

Wayne High Team Wins Two Debates

Debat Bancroft and Waterbury Here in Hot Wordy and Dramatic Decisions.

Declamation Meet

Five Towns Compete in District Elimination—Plan Carnival and Junior Play.

Wayne high school defeated Bancroft in a warmly contested debate onResolved, that the United States should ratify the League of Nations. Tuesday evening at the local school auditorium, the judges' decision being unanimous for the Wayne team. Bancroft was represented by William Johnson and William Johnson, while Wayne was represented by Supt. R. H. White of Winslow. The Bancroft team consisted of Albert Miller, Glen Felix and Hyle Burke. They were accompanied here by Supt. Br. As far as can be ascertained the debate Tuesday was the last for this season.

The local high school met Waterbury in debate here Friday evening and received unanimous decision. Wayne had the advantage in the question and the student debating were the same ones who took part Tuesday. Judges were Supt. E. A. Chapman of Wakefield, Supt. E. W. Andrews of Emerson, Supt. Joe Andrews of Randolph.

Wayne has met six high schools in debate this year and has lost only one. At Lincoln, the contest was won. At Ponca, defeats Hartington and Tekamah defeats Ponca. Wayne will still be in line for the championship of the district and chances for this to happen are promising. Supt. Conrad Jacobson and students are to be congratulated on the good work for Wayne.

Declamation Contest.
The sub-district elimination contest in declamation will be held April 2 at Lincoln, Nebraska. The contest will be held at the home of one of the six elimination contests of the district and the winners of these will come to Lincoln to determine the district contest. Wausa, Wakefield, Winslow, Sholes and Wayne will be represented at Wayne next week. Genovese and students are to be congratulated on the good work for Wayne.

The eighth grade enjoyed a party Saturday evening at the school building. Miss Molly Vlasnik, sponsor of the party and five other teachers were also present.

To Hold Carnival.
The Wayne high school desires to call the attention of the public to the carnival to be held at the school building Friday evening, April 3. Many attractions have already been arranged, including a most interesting selection of frolics from Mrs. Borneo, sleight of hand artists, red-ribbon-boxers and wrestlers; a white elephant from India, palmists and fortune tellers; a performance by the Wrangling Brothers' complete menagerie. Parents are invited to bring children who will be benefited by the good features of the fair such as the exhibit of rare birds and animals, the trip around the world and other attractions. Fair visitors should be seated at the carnival. The Wayne News to be published April 1 will contain further particulars.

Birth Record.

Dies on Monday at Home of Daughter

Mrs. Bertha Nachtigall died March 23 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Claud Ellen in Martin, S. D., and the funeral service was conducted Wednesday afternoon at the home of another daughter, Mrs. John Glantz of Winslow. Rev. L. R. Keckler of the Winslow Methodist church officiated and interment was made at Winslow.

Mrs. Nachtigall's maiden name was Dorothea Stoll and she was born August 1, 1856. She came to this country, locating at Davenport, Iowa. The family moved to Winslow in 1912. Her children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Nachtigall, eight children have passed away.

Mrs. Nachtigall died at the age of 68 years and 3 months. The two surviving children are Mrs. Claud Ellen of Martin, S. D., and Mrs. John Glantz of Winslow.

In the Legislature.
Lincoln, Neb., March 24.—State banks may pay not more than 4 per cent. interest on deposits until July 1, under a senate bill passed by the house today, 62 to 27.

In special instances where permission is granted from the state commissioner of trade and commerce, a higher rate may be paid, this exception being allowed to permit state banks to pay interest on deposits on time deposits.

The house also passed a separate bill making potato inspection optional instead of mandatory and placing the fine for fee at $4. The vote was 81 to 20 against the measure.

Pioneer Woman Expires.
Allen, Neb., March 24.—Funeral services were held here for Mrs. Anna Harper, 77, who was a pioneer of Nebraska. With her husband and two children, she came here from Wisconsin in a covered wagon in 1871 and took up her abode at the Sibley place near here. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harry Hemstreet of Allen, and five grandchildren: Margaret, Charles, and Harvey Harper of Allen, Paul Harper of Sibley, S. D., and Donald Hemstreet of Allen. Among those attending the services, which were held from the Methodist church here, were a large number of old settlers. Interment was made in Spring Creek cemetery.

