

Kiwanians Hear Prof. R. D. Nelson

Spoke Monday at Noonday Luncheon Regarding Conditions in the Philippines

Taught In Islands

Oriental Are More Cultured and Better Educated than People Here Expect

Prof. Ray D. Nelson, head of the English department of the Wayne State Teachers College, spoke about the Philippine islands at the noonday luncheon to Kiwanians at their Monday luncheon. Prof. Nelson taught for two years in one of the four islands in Manila, each of which trains about 5,000 students. The president, dean and most of the teachers at the university in Manila is the oldest under the American flag. Before going to the Philippines Prof. Nelson taught four years in China where he was dean of a government school. The orient has a lure for him and for most everyone who visits there, he states and he made a careful study of the peoples and conditions.

In speaking to the Kiwanians Prof. Nelson stated that the Philippines have a long history. He first set foot on the map for the American public in 1898, but there was a long history of centuries back of that. Before the Spaniards came the islands were among the best boat-builders in the world and they were among the best navigators in the world of their countrymen. China gave to about the eighth century A. D. They are a trusting people, a people that do not know the civilization in terms of guns, forts, and battleships, so they were easily subdued by the Spaniards. During the Spanish occupation of three centuries there were many revolts in the island. Prof. Nelson explained that the "Temptation" began in 1898. It resulted in the independence of a republic which had the obedience and respect of the entire population. It controlled the whole island with the exception of the strip-called City of Manila. General Aguinaldo, whose speaker had predicted when a boy as a barbarian that he would be the ruler of the island, the most scholarly and cultured men he had ever known, was president of the republic. He had a cabinet, legislature and efficient courts composed of scholarly and cultured gentlemen. Americans do not realize that the Philippines were a free distributing base for American goods in the orient, the Filipinos had to believe that the Americans had come to help them. They loved Manila from Spanish rule. When they were undecided later, Prof. Nelson said the people rose in an epidemic of independence. The revolt was of course soon quelled by the gigantic strength of this country. The American occupation had however done the good to the islands and the Filipinos gratefully acknowledge this, Prof. Nelson explained.

"The Americans did not civilize the Filipinos, neither did they found their public-school system for them," Prof. Nelson said. "The American people have extended that public school system more widely. They have covered the islands with better roads than before. The political life have become more democratic in the islands. The Filipinos are restless today, he stated under the control of the United States. One's opinion may be as to their capacities in 1898, but the fact remains that the people have now at least reached their majority, asserted Prof. Nelson. "They feel like a young man of 21 still literally tied to his mother's apron strings. It is his business" in this country that he really represents the people to the American public, stated the speaker. The vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the Philippines today in America saying that it will take about thirty years to prepare the Philippines for independence. He believed that it would take thirty years of a great mining concern which is earning eighty-five percent annual dividends in investments and his concept is that it will take thirty years to get the gold out of the mountains. This last part, Prof. Nelson is not in the American public. Postcards sent to America are almost always pictures of the aborigines in the mountains who hold about the same primitive life as the Indians that the American Indians hold to other citizens of this country, asserted Prof. Nelson. The American occupation is costing the United States ten million dollars annually for military salaries. This figure is, Prof. Nelson explained, only a drop in the bucket compared to the total cost for keeping the army and navy there. The American public gets nothing in return, it was stated. "The American public is not occupying the public mind will be willing to stand this expense," said Prof. Nelson, "but altruism is not back of it. The state of West Vir-

HAPPY SURPRISES

Actual facts upon the work of gathering the corn crop goes forward show a much larger yield than had been estimated. From over 100 reports of quantities in excess of previous expectations. Forty to fifty-five bushels to the acre is the average. The crop has been advanced. In addition, the quality is found uniformly superior to that of the previous years. Accordingly, buying power has been marked up considerably, and the country is much more prosperous than had been expected to be. With the corn crop known and safely ashore, confidence will be strengthened as it shows the next spring will be time enough to begin worrying about next year's crops. In the meantime, they will buy what they need and put their thoughts and energies where they will do the most good.

Canvass of Business District to Gain Funds for Greater Wayne Club's Activities

Support For Band

Desire to Tide Over Organization of Musical Group Until City Can Make Due Levy

Committees have been at work this week canvassing the business district to gain funds for the Greater Wayne Club's activities. The organization of a band has been in charge of the American Legion, and the canvass will be continued until every one has been given an opportunity to help. This far people have responded generously. The Greater Wayne Club has been unable to raise the money to pay account of inadequate funds, and accordingly it is proposed to establish a system of monthly contributions. From the funds accumulated it is intended to meet the cost of organizing and maintaining an American Legion band until the city is able to pay the tax. It is understood that Legion committees will collect subscriptions each month and that the money will be turned over to a designated board who will make appropriation to the Legion as agreed upon.

Hoskins Pioneer Dies Last Night

Mrs. Anna Nelson Passes Away at the Age of 72 Years Following Two Strokes. Mrs. Anna Nelson, pioneer of Hoskins, passed away at her home there last evening at 10 o'clock, aged 72 years. Awaiting More Proof

Fewer automobile accidents were reported over the last week. Fewer automobiles ventured out on Sunday on account of bad weather. Reduction in the number of dead and maimed on a fair Sabbath would be better proof of developing automobile safety.

On to Florida

In the flood of excited people, the Florida boom is said to beat the gold rush to California or later to the Klondike, but they can't see any basis for expecting a great migration for a winter resort. The rich will be able to do well enough there if they don't do anything, but the man who has to earn a living, would judge, have to leave home. He might raise fairly good crops if he had the land, but the thing he is most likely to raise is his own lamentation over his unhappy plight. Let's stay here and start a counter boom in Nebraska. We have all the necessary resources.

