in Nebraska.

Cotter University of Lincoln plays basketball here this Thursday evening with the Wayne State Normal team. Starting at 7:30 p. m. the evening and Christian State Normal came Monday for a game.

Gas Furnace Near Fatal

Randolph, Neb., Jan. 28.—M. Anderson of Wausa, 24, was found unconscious in the basement of the Theodore Fredrick farm house near here and rescued from death by Mr. Fredrick's boys who were grinding feed and went to the basement when they began to have trouble with a slapping belt.

Mr. Anderson had been working on a light plant in the basement and was overcome by the fumes from a gas-line which was run to the open air and was so near dead that it required an hour to bring him to consciousness.

Decision on Trains Due in Few Days

Winter Has Increased Traffic and Made Service Needed.

In a few days it is expected the state railway commission will hand down its decision on a gas-burned at the roads' request for permission to discontinue one of two passenger trains on the Blomfield branch. The decision on the railway service determined, also involves one passenger train on the Crofton branch.

Since winter has increased about December 1st causing bad roads and putting a check on automobile, passenger traffic on the branch has so improved that the two trains each would seem to have ample excuse to operate.

Mrs. McClure Dies In Wayne, Aged 82

Mrs. Caroline McClure, aged 82 years, 1 month and 23 days, passed away at her home in Wayne Friday, Jan. 23, following a stroke of apoplexy. She had been in feeble health for several years. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. Fenton C. Jones officiating, and the body was taken to Neigh for burial beside the late Mrs. L. H. Lane, who died in 1919.

Caroline Amelia Harbaugh was born in Somerset county, Pa., Nov. 25, 1842. She was married to Wm. McClure in Fulton county, Pa., Jan. 20, 1864. The family moved from Pennsylvania to Iowa, and then to Nebraska, first locating at Lincoln and coming to Wayne about twenty years ago.

Mrs. McClure was the mother of three children, originally three and four in death. Those surviving are: Mrs. Will Kiely of Lebanon, Ore.; Mrs. Will Fisher of Payson, Idaho; Arthur McCoy, Wayne; and the late McClure of South Sioux City, and Linn McClure of Wayne.

Mrs. McClure had been a life-long member of the First Baptist and South Presbyterians and transferring her membership to the First Presbyterian church in Wayne when the family located here. To the loss of her death she was a faithful and valued member of the church. Many friends will remember her with esteem.

Norfolk Wins Game On Friday Evening

Wausa Girls Defeat Wayne—Both Contests are Interesting.

Norfolk high school basketball team won from the Wayne high school on Friday evening in a game played at the State Normal gymnasium Friday evening, the score being 24 to 4. The same evening the Wausa girls' team defeated the Wayne girls with a score of 13 to 1. Both contests were interesting, the locals playing good defensive basketball.

In the Norfolk game the lineup was as follows: Gerald Dennis, center; Carl Nuss and Will Lerner, forwards; and Laurence Kay and Ray Puhlan, guards. Siras Jones substituted for Dennis. Armand Hickey for Nuss and Siras Jones for Nuss. Dennis made Wayne's basket and the other two points were from free throws.

The girls who played on the Wayne team were: Bernice Sylvanus and Mercedes Reed, forwards; Lin Schramm and Lucile Nookes, centers; and Amelia Kusler and Florence Beckenhauer, guards. Mary Alice Ley substituted for Lucile Nookes and the girls who played on the Wayne team were: Bernice Sylvanus and Mercedes Reed, forwards; Lin Schramm and Lucile Nookes, centers; and Amelia Kusler and Florence Beckenhauer, guards. The Wausa boys' team goes to Bloomfield Friday of this week for a game with the high school of that place.

Fire Does Damage To Leigh School

Leigh, Neb., Jan. 28.—Fire of unknown origin started in the furnace room and swept to the attic before it could be checked, destroyed the interior of the Leigh school building, first located at that place. Loss was estimated to be over $30,000.

The first alarm was turned in at 2 o'clock at that time the flames were spreading rapidly to the upper portions of the building. After making a heroic battle for two hours the fire was finally brought under control. Three lines of hose were used in the fight.

Only the outer walls and the roof remain standing. Practically all the class room walls fell into the basement. The rafters under the roof were charred by the flames. All the play equipment was destroyed.

Very little wind was blowing during the fire and the fact aided the fire department in fighting a successful battle. One fire to sixty men were active on the hose lines and other preventative measures. The temperature was 10 degrees above zero.

A large crowd of on-lookers lined the streets around the building, watching the developments of the fire. Arrangements are being made by the school officials, who are selecting places where the grade and high school classes will be held.

Issue Over Half of Auto Licenses

County Treasurer J. J. Steele has issued 1,750 automobile and truck licenses for 1925. This is an increase of about 150 over the year record. There are still at the office 1,300 car licenses and 300 truck licenses to be issued. All cars being used should have their new number plates. The owners will not have the opportunity to get the same numbers they had last year for their cars.