Chicken Thieves Return.
Harrington, Neb., March 24.—Chicken thieves who were arrested here have visited the yards of Frank Carlson, manager of the Great Northern Mills here, and carried away a number of his chickens. The chickens were taken at night and lifted from the roost about 42 Plymouth Rocks.

The stolen chickens were valued at over $50. The flock was marked and dealers in the nearby towns have been notified to be on the watch for them.

Win Tuttle at 1120.
Randolph, Neb., March 24.—John Castiel, of this place, who will be the oratorical contest at the Nebraska Watermen's convention here, was notified, valued at $120, for one year at that institution.

Residence Sold Was Moved from LaPorte

Home of Mrs. Hannah M. Crawford is One of Few Survivors Brought to Wayne in 1882.

The residence which has been the home of Mrs. Hannah M. Crawford in Wayne for almost a half century, was sold Wednesday to W. C. Martin. The house was built in LaPorte where the Crawford family first lived and it was moved to Wayne in 1882. About one dozen homes were moved here at that time and Mrs. Crawford's was one of the largest. The original house moved here has been built onto it from the north so that there are now seven rooms.

Crawford plans to go to Sioux City April 8 to visit her granddaughter, Mrs. Paul Warner. She will probably visit her sister in Glendive, Minn. She has been thinking of selling all of her furniture so that she may make her home with her grandchildren.

Mrs. Martin will either tear down the Crawford home and build another residence in its place or he will remodel the structure.

LaPorte was the county seat of Wayne county in 1882. It was a thriving little town. The court house and a number of residences were built there. A company decided to put in a street car line and a wide and finished the grade for a narrow gauge road. Another company had the work bought and they decided to change to a wide gauge road which did not pass through LaPorte. After the railroad was built the town of LaPorte was abandoned and the new location for the county seat was created and it was decided to move the town to Wayne. It was at this time that some of the homes were brought to Wayne. Some of them have been torn down, some have been remodeled and some still stand about as they were. Mrs. Crawford's home is one of these twelve.

Accession Books At Wayne Library

"Across Three Oceans" by Annie Louise Miller of the staff of the Lincoln school, is a most interesting description of the author's travels abroad and is a new book at the Wayne city library.

The "Instructor's Book For" selected by readers of the Normal Instructor and Primary Plans, is helpful in two volumes and contains many helpful suggestions for teachers at the lower grades.

Two new books that are interesting and educational are "When They Grow Up" by the Normal Instructor and "Girls." The former, written by Carroll Everett and Charles Reed and edited by Helen and Mary Owen, tells of the early lives of the great men of the country. The other, written by Rebecca Dimes Moore and edited by Helen Owen, tells of the girlhood of America's well known women.

The "Instructor School Library" for grades one and two has been received at the library. This contains twenty-five pamphlets for young readers and is a most interesting and valuable series. The other series, written by Rebecca Dimes Moore and edited by Helen Owen, tells of the girlhood of America's well known women.

Escapes Injuries In Auto Accident

W. E. Beaman was fortunate to escape injuries Friday evening when the sedan he was driving in Norfolk collided with a roadster parked on South Fourth street. Mr. Beaman's car was turned completely over and was headed in the direction from which the wreckage was being crawled from the wreckage without a scratch. All the glass in the sedan was broken, three wheels were damaged, fenders and other parts of the car were bent and broken and some of Mr. Beaman's traveling equipment was damaged.

Lights from an approaching car blinded Mr. Beaman and he did not notice the roadster belonging to Russell Pielogek and parked in front of the A. R. Williams home. Mr. Beaman drove to the right side of the road to avoid the bright lights of the car he was meeting and the collision without lights. The roadster was parked without lights. The roadster was broken and the body of the car was slightly damaged.

Secure Increase in State Normal Funds

Lincoln, Neb., March 24.—Without a record vote the Nebraska senate today advanced to third reading the $26,000,000 general appropriation bill. The bill must still appropriate the final amount of $30,000,000 back to the house for concurrence in senate amendments.