Firemen's New Truck Arrives

Machine With Chemical Equipment Replaces Stalwart One Sold the Past Summer

Finish Box Culvert

Large Boiler Installed at Power Plant Will Be Ready for Use by December

The new fire truck with chemical equipment, ordered by the city council for the Wayne fire department arrived Tuesday. The other truck owned by the department was sold the past summer because it was inadequate to provide sufficient chemicals to supply local needs in fighting fire efficiently. The new truck was tested by the city council and was found to fill the local needs in excellent way. The box culvert which is an addition to the culvert built a year ago in the southwest part of town, has been completed. This culvert is being constructed to fill a ditch near the culvert track. This will make for safety at this point where it is necessary to have a large culvert to care for the large amount of drainage water from the paved streets. The new boiler at the city power plant is in place and workmen are now finishing a brick wall around it. The boiler is expected to arrive on and will be ready to carry the light and power load about the first of December. The boiler is being used in Wayne than formerly and with winter the demands will be even heavier. The city council has ordered the work on the extension pipes in Roosevelt park addition to Wayne is being done. The piping will soon be placed and the culvert track will be covered with water from the city supply. The sewer extension work north of the Bressler park is well started and the work on it will be completed in two or three weeks.

Killing of Bird Dog Tried in Court Here

Neighbors living in that part of Wakefield which belongs in Wayne county, were in the county court here last Thursday when a case grew out of the killing of a bird dog which belonged to Henry Koerber. Koerber charged that the neighbor killed the dog, and he asked for a judgment for $50, alleged worth of the animal. In justification, Hayden testified that the dog was a stray, killed the house and carrying of chickens—He says he caught it in the act and thereupon captured it and took it into the county where it was killed. The case was tried to a jury of two who found against the defendant for $30 and costs, the latter amounting to $10.00.

Some Facts Touching The Box-Elder Bug

Since compiling and publishing the editorial page which expressed my ignorance in regard to the origin and personal habits of so called box-elder bug, the Herald has received the following requested and helpful information from Prof. G. E. Wilson of the biology department of the Wayne State Teachers College:

Editor Wayne Herald, Wayne, Neb. Dear Sir: In answer to your telephone inquiry this morning concerning the "box-elder" bug the following information has been compiled:

This bug belongs to the family of squash-bugs known as the Coreidae. Mr. Say defined the name Leptocoris vitivittatus to it. The common name box-elder bug, has been used because increased plantings of the box-elder throughout the Mississippi valley and in the plains states caused this bug to be familiar in these regions. The normal host of the box-elder bug is the foliage of the box-elder, but it also feeds upon other plants. During the summer the bug sometimes attacks the corn, often eating much loss by sucking out the juices. Apples, grapes, peaches, plums and cherries are often injured in this manner.

In late autumn the box-elder bug gather under sidewalks or in stable and houses or other sheltered places and hibernate for the winter. In early spring, as soon as the buds burst, they emerge and lay eggs which soon hatch into small, red, young bugs. These feed upon the foliage of the box-elder and mature within a couple of weeks. By the middle of June the mature bugs become very abundant and congregate in large numbers. They often hang like bees from the tree trunks of in various other places.

Foliage attacked by the box-elder bug becomes yellowish and soon drops from the trees. Fruits from which the juice has been extracted dry up and either fall to the ground or fail to mature.

This box-elder bug is common in the west of the Mississippi river. Only seldom does this bug become a pest and when it does it may be readily killed by contact insecticide as soap, tobacco or oil of emulsion spray. Very truly yours, G. E. Wilson

Business.

Sioux City Journal: Various so called barometers are employed from time to time by economists to gauge the condition of business. One observer will cite the steel industry as reflecting either an upturn or a decline in industrial activity. Another will point to railroad operation and the volume of business handled to prove what the economic situation is. Still another will give more or less on agricultural affairs, the amount of production, market prices and the state of mind of the farmers in an effort to discover the secret of prosperity or depression. And so it goes.

The best barometer that any one could use is to group all human activities and undertake to strike an average. Banking has a tremendous influence on economic affairs. Money prices. Export and import shipping must be taken into consideration since it is goods that the surplus of a nation's goods sold abroad represents the profits of the nation. With the various business ventures in particular lines studied, it seems that at this time prosperity indeed has come to the American people. The other barometer is needed to demonstrate it, the following from the United States employment service of the department of labor may be used.

"It would seem that the overworked word, "saturation," has lost its meaning in its relation to the automobile industry. A further improvement was noted in the last 30 days (the month of September) and, if increased employment in the industry is any indication, the peak of employment has not yet been attained.

"The large increase in freight traffic has stimulated employment in railroad cities. Railroad repair shops, although not all running on full time schedules, increased working hours and increased productivity, owing largely to road work during the month.

"The iron and steel industry which showed gains in August, made additional gains during the month under review, and all indications point to further expansion. The textile industry has probed itself into a more favorable position, and the future in this industry looks brighter."

It will be observed that the barometer the government experts used was employment. Employment increased throughout the country in September according to the government survey of major industries. The reason is not so much of production as of labor units required to do the work demanded. Production takes care of itself in accordance with the volume of labor employed. Industrial activity in the last few years has developed amazingly along efficiency lines, and in any well-organized industry, the establishment production figures bear an intimate relation to the labor employed.

Labor therefore may be considered one of the best barometers to indicate what business generally is doing. The fact that employment has increased throughout the country in September emphasizes quite as much as do railroad records, orders for steel and iron and the agricultural situation that crossed production had not been made. Expansion has come in almost every industrial line and more of it is due.

15 Paroles Granted. Lincoln Neb., Oct. 19.—Fifteen paroles were granted and four denied to prisoners in the penitentiary and reformatory, by announcements made today. Two of the paroles were given over the strenuous protests of the warden to whom they were extended. One of these was John H. Williams, negro, who was serving a five-year sentence for holding up a harvest hand. Williams has a 50-year sentence for murder in Florida staring him in the face, and when he steps out of the Nebraska prison he will have in the waiting arms of officers from that state serving 3 to 10 years for holding up a bank at Waterloo.