G. C. Shufeldt Weds Miss Mary Brockman

Mr. George C. Shufeldt of near Wayne, and Miss Mary Brockman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brockman who live eight miles west of Wayne, were married Wednesday morning by Judge P. J. M. Clery. They were accompanied by the bride's sister, Miss Anna Brockman, and two nephews, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Jr. and Mrs. E. B. Johnson, who are on a farm one mile west of the Charles Brockman place.

Tryouts Will Be Held on Monday

Wayne Students to Take Part in Contest for Choosing Local Debating Team.

Twelve Towns are Represented in This District of the High School League.

Tryouts for determining Wayne high school's representatives this year in the contest to choose the local debating team will be held at the school auditorium Monday, Feb. 2. The question is, "Resolved, that the United States should enter the League of Nations." The affirmative will be upheld by William Johnson, Edward Owens, Mary Alice Ley, Myron Brockway, Esther Mae England and Henry Gaitner. The negative will be maintained by Maurice Wright, Genevieve Wright, Frieda Bartels, Audia Surber, and Wyn Schrumpt. The public is invited to attend and there is no admission charge.

After the high school debating team is selected, each team will prepare to take part in the following schedule of debates: West Point at West Point, Feb. 16, Winslow at West Point, Feb. 23, Hartington at Hartington, March 3, Waterbury at Waterbury, March 10, and Bancroft at Wayne, March 16, and Bancroft at Wayne, March 23.

Supt. Conrad Jacobson is in charge of the debating work this year and preparation for the local contest began at the first meeting of the state union announcing the question. Supt. Bishop of Oakland is director of this district of the state and the participating schools are on the east side: Wausa, Hartington, Bloomfield, West Point, Lyons, Bancroft, Waterbury, Tekamah, Ponca and Oakland.

President U. S. Conn Speaks to Kiwanians

President U. S. Conn of the State Teachers' College, Wednesday at the noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis club Monday, and he devoted attention to a prevailing spirit of earnestness which is animating the groups of would-be reformers whose main purpose in life seems to be to keep people busy and suspicious. He said many of these people are not satisfied with the present condition, and are prompt chronic complaint and discontent. He expressed a belief that people are more intelligent and more professional politicians, but to those who are known to be sound and constructive.

President Conn stressed the point that immigration should be more largely restricted in order to keep out radicals—those who would pull down American institutions and fasten on this country a condition similar to that in Russia.

President Conn said he would respect the constitution, education law, and in its place he would have enacted legislation that would compel people to be satisfied with the present situation before permitting them to own property or vote.

Number by Local Authors Popular

The first edition of the song, "Nebraska, My Native Land," written by Mrs. S. A. Lutzen and set to music by Paul Leo F. Bery, is almost entirely sold out. The Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs and the Nebraska Business Women's clubs have adopted this as their state song. The American League has asked that the song be entered in a contest for determining the state number for that group and the song is to be considered by the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of the state for adoption as their state number. It is pleasing to note how popular is the work of these Wayne people.

Severe Weather Is Record of the Week

After a short respite from unpleasant elements, severe winter renewed itself with a blizzard that dropped its ten-foot snow by Monday morning and to twelve feet by Tuesday morning. The weather was not an exception on morning when snow began falling and continued all day. All agree that the winter is too tough to be enjoyed and is rather more severe than necessary to insure an early spring.

We must protest against an emphasis which wreaches the eternal principles of Christ's teachings apart from His spirit and essence and content of the gospel; which speaks of a social gospel apart from a saving gospel, which conveys of the church's task and mission as reformatory on the outside rather than redemptive in the very heart and life of man. You can convert an individual; you can reach with the gospel the inner springs of an individual's life; you can bring the individual into personal relationship and fellowship with God thru Christ. But you cannot convert a "social order"; you cannot give a new meaning by trying to "bring" it into fellowship with God. You might as well try to vaccinate the social order in order to save it from the death of sin and Hell, as where the modern passion for generalization runs amuck. A mixed group, or order, is a very intangible, impersonal entity to deal with.

Reading the bible to discover its treasures is like the practice of the man who said, "We always use the same apples first and as they spoil as fast as we can use them we are always using spoiled apples." Why not pick out a good apple once in a while?

Kiwanis Club Has Anniversary Banquet

One hundred attended the third anniversary banquet of the Wayne Kiwanis club held last Thursday evening at the Occident paper plant. Many of the members and a few invited guests were present. The hall was attractively decorated in blue and white for the occasion, paper streamers of these colors being hung from the center of the ceiling to the sides of the room to form a canopy. On the tables were blue and yellow candles and at each place were blue and white menu programs. Each lady received a rose at her place and everyone had an attractive paper napkin, paper Kiwanis card. The stage was decorated in flags. The Wayne Women's club served the sumptuous three-course dinner, followed by a flag salute, singing of "America" and the invocation by Rev. Fenton C. Jones. The Wayne State Teachers College orchestral club furnished music before and during the dinner and for the dance which closed the evening.

Prof. Leon F. Beery led the group in the singing of Kiwanian songs. F. S. Berry then presided as toastmaster and introduced the members of the Kiwanis club, including F. E. Gamble, F. L. Blair, Supt. Conrad Jacobson and Prof. Leonard F. Beery, sang.