Senator Crawford, who with Senator Wood introduced the bill yesterday, proposed that the $24,000 figure for new buildings be increased to $30,000. The senate, on a 14 to 17 vote, turned the amendment down.

Raised to $300,000. The fiscal committee of the normals was considered before when Senator Wood urged that the appropriation be raised to $300,000 and this was adopted.

Members had expected an attempt would be made to increase the $750,000 appropriation as building fund for the normals. This was not pushed.

Senator Chambers narrowly failed in a fight to reduce from $100,000 to $15,000 the appropriation for the electric lighting plant at the state penitentiary.

Supporting his argument, Chambers stated that the normal school department at the state university. To fund a plant sufficient to light the normal campus and the state university of Nebraska, this was not pushed.

Road Improvements Discussed by Board

At a meeting of the county commissioners Tuesday, nothing of importance was discussed in the way of laying of bills. Road improvements were discussed informally, and it was reported by Commissioner Otto Miller that the county board had agreed to an impassable stretch of road near W. O. Milliken's farm was put in shape for travel this week. Also it was reported that Commissioner Henry Retzsch that he would do his best to put the Wayne-Corral highway in good condition. One part of the road was in a very bad state of late, due to heavy snow and unfavorable drainage.

Commissioner Retzsch and Miller expressed themselves in favor of the county sharing equally with the state in the distribution of the proposed gasoline tax money, though the county would not be getting a cent of getting a cent of the federal money available for road building in the state. They seemed to appreciate the advantages accruing to counties in the proposed plan, giving a county an increased share of the automobile tax money.

School Presents Cantata Thursday

The comic cantata, "Love Pirates of Hawaii," presented last Thursday evening at the Community house by students of the Wayne high school under the direction of Miss Ruth Doudna, brought in a sum of about $100. The amount left after expenses are paid will be used for the school activities fund.

In the story Dorothy, an American girl, is in a seminary in Honolulu in charge of Miss Primer. Lieutenant Billy Dorothy is in command of a ship which has just come to Hawaii. Billy writes that he is coming as a professor. Later he changes his mind and decides to come as a pirate. The second letter falls into the hands of Miss Primer. Real pirates come along and Miss Primer captures them, thinking they are Billy and his friends. She has them serve as cooks and later Billy comes and the "cooks" capture him. Dorothy frees Billy who goes for aid and the real pirates are captured. Chorus of Hawaiian girls and pirates assist the principals.

The cast of characters was as follows: Dorothy, Esther Mae Ingham; Miss Primer, Miriam Johnson; Hawaiian girls, Marie Sund, Viola Kopp, Josephine Barnett and Frances Craig; Billy, Ralph Gansky; pirate chief, Burr Davis; and Scary, a pirate, Bernard Pollard. The chorus of Hawaiian girls included: Anna Beth Browning, Evelyn Fisher, Ruth Gamble, Bernice Hansen, Effie Hansen, Miriam Huse, Mamie Isom, Natalie Johnson, Doris Tjaden, Kathrine Kemp, Florence Killion, Marlene Larson, Marcella Lindberg, Mable Linn, Alma Maxtin, Bernice McMurphy, Maxine Rhodes, Mable Stamm, Frieda Sund.

The pirate chorus was comprised of: Philip Barlow, Waldon Feiber, Harry Fisher, Henry Gulliver, George Hershower, George Jones, Clarence Kay, Carl Nuss, Bernard Pollard, Henry Reynolds, Henry Schmidt, Maurice Wright.

The orchestra played the accompaniment during the production. In this were: Una Schrupp, piano; Elvera Malloy and Myron Brockway, violins; Gerald Dennis, trombone; Wayne Carpenter, clarinet; Kathryn Lou Davis, saxophone; and Paul Peterson, cornet.

Miss Ruth Doudna directed the cantata and the orchestra and she and the students deserve much credit for the success of the production.

Weldon Crossland Speaks at Banquets

Rev. Weldon Crossland, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Crossland of Wayne, was one of the speakers at two banquets held recently, one in Pontiac and the other in Holly, Mich. Rev. Crossland is pastor of the Central Methodist church of Pontiac.