The other reluctant recipient was Louis Oliver, serving three years for burglary, who will be taken to Olathe to resume serving of a life term. Charles F. Madson, sent up from Douglas county for robbery, was paroled in order that he might be taken into custody by waiting Colorado officers, and Carl E. Colvin, a burglar from Kimball county, will be turned over to Iowa officers. Among those who received clemency are Jul W. Grau and Oscar Yous, one a farm boy from Iowa and the other a cowboy from Colorado, the waiting arms of officers from that state serving 3 to 10 years for holding up a bank at Waterloo.

FAKERS TAKE BIG TOLL FROM PUBLIC

Horace J. Donnelly

ONE million Americans lose one billion dollars every year to fake companies who use Uncle Sam's name to get in touch with the people they fleece. This is the estimate of Horace J. Donnelly, postal department solicitor who has launched a clean-up drive against the swindlers. Largest part of this money goes for worthless oil stocks says Donnelly. But many of the schemes are of the catch-penny kind. For instance, one advertised through the mails offering 10 yards of silk for 10 cents. Thousands of women sent in their dimes, and received 10 yards of silk thread. A negro voodoo doctor of DeBoto, Mo., advertised that one would split on a handkerchief and send it to him he would diagnose any ailment the person might have. Another man advertised that for $1 he would send a can of pure Canadian rye by parcel post. His customers also received the rye, at twice the kind that grows in the field. Donnelly has issued fraud orders against 100 firms and individuals. He says he is going to run them out of business.

Howard commends the speech of President Coolidge, delivered to the Legion boys in Omaha, but regrets that he neglected to investigate western agricultural needs and interests. It may not have occurred to the Columbus statesman that the president was rather pressed for time, and had to hurry to get through shaking hands and catch the train for his work shop where he has better facilities for studying western problems than any contact with western politicians could possibly give him.

First Woman Accepted for Duty in Consular Service

ANOTHER of the forbidding citadels of man has been stormed by a woman. Miss Patti Field, 23, of Denver, Colo., has become a "Foreign Service Officer" of the United States and will leave soon for Amsterdam where she will be vice consul.

Her appointment followed her successful passing of a severe examination, the second attempt she had made.

The difficulties of these examinations are well known in Washington. One is likely to be asked what city in the United States exports the most goats feathers or where sauge casings come from. Hundreds take these examinations every year and get few "up's."

Often Rough Work. "One does not know just how women may fit into the Foreign Service scheme, because they have not been tried," says Miss Field. "Maybe it will be found that there are certain niches into which women will fit very nicely."

A consular office has a good bit of rough work to perform. Such as handling immigrants and stranded seamen or inspecting ships.

"Do you think a woman could meet such emergencies?" she was asked. "I don't see why not," was the reply. "I can consult with my physical force on the rough people with whom they have to deal."

Not less interesting is a catalogue of the possible situations to be met in the diplomatic corps for which Miss Field will be eligible after a period of service.

"It is the business of those in the diplomatic service to secure information that may be of use to the government. This is done chiefly through personal contact. Secretaries make friends in the foreign office of the nation with which they are stationed. They develop intimacies extracting information through these contacts."

Club Life Important. The club life of secretaries is important. Friendships are made over wine and cigars. Their value is stands more on what they do when out of the office than what they do at their desks.

As a secretary with a mission, a woman would not be able to function in the time-honored way to which men are accustomed. She could, however, mingle socially and gain a viewpoint and insight into what is going on about her that would be different from that of the men secretaries. Much valuable information might come to her in this way.

The Methodist congregation is having a window put in the church in remembrance of William Miller of Berchies, Wash., and the late Mrs. Miller. Mr. and Mrs. Miller used to live on the Ash place south of Wayne and they were both devoted workers in the church. Mr. Miller's father-in-law of Mrs. Mae Chace Miller of Long Beach, Calif., guest this week in the C. A. Chace home.

Saving Up.
 "David G. N." in the Lincoln Journal-Examiner says he knows who isn't paying for something on the installment plan is saving money for something or other. Davy is laying up for twenty years' worth of trouble. All my university professor friends, if such there be, are saving for a trip to Europe. Henry Ford, against his will as I understand, is saving up for the inheritance tax collector. Of the rest of my friends, two are saving up to buy a home and $87,654.321 are saving to buy an automobile. Some doubt about that last number. They may not be so many left who don't already own an equity in an automobile. All the farmers I know are saving up for radio sets. Those who have them already are saving up for outfits with more tubes.

Just like a man! All about men's saving up and no mention of the women. Well then, my friend Mrs. Adam Eve is saving up to have her tonsils out. After that, she tells me she intends to save up to have her appendix out. That done, in another year she will have to save enough to have her teeth out. By making her old dresses do for a year or two she expects meanwhile to finance the retooling of her hands and the redecorating of her turbines according to the latest surgical style. She has other plans beyond this, but they are not so definite enough to be announced.

Scouts Demonstrate In Winside Saturday

Prof. A. F. Gulliver accompanied about twenty boys scouts of Troop One, Winside Saturday morning for a demonstration of scout work for boys of Winside. A number of Winside young folks were present and a scout organization may be formed in the school here. Lawrence Wamberg spoke on "How a Boy Becomes a Scout." Jean Beaman and David Young demonstrated knot tying. Evan Dennis gave the scout laws. Braden Carhart and Bernard Pollard played a saxophone and piano duet. John Austin Reynolds and Henry Gulliver demonstrated signaling and Harry Ellis Fisher showed first aid work. Bernard Pollard spoke on "What a Scout Does after Reaching First Class." Henry Gulliver showed fire making by friction. The troop gave a drill with presentation of the flag. Three scout teams engaged in a water boiling contest.

Big Crops Generally.
 Lincoln, Oct. 21—All grain crops of the world are better this year than last, latest information of the federal and state crop statisticians released today disclose.