Pres. U. S. Con gave a toast to the women and spoke of the privilege of being allowed to do so. He complimented the wives of the members. Mrs. E. W. Huss responded with a toast to the Kiwanians. She spoke complementarily of the work being done by the Kiwanian clubs in the way of helping and uplifting children, promoting community enterprises, encouraging the brotherly feeling between men, etc. The Wayne State Teachers College string quartet gave a selection and in the group Prof. W. C. Hunter played the viola, Miss Alvera Malloy and Arthur Pruss played the violins and Miss Margaret Ahern played the cello.

C. E. Carhart, president of the Kiwanis club the first year of its organization in Wayne, presided at the first year's work. He explained the difficulties of starting and told of its taking almost a year for the Kiwanian idea to be accepted by the club. D. E. Brainger, president of the club last year, spoke of what the club had accomplished. He mentioned public work done by the members sponsored by the organization. J. C. Nuss, this year's president, told of the future, explaining what the men might do in the way of bettering the poor and the under-privileged, encouraging tolerance for each other, building a swimming pool and doing other helpful work.

The Kiwanian "nightingales" then sang a number. This group included Prof. L. F. Beery, F. E. Gamble, F. L. Blair, Conrad Jacobson, William Beckenbauer, J. H. Kemp, R. L. Larson, A. T. Cavanaugh, Prof. E. J. Hunter, Coach P. G. Dale, C. M. Teyden, Dr. C. A. Moore, D. J. Cunningham, Dr. J. C. Johnson and C. K. Corbit.

Rev. Harry Moore, pastor of the Lutheran Presbyterian church, was the main address of the evening. He complimented the Kiwanis club on being an organization which encourages brotherly cooperation and helps assist in the same uplifting work as does the church. The need of creating good feeling between men is what he said. Rev. Moore complimented the club's helping under-privileged children, told that such children are more often in wealthy homes than in the poor ones. Invalids, cripples and blind children often overcome their handicaps and accomplish more than others who seem to have all advantages. He complimented the club in all of the beneficial work.

Prof. L. F. Beery led group singing of Kiwanis songs at the close of the toasts and dancing followed.

Wisner Pioneer Dies At Age of 91 Years

Wisner, Neb., Jan. 28.—Word has just been received of the death of Stark Anfin a pioneer of this vicinity at the home of his son-in-law, Henry Kinzel, at Long Beach, Calif., Saturday morning.

Mr. Anfin had been making his home with Mr. Kinzel the past four years. He is past 91 years of age. He came to this vicinity in June, 1872, with a colony of about ten families from Cambridge, Wis. He located just north of Wisner.

His Wisconsin colony came with or took only one saddle pony being in the caravan. The pioneers suffered all the hardships of early life in the prairie. Remnants from that colony today are Mrs. Torgerson of Bereford, S. D., Mrs. John S. Johnson of Radcliffe, Ia., and A. R. Peterson of Wisner.

Mr. Anfin is survived by two sons, one living in Montana and one in Canada, a son-in-law, Henry Kinzel, living here, and several grandchildren.

BLUE FLAME Here's How

Give a Blue Flame fire very little draft up through the grates.

Admit plenty of air over the top of the fire through the slide in the fire door.

Shake the grates gently, there is so little ash.

When putting in fresh coal, move the live coals to the side or back of the firepot, and place the new coal on the opposite side. Coke forms quickly, and then the fire can be checked with no smoke or soot.

Stella Arnold Tells of Arizona Country

Miss Stella Arnold who is teaching in Bisbee, Arizona, writes from Warren Jan. 18 and says from her letter that will be interesting to friends in Wayne are as follows:

"When I read of twenty below zero at home I wondered if I ever could stand such cold again for most of the winter here has been warm and sunny as April in Nebraska. But when it turns cold again it does so with vengeance. Last week it was cold enough one day to freeze the flames from the mines and the other day was as warm as ever."

"Bisbee is a typical mining camp, built in a narrow canyon with buildings perched at all angles on the sides of the mountains. The streets wind down like a labyrinth. I can still remember the first time I went to Bisbee alone for I went around the same buildings three times before I discovered that I was merely going in circles and getting nowhere. Bisbee is way up the narrow part of the canyon. About a half mile down is a town called Lowell and about a mile from there are dozens of other settlements called Barkerville, Joggerville, Ten Town, Cochise, etc. The school system covers all of the places and the buildings, mostly two and three rooms, are scattered about. I have to travel about two miles each morning to the one in which I teach. The street cars connect most of the places."

"I have been in Mexico a number of times and it is a dry and dusty Arizona—speaking of the land I mean. Otherwise it is far from dry. Almost every building in the border towns is covered with signs such as 'Drink Cuervo,' 'Volstead Cafe,' 'Ice Cold Sonora Beer,' etc. The menus at the cafes all have the name of an official who has the exclusive of 'Liquor Dispenser.' If you want any water in Mexico you have to order it. We went there one place to get some tamales and on the bill was the sign 'Fire extinguisher serviced with all hot dishes.' Out of curiosity we found that it was water. Most of these places are run by Japs.

