Picture of Vienna Following The War

About 2,000 persons figure in the cast of "The Greater Glory," June Mathis' colossal screen epic, which shows at the Crystal theatre, Friday and Saturday, July 30 and 31. The story is a poignant drama of Vienna before, during and after the war. Vienna was once the gayest capital in Europe except, perhaps, Paris.

After the war Vienna went through a complete metamorphosis. Its deflated population was half no more, instead it was hungry and its Revolution followed revolution. There were bread riots.

June Mathis reveals in "The Greater Glory" a phase of the war which has not hitherto reached the screen. The epic drama is based on the celebrated novel—Viennese Melodrama—by Edith O'Shaughnessy, wife of an American diplomat in Vienna. Miss Mathis and a vast company spent more than a year on the production of the picture.

BUY COAL NOW!

The Coal Bin Talks

"Nobody knows how empty I am, and nobody seems to care.

"Year after year they let me starve during the summer when my food is cheap, and then when winter comes they fill me up with coal that, from the grumbings I hear, has cost a pretty penny.

"I wish they would give me a load of good coal right now, and then a load each month. If they would do this, I am sure they would not complain so much about the cost of my food. It's cheaper now."

Picture Making Seen By Editors

Story of a Visit to Filmland at Hollywood by the National Editorial Association.

"Movieland," to the N. E. A. party holding a convention in California, was one of the most interesting entertainment features. The group of about 700 editors was here by bus as July 5 for a tour of Hollywood. The line of about twenty-five buildings, escorted by motorcycle cops through the busy city, led to a show which saw the parade to act "what if" "where the fire," etc.

From the heart of Los Angeles the cars went to Hollywood, where the city which has a population of about 70,000. Hollywood as well as several other cities, is within the city limits of Los Angeles. One Californian asserted that the city extends from the Pacific ocean east to Iowa. This was not far from the truth, for the city limits are far from the heart of Los Angeles and the population is past one million. One cannot tell, when he leaves the city and enters another other except by watching the signs.

Hollywood is the home of the movies. Many of the stars live here and many have built homes in Beverly Hills, another section of Los Angeles, having a population of about 70,000. The main studios of most companies are in Hollywood.

In the tour of the city of Hollywood the editorial party saw many beautiful homes, a busy business center, and the famed Hollywood "howl" or outdoor theater, which seats thousands of people.

The Hollywood writers' club met at noon at the club house. Around the lawn were brightly colored umbrellas bearing the names of the motion picture companies. The great movie stars were served at the club house and dinner in the club house and went to chairs under large umbrellas to eat the repast. Motion pictures were taken, as was done each day of the convention, and the editors saw these that evening at the Hollywood Empire theatre. A program followed the dinner. Will Hayes, leader of the motion picture industry, who appears young and very jovial, and Roger Hughes, president of the club, spoke. A number of the movie stars were introduced in person. They were as follows: Clara Bow, John Cassman, Roy De Lesse, Joan Crawford, Ernest Geham, Wren Lee, Mae Murray, Dorothy Phillips, Gertrude Olmsted, Louise Fazenda, Priscilla Beatty, Syd Chaplin, Tom Dabberg, Raymond Navarro, Patsy Ruth Miller, George Jessup, Monte Blue, Toti Avery, Jim McKee, Lionel Barrymore, Helen Costello, Jane Winton, Dolores Costello, Russell Simpson, Mae Robson, Margaret De La Motte, John Reese, Mary Prevost, Tully Burke, Cecil Harten, Irene Rich, Vera Steadman, Phyllis Haver, Harrison Ford, Eleanor Faye, Vera Reynolds, Julia Faye, William Boyd, Bobby Vernon, Jimmie Adams, Robert Ellman, Harlan Warner, Dorothy Dunbar, George O'Hara, Tom Tyler, Paul McLaughlin, Jeta, Gaudin, George Sigmund, Jean Herscholt, Mary Nixon, Laura La Plante, Joseph Schildkraut, Victor Beronzo, George Lewis, Rod La Ronge, Reynold Denny, Buck Jones, Doris Kenyon, Marion Fairfax, Tully Marshall, Dorothy Leastron, Neta Kingston, Ethel Bradley, Lucille Hutton, Neta Gervan, Herbert Rawlinson, Dewitt Jennings, Lloyd Hamilton, John Arthur, Ed Horton, George Davis and Mary Philbin. Rin Tin Tin, the popular police dog, was also present.