The percentage of increase of the leading grain crops over last year was announced as follows: Wheat 8.8 per cent; corn, 18.2 per cent; rye, 37.3 per cent; barley, 17.9 per cent; oats, 4.2 per cent. The figures are based on the complete wheat and barley harvests available.
 Wheat estimates from twenty-nine countries total 2,877,000,000 bushels compared to 2,626,033,000 bushels last year. The wheat production of the world last year was 3,091,000,000 bushels.
 Eye production from nineteen countries is estimated at 2,077,482,000 bushels against 660,945,000 bushels last year. The total world production last year was 738,000,000 bushels.

 Reports from twenty-five countries on barley total 1,086,815,000 bushels compared to 929,003,000 bushels last year. Total world production last year was 1,202,000,000 bushels.
 Oats from twenty-two countries give a total of 2,143,018,000 bushels against 3,017,109,000 bushels last year. The total world crop last year was 3,702,000,000 bushels.

Returns on corn from eight countries reach 2,217,244,000 bushels as compared to 2,721,345,000 bushels last year.
Corn Pickers Needed.
 York, Oct. 20—Many farmers in this community have started competitive bidding for cornshuckers, some going as high as 7 cents in an effort to secure corn pickers while the weather remains ideal for the work, according to E. F. Moore, secretary of the York County Commercial club.
 Over a hundred farmers have field their names with the commercial club, and are anxiously waiting for pickers to arrive in York.
 Milford, Neb., Oct. 20—Corn pickers are in demand in this section this week. Unanswered calls for twenty-five bushkers needed in the vicinity of Orchard, Seward and Ulysses have been received so far this week.

 Columbus, Neb., Oct. 20—The demand for corn pickers this week is exceeding the supply because of frosts this week have speeded up hucking. Herbert Hahn, secretary of the Chambers of Commerce, said today: Eighteen calls for corn pickers were received yesterday while only six dozen pickers were available. Five and 6 cents a bushel and heard to be offered good corn pickers here.

feeding heaters of choice quality reached $6.50 this week. This kind of choice quality sold to $6, while fair to good kinds earned from $4.50 to $6.50. All the way through the outlet averages firm. More decreases in the national hog delivery as compared to a year ago may have temporarily removed the pocket changes to forego new declines. The first two days of this week brought 182,100 porkers to the 11 central markets, a decrease of 68,300 head, as compared to the corresponding period in 1924. Last week the decrease at the 11 markets, as compared to a year ago aggregated over 20,000 head. Best butchers on the river markets are now around $11.25, with all weights earning the peak, although lights are expected to slip under before long.

Market Report

Furnished by Swanson, Gilmore & Walsh, Sioux City Stock Yards.

Oct. 21—Just under the flood stage, passed two weeks ago, the western cattle movement continued. The 11 leading centers the first two days of the week still reflects a very liberal movement, and also one not greatly different from the supply of the previous week.

Grass killing steers and yearlings encountered some opposition at the week's opening and sank 15 to 25 cents. But at that decline the market gathered a sufficient amount of stability to be maintained without further change. Best of the western steers this week are earned $9.50, while the bulk of the fair to good kinds sold from $7 to $8.25, with ordinary kinds from $6 to $6.50 and common kinds down around $5.00.

Again scattered lots of corn fed were sold but buyers could find in the generous receipts. Fair kinds might still earn $15 if there were but none were included this week. Fair to good short feds sold from $9.50 to $11.50.

Grass butcher cows and heifers suffered a discount amounting to 25 cents generally, but the loss does not apply to the cheaper kinds, which figure steady from $4 to $4.50. Best of good grass cows and heifers sold from $4.75 to $6.50, with little outside that range. Fair western cows are quoted to $6.50 and yearlings to a little over $7.

Canners and cutters enjoyed another active and steady week of trading. Practically all sales landed in a spread of $3 to $3.75. Bulls figure 15 to 25 cents lower. More cheap bulls are coming of a class to sell from $4 down to $2.50. Fat to good hogs are still $4 to $4.50 sold. Veal hit $10 for a top every day this week.

For another week demands for stockers and feeders proved fully equal to absorb heavy incoming supplies. Values clung to a firm basis, although a more pronounced tendency towards buying superior cattle was noted than previously, which caused some slowness to be reflected to the trade on trading kind.

Best fleshy western feeders figure to $9.50, with the bulk of the fair to good kinds from $7 to $8.50, ordinary kinds from $6 to $6.75, common kinds from $5 to $5.50, with low grade junk down around $4 and occasionally under $3.

Several loads of 650 pound fleshy

Methodist Church Notes.

Rev. J. J. McCabe of Delaware, O., and pastor of one of our churches in Columbus, Ohio, gave us two very excellent sermons Sunday morning at afternoon on Fall in Philip and Rahab. We shall be glad to hear again next Sunday evening. The Ladies' Aid society will hold its regular meeting next Tuesday, probably in the church basement. The Young People's league had a fine meeting on Sunday evening. The second in the series on "The Leaguer's Good Time." "The League and the Community." Leader, Miss Anna-... The North-east Nebraska Ministerial-association will meet here in the church on Monday, Nov. 2. The regular services next Sunday, 28th Morning subject: "Prayer." 15c - The first monthly church night meeting of the year on next Tuesday, 6 Oct. 27. Everyone is cordially invited.

Accident at Creighton. Creighton, Neb., Oct. 19. - A serious accident occurred on west Main street Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock when the car driven by Henry Dartman, accompanied by his wife and three children, driving west on the arterial highway was struck by the Furmy delivery car coming onto the highway from the south. The Furmy car was being driven by Robert Johnson, 14-year-old son of E. R. Johnson. Mrs. Dartman, holding a 2 month's old baby in her arms, was thrown through the side of the car. Mrs. Johnson, 40-year-old, was thrown to the ground. Mrs. Dartman was seriously injured about the head and face, being unconscious for some time. Several stitches were required to sew up the lacerations. One of the children was thrown through the windshield receiving a bad cut on the neck and one on the face. Mr. Dartman and other child received but slight bruises. The Dartman car was hit with such force as to drive it forty feet against a telephone post and badly damaged. The other car was slightly damaged.

Rev. L. R. Keckler visited the first and second-grade room Monday afternoon.