"The Mexicans come the nearest to living in the modern 'Live Life Today' of any people I know. They are as gay and irresponsible as can be. The homes are well, I don't know just how to describe them—few of them anything more than a house with a bed and table. I suppose that if there were any more there wouldn't be room for the children. The poor little folks run around bare-footed and half dressed most of the time. There are many Mexicans in Warren but I do not have any in my classes."

Mrs. Bowen's Mother Dies in Franklin

Funeral service was conducted Friday in Franklin, Neb., for Mrs. W. H. Beverly, mother of Mrs. O. R. Bowen of Wayne, who died last week. Prof. and Mrs. Paul were present from Wayne for the service. The Omaha World Herald for Jan. 23 gives an account of Mrs. Beverly's life as follows:

"Mrs. W. H. Beverly, residing at Franklin forty-five years, buried in her home town today, was a woman of unusual experience not only in Nebraska pioneer menage of this state, but in incidents of the civil war. Dr. and Mrs. Beverly settled at Franklin in the early seventies coming direct from Virginia.

"Mrs. Beverly was a girl of sixteen, living near Staunton, Augusta county, in the Shenandoah valley, when the civil war broke out and throughout the war. Her three brothers were all in the 'Stonewall brigade,' with Stonewall Jackson and served with his foot cavalry in all the campaigns until all were killed and wounded.

"She was intimately associated with and knew personally the great southern leaders, Generals Lee, Jackson, Ashby, Ewell and Jubal Early. On one occasion, when Stonewall Jackson was leaving Saint Ann's church in Staunton, he stopped and placed in his campaign hat and corded it around her neck. On another occasion her brother, Captain Joseph Bowen, was killed by the daughter of General Lee, the finest soldier in her father's command.

"She spoke often of seeing Phil Sheridan and General Custer and told of Custer's long hair and velvet suit. She saw detachments of Phil Sheridan's and Jubal Early's cavalry clash in the street and fight it out with drawn sabres, and she helped nurse the wounded, friend and foe alike. She watched the immortal Lexington caudle march into battle at Newmarket. She suffered with others in the closing days of the war when General Sheridan made good his threat that a crew must carry it over provisions across the Shenandoah valley.

"Mrs. Beverly was a lifelong staunch and true democrat, and a life-long member of the Episcopal church. She had a vast fund of accurate civil war memories and pioneer days in Nebraska, and was extremely proud of having been born in Woodrow Wilson's native town. Her reminiscences were a source of great delight to her friends, among whom were governors and congressmen and the noted authors Willa Cather, Ada Paterson and Mrs. Eva Emery Dye. "Rev. S. Hardman, dean of the Hastings diocese, assisted by the Rev. S. E. Wells of Kearney, arch-deacon of the diocese of Southern Nebraska, and Father B. S. Daugherty of Grace church, Red Cloud, are officiating."

relating clergymen at the service today. "She is survived by five daughters and one son, Mrs. F. O. Miller of Woodland, Mo.; Mrs. Park Gregg, St. Joseph, Mo.; Mrs. D. R. Bowen of Wayne, Neb.; Mrs. C. L. Wilson of Tribune, Kan.; Miss Virginia Lee Beverly of Kansas City and Joseph R. Beverly of Omaha."

Market Report

(Furnished by Swanson, Gilmore & Welch, Sioux City Stock Yards.)

January 28.—The fires of human energy in the laboring man are kept going by food practically all of the time. But by most in particular in the winter especially when the weather is severe. Soft weather, therefore, as was the case last week, removed much of the need for the body stimulant and only those who have followed the trade over the retail counter know how quickly the demand slackens when the weather moderates. Last week mild temperatures created the poorest inquiry the eastern dressed meat trade has seen so far this season. Fifty cents to $1 lower prices were common, while dressed lambs finished the week 4 cents per pound cheaper. But this week the elements were such that the demand was sharpened, although as yet the change in the weather has not had sufficient time to erase the full adverse condition developed last week. However, the lethargic influence is rapidly being shaken out of the market and a continuance of the lower temperatures should see speculators robbed of the elemental advantage that was temporarily placed in their grasp.

"The week-packer look forward to more domestic consumption and in sizing up the early week receipts of cattle, found that they were not so heavy as last week. The volume in the delivery following last week's slump indicates that the majority of the short feds are in stronger hands. Accordingly packers are expected to try to speed up the marketward flow. About a quarter was added to Monday prices and on Tuesday the advance had to be repeated when second day receipts of the 11 leading markets fell 6,000 under the aggregate marketed the same day last week. By minor detail prices were greatly all grades of fat steers and butcher stock, was right at a half dollar higher and operations were free at the market all buyers showing generous offers.

The sudden drop in corn prices may ultimately influence more farmers to raise hogs than some extra feed as the outlook is still almost certain for an early fall and summer outlet at high prices. The farmers that may be expected to be influenced by the corn decline are those that were previously on the ragged edge, as to whether they should market their corn on the hoof, or separately. There has been a growing tendency of late to take home some steers that have had a little corn feeding.