Mr. Hays, in his address, stated that the first motion picture was shown thirty years ago this July. The industry has come into its own only within the last ten years—much has been accomplished, he said, but even more will be done to improve pictures in the future. The picture is the one universal language. The industry is among the largest businesses and fourth in size in the world. It is threefold in object of picture is to entertain, to instruct and to carry a sympathetic understanding between countries.

Following the noon program, the buses escorted the editors to various studios, about 140 to each. We went first to the home of the famous Lasky corporation. Here we saw three pictures in the making, "You'd Be Surprised," with Betty Grable, Raymond Cramer and Earl Williams. "The Campus Flirt," starring Bebe Daniels, and "The Eagle of the Sea," starring Florence Vider and Ricardo Montalva. The first two mentioned were being filmed within the buildings and the third outside. All were in the same grounds, however.

Famous Players Lasky Corporation covers about twenty acres. Other studios cover from six to twenty-six acres. Each is separate and yet all work together. The Lasky company outgrew its former location and has built its present studio in two months. Within the walls which are almost to constitute a city. Strict watch is kept at the gate and only those in the plays of these studios in, are allowed to enter. The studios are large frame buildings, similar in shape to the Wayne Company studio, but larger and not finished on the interior. Besides several of these, there are many walls of various kinds of houses and shops. The fronts of a colonnade, a wide-tile store, a street scene in Italy, and such like are standing about the grounds ready for use. Movable trees—some of which the company maintains a school which children taking part in plays attend, a hospital to cure for those injured in plays or in construction work, eighty dressmakers who prepare costumes for all plays, the largest lumber yard in Los Angeles, scenario writers, a large clerical force and other departments. All these workers are housed in buildings within the studio walls during the working days. Each picture has a producer and a director; the former financing the production and the latter managing the making of the picture.

"The plays, "You'd Be Surprised," and "The Campus Flirt," were being filmed in one of the large frame buildings in the studio when we were there, one just around a partition from the other. In the former was a scene showing the interior of a ship and a servant deaf and dumb, was accused of murder. The man taking the servant's part was an artist who is truly deaf and dumb. Mr. Griffith was directing him in the sign language. Women in their party gowns and men in their tuxedos were standing by to make marks in the scene. The faces of all were so painted that they looked ashy. Their eyelids were darkened and their brows and lips sharply marked. From the top of the three sides of the room—strong arc lights, each having a man in charge, threw light onto the players. From the front lavender lights were thrown. Everyone looked tinted with lavender. Many men who handle the scenes, furniture, etc., were about. Our guide said there is always plenty of this kind of labor hired because there must be no delay as the salaries of the actors is so much higher that their time cannot be wasted. Looking at the room and people, the lights make one see the whole just as it looks in the pictures. Just one small detail, the discovery of the murdered man by the servant was being worked out in the first named play while we were there. After instructions were given, the group reappeared the part over and over. Often it costs $100 to film such a scene which last, but fifteen seconds on the screen. After this part is taken it may not satisfy the director and will have to be done all over again. Often the actors work a day or longer on a small section of a film.

Bebe Daniels was being filmed in "The Campus Flirt." In one part of the studio the stars have their individual chairs and in some studios their own day homes in which to stay while the minor parts of the play are being worked out. Miss Daniels was taking part in a dining room scene when our party visited her. She greeted us and stood with us while the company snapped our pictures.

"The Eagle of the Sea" was being filmed out-of-doors in what seemed to be a Spanish street. About 300 people were taking part. Florence Vider was in a carriage riding away from the group. A picture was taken of the horses drawing the carriage and then a close-up of Miss Vider was snapped several times, after many rehearsals. The horses were taken away and men held the lines while the negro driver moved the carriage

A POT OF GOLD?

WHEN the ancients conceived the story of a pot of gold at the rainbow's end they were speaking figuratively. They meant each man should look ahead and see where his trail of life was leading to a worthwhile end or not.