Harold Hansen and Frederick Witt brought two nice plants to beautify the primary room. Ethel Siders, Frank Weible, Fern Sanders and Richard Moore have earned certificates of award. Robert Miller celebrated his eighth birthday. He treated his classmates to candy bars.

Hermin Boysen celebrated his birthday recently by treating his classmates to home-made candy. Robert Dewey has earned a diploma of honor, given for three years attendance. Evelyn Darnell and Elizabeth Johnson have earned good seals. The seventh grade is making maps of South America in connection with geography.

The grammar room is drawing cartoons this week by treating his classmates to home-made candy. The Royal Neighbors had a Halloween party in their hall Friday night. A little early in the month for Halloween but on account of so many parties planned for Halloween week it seemed advisable to have this one early. The decorating committee, headed by Anna Anderson, Mrs. Henry Wacker and Mrs. Chris. Nelson, Jr., had made the hall "very spook," as they call it, with orange and black. A "ghost" met the guests in a darkened hall and led them into an inner hall where each received a "very cold" "wet kiss" from another ghost. The guests were then vaccinated with lead and allowed to enter the main hall where they were received by giant "ghosts" and the entertainment committee, Miss Vicki Neely, Mrs. Bert Lewis, Mrs. Nick Hanson, Mrs. Robert Morrow and Mrs. Art Auker, supervised various games through out the evening. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Thordvald Jacobsen, Mrs. Fremy Wittler, Mrs. H. S. Moses, Mrs. Gurney Benchoof and Mrs. George Pinion.

Popular Story In Picture This Week

Arplane service between Camp Harold Bell Wright and Tucson, Arizona, seventy miles away, was one of the time saving devices inaugurated by Director Victor Fleming which is on location at Arizona directing "A Son of His Father."

Because of the tremendous distance to the nearest supply source a special airplane, piloted by an ex-army aviator, was engaged to be at the location camp night and day to carry supplies and mail to and from the locality, and Tucson, Arizona.

Due to the rough trail the only other means of transportation was by pack-train. By this method the trip required several days. Via the airplane route only one hour was required.

Motion picture film made on the location during the day was put upon the west-bound train in Tucson the same evening. In this way it is estimated the airplane transportation method saved thousands of dollars in time to the company.

Featured players in "A Son of His Father" are Bessie Love, Warner Baxter and Raymond Hackett. The picture appears at the Crystal theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Speaks Before Club Of Norfolk Women

"Changing Points of View" is the subject of the paper read by Dorothy Huse Nyberg before the Norfolk Women's club at their first meeting of the year, held Monday in library hall at Norfolk. She first reviewed the development of the social order from the beginning of history; she explained the changes in various phases of this order, speaking of art, poetry, drama, religion, science, novels and women's part in affairs; and she concluded with a discussion of the present-day social conditions.

The mind of the world is and always has been dynamic and since that is insensibly curious, cunning and contriving it is natural that he experiment to determine the realities and purposes of life. In the development of the social order Mrs. Nyberg first explained the cycle in which the Egyptians lived, spending their lifetime preparing everlasting tombs for the spirit that lived after death. Later in history the Greeks developed a civilization that rivals present-day culture. Art and science attain a remarkable degree and social sciences are also highly developed. In religion the Hebrew prophets formulate monotheism and since then the dualism established the relation of spirit and matter, has led peoples of all times to search for the reality of the universe. Roman civilization developed later and life is here more distinct, egoistic and firm than that of Greece. Here are developed laws after which present-day governments are fashioned and here arise class struggles. In the Middle ages people are sad and bewildered over the aspect of preparing for another life and they turn their attention to building of cathedrals. With the Renaissance the individual gains prominence in all phases of life, and in every field come into prominence men like Beethoven, Shakespeare, Montaigne and Michael Angelo whose works live today.

Art is one of the most exact barometers of life and it has through history expressed the changing viewpoints. This is true also in the novel, drama, poetry and other phases. Present-day art is highly conventional and is similar to Egyptian. The novel of today deals mainly with social questions. The motion picture with many thrills is the most popular drama though the legitimate stage is coming back. Poets of today are classed in two types in attempt to create a style that appeals. In all a chaotic condition is found. Such periods appear at intervals in history, and though all may seem for a time disturbed and hopeless, from this chaos will appear new ideals and standards higher than previously developed.

The modern world was produced by the industrial revolution. When machines are invented to replace men's labor life becomes more complex. People are today interdependent and men's minds have become group minds. With recent years women have been granted privileges and become freer. These two changes have made a readjustment in the social order necessary. Temporarily the home, religion and education have suffered. Socialistic groups and other organizations have arisen in an endeavor to remedy the widespread dissatisfaction.

From the chaos in which are found broken homes, disregard of religion, impurgency of youth and a widespread attempt to organize groups to better conditions, will come the speaker believes, a changed point of view. Women will retain the freedom they have gained and the home will be an institution in which the influence of the mother and father will not only be restored but augmented beyond former standards. More attention will be given young people. The reaction away from religion will be followed by a keener appreciation of it and its application to everyday life. An American type is no doubt in process of development and it is thought this will be neither extremely conservative nor extremely reactionary. It is hoped and believed possible that society will rise in the social evolution. This change will then be reflected in a better religion, art, drama, science. Though there may be differing opinions in religion it is hoped all will come to realize the working out of the Creator's self-realization in the universe and that by living more nearly according to the divine plan all may become better individuals. The evolution of mind and body will then go hand in hand.

Scout Troups Help Many Young Folks

Without doubt, one of the greatest mediums for developing character, building strong bodies, enriching personality and teaching girls the value of being the best types of womanhood is found in the girl scout organization. Only those who are ignorant concerning the work will malign this statement. In fact every parent whose child is enrolled with this troop is loud in praise of what it has done for his girl and how it fills the time and self-denial required of the leaders or the fact that the organization must have some money to carry its work.