The banquet in Pontiac Feb. 17 was the thirty-sixth annual gathering of the Lincoln-Republican club and was attended by 600 who paid tribute to Lincoln and the fundamental principles of his party. Rev. Crossland spoke on "Lincoln, an Intensely Human Person." He stated that the average American thinks of Lincoln in terms of the extreme, but he feels that Lincoln should be brought in touch with men's lives. Four flashlights Mr. Crossland gave of Lincoln—the man—should be remembered were "Laughter, labor, loyalty and love."

The Holly banquet was the first annual Lincoln day program held Feb. 12 at the Holly Methodist church. The outstanding feature of the evening was the address by Rev. Weldon Crossland. His topic was "Why is a Church?" Rev. Crossland told of a questionnaire he recently conducted. He sent inquiries to a large number of people—half church-going and half non-church-going and asked their opinions of the church. Not one reply was hostile to the church.

Eleven Illiterates in County.
Harrington, Neb., March 19.—As a result of a thorough investigation by a committee appointed by officers of the state illiteracy commission, it was found that there are only 11 illiterates in Cedar county, seven of whom are feeble minded people.

The investigation was started by the state officials when the number of illiterates with which the state was charged by the census bureau at Washington, seemed excessive and the educators desired to devise some plan whereby the illiterates might be educated and the number reduced.

When the Cedar county committee with the co-operation of school teachers and the school boards, found only 11 illiterates in the county, whereas the census record at Washington showed 61 illiterates in the county, the committee sent to the census department at Washington for the list there and it was discovered that this list contained some high school graduates, a number of people who could not write and speak in two languages and one who could read, write and speak in three languages.

Eleven Illiterates

The NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The "Nervous Wreck," an eccentric young eccentric, is driving Sally Morgan from her father's ranch to the station when they run out of gasoline. At the point of a gun the Wreck takes five gallons from a pass-in-car.

Later Charlie McSween, foreman of a ranch along the route, hides the Wreck's car and forces Sally to act as cook. Then they discover that Mr. Underwood, the owner of the ranch, was in the car which they held up.

Back West, the Wreck and Sally unwittingly searching the countryside for the "bandits" who held up Underwood. Chester Underwood, son of the owner of the ranch, but in secret asks the Wreck for an explanation. The Wreck is telling the story of the hold-up.

Now Go On with the Story.

"Suppose," continued the Wreck, as he glared through his spectacles, "that you happened to be stranded with your wife out in the middle of a county that's so big there isn't any sense to it. Suppose you didn't have a drop of gas. Suppose somebody came along who had plenty of gas and you offered in a decent manner to pay for a few gallons if they'd let you have it. And suppose a big hog set back in his seat ranch, but you laugh and told you to get busy and push your car out of his way, so he could drive on. And suppose you've a hunch that gas was there until God knows when. He'll!"

"His voice had shrilled itself to an edge and he was making gestures with both arms."

"All right, I'm supposed," said Charlie.

"Well, what would you do?"

"Hypothetical, you mean?"

"Supposing any way you like," barked the Wreck.

Charlie rubbed his chin and appeared to consider the problem.

"I reckon," he drawled, "I'd try to get me some gas."

The Wreck waved an arm to indicate that all doubts were resolved.

"That's all there was to it," he said.

"Mind, now," said Charlie, cautiously, "I'm not sayin' that I'd feel drove to commit'n unlawful acts. Gettin' gasoline, you might say, is meakin' on of the man of the law."

"I reckon and I reckon it can be justified by powerful arguments. But when it comes to takin' people's watches and jewelry and such, that's different."

"They led" interrupted the Wreck.

"I'm only repeatin' what was told the sheriff."

"I say they lied."

"I guess we're showin' all hands on the call," mused Charlie.

"I'm not sayin' that," said the Wreck, sliding off the table.

"I can stop it in three minutes."

He was headed for the door when Sally detained him with her firm hand.

"Henry, are you crazy?"

"I'm sore."

"You stay right here. I don't care where you're here and stay. You're not going near Mr. Underwood."

"Why doesn't he stick to the truth, then?"

"I haven't the least idea. I don't particularly care. But you keep away from him."

The Wreck shook himself loose from his grip and went back to the table. Charlie McSween nodded his approval.

