Memorial Services to Be Held in Wayne Week from Saturday at Community House

Veterans of Three Wars are in Charge of Program at Which W. S. Gilman Speaks.

Irisin Sears post of the American Legion will, with the G. A. R. and Spanish war veterans, hold the annual Memorial day service at the Wayne Community house on Saturday, May 30, at 11 o'clock in the morning.

The program will open with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and Dr. W. H. Haviland will introduce him. Veterans of the G. A. R., Civil war and Spanish American war will meet at 10:30 and go from there to the Community house together.

The American Legion Auxiliary also will have a program of departed veterans on Memorial day and services at Greenwood cemetery will be conducted over graves of G. A. R. veterans.

HOUSECLEANING.

The summer assault on household dirt is remembered by old-timers as a terrible experience, contrasting sharply with the comparatively easy and pleasant experience of today. It used to be a hard ordeal on all concerned, but now and better methods have been introduced. Chores required for a week or more were moved, carpets were taken up and matted and batticks were removed with fresh straw or corn husks. Households had few conveniences. Rations were short and usually cold until the final triumph and final order had been restored. To-day housecleaning, with modern conveniences and modern facilities, is a snap.

Three-Year-Old Boy Eats Gopher Poison

Little Son of Austin Bressler Dies Almost Instantly From Effect of the Deadly Drug.

About 6 o'clock last evening, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bressler, living twelve miles from Wayne, ate a few dried beans, which were found to contain gopher poison intended for gophers. Dr. J. G. Hess was hurriedly summoned from Wayne and found the child had passed away and was beyond the possibility of help.

The gopher poison was kept in a can of the name Alexco in the family, the child managed to get it, evidently thinking it was candy. The poison was in the shape of pills, which had been scattered and were carelessly eaten and more quickly assimilated by recent rain.

Besides his parents, the child loved his two brothers, Walter Bressler of Wayne is an uncle of the child. Funeral service will be conducted at the home Friday by Rev. B. H. Murten of Wakefield.

Legion Sponsors Endowment Drive

Wayne Makes Plans to Carry Campaign Successfully Over the Top Next Week.

Kiwanians To Help

All to Cooperate to Raise Fund for Disabled Service Men and Needy Orphan.

The American Legion post of Wayne will next week conduct a campaign to raise $305 which is the total quota which the post are to raise for the five million dollar endowment fund for disabled veterans and orphans. The disabled veterans will receive $50,000. President Calvin Guldige is honorary chairman of the national drive and Governor Adam Morton is honorary chairman in this state. The legion is sponsoring the raising of the fund.

The earnings of the $5,000,000 fund will be used to care for disabled service men and for orphans of veterans. The five million will be left over as a permanent fund. The earnings will be divided equally between the orphans and veterans. The veterans bureaus of the United States will have $2,500,000 in critical times, quick action in securing aid has meant many orphans were discarded for life. The sum being raised will give aid promptly where needed. There are 35,000 orphans of World war veterans in the country today and a large percentage of these do not receive any aid. Cottages homes scattered over the country will care for the children. At Independence (Continued on Page Four.)

Deputy State Fire Marshal Comes Here

L. J. Butcher of Lincoln, Accompanies Martin L. Ringer on Tour of Fire Inspection.

L. J. Butcher, state deputy fire marshal, was here Tuesday, and in company with Martin L. Ringer, inspector in charge of fire inspection, on that day of the mysterious fires that have destroyed farm property northwest, north and northeast of Wayne, during the last few days of the month. They investigated nine of the eighteen fires, and found six that suggested incendiary origin. These are believed to have started from avoidable natural causes.

Mr. Butcher is of the opinion that any pyromaniac has been starting the fires and says that the department will make a determined effort to detect the guilty one. He suggests that any one having grounds for suspicion will lend material aid by communicating with John C. Trouton, state fire marshal, Lincoln.

Five Dollar Bill Is Found in Bird's Nest

Hans Sundahl who is daily engaged in sweeping the paved streets and disposing of refuse, has had the unexpected experience of finding in an old bird's nest that had fallen down, a five-dollar bill. The bill—probably lost by some one—was found in a nest of bird and woven into a nest with bits of other material. The money was intact, and it was properly restored to channels of circulation.

Paving Takes Precedence.

In a case tried in the district court here, Judge A. A. Welch has decided to give the paving of the street over a first mortgage, and that the only obligation considered ahead of that of paving is a real estate tax.

Storm Follows Day of Unusual Warmth

Four Hundred Pans of Glass in the Greenhouse of D. Hall & Son Broken by Heat.

Following a day of warm weather, a storm of rain and hail appeared from the northeast early Tuesday and was followed by a few minutes of sun. Four hundred pans of glass in the greenhouse of D. Hall & Son were broken by hail stones which were blown by high winds over the roof. The loss amounting to $150, was covered by insurance. Mr. Hall says growing plants were saved from damage by the absence of wind.

About half an inch of rain fell here. The storm extended only four miles west of here. A few minutes of sun was heavier struck by a Wayne seemed to be struck by the force of the storm. Growing plants and fruit trees lost some of their leaves and blossoms, but were not materially hurt. Crops in the vicinity were not far enough advanced to be damaged.