Right now, although the coming trade carries some suggestions of betterment soon, the stocker and feeder trade is slow, with all of the discounts of late week fully apparent. The immediate cause of the slowness is seen in cold weather. Farmers are loath to leave the freese and journey to market. It is the present short season assortments the one over. Just a narrow demand is showing, about enough to keep the deal on a steady keel, but not near so many.

Forecasters responded to the better finish of the hog trade last week by dumping added thousands of porkers into the national market today. Packers had a distinct advantage on Monday and on Tuesday they retained a slight edge in the trading. But even at declining hog tops are still over the $10.50 line on the river and so it is obvious that the price basis is gradually shifting upwards as the season advances.

Packers simply had to force an adjustment in the lamb trade this week after the treatment the meat received in the east last week. Dressed lambs finished the week 4 cents a pound lower. Top lambs sold on the open market this week under $14, but even as packers found the job difficult, as outposts of strength indicate. In this division also the packer advantage is assumed to be strictly temporary.

The proposed child labor amendment to the Federal constitution has been defeated by the adverse action of the states.

Without intending to be personal or cause embarrassment—we are confident—a young student asked us if we considered money plural or singular, and we were compelled to say that within our experience it was always singular.

A man who was struggling to get the snow off his sidewalk last night, expressed regret, as he looked out into the frosty elements, that we had taken this country away from the Indians and added that he was about ready to give it back to them.

The way the winter has dealt out cold and snow since December 1st must prove a state of mind that would be willing to tolerate armies of hovering real estate agents and to run the chance of fleas and starvation in the milder climate of southern California.

The grocery keeper in Omaha who shot and killed two robbers who were holding up his place of business, put a sudden check on that sort of lawlessness in the metropolis.

The railroads seem to move uneasily in the direction of increasing freight rates which are already too high to suit shippers.

Recently compiled statistics for 1924 show a great increase in the number of lynchings in the United States. Sixteen persons were lynched in 1924, the least number in any one year since a record of lynchings has been kept.

The old law of supply and demand is operating greatly to the benefit of American farmers who for the first time in years are realizing handsome profits.

Economists everywhere are optimistic over the outlook for agriculture in this country. It is taken as a certainty that the situation is not going to change to the detriment of American agriculture for at least a year. Suspects Are Held.
 West Point, Neb., Jan. 27.—Two suspects are being held in the jail here in connection with the robbery of William Green's barber shop, which was entered by thieves Sunday afternoon or night, resulting in a loss of $50 and some insurance policies. The "bluff" was taken from the vault which was entered by persons who knew the combination. Two small boys told the police that they saw two men in the shop Sunday afternoon.
 No clew was left by the thieves. Just how the robbers made their entrance to the building has not been ascertained. Police authorities believe that the robbery was staged by parties well acquainted with employees of the shop. They also believe that the thieves entered the building by using a key to unlock the door.

The vault was opened by persons who knew the combination, because no marks of the lock being hammered or damaged could be found, the police said.

John Peterson.

John Peterson died at his home two and one-half miles southwest of Concord, Sunday, January 26, 1925. He was born in Ostergottland, Sweden, September 12, 1849, and at the time of his death he had lived 75 years, 4 months and 8 days. He came to this country in 1876 and was united in marriage to Johanna Johansson, July 22, 1882, at Bishop Hill, Illinois. His son, Arvid, was born to this union. They lived at Bishop-Hill thirteen years, then moved to Nebraska twenty-five years ago.

He passed away after a lingering illness of nearly two years. He had been a member of the Methodist church the last thirteen years and has gone home to his Savior. He leaves his kind and loving wife and seven children, to mourn his death. He also leaves one sister, now living in Galva, Illinois, and other relatives and a host of friends. Funeral services were conducted at the home Wednesday at 1 o'clock and at the Lutheran church at 2 o'clock by Rev. P. Pearson. Interment was made in the Concord cemetery.

PIRATES AS BOLD AS KIDD'S MEN OF OLD HAMPERING COAST TRADE

A SCHOONER, yawning crazily back and forth, sails thumping and slapping in the breeze, is sighted by a coast guard cutter off the Florida Keys.

Cutter pulls alongside, "How boards the apparently abandoned craft? How at the helm, decks roll with hoard, twelve dead bodies lying in the scupper!"

Piracy is once more flourishing on the Atlantic seaboard? The foregoing is no figment of the imagination. It is an actual happening reported by coast guard officials. Piracy, they say, has never been entirely stamped out. It has continued in greater or less degree since the days of Kidd and Morgan.

Of late however, it has greatly increased, stimulated by the fact that such a large part of the coast coast-guard strength is concentrated on "Rim Row."