"These ain't any occasion to get your grip on me. You might go up there and tell him he's a liar and bust him in the eye. But that wouldn't be no compensation for sittin' in jail over at the county jail, waitin' for 'em to give you the rest of your natural life."

"I'm not going to stay here for the rest of my natural life," growled the Wreck.

"There ain't any need."

"How long are you figurin' on?"

"I figure I'm going to red you and Mis' Williams so long as the boss and his family are here."

"How long is that?"

Charlie seemed to be calculating.

"Not more'n a month, it ain't likely."

Sally gasped.

"A month?" she cried. "Why we won't dream of it."

"I'm sure sorry, ma'am. But he 'most always stays a month."

"He's stayed longer now than we had any business to."

"We're all creatures in the guidin' hands of Providence," observed Charlie. "A month ain't much in the lives of young folks."

Sally was showing plain signals of alarm. She fell to clasping and unclasping her hands and moistening her lips, while her eyes blinked with bewilderment and consternation. Finally she began walking to and fro.

"I won't do it," she exclaimed. "A month!" Not another day, if I can help it. You haven't any business to man of this God-fearin' establishment is going to be buried along with them great th' wreckin' job. He's the comin' down, just the same. I ain't bankerin' for ruin, but on the subject of cooks I'm a desperate man."

CHAPTER XVI Find the Wheel.

The breaking noise had come, and Sally and the Wreck both admitted it. They spent all forenoon planning the getaway. Charlie McSween committed an error in applied psychology when he mentioned the probability of a month at the Underwood ranch. To the Wreck, who was merely wretched for his nerves, it might have been no great matter, although he did not fancy his environment. But to Sally it was a prospect of unutterable dismay, and the Wreck was there to serve her. She should have been in Chicago before this. Mis Morgan ought to be getting the first letters.

In the absence of news, there would soon be panic at the Bar-M. Dad Morgan would be rousing the county, or starting for Chicago, or gunning for the Wreck, or doing something else desperate and foolish.

But there was a fiver wheel to be found, and neither of them had even encountered a clue. They devoted part of the morning to searching for it, and tried to be systematic about it. Sally took the house, which she ransacked from top to bottom, while the Wreck gave his time to a close inspection of all the outbuildings and such other possible hiding places as suggested themselves to him. Both shook their heads when they met to report.

Market Report

Furnished by Swanson, Gilmore & Walsh, Sioux City Stock Yard.

March 25—While it is true that the market during the first three days of last week, dates have increased—the liquidation, the bulge has by no means been generous enough to make the season's work. The market during the first half of the week showed a shrinkage in the movement to the eleven leading markets and a rise over 100,000 head, as compared to the runs of the corresponding period a year ago. However, as compared to the delivery of the first three days of last week, the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday movement of this week ran approximately 25,000 head heavier.

As the hard struggle packers are making to retard porker prices, with only mediocre success, has had a tendency to bring more live pork to market. The market in this condition can only be taken into consideration to a minor degree for hogs are in strong hands, as is indicated by the fact that fewer stocky sows are arriving at the market centers right now, as compared to the immediate past and previous years as well.

Prof. Erwin Larson and his mother, Mrs. John Larson, drove to Lincoln Tuesday on business and returned the same day.
Catholic ladies will hold a food sale at the Central Meat market and at a bazaar at the Craven Hardware Saturday, April 4, 1925.
John Elvevraich has been re-elected superintendent of the Newcastle school for the fourth year and will accept the position.
Mrs. M. T. Woodruff who had spent the winter with her daughter in Winter, S. D., came Tuesday afternoon to visit her brothers, C. E. Gildersleeve, W. H. Gildersleeve, L. C. Gildersleeve, A. E. Gildersleeve and J. Gildersleeve.
Coach and Mrs. F. G. Dale and son drove to Hartington Sunday to visit Mr. Dale's parents. Miss Nelle Dale,

The shortest and most convincing way to show how rapidly the national hog receipts are falling off is to state that Sioux City is the only leading market in the country showing larger receipts for the year to date, than for the same period last year.