Students Take Part In State Track Meet

Coach F. G. Dale accompanied students of the State Normal to Lincoln this week to enter the track meet and the state indoor living school. Doane ranked highest with 54 points. Others taking part were Hastings, Weafer, Chalmers, Omaha University, York college, Grand Island, Colner, Kearney and Nebraska Central. Wayne men taking part were Combs, Johnson, and Ed. McFarland, William Austin, James Blaine, Ed. Dahl, Paul Lowery, Ray Hickman and Ray Reynolds. The college tennis tournament was held at the same time and John Kerr and Leo McFarland of Wayne won their first round from Cotner, but were defeated in the semifinals by Grand Island.

Boy Has Hand Cut Tuesday in Runaway

Bobbie Johnson, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson of northeast Wayne, had his right hand severed in a runaway Tuesday. The boy and his father were driving in the yard and when the father opened the gate the boy begged to drive in. When doing so the wagon caught on a post and frightened the horses. The boy ran about twenty rods. Bobbie was thrown from the wagon and one of his hands ran over the palm of his hand and cut it.

Suit Involving Cost of Hail Insurance

The suit of the Farmers Mutual Hail Insurance Company of Des Moines against Fritz Wheeler was tried before a jury in the county court last Friday and resulted in a verdict in favor of the defendant. It was one of several similar suits involving misunderstanding as to the cost of hail insurance.

Work to Proceed in Building Race Track

The race track committee of the Wayne County Fair association met Monday evening and decided to go forward with the task of building the proposed course. It was decided that the work was decided to set a grader to work next Monday and invite volunteers with teams to help. D. Cunningham, Harry Strickland, William Leese, Sam and Frank Erlehen have supervision of the improvement in hand and will accept assistance from all who are willing to help.

Dates for the coming fair are September 17, 18 and 19, and it is understood preliminary arrangements will be made and a grand track will afford opportunity for a good racing program.

When Streets Are Marked Wayne Compiles With Requirements for Mail Delivery.

Numbering of the homes and business houses of Wayne has been completed and street markers, ordered by the city council, are being placed as they arrive. When these two pieces of work are finished Wayne will meet with the requirements for mail delivery in this city. The post office inspector will come and if he finds the marking as the law requires, he will recommend the postal delivery.

City Numbering Is Finished This Week

Prof. F. E. H. Jones of the University of Missouri, who was in Wayne Monday, numbered the houses and business district, there being 679 dwellings and business houses in town. Buildings in the State Normal campus were last evening and this completed the work. The numbers on the north and south streets compare with the number of the block north or south of first street. The numbers on the streets east and west compare with the number of the block east or west of Main street. The depot is on the corner of First and Main streets and this corner is the starting point of the numbering. The system is the same in many cities, Dayton, Ohio, and Kansas City use the same plan.

Annual May Festival At Teachers College

The annual May festival, which is our most important event, will commence this week at the State Teachers college, will be held this year on Wednesday, May 27. As usual, preparations have been going on for some time, and the occasion promises to uphold the high standard that has been set in the past.

The day will begin with a demonstration by the physical education department, under the direction of Miss Edger P. Dewitz, including exhibitions of all classes of the department, to the college classes. Miss Dewitz has been doing some hard work and has arranged a program that should be unusually interesting.

The afternoon program will be given over to a concert by the college orchestra club, directed by Prof. W. C. Hunter. Prof. Hunter has succeeded this year in developing an exceptionally fine orchestra, and it is felt that this concert will be one of the most successful of the series of the year.

In the evening the Wayne chorus society, composed of the chorus class of the college and singers from Wayne will present the grand concert, "Hymn of Praise," by Mendelssohn, assisted by visiting artists. This performance will be directed by Prof. F. H. Hunter, who is now developing a great deal of energy in the preparation of this rather difficult but beautiful work. The "Hymn of Praise" is one of the greatest works of the master composer, Mendelssohn, and one which, like his own "Elijah" and "Hallelujah," is imperishable in addition to being greatly admired by those in the audience from listening to a work of this kind, there is the cultural and inspirational benefit of taking part in the performance, from the familiarity which they gain with great music.

There is every reason to believe that the addition of the grand concert will be especially pleasing. They will be Genevieve Rice Cowden, soprano, of Kansas City, who has won marked distinction in her own city, and throughout the world, and who left her sweetly appealing voice she attracts the attention of grand opera houses, and young men are asked to den-thrust her back to these offers. Undoubtedly this cultured heart and her charmingly and largely account for the excellent character and beauty of her voice. "Mrs. Cowden has one of the finest soprano voices that we have heard in this concert since this season." "Her voice is clear and full of personality and sincerity never fails to endear her to the audience." "The program was an ovation and it was with difficulty the program was resumed."

The tenor for the occasion will be Clyde Matson, who is director of the voice department of the Normal and Normal and Anderson, South Dakota. Mr. Matson is reported to be the best of unusual attainments, having prepared in numerous concerts and festivals in this part of the country. The "Hymn of Praise" is one of his best roles.

The third soloist will be a favorite local artist, Miss Fernie Oman, who has delighted Wayne people many times with her artistic singing and winning personality, and she has also had recognition in other centers. In addition to singing the solo parts in the "Hymn of Praise," the three soloists will furnish the vocal part on the evening program by each singing a group of songs of their own choosing. This assures double enjoyment on this occasion. As with the festivals of former years, the people of Wayne and vicinity have in store for them a day of real pleasure and fine music. A large attendance is anticipated. Detailed announcement of programs and prices of admission will be found elsewhere in this issue.

