WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JULY 26, 1925

Educators Leave Teachers College

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. House go to Montgomery, West-Virginia for Opening of Fall Term.

Here Fifteen Years

Miss Elsie Ford Pipher Chosen Assistant Dean of Women at State University.

Dr. J. T. House, head of the English department at the Wayne State Teachers College, and Miss Elsie Ford Pipher, head of the Latin department, both of whom have been here since the school was organized as a state institution fifteen years ago, have accepted positions at the University of Wisconsin. Miss Pipher will make the change with the September term. Dr. House goes to the new River State College to be in charge of the English department and Miss Pipher is chosen assistant dean of women at the University of Wisconsin.

To West Virginia College

Dr. House has served the Wayne State Teachers College for fifteen years and he has also taken active part in local and state educational affairs. He is the author of "The Purpose of the Variant of Theory, a Sociological Investigation" and "John G. Neihardt, Man and Poet." He is also the author of "The Song of Three Friends" and "The Song of Hugh Glass," two of the volumes in the Modern Readers series published by the Lincoln School for its fifteen years here. Dr. House has also been closely associated with the press, having spoken several times to the Nebraska Press Association and last spring having addressed the Nebraska State Press Association in Lincoln. Dr. House especially cherishes his newspaper associations and his work in the Neihardt club.

Miss Elsie Ford Pipher Chosen Assistant Dean of Women at State University.

Miss Elsie Ford Pipher, who has been here since the school was organized as a state institution fifteen years ago, has accepted a position at the University of Wisconsin. She is a member of the American Society of University Writers Guild and the Nebraska School Masters Club. Dr. House received his A. B. and A. M. degrees from the University of Nebraska, the latter having been awarded after two years' graduate study in the University of Wisconsin. He is a member of the University of Chicago. Before coming to Wayne Dr. House was president of Kingshigher college in Oklaheima.

Served School in Music.

Mrs. House has for fifteen years held a semi-official relationship to the Wayne Music Association as a teacher of piano. She is recognized as most proficient in her music and has provided skillful training in many classes. She has been recognized by clubs in Wayne also. She studied in the New England Conservatory, the Chicago Music Conservatory and the Chicago Musical College. She was a pupil of William H. Sherwood.

As an educator and author Dr. House's ability.

Dr. House's ability as an educator and author is not limited to this state alone. He is a quiet but powerful and dependent force in any year, and his benefit to society. In Wayne and in the state his work will long be of influence. In the new home Dr. and Mrs. House will be close to their daughter and to a brother of Dr. House. They will also be near the state capital. Dr. House's English department in Montgomery, have less teaching than he had here and will thus be able to devote time to devote to writing.

Miss Pipher to Lincoln.

Miss Pipher has been granted a leave of absence for one year, during which the university will be the supervision of young women and the carrying out of the school's rules in their activities in Lincoln. Miss Pipher is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, having received an A. B. degree there. She taught in the city of Lincoln for four years, high schools before coming here to head the Latin department. She has been preceptor of the Lincoln Normal school in the boys' singles of the tennis tournament at the school. Brainard and McMurphy won in the doubles at Midway in Lincoln.

Mail Delivery is Granted Wayne

Postal Department Approves Recommendation of Inspector for Free Service.

Starts in November

Business Section to Have Four and Residence District Two Deliveries Daily.

Wayne is to have free mail delivery beginning November 1, according to a report by Postmaster O. J. Berry from the postal department this week. The time the delivery goes into effect eight to five per cent of the business houses and residences must be provided with boxes or slots in the doors to receive the mail.

Mrs. J. J. Williams Dies in Sioux City

Funeral Service is Conducted at the Home in Wayne on Tuesday Afternoon.

Mrs. J. J. Williams, who had been one of Wayne's favorite citizens for the past thirty-four years, died at her home in Sioux City, Iowa, on Friday morning, July 24, at 10 o'clock at the age of 66 years, 10 months and 22 days. She was taken to the hospital a few days afterwards and underwent an operation from the effects of which she did not rally. Funeral services were held at the home in Wayne Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Fenton C. Jones of the Presbyterian church in charge. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Williams' maiden name was Lucie Pickering and she was the last of the Pickering family here.

Mrs. Williams was prominent in various activities in Wayne. She was a faithful member of the First Presbyterian church and always took an interest in its work. She was a member of the Acme club and the Order of the Eastern Star. She was well known to all who knew her and her pleasing personality will long be remembered.