HIJACKERS

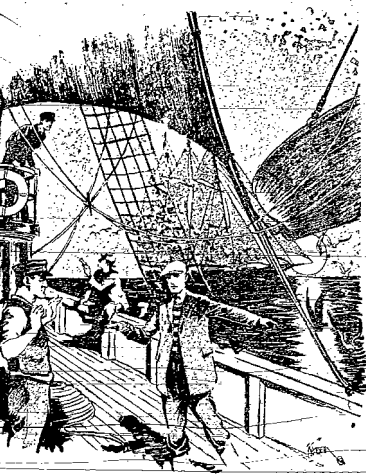

Hijacking has been another alarming. A kind of thug life out of a smuggling motor boat, lies in wait for an expert run runner, captures her, takes off her stock of fireworks, then feels like Alexander the Great, signing for new worlds to conquer.

After looting with the loot with a coastwise trading ship is sucked in the offing.

Coast-guard captures the recent capture. The rum ship was sighted—why not the trader? Easy tag, and the actor is made.

But their own stronghold—even us in Morgan's days—in southern waters. They lie in wait in the coves and inlets of the Florida Keys, the Tortugas and Bahamas, snatching down on ships in the coastwise, Cuban and South American trade.

Their craft are fast motor boats, carrying from ten to twenty desperate men—mostly of foreign extraction, the dregs of southern Europe.

THE CREW IS EASILY DISPOSED OF

And the hijackers have become real pirates for fear!

CAPTURE TWO BARGES

The pirates work up and down the Atlantic seaboard. They loot New England and New Foundland fisheries. One of their latest exploits was the capture of two coal barges in New York harbor.

Mrs. Ritey Hillier has gone to Home, Ohio, to visit relatives. Mr. Hillier went last week. They will spend a couple of weeks with relatives and return together.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Bruce Wylie had as dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baird and family of Brenna, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith and Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Keckler.

The Royal Neighbor lodge will miss a faithful member of twenty years standing when Mrs. Henry Smith leaves for her new home in Keota, Iowa, where she and Mr. Smith will move next month.

The rain and sleet storm of Sunday night was very destructive to telephone wires. We saw the telephone many times a day and fail to appreciate its value until in calling, central tells us "the line is out."

Last week Wednesday Dr. C. O. Ring started for Burke, South Dakota, in an automobile, but getting a little farther north than Kandakee abandoned the trip on account of bad roads and returned Monday. He left for Burke this time by train. Dr. Ring is looking for a location. Mrs. Ring and children are with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Tangeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brockman, living four miles north of town, were given a farewell party Saturday night by their neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. Brockman have lived on this farm twenty-six years and about February last will move to town where a residence recently owned by Henry Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Brockman will be missed in the old neighborhood, but just as welcome in the new circles. About fifty of their neighbors went to their home Saturday night and stayed until the late hours for cards and dancing. Music was furnished by the Brugger orchestra. The guests brought lunch baskets from which a bounteous luncheon was served.

Gus Anderson who has been visiting his nieces, Mrs. Thorwald Jacobson and Mrs. Jim Christensen, returned Saturday to his home in Wayne.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Moses had as dinner guests Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Perry Broad, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lewis and daughter Ethel and Dorothy and Mrs. Mary Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruce Wylie who live two miles north and two miles west of town, entertained Saturday evening. About fifty guests were present to enjoy an evening at cards and dancing. Music was furnished by James and Martin Jensen and Albert Lambrecht. Luncheon was served at the Modern Woodman lodge met Thursday night for their regular business meeting. Lauritz Hanson was initiated into the order. After the business meeting the association held a social hour. Luncheon was served by Fred Miller, Wenzel Jensen and Kent Jackson. The next meeting will be held Feb. 4.

On Sunday, January 25, at Winnet, South Dakota, took place the marriage of Miss Maryann Lockman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodman, formerly of Winside, to Otto Hansen, the youngest son of Mrs. Meta Hanson. The young couple have both lived in Winside. They are both friends to their neighbors.

We stated last week that Miss Gertrude Bayes would sponsor a library play February 1. Later learning that this date would conflict with "The Covered Wagon" to be given at the movies, Miss Bayes changed her date to Tuesday, February 3. It is the plan of the library board, so far as possible, not to conflict with any organization.

Members of the Royal Neighbor lodge met Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Gertrude Bayes and went to surprise Mrs. Henry Smith at her home. Progressive concert was played and only for the thoughts of Mrs. Smith moving away, a pleasant evening was spent. Mrs. Smith has been a member of this lodge for twenty years and will be greatly missed. Ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. J. A. Linton, formerly of Winside, now of Lincoln, fell on an icy sidewalk last week and received a sprained wrist and minor injuries. She writes that she was confined for two or three days and said "that was when I missed my good Winside friends". Her daughter, Miss Mary Clayton, who is taking training at the orthopedic hospital, has passed the last semester examinations with exceptionally good grading.

A full house attended the library play Monday night at the auditorium and about $75 was added to the building fund. The majority of the money in this entertaining concert was given to the public that we men and it proved to the public that we have some very talented men in our town but until Monday evening we had the most them in the town. talents hidden under the plea of "too busy." The play was a success in every way and the library board will think both the actors and the audience.