John Marvin, graduate of the Wayne State Normal, will complete work this summer for his master's degree at the University of Nebraska.

A pernicious gossip is one whose tongue wages without looking about facts or caring about consequences to the other fellow.

Local people should remember not to monopolize the business district with their motor boats on Saturday nights or on other occasions when the influx of visitors from the surrounding country is large. We should look out for the convenience of guests.

If we think people's children do not act as well as they should, we should take a kindly and helpful interest in them, and not merely look about with critical eyes and smug self-righteousness. We cannot altogether escape responsibility for the purp and welfare of our society.

May has dealt out a touch of real summer for a change. The way the weather of the week ending Tuesday led to some forebodings as to the probability of a cold season with short crops and soft corn. But the quiet rains and quick abatement in the shade was the record yesterday. Now we may expect prognosticators to come forth with predictions of an unusually hot summer.

A drunken man at the steering wheel of an automobile is a frightful menace to the safety of the highway, and when courts are asked to give him justice, they will perform a service, highly laudable in the opinion of those who are not prejudiced by the statutes. Too many dangers lurk in the field of automobilizing even when drivers are licensed in full possession of their faculties without the additional risk of having cars race on the road in charge of people whose brains are inflated and fuddled by boozing brew.

The conflict between so-called modernists and fundamentalists goes on with unrelenting fury. Fundamentalism has been down east this week, attacking evolutionists and defending the Tennessee law which prevents teaching evolution in the public schools. When it is definitely decided whether modernists or fundamentalists have the correct idea of creation and design, we hope the prominent fundamentalists will be doted back at least to the time of Adam, or if advisable to the time of the first human species. If the time of Adam involves salvation, we want it dated back far enough to include all our relatives.

Dr. A. L. Bixby, post-philosopher of the Lincoln-Journal, has gone to southern California for another visit, and his observations were appended today in the Journal. When he was out there a few years ago, his conclusions in regard to California health and happiness were rather glibly acceptable to the people of that state. Dr. Bixby has a very effective way of differentiating between hot air and substantial enterprise, and he found so much of the former in proportion to the latter that his public findings were not satisfactory to real estate dealers in the Pacific southwest. Reports of his renewed observations will be read with lively interest.

Government coast guards along the Atlantic have been reported successful in tracking down rum runners from landing their bootleg cargoes. Enforcement of a prohibition is the task of the coast guard, but it is no worse than time otherwise spent unless it causes a harmful result. Rum is a constructive thought or one helpful deed. But it is no worse than time otherwise spent unless it causes a harmful result. Rum is a constructive thought or one helpful deed. But it is no worse than time otherwise spent unless it causes a harmful result.

Card playing is our idea of killing time and doing nothing more. As we believe, it operates neither in behalf of mental development nor physical culture, and we never heard of a man who had killed time constructively. ful opportunity, can devote so much time to it. On this subject, at this time, do not expect to see one in one hundred to agree with it.

These are the closing days of school. The high school concludes this year this week, and the state normal finishes next week. It is the turning point in the lives of many young people who are to be graduated and presented with diplomas showing what they have accomplished. We are glad to realize that the school system earned will strengthen young people for tasks that lie ahead, whether in vocational endeavors or in exploring higher fields of learning. It will be noted that the record still shows more girls than boys in the lists of high school graduates in the graduating class of the Wayne high school this year there are twenty-one girls and ten boys, and about the same proportion will live and go through completing the state normal course. More girls than boys generally will be found the rule graduates. Time was when it was not deemed necessary for girls to receive much education. Schooling now seems partial to girls, with unfortunate indifference to its need and importance for boys. The latter will do well to consider consequences if the ratio of two to one continues long. In time, boys will find the girls doing the thinking, accomplishing the big things and drawing the big salaries. Boys must not disregard the advantages of education if they would keep pace with the girls.

 ence, Kan., will be one of these cottages with 640 acres of land, this having been donated by a farmer who has died in service. This home will probably be used for Nebraska's needy orphans.

Temporary cards to effect a permanent cure" is the Legion's slogan applied to the fund being raised. The Wayne Kiwanis club is cooperating with the nearest Legion in the drive and it is the local plan to raise not only the quota of $835 but to exceed this amount. The fund is a worthy cause and the members of the Legion and the Kiwanis club will assist with the work in the campaign outside of the Legion.

Minister of God met last week and Dr. W. M. Hawkins explained the campaign and the use to be made of the money by way of placement of the drive was made in each church Sunday.

Wayne State Normal News Items of Week

Copies of the Spizizenkamy, the school annual, are now ready for distribution. The book is one which shows many novel features and displays ability of those who have had their work in charge. Eric Wendt was editor in chief and Ed Regulewsky was business manager this year.

 also those who had, like Columbus and Ponce de Leon, tried new endeavors with a purpose of service. Mrs. J. G. Miller played the march for students Sunday evening. The invocation was given by Francis K. Allen. Mrs. J. G. Gamble Johnson sang a solo. Rev. John Grant Shick read the scriptures and Rev. Coy L. Sticker pronounced the benediction.