Conservative marketing noticeable quality improvement and somewhat improved demands, were factors contributing to a better fat cattle market this week. The market worked into a more active condition, especially higher the first half of the period on really superior kinds, while in previous styles received about 50 per cent less. But generally buyers have been reluctant to absorb the heavies with anything like the same zest shown for lightweight steers.

Cows and heifers received about the same price advance and the same quality discrimination as fat steers during the first half of the week, but another 50 cents. Top veals are now stopping at $9.50. Bulls are holding up well with eastern order buyers displaying continuous and strong demands.

Stockers and feeders are receiving gradually heavier call at the spring trade round out, but the already lofty position of the market as practically precluded the necessity of further advances. Useful steers, although selling more active, are still moving from $6.50 up, with good kinds from $7.00 to $7.50 and topers to $8.00 and over.

As was suggested last week last staged a recovery this week from last week's slump in the face of contracted receipts. Top lambs at midweek were at $10 and they are just about to figure to $10 again.

You May Need Glasses

Glasses are no longer a hindrance to anyone. Today they are almost a necessity. With the great amount of reading we do, most of it very fine type, we are forced to strain our eyes constantly.

Gradually the eyesight becomes weaker and weaker and then fades. Correct it while you have a chance and have your eyes examined by an expert.

was enjoyed by all. The special numbers were well rendered and the congregation sang heartily.

Sunday morning topic will be "An Ideal Band of Trumpets."

Popular newspaper advertising, there are a good many other things that enter into the remarkable results obtained by Mr. Anderson. Chief among these is his loyalty to his home town. Mr. Anderson believes in Cozad and never loses an opportunity to boost that town. When he needs anything that he does not carry in stock in his own store he buys from his fellow merchants. He doesn't rant and scold because folks send away to the mail order houses—he just sets a good example and meets mail order competition.

From Other Editors

Albion News: While the main credit for the phenomenal success achieved by Fred Anderson, Cozad merchant, is due to newspaper advertising, there are a good many other things that enter into the remarkable results obtained by Mr. Anderson.

Chief among these is his loyalty to his home town. Mr. Anderson believes in Cozad and never loses an opportunity to boost that town. When he needs anything that he does not carry in stock in his own store he buys from his fellow merchants. He doesn't rant and scold because folks send away to the mail order houses—he just sets a good example and meets mail order competition.

Norfolk Press: I have every faith that the world is growing better and better. The boys and girls are all right. They are wholesome, free, independent. The only things I would change for them would be their mental diet. Maggie and Jiggs would have short skirts were it left to me and in their place would be the heroes of early American history, song and story.

Geneva Signal: The Nebraska house has passed Representative Beck's high school tuition bill—which applies only to school districts that do not maintain a high school giving four full years of instruction. It does not affect incorporated towns. It makes the county the unit in payment of non-resident pupils rather than the school district and provides that there shall be levied a tax on all taxable property existing within the assessed value in districts maintaining four-year high schools, three-fourths in districts maintaining three-year high schools, one-half in districts maintaining two-year high schools and one-fourth in districts maintaining one-year high schools.

York Republican: Nebraska papers are steadily showing the result of constructive editorial thinking. Some of them are well written. The excellent comment of their editors. The Republican could name a dozen with editorial departments compare with metropolitan achievements. The Republican will be glad to see the day when every newspaper in Nebraska has an editorial page. When that day arrives the full measure of a professional profession will be expressed and felt. For whatever argument individual editors may advance against this editorial department—lack of time, lack of preparation, lack of editorial ability, fear of offence and consequential loss of business—the fact remains undimmed that the chief function of a newspaper is to inform and educate and a spineless newspaper cannot command influence and power.

The power of the press—a much talked about but unrealized thing—will be developed and attained through editorial utterances that express the convictions of editors who are in earnest and who hold high the purposes of their calling. Sincerity of purpose and courage are requisites to good editorial writing. One need not be a scholar to possess and portray them.

The purpose of an editorial should be to offer constructive thought. Therefore an editorial should never be written with the idea of searching some one out or destroying some thing. If it criticizes, it should also offer a better plan if it cuts, it should also apply a healing lotion.