What could be a worthier end than to raise your family in your own home? It's the beginning and end of all things. It's the result of your savings and the beginning of a new joyous life.

Our plan of financing is so arranged that it creates a burden no heavier than the rent you're paying now. We'll be glad to explain it.

From Ponca Journal, August 8, 1888:

We are informed that the Ogden Short Line will have a town at the place where their road crosses South-creek valley. This will be south of Mr. Hart's place one or two miles, and about eight miles southwest from Martinsburg.

On Sunday night there was a fire at Emerson which had it not been discovered in time, would have destroyed a large part of the town. Standing in a row and but few feet apart are the five principal business buildings in the place. The building in the centre is unoccupied. The others are occupied stores. On Saturday evening some person went into the narrow alley next to the vacant store and bored a hole through the side of the building, and then through the hole inserted a rope saturated with kerosene oil and set on fire. In order to make a sure thing a quantity of kerosene was poured through the hole into the building. After this was done the incendiary stopped up the hole and left. The fire thus started, burned and grew, and the ambition of the rascal who set it going seemed in a fair way to be gratified. At about midnight some persons passing by saw the light in the store, and knowing it to be vacant immediately proceeded to investigate. They found a big fire in progress, and one which in a few minutes more would have been past control, but which by fortunately happening to see it in time, they were enabled to overcome. This being their attempt, that has been made to cremate Emerson within the last two years. One of the buildings in the row was the store owned by J. J. McCarthy of this place. His insurance had run out and had the fire not been discovered at the time it was, he would have met with great loss.

More Dependable Than Ever

Dodge Brothers, Inc. achieved third place in world production this Spring because they have been able—WITHOUT SACRIFICING FUNDAMENTALS—steadily to improve the smartness of their product.

Owners and engineers know well that mechanically the car is sturdier than ever—cost of upkeep lower—and performance more dependable.

Refinements and lower prices have been made possible by spectacular increases in sales. Not by violating the basic tenet of Dodge Brothers success: NEVER TO LOWER QUALITY IN A SINGLE DETAIL.

DODGE BROTHERS MOTOR CARS

THE Maytag is the ONLY washer with a cast-aluminum tub—a tub cast in one piece of strong, thick aluminum. The Maytag tub keeps water hot for an entire washing! Keeps water clean because the dirt settles into the sediment trap beneath the gyrotator!

Holds More Clothes

The Maytag tub holds more clothes than other washers—the capacity is 24 gallons instead of the usual 17. There is no machinery inside the tub to take up clothes space—the tub is all washing room—the quicker-washed pieces can be taken from the Maytag while it is running and passed through the handy, low, conveniently-placed wringer that instantly adjusts itself to a handkerchief or a blanket, and wrings both dry.

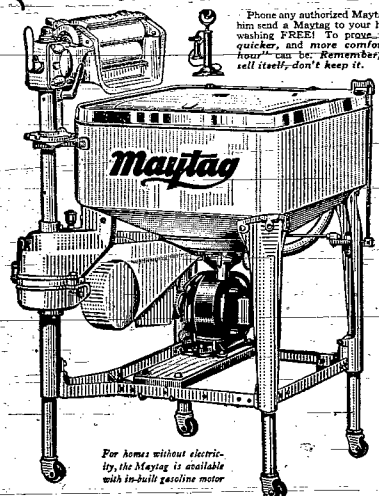

Tub Cleans Itself in 30 Seconds

After a washing is done, the Maytag tub automatically drains and cleans itself in 30 seconds. Nothing to scour or polish; no tiresome "cleaning-up" after a Maytag "wash-hour".

More Cleansing Water Action

The scientific shape of the tub, together with the gyrotator, produces a more thorough, more cleansing water action. Keeps the soapier, more-turbulent water—continuously active in every inch of the tub, all of the time!

Phone any authorized Maytag dealer listed below. Let him send a Maytag to your home to do a whole week's washing FREE! To prove to you how much easier, quicker, and more comfortable a Maytag "wash-hour" can be. Remember, if the Maytag doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

Market Report

Furnished by Steele, Siman & Co. Sioux City Stock Yards.