"The Boomerang," the senior class play, was presented Tuesday evening before a good-sized audience and proceeds amounting to $115. Miss Anderson deserves much credit for directing the production and she was presented roses by the class. Before the play and between acts included a violin solo by Miss Elvera Malloy, vocal duet by Ralph Gansko and Miss Miriam Johnson and vocal solo by Frank Gamble, Jr. Those taking part in the play were Burr Davis, Ralph Gansko, William Johnson, Carl Husa, William George, George Harshorn, Miss Marion Miner, Miss Miriam Johnson, Miss Aulda Surber, Miss Flora Bergt and Miss Hildagard Berres.

School work in Wayne continues until this Thursday evening when reports cards are to be given to students. Teachers will spend Friday finishing checking of books and reports.

Miss Cook who was elected to teach in junior high school here next year, did not accept the offer as she had accepted a position in the Kearney high school. This position still remains unfilled in the faculty.

Market Report

Furnished by Swanson, Gilmore & Walsh, Sioux City Stock Yards.

May 20.—There may be a shortage of cattle in the country. Practically all of those who have been in the game for the greater part of their lives have heard shortage talk more or less constantly for years. But through it all the cattle keep coming to market centers and they are coming now, even though considerable talk of shortage has been heard. In fact, the runs are rather more than the packers need at present, with the result that current changes in prices are in the nature of a fluctuation.

The 11 leading markets received 116,800 cattle the first two days of the week, about 8,650 more than arrived the same days of the previous week and it will bear recalling that last week the two days' supply was considered ample for trade needs. Declines to the end of the Tuesday trade measured 15 to 25 cents on yearlings, as compared to the close of last week, but with excessive prices of beefs and inferior classes of light killers, show 25 to 40 cent losses at midweek.

Light yearlings are still earning the preference, but with added needs of good yearlings showing in the receipts the buyers are less eager than in the past.

It would take a really choice set of yearling steers to beat 11111 now, although a top in advance of that level is quoted for the river. Good to choice yearling steers are quoted from $10 to $11, fair to good from $8 to $10, ordinary to fair from $8 to $9, common to ordinary from $7 to $8, with noderscript light trash down to $6.

The almost constant application of pressure on weighty beefs which has put the crease down to not more than $10.35 for ripe 1500 pounders, has finally pressed the leather market down out of its heretofore stable basis. Koeher cows have been worth unchanged money for weeks, but on Tuesday of this week buyers evinced a sudden change of heart and lowered prices 50 cents and more. At midweek it took strictly fancy 1400 pound cows to make $8.

The carnival season is opening and is bringing with it the customary demand for bolegna bulls. Prices are working up gradually. Right now good bolegnas are earning from $5 to $5.25 on the river.

Light green cattle continue to make up the stock and feeder division. As the country still shows marked preference for the reds, the basis is holding up well. Bulk of the yearling and calf arrivals are largely of a fair to decently good class and command prices from $7 to $7.25. Many green yearlings would top over $8.

ever, they do not seem to be able to get it done. About every time the big bulls get things lined up their heads the independents run short of live pork material and stage another invasion. The shipper attack, with receipts showing a consistent light—almost certain cause for a booming deal. At midweek top hogs are firming with the $12 line on the river.

Marjorie Ley played the part of the gold piece man and other girls who took part are Marion Joe Theobald, Evelyn Mellor, Harriet Craven, Margaret Fungelt, Gretchen Teichman, Mary Jane Johnson, and Kathryn Kemp. The girls served home-made candy after the program.

Junior-Senior Banquet.
Juniors of the Wayne State Teachers College entertained the seniors at the annual banquet last Saturday in the gymnasium. The number included 225. The room was decorated appropriate to May, festoons of varicolored paper being hung from the ceiling to the balcony and then to the walls, representing a May pole. A large May basket was arranged at one end of the room and in here was the orchestra. Miss Marion and Miss Margaret Ahern, Miss Elvera Malloy, John Ahern and Braden Carhart, who played during the dinner. After the first course a May-storm, featured with lightning and thunder, followed. Lights went out and a group of girls representing raindrops danced d through the room. The storm was effectively carried out by Erik Daulinger and Ben Moran. After this the lights returned and a group of flower girls gave a dance. Billie Robinson presided as toastmaster. George Macklin gave a toast to the guests and Paul Bowen responded. "The rest of the dinner was then served by thirty young women. The menu included: Fruit cocktail, chicken à la king, stuffed baked potatoes, radishes, buttered asparagus, rolls, perfection salad, wafers, frozen pie and coffee. The May pole idea was carried out in the toasts afterwards. Miss Mary Addison spoke on "Their Bouquet." Prof. E. J. Huntener on "Sunshine and Showers." Prof. Leon P. Berry on "Birds and Blossoms," Miss Marion McKen on "Thorns and Bleeding Hearts" and Pres. U. S. Conn on "If Winter Comes." F. S. Berry spoke briefly at the close of the program.

Prof. E. J. Huntener is sponsor of the junior class and the students presented Mrs. Huntener a large bouquet of roses at the banquet. Prof. Leon P. Berry is sponsor of the senior class. The banquet was one of the most enjoyable social affairs at the school.
Bible Study Circles.
Mrs. J. W. Ziegler were hostesses Tuesday for the Bible Study circle. Miss Charlotte White led devotionals. A letter from Miss Anna Gorran of Central America, described the turmoil in the country for the past three years. A report from Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Hunter who are conducting meetings in Cordaz, stated that they will visit friends in Norfolk a week and then open a series of meetings in Omaha. Mrs. H. C. Peterson will entertain the women next Tuesday. The Young People's circle meets Friday evening at the E. B. Young home for the study of the book of Acts.