Under the leadership of the Nebraska Press Association and with the example of certain country newspapers, editorial writing before the newspaper making in Nebraska is continually taking new ground. Better printed newspapers, better written news departments and better editorial comment will give the power and prestige the calling lately possesses. One newspaper editor is proud of the progress already registered.

Trying for a New Record. Minneapolis Journal: The senate will take up the world court matter December 17 next in an effort to beat the late of Pines record of 21 years of discussion.

When a man has an appetite homemade bread will always rise to the occasion.

A new and improved method of transmitting pictures over telephone wires has been developed by American Telephone and Telegraph Company engineers. Recently the pictures sent by telephone were made up of a series of stripes or lines. The above picture of Michael Flandery, world famous electrical wizard, shows the latest process. This picture was sent from New York to San Francisco while engineers were trying out the system by wire service. This service, between New York, Chicago and San Francisco, is open to the public and can be used for sending news photographs, signatures, drawings, signs and finger prints or pictures of originals.

Telling a Story. (Dr. A. L. Birby in Lincoln Journal) Story-telling is an art in which few are proficient. Too many bury the core of the narrative in the haze and maze of irrelevant and immaterial details. They have early majored, as the highbrows say, in tactless employment of circumlocution. They beat about the bush; they dodge the real issue; they approach and then retreat from it, until the listener is so worn and wearied as to have all interest in it. When the climax is reached, if at all, he has forgotten the main facts upon which it is predicated. He has become a nervous wreck.

Woman, 80, Bobs Hair. Coleridge, Neb., March 22.—Mrs. Ross West, 80-year-old civil war veteran's widow, has her hair bobbed and bingled. This is the second time she has had her hair bingled, the other time being when she was married.

Get Back Your Health as Other Wayne Folks Have Done

Too many people suffer lame, aching backs, distressing kidney disorders and rheumatic aches and pains. Often this is due to faulty kidney action and there's danger of hardened arteries, dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease. Don't let weak kidneys wear you out. Use Doan's Pills before it is too late! Doan's are a stimulant direct to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Here is one of many Wayne cases: Mrs. John Selvanus, says: "There was a continual dull, nagging ache across the small of my back which at times made it difficult to bend or lift. I had read of Doan's Pills helping others and was sure they would help me. After using Doan's, I was much better in every way. One box of Doan's Pills was all I needed. I took the trouble in time and I haven't had a sign of backache since." 50c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs. Buffalo, N. Y.

The Bull's Eye. Editor and General Manager WILL ROGERS. $50,000 for a Nose. Another Bull Durham advertisement. Pulls and creases, and tending American. Smoking. Watch for them.

THE AMERICAN CONSTITUTION A LA CARTE. Order Any Amendment You Want. THEY are trying to pass an amendment to keep children from working. Now children didn't want to work, but they got tired waiting for somebody else to do it. If they would just put through an amendment to MAKE grown people all work, there would be no need to have these children one. Grown people stopped working without an Amendment or even a reason, so it will take more than an Amendment to start them. It will take a Miracle. They are going to pass another Prohibition Amendment, somebody mislaid the rules of the other one. The 19th amendment made Women vote, some amendments make us do something and some keep us from it. No. 21 will give men with Kneel Breeches the vote. About the 25th Amendment will prohibit smoking and when they do, Bull Durham will bootleg for a dollar a sack. (I knew I would get that Ad worked in there somewhere.)

Bill Rogers. P. S. I'm going to write some more pieces that will appear in this paper. Keep looking for them. MORE OF EVERYTHING for a lot less money. That's the net of this "Bull" Durham proposition. More flavor—more enjoyment and more money left in the pocket at the end of a week's smoking. TWO BAGS for 15 cents. 100 cigarettes for 15 cents. Those participating were: David Milander, Robert Tietgen, Anna Clark, Everett Robins, Mabel Folliste, Esther Winick and Alice Robinson. The winners were all rendered with much excellence and the decision was difficult to give. Miss Faith Phillips, teacher of the Bloomfield school, acted as judge. Those chosen to represent the school at Wayne were: Everett Robins, oratorical, "The Call to the Good," like many other things in life, including human beings, run from the mediocre to the supreme. Commodities seen on the various markets represent all the grades from shabby and poor to excellent and rich, but the comparison cannot be extended in all cases to affect the persons who consume them. Indeed, some individuals of meager resources have discovered the virtue in goods of quality regardless of the difficulties experienced in paying for them. Cheap goods, meaning commodities of low quality, are not economical for the poor man however much he may be persuaded to pay for them. William Feather, writing in the Philadelphia Public Ledger under the caption, "Business Philosophy," explains the reason for the existence of goods in all the grades from bad to excellent. His explanation is as follows: "People sometimes wonder why more fine work is not produced. The tendency is to place the blame on the producers. Yet it does not belong there. There are few producers who would not like to make finer products, and there are few consumers who would not like to buy finer products. The producers must wait until the consumer can afford to pay. Most producers take part of their profits