This same truth applies equally to the boy scouts. The first troop in Wayne is under the leadership of Prof. A. A. Gulliver. The second troop was organized by and is directed by Prof. K. N. Parke. Each of these troop managers deserves much credit and unlimited backing by all citizens of Wayne, but especially from the parents of the boys who are reaping so much help and inspiration.

The girl scouts were organized in Wayne less than two years ago through the efforts of Mrs. P. A. Theobald. It was she who recognized the need of such organization and who procured Mrs. Leon F. Beery as captain or head of the local group. Mrs. Theobald herself taking over the task of troop manager, looking after all correspondence, buying all equipment and ordering all uniforms. Mrs. Edith Marshall, as first lieutenant, has supervision of the work done by the scouts for home, points cooking, baking, canning, fancy work, etc., all come under her special work. Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, as second lieutenant, looks after the publicity of the organization and assists in furthering public interest in the girls' work. Each troop has an enrollment of thirty-two girls, these divided into four patrols with a counselor for each. These counselors, or sponsors, meet with their patrols once each week and assist the girls in their study, direct their activities and oversee their work. The present sponsors are Mrs. E. W. Huse, Mrs. H. B. Maron, Miss Winifred Main and Mrs. Edith Conklyn, and four more are to be chosen. The scouts as a whole meet each alternate week on Thursday afternoons at 4 o'clock in the State Normal canteen.

The scouts are indeed fortunate in having Mrs. Beery as captain of their organization. As Marian Fessenden, born and reared in Boston, Massachusetts, was assistant instructor of physical education and assistant in the histology laboratory at Harvard university, leaving this position to go overseas with the Red Cross unit to do reconstruction work in a French orphanage. She remained in this work of rebuilding the shell-shocked, under-nourished children several months after the war closed and upon her return became supervisor of the city schools of Reading, Mass. It was there that Mrs. Beery first became enthused with girl scout work. Desirous of seeing the west she became instructor of physical education in the LaCrosse, Wis., Normal school and there met and was married to Prof. Leon F. Beery. Leaving LaCrosse they came to Wayne three years ago. Mrs. Beery has a world of experience and a vast fund of information which has much to do in helping build the girl scouts from a little band of eight to a group of about fifty, with room for many more.

The girl scouts plan a silver tea soon at the home of Miss Winifred Main and everyone is welcome. Displays of work done during the past year will be made and a program of music will be presented by the girls. The presence of many will inspire the scouts as well as their leaders.—Grace Welch Lutgen.

Society

With Miss Dorothy Felber. Miss Dorothy Felber was hostess Friday evening to twelve young women and young men at the H. J. Folger home. Dinner was served and afterwards the group attended the play, "The Freshman," at the Crystal.

Scouts Have Hike Saturday. Boy scouts of troop Two, accompanied by Prof. K. N. Parke and James Squire, enjoyed a hike into the country Saturday morning. They prepared picnic breakfast and dinner. The boys have their regular meeting this Thursday.

Juniors Have Party. Juniors of the Wayne State Teachers College had a party Friday evening in the gymnasium. Prof. K. N. Parke is sponsor of the class. Each person brought six articles of food and traded five for the luncheon. The occasion was planned in order that the members of the group might get better acquainted.

Young People's Circle. The Young People's Bible Study Circle met Friday evening at the H. J. Folger home for the luncheon. The third chapter of Ephesians—Mrs. Young led the lesson. Leonard Thompson, Concord, who plans to leave soon as a missionary to South America, spoke. This Friday the class studies the fourth chapter of Ephesians.

Have Informal Meeting. The Eff' society had an informal meeting last Thursday at the State Normal Canteen. New patrols were organized and these, together with the names of a number of girls who are working on their tenderfoot tests, will be published next week. Games closed the afternoon. The girls will have a formal social meeting this Thursday.

Foreign Missionary Society. Mrs. Annes Beckenhauer was hostess to the women of the Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church last Thursday. Mrs. C. E. McCannan had charge of the lesson study and she was assisted by others. Mrs. Ray D. Nelson who has spent some time in the Philippines, Hawaii, spoke of life in that country. Miss Hannah Bressler had charge of the mystery box. Next month Mrs. C. A. Grothe is to be hostess and Mrs. J. M. Cherry leads the lesson.

With Mrs. Alex Jeffrey. Members of the Sunshine club and five guests, Mrs. and Mr. C. W. White, Mr. and Mrs. William Watson and Mrs. W. H. Hoguewood, were entertained at the Alex Jeffrey home northeast of Wayne, last Thursday. Mrs. Jeffrey served dinner and a social afternoon followed. Memory gems were given in answer to questions.

Your interest in Red Crown's UNIFORMITY

Every drop like every other drop—anywhere you buy it—that's what we mean by Red Crown's uniformity. You gamble every time you buy a strange brand of gasoline. It may happen to suit the adjustment of your carburetor, but if it doesn't it gives you trouble, low mileage and little power. You are always safe with Red Crown.

It would be a simple matter to shop around and pick up inferior gasoline wherever it was offered cheap; that is what the motorist usually gets when he buys unknown or nameless brands. Red Crown is built to standard specifications, rigidly maintained—with just the right range of boiling points to give instant ignition and quick starting at the one end, and maximum heat and expansion, which means power and mileage, at the other.

Don't gamble! Keep the good habit of turning in where you see the Red Crown sign. You'll get prompt, courteous attention and full measure of high quality gasoline—and motor oils that assure protective lubrication.

High School Plans to Ditch Class Sues Finds Easier Way to Finance Activities

Students Divide Into Sides to Push Campaign For Sale of Tickets For the Season.

No More Dues Parties, picnics and hikes! These magic words send a thrill of delight through every high school student. The children, creating a day with a touch of fun and wholesome frolic and lively interest. School days without parties are like cakes without frosting, acceptable, but not palatable. And so these delightful pastimes are entirely necessary to the complete enjoyment of "the happiest days of one's life" - high school.