From Ponca Journal May 30, 1884: This town is to have a street sprinkler. In this way it will be dust kicked up by remorseless winds, be kept down.

Fine weather this week. Everything fresh and green, excepting the people. The months of May and June are among the most beautiful of the year in this latitude.

The schools closed today, on account of it being Decoration day and the school children and the forenoon went down to the timber along the river and gathered flowers with which to decorate the graves.

On Monday afternoon the "clouds" in the west looked a little as though a young tornado was being manufactured. It all passed harmlessly, however. This country is not so conducive to stem-winders as it is farther east.

The party who went fishing to the lake in Dakota county on Tuesday comprised Messrs. Conner, Dorsey, Orr, Mattison and West. They had a good time spearing fish, and captured the pickering and the yellow perch, many of them measuring from a foot to a foot and a half long. The party returned the next day. The night they were there they camped on the island.

The shooting gallery which was in town last week is to close Monday evening. It appears that complaint had been made that the shoot-ists let their balls whiz a little too carelessly and carelessly. It was said they peppered Wigton's smoke stack, and that is was therefore not quite safe to be in that part of town within range of a man who is a competitor. The town board therefore would not permit the business to continue. The shooting gallery was again opened on Thursday.

Governor Endorses Drive for Endowment

Governor McMullen has issued the following declaration, endorsing the campaign of the American Legion for a fund to care for disabled veterans of the World War and the orphans of departed soldiers.

"The tragedy of the world's greatest war is reflected through the lives of those innocent victims—the orphans of the heroes who met death on the battle-field, or who lingered on, suffering with disease and wounds, until a merciful hand drew about them the curtain of eternity. The chances of happiness have been denied to thousands of orphans of the world war. There is a need of homes, food, and care for these children whose life affords through these darkened skies of childhood comes a ray of hope from the bright shield of patriotism, held steadfast by the bonds of service and cemented by the spirit of fellowship and brotherly love.

"To the American Legion has come the task of providing a home for every dependent child of a veteran and the assistance of the disabled veteran. This great organization chooses to continue to serve with the same patriotic devotion in this undertaking which inspired their valor and struggles upon the fields of battle. Their task is not finished, and they are striving in this noble way to repay our debt to those comrades who have done their duty and given their full measure of service to our nation's cause.

"Therefore, in the present campaign of the American Legion Endowment Fund which will insure the proper care and education of every fatherless child of a veteran, I hereby designate the week of May 24 to 30 as American Legion endowment week, and earnestly urge all the people of the state, the business organizations, the schools, civic and other public agencies, to co-operate to the end that this worthy campaign may meet with every success.

"Given under my hand in the city of Lincoln, Nebraska, this twentieth day of May, 1925. Adam McMullen, Governor."

Bebe Daniels Stars At Crystal Theatre

Bebe Daniels comes to the Crystal theatre Thursday and Friday of this week as a star in the Paramount picture, "Miss Bluebeard," a screen version of the Broadway stage hit by Avery Hopwood.

Robert Frazer, Raymond Griffith and Kenneth MacKenzie have prominent supporting roles in the production which has to do with a charming French actress, bound for England on a holiday—and by the time she reaches dear old London has two husbands to account for.

Here's Bebe in the kind of role that made the old Harold Lloyd comedies famous. Bebe in a story that couldn't have suited her better if it was written especially for her.

E. M. Northrop Tells of Family And Home

Extracts from a letter written by Frank M. Northrop of Portland, Ore., formerly of Wayne, N. D. Stripland will be of interest to Wayne people. Mr. Northrop states that he is for the first time "within his memory, with no cares or thought of the morrow."

"It is about three and one-half years since we left our Mother county. We were in the country about ten months before fully determining what to do and then we decided to come to Nebraska. My daughter, Katharine, has been living here a number of years. We rented a home near her for about a year and then bought the home. We are now in the district known as Rose City park, one of the best residence districts in the city. It is on the east side a little less than a mile from the business center of the city. We are three blocks from the Alameda, one of the best boulevards in Portland, and one of the best boulevards in the United States in price from $10,000 to $30,000. Our home is not as expensive a one as we had in Wayne and is just as good for all practical purposes."

"Next December I shall be 15 years of age. My health is good and I can stand long walks in the park and in the garden to take good care of the plants, which I like to do."

"Portland is growing very rapidly. 4,000 houses, seven five apartment buildings and several residential hotels have been built last year. This year bids fair to equal or exceed that. The business of the port of Portland is growing rapidly. There is as much or more water over the Columbia river bar as New York harbor and the Panama canal to the wharves in Portland under her own power."

"Portland has a bright future, it seems to me. Many people who formerly went to California are coming here. Prices of property are very high in California and the problem there is beginning to be serious. When I was there fifteen years ago the Owens river project was underway and it was expected that it would solve the problem but the limit of this river has been reached. There seems nothing to do now but to go to the Colorado river which is now building a conduit 200 miles long. I also learn that in many places where fruit growers depended on the irrigation water from their wells for orchards, the water table has been so much lowered by continuous pumping that there is alarm that the ground water may be exhausted or be so low as to make irrigation by pumping from wells impracticable."