Fifty-three members of the M. E. church and congregation were present last Wednesday at a noon dinner given in the church basement in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith who leave soon for their new home in Keota, Iowa. The long tables were set and a two-course dinner was served. The afternoon was spent socially. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been, for several years, active church members and their organization in town will miss them more than will the church and its auxiliaries.

The Rebekah lodge met Friday night and initiated into the order Mr. and Mrs. Peter Iversen. Miss Irene Iversen, Miss Helen Jensen and Mrs. Iversen. After the regular business, a farewell party was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith who will leave soon for their new home in Keota, Iowa, and Mrs. Smith have been members of this order for several years and will be greatly missed as they have been faithful in attendance and active in its work and social affairs. A supper was served complimentary to both Mr. and Mrs. Smith and to the next initiated members.

The Grotic club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. E. Gornley. Ten members responded in roll call, naming favorites for 1925. Mrs. V. L. Siman read a paper on "Reading and Music in the home." Mrs. Jesse Witt read a short story. Guests beside club members were: Mrs. G. A. Mittelstadt, Mrs. R. H. Morrow, Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs. Frank Wilson and Miss Gertrude Bayes. The hostesses served a delicious luncheon. The next meeting

Celebrates Silver Wedding.

Thirty-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jensen surprised them Sunday at their home five miles northwest of town and all joined in making merry on the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the surprised host and hostess. An elaborate wedding dinner, brought by the guests, was served at noon, and later Mr. and Mrs. Jensen were showered with gifts of silver. The jolly part of the afternoon was the mock wedding staged by Miss Johanna Jensen as bride, Chris Jensen as bridegroom, Peter Jensen as minister, Ivo Iversen and Margaret Peterson as the bride's attendants, John Jensen and Howard Iversen as the bridegroom's attendants, and Albert Christensen as ring bearer. The remainder of the afternoon was spent socially. Luncheon was served before the guests departed.

Legal Notice of Foreclosure of Faving Assessments.

To Jeannette A. Payne and Oliver Payne, sole and only heirs of Walter S. Payne, deceased.

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 10th day of January, 1924, the city of Wayne, in the State of Nebraska, as plaintiff, filed its petition and commenced an action in the district court of Wayne county, Nebraska, against you the said Jeannette A. Payne and Oliver Payne, as defendants, the object and prayer of which is to foreclose certain special assessments which were assessed and levied by said city of Wayne, Nebraska, on or about December 6, 1921, upon the following described real estate situated in and having district No. 4 in the city of Wayne, in the county of Wayne, and state of Nebraska, to-wit: Lots two (2) and three (3), in block two (2), and the north half of lot two (2) in block six (6), all in Britton and Bressler's addition to the city of Wayne, for benefits to said real estate by reason of being of streets in said paving district.

amount-of said assessment now due and delinquent upon said lot three (3) in block two (2) is the sum of $1,007.08 and the total amount of said assessment now due and delinquent upon the said north half of lot two (2) in block six (6) is the sum of $937.11, together with interest on each of said amounts at 12 per cent per annum from January 8, 1925, and plaintiff prays that the defendant be required to pay such amounts now due and delinquent and that in default of such payment said premises may be sold to satisfy the amount found due plaintiff.

You are required to answer said petition on or before the 23rd day of February, 1925.

The City of Wayne, Nebraska, Plaintiff. By Fred S. Berry, its attorney $1544

How do I know what direction they went in? They started east when they left us; that's all I know. I want action—understand? I'll pay any reward, and any expense that may be necessary, but I want action. I'm going to find out whether a taxpayer in this county has any protection against highwaymen. All right. You're getting on the job at once; is that it? ... Yes, I'll be here for some time. I'll expect to hear from you without much delay. Your name is Wells, is it? ... All right. The Wreck, who was pouring coffee for Chester, spilled some into the saucer, but recovered himself. So the sheriff's name was Wells. Jerome Underwood came back into the dining room, wearing the expression of a man who has achieved a great success.

Now Go on With the Story.
"Yes, this is Underwood. Got him, have you?"
"That the sheriff? Great. Scott! You're a hard man to get. ... Never mind. This is Underwood, get me? What? Yes, that's right. Off in the northeast corner of the county. Now listen:

"I was held up last night in my car. About thirty miles from the ranch, he should say. West of it, on the main road; there's only one road. We didn't come here direct; drove around by way of Dunce. The road's better. Had my son and daughter with me, and a driver. Are you getting this? ... Yes, found Blackie on the road with his own car and hold us up. We never had a chance. Took watches, valuables, money. What? ... Took everything we had that was worth carrying of. Stole all the gasoline out of our tank and left us flat on the road. Let the air out of our tires with a knife. How's that? ... How do you think I'm going to describe it? It was pitch dark. They had handkerchiefs over their faces. I'm not supposed to furnish a set of Bertillon measurements, am I? You didn't expect me to take finger prints, did you, with a gun stuck under my nose? You're what? ... There was an inarticulate rattle from the living room, then a booming of the heavy voice.