But let us consider how parties are made possible. Usually they are financed by class dues, laboriously collected and taken from some little hoard that has been saved for a long time. The entire sum is taken together and someone buys a few rolls and pieces and covers the bill. It is an enjoyable - but do they really enjoy the fun manufactured by someone else? Wouldn't it seem much more to go to a high school, where we are going to have a hike-picnic Friday evening. Bring something - anything good to eat. And then there is the fun of finding the surprises - mother's homemade bread, loyally cakes and old-fashioned old pickles. It is much more democratic, getting fun and easier than the old method of dues! dues! With class dues abolished the feverish toil and burdens of the class treasurer are shifted upon the memory and pocketbook of the student are gone.

But best of all - with part of the money where would be used for class dues we can buy a season ticket to the student activities, thereby gaining twofold or more parties and more gain than the average student. With the support of two hundred loyal citizens of the Wayne high school.

Assembly News The members of the high school are holding the last meeting of the subject council the following resolution was passed: "The student council hereby resolves that inasmuch as the school expenses are a burden upon our parents and in the interests of economy, they are opposed to class dues."

Senior Notes Maurice Wright, senior president, reported Monday morning with a badly laid-up ankle. We are working for whom Maurice was over Saturday and Sunday. No official meetings have been held as yet, but most of the students are busy trying to think of some new means of torture to administer to our freshmen.

Sophomore Notes The plane geometry class is finding pictures to use in scrap-books. These pictures will illustrate circles, arcs, and polygons. These books are made for the purpose of showing how many lines circles and other common figures are used.

Rupture Expert Here. Seelye Co's truss expert from Chicago will personally be at the Oxford Hotel and will remain in Norfolk Saturday and Sunday only, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. Mr. Seelye says: "The Spermatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days, and the average case. Being a vast advancement over former methods - excepting the industrial use - it is immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain or position no matter the size or location. Large matter (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the highest praise in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions." Warning - All cases should be kept against the use of any elastic or web truss with understraps, as same wear where the lump is and not where the opening is, producing complications necessitating surgical operations. Mr. Seelye has documents from the United States Government, Washington, D. C., for inspection. Our representative will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired. Business hours presents stopping at any other place in this section. P. 25 - Every statement in this notice has been verified before the Pediatric State Courts - F. H. Puzzles Statesmen. Lincoln (cont'd) "It was against the alcohol in Argentina" is taking the form of an effort to prohibit the sale of hard liquor and to reduce the number of places where beer and wine are sold. The chief difficulty with this program of this kind is the nature of the appetite for alcohol that is furnished by the lighter beverages. It is the experience of all of the world that the use of hard liquor is encouraged by the general consumption of beer and wine. What to do about this growing waste caused by drink is puzzling the statesmen of many lands.

Order to Show Cause.

In the District Court of Wayne County, Nebraska.

In the matter of the application of A. R. Davis, administrator of the estate of David Roberts, deceased, for leave to sell real estate.

On the 28th day of September, 1925, A. R. Davis, administrator of the estate of David Roberts, deceased, having presented his petition under the laws of the State of Nebraska to sell the following described real estate of said David Roberts, to-wit: the east one third of Lots eight, nine and ten of Block 10, Block 10, in addition to Wayne, Nebraska, or a sufficient amount thereof to bring the sum of $13,911.70; for the payment of debts against said estate, and for the costs of administering said estate, for the reason that there is no personal property in possession of said A. R. Davis, administrator, belonging to said estate to pay said debts and costs.

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me at chambers, in the court house in the city of Wayne, Wayne County, Nebraska, on the 16th day of November, 1925, at the hour of 9 o'clock a. m., to show cause if any there be why a license should not be granted to said A. R. Davis, administrator to sell so much of the above described real estate of said decedent, as shall be necessary to pay said debts and expenses.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be served upon all persons interested in said estate by causing to be published for four successive issues in the Wayne Herald, a legal weekly newspaper, printed, published and of general circulation in said Wayne County, Nebraska.

Amos A. Welch, Judge of the District Court. 0114

What you should have to drive an auto is plenty of oil, water, gas and common sense.

Doorbells are for youngsters to ring so mother can tell them to go round to the back yard.

It doesn't pay to let someone else do your thinking, just so you won't be blamed if you think wrong.

Thrifty parents start many scraps around the table because of those left on it.

From Ponca Journal Oct. 15, 1925: A special from Pierce, Oct. 10, to the Sioux City Journal, says: The fiercest and most widespread prairie fire in the history of northeastern Nebraska is raging in Pierce county and adjoining counties of Wayne, Cedar and Knox. As nearly as can be learned the fire started about the center of Knox county, just below the Sand Hills. In this direction, it crept over into the northwestern part of Pierce county and the western part of Cedar county, down into Wayne and across into the northern part of Pierce.

A high wind has been blowing for the last twenty-four hours, and the fire has traveled with almost unprecedented rapidity.

Everything of light description in the way of the rushing food of flame has been literally swept off like chaff on a threshing floor.

Many of the settlers have lost all their hay, and numbers of barns, sheds, hay covers, outhouses and fences have been destroyed.

One man is reported to have lost his entire house.

The fire has not completely cleaned out all the hay in the Logan bluffs.

An immense quantity of hay put up for the cattle on Col. O'Brien's county ranch, a farm of about 5,000 acres, has been burned.

There are many large herds of cattle in this section, and as the hay has been nearly all destroyed, the loss will be very severe on the stockmen.

In some cases the small farmers have hastily collected their goods and chattels and fled. But for the mildness of the weather today and yesterday, there would be great suffering among these people.

The fire has been beating southward with a strong wind and has materially retarded the progress of the flame wave, but should this wind suddenly let up, much greater damage than has been done is feared.

Some reasons for Red Crown's DEPENDABILITY

Red Crown Gasoline is a pedigreed product—the result of two generations of refining experience.

It may fairly be called a home product, for the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska is chartered under the laws of Nebraska—and is a state corporation. Practically its entire business is in Nebraska, and it is bound up with the life and progress of the State.