"Of one thing we have ample assurance that here in Wayne, N. D., may get off however thickly settled the Willamette valley may become, there will always be ample supply of water. Portland has the greatest extent in the abundance of the finest water in the world, so soft and pure that even the druggists do not mention distilled water in their prescriptions. We have all we want, including the water for sprinkling the lawn, at a cost of $10 a year and the water system not only supports itself but finances itself from the plant increase from the revenue."

"From all I can learn there is no city of any considerable size in the United States where one can live better for the same money than in Portland. I have heard people from Ohio and Illinois say they could live for less here. All kinds of fruits and vegetables are reasonable and our fuel bill is less than half what I think it would be in Nebraska. Taxes on the house we had in Wayne it is told me, are $200 and our taxes here are $80."

"One thing that greatly enhances the value of this region is the magnificent system of highways, developed in the last ten years. With the exception of a few short breaks there is now a good road from the Canadian to the Mexican border. From Portland to Eugene there is a fine on each side of the Willamette. There are also many miles of fine macadamized road. The Columbia highway extends across the state east and west. From Astoria to Ontario, this highway there is a good road extending through Idaho to the Nebraska river, all paved or half paved. I am told this is the best road to the Pacific west of the Missouri."

"There are to be some thirty conventions in Portland this summer and the city will be full of visitors. I hope to see some of our friends for whom the hatching is always on. Our daughter Helen was in Washington, D. C., for so many years, came west about four years ago as a nurse in the army and is now west of the family. She taught in Gooding, Idaho, for two or three years and then came to Washington state school which is located at Vancouver, just across the Columbia from Portland. By our streetcar system it is easy for her to spend the week-end vacations at home. She is now principal and gets a salary of $1,500 and her living at the school which is equal to about $200 a month and she has been living in Portland and about the time we moved here she went to Los Angeles. We plan to visit her this summer. Paul has been teaching in various places in Idaho and Oregon for the past six or seven years and will be next year at Alsea, a small town in southern Oregon near Corvallis. He is about 120 miles away so we can see him often. He has been spending the summers in the mountains. He will be here this summer. He will look after campers and tourists in the vicinity of Crater lake and he says they expect 200,000 to come here. He will get $1,800 for his school work this year and about $200 for the summer service. Katharine has lived in Portland about eight years and is now in the high school in the Jefferson high school and does coaching. They will move next year to Ellensburg, Wash., where her father is principal of the normal school at the head of the department of physical training. He had received the maximum salary of $24,000 and will receive $23,000 in Ellensburg. Harmon was on the farm until 1921 and is now in the wholesale and retail cash and grocery business in Portland. He has demonstrated that he can master any branch of building material business in a short time. He is interested in the high school and has had charge of the drug department of a wholesale drug store. He will be in charge of the pharmacy next fall and will study to be a pharmacist. There was in the service from 1916 and was there until the war broke out. He has returned on his return and after we came to Portland he took two years at the North Pacific college and is now a graduate pharmacist. He now earns $2000 a year. Salaries are generally lower in Portland than in surrounding towns but they are able to be home with Mrs. Northrop and me. The joy and pride of my life are my 75 years."

"As I look back over my children of life I can of course see many mistakes and some of them are financial ones which after all do not amount to as much as people are likely to think. I have been able to give each of the children a fairly good education and helped them to do for themselves. I realize the longer I live that nothing can compensate a person for the loss of education. Education enables him to meet the best people in the community and this helps him to get at a mine of valuable information and advice. My daughter says that he "would rather be a beggar in a garret with books than a king without them."

To Make Life Foolproof.
(Dean Inge, in the London Post)
"Everywhere we find the same demand to make life easy, safe, and foolproof. The fine trees in our public parks are periodically mangled and reduced to the condition of clothes props by our urban and county councils, because houghs have been known to be blown down in a high wind, or even in the case of elm trees, to fall suddenly and crush the hundreds of years old tree might be standing under the tree at the moment."

Every workman must be insured against every variety of accident, even when it is caused by his own negligence. If a traveler slips on a piece of orange-peel which he never saw, he is in a railway station, or allows his coat to be stolen under his eyes in a carriage, he brings an action against the railway company, and wins it."

"We now demand to be personally conducted through life, all risks to be taken by someone else. After a century or two of this regime we shall all be helpless as Lord Avebury's ants, who starved almost to death in sight of food because they were prevented from having it put into their mouths by their slaves."

"All this may be right, or it may only be inevitable. But do not let us deceive ourselves. Nature will make us pay for it. Nature takes away any faculty that is not used."

"Maybe some folks keep a rubber band around their bank roll in the hope that it will stretch further."

The Delco-Light Electric Washing Machine is the most remarkable washing machine ever built. It has unusual safety features that are certain to appeal strongly where there are children in the home. Be sure to investigate this remarkable washing machine."