Those here from out of town for the funeral service were:

Gettis Wood of Globe, Ariz., who made his home for 18 years in Sioux City, Iowa. Dr. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George Pickering and son, Arthur Pickering and daughter Barbara and son John of Iowa City, Iowa. Mrs. Dan Sparks of Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Laura Williams and son Gus and Herbert of Omaha, Neb. F. W. Arthur Williams and family of Sioux, Miss Jennie Dolan of Sholes, Miss Miss Mae of Los Angeles, California. All are nieces or nephews of the late Mrs. Williams.

Building is Ready For Steel Rods

Steel reinforcing rods for the first floor of the new training school under construction at the State Normal are to be placed as soon as the necessary concrete work on this floor will then begin. It was at first planned that West hall would be wrecked and some of the building, including the cement building but it was decided to leave the hall standing until after summer school as many young men will be coming to view if the plans were carried out.

Four weeks of the summer term remain, the session ending August 1.

The tunnel for carrying the heating pipes from the science hall to the new training school building to the cement driveway on the west. The tunnel now connects the power plant with the administration building, and the cement work on this floor will then begin. It was at first planned that West hall would be wrecked and some of the building, including the cement building but it was decided to leave the hall standing until after summer school as many young men will be coming to view if the plans were carried out.

Board Stakes Out Educational Hall

Work on Grandstand Will Go Forward As Soon As Plans Are Definitely Made.

The Wayne county fair board met for its 82nd session and completed for the new educational building which is under way at the grounds. The building is to be built on the site of the fair grounds. Work will progress rapidly as the school year begins. The local exhibit hall will be similar to the one at Bloomfield, excepting that the dimensions are larger for the one here. The windows will also be larger to afford more light.

Plans for Grandstand Still Under Way.

The plans for the grandstand is still under way. The structure will be put up as soon as the funds are raised. The fair association has been sold the past week and if sufficient number can be disposed of a horse barn will be constructed this summer. Most of the work on all the buildings is done voluntarily so that the association is saved expense.

Two carriers will be hired by the post department to handle the deliveries in Wayne.

The amount of help now in the postoffice will be retained.

Wayne Legion Men Attend Convention

About fifty members of the Wayne American Legion met at Columbus Tuesday, sixteen cars taking the train for the convention. Fourteen members of the drum and bugle corps were in the number and made an excellent showing in the parade. The convention was held at the home of Mrs. Williams of Wayne, served on the welfare committee at the meeting and C. A. Orr on the committee for the next convention.

Mrs. Kinder of Madison, was chosen commander of the state for the coming year and Gordon was named as the place for the gathering.

Administration of state aid was one of the questions of interest taken up. Since the state legislature appropriated the sum of two million dollars, the interest from which is to be used for benefit of needy veterans, the number of claims has so increased that the sum is not sufficient to provide all the necessary claims. The one man who has administered the funds for the whole state for this length of time has done so without salary. The legion men and officers voted to make levies on the individual posts to pay a salary not to exceed $3,000 to the one who administers the fund. The interest from which is to be used for benefit of needy veterans, the number of claims has so increased that the sum is not sufficient to provide all the necessary claims.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express sincere thanks to many friends for their kindness during the last illness of our dear son, Gordon. His death was a great loss to the family. Mr. and Mrs. George G. Sherburn, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sherburn.

LIGHT RAINFALL.

Yesterday afternoon in the light rain fell here and moistened the ground, but it was not great enough to soak the roots and give the crops any benefit. The ground is very dry and needs water greatly. However, the intermittently over-casting clouds, the heavy rain, and the cool breeze together with an occasional light shower, have thus far prevented the serious loss which a prolonged hot drought would have caused. The size of the corn yield will likely be reduced below the high expectations which were held, but unless the unusual happens, with no moisture, the crop will be a long way from failing.

Club Decides To Erect Monument

Dr. John G. Neihardt, Epic Poet Who Spent Boyhood in Wayne Will Be Honored.

Plan For Program

Memorial that is To Be Placed in Bressler Park, Will Be Dedicated August 17.

The Neihardt club plans to erect in the Bressler park in Wayne a monument to the achievement of Dr. John G. Neihardt, the epic poet of America, and the laureate of Nebraska and of the prairies. It is planned that the program dedicating the monument will be held at 10 o'clock on August 17, 1925, when speakers of note will take part. The Greater Wayne Kiwanis club and other citizens of Wayne are invited to participate in honoring this author who spent his boyhood days in Wayne. The Neihardt club alone has sufficient funds to erect a monument. If other clubs express a desire to assist in the tribute to Dr. Neihardt they may do so. The matter will be presented by Dr. J. T. House to the organization for consideration.

Oldest Dry Goods Store to Change

A change in management in this week being announced in Wayne county's oldest dry goods store, S. R. Theobald & Co. The store, S. R. Theobald was the pioneer merchant in the store, which for many years was known as the S. R. Theobald store in October, 1889. The merchandise was first sold in the building now occupied by the Dr. Johnson building on the corner.