Sioux City Stock Yards, July 28.—From previously low seasonal levels, cattle prices scored some gains this week notwithstanding material receipt increases. Cows and heifers sold stronger on Tuesday with the two-day aggregate at the 11 leading markets over 140,000 head, an increase of nearly 50,000, as compared to the delivery the same two days last week.

A more moderate proportion of fat calves and yearlings this week enabled sellers to hold prices on Monday and garner some strength thereafter. Top 1's $10.25 were paid for choice yearlings, while the bulk of the yearlings to choice killing dry lot steers of all weights earned from $9.25 to $10, with fair to good from $8.50 to $9.25 and plain to fair from $7 to $8.25. Light non-descript steers forced through killer channels brought as low as 7.

Feed yearling heifers and dry lot cows were included in meager numbers this week and sold noticeably lower. After Monday, choice heifers sold from $9 to $10, with fair to good from $8 to 9. Top for weighty fed cows over $7.50, with good to choice from $7 to $7.50.

A series of heavy poundings placed grass cows and heifers on the bed rock basis of the season this Monday.

At the full reduction of action became freer and some mild reactions developed, but the gain was not sufficient to appreciably bolster the deal.

Heavy feeders from $15 to $15.25, with fair to good from $5.25 to $6. Really good grass heifers having a hard time earning over $5.50, although something fancy and light might earn $7.

Canners and cutters on the bed rock basis with 2's cutter from $2.75 to $3.25 and cutters from $3.50 from $3.50 to $4. Veal calves $6 to $10.

Stocker and feeder demands noticeably improved this week. Over 2,000 cattle returned to the country from this market following the Monday trade.

Prices now current are approximately 25 cents higher than at the close of last week, which was the low time. Plenty of westerns coming, with the seasonal movement of rangers apparently getting an early start.

Good to choice this steers of all weights $5 to $7. Fair to good from $6 to $6.75, ordinary to fair from $5 to $6, with inferior junk under $4 for a bottom figure.

Feeding cows in better condition, but not much better in price. Common to fair cows from $5.50 to $4, with good to choice from $4 to $4.50. Western feeding heifers topped at $6 on Monday, but most of the fair to good kinds are cashing out of first hands from $4.50 to $5.50.

Moderate losses in hog receipts over the country the fore part of this week. Hog prices on the upgrade from $12 to $13.50 and $14. The top on light lights is now floating around in a zone near $13.25, while butchers of heavy weight are worth from $12 and good-cows are worth around $10.50.

An increase of approximately 40,000 head of sheep and lambs at the 11 leading markets the first two days of this week brought about a price decline. At $13.75 at midweek native spring lambs are 75 cents under the high close of last week, while light clipped ewes at $6.50 look 25 cents lower. Heavy ewes at $4 have been steady for some weeks.

Awit State Board.

York, Neb., July 28.—The twenty-two inmates of the state industrial home for women, who maintained yesterday afternoon and marched to York, where they demanded a hearing before proper authorities remaining in the district court room last night, awaiting the arrival of the board of control from Lincoln.

Chief of Police Campbell permitted the girls to remain in the court room, rather than return to the home provided no disorder resulted.

Dr. G. L. Reeves, whose dismissal from the home as house physician, caused the girls to walk out in protest, when interviewed this morning said:

"Speaking as a doctor I think some of the work the girls are required to do is entirely too hard for them and especially for the girls who are undergoing treatment."

Dr. Reeves speaking in defense of the inmates said the majority of girls who come to the institution traced their downfall to broken-up homes, parents separated or divorced, or their mothers dead, through no fault at the age when they should be under a mother's guidance, they easily fall prey to seducing men, who bring about their downfall.

The board of control is expected to arrive this morning after a thorough investigation of conditions at the home is expected.

Teachers College News of Past Week

The terrazzo work on the stairs in the new training school building at the State Teachers College is completed. The other work of completing the structure is being forwarded nicely and the building will be ready for occupancy by September.

Chapel exercises during the second six weeks of summer school are held but once each week and the day is Thursday.