The Way It Works at Wahoo.
Wahoo Wasp: If the editorial columns of some of our exchanges are anything to go by, the average Nebraskan takes the size of Wahoo, is being pestered by itinerant peddlers and people canvassing the town for donations and for advertising schemes of uncertain value. Since the Wahoo Chamber of Commerce, about two years ago, decided to require all peddlers with schemes of this sort to come before a special committee for investigation, the town has been exceptionally free from annoyances of this kind. The members of the committee, when told to go before this committee, leave town without even calling on the solicitor. In doing this, they the solicitation of funds for a home for dependent children, for example, the committee will donate a lamp sum from the treasury and the solicitor goes on his way rejoicing. A very good illustration is a case that came up about ten days ago. A representative of such an institution was given a donation of $50 and he expressed himself as being delighted with the plan. He said if he had been allowed to solicit he would have probably realized $75 to $100, but it would not have been equally divided and taken a lot of time to get in while the street carmen were raising the cost and allowed him to hurry on to some place less efficiently organized. Another point of view is that of cases like raising funds for the Poultry and Corn Show and other similar institutions. Under the old way a committee of farmers would solicit the business men for funds and it was a job that was distasteful to both sides. Now they go to the Chamber of Commerce and the two committees agree on what amount of money is needed and it is "paid straight across and the incident closed. A membership in the Chamber of Commerce costs $20 per year, but scores of Wahoo business men readily concede that they are saved twice that sum every year on miscellaneous solicitations for donations in money or merchandise. The plan is a very simple one, and it works fine in Wahoo."

Bridge Notice.

Notice is hereby given that bids will be received by the county clerk's office for Wayne county, Nebraska, for the furnishing of all necessary material and labor for the erection and completion of the following bridges, or so many thereof as shall be ordered built by the county commissioners for the year 1925:

- One 50-foot steel span, 16 foot roadway, 15 ton capacity, located between sections 6 and 7, township 27, range 2, east.
- One 40-foot steel girder, 16 foot roadway, 15 ton capacity, located north of section 28, township 25, range 2, east.
- One 30-foot steel eye-beam, 16 foot roadway, 15 ton capacity, located west of section 17, township 26, range 2, east.

All bids to be made on both 15 and 20 ton capacity. At the same time and place as here specified, bids will also be received for the repair of all bridges which may be ordered repaired by the county commissioners for the year 1925.

All such bridges to be built in accordance with plans and specifications furnished by the state engineer and adopted by the county board.

Proclamation.

Whereas, the president of the United States has endorsed the efforts of the American Legion to provide homes and education for the thousands of dependent children of war veterans, the care and protection of widows and widows now dependent upon charity, and the care of incompetent and disabled veterans of the World War, and
Whereas, the governor of the state of Nebraska, recognizing this great service to humanity, has called upon every educational civic and religious agency of this commonwealth to aid the American Legion in this work of brother love and good citizenship, and has set aside the week of May 24 to May 30 to be devoted to the raising of funds for this program.

Therefore, I, W. M. Orr, mayor of the city of Wayne, state of Nebraska, hereby proclaim the week of May 24 to May 30, American Legion Endowment Week, and urgently recommend that all citizens and organizations of this city put forth every effort in attaining this city's quota of the $5,000,000 needed to carry on successfully the American Legion's national child welfare and rehabilitation endeavor.
Given this 18th day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and twenty-five, under my hand and the seal of the city of Wayne, state of Nebraska.
Signed, W. M. Orr, Mayor. m2111

An Unknown Historical Fact. DID you know that George Washington, The adopted Father of our Country, just before he got on the Ferry to cross the Delaware for the Photographing of that now famous Picture, Did you know that he smoked two sacks of 'Bull' Durham while he was waiting for the Ferry? (things were just as late in his War, as they were in our last one). Now I have never heard of this 'Bull' Durham episode before, neither have I ever heard it denied. So if it's never either been affirmed or denied, there is no reason to disbelieve that it's not true. 'Bull' Durham originated in Virginia, and Washington lived in Virginia, and he was a great man to patronize home industries. And as Washington was the best man of his day, and Durham the best tobacco of its day, there is no plausible reason to doubt that these two most excellent Institutions didn't readily recognize the good in each other and get together. Will Rogers SIXTY-FIVE YEARS AGO! In 1860 a blend of tobacco was born—"Bull" Durham. On quality alone it has won recognition wherever tobacco is known. It still offers the public this more flavor, more enjoyment and a lot more money left at the end of a week's smoking. TWO BAGS for 15 cents 100 cigarettes for 15 cents

The NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath
Copyright, 1924, by G. Howard Watt

Begin Here Today.
The "Nervous Wreck," an eccentric young easterner, is driving Sally Morgan from her father's ranch to the station, when they are captured by a posse. At the point of a gun the Wreck takes five gallons from a passing car.
Later Charlie McKeown, foreman of a ranch along the route, makes them captives because he wants Sally for a ranch cook. It develops that Mr. Underwood, the owner of the ranch, was in the car which they held up. Sally and the Wreck finally escape from the ranch, run into a camp of bandits, are captured a second time, and then escape again. Fleeing on-foot from the bandit camp, they find the horse belonging to Sheriff Bob Wells. Sally's fiancé, who is at the head of a posse searching for the "bandits" who held up Underwood.

Now Go On With the Story
"Say, are you trying to get me nervous about this?" demanded the Wreck. "Because you're wasting my time, you see, I can just out-ride you." Sally eyed him with a speculative look as he began running his fingers through the mane of the black horse. She had never seen the Wreck looking quite so buoyant. Presently she began to laugh.
"I wish Bob Wells could see you," she said.
"Yes."
"Oh, you needn't get bitter. I'm laughing at Bob. He'd just die of mortification. He'd either curl up and die or shoot you, I don't know which."
The Wreck shrugged and eased himself in the saddle. Then he began laughing himself.
"Well, what do you want, Sally?" "Keep moving, I suppose."
"Which way?"