Oldest Dry Goods Store to Change

The building which the institution now occupies was built for the R. C. Theobald store and moved into it in 1892. This is the only building in Wayne that has been built for and continuously occupied by one family. Mrs. S. R. Theobald took an active part in the early years of the store and practically built the enviable R. C. Theobald dry goods department has held.

Original Number of Faculty Decreases

Two State Normal Instructors Here This Year as Faculty Wayne This Fall

When the Wayne State Teachers College was made a state institution five years ago the faculty members numbered twenty-four and eight of these have remained here. This week Dr. J. F. House accepted an offer as head of the English department in the New River State College at Montgomery, W. Va., and Miss Elsie Ford resigned for leave of absence for one year to be assistant dean of women at the university in Lincoln. This will leave six of the original group in Wayne, Pres. S. C. Conn, Dean H. E. Hann, Prof. I. H. Britell, Prof. J. G. W. Lewis, Miss Edith Stocking and Prof. E. J. Huestner. The instructors now number forty-two.

Fifteen years ago the Wayne school was housed in two buildings on a ten-acre plot of ground which is now the center of the forty-acre tract owned by the institution. One of the buildings, the present training school, still stands and the other was replaced. With the new training school which is under construction, the school has five large brick buildings and five dormitories, besides the plant shops, cafeteria, and president's office. The school is a state institution and it is hoped that the best improvement will be the building of brick dormitories. In 1910-1911, 538 students were enrolled here and three classes of courses. The enrollment for 1924 totaled 1715 and the number of graduates last spring was 205.

The new training school is being built at a cost of about $140,000. Work is being planned so that the building will be ready for occupancy when the interior can be finished. The structure will provide a class room and a recitation room for each grade, and ten grades and ten grades will each have a room and a supervisor so that all students wishing teacher's training can accommodate them.

The training school was located in the Ward building which stood where the Wayne standpipe now is. Four grades were conducted here and Edith Stocking taught the first and second and Miss Rachel Fairchild taught the fifth and seventh grades.

Original members of Wayne State Teachers College Faculty. First row: Prof. I. H. Britell, Pres. S. C. Conn, Dean H. E. Hann. Second row: Dr. J. F. House, Miss Edith Stocking, Prof. J. G. W. Lewis, Miss Elsie Ford Huestner and Prof. E. J. Huestner.

Miss White Writes from Hot Springs

Miss Charlotte White who has been in Oral and Hot Springs, S. D., for a few weeks, writes July 21 to the Herald as follows:

Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve, Miss Wilma Gildersleeve and I left Wayne Tuesday, July 14, for South Dakota. We arrived in Newport about midnight and enjoyed a visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Radaker. We stayed at their home until Thursday morning when we went to Chadron and there changed trains for Hot Springs. Dorothea and Elmer White, children of Max White, met me at Oral and Mrs. Gildersleeve and Miss Wilma went on to Hot Springs. It was cooler here and I was soon at the home of my nephew enjoying the country views, especially cream and cream cheese.

The eighth grade graduation exercises at Hot Springs, the county seat of Fall River county, were held Saturday. Beulah White was graduated last year but the county superintendent Mrs. Clark wished her to take part again so she was planning a remarkable trip—twelve miles to Hot Springs from here but we have to travel twenty miles in order to cross the one-way river and journey through most beautiful country. The hills are of attractive rock covered with pines on one side. On the other side Fall river rolls over the rocks which are covered with green moss.

Next Monday the program at Hot Springs we found Mrs. Gildersleeve who invited me to remain a few days with her and Miss Wilma. We are planning an enjoyable trip to the places of interest here.

Telephone Method Has Been Improved

A more rapid method of handling long distance calls has just been placed in effect from Wayne to eleven surrounding towns and cities by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, according to Local Manager O. L. Randall. This new method is almost as rapid as the handling of a call over one telephone to another in this exchange. Long distance calls handled by this new method will take what is known as the same amount of time, or the lowest long distance rate, says Mr. Randall. For the present the improved service will be available through following towns: Carroll, Dixon, Laurel, Omaha, Sioux City, Concord, Emerson, Randolph, Wakefield and Winfield.

This new and rapid service will be available on long distance calls under the name above, whether ever patrons make it known that they are willing to talk to anyone at the called telephone. Under this method the calling subscriber when placing a call to a large exchange, must give the telephone number of the person or institution with whom they wish to exchange the number is desirable, but does not necessarily have to be furnished.