Other concerns—individuals or companies—may come and go. With no permanent investment involved, they can open up or close up as a chance for profit appears or passes; the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska years ago, undertook the responsibility of meeting the requirement of Nebraska motorists from one end of the State to the other. It goes where it is needed.

That is why motorists everywhere in Nebraska turn naturally to Red Crown when away from home. They know it is always the same—whether in a remote hamlet or on a crowded city street—the same dependable gasoline, balanced in the correct proportions for quick starting, power and economy.

So keep the Red Crown habit. Always fill up where you see the Red Crown sign. You will get prompt, obliging service, dependable, uniform, clean-burning gasoline, and motor oils that assure protective lubrication.

Some reasons for Red Crown's DEPENDABILITY

Red Crown Gasoline is a pedigreed product—the result of two generations of refining experience.

It may fairly be called a home product, for the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska is chartered under the laws of Nebraska—and is a state corporation. Practically its entire business is in Nebraska, and it is bound up with the life and progress of the State.

Other concerns—individuals or companies—may come and go. With no permanent investment involved, they can open up or close up as a chance for profit appears or passes; the Standard Oil Company of Nebraska years ago, undertook the responsibility of meeting the requirement of Nebraska motorists from one end of the State to the other. It goes where it is needed.

That is why motorists everywhere in Nebraska turn naturally to Red Crown when away from home. They know it is always the same—whether in a remote hamlet or on a crowded city street—the same dependable gasoline, balanced in the correct proportions for quick starting, power and economy.

So keep the Red Crown habit. Always fill up where you see the Red Crown sign. You will get prompt, obliging service, dependable, uniform, clean-burning gasoline, and motor oils that assure protective lubrication.

The BULL'S EYE

Editor and General Manager WILL ROGERS

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, depicting the familiar face and screen star, and leading American humorist, here coming back for the first time.

The Wise Guy and The Clown

A constant reader of my "Bull" Durham Ads writes in and says: "If there was another smoking tobacco the equal of "Bull" Durham a lot of us would quit you no matter how much it cost. But alas there is no equal at any price as we have all found out at various times. So we must hasten to turn the pages and groan, whenever we encounter the CLOWN ADS of Will Rogers, who is trying to discredit the worth of the WORLD'S FAVORITE TOBACCO."

See that Bird wrote this whole Ad for me himself. He knocked me but he boosted "Bull" Durham. He fell right into my hands. It isn't by the wisdom of our smart people that CLOWNS and Fools are allowed to ride in Limousines. They say "The Lord protects the foolish," so, I am nestling right under his wing. So thanks Mr. Smart Man, write us another Ad. It will only cost you two cents

Begin Here Today.

Sir Dudley Glenister, English baronet, believed to be the murderer of his cousin, James Glenister, to obtain the state and title, makes prisoners of...

part whom they had retrieved from the wreck of his motorcycle and who, having been engaged direct by Sir Dudley Glenister, would cast the Syndicate nothing.

Now Go On With the Story.

"I have tried to get the information from Miss Glenister, sir, but she replied bitterly, 'but had luck dogged me again. The young lady had disappeared under mysterious circumstances which on the surface point to her having eloped with Captain Norman Slater.'"

"This lad's a bit right, ain't he, Maudie?" said the showman, "Just see his feet on the narrow way that leads to the destruction of the mill while I put these Johnnies wise to their duties."

"Miss Kathleen is missing!"

"If I could show you where to find her, Wrage, and prove to you that she had been put out of the country by Sir Dudley Glenister, in order to stifle the evidence you want from her you wouldn't have any qualms about arresting him, eh?"

"The inspector's revelation had an extraordinary effect on Mr. Slater, far greater than the failure of this source of information would account for."

"Try me," replied Wrage grimly.

"But pardon a suggestion, sir. If an agent in guessing that you have reason to believe that Miss Glenister is being forcibly detained ought we not to take assistance?"

"The apparition waded its hands feebly and then the match went out. A croaking cry along the beam-bright path, he suddenly became aware of shambling footsteps coming to meet him to the tune of heart-rendering music."

ALF HIT ANOTHER MATCH AND TOOK A LONGER SURVEY OF THE FRIGHTENED FUGITIVE.

"To be done yonder, I'm running for the constabulary. Alf hit another match and took a longer survey of the frightened fugitive. 'Look here,' he said, with swift intuition regarding her whereabouts."

"I'm a Hinkley, the builder at the office of the county treasurer in the county court house in Wayne, in said county offer at public sale and sell the following described real estate, or so much of each tract as may be or town lot as shall be necessary for the amount due thereon for 1924 or previous years as herein stated, together with all expenses for recording, taxes, and fees allowed by law, and 10 per cent interest on all sums from the date of their delinquency. I will adjourn the sale from day to day until all the said real estate has been offered for sale."

CHAPTER XXIV What the Butler Knew.

"Mr. Fabian Womersley's ears, pricking through the misty countryside on the business of the Amphibian Film Syndicate, observed no man." Among the men who were with him was Alf Grinstead, Captain Slater's man, who had been picked up half-conscious on the road after an accident had befallen his motorcycle.

"How he had learned from a Scotland yard detective that Miss Glenister and Captain Slater had disappeared and how in consequence of Sir Dudley's strange behavior he had suspected him of foul play toward them. The suspicion had increased when Sir Dudley had increased his efforts to get out of the country under the pretext of having to meet some cinema actors in the keeper's clearing."

"If that's what you are going to do, miss, I'll be glad to help you."

"If that's what you are going to do, miss, I'll be glad to help you. He's got them prisoners in the dismasted water mill," quavered the butler. "It was dark when I reached the cursed place, but there was moonlight. Miss Glenister was sitting at an upper window. I had speech with her and she told me that she and the captain had been to the woods where the film was to be shot. There were men to walk, and the electricians and camera men would have to carry the implements of their respective trades."

"The preposterous idea that the showman was giving in, but the showman would give in, but the captain would have to burn 'anow'."