It was getting to be a fine morning as she swung about in her saddle and began riding the country.
Then she led the way again, across a meadow. The Wreck could not understand her. In her place, he would have wanted to get to Chicago, even over the dead bodies of sheriffs and hold-up men, if necessary, do his thing and finish up to get to Chicago, out to do. But here was a person who did not seem to care whether she completed her errand or not. It struck him as peculiar.
They broke into a trail and he did not mind it in the least. What did he care if he fell off?
As they were climbing a hillside, and when it became too steep for the horses, they dismounted.
"Well, leave 'em here," said Sally. "Just the way the rest of 'em. He'll stand and he'll stand. I think we ought to go up to the top for a better look."
CHAPTER XXII
The Wreck Surrenders.

It is not the highest of the hills, but it was high at the top, so that it afforded them a panorama that looked the compass.
"I'm sure that streak of oil to the north," said Sally, "is the main road."
The Wreck nodded his agreement.
"I've added made up my mind," said Sally. "To go back to the farm. I don't want you to think I'm a quitter. But I'm not sure that I have any errands in Chicago. Not now, at any rate."
"That's all right."
"Saddle sore?" she asked suddenly.
"No."
"I think if you could always ride the sheriff's horse, Henry, you'd overcome your prejudice—against the sheriff happened to be wanting it."
The Wreck was glancing in the distance where he thought Pitchburg lay when his eye was attracted by a movement of something in the meadow below them.
"What's that," he asked, pointing.
"Two horses, with riders," said Sally promptly. "And they're following our trail."
"I left the rifle hanging on the saddle," he said, sheepishly.
"Let's hustle down and get it. Besides, we want our own horses."
"Run running," half sliding, they started down the steep hillside.
"Keep behind the rocks and trees as well as you can," she advised.
They dodged into cover wherever they could find it, working downhill in a zigzag course toward the spot where they left the horses. The horses were not in sight.
"I'm afraid they've drifted down toward the meadow," she said. "What do you think would be better do?"
"Keep going."
"But if they reach the horses first."
"We've got to take a chance. Maybe it's nobody who'll bother us, anyhow."
She had misgivings on that score, but followed him as he took the lead. A few minutes later when she was several yards in advance, she saw him stop abruptly and make a signal for two horses if you didn't have somebody else with you."

"I'm a trifle out to your game."
"Bob Wells stood glowering. "You're a fresh bird," he muttered. The Wreck began playing with a handful of pebbles.
"We'll get your gang anyhow," said the sheriff.
The Wreck was humming a tune. Suddenly Bob Wells remembered something.
"Where's that fiver of yours?"
This was new to the Wreck. He had supposed that the fiver was also captive.
"She's in Montana," he said archly. Just then Bob Wells remembered another thing, and it startled him. "What became of Sally Morgan?"
"Oh, she got her train."
"If I had the least suspicion she didn't," said the sheriff slowly. "I'd shoot you where you sit."
Bob Wells turned for a whispered consultation with his companion.
"Well, no more nonsense," said the sheriff. "Lead us to your gang."
"Nobody around here, sheriff."
"Going to make us take a look, are you?"
"I'm not making you."
The Wreck's only hope now was that Sally had managed to disappear. He had to keep her out of it, at any cost.
"We'll take him along with us, Jim," said the sheriff. "You keep a good eye on the Wreck."
"You're a big fat head," said the Wreck, irrelevantly.
"Out from behind her shoulder stepped Sally Morgan, her eyes very bright and her cheeks red under the tan. She walked briskly into the group.
"Hi!" said the Wreck.
"Bob Wells fell back a pace and gaped at her.
"Sally," he cried.

CHAPTER XXIII
Getting Engaged.
The sheriff felt that he was taking an apparition. Sally had taken her stand beside the Wreck. Why hadn't she kept out of it? thought the sheriff.
"Sally Morgan!" The sheriff's voice was unsteady.
"Certainly," said Sally.
"Bob Wells took a step forward, reached for her, hesitated.
"But he said—" The sheriff glared at the Wreck.
"I heard what he said," remarked Sally.
The sheriff's eyes narrowed.
"Sally, you've been kidnaped!" he exclaimed.
She laughed.
"Don't be a fool, Bob."

 12. Improved Tinware.

It Is a Fact
The ball-bearing McCormick-Deering Primrose makes it possible for the dairy farmer to own a large capacity and easy-turning separator. Less labor is required and longer service is obtained from the machine—the reason—ball bearings.

Ask For a Demonstration
You will be under no obligation by requesting us to demonstrate, on your farm, a McCormick-Deering Primrose Ball-Bearing Cream Separator. We will bring it out, set it up, show you how to use it. You will like it better every day you use it.

Ten Are Graduated In Carroll Friday

Baccalaureate service for the ten graduates of the Carroll high school was held Sunday evening at the Methodist church. Rev. W. H. Hull gave the sermon, using a part of Paul's letter to the Corinthians as his text. He advised the students to get a good firm foundation on which to build their characters, choose friends who will live a life of service, a special choir sang selections at the service. The graduates marched into the church, Ruth and Guy singing the march, and took their places in front of the church. Rev. D. J. Thomas gave the invocation and benediction. The commencement exercises will be held Friday evening of the week in the Methodist church. Dr. Frank Smith of Omaha will give the address. Special music will be provided. Edward Huwaldt, president of the board of education, will present the diplomas.