Three weeks of the second term of summer school remain. No time was taken for registration; school will be in session the second and fourth Saturdays and the closing will be on August 20. By this means six weeks of work will be done in five weeks, allowing three weeks before the opening of the fall term.

Drouth.

Dr. A. L. Bixby in Lincoln Journal.—I sat out on the sidewalk today, and those who passed me by declared "Nebraska's crop is gone—the whole blamed state is dry!" I listened to it as each one spoke, and answered each in turn: "Your gabble is a cruel joke; this state has crops to burn; and while the corn has suffered some, and wheat shows lean and fat, we'll fill our bins in days to come, you may depend on that. And people now oppress each face, however sore-patched with want, and ought to eat this year and Lord knows how much next."

Obituary. Gwendolyn Florence Goshorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Goshorn, was born September 10, 1894, at Decatur, Neb. She departed this life, July 28, 1926, aged 31 years, 10 months and 14 days, after a brief illness at the home of her parents in Concord.

She survived her loving parents, and two sisters, Delores Blanche and Yvonne Geraldine. She was a precious jewel, a truly too-fair-for-words memory. Her dear mother felt her presence near us yet, and in fancy hear her sweet voice.

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon in the Concord Lutheran church by Rev. E. L. Corbit of Dixon, and interment was made in the Concord cemetery. Mrs. Clyde Davis of Craig, Neb., came to attend the funeral.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors and friends for their many kindnesses and floral tributes during the illness and death of our beloved daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carlson, Jr., children.

Editor Desires Valencio.

We are looking for a Valencio. Shortly after the Wasp editor boarded the Overland Limited train at Berkeley, California, last Friday afternoon, we learned that Valencio, the celebrated movie star and "chick" was occupying a compartment in the rear end of the train. This great train had fifteen coaches with two liners, a club car with barber, tailor, manicurist, ladies' maid, porter and shower bath and parlor and observation car.

A number of newspaper girls of Arkansas posed with Rudolph at some of the most interesting pictures taken. A pretty little "candy" spoiled the rest of the journey when she told the gentlemen that the pictures would be printed in the papers. He didn't like this so kept out of sight most of the journey. At every city where the train stopped for ten minutes or more quite a number of the passengers got out for a stroll on the platform. At one place Mr. Valencio took a stroll. It was about nine in the evening and he was dressed in a fine fitting gray flannel suit with red collar and cuffs on his coat and pants. None of us was able to get a picture of him. He was wearing a slumber robe, a smoking jacket or a sport suit. Some of the ladies stated that he wore it at dinner. His eyes were closed and he looked like he was wearing stage paint yet.

Farm Relief

Aurora Republican: Much ink has been splashed over the congressional record, if any, and many have been the passionate pleas for the farmer, but congress has adjourned, just as most of the people were confident, it would adjourn, without having done anything for the farmer. And the farmer—well, that individual has been so accustomed to taking care of himself that he has really paid little attention to the whole affair. Custom soon becomes tradition, and tradition has it that the eastern industrial interests shall be protected while the farmer shifts for himself. Much talk to the contrary notwithstanding, congress has upheld tradition, and is likely to continue to do so. The farmer, who really is not warring so much as his would-be friends seem to think, has accepted his place in the sun for what it is, and is letting the other fellow do the worrying about legislative relief. More and more he is coming to realize that his relief, if it is to come, must come through his own efforts and by his own hand. In other words, the agricultural interests, which have it within them to become more powerful than any other group on the face of the earth, must follow the lead of other interests—and by forming a cooperative and non-competitive body, securing those things which are now denied and which legislation will not bring. When the farmer is able to turn to the consumer and say, as does the manufacturer, that a certain price will bring a certain amount of his product, he will be beyond the need of legislative relief.

Obituary. George Weatherholt, who died Saturday, July 24, was born in Scott county near Durank, Iowa, on February 8, 1868, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weatherholt. He spent his youth in that vicinity, moving to Denison, Crawford county, Iowa, in 1874, with his parents. Ten years later they moved to Wayne county, settling on a farm two miles north of Hoskins. On April 6, 1888, he was united in marriage to Miss Nettie Hugin. To this union were born six children, two sons, Harvey and Glen, dying in infancy.