When placing long distance calls that are to be handled by this new, rapid method, the subscriber calls for "long distance" as usual. The operator who takes the call asks the calling subscriber to remain on the line and, unless a circuit to the desired town is not available at that time, completes the call at once without the calling subscriber having to hang up and be recalled later.

Local Manager O. L. Randall explains that while every effort will be made to use the new method to the above towns there may be short periods when unavoidable conditions will make it impossible. If, during such periods, a call cannot be handled by this new method, the operator, instead of asking the subscriber to hold the line, will advise him that he will be recalled. In such cases the call will be handled by the usual methods.

Good News For the Citizens of Wayne

The famous-original McOwen Stock Company, consisting of twenty-seven people, one sixty foot carload of special scenery, electrical effects and paraphernalia will be here for one entire week starting Monday, Aug. 3, with an entire change of program each night, presenting a repertoire of New York's latest releases, all royalty plays, produced in a Broadway manner.

Mr. McOwen prides himself with having the best line of plays ever presented by any tented organization in America, and his cast of metropolitan players are the best he has ever assembled during his seven successive seasons in this part of the country.

Not only are his plays far above the ordinary, but the specialties between acts are of the best that money and brains can supply. There is something going on all the while, there are no long waits between the acts. The people not only want speed, they want to laugh and be entertained, and this season Mr. McOwen is giving them just what they want, so come to the big water proof tent which will be located at the Savidge show grounds on Monday night, Aug. 3, and after witnessing the opening performance you will become a regular customer for the entire week.

Ladies will be admitted free Monday night when accompanied by one paid ticket. 3:00

Graveling the Highways

Wahoo Democrat: Nebraska is about to inaugurate an extensive campaign of road graveling. Of course it ought to be paving if we would keep step with progressive road building in the far west or far east, but Nebraska doesn't have the funds. California has spent an eight million dollar bond issue supplemented by an equal amount of federal aid to get one north and south trunk line. Oregon is similarly situated. With both of them it was a case of competition. They have wet seasons when the dirt roads are practically impassable. California motorists realized they could make little headway under this handicap and hence the bond issue. All this doesn't interest Nebraskans except in so far as answering the appeals of those who want paving. Nebraska has no bonded debt and cannot pave under the present constitution. The improvement of Nebraska highways must come from the gas tax and auto license tax. Until Nebraska amends its constitution there can be no general paving. But a good gravel highway is about as good. It must be properly built, of course, and maintained and here is where it is alleged that gravel costs as much as paving. Patrols are expensive and they might be eliminated by paving, but just now big repair gangs busy with not tar and crushed rock are repairing the holes and dents on the paving on the county highways. This is costing about as much as the patrol system while it takes all the gas tax of 2 cents a gallon to pay the interest on the construction bonds. We may be slower in our methods, but we're paying as we go and future generations will not be called upon to pay for the highways we are using today. Some paving is being done by communities each year and on the whole Nebraska highways compare very favorably with the states on either side of us. That isn't good, of course, to satisfy road roads organizations, but it discloses the fact that we have a lot of very good country traveling our way at the same speed.

Publicity for New Laws

"The clerk of the Supreme court and the secretary of state are being deluged with inquiries for copies of the session laws of this legislature, but are compelled to reply in each case that they are still in the hands of the printer, and that there is little chance of getting them until the middle of August." The printer says they are now in the press.

The above is from the local columns of the Nebraska State Journal, published at Lincoln, the capital of the state. If the truth be known perhaps the same condition would be found to exist in many other states. There is one exception, notably the state of Minnesota, where for 40 years or more the session laws have been promptly given to the people of the state through the medium of a newspaper supplement issued in connection with the regular edition of every weekly newspaper in the state, and at a comparatively trifling cost to the state.

In 1925 supplements containing the new enacted Minnesota laws were distributed within ten days after the adjournment of the legislature, thus making it possible for every resident of the state to know the law. A total of 400,000 copies were distributed, the newspapers passing in the good work retaining an average of $86 each for their trouble and expense. The supplement distributed was set in solid six-point, six-column type on the page, and comprised 24 pages.

Wisconsin has followed much the same plan for 30 years or more. In all other states, including Nebraska, would do well to follow suit. In Nebraska several hundred page laws are now in effect, though but few know anything about their provisions. The failure to publish the laws promptly is an especial hardship upon public officials, state, county and city officers who are required to know and execute the laws. If these officials knew how easily the matter might be adjusted there would be no doubt but concerted action upon their part looking toward the adoption of the supplement plan by the next Nebraska legislature. — Publishers Auxiliary.

