

Paramount Week at The Crystal Theatre

Next week will be national Paramount week, and it will be observed at the Crystal theatre in Wayne by presentation of three strong Paramount plays as follows:

The James Cruze-Paramount production, "Beggan on Horseback," at the Crystal Theatre Sept 7 and 8, is an even more successful picture than the Kaufman-Connelly piece was a stage play.

We back up this statement with but a single phrase—"the possibility of the screen." What the stage play merely hinted at, the picture brings right before your eyes in the most amazing series of scenes the screen has ever witnessed.

If you are one of those disillusioned ones who thinks there is nothing new in motion pictures, here's a good chance to prove yourself all wrong for once in your life.

"Beggan on Horseback" is the kind of a picture that make you want to stand right up and hit out a whoop of joy. Remember the dream sequence Cruze injected into his picture, "Hollywood?" Remember the laughing in those scenes? This picture has similar scenes, which, however, make that earlier Cruze production look like heavy drama by comparison.

If you've ever had a dream in your life, you'll recognize it in "Beggan on Horseback," which has to do with Neil McRae, a struggling young composer, who has his heart set on inishing a Symphony, but who has to write orchestrations to keep from being thrown out into the street. Edward Everett Horton plays this role, and Esther Ralston, remembered as the mother in "Peter Pan," is his across-the-hall sweetheart, equally poor and struggling equally as hard to make good. She is in love with McRae, who is too wrapped up in his work to notice anything or anyone.

As the result of a dose of sleeping powders given him by his doctor friend, McRae dozes off and has a dream of dreams—a dream which proved a veritable nightmare of laughs. A shimmy-mad rich girl is introduced into the story with disastrous results—Disasters for McRae, who proposes to her on his doctor's say so and spends the rest of the picture trying to get her out of the engagement. Things pan out right for everyone in the end, of course.

Ricardo Cortez treats raging bulls and beautiful society debas in much the same fashion in his title role in the Paramount picture, "The Spaniard," which will be shown Sept. 9 and 10 at the Crystal Theatre. It is a Raoul Walsh production, based on the immensely popular British novel of the same name and featuring Cortez, Jetta Goudal and Noah Beery.

Cortez, as Don Pedro De Barrago, is the idol of the bull rings of Spain. In reality a nobleman, he visits London and falls in love with the notorious heart-breaker, Dolores Arredondo, played by Miss Goudal. He tells her that he is not going to be just another of her victims—that he is going to capture and tame her.

Beery is a servant in The Spaniard's household—He is thrown out for being disloyal and becomes the leader of a gang of bandits who infect the country.

"The Spaniard," adapted to the screen by J. T. O'Donohue, goes on to show how Dolores is kidnaped in his castle way up in the mountains—to show her what love really means, as he says.

Playing in support of the principals in the picture are Emily Fitzroy, Bernard Siegel, Mathilda Brundage and others.

There is always a man for every emergency whether it be to stop a runaway horse or to save a republic from disaster.

George Irving, veteran character portrayer of stage and screen, proved to be "the man of destiny" during the filming of "Wild Horse Mesa," Paramount's film version of Zane Grey's vivid story of the same name which appears at the Crystal Theatre Sept. 11 and 12.

For the photographing of the wild horse stampede and other thundering stunts in the picture, a camp was constructed at Red Lake, Arizona, 100 miles from civilization.

Between the location of the mesa, where the wild horses were herded, and the camp was a distance of twelve miles, making direct communi-

Cars Collide at Corner Sunday
Wendel Thomas sustained a broken collarbone and sprained his right shoulder Sunday when the car in which he and Wesley Linn were returning from Wayne collided with a car driven by Alvin Young of near Winside. The two young men first mentioned were coming west on the highway east of town and Mr. and Mrs. Young were driving north. At the intersection a half mile east of Carroll the cars met. Both were thrown into the ditch and damaged considerably. Wendel Thomas was the only one hurt. Wesley Linn was thrown through the windshield and suffered only a scratch. Mrs. Young had one ear scratched.

Mission Festival Celebrated Here
The annual mission festival celebrated at the Lutheran church of Carroll was attended Sunday by about 400 visitors from Wayne, Winside, Hoskins, Laurel, Colebridge, Randolph, Belden, Bloomfield, and other nearby towns. Rev. E. Guetler of Meadow Grove, Rev. J. W. Hill of Laurel and Rev. E. Gahrke of near Wayne spoke. The morning service was in English and the afternoon sermons were in German. The English Women of the congregation served dinner cafeteria style at noon and they also served luncheon at the close of the afternoon. The collection for missions amounted to about $175.

ALL OUT OF SORTS?
So Was This Wayne Woman Who Tells Her Experience.
All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Wayne case is one of many.
Mrs. E. W. Steale, 202 E. Seventh St., says: "Being down pains in the small of my back taxed my strength to the point of stopping work. My kidneys were the cause. Sometimes it was hard to straighten up with the lameness in my back. Morning attacks in my back were sore and stiff and I felt tired out. Attacks of dizziness annoyed me and I couldn't see clearly. My kidneys also acted irregularly. After using Doan's Pills, my kidneys acted properly and the backache disappeared."