For five years the family lived on a farm east of Hoskins, and then moved into town, where Mr. Weatherholt engaged in business for a number of years. He was one of the first R. F. D. carriers out of Hoskins, taking route 2 out of town, where he died. Later he changed to route 1, which route he served until four years ago, when failing health forced him to give up his work.

For the past three years he and his wife had made their home most of the time with their daughter, Mrs. Edith Swanson, and husband, near Bloomfield, Neb. He suffered a severe stroke about nine weeks ago, following which he had been confined to his bed. Friday morning he turned much worse and the end came quietly and peacefully at 6:30 Saturday afternoon, at the age of 66 years, 5 months and 16 days.

He leaves to mourn his death his loving and faithful wife, and four children, Mrs. Ethel Swanson, of Bloomfield, Neb., and Neal, Warren and Gerald of Denison, Scott Co., Iowa; a brother, John, of Gordon, Neb., and four sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Melsky of Red Owl, S. D., Mrs. Fred Zellner and Mrs. J. A. Winkler of Philip, S. D., and Mrs. Emma James of Yakima, Washington. Two brothers, William and Sherman and two sisters, Mrs. Carolyn Gray and Miss Anne preceded him in death. Besides the relatives, a host of old friends will mourn his passing.

During his life he took an active part in all matters pertaining to the betterment of the community in which he lived. He was one of the charter members of the M. E. church that was erected in Hoskins in 1894 and was always one of its strongest supporters. He was a member of the L. O. O. F. and Modern Woodmen lodges.

Funeral services were held Monday from the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Swanson, near Bloomfield, in the forenoon, and from the M. E. church in Hoskins in the afternoon. The afternoon services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Hoesch. Interment was made in the family lot in the Hoskins cemetery. Pallbearers were: Geo. F. Dreveson, Wm. Behmer, Pete Hanson, Mr. Robert Templin, Eugene Benthal and Wm. Bell of Norfolk.

Picture Making Seen By Editors

(Continued from Page 3, Section 1.) ure of every article of clothing and jewelry worn by the character so that if necessary the film can be re-dressed in exact detail. There is a central agency too for keeping a list of available actors for the minor and other subordinate parts. Each day those in charge call for the number they wish and the parts to be taken. The costume department prepares the garments. Each day the group is paid. Those who have no part other than furnish background receive $5 a day. They are "atmosphere" in the picture. Those having more prominent parts in the "atmosphere" and those who have other minor parts receive about $15 a day. The stars are paid much more and their salaries vary widely.

To produce the right shades of light and dark pictures various colors are used. Pink is usually made a glaring light, so pink is used and produces a soft white. Yellow produces a grey. Red and blue take as black in pictures and often make a prettier shade than black would.

The taking of pictures is tedious, but all seem to enjoy the work. Often the groups go to the mountains and to the mountains or other places, so as to take scenes for one or more pictures.

When all the parts of a picture are taken they are put together and if approved they are released. Often parts are taken over. Some of the things that are used in the industry. For a train wreck small toy engines are filmed and enlarged. Ships used in pictures may be seen in harbors in California. Each important star has a "double," a person resembling him somewhat. The "double" does many of the dangerous acts in the picture.

In the evening following the visit to the studios, the N. E. A. group was taken to the famous Egyptian theatre in Hollywood. In the portico in front of the building the guests are entertained before the program and during the intermission, with music and other features. A man garbed as an Egyptian, walks on top of the building. Music and dancing precede the motion picture. The Mary Pickford's play, "Sparrows" was shown. Before the picture the children taking part in the play were presented in person. Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks were unable to be present because of being in Europe. We asked one of the little girls who she liked to be the play and she said she had a fine time with Mary Pickford, but she didn't like the mud they had to go through. The picture shows Mary Pickford taking a group of orphan children from a cruel mother, through a swamp. "The Black Pirate," starring Douglas Fairbanks was also shown. The ship used is anchored in Long Beach harbor. The two stars plan to return from Europe soon, and each will make a new picture in the fall. They sent a congratulatory greeting to the editors.—Dorothy Huse Nyberg.