Scores Bad Music

GEORFFREY OHARA

The mad pace of the world can only be checked through the medium of decent music. I suppose men and women can only regain their normal minds by the use of some living, refined melody. Sickened humans will only know good health by hearing the strains of some childhood melody in serious words. Geoffrey O'Hara, Los Angeles, world-renowned composer and singer, who has started the Los Angeles and Hollywood with his unqualified beliefs in the power of "marvellous harmony."

"The girl who slew her mother never heard I dare say, a decent song or melody in her life," O'Hara asserts. "The trouble with young criminals is that they are unconscious of the goodness in their own souls. Decent music can awaken that quality. The moral tunes merely inflame base desires."

The Man Who Had A Knife.

In an account of the Romanish disaster we read that "the outstanding hero is Sergt. Harry A. Chapman." When the gallows crashed Chapman and a number of men were imprisoned in a cabinet in the forward end. Chapman was the only one in possession of a knife. He was stunned for a moment and his companions saw frantically the sides of their narrow prison, spurred by the sinister hissing of the flames as they bit through the end of the handcuffs. Chapman was desperate against time, he managed to hack a hole big enough to permit the escape of one man at a time. Instead of Chapman stood to one side and is reported to have yelled to his companions: "Get out of here and be damned quick about it!"

That was fine of Chapman. It was "being American." Never mind the naughty word. It was justifiable as "spur to action."

Note that Chapman "was the only one in possession of a knife."

In another place we read that other men might have escaped if any one of them had had a knife. They were held in by the covering of the cabinet. They frantically tried to cut with their fingers, but could not make a hole.

Chapman had a knife. Why did he not others have knives? Fighting fleshy Americans are few. Did they have no knives because they had no pockets? Did they have no pockets because they were carrying knives? They might have carried cigarettes and matches, naturally forbidden to a crew of a gasbag.

Nothing appears in the story to show why Chapman had a knife and others did not. Some "five because one man had a justifiable as "spur to action" of them had a knife. So fate deals with men.

MEMBER NEBRASKA PRESS ASSOCIATION 1925

This paper is represented for general advertising by The Nebraska Press Association.

The man who is losing money in his venture, but who, with hope springing eternal, can still swallow without a grimace, and say he is making it, is generally regarded to distinguish as a real optimist.

Every worthy public or private improvement should be warmly encouraged and made as easy as possible. Every investment in new buildings helps all property values. People should do their best way to help rather than to hinder.

A traveler, familiar with many counties informed us that Sioux county, Iowa, is the only county in the world that ranks ahead of Wayne county, but respects that the incoming sentiment prompts him in making the one exception.

The first traveling of Wayne county highway starts today at fifteen here and Wisner. The present contract calls for somewhat over eleven miles, but it is understood a move is in foot in the north from Wisner. In due time all the highway between Wayne and Omaha will be either gravelled or paved, making the road passable regardless of the weather.

Sometimes softeners jokingly call for help, and it is found they are feigning. Sometimes a swimmer's cry for aid is not heeded on the assumption that he is joking and he is allowed to drown. This happened near Decatur recently. A cry for help should be given promptly in every case and if he is found to have been pretending, he ought to be kicked a few times to teach him that a joke involving life-and-death is highly improper.

Crete must be a wonderfully magnetic town. The Nebraska Press association meets there early in August. It seems leading citizens from Crete went forth and stormal association officers who capitulated. Earlier in the season Wayne asked the privilege to be host for the summer session, but Ole Buck, field manager, wrote a letter as long as from here to North Platte, explaining that publishers preferred to go to Omaha.

Now we think we will go down to Crete and find out its superior points. Then by comparison we may determine whether Ole Buck should be invited to apologize to Wayne or not.

Some people have a diabolical way of racing on the highways and threatening automobiles they pass. Accidents have often happened to speeding cars falling to give a reasonable share of room to another car that is passing. No matter how careful one drives the best bet far outweighs the odds to way to let a speeder hog the road if he does not wish to risk being reduced to a pile of unrecognizable debris. The driver who rushes wildly along, monopolizing the road to the terror and danger of passing cars, is either mad from moonshine or created by a boy of bats in his belly. In either event, the firm hand of the law ought to fasten into him.

O. S. Gamble, former Wayne resident, who is here from California, recalls that in 1880, near 1880 no rain fell here between April and September, and that while Kansas felt its corn that year, the Kansas farmer who lived in Wayne county. He says a Kansas man, helping husk Wayne county corn in the fall, exclaimed in amazement that the crop was here in spite of the drought that it ever had been in Kansas during the most favorable season. Mr. Gamble has examined fields hereabouts, and he thinks so far they are wonderfully promising.