Business.
Sioux City Journal: The production and the purchase of marketable goods are two different processes, but most closely related. The one has to do with origin and the other with destiny, or use. It can be seen, easily enough, that a relationship exists between the two economic operations, the creation of goods as wealth and their consumption.

duce the units of heat per dollar of cost and use them to pay the factors in the production of beautiful luxuries.
There is no lack of consumers who want fine things, but there is a lack of consumers who can afford fine things. They want many fine things, but can buy only a few.
The general standard of excellence should advance a few notches each year. We might move forward faster if we would learn to get satisfaction from the ownership of a few fine things rather than many mediocre things."
A business slogan frequently heard, "Best in the Long Run," may be herewith applied in a majority of cases where purchase of necessities and luxuries is concerned. In the purchase of foodstuffs, the cheaper, poorer grades of edibles are not best in the long run, and when prices demanded for better goods are not beyond the householders' resources the better qualities should be bought. First class food makes first class workers. Health comes first of all human desires. Cheap clothing, if not poor in quality, will not wear in proportion to the price as well as goods of higher grade. A $50 suit of clothes easily may give longer service than three suits bought for the same money. Low grade fuel may not produce the units of heat per dollar of cost as will those of higher quality and price. Building materials of inferior quality cannot be put into a house that will last. Fabrics, metals, furniture and furnishings and materials of all kinds that are poor in quality never permit the consumer to get his money's worth.

All of which is not to say that all cheap goods are without economic value. Some goods that may be had at a low figure have quality. It usually is the result of the elimination of elaborate finish and other expensive nonessentials. In a word, plainness need not convey the idea that a commodity is worthless.
A higher standard of goods no doubt would be better as Mr. Feather suggests. That will come only when consumers in moderate circumstances are willing to dispense with imitation luxuries and purchase for quality rather than display. The bargain in value and always a thing to be sought with enthusiasm and discovered with gladness, yet some of the best ones may be found when the goods have not been marked down.
Supt. and Mrs. Conrad Jacobson and son, Miss Carol Engelen and Miss Ethelen Barker drove to Dakota City Saturday to visit until Sunday with Mrs. Jacobson's sister.

GRATITUDE

Dog's Courage on Battlefield Repaid by Master

AND BOLIVAR STOOD GUARD OVER LOVE THAT NIGHT "NO MAN'S LAND."
OUT of the muck of "No Man's Land" on the argonne front of the eight years back, Horace Love lay with his breast riddled by machine gun bullets.
Death was close at hand. Star shells were bursting; shrapnel broke in a succession of "dog's" notes, loud and silent, shutting out the light and the sight from his eyes. The roar of battle seemed dropping back. Then he layed into unconsciousness.
How long Love lay there he never knew, but he was brought back to consciousness some time later by the friendly thrust of a dog's snout against his face and the white of a relationship telling that help was at hand.
BOLIVAR, shaggy and cannot canvas, with the intelligence of a wolf strain showing clear in his police dog makeup, stood guard that night in the hole of death, barking and quaffing—just he and Love, the two living things in that crater of death.
A hunch in the lines brought Bolt to his haunches. He held Love's snout. He held Love's snout. With a mighty lout he burst the chain that held him, and almost boored Love to the German Red Cross.
When Bolivar came back a German surgeon came with him. Life was saved and shortly after a counter attack by the American troops brought the shell hole into the field. Love's shell hole into That, how Bolivar felt into