HENRY WILLIAMS: HE WASN'T TALKING TO ME

the idea that it was a tea party, do you? When I've got a hand I play it to the limit. I don't want him loafing on the job. He knows who I am. If he doesn't, it won't take him long to find out."
He made another dive at the omeslette.
"Says he'll get a posse on the road at once. Well, he'd better. A posse. What they need out here is a few New York policemen."

The Wreck, seeing no immediate need of his services, disappeared through the pantry in the direction of the kitchen. He had a queer look; as much a look of triumph as anything that he had ever worn.
Sally jumped up from a chair by the window and shot a glance of inquiry at him.
"What are my spectacles?" he demanded. "My eyes hurt."
She found then and the Wreck began to look like himself again.
"I made me tell me everything," she ordered.

"He's been at the telephone, raising the county against four desperadoes," said the Wreck. "He's made a regular yard of it by this time. I guess they'll hang us for sure, Sally."
"They'd better wait till they catch us."

The Wreck contemplated her for a few seconds. He wondered just how she was going to take the news.
"That's the good part," he tried to say. "He pulled all the old stuff about influence, and how much taxes he pays, and all the New York dope. He made me thank God I came from Pittsburg."
"Could you get any idea of what's being done about it?" asked Sally, with the practical aspects apparent in her thoughts.
"Oh, there's a posse getting on the job," said the Wreck, wearily.
"A posse?" asked Sally, frowning.
"Yes; I'd imagine that. Who did he have on the phone?"

"He was talking to the sheriff."
"The sheriff? Uh-huh. Well, that means—"
Sally stopped and stared at the Wreck. Something had startled her.
"What county are you in?" she demanded.
He shrugged. He never tried to keep track of counties and he did not know. But she read something on his eyes that caused her to cluck at his arm.
"Henry Williams! He wasn't talking to me."
"Yes, he was. That's exactly who he was talking to."
She walked back to the chair by the window and sat down. Suddenly her face had a minute the Wreck was unable to figure just what sort of reaction she was having. It seemed to him that every possible emotion flashed into her face, one succeeding the other so rapidly that all was a confused blur. And then, with her head tossed back and her eyes wide with excitement, she began to laugh.

"Oh," she gasped, "Oh, Henry, did you ever hear of such a joke? Bob Wells. Bob—out with a posse—to catch me!"
"I'll admit it's a joke," said the Wreck, cheerfully.
"Why, it's a perfect scream! I might have known you were in the same county; it's so terribly big. But I never even thought about it. And now he's got the sheriff—Bob Wells."
She passed into another spasm of laughter, while the Wreck watched. Any time they wanted to laugh about Bob Wells the Wreck was a willing listener.

"I'll start out for a trousseau, and I get turned into a hold-up man, and I'm chased—by Bob Wells."
"It's great," he affirmed, solemnly.
"Then he says that mother change was coming. She was getting control of herself and the laughter was fading. There was a questioning look in her eyes, a chewing of her under lip.

"Hi. It's rather embarrassing at that," she said slowly. "I don't know that it's so funny, after all. It complicates things. Bob Wells is an awful good sheriff. When he goes after people, he's a perfect blood-hound. He got a murderer last year that nobody ever dreamed he could get. And if he should ever find us—"
She broke off and plunged into another period of reflection. Presently she was frowning, and the Wreck saw that she was clenching her fists.

"Henry Williams," she said, standing up and turning toward the door. "I don't like it one bit. Bob Wells hasn't got any business to be chasing me."
The Wreck had never been able to make anything out of women, and now he knew that he never would.

CHAPTER X. The Wreck Fights.

Sally did not get her emotions sorted out and classified in an orderly manner for the rest of the day. They insisted on mixing themselves up; they refused to stay where she tried to put them. Ordinarily she was of a temperamental disposition, obedient to her will, except, of course, when the Wreck charged into it like a frisky steer. Even on those occasions her departure from a normal calm was brief and largely superficial. But the news that Sheriff Bob Wells was going out with a posse upset her poise, it struck deeper, and it did not help her in so many different ways that she seemed to be spinning like a weather vane in a whirlwind.

She laughed, she was angry, she was incredulous, she was alarmed—all these and other moods took possession of her, one giving way to another, only to come back and repeat itself after a while, so that the final result was to leave her in a very uncertain state of mind.

It did not help her that the Wreck seemed to be singularly unmoved by the news. He treated it as if it were a matter of small consequence. But Sally was not in the habit of steering herself by leaning on Henry Williams; she could only account for his calmness by attributing it to a failure to realize the situation. He did not know what it meant to have a Montana sheriff and a posse hard on his heels, but Sally did.

Even at that, she did not believe they would be caught. Surely she told herself, there would be a way out of things. It was not pursuit and possible capture that satisfied her; she awakened every absurdly conflicting emotion that lay within her; it was the fact that Bob Wells was the instrument that satisfied her. It jarred her in a most illogical but effective fashion. Any other sheriff might do his duty without protest from Sally, but Bob Wells—why did he go and run for sheriff anyhow? He had plenty of other things to keep him busy. If he had not hustled around and got himself elected sheriff, he could have ridden over to the railroad with her and she would have been on the train long ago. It was a fool track for him to get into politics, thought Sally.