An organization has been effected and capitalized to find out if profiteering is a cause of war. It is suggested that a proposition to draft all capital and industries, entirely removing opportunities for large earnings, would tend to establish lasting peace. Often called the "Red Riders," by Thomas Nelson Page.

"The White Monkey," by John Galsworthy, is a story that gives every reader something satisfying. It is a novel with a message worth while for everyone.

"The Matriarch," by G. B. Stern, deals with big periods of time, daring spaces, countless characters, families and generations. It is a mental feast better than the crossword puzzle. The matriarch is one of the individuals, seldom created, by whom one is held in awe either because of her power or because of her "A Study of the Modern Drama," by Barrett H. Clark, is a handbook for the study and appreciation of the best plays, European, English and American, written the last half century. It is a guide and a history of the movement, extending over Europe and America, which seems destined to be regarded as one of the most fruitful and interesting in the entire history of the drama. In this book are given for each author a life sketch, list of achievements, complete list of plays and reviews of a few of the most typical.

"Animal Land," by Willard Allen Colcord, contains 800 beautiful stories about animals, birds and insects. All are true and beautiful told. They are the gleanings of a lifetime.

"A Son of His Father" is by Harold Bell Wright. This novel takes the reader to the great admiration in the desert and the mountain world of Arizona and the Mexican border. The author discovers a new romance in that setting. The story deals with a man named Ortega and a girl named Nora who win the finest things in life by conquering the fates that hang over them.

"The Lantern on the Floor," by George Agnew Chamberlain, tells of a judge before whom are brought a farmer of New Jersey and his two children. The judge is about to give the severe sentence to the farmer for keeping his children from school when he hears the remark, "He's the fellow that plows by lantern light." Such devotion to the farm led the judge to change his decision. The land, the men, and the women have a real part in the story and the power that the land has on the life of individuals is brought out in the story.

OATS.

In May and June we thought the small grain would be a dismal failure. The weather seemed to conspire against it. The straw was so short that we thought if it were cut at all it would have to be done with a farmer's clippers. But forebodings were largely unwarranted. The straw stretched up high enough to be mowed by the cut and the yield has turned out surprisingly well, for all of which nature has our profoundest thanks.

To Drill for Oil at Chadron.
Chadron, Neb., July 29.—Under the direction of J. H. Merrill, superintendent of the Duthie interests, in charge of drilling in the Chadron oil field, twenty-nine days sufficed to haul the drilling equipment nearly 300 miles, and set up the first derrick in readiness for drilling operations, which are expected to begin today.

It was announced that the Nebraska Oil company had organized to test the Chadron field on June 25. The announcement bore information that J. Fred Duthie of Seattle, had assumed leadership of the Nebraska Oil company, and intended to give the Chadron field a thorough test before giving up the quest for oil.

Three days later three loads of equipment had been hauled from Moorecroft, Wyo. field, and unloaded in the Chadron field. Transporting the equipment was slow at first, owing to the condition of the bridges and roads in Dawes county, from Chadron to the oil field. Rain delayed work on the preparations for drilling in the Chadron field three times during the twenty days, daily time requiring several days' time before the roads were in condition for hauling the heavily loaded trucks between Moorecroft and Chadron.

Harry Adams, drilling contractor, is holding up the drilling under the direction of J. H. Merrill, until the arrival of Mr. Duthie, Seattle oil king and ship builder, and C. M. Valentine, geologist who are expected in Chadron from Seattle, Wash., today.

WEALTHY DAUGHTER FINDS LOVE'S DREAM RUINED BY MOTHER

CHARLOTTE VANDERLIP AND HER MOTHER

"POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL." is the name given Charlotte Vanderlip by Chicago university undergraduates. Charlotte is 19, and the daughter of Frank A. Vanderlip, New York multi-millionaire. Her father sent her out to Chicago to make first contact with life and to study democracy.

But Charlotte fell in love. Students say it was love at first sight when she and Norman Wright a student and son of a wealthy Chicago broker, met.

MOTHER HEARS Then Charlotte's mother heard about it and forthwith she ordered that Charlotte come right home. She must be "brought up" in another school of course—and make her European tour. The mother has decided that the girl is too immature.

Love has laughed at locksmaths and love has loved a lot of barriers.

Buffalo to Revert to Wilds Again

TRAVELING in up-to-date box cars instead of stumped over the plains by their forebears of pioneer days, 2000 young buffalo from the Wainwright (Alberta), Canada herd will trek northward this summer to the wild buffalo reserve on Slave river.

Here they will be turned loose to range with the wood bison which roam this area.

SEND 2000 ANNUALLY Overcrowding of Wainwright park, where the grazing possibilities are limited, is the principal reason for the move.

The buffalo which will be released this summer will be joined by 2000 each year for the next four years, so that 10,000 bison in all will revert to primitive conditions of their existence.

Colonel J. K. Cornwall of Edmonton has received the contract for moving the buffalo. Young stock at the park are already being segregated in readiness for the journey to their new home.

The sale of transporting the buffalo will begin as soon as the grass is green in the Slave river reserve. The animals will travel in cattle trucks at Wainwright and be transferred to the reserve at Slave river. The sale and carried north to the end of 1927.

500 MILES BY WATER They will be taken from the east at Fort McMurray and headed on boats for a 200-mile water run down the Slave river.

Capacity of Plant Is To Be Doubled

Though the tornado of June 14, 1924, took the roof from the plant, the first month he was in business, C. L. Trapp, manager and one of the owners of the Wayne Artificial Ice plant, was not frightened out of Wayne and he has in the past year developed a trade that is now compelling him to double the capacity of his plant. New machinery has been bought and will be installed soon so that the present plant can produce fifty tons of ice each day instead of six and one-half. It is not yet decided where the new machinery will be placed, but more room is needed, but in connection with the enlarged plant there will be a 200-ton storage room so that ice will be made and stored in the greatest demand. During the past winter and spring Mr. Trapp has been enlarging his trade and since May the machinery has been running out ice at full capacity. Still the business increases and to be of real service to customers a truck has been bought from the Wayne Randolph and Wisner to supply the local demand. Next summer Mr. Trapp will be able to meet local demand from the enlarged plant.

When Mr. Trapp and Hugh W. Williams of Omaha, bought the local manufacturing plant last year in June it was their intention to move it from Wayne to Smith Center, Kan. Mr. Trapp, who has installed about thirty artificial ice plants in his life, decided to stay in the field and decided not to move. The plant has been changed from a plant not in use to a lively institution with a monthly payroll of about $500. The payroll will be doubled next year. Two trucks now serve Wayne and vicinity and deliver ice in Wakefield and Winfield. Two more will be added next year.

Swimming Pool at Randolph Opens

The swimming pool at Randolph which was completed and opened to the public last week, cost $5,290. It was built on ground belonging to the city, and adjoining a public park and ball ground. Forty-eight citizens loaned the necessary money. The city furnishes the water and lights the pool at night. Tickets for the balance of the season are set for $1.50 for adults and $1 for children with single admissions placed at 25 cents. A charge of 10 cents is made for use of bathing suits. The only operating expense is a salary of $90 per month to a man and a boy to look after admissions. The money taken in goes to pay off the loan, and finally the pool is wholly owned and managed by the city.

Accident Occurs On South Highway

Norfolk News, July 25: While driving his automobile around a corner on a highway near Wayne, Wednesday evening, L. J. Andrews, Norfolk salesman, was struck by a speeding motorist and knocked unconscious for about an hour.

Speeder Did Not Stop

The speeder did not stop his machine, but drove toward Wayne, Wednesday evening. Andrews was picked up by another motorist soon after the accident, and taken to Wayne. Late that evening Andrews arrived in Norfolk.

Fortunately Andrews' only injuries were painful lacerations about his arms and head, which were caused by flying glass.

When the machine toppled into the ditch, the fenders were badly damaged, the windshield broken and the front axle bent. No wheels were broken.

Thursday morning the damaged machine was taken to Wayne for repairs.

Andrews stated that he saw another machine traveling at a high rate of speed and drove his car near the ditch in an attempt to avoid an accident.

Until a few days ago, Andrews was an employe of the Thomson Hardware company of this city.

Goodyear Tires are still low priced

On June 1, 1924, rubber sold at about 20 cents per pound. On July 1, 1925, it sold at 82 cents per pound or over four times the price a little over a year ago.

But we are selling Goodyear tires at about the same prices as we did on June 1 last year. This is made possible by the fact that Goodyear is giving you the benefit of rubber purchased previously at lower than present prices.

If Goodyear charged us on the basis of 82-cent rubber we would have to charge you much higher prices for Goodyear tires.

But they are passing on to us and to you the benefits of former purchases and present factory economies.

So a 30x3 1/2 All-Weather Tread Clincher Fabrics cost less than Goodyear tires. The average price of all commodities is about 56 per cent above pre-war levels.

Goodyear tire prices are actually 36 per cent below those of 1914.

Bloomfield Girl Is Fatally Burned

Bloomfield, Neb., July 25.—Violet, 10-year-old daughter of Glenn Summer of this place, died in the Yankton hospital at an early hour yesterday morning, death coming as the result of burns sustained in a gasoline explosion at about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

She was assisting in cleaning some clothing with gasoline when the explosion took place, setting fire to her clothing. She ran screaming from the house and this fanned the flames. J. F. Noecker, a neighbor, heard her screams and succeeded in catching her and smothering the flames with a raincoat, but not before she had burned almost to a crisp.

She was given first aid treatment and rushed to the Yankton hospital but she died at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. It is not known just what caused the explosion but it is thought that some matches in the garment that was being cleaned must have ignited.

Frigidaire ends all bother with ice

THERE is no uncertainty, no muss, no bother, if your home is equipped with Frigidaire—the electrical home refrigerator.

Frigidaire is automatically controlled, maintaining a dry, cold, constant atmosphere in which food keeps fresh and sweet for a much longer time than is possible with ice. It freezes ice, custards and other dairy desserts.

It saves work, saves food and will probably cost less to operate than your old percolator.

Visit our Frigidaire display or let us mail you an interesting booklet which describes Frigidaire in detail.

We have Frigidaire refrigerators in operation at our place of business, and can demonstrate their working qualities.

Commissioner's Proceedings.

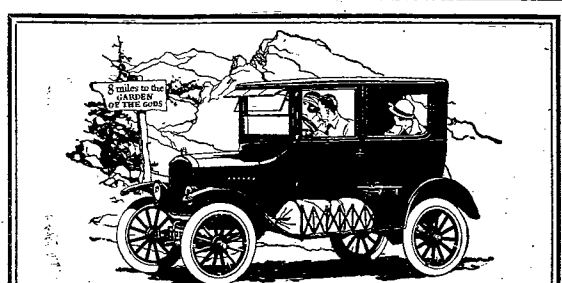

Board met as per adjournment. All members present. Minutes of meeting held July 7, 1925, read and approved. The following claims are on motion admitted and allowed and warrants ordered drawn on the respective funds as herein shown. Warrants to be available August 1, 1925.

Table with columns for Name, Amount, and Description. Includes entries for J.S. Garble, Milburn & Scott, Lincoln School Supply Co., Kopp Printing Company, etc.

WHY WIVES LOSE THEIR TEMPER. quarter of section twelve (12), township twenty-six (26), north, range four (4), East of the 6th P. M., Wayne County, Nebraska, and it appearing to the Court from said petition that said real estate is owned in common by said minor, together with other owners of the undivided interests therein, and it appearing that it would be for the benefit of said minor and of his said estate, that his interests in said real estate be sold and the proceeds therefrom be put out at interest or invested in some productive stock.

Order to Show Cause. In the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska. In the matter of the application of Charley S. Strivens, guardian of Theodore Watson Kober, a minor, for leave to sell real estate. On this 6th day of July, 1925, this cause came on before me, Anson A. Welch, a Judge of the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska, and upon reading the petition presented to me duly verified and filed by the Clerk of said Court by Charley S. Strivens, Guardian of the Estate of Theodore Watson Kober, Minor, for three successive weeks, once each week, in the Wayne Herald, a legal weekly newspaper, printed, published and of general circulation in said Wayne County, Nebraska, and that it shall not be Let Nature Be Your Guide. You will never know the true beauty of Nature if you keep always to the main-traveled highways. Her real delights lie far from the beaten paths - in the fragrant woods; in quiet flower-decked valleys; by the side of joyous, sparkling streams. Only dirt trails lead to these spots; trails hard to travel - save in a Ford. To The Ford they are all open. Because a Ford car, light yet powerful, comes easily through the hardest going.

Not Settled in Court. Speaking of the Dayton trial the York Republican says: 'Questions affecting the religion and morals are never settled in the court room, nor anywhere else but in the quiet souls of men and women. All the noise and confusion and heated arguments only disturb and set prejudices deeper. The Dayton trial merely afforded a large opportunity for men in the limelight to parade with great complacency, and gave the news-papers something big but not very important to make a long running story about. The trial will not go down in history as a victory for the fundamentalists or a Waterloo for the evolutionists. Those questions, with their ramifications and side issues, will continue to concern those who are concerned by them; but those who prefer to equate the works and ways of the Great Teacher will continue on their way, living prayerfully and humbly, and attempting sincerely to remember that the greatest teaching the Master left was his example of tolerance, charity, human kindness, love and good will and the doing of good.'

O. S. Roberts Plumbing and Heating advertisement. Includes an illustration of a man working on a pipe. Text: 'You Will be Happy in the Fall. If you attend to your plumbing and heating needs this summer. It will soon be time to use the kitchen range and furnace. There are always a few needed repairs to be made before winter and these should be attended to before the fall. Improvements to be made in your homes should also be done now, not us figures on the cost of your needs. A small amount now will in most cases save much heavier expense later.'
